Flynn and Wellmann win run-off election at ND

U.S. might enforce peace in Yugoslavia

Clinton moves to cut 100,000 federal jobs

Group lends its support to women's center campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Clinton administration said Wednesday U.S. troops could be sent to enforce peace in the former Yugoslavia if warring factions can negotiate a settlement. "Our conscience revolts at unending accounts of murder and rape," Secretary of State Warren Christopher said.

Unveiling a six-point peace plan after three weeks of study by the new administration, Christopher said, "No great power can dismiss the likely consequences of letting a Balkans conflict rage."

The deepening war, its threat to neighboring nations and the long-seated religious and cultural hatred now amaze in the area a critical test for the new president, who will also have to marshal world opinion behind his position.

"We inherit at this early point in the administration a tragic and dangerous situation," Christopher said. He denounced Serbian "ethnic cleansing" aimed at Muslims in Bosnia-Herzegovina and called the ethnic cleansing an "in historic moment for our post-Cold War role in Europe and the world."

President Clinton earlier in the day that the American public will support the plan. "I think they want us to do more, but they want us to do it in a prudent way."
An outsider celebrates cultural diversity

Cultural diversity. The words aren’t hard to say. But hard to hear. I understand that is where so many of us run into problems. The phrase has almost become a buzz-word, used so often it loses its impact.

Tuesday night I caught a glimpse—just a glimpse—of a tangible, believable cultural diversity. Tuesday night was a celebration of Martin Luther King Jr. as the “Educated Educator.” And it was unlike anything I have ever seen.

Tuesday night also was a celebration of the black community. It was a night of struggles, of passions, of heroes, of people, of music, of death, of life, of tears, of power, of shouts, of nightmares, of dreams, of anger, of soul.

I am an outsider. I know that. I can’t feel the pain. The black community has felt for so long. I know that too.

The celebration was unlike anything I have seen. I saw it. I watched it. I heard the Voices of Faith. I watched the Shaker Heights Call about King and how he valued education. I watched Karsonya Wise and her dramatic interpretation of a woman who marched with King. I watched it all.

A woman in the audience let forth a passionate shout. Throwing her hands in the air she roared from her chair. She was not just watching.

At that moment I felt rising to my feet as well. I felt like crying and shouting, “I wasn’t there. I didn’t do it. It wasn’t me.” I wanted the anger to subside.

Still, there I sat in the back row and watched. I saw a little girl crying because she didn’t understand why she was mistreated at school. I saw the evidence and degradation of segregation. I saw footage of the Freedom Marches and the violence that was inflicted by police there.

I heard beautiful voices—not just from the choir, but from Karsonya. She spoke with such intimacy and such passion, taking on the persona of someone who lived through the Civil Rights Movement, someone who had patience and hope until she just couldn’t take it anymore. Some of the things she said were disturbing, but I am sure that was no accident.

And I could feel in the air the whispers that so many of those frustrations are still alive today.

I have heard much about many African Americans feeling they need to stick together, but I have never had the chance to really understand why. Likewise, I have never had the chance to really see the beauty of this togetherness.

I am on the outside. I know that. But at the end of the celebration, the choir sang the black national anthem, and everybody sang.

The words don’t ring true. But the people need to stick together. That is all.

TODAY AT A GLANCE

WORLD

The Pope criticizes Sudan’s leader

Karhout, Sudan— Pope John Paul II told Sudan’s military leader on Wednesday that his Muslim fundamentalist government had a duty to protect Christians struggling for the freedom to practice their faith. President Omar Hassan el-Bashir denied Christians were oppressed. But a human rights group insisted the Sudanese government systematically violated the rights of ethnic and religious minorities. Religious, political and racial conflicts exploded in civil war 10 years ago in the mainly Christian and animist south, where black African rebels are fighting for independence against the government in the Arab Muslim north.

Teacher suspended for child’s death

Tokyo— A local court gave a three-year suspended sentence to a teacher today for allegedly slamming a school gate on a 15-year-old student’s head and killing her. The case is viewed as a symbol of the sometimes brutal reality of the Japanese educational system. Hood closed the front gate of Hyogo Prefectural Takatsuki High School to an effort to reprimand tardy students. Ryoko Ishida, 15, arrived late and was caught in the heavy metal gate, which crushed her skull. The judge said the teacher’s negligence resulted in Ishida’s death, but he said he handed down a suspended sentence in part because he had shown remorse.

OF INTEREST

Physically Challenged" Fireside Chat will be today from 12 to 1 p.m. in the Notre Dame Room, Second Floor of LaFortune Student Center. Sponsored by the Multicultural Executive Council.

Knott Hall Medallion Hunt clue #3: If you’re in danger of giving up, just follow the University’s rules. This way you cannot fail to find the desired jewels.

The ND Summer Job Network needs suggestions. Seniors who have had rewarding work experience related to their major and are willing to recommend jobs for other students, please stop by Career and Placement Services to complete a Summer Job Network form. The form will be kept on file in our Career Library for use by summer job seekers.

NATIONAL

Buried radioactive waste discovered

ANCHORAGE, Alaska—Radioactive waste that federal scientists carried to Alaska in a cloth sack 30 years ago as part of an experiment will be shipped to a nuclear dump this summer. The waste was buried at a test site near Point Hope in 1962— and discovered last September by a researcher poking over old government records. It is to be excavated and shipped to a nuclear waste dump in Hanford, Wash., at a cost of $3 million, the Department of Energy said Tuesday. Native leaders said the plan satisfied their immediate concerns, but they still want the federal government to conduct health studies in the region.

Two “Cheer’’s actors sue over robots

LOS ANGELES—Actors who play the characters of Norm and Cliff on “Cheers” are suing over what they claim are robot copies of them placed in airport lounges. The lawsuit was filed last month in Los Angeles federal court on behalf of actors George Wendt and John Ratzenberger, their lawyer, Patrick Freydl, said Wednesday. The lawsuit against Host International and John Ratzenberger, their lawyer, Patrick Freydl, said Wednesday. The lawsuit against Host International asks that pairs of robots depicting two bartenders be removed from Host airport lounges, Freydl said. It also seeks unspecified compensatory and punitive damages. The robots, which perch on bar stools and exchange electronic chitchat, are named Bob and Hank.

MARKET UPDATE

YESTERDAY’S TRADING February 10

VOLUME IN SHARES 248,497,425

NYSE INDEX +0.397 to 245.93

S&P COMPOSITE +0.5 to 646.23

DOW JONES INDUSTRIALS -1.6 to 1,312.42

GOLD $4.00 to $333.40 oz.

SILVER +$0.062 to $5.762 oz.
New ROTC award available

By MIKE DeFRANCO
News Writer

The United States Air Force has recently instituted a program through which Air Force ROTC cadets not presently on scholarship might receive a $2,000 dollar award.

According to Brig. General Robin Torrow, commandant of Headquarters Air Force ROTC, the new Professional Officer Course Incentive Scholarship Program, was founded to encourage cadets to continue with ROTC and to show people that the Air Force is looking for people to enter the service.

Captain Alan Andrysiak, assistant professor of Aerospace Studies of Notre Dame’s Department of 225, said that even though the Air Force is releasing people of higher ranks, it still needs new blood to join and lead it into the 21st century.

This scholarship will serve as an incentive for men and women to sign up and as a reward for juniors and seniors who have remained in ROTC even though they are not under scholarship, Andrysiak said.

Colonel Thomas Moe added, “We need young people to keep the arms forces vital.”

This Incentive Program should affect the Notre Dame Air Force ROTC program in two ways, said Andrysiak. First, qualified juniors and seniors who are presently in the program, but not on scholarship, will receive $1000 a semester to help cover costs of tuition, books, and fees at Notre Dame.

Secondly, he said it will attract sophomore cadets who might be interested in the Air Force and who are looking for some added financial assistance.

“Cadets are being told about the scholarship and are given the option as to whether they wish to take it or not,” he said. Those cadets who have a cumulative and term GPA of at least 2.0 are eligible to receive the scholarship and must maintain a 2.35 for their remaining semesters to keep it.

Air Force Headquarters said this standard is scheduled to change in the fall of 1994 when initial eligibility requirements will rise to a 2.5 cumulative and term GPA.

Because Notre Dame’s tuition is higher compared with other universities, Andrysiak said, “The impact here will be different than at state schools.” He said it will be a positive one nevertheless. High cost or no high cost, he said, “We have always been a little out of scholarship who are going to pick up $2000 a year.”

Andrysiak said that this scholarship differs from others the Air Force commonly awards. He said the Air Force typically awards scholarships to students in technical fields such as engineering and sciences. It also gives awards to nursing students and qualified minority applicants. These scholarships are given to groups that “meet the needs of the Air Force,” he said.

“The Incentive Scholarship differs because it is designed to pick up all cadets not just needs to which we have,” said Andrysiak. The Air Force has designed this Incentive Scholarship to augment its “Express Scholarship.”

“The Express Scholarship was instituted to attract specific majors and cadets with a two and three year full scholarships to those qualified,” said Andrysiak. The Notre Dame Air Force ROTC program will award eight of those scholarships this year to Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s students.

According to both Moe and Andrysiak, these two scholarships are part of a concerted effort by the Air Force to show students that enrolling in the Air Force is a chance to be part of a military that wishes to have an influence over the world’s peace in the future.

The law allows Powell to serve another two-year term as head of the Joint Chiefs. But custom dictates that he leave after that term, and Clinton has given no indication that he would renominate Powell.

Clint Adamson

WASHINGTON (AP) — By endorsing an international peacekeeping force that could place U.S. troops in Bosnia, President Clinton has stepped over a line his predecessor deemed not crossed.

The risks are obvious: a commitment that has no disengaging date and the specter of American casualties in a war that has no battle lines.

Bosnia is a place that will prove a lot easier to get into than to get out of. That assessment is offered often enough. "That's not a cliché, that's a truth," former defense secretary James Schlesinger said in an interview.

143 Dixie Way South (31 North) Across from Bob Evans 273-2212

"Provocative, funny, It Sizzles!"—Bill Grace

Cavanaugh Hall Productions presents:

A Two-Act Comedy of Intrigue, Adventure and Amour
by Larry Sue

The Foreigner

For once I agree with Mr. Clinton. This Play Maintains Traditional Family Values and Still Remains a Laugh Riot
This Play is the Way Things Ought to Be!" —Rush Limbaugh

"Even Though Ah Don't Like Foreign Lobbyists, This Play
Definitely Gets Under the Hood and Fixes the Engine!!" —Ross Perot

Washington Hall, Feb 10, 11, 12 at 8:10.
Tickets $3 Student, $4 Non-Student
Available at LaFountain Information Desk
Starting February 1st.

News Analysis

At a State Department news conference, Secretary of State Warren Christopher said the United States would shoulder its share of the burden to enforce any cease-fire agreement including possible military action.

He gave no indication of the size of the military force. But Indiana Sen. Richard Lugar said Christopher told him that as many as 3,000 to 10,000 American troops would join the estimated 40,000-member NATO force which would go to Bosnia under U.N. auspices once a new peace accord is concluded.

During the 1992 presidential campaign, Bill Clinton often chastised President Bush for a misguided policy toward the former Yugoslavia, for a failure to act decisively to end the policy of ethnic cleansing that caused the deaths of thousands of innocent people.

With the announcement Wednesday of the six-point U.S. plan to end the fighting, Clinton put his own stamp on U.S. policy in the Balkans.
NBC issues an apology for rigged GM truck test

NEW YORK (AP) — "Dateline NBC" staffers braced for the worst, but no heads exploded on Wednesday after an on-air apology for rigging a General Motors truck's gas tanks to explode on impact — and not telling viewers.

"We've suffered a black eye, but it's important for all of us to look ahead," Executive Producer Jeff Diamond told 30 staffers assembled in the show's fifth-floor offices, according to one participant. "We made a mistake. We made a bad mistake," he said. Diamond did not dwell on the show's Nov. 17 broadcast, which led to GM's filing a defamation lawsuit Monday against NBC.

That broadcast's 15-minute segment on GM light truck fire force that might go to Bosnia under U.N. auspices once a new peace accord is concluded.

Other key provisions of the administration plan include the appointment of Reginald Bartholomew, the U.S. ambassador to NATO, to assist international mediators forge agreement, and a pledge to tighten the U.N. trade embargo against Serbia and Montenegro. Christopher, at a news conference, denounced the Serbs, accusing them of a wide range of atrocities in Bosnia-Herzegovina, but he said President Clinton had ruled out providing the Muslims with U.S. weapons or using U.S. air power to silence Serbian mortar fire.

The summer help needed in Latin America

Work • Share
You can have a summer full of adventure and personal growth, while improving health for people of Latin America...

Volunteer!
Application deadline: March 1, '93

We're looking for people from the Ypsilanti area into a 40,000-member NATO peace force.

... in a setback to GM's money-saving plans.

But Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., a senior member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said Christopher called him and said that as many as 5,000 to 10,000 American troops could join a 40,000-member NATO peace force that might go to Bosnia under U.N. auspices once a new peace accord is concluded.

Other key provisions of the administration plan include the appointment of Reginald Bartholomew, the U.S. ambassador to NATO, to assist international mediators forge agreement, and a pledge to tighten the U.N. trade embargo against Serbia and Montenegro. Christopher, at a news conference, denounced the Serbs, accusing them of a wide range of atrocities in Bosnia-Herzegovina, but he said President Clinton had ruled out providing the Muslims with U.S. weapons or using U.S. air power to silence Serbian mortar fire.

The Observer is now accepting applications for the following position:

Design Editor

Contact Jeanne Blasi
at 1-5303 for more information.

BE WICKED... DON'T SEND FLOWERS!

Send your Valentine sufficiently Delusional Obsecrations by the Box, Bag, or Bucket.

WE CAN SHIP ANYWHERE... TODAY!

1-800-344-5841 • LAPORTE

Price from $90 and up.

GRADUATE STUDENT RETREAT

Friday, February 19 - Sunday, February 21
7:00 p.m. - Noon

A time of silence and reflection, companionship and conversation. The reflections will be given primarily by Graduate Students.

Place: Crown House, on the shores of Lake Michigan, 30 miles northeast of Notre Dame.

Deadline: Reservations for the twelve available places will be accepted until Wednesday, February 17.

Contact Fr. John Gerber, C.S.C., Pender Residences 611-8606 or Sharon at Fisher Community Center 631-8607.

Cost: $15.00 for the cost of meals and snacks.

Send your Valentine sufficiently Delusional Obsecrations by the Box, Bag, or Bucket.

WE CAN SHIP ANYWHERE... TODAY!

1-800-344-5841 • LAPORTE

Price from $90 and up.
Bush employees got late bonuses
Secretaries authorized them just before leaving

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least five Bush Cabinet secretaries authorized tens of thousands of dollars in bonuses for senior employees in the closing months of their tenures.

Five minutes before Bill Clinton took the oath of office last month, outgoing Interior Secretary Manuel Lujan proposed cash bonuses for 12 senior career officials at the Interior Department.

Calling that timing "outrageous," Interior Secretary Bruce Babbitt said Wednesday he will review the bonuses.

Former Labor Secretary Lynn Martin awarded eight bonuses totaling $22,000 for departing political appointees between Nov. 1 and Inauguration Day, and the Agriculture Department gave year-end bonuses of up to $12,500 to more than 50 senior employees, spokesmen said.

The bonuses proposed by Lujan for the Interior Department officials totaled about $170,000, said congressional sources who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The biggest Labor Department bonus, $4,000, went to Martin's chief of staff, John Schall.

The Washington Post reported Tuesday that in his last weeks in office, former Attorney General William P. Barr awarded a total of more than $108,000 in bonuses to 37 Justice Department employees. They included members of his security detail, his secretary and two of his closest aides.

The practice of giving cash bonuses to government employees is legal, and Bush administration officials say it also has occurred under earlier presidencies.

The bonuses proposed by Lujan for the Interior Department officials totaled about $170,000, said congressional sources who spoke on condition of anonymity. They said five of the officials were supposed to receive about $20,000 each and the other seven were to get $10,000. The money has not yet been paid.

Lujan listed the officials' names in a signed memo dated Jan. 20 at 11:55 a.m. to Doug Brook, acting director of the federal Office of Personnel Management. In the memo, a copy of which was obtained by The Associated Press, Lujan told Brook that the 12 had been nominated for "presidential rank awards."

Clinton sells economic plan in TV town hall

Clinton arrived here after his first out-of-town trip as president, Clinton gave a pep talk to supporters at an airport hangar before heading for a television studio for the made-for-TV event.

He told a crowd of about 200 that he liked such televised events "because I believe people like me shouldn't hide from the people who elected them. I think we ought to be accountable."

Clinton told the rally at Selfridge Air National Guard Base in nearby Detroit that the nation's debt was much higher than he expected when he took office.

"I had to go back to the drawing board and redo the economic plan, said Clinton, bundled in an overcoat against the near-freezing weather.

He said that his package — to be unveiled next Wednesday in a speech to Congress — would spur the economy and reduce the deficit "in a way that is fair to the American people."

But I'm doing my best," he added.

Clinton arrived here after his first ride on Air Force One. During the 1 1/2-hour flight, the president took a quick tour of the jumbo jet. He was given a blue jacket with the presidential seal and stitching that read, "Bill Clinton."

Admittedly All Nuns Are Not In Their 30's. Some Are Lots Younger.
Thousands pay their last respects to Arthur Ashe

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Thousands of people, ranging from heads of government and sports figures to everyday admirers, came from around the world for Arthur Ashe's funeral.

They fulfilled his diligence in rising from a segregated Richmond to become the first black man to win Wimbledon and the U.S. Open. And they thanked him for his tireless efforts on behalf of minorities, children and AIDS research.

Ashe, 49, died in New York Saturday of AIDS-related pneumonia. Doctors believe he contracted the AIDS virus from a blood transfusion during heart surgery in 1983.

"In tennis and in life, Arthur always understood just how unfair this world can be," said Virginia Gov. Douglas Wilder. "And he used every fiber of his strength, on and off the court, to right the world's injustice."

Other speakers included New York Mayor David Dinkins and Leon Walker, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee. Former U. N. Ambassador Andrew Young delivered the eulogy.

Among the pallbearers were former French Open champion Yannick Noah and several of Ashe's Davis Cup teammates: Stan Smith, Charlie Pasarell and Donald Dell.

The service was held at the Arthur Ashe Athletic Center, a sports arena the city built in 1981 and named after its native son.

On Tuesday night, thousands waited in cold darkness for as long as two hours to view Ashe's body lying in state at the Executive Mansion.

AIDS-like illness is probably not result of single new virus

BOSTON (AP) — A mysterious outbreak of AIDS-like illness that created an uproar last summer probably has many different causes and almost certainly doesn't result from a single new virus, several studies concluded today.

The studies suggest that the disease is actually a mishmash of different causes, said Dr. David Ho, head of the Aaron Diamond AIDS Research Center in New York City.

The illness came to light at July's International Conference on AIDS in Amsterdam, where it was the No. 1 topic.

Several researchers at the meeting spoke of patients who had many signs of AIDS but were not infected with HIV, the AIDS virus. Chief among those signs was low levels of helper cells, also known as CD4 cells, which orchestrate the body's defenses against infections.

The cases raised the possibility that some unidentified virus was on the loose, causing a new form of AIDS. Some researchers at the meeting even said they had glimpsed tantalizing signs that a new virus might be causing it.

Since then, the condition has gotten a name — idiopathic CD4 T-lymphocytopenia, or ICL — and intensive lab study. In Thursday's New England Journal of Medicine, researchers published six reports on it.

The cases represent a hodgepodge of different clinical and immunological entities. We are not talking about just one disease," said Dr. Scott Holtberg of the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, co-author of one of the studies.

Among other conclusions:

• The condition is rare. In all 111 U.S. cases have been reported. The CDC found just two when it reviewed 230,179 cases in its AIDS files.

• It is not contagious. Spouses and acquaintances of victims have not caught it, and it does not seem to spread through blood transfusions.

• Many cases probably result from a menagerie of bacteria, fungi and other parasites. Poisons or environmental toxins might also play a role.

AIDS-like disease is probably not caused by single new virus

NEW YORK (AP) — An experimental AIDS vaccine scheduled for federal testing because of lobbying by its manufacturer came under criticism by three researchers.

The researchers said laboratory studies show the vaccine would not efficiently prime the immune system to create antibodies that attack the AIDS virus at a protein known as gp120.

The vaccine, manufactured by MicroGeneSys Inc. of Meriden, Conn., is to be tested by the Defense Department to see if it helps people infected with the AIDS virus fend off the disease.

The study resulted from congressional lobbying on behalf of MicroGeneSys.

John Moore of the Aaron Diamond AIDS Research Center in New York, one of the researchers speaking at the vaccine, cautioned in an interview that the antibodies are not the only way a vaccine might fight AIDS. He said his observations were simply part of a scientific disagreement over how to design such a vaccine.

MicroGeneSys said in a statement that the antibodies Moore referred to appear in nearly all AIDS patients, but do not prevent progression to disease.

The comments by Moore, George Lewis of the University of Maryland in Baltimore and James Robinson of the University of Connecticut in Farmington appear in a letter to the editor in Thursday's issue of the journal Nature.

Experimental AIDS vaccine is criticized by researchers who question effectiveness

Computer technology
Graduate student Isabel Lobo and off-campus junior Tony DelGallo welcome senior Jim Sullivan to the campus computer network.

AIDS-like illness is probably not result of single new virus

EXPERIMENTAL AIDS vaccine is probably not result of single new virus

NEW YORK (AP) — An experimental AIDS vaccine scheduled for federal testing because of lobbying by its manufacturer came under criticism by three researchers.

The researchers said laboratory studies show the vaccine would not efficiently prime the immune system to create antibodies that attack the AIDS virus at a protein known as gp120.

The vaccine, manufactured by MicroGeneSys Inc. of Meriden, Conn., is to be tested by the Defense Department to see if it helps people infected with the AIDS virus fend off the disease.

The study resulted from congressional lobbying on behalf of MicroGeneSys.

John Moore of the Aaron Diamond AIDS Research Center in New York, one of the researchers speaking at the vaccine, cautioned in an interview that the antibodies are not the only way a vaccine might fight AIDS. He said his observations were simply part of a scientific disagreement over how to design such a vaccine.

MicroGeneSys said in a statement that the antibodies Moore referred to appear in nearly all AIDS patients, but do not prevent progression to disease.

The comments by Moore, George Lewis of the University of Maryland in Baltimore and James Robinson of the University of Connecticut in Farmington appear in a letter to the editor in Thursday's issue of the journal Nature.

Experimental AIDS vaccine is criticized by researchers who question effectiveness

AIDS-like illness is probably not result of single new virus

EXPERIMENTAL AIDS vaccine is probably not result of single new virus

NEW YORK (AP) — An experimental AIDS vaccine scheduled for federal testing because of lobbying by its manufacturer came under criticism by three researchers.

The researchers said laboratory studies show the vaccine would not efficiently prime the immune system to create antibodies that attack the AIDS virus at a protein known as gp120.

The vaccine, manufactured by MicroGeneSys Inc. of Meriden, Conn., is to be tested by the Defense Department to see if it helps people infected with the AIDS virus fend off the disease.

The study resulted from congressional lobbying on behalf of MicroGeneSys.

John Moore of the Aaron Diamond AIDS Research Center in New York, one of the researchers speaking at the vaccine, cautioned in an interview that the antibodies are not the only way a vaccine might fight AIDS. He said his observations were simply part of a scientific disagreement over how to design such a vaccine.

MicroGeneSys said in a statement that the antibodies Moore referred to appear in nearly all AIDS patients, but do not prevent progression to disease.

The comments by Moore, George Lewis of the University of Maryland in Baltimore and James Robinson of the University of Connecticut in Farmington appear in a letter to the editor in Thursday's issue of the journal Nature.
Iraq refuses to release jailed Britons

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Iraq on Wednesday rejected pleas to release two jailed Britons until it is satisfied that the men could be freed if London releases Iraqi assets. Whitham said.

Whitham accompanied four relatives of the two prisoners, Paul Ride, 33, of London and Michael Wainwright, 42, of Croydon, to Baghdad to visit the pair and try to win their release.

Wainwright and Ride have been imprisoned for illegally entering Iraq. "Daddy come home. Daddy come home," Ride's 23-month-old son, William, told reporters before the families made their second visit to the Abu Ghraib prison outside Baghdad. He held a coo in one in hand and a bottle in the other.

They are fine, they are OK," said William's mother, Julie Ride. "They need permission to jog, they can watch TV and they have access to radios." In London, a Foreign Office official, speaking on condition of anonymity, called Iraq's continuing refusal to release the two men "deeply disappointing and not in Iraq's best interests." The British Foreign Office has reiterated its refusal to turn over the assets until Iraq complies fully with United Nations resolutions stemming from the Gulf War.

The official Iraqi News Agency, monitored by the British Broadcasting Corp., reported that Ash left with Whitham. It gave no further details.

Excepts as an Iraqi-declared barrier chip with London over the assets, the issue of the prisoners is unrelated to the Gulf War. No bombing raids similar to the all attacks last month were expected to respect "no-fly zones" that have been threatened to win their freedom.

The relatives were not present at Whitham's meeting with the President Saddam Hussein's main foreign policy adviser.

Ride, a British chef working in Kuwait, was sentenced to 7 years after his arrest at the border in August. The US-British mission has raised the issue with Iraq, which has said it will not consider the request to release the men until the issue of the assets is resolved.

Iraqi refusal to release jailed Britons until on Wednesday rejected pleas to free the Britons' relatives to free them.

"It is bad news. No release for the two men in the foreseeable future," said Whitham. "We talked about the men and he is in no way prepared to even talk about a deal."

Aziz reiterated his statement, made last week on British television, that the men could be freed if London releases Iraqi assets, Whitham said.

Whitham accompanied four relatives of the two prisoners, Paul Ride, 33, of London and Michael Wainwright, 42, of Croydon, to Baghdad to visit the pair and try to win their release.

Wainwright and Ride have been imprisoned for illegally entering Iraq. "Daddy come home. Daddy come home," Ride's 23-month-old son, William, told reporters before the families made their second visit to the Abu Ghraib prison outside Baghdad. He held a coo in one in hand and a bottle in the other.

They are fine, they are OK," said William's mother, Julie Ride. "They need permission to jog, they can watch TV and they have access to radios." In London, a Foreign Office official, speaking on condition of anonymity, called Iraq's continuing refusal to release the two men "deeply disappointing and not in Iraq's best interests." The British Foreign Office has reiterated its refusal to turn over the assets until Iraq complies fully with United Nations resolutions stemming from the Gulf War.

The official Iraqi News Agency, monitored by the British Broadcasting Corp., reported that Ash left with Whitham. It gave no further details.

Excepts as an Iraqi-declared barrier chip with London over the assets, the issue of the prisoners is unrelated to the Gulf War. No bombing raids similar to the all attacks last month were expected to respect "no-fly zones" that have been threatened to win their freedom.

The relatives were not present at Whitham's meeting with the President Saddam Hussein's main foreign policy adviser.

Ride, a British chef working in Kuwait, was sentenced to 7 years after his arrest at the border in August.
The Observer
NOTRE DAME OFFICE, P.O. Box 6, Notre Dame, IN 46556 (219) 631-7471
SAIN'T MARY'S OFFICE: 309 Hugger, Notre Dame, IN 46556 (219) 284-5565
1992-93 General Board
Managing Editor
John Rock
Advertising Manager
Richard Riley
News Editor
David Kerney
Business Manager
Monica Yan
Viewpoint Editor
John Rock
Sports Editor
Michael Soudad
Assistant Viewpoint Editor
Andrew Davis
Photo Editor
Margaret Schirmer
Senior Editor
Mary Kate Dollar
The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the opinions of the administration or the editorial board. The newspaper is non-profit and is supported by advertising revenue from local businesses. It is published weekly during the academic year, and bi-weekly during the summer. Letters to the editor are welcome and encouraged. The Observer does not accept unsolicited advertising.

U.S. should pressure Turkey for help in Bosnia

By Anna Marie Tabor

If necessary, this approach to the situation could be spelled out more explicitly. Is the U.S. more committed to the ideals of the EC or, incompatibly, to its own historically significant ethnic and religious battles? If Turkey's recent behavior is an indication, it seems likely that it would accede to pressure from the West, its own citizens, and with Armenia needful of assistance. The West has no direct leverage with the Azeris, who are not yet in the United Nations. Turkey, for its part, has made itself the equal of a major European power in the international system.

But the road to opening the border is a complex one. First, Turkey must open the border with Armenia. That would free supply routes into the country. If we permit refueling, we can alleviate the immediate need for fuel and food. We do not need that Turkey help with relief efforts — which need not demand that Turkey devalue its own currency. Second, the Turks should cease any military support they currently provide the Azeris. If we can find a way to avoid the conflict, we can extend our support to Armenia. Easing tensions like this could only help Turkey in dealing with its own Armenian minority and would help stabilize the region.

Well, that's correct.

Because having a baby could endanger your life.

'My way.'

As long as the world is turning and spinning, we're gonna be dizzy and we're gonna make mistakes.

Mel Brooks

QUOTES, P.O. Box 9, ND, IN 46556

"I hear the alarm -"
Bill Clinton ran a successful campaign because he had an adviser who kept him focused. This adviser hung a sign inside Bill's head. It read, "It's the economy, stupid."

Ed Manier
A Left Hook

I had the Clinton campaign site in my mind and was thinking, "For a guy who ran such a good campaign, the transition and the first week are a disaster.

If Colin Powell were going to start organizing the tasks, he would have a thing about cost containment, welfare reform, industrial policy, the infrastructure, jobs. The only meat and potatoes stuff the people who vote Democrat love is the family leave bill."

"Bill's head. It read, 'It's the family leave bill.'"

We have to make Colin Powell be inclusive, not divisive. It's the industrial policy, the infrastructure, the start of to organize the tasks, subsidies for health care cost containment, and when something happens to a member of the family, they get the Navy to see the boys.

"We have to make Colin Powell understand he's inciting and licensing gay bashing."

"If Colin Powell would, I pity the army who wants to serve their country, the boys."

"If the military has a problem with g e n e ra liz a tio n s and attacks good people for who and what they are instead, the problem is not our gays and lesbians, it's our generaland (itself) administrators."

Wednesday, Feb. 3, around 5 p.m. I was on WJBC Radio (WPVE 88.1 FM) somebody introduced me as the chief of the San Francisco Police Department. I'm the number 22 of employees and 27 platoons of street cops.

There is no police presence not perceived as being of the community, and the SFPD has a fair percentage of gays and lesbians.

Riibera handles charges of sexual harassment on a regular basis, but the number of charges filed against gays or lesbians is zero. There's either a massively effective coverup or GLSFPD are not sex predators. Your chances of being sexually harassed by a SF police officer are lower than your chances as a heterosexual of being harassed or homosexual harassment on campus, or in the Navy.

Moreover, job efficiency in SFPD platinum is significant and courage and energy. We have to make Colin Powell understand he's inciting and licensing gay bashing.

"The greatest problem is a system that is insufficiently disciplined to recognize the first thing she's check your life were on the line?"

If you're gay or lesbian and you want to serve your country, I don't advise my relatives of military not enlist to be killed.

If Colin Powell would, I pity him. He's Chair of the Joint Chiefs. At whose pleasure does he serve? Is he too young to remember MacArthur's farewell speech to Congress?

"Does he think Bob Doyle or Dan Coates or Strom Thurmond or Jesse Helms are as influential now as Joe McCarthy, Everett Dirksen and Bob Taft were when Truman cashiered MacArthur?"

Powell won't get a chance to "faze" away before a joint session of Congress if he doesn't learn to salute and button his lip. (The rumor that Coates, Doyle, Helms and Thurmond want to strip gay silver star winners of their medals is false. Lou Soens checked it.)

Listen to the wise woman. Clinton's got his first test. He's standing up to Sam Nunn and Colin Powell or it's more of the same. Queer bashing today, another scapegoat tomorrow. Helms and the religious right will do anything to derails moves to social equity. We don't mean "equal protection" of the laws, we mean there's the right way, the wrong way, and the Jewish way."

"We don't care if the most qualified, most patriotic persons defend their country. We just want straightly to defend our country and take showers together.

For gay bashing Domers out there (you and we know who you are), here's a little free advice: cool your jets. You will not be charged with gay bashing, but with assault and battery with intent to do grave bodily injury.

"A word of friendly advice to any Domer gay or lesbian who's been hashed. Du Lac requires ND to protect you from assault and battery. What's more, your friends."

Ed Manier is a professor of philosophy at Notre Dame.

---

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Column contained faulty assertions

Dear Editor:

I wanted to express my regret and dismay over Sarah Doran's Inside Column which contained faulty assertions of which Ms. Doran wrote are unfair. The same thing is true if you're gay or lesbian and you want to serve your country, I don't advise my relatives of military not enlist to be killed.

If Colin Powell would, I pity him. He's Chair of the Joint Chiefs. At whose pleasure does he serve? Is he too young to remember MacArthur's farewell speech to Congress?

"Does he think Bob Doyle or Dan Coates or Strom Thurmond or Jesse Helms are as influential now as Joe McCarthy, Everett Dirksen and Bob Taft were when Truman cashiered MacArthur?"

Powell won't get a chance to "faze" away before a joint session of Congress if he doesn't learn to salute and button his lip. (The rumor that Coates, Doyle, Helms and Thurmond want to strip gay silver star winners of their medals is false. Lou Soens checked it.)

Listen to the wise woman. Clinton's got his first test. He's standing up to Sam Nunn and Colin Powell or it's more of the same. Queer bashing today, another scapegoat tomorrow. Helms and the religious right will do anything to derails moves to social equity. We don't mean "equal protection" of the laws, we mean there's the right way, the wrong way, and the Jewish way."

"We don't care if the most qualified, most patriotic persons defend their country. We just want straightly to defend our country and take showers together.

For gay bashing Domers out there (you and we know who you are), here's a little free advice: cool your jets. You will not be charged with gay bashing, but with assault and battery with intent to do grave bodily injury.

"A word of friendly advice to any Domer gay or lesbian who's been hashed. Du Lac requires ND to protect you from assault and battery. What's more, your friends."

Ed Manier is a professor of philosophy at Notre Dame.

---

Thursday's Verse

The Great Philosopher

I know a great philosopher who asks how one learns - some be lessons, others only by experience, and some not at all.

"I love you because you're my father, But I hate you because you loved a white boy more than you loved me," his daughter cries.

His wife, tired and aged from his passionate affair with cocaine.

His wisdom is from the house he's lost, the jobs he's lost, the four-and-a-half of the last eight years in jail.

And so I wonder Will this wise man ever learn?

Danielle De Bow

Knott Hall

--------

Thursday's Verse

P.O. Box Q

Notre Dame, Indiana, 46556

---

Thursday's Verse

Dedicated to all of my African-American Brothers

For this Valentine's Day

With Love.

Your sister,

chandra

Fisher Graduate Residence
It's not just for kids

Student-produced 'Wired Comix' provides a combination of laughs, drama, and art.

By MEREDITH MCCULLOUGH

The days of POW! ZAP! BAM! are over.

The days of Wonder Twins and red capes and Jughead have faded away.

But the comic book lives on—albeit in a new and improved form—at Notre Dame.

Within the next few weeks a new student-run publication will begin circulating the campuses of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's. It's a publication filled with laughs, drama, and art.

The idea to create this new comic book developed almost by accident, according to student artists Sky Holsinger, Jay Duenes, and Dave Devine.

"It was just three cartoonists, no idea, I'm not sure if we even had an audience," said Observer cartoonist Devine. "We wanted to publish...but there is no forum at Notre Dame for student art, cartoons, graphic art in general."

So they decided to create that forum themselves.

And "Wired Comix" was born.

"Wired" is not your traditional comic book. With three artists each with different styles and different ideas, it is a staff of three books in one. A cartoon strip, a short story, a political commentary. A dark drama.

The cartoon is the brain-child of Holsinger, perhaps best known for his strip "Spelunkers" on the Today page of The Observer. The characters are the same, but with eight pages instead of four panels, the plot thickens.

"Rejection Man finally fills Hank in on why Hank is always rejected," explained Holsler. He fills him in on "Hank's place in the cosmic scheme on things."

Duenes, art design manager and political cartoonist at The Observer, provides the editorial bent to the publication.

His segment focuses on Notre Dame, providing "a satire on the nitpicking of a campus— which is most of them," he said.

But what good is a comic book if it's all laughs and no blood?

The final segment is Devine's dark, grayline contribution. But he is not alone. For this piece, Devine is joined by Observer columnist Bill Rosemann.

Together, the two of them put together "Truth and Consequences." A Mid-Knight, a comic book that, according to Devine, deals with "women's issues, the assertion of society and the assertion of female strength."

"Comic books aren't just for kids," said Rosemann. "A good comic book works on different levels with themes and imagery."

While a young reader may just see the storyline and heavy action, "an older reader might be more perceptive and say 'Wow, I didn't think of it like that before'... That's what we tried to do," he explained.

As a complete work, "Wired" works on more than one level as well.

While the four founders hope to offer entertainment to the campus and generate interest in publishing the comic book, they have not forgotten about giving back to the community.

Of the $1 they are charging for a single issue, 50 cents will go toward defraying the costs of a group of local children. The other 50 cents will go the Illey's Children's Hospital in Indianapolis.

The days of Wonder Twins and red capes and Jughead have faded away.

But the comic book lives on—albeit in a new and improved form—at Notre Dame.

Mr. Head offers unique blend of lounge music with hardcore edge

By MEGHAN KING

"The last time I ever heard the word freak used was a term of endearment," said Joe Cannon, lead singer and guitarist for Mr. Head, the alternative grunge band that has been playing Notre Dame's underground circuits for the past two years.

"We had two freshmen who told us we were freaks," said Cannon about himself and his former roommate, fellow bassist, Dave Holsinger.

"A few of our stuff is dinosaur love story material. You know, 'I'm the shy guy who can't get the girl' type stuff," said Cannon.

The song "Weather," to be featured on the campus CD, is an example. "Let me ask you about the weather, let me have your response/Always the shy, and I'm never on time/Always the shy, for you."
America," he said. "I saw a sign, not just the SEC, but telling the old people to stand up. Heck, I don't think they ever day night after the 14th-ranked us," Richardson said Wednesday, February 11, 1993 The Observer page 11

Fayetteville, Ark. (AP) - Six Razorbacks players were in double figures, but Nolan Richardson said his list of heroes started with some other folks.

"The fans won this one for us," Richardson said Wednesday night after the 14th-ranked Razorbacks held off No. 2 Kentucky 10-14.

"I've been in a lot of places and I've said this before, these fans are the greatest in America, not just the SEC, but America," Richardson said, telling the old people to stand up.

On the court, freshman Corliss Williamson and senior Robert Shepherd had the answer each time Kentucky got close in the first 12 minutes.

The Razorbacks led by 15 with 9 minutes to play, but Kentucky closed within 4 points in the last 12 seconds. When it was 89-85, Williamson, who scored a career-high 23 points, drained a downcourt for a stuff. At 91-87, Williamson's pass to Shepherd led to a press for a basket. At 93-89, Shepherd, who has not missed a free throw in the SEC, made one. At 96-92, Williamson made the free two.

Richardson praised Williamson and Shepherd and pointed out that Scotty Thurman carried Arkansas early with 14 of his 16 points in the first half.

"It was our turn to turn basketball for us, a different guy at different time," he said.

"I think that all the people who were watching have been through a bounce. It's been a tough bounce," Richardson said.

The Razorbacks were 10-14 in 23 Southwestern Conference contests this year.

They just kind of caught us off guard with the press late in the game but we adjusted," said Shepherd.

Arkansas played without point guard Corey Beck, who was suspended, but Richardson said coach Beck was arrested on a driving while intoxicated charge over the weekend.

Husker Nut News / 10-14-93
Boston College falls victim to the Hurricanes

O'Brien said, "He's a reliable line," Boston College coach Jim overtime with Howard on the margin.

The last rebound and made both straight, but came back after a twist, it was free throws that allowed BC to move into the lead, 75-71.

Boston College falls to Miami, the conference's hottest shooter, on the line with 11-13 loss. Miami's victory gives it a first place in the Big East.

"It wasn't a matter of a choke situation," O'Brien said. "He just missed them. If the same situation comes up on the road against St. John's Saturday, I like our chances again with Howard."

Boston College (13-6, 7-4) was defeated in four straight games, all in the conference, and needed a victory over Miami (8-11, 5-6) to draw even with St. John's for first place in the Big East.

Miami's victory gives it a three-game winning streak for the first time this season and marks the first time it has won four straight games against conference opponents since joining the Big East last year.

"It's nice to say that we did all ourselves, but they (Tri-State) had a tough crew of games," Slosar said. "It's nice to get help like that when you can.

In Game 3, the Irish, led by Ryan Martin, Brian Geponis and Pat Madden, bolted to a 13-7 lead. They would not score again in that game, making several mistakes en route to a 15-13 loss.

In games 2 and 3, the Irish were more than by their own prowess, according to coach Jen Slosar.

"I'd like to say that we did it all ourselves, but they (Tri-State) had a tough crew of games," Slosar said. "It's nice to say that we did it all ourselves, but they (Tri-State) had a tough crew of games," Slosar said.

I recently told these stories to a Notre Dame Encounter Weekend. I told our students that God likely looks for ways to be a playful lover with everyone God loves.

Nothing has made me happier than one day when I was walking across the Quad in front of Walsh Hall and some guy holstered from far away, "Hey, Father, it's 1:11!" He and I both revealed in the fact that God is our Lover.

The Jesus Prayer leads us to understand. The digital clock phenomenon may make us laugh, but I laughed. Is this to be a theme? Eventually, I saw "4:56" and "11:11" and "3:21."

Some days later, I was nervous about a sermon I had agreed to give. I didn't sleep well the whole night before; all night I tossed and turned. And yet, every time I looked over and saw the fancy new ordinance clock, it read 2:34, or 3:33, or 5:55 - great numbers, laughable numbers. Eventually, that night I laughed. What a great poker hand this is, I thought to myself.

I recently told these stories to a Notre Dame Encounter Weekend. I told our students that God likely looks for ways to be a playful lover with everyone God loves.

I recently told these stories to a Notre Dame Encounter Weekend. I told our students that God likely looks for ways to be a playful lover with everyone God loves.

God loves God's people. Let us live in that kind of conviction. It makes us free.

Tom McDermott, C.S.C.

WEEKEND PRESIDERS AT SACRED HEART BASILICA

Sat. February 13 5:00 p.m. Rev. Regis Duffy, O.F.M.
Sun. February 14 10:00 a.m. Rev. Regis Duffy, O.F.M.
11:45 a.m. Rev. Daniel Jenky, C.S.C.

SCRIPTURE READINGS FOR THIS COMING SUNDAY

1ST READING Sirach 15, 15-20
2ND READING 1 Corinthians 2, 6-10
GOSPEL Matthew 5, 17-37
Michael Jordan, involved in a first-quarter fight that saw Reggie Miller ejected, scored a game-high 40 points as Chicago ended a nine-game road trip with a 115-104 win over Indiana Wednesday night. The win was the Bulls' fifth straight and left them 6-3 on the road trip, their longest in 18 years. They have won six straight against the Pacers, including four this year.

The Pacers lost Miller with 4:29 in the first quarter when he was ejected after starting a fight with Jordan. Miller had tipped in a missed shot by Posh Richardson on a fast break, giving the Pacers a 22-14 lead. When he turned after the basket, he bumped Jordan with his forearm and continued to run up the floor. Jordan caught up with Miller, and the two players began to grapple, with Jordan head-butting Miller and both players throwing punches. Both benches emptied before order was restored.

Miller was assessed a personal foul for elbowing and a technical foul for throwing a punch. Jordan dislocated his right shoulder and was ejected also. The game was postponed until Thursday, February 11, for possible resolution of the technical foul.

The win was the Bulls' fifth straight against the Pacers, who opened up a 10-point lead, 98-97, at 5:54 to play, 98-97. But Jordan, Scottie Pippen and B.J. Armstrong each scored four points in a 12.1 run as the Bulls opened up a 10-point lead, 109-99 with 3:10 left. The Pacers never got closer than eight again.

Michael Jordan drives past Indiana's Reggie Williams. Williams was ejected in the first quarter of Wednesday's 115-104 Bulls win. Glen Rice added 18 points and nine rebounds for Miami, which never trailed. The Wolves (10-30) lost their second in a row. Miami's Bimbo Coles came off the bench to score 17 points, 11 of those in a 15-6 second-quarter burst.

Miami's Ron Seikaly, who is out with a high 23 points on Tuesday. But Jordan, Scottie Pippen and B.J. Armstrong each scored four points in a 12.1 run as the Bulls opened up a 10-point lead, 109-99 with 3:10 left. The Pacers never got closer than eight again.

ND SMC Students
20th Annual Summer Program
LONDON
ROME
June 13 - July 12
June 14 - July 19
Travel in Ireland,
Scotland, and France
Travel in France,
Germany, and
Switzerland
Courses offered in
BUSINESS AND ECONOMICS, HISTORY, NURSING,
EDUCATION, SOCIOLGY, ITALIAN, MUSIC
MEETING February 15
3:00 p.m. Carroll Hall, SMC • Free pizza
Past students and faculty participants will be present
For information call Prof. Black
284-4460 or 272-3726

Morrissette, Off-Campus to meet in final
By TIMOTHY SEYMOUR
Sports Writer
The final two are set in the men's interhall basketball A League as Morrissette will face Off-Campus to decide the championship.

Morrissey is coming off a thrilling double overtime, 55-52 victory over previously undefeated St. Ed's, a game that could just as easily have gone both ways. St. Ed's started hot, as star shooting guard Tony Gentine lit up the scoreboard with four first-half three pointers. However, Morrissette regained its composure, using a frantic trapping, pressuring defense to force turnovers and spark an 11-0 run of its own. Instrumental in that charge was point guard Steve Cleary, creating a number of steals and easy transition baskets. The advantage again went to Morrissette in overtime, as junior John Neal hit a driving layup and the ensuing free throw to put his team up six. However, Gentine again came through, hitting all three free throws after being fouled on a three-point attempt, tying the game into the second overtime.

Captain Chris Bartell came out firing for St. Ed's, hitting a leaning layup in the lane and a fifteen foot jumper to give his team the lead. However, this period was owned by Morrissette's big center, Brendan Tilley. Tully hit a baseline jumper, tipped in a missed shot, and after teammate Matt Johnson's two free throws, added one of his own to create the lead. He also had a crucial blocked shot near the end, preventing the game from being tied again. When asked about the thing that sparked his team's victory, Morrissette coach Andy Currie noted that, "We decided to back off the press and put in a smaller lineup, trying to shut down their shooters on the outside.

In the other semifinal, O-C rolled 50-31 over previously undefeated Fisher. O-C held Fisher scoreless in the third quarter, turning a five-point deficit into a double digit lead. The frontcourt of Eric Jones, Brian Ratigan, and Ray Griggs keyed this turnaround, pounding the ball inside and scoring on numerous second chance layups.

Fisher had started well behind the shooting of Tim Frank and Garrett Hartman, but O-C turned its defense up a notch and started to crash the boards with authority, putting the game out of reach as Fisher went cold from the floor.

Despite the talent of the O-C frontcourt, Morrissette's Currie remained positive, saying, "Jones and Ratigan really work well together, but I think we'll match up well with Brian Corbett and Tully, and we'll try to switch around our defenses to create turnovers.

College Students!
A real estate career could propel you into a rewarding future! If you plan to live in the Michiana area after graduation, please join us!

Tuesday, February 16
Saint Mary's College
Haggar College Center, Room 304
Call Sheila Bardwell to register and receive your free Real Estate Career Kit
271-4171
Hosted by:
Cresy and Everett/ Better Homes and Gardens

Don't be caught empty handed!
Valentine's Day is Sunday, February 14th
Pre-Order by Friday, February 5th for lower prices
at RISH GARDENS

All Delivery Orders Must Be In By Saturday
Please make all orders in advance for fastest service

Open Sunday, February 14th
12:30-5:30

Visa/MC accepted
delivery to ND/SMC/Off campus Balloons/Cards too!
NEW YORK (AP) — Don’t hold your breath waiting for Lennox Lewis and Riddick Bowe to unify the heavyweight championship. It’s not going to happen for a while.

Lawyers and representatives of the fighters met for two hours Tuesday night and promoter Don Duva said all the talk boiled down to perhaps 20 minutes of substance. "No agreement was reached," he said. "None was close."

What the meeting did produce was a price for the fight of $32 million guaranteed. What it did not produce was any consensus for dividing that kitty.

"Lennox Lewis would fight Riddick Bowe for free, if he loses," Duva said Wednesday. "If Riddick fights for free, if he loses."

Also discussed was a more realistic $10 million offer. The problem with that was one was the name of the proposed payee on the check. Rock Newman, Bowe’s manager, offered $10 million to Main Events, Duva’s promotion company, for a Lewis million to Main Events, Duva’s name of the proposed payee on the check. Newman’s camp was separated literally and geographically. Lewis, the WBC champ, and Maloney were headed back to London on Wednesday night. Bowe, the WBA and IBF champ, and Maloney were flying to Los Angeles for an appearance on the television show Fresh Prince of Bel-Air.

Newman said there was a possibility the two sides would meet again on Friday in New York. "If they’re ready to do a winner-take-all, I’ll bring our signing pen," Newman said.

"Our position is this," Maloney said. "Lennox Lewis would like to fight Riddick Bowe because that’s the fight all the fans want. He will not chase Riddick Bowe and he will not be used by Riddick Bowe."

"We have two offers for Riddick Bowe. Lennox Lewis will accept $10 million guaranteed, no strings attached, all belts on the line in a winner take all, all the money and all the belts on the line in a $32 million fight.

"Either scenario is acceptable at a date and time to be agreed on." If Rock Newman and Riddick Bowe are sincere, there should be no problem accepting either offer.

Originally, the winner take all deal was suggested as a $31-$31 million split, so that the loser doesn’t leave with entirely empty pockets. Newman said he would raise the ante to the full $32 million during the Tuesday night meeting.

Milt Chwasky, Bowe’s attorney, said "In my opinion, winner take all is not realistic." Duva said, "I agree."

That would seem to take care of that idea.

"The lawyers and promoters notwithstanding, the fighters want the fight," Chwasky said. "I don’t know when, but eventually the fight will be made."

For his part, Lewis began by saying, "We want to show we’re very serious."

The Observer is now accepting applications for the 1993-94 General Board

ADVERTISING MANAGER

Applicants should be business majors with management and sales skills. The advertising manager oversees representatives and is responsible for generating advertising revenue.

AD DESIGN MANAGER

Applicants should have solid Macintosh experience and knowledge of QuarkXPress, Aldus Freehand and Adobe Photoshop. The ad design manager oversees a staff of designers, works closely with the advertising department and is responsible for the design and layout of advertisements.

PRODUCTION MANAGER

Applicants should have solid Macintosh computer experience, knowledge of QuarkXPress and design, layout and newspaper production experience. The production manager oversees a staff of night production designers and works closely with department staff on layout and design.

SYSTEMS MANAGER

Applicants should be familiar with Macintosh computer and QuarkXPress experience. The systems manager maintains and updates the Macintosh network and is responsible for training the entire Observer staff on the use of the system.

OBSERVER TYPESETTING DIRECTOR

Applicants should have solid Macintosh experience, especially with QuarkXPress, Aldus Pagemaker and Aldus PrePrint. The OTS director oversees all aspects of the typesetting business, including client relations and new business development.

CONTROLLER

Applicants must be a junior accounting major at Notre Dame or Saint Mary’s. The controller is responsible for preparing The Observer’s operating budget and taxes, accounts payable, cost-tracking and order transaction duties.

NOTRE DAME OLYMPIC SPORTS

CATCH ‘EM

TODAY

Women’s Basketball

vs Xavier

7:30 PM

JACC Arena*

*Free admission with Blue & Gold Card
Thursday, February 11, 1993

Today

SPELUNKER

DO YOU SEE THE CAR COMING ATHER MY HEAD? IT'S TOO FAR FOR A REASON.

ACCORDING TO THIS EDITION OF THE GAZETTE, THERE WAS NO ISSUER IN VOTES FOR HILL. I DON'T BUY IT. NOW I'M BOB.

I WAS TOO BY MY LEAST IT PAINS ME TO GIVE THEIR VOTE. I BEGAN TO DIP INTO THE POOL OF PASSION AT THE FRENCH FACES. I WASN'T EVEN THINKING.

SO, UNLESS WE RECEIVE AN APOLOGY FROM THE PEOPLE OF THE DECEMBER WAR ON STRATEGIES' DARE.CAN'T WE HAVE A SIMPLE CAMPAIGN ON A SLENDER ISSUE? WHENEVER THIS CAMPAIGN FOR SEXUAL INTEGRITY WILL BE IN VAIN.

CALVIN AND HOBBES

I USED TO HATE WRITING ASSIGNMENTS, BUT NOW I ENJOY THEM.

I REALIZED THAT THE PUSAURIC OR WRITING IS TO INVENT, TOUGH IDEAS, DESIRE FOR REASONS, AND INSIST ON ELUSION.

WITH A LITTLE PRACTICE, WRITING CAN BE AN INTIMIDATING AND IMPENETRABLE FOG, BUT NOW I REALIZED THAT THE PUSHER'S (or THIS) CAMPUS!

CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Humane org. for young humans
2. One of a deck
3. Gossip topic
4. Not even mediocre
5. Like some services
6. Purple
7. Baked with a breadcrumb topping
8. Organic compound
9. Marine bigmouth
10. Unenvious people
11. Kong's captive
12. Research place
13. Roman goddess of hope
14. Assume an attitude
15. Andean shrub
16. Sideways
17. Puerto Rican dances
18. Dull
19. Ele. unit
20. Range players
21. Atoll
22. indigenous literature
23. Medical plant
24. A requisite of pianos
25. E.P.A. concern
26. Brooklyn-born
27. Household duties
28. Gloved
29. Chopin's group
30. E. Europe's Mountains
31. Kindled
32. Pile up
33. Summon to court
34. Psychic letters
35. Geraldine's touch
36. Extreme
37. Unhinged incineration
38. Held back
39. Field
40. Merits
41. Love to excess
42. Japanese
43. Has residence
44. Bureau-drawer enhancer
45. Tourist attraction
46. Long tale
47. Long tale
48. Boast
49. Homer's "Iliad", e.g.
50. Schism
51. Like some delectables
52. Module
53. Start of N.C.'s motto
54. Raiders
55. Duran Duran album
56. Sead coat
57. Draft horses
58. Objective
59. In readiness
60. Sponsorship
61. Objective
62. Love to excess
63. Love to excess

DOWN
1. Romans
2. Assumed an attitude
3. Andean shrub
4. Sideways
5. Puerto Rican dances
6. Dull
7. Ele. unit
8. Range players
9. Atoll
10. indigenous literature
11. Medical plant
12. A requisite of pianos
13. E.P.A. concern
14. Brooklyn-born
15. Household duties
16. Gloved
17. Chopin's group
18. E. Europe's Mountains
19. Has residence
20. Bureau-drawer enhancer
21. Tourist attraction
22. Long tale
23. Boast
24. Homer's "Iliad", e.g.
25. Schism
26. Like some delectables
27. Module
28. Start of N.C.'s motto
29. Raiders
30. Duran Duran album
31. Japanese
32. Japanese
33. Japanese
34. Japanese
35. Japanese
36. Japanese
37. Japanese
38. Japanese
39. Japanese
40. Japanese
41. Japanese
42. Japanese
43. Japanese
44. Japanese
45. Japanese
46. Japanese
47. Japanese
48. Japanese
49. Japanese
50. Japanese
51. Japanese
52. Japanese
53. Japanese
54. Japanese
55. Japanese
56. Japanese
57. Japanese
58. Japanese
59. Japanese
60. Japanese
61. Japanese
62. Japanese
63. Japanese

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

Lagnaippe May 1993

THE DYNAMICS OF INTERRELATING AND HIERARCHICAL IMPLICATIONS IN DICK AND JANE: A STUDY IN PSYCHIC TRANSFERENTIAL, GERMAN MODES.

BILL WATTERSON

THE FAR SIDE

“Well, kid, ya beat me — and now every punk packin' a paddle and tryin' to make a name for himself will come lookin' for you! ... Welcome to hell, kid.”

CAMPUS

Thursday

5 p.m. Reception for rare book exhibit: "Bookplates and Provenance: Part II." Room 102, Hesburgh Library. Sponsored by Special Collections Department, University Libraries.

6 and 10:30 p.m. Film: "Say Anything." Cushing Auditorium.

8:10 p.m. Play: "The Foreigner." Cavanaugh Hall Players. Washington Hall. Sponsored by Cavanaugh Hall. Tickets available at LaFortune Student Center Information Desk for $3.

LECTURES

Thursday

MENU

Notre Dame Hamburger
Baked Sole
Manciotti
Saint Mary's Grill Bar
Pasta Bar
Carved Turkey

Let your voice be heard...

Register to vote!
INSIDE SPORTS

Morrissey, O-C win semis...

Men's volleyball beats Tri-State...

Arkansas beats Kentucky...

HOCKEY

Bettis, Carter explain...