GSU candidates compare similarities and differences

By JASON WILLIAMS
Assistant News Editor

Graduate Student Union (GSU) presidential candidates spoke last night to debate issues relative to the general gathering last night to debate issues raised by the GSU's Resource Center on campus. Both candidates were involved in establishing a Women's Resource Center. Francis said she has been involved in establishing a center ever since it was first brought to the GSU's attention. Francis said the major concern here is the structure of the current committee system with more regular, posted committee meetings.

An Irish blessing

Father Willie Purcell from Kilkenny, Ireland, presides over a mass yesterday celebrating the Feast of St. Patrick's Day in the Basilica of the Sacred Heart.

Six killed as train hits gas tanker

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — A gasoline tanker traveling in traffic at a railroad crossing was struck by an Amtrak train Wednesday and exploded, killing nine other cars and trucks crossing the gate did come down, traffic when the warning lights came on and the gate lowered.

The cars of the train — the Silver Star from New York City to Miami-bound Amtrak were struck, said Carl Tursi, a spokesman for the company. The train carried 108 passengers and 10 crew members; six passengers were taken to a hospital for observation, officials said.

Several students, faculty, and administrators participated in the open and informal discussion sponsored by Minority International and Non-traditional Students (MINIT) and SMC Really Groovy Women. The members of this organization are Tina Buchanan, Sarah Finko, Delia Garre, and Renee Young. Although not an official club, this group is possible for a lecture series, a multi-cultural week in the spring of 1992, and a previous celebration which recognized Christopher Columbus.

The next event in this series will focus on sexual identity today. It will take place tonight at 6 p.m. in the Haggar Parlor at Saint Mary's.

Vote today

Elections for Sophomore, Junior and Senior Class offices of Saint Mary's College took place Tuesday night. On Campus students can vote at the Student Center, off-campus students can vote in the off-campus student lounge from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.
INSIDE COLUMN

Mastering the art: getting past the guards

You and your roommate just ran some errands off campus, and you refuse to park in D2000 and walk back to the dorm. Instead, you pull up to the security guard, look him/her in the eye, and lie through your teeth.

I would consider myself to be a very honest person, except when it comes to making up reasons for getting my automobile on campus. I’ll admit it, when trying to get past the security guard, I’m a compulsive liar.

Although I often tend to use the more sophisticated excuses such as loading luggage or unloading groceries, I have discovered some other excuses which are much more amusing and effective.

Injuries always work. My roommate once stuffed kleenex in her sock and faked a sprained ankle; she was waved onto campus without question. I have also discovered that leaving with the car or claiming to have a friend to physical therapy always gets sympathy from the guards.

Creativity may also get you past the security guards. I was once with a friend who had to pick up a refrigeration in Farley (it was a Thursday night in November). One of the best I ever heard, however, came from a girl claiming she had to pick up three sheet cakes (for the wedding banquet for her dorm’s SYF). Even though it was a Thursday night, the guard let her go, probably because he was not impressed with her excuse.

When pulling up to the security booth, it is never easy trying to figure out how sympathetic the guards will be to your excuse. Some will let anything go, and have a few who probably won’t even let you in the campus.

It is much easier getting waved on when it is cold or raining outside (which is pretty often in South Bend). It seems that many of the guards would rather sit in their booth than check to make sure you really do have groceries. I have never been able to figure out the system for handling out passes; sometimes the guards give them, sometimes they don’t. Also, the passes are always for a different amount of time.

And if the pass expires while you are still on campus, is it better to take it off, or leave it on your car even though it is invalid?

Some of the guards may refuse to let you onto campus regardless of your excuse. Once I needed to drop off some people in a snowstorm after a formal. The guard asked me why I (the girl) was driving; I explained that it was my car. After a formal. The guard asked me why I (the girl) was driving; I explained that it was my car.

And if the pass expires while you are still on campus, is it better to take it off, or leave it on your car even though it is invalid?

If you are caught with a fake excuse, you are unlikely to be let in. Some guards will also可不是说 lightly consider any excuse which is not very plausible.

The views expressed in the Inside Column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.

Today's Staff

News
Bevin Kovalik
John Lucas

Production
Susan Gruber
Kristin Ruehling

Accent
Lynn Bawens
Mara Davis
Stacia Schwab

The Observer (USPS 599 2-4000) is published Monday through Friday except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All republication rights reserved.

WEATHER REPORT

Today's high: 49°F

Mostly sunny and cold Thursday with highs in the lower 30s. Cold Friday with a 70 percent chance of snow and high in the mid 30s.

THERMOMETERS

City H L

Anchorage 33 23
Chicago 46 44
Cleveland 43 30
Denver 42 28
Hoboken 43 31
Los Angeles 69 41
Memphis 76 45
Miami 79 63
New York 46 40
Pittsburgh 47 32
Philadelphia 50 39
San Francisco 56 36
Tampa 77 49
Tokyo 58 36
Washington, D.C. 60 39

FRONTS.

COLD WARM STATIONARY

© 1993 AcuWeather, Inc

TODAY AT A GLANCE

WORLD

Experts say corpse was not Hitler's

PARIS—French forensic experts say the charred corpse said to be Hitler's was not his body, and that experts falsified verification reports ordered by Josef Stalin to appease the Soviet dictator. In a report published in the professional review Hospital Weekly, four forensic scientists concluded that the body actually was that of an unknown German male. The article, published on March 11 and excerpted in France's national press this week, does not claim that Hitler survived and fled Germany, but rather that his body was shown to a German soldier. The body was later apparently transported to the Soviet Union. According to the Soviet autopsy, the body found outside the Berlintor bunker where Hitler committed suicide with his wife. Eva Braun, had an extra tooth and only one testicle. The French team believes doctors were under pressure from Stalin to fake the autopsy, because he wanted to show the world Hitler was really dead.

Oil discovered in Latin America

CARACAS, Venezuela—Major discoveries of oil and gas are likely in Brazil, Columbia, Mexico and Venezuela, according to a study by Amoco Corp. "There is reason to be optimistic about the future in Latin America," oil company manager George Kronman said Tuesday in a speech to the Venezuelan-American Petroleum Geology Conference. He said Amoco predicts discoveries of at least 500 million barrels in six basins: the Campos in Brazil, the Llanos in Colombia, the Reforma-Campeche and the Tampico-Misantla in Mexico, and the Maracaibo and the Maturin in Venezuela. Latin America has the largest amount of proven crude reserves outside the Middle East, according to 1991 data, Kronman said.

NATIONAL

Helen Hayes dies at age 92

NYACK, N.Y.—Helen Hayes, who won the highest honors of stage, screen and television and was dubbed "First Lady of the American Theater," died Wednesday. She was 92. Hayes was brought to Nyack Hospital in this New York suburb where she made her home, early last week suffering from congestive heart failure.

The hospital would not release further information at the request of Hayes' son, actor James MacArthur. She received three Tonys and an Emmy as well as two Oscars, and in 1981 was awarded the Kennedy Center Honors for lifetime achievement. Miss Hayes left the theater in 1971 after 66 years, because of allergies to dust that aggravated chronic bronchitis. But she always said the theater was still her first love.

Man accused of shooting doctor

PENSACOLA, Fla.—A chemical plant worker faces a first-degree murder charge in last week's fatal shooting of a doctor at an abortion clinic. A grand jury indicted Michael Griffin, 31, of Pensacola on Tuesday. He is to be arraigned Thursday. Griffin is accused of shooting Dr. David Gunn in the back three times a week ago as he arrived at the Pensacola Women's Health Services clinic during an anti-abortion demonstration. Police say Griffin admitted the slaying. State Attorney Curtis Golden has said prosecutors would seek the death penalty, standard policy in cases of premeditated murder. Griffin was held without bond. At his first court appearance last week, he had asked permission to represent himself. Gunn, 47, of Eufaula, Ala., was the only physician working at Pensacola's only two abortion clinics.

OF INTEREST

Eating for Your Active Lifestyle, a free public presentation by Nancy Clark, Nutrition Consultant for the Boston Celtics, will take place Saturday at 1:00 p.m. at the Battell Community Center, 904 N. Main St., Mishawaka. A reception will follow the presentation. For information, call 259-3740. Sponsored by Northern Indiana Dietetic Association and Battell Community Center.

MARKET UPDATE

YESTERDAY'S TRADING

March 17

VOLUME IN SHARES

237,867,450

NYSE INDEX

+1.44 to 247.33

S&P COMPOSITE

-1.48 to 247.33

DOW JONES INDUSTRIALS

UNCHANGED

-598

GOLD

+ $1.05 to $329.70 oz.

SILVER

+$0.025 to $5.673 oz.

FORECAST

Mostly sunny and cold Thursday with highs in the lower 30s. Cold Friday with a 70 percent chance of snow and high in the mid 30s.

The Observer Thursday, March 18, 1993
Navy guarantees ROTC jobs

By JOHN LUCAS
Assistant News Editor

Although working toward modernization and downsizing, the U.S. Navy will continue to guarantee jobs for graduating ROTC students, according to Rear Admiral Louise Wilmot.

"The sweeping changes present challenges to me and to you, but I ask you to embrace the changes, know what they are, and make them your own," she said yesterday afternoon, addressing a meeting of the Naval ROTC's Midshipman's Battalion.

Through all the current reorganization, the Navy will continue to promise positions for all graduating ROTC Midshipmen.

"We can guarantee that there will be a job for each of our graduates," she said.

In addition to promising jobs for graduating Midshipmen, Wilmot explained that there are still many opportunities left in to be explored in the Navy, particularly for women and minorities.

"I want everyone to understand that the Navy is still a viable career," she said.

Behind the current changes, which involve base closings and the shrinking of the 600 ship fleet of four years ago, Wilmot cited a recent joint report by the Navy and the Marine Corps, entitled "From The Sea." The report detailed proposed changes and compelled the Navy to begin to modernize its forces and refocus its mission.

"We simply had to adapt our naval forces to the 21st century," she said.

The new mission of the Navy, according to Wilmot, is the establishment of a smaller force, ranging from 319 to 344 ships, which would be able to quickly respond to regional conflicts around the globe. Wilmot referred to the recent deployment of troops in Somalia as an example of this new kind of navy.

In refocusing toward smaller crises, the Navy's focus would no longer be geared toward the "domination of the open sea," but rather place an "emphasis on mobility," she said.

"If ships go, bases go, and if bases go, people go," she said, citing that nearly 200,000 civilians will be affected by the proposed closures.

With upcoming announcements and the analysis of plans for daily base closings, Wilmot urged the Midshipmen to stay abreast of the current situation the Navy faces by reading newspaper articles and editorials.

"It is very difficult to keep up with the changes," she admitted.
NEW YORK (AP) — An extremist Muslim cleric who preaches at the same mosque where two suspects in the World Trade Center bombing worshiped was ordered deported from the United States on Wednesday.

The action came as a federal grand jury in Manhattan returned indictments against the two suspects already in custody and accused in the blast: Mohammed Salameh, 25, and Nidal Ayyad, also 25.

The Feb. 26 blast, which shut down the World Trade Center for nearly three weeks, killed six people, injured more than 1,000 and did tens of millions of dollars in damage to the city economy. One of the buildings will reopen Thursday when Gov. Mario Cuomo returns to his 57th floor offices.

Gov. Cuomo returns to office when economy

The deportation order against Sheikh Omar Abdel-Rahman was unrelated to the blast. But Salameh and Ayyad both have worshiped at the Jersey City mosque where he has preached.

Abdel-Rahman, 54, had come before U.S. Immigration Judge Daniel Meisner on Jan. 20 for a closed hearing requested by the Immigration and Naturalization Service to remove the sheik from the country.

The immigration service said Abdel-Rahman did not disclose in 1991 that he is a polygamist and that he was convicted of falsifying a check in Egypt in 1987. Both are grounds for exclusion from the United States.

Abdel-Rahman left Egypt for the U.S. after his acquittal in 1987. Both are grounds for exclusion from the United States.

The im migration service said Abdel-Rahman, of Jersey City, N.J., rented the van used to transport the explosive, while Ayyad, of Maplewood, N.J., was capable of building a bomb. Ayyad is a chemical engineer.

The suspects face life without parole if convicted.

The single-paragraph indictment shed no new light on a motive for the blast or possible links between the alleged bombers and Abdel-Rahman.

continued from page 1

Wigenbach is a first year student in the government department. His involvement in the GSU includes government department representative, faculty-student committee liaison to the government department and member of the GSU Elections, Procedures and Credentials Committee.

Elections will be held tomorrow with the sole voting booth being in Hesburgh Library Concourse from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mail-in ballots can be turned in as late as 5 p.m. to the Graduate Student Union in LaFortune Student Center.

Applications can be picked up in the Student Activities Office, 3rd floor LaFortune

GSU

continued from page 1

Honors

continued from page 1

on Choral Music in Vancouver.

Budd, a senior nursing major, was nominated by members of the Saint Mary's faculty.

She is a member of the Student Nurses Association, and an active member of Circle K, a service organization.

Budd is currently the lieutenant governor for the North-west Division of Indiana Circle K.

She has also served as the treasurer and vice president of the organization.

After graduation in May she plans on working as a nurse with the mentally and physically handicapped.

Apply today for bartender positions!

Applications can be picked up in the Student Activities Office, 3rd floor LaFortune

Deadline: March 19, 1993

Seniors

Juniors

Spring Fashion Show

March 20, 1993
2:00 p.m.

LaFortune Ballroom

Featuring stores from UP Mall. Benefits the American Diabetes Association. Tickets—$3.00 at the LaFortune Information Desk.

Syracuse Abroad

AFRICA • AUSTRALIA • CZECH REPUBLIC • ENGLAND • FRANCE • GERMANY • HUNGARY • ITALY • POLAND • SPAIN

• Prior Foreign Language Not Always Necessary
• SU Credit
• Field Trips/Traveling Seminars
• Internships
• Study For A Semester, A Year, Or A Summer
• Home Or Limited Apartment Placements

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE AVAILABLE

Syracuse University
Division of International Programs Abroad
119 Euclid Avenue
Syracuse, NY 13244-4170
(315) 443-3471 OR 1-800-235-3472
NEW YORK (AP) — It was a badly splintered St. Patrick’s Day celebration. The mayor stayed at home. The cardinal was snug under a canopy on the cathedral steps, waving and smiling at paraders. And more than 200 gay protesters who raised a racket ended celebrations early at Central Booking.

Only about 120,000 people marched Wednesday in the nation’s oldest St. Patrick’s Day parade, tens of thousands less than usual, and spectators along Fifth Avenue were rarely more than three deep. Organizers blamed the poor turnout on a never-ending Irish-style drizzle.

But what was most remarkable about the 232nd parade, even by the unpleasant standards of recent years, was how many Irish-for-a-day were going on their own way.

More than an hour before the parade started, hundreds of marchers protesting the exclusion of Irish homosexuals staged a counter-march up Fifth Avenue, chanting “Hey, hey, ho, ho, homophobia has got to go!” When they ran into a line of police, they knelt or squatted as police cuffed them and moved them into vans and buses.

In all, 228 were arrested, most for violating a court order, including City Councilman Thomas Duane, an acknowledged homosexual who was cheered as he stepped into a police wagon. Five were charged with disorderly conduct.

“Our tax dollars at work,” laughed one protester.

In Ireland, a gay organization entered a float in the Dublin parade with no appreciable controversy. Last year, a gay group entered a float in the Cork parade, and won a prize.

Elsewhere, Chicago’s 38th parade went ahead in freezing temperatures.

In Boston, where last Sunday’s parade was postponed a week by the blizzard, organizers were trying to build a gay group from marching for the second consecutive year. Last month, a judge ruled the homosexuals had a right to march.

A predicted rain fail to show up for the parade in Savannah, Ga., which drew at least 200,000 spectators. The march in Albuquerque, N.M., was canceled because of unpaid bills.

In New York, a judge ruled Tuesday that the Irish Lesbian and Gay Organization, which has battled for three years to be included in the main parade, could not stage a protest parade on the avenue.

Mayor David Dinkins boycotted the parade; instead, he gave a breakfast at his official Gracie Mansion and told his guests that “a few small-minded individuals have soured this celebration with attitudes of intolerance and exclusion.”

Dinkins, who had tried to get the gay delegation into the parade, was referring to members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the parade’s traditional sponsor.

The city had taken away the Hibernians’ parade permit, but a federal judge gave it back, citing the Hibernians’ right to freedom of speech, religion and association. The city then opposed the gay group’s request for a counter march, warning that it could lead to violence.

During Mass at St. Patrick’s Cathedral, Cardinal John O’Connor complained that, for years, “Irish Catholics have been persecuted for the sole reason that they have refused to participate in such church teaching. What others may call bigotry, Irish Catholics call principle.”

Riding on a Wagon Train

The first time I saw a Pope, in the flesh, it made me cry.

I was off my way to Africa, and I had passed through Rome. The tour bus took us all to the Pope’s “summer house” outside the city, where we were gently herded into the inner courtyard of the Vicar of Christ on Earth’s really-not-so-huge extra palace. The second floor balcony window opened, and two very slick must-be Monsignors suddenly appeared to place our very frail Pope Paul VI in the opening. His Holiness slowly began to greet all the gathered faithful, with that distinctly choppy, two-handed papal wave. Down below, a Canadian high school band, decked out in satin hot pants and white fur hats started playing “Amazing Grace” — and I lost it. “Don’t worry about me,” I told the wondering crowd. “I’m just a believer.”

There is a certain price to pay to be a Catholic. Theology and pastoral practice move so very slowly. It can seem a burden to always worry about the whole world.

In Africa, for awhile I lived in a huge rural district where 100 villages within 200 square miles where all organized into one “parish.” Every one of the villages had a catechist, a typical local farmer with several months of special training, who led the community and presided at its normal prayers. This married leader taught the children to get ready for the sacraments. He, or she, presided at the normal Sunday prayers. If someone died, this catechist said the consoling words at graveside. If someone was beating his wife, this catechist led the delegation of elders who went to intervene.

Once a month or so, the Parish Priest (or P.P., as he was known) arrived to preside at the Eucharist, and to do a whole slew of baptisms, and to fix-up a marriage or two that had already been recognized for a long time by the local customs. A huge meal was eaten afterward, with the whole village gathering celebration for the day.

It was a nice system, but after awhile, it seemed to me a pastoral and catechetical shame to keep on proceeding as if Jesus was most especially present only once a month, when “the Father” - the P.P. arrived. Clearly, the local catechist was doing everything that people in other parts of the world thought a priest should do to lead a community. He, or she, really was the priest of that place, and an attentive spirit, it seemed, would recognize and validate that.

Some did. Certain African theologians called for an end to celibacy as a requirement for the Catholic priesthood. They asked for a recognition of the actual experience of the people. At the same time, a very loyal and Roman trained hierarchy remained quite adamant in proclaiming the teaching of the Vatican and the requirement of universal obedience to mandatory celibacy.

Here in the United States, we have a particular history and our own situation. In our circumstance, it is difficult for many to understand why our Church can not recognize the full gifts of women to the Church and continues to deny them full positions of leadership. Most have heard the arguments; yet many remain unsatisfied. On Monday night, March 22, Bishop Frank Murphy of Baltimore will review this whole scene in a talk in Delbaro High.

Personally, I like the image of the wagon train going to California. Catholics want everybody to arrive. We care about the whole group.

We are like travellers on some wagon train. Certain folks are needed as scouts. They go ahead, search out the various routes, watch for trouble, take risks. We are like travellers on some wagon train. Certain folks are needed as scouts. They go ahead, search out the various routes, watch for trouble, take risks. We are like travellers on some wagon train. Certain folks are needed as scouts. They go ahead, search out the various routes, watch for trouble, take risks. We are like travellers on some wagon train. Certain folks are needed as scouts. They go ahead, search out the various routes, watch for trouble, take risks. We are like travellers on some wagon train. Certain folks are needed as scouts. They go ahead, search out the various routes, watch for trouble, take risks. We are like travellers on some wagon train. Certain folks are needed as scouts. They go ahead, search out the various routes, watch for trouble, take risks. We are like travellers on some wagon train. Certain folks are needed as scouts. They go ahead, search out the various routes, watch for trouble, take risks. We are like travellers on some wagon train. Certain folks are needed as scouts. They go ahead, search out the various routes, watch for trouble, take risks. We are like travellers on some wagon train. Certain folks are needed as scouts. They go ahead, search out the various routes, watch for trouble, take risks. We are like travellers on some wagon train. Certain folks are needed as scouts. They go ahead, search out the various routes, watch for trouble, take risks. We are like travellers on some wagon train. Certain folks are needed as scouts. They go ahead, search out the various routes, watch for trouble, take risks. We are like travellers on some wagon train. Certain folks are needed as scouts. They go ahead, search out the various routes, watch for trouble, take risks. We are like travellers on some wagon train. Certain folks are needed as scouts. They go ahead, search out the various routes, watch for trouble, take risks. We are like traveller...
Fog hinders rescue efforts for hikers lost in Smokies

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Helicopter rescue efforts in the Great Smoky Mountains were grounded Wednesday by rain and fog as rangers searched the snowy slopes on foot for as many as 45 stranded campers and hikers.

The death toll from the weekend storm that paralyzed much of the Eastern seaboard reached 232, and searches have been suspended for 32 crewmen from a sunken freighter off Nova Scotia and 16 mariners lost in waters around Florida.

An official said he hoped helicopters would be able to resume flying over the mountains in and near Great Smoky Mountain National Park as the Tennessee-North Carolina state line on Thursday morning to retrieve people stuck by record snows.

Some hikers have waved off helicopters previously, preferring to take their chances. They no longer have that option, Shelton said.

"We'll go get 'em out whether they want to come out or not," Shelton said. "The park has ordered everybody out."

Park Service spokesman Bob Shelton said three parties of hikers have waved off helicopters previously, preferring to take their chances. They no longer have that option, Shelton said.

"We'll go get 'em out whether they want to come out or not," Shelton said. "The park has ordered everybody out."

Rangers on snowshoes hoped to reach shelters along the Appalachian Trail sometime Wednesday night. National Park Service spokesman Bob Miller said: "We hope to find some people there and verify their medical condition tonight," he said.

Miller said three parties of hikers had filed itineraries at trail heads where they entered the park. A fourth group of hikers was attempting to walk the entire Appalachian Trail; they weren't required to file itineraries, he said.

Nearly 120 students and teachers from a Detroit-area prep school became snowbound during a wilderness expedition in the same area, but all of them had walked out or were flown to safety by Tuesday.

Elsewhere, the storm contributed to a shutdown of 5,000 automatic teller machines, affecting more than a million cardholders around the country.

The machines are owned or operated by Dallas-based Electronic Data Systems Corp., and its New Jersey computer center ground to a halt Saturday after part of the building's roof and walls collapsed under the pressure of heavy snow and high wind, said Jon Senderling, EDS spokesperson in Dallas.

EDS is transferring its computer work to a backup site in Rochester Park, N.J., but the transition will take days to complete, he said.

Egyptian police, extremists clash

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — The body count is rising as shootouts between government security forces and Muslim extremists become more frequent, with both sides quick on the trigger.

In the bloodiest clash so far this year, 10 extremists and one policeman were killed Wednesday, and 11 militants and 10 policemen were wounded.

The extremist al-Gamaa al-Islamiya — the Islamic Group — in 1981 launched its drive to install an Islamic government. Fuelled by suspicions that they will receive no mercy, the extremists have resisted government raids.

"They have orders to fire on people. We fire back. Sometimes one or two get killed," said Maj. Gen. Galal el-Shamy, an Interior Ministry spokesman. He said the militants would rather die fighting than be arrested.

They believe they will die anyway if the are captured, responds Hisham Mubarak of the Egyptian Human Rights Organization.

Alternative Lifestyles

Meeting others like yourself isn't always easy. How can you lead a loving and fulfilled life without making a public statement? We offer a confidential network through which you can get to know others like yourself without leaving the privacy of your own home.

Write for free information.

AlterNet
18115 State Rd. 23, #38
South Bend, IN 46637

French Canadian Family Night

Join the French Canadian family for a special event on the 18th of March 11am-4pm at Lafortune Club in South Bend, IN 46637

Great Lenten Specials

12-2 must be 21

Stop by for Friday Lunch

Great Lenten Specials

Dine-in only. Coupon good till 4/7/93. Free dinner must be and more than 100 wounded in an intensified terror campaign against tourism, Egypt's largest source of foreign exchange.

This year, 51 people have been killed. The victims include Capricians and foreign tourists.

Last week, eight extremists and a policeman died and 35 people were wounded in an attack on an extremist-held mosque in the southern city of Assuan. A bomb damaged six empty buses outside Cairo's Egyptian Antiquities Museum on Tuesday.

The latest deaths occurred Wednesday in Assiut, an extremist stronghold in southern Egypt.

Police surrounded two apartment buildings, and when the extremists inside refused to surrender, stormed the buildings.
Hispanics frequently ignored

Dear Editor: Re: Racial issues. There has been a renewed discussion concerning multiculturalism. I have read many letters in The Observer and overheard discussions between individuals concerning this very important issue of our time. However, every single time cultural diversity is discussed at Notre Dame, it has been an issue of black and white, the Irish or Italian but Hispanic. How can we correct this pattern of overlooking Hispanic issues?

Since 1960, Hispanics will probably become the single largest minority group in the United States. With currently 25 million living in the United States, a large part of society. The Hispanic population of N.D. grows every year and is the largest of any national minority group here on campus. However, though we are a large diversified community comprised of peoples of different races and ethnicities, we are, in American society and Notre Dame, overlooked.

There are no Hispanics in the U.S. Senate and in every level of government, we are far from getting the representation egal to our numbers. In Notre Dame, there are no Hispanic rectors and few in either the faculty or the administration, even though Hispanics comprise over 3 percent of American Catholics; the majority aren’t Irish or Italian, yet we are considered the simple people of Puerto Ricans living in America do so in poverty. Hispanics are faced with racism derived from cultural ignorance. Here at N.D., I’ve heard comments such as, “Hispanics aren’t as smart as we are.” Well, doesn’t he look Hispanic! And the like whenever Hispanic issues are brought up. Why is it that we are faced with this?”

One reason that is easily seen at N.D. is apathy within the Hispanic community. Many of our students, administrators, and faculty simply could not care less whether or not American minorities are facing injustice, racism, or oppression in America or whether or not here at N.D. the top of cultural diversity should even be discussed. Within the Hispanic community at N.D., there is apathy. Many Hispanics do not discuss cultural diversity as African-Americans have and have not made the Hispanic presence known on campus.

How can we correct this problem facing Hispanics at N.D.? I think a key element that we, as Hispanics, can do is to change our approach to discussing such issues at N.D. In the past, I feel that the leadership of the Hispanic groups on campus has not made addressing issues of cultural diversity or awareness the goals of their organizations. As the new president of the Hispanic American Organization, I have made it one of our top goals to ensure that Hispanics, our concerns and needs are addressed and discussed by the administration and the student body.

Simply, with the other officers in the H.A.O., I have initiated Project Vision, an innovative approach to fostering the spirit of multiculturalism at N.D. In H.A.O., we will be working on trying to attain better financial aid for Hispanic students by soliciting help from national Hispanic organizations and professionals and societies.

We will be inviting numerous Hispanic scholars, academics, politicians, artists, and social workers to open the eyes of Notre Dame’s non-Hispanics to what it means to be Hispanic in the U.S. today. Through cookouts, dinners, and dances, we will provide all students with a taste of the wide array of Hispanic cultures, ranging from Puerto Rico, Central and South America, the Caribbean, and Mexico.

To ensure recruitment of Hispanics to N.D., we will hopefully conclude the establishment of the N.D. Hispanic Alumni Association. This will also serve as another link between Notre Dame and the various Hispanic communities around the nation. We will work closely with the growing Hispanic community of South Bend. Those of us here at N.D. are fortunate while many of our brothers and sisters in this country have so little. We must be cognizant of this fact and work to ensure a brighter future for all Hispanics in Michiana and make our presence known here at Notre Dame.

I ran on the platform that we, as Hispanics, have to take the initiative to make sure our needs are met at N.D. and that the campus community does not spend another year without any major event to heighten Hispanic awareness. We have to reassert our culture: it’s our responsibility to keep our traditions alive. The apathy that has plagued our organization and the Hispanic community of N.D. to the betterment of Hispanics at N.D. but for the community as a whole.

You’ll be hearing from us.

Ken Motoneich-Salas
President, Hispanic American Organization
March 17, 1983
I was taken by surprise, recently, when I was talking about 1962 and the civil rights movement, he said, "Boy, that was a terrific year!"

Some terrible things happened, certainly, and we knew of them at the time, but somehow, I never thought of them in the context of a fresh year, which began with the Tet Offensive and ended with the murder of Bobby Kennedy, as a terrible time.

Actually, it was pretty exciting. It was like being at the scene of an accident: Some people stand around being sensitive, but here they were who pitch in and do what needs to be done, the immediacy of the situation overwhelms its horror. Not only are you being more useful, but there is an intoxicating kick of adrenalin to be had, as well.

The spring semester 25 years ago was one long, horrific accident, and the adrenalin never stopped pumping. Tet was the two-by-four-between-the-eyes, the wake-up call that told Americans we were fighting an accident, and the adrenalin had to give up, no matter how many of their young men and our young women were in the midst of a prolonged struggle.

The battle raged throughout South Vietnam, but especially in the city of Hue, where some 60 persons thought to be buildings destroyed, and most shockingly, at the American Embassy in Saigon, where the embassy staff came under fire as enemy soldiers decimated the compound. Analysis agreed that the communists lost the battle, but all we won was the rotten task of having another 30,000 young men killed over the next five years.

It was terrible news. But you must understand: We were more distracted the week before, when the North Dining Hall served tainted beef in the middle of finals week, turning a normally tense time into a facetious binge of violent dia-

What do the two events compare? Well, whether it is a cable sentiment or not, things that happen to other people are not the same as things that happen to you. I wept that I had no shoes until I met a man who had no feet. Then I stopped crying, but I still wanted some shoes.

The Kennedy assassination is to realize that the horrific events weren't necessarily seen at the time, as they are seen today. When Martin Luther King was killed, the shocking thing was that it was Martin Luther King and not Huey Newton or Stokely Carmichael. King was loved and revered, but as an elder statesman he was precluding per-compound. Analysts agreed that the communists lost the battle, but all we won was the rotten task of having another 30,000 young men killed over the next five years.

It was terrible news. But you must understand: We were more distracted the week before, when the North Dining Hall served tainted beef in the middle of finals week, turning a normally tense time into a facetious binge of violent diarrhea and vomiting throughout the North Quad. In revenge, there was a food riot, under the slogan, "Better Food or Bigger Ads!"

Secretary Brown answered that the possibility had been examined, but that the expected benefits outweighed any such problems. As the expected global profits and lobbying ef-

Secretary Brown emphasized that the "United States is sending a clear message to the rest of the world that we will no longer sit back while subsidized and pro-dected competitors plunder and eliminate our industries and their jobs."

Unfortunately, the ATCs and Secretary Brown's speech were in effect as much about Japan, of course, are not. Doesn't it make sense therefore that we should have a system that can effectively take on Japan? Of course, King was referred to as being the only major nation without an industrial policy? Very much so. In my view, the supplier com-tained in the book How to Beat the Japanese that Beat the World, by Ronald Reagan and George Bush refused to even consider such proposals in dif-

Pete Peterson
Beyond Freedom Rock

Pete Peterson, Class of '71, is a business writer with the Press-Republican, a daily newspaper in Plattsburgh, New York.

the race once Gene McCarthy had done all the work, and he was embraced, for the most part, by those who would have resisted the war if they weren't afraid it might ruin their chances of getting into law school.

Still, the killings sent a mesgage, because both Martin Luther King and Bobby Kennedy represented what our elders kept advising us to do: Work within the system. Genteel dissent, turning the other cheek, working for change was preferable to shouting and threatening and marching. The moment LBJ announced the bombing halt and his decision not to seek reelection, our liberal friends began telling us to stop demonstrating, because the president needed our sup-

But after days four lobsters speech, Martin Luther King was dead. Bobby Kennedy lived less than eight weeks later. They both followed. I don't see them both worked within the system. Working within the system to fend off foreign competition.

We need a government which understands and actively encourages the centrality of do-

We need repeal of the archaic America's 1940, of course, is not.

But another will smile, and say, "That's funny. I never heard of him."

But another will smile, and say, "That's funny. I never heard of him."

Secretary Brown said that such a drastic move was necessary to effectively compete with systems like Japan's and hoped to have a total of four such ATCs in place by the end of the year to counter Japan’s six conglomerates. The shared research and development, and the cost of a coordinated anti-wa-crime effort. And the presentation of a unified front in the face of in-

What can we consumers do in the meantime? We can start by supporting our own industries and establishments by buying and shopping American. The book The Patriotic Consumer: How to Buy American can show you how. For nearly every kind of product, it tells you which ones are American and which ones aren't so that you can make the right choice every time you shop. We need to start shopping by country of origin rather than just price tag. We need everyone's three favorite words to become "Made in USA."

For whatever the trade and current account deficits are again rising and foreign lobbyists are flooding America trying to pre-

What the United States is ask-

America desperately needs an industrial policy.

We need repeal of the archaic Sherman Anti-Trust Law so that the government is not the only one that can have its way by using research and development, for example, to see how government-sponsored consortiums can come together more freely so as to fend off foreign competition.

The government needs to set priorities for key technologies and provide funds, facilities and expertise to ensure the actual growth of these areas. Industrial policy succeeds as long as the government's prit prophils of Japan's Ministry of International Trade and Indus-rly, the astounding growth of America's Airbus and the hurnthe meantime? We can start by supporting our own industries and establishments by buying and shopping American. The book The Patriotic Consumer: How to Buy American can show you how. For nearly every kind of product, it tells you which ones are American and which ones aren't so that you can make the right choice every time you shop. We need to start shopping by country of origin rather than just price tag. We need everyone's three favorite words to become "Made in USA."

For whatever the trade and current account deficits are again rising and foreign lobbyists are flooding America trying to pre-

America in need of industrial policy

Dear Editor:

In case you missed it while enjoying spring break, last week was the 25th anniversary of the Tet Offensive. Ron Brown announced the meeting of the new Sanwa-Uniys, Raytheon, Chase Man-

hattert Banks, Travelers Insurance, and private companies such as the American Trading Company (ATC) to form a new group called Sanwa.

The idea is modelled on the Japanese Keiretsu system of interlocking companies such as the Mitsubishi, Fujitsu and Sanyo groups. These are vast corporate groups built around a bank and containing 10 to 20 other companies in automo-tives, chemicals, finance, mining, forestry, aerospace and just about every other economic field.

Mitsubishi itself is only the seventh largest member of the Mitsubishi group. Such a network has several great advantages of this system are many, but there are two primaries. First, every member can receive low-cost loans and investment capital from the holding company, and second, cheap, guaranteed suppliers can be found, which can be had from any group member. Also, operating as a unit allows strong lobbying and the formation of a wide-range of administrative, financial and faccets. All of these things greatly enhance Japan's ability to go forward, as a nation.

Secretary Brown said that such a drastic move was necessary to effectively compete with systems like Japan's and hoped to have a total of four such ATCs in place by the end of the
Pursuing women's education

Women's colleges continue to offer unique learning experience

By JENNIFER HABRYCH
Saint Mary's Editor

With only 84 of the 228 women's colleges that existed in the 1960s remaining, students are now trying to create awareness of what they have known all along—women's colleges provide a unique atmosphere for women to learn.

"Saturday's celebration of Women's College Appreciation Day is an attempt to create this awareness," said Kathy Roe, vice president of the Student League for Women's Colleges.

The idea initially started big, but now we are going small," she said. "In the future I would like to see a national conference in which we talk about how to gain media attention, and in which we can gain other women's involvement.

The Student League for Women's Colleges originated last year as a group of women who were concerned with the future of women's colleges. The idea came from a conference that Maureen Lowery, 1991-92 student body president, attended, in which two women from Regis College in Massachusetts spoke of their efforts to begin an organization in which women's colleges could communicate with one another.

At the start of this year Marzolf said she tried to further this idea of a national organization with her chapters at each woman's college, but she realized that the idea was not feasible at this time. She said that first the chapters need to start at the campus level.

"I didn't choose Saint Mary's because I had a natural look at schools, I just happened to look at women's colleges and that was it," she said.

"I didn't choose Saint Mary's just because it was an all women's college, but that was an added benefit," said Barger.

The goal of Women's College Appreciation Day is to create this awareness on the Saint Mary's campus.

This year the college appreciation day, said Roe, "is the first step, but now we are going small." She said that the goal of the appreciation day is to "help other women's colleges say that especially in light of the recent studies and statistics, women's colleges must work to promote themselves so that the number of institutions does not decrease any further.

The choice to attend a women's college was a conscious one for many. Instead, they said they were first attracted by the campus' social or athletics atmosphere, but once there, they found that they preferred the education at a women's college at a women's college.

"When I was looking at schools, I just happened to look at women's colleges and that was it," she said.

"I didn't choose Saint Mary's just because it was an all women's college, but that was an added benefit," said Barger.

In the 1960s there were 228 women's colleges in the country. Today, though, that number has dropped to 84 and is expected to drop further in 25 states and the District of Columbia. The current trend of women's colleges say that especially in light of the recent studies and statistics, women's colleges must work to promote themselves so that the number of institutions does not decrease any further.
Shakespeare comes to Dalloway's

Not So Royal Shakespeare Company to present the 'Taming of the Shrew'

BY TARA CAVALLARO
Accent Writer

The Royal Shakespeare Company of London will perform an authentic Shakespearean play this weekend at Saint Mary's College.

Well, not exactly.

The Not So Royal Shakespeare Company will present "Taming of the Shrew" Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights. The company's performance of "A Midsummer Night's Dream.""Taming of the Shrew" was chosen as this year's play because it is a comedy, and it has a manageable cast size of thirteen. "It is also good in getting the audience involved because most of the audience is familiar with the play," Sherwood said.

Many factors made it difficult for this year's cast to come together, mainly because the company had to deal with the interruption of rehearsal time by spring break and the added difficulty of weather-related travel delays.

Still, all cast members were able to return for the dress rehearsal on Tuesday night. Sherwood said she and the cast feel confident of a successful outcome.

The play's strengths include lead actors Sean McKenna as Petruchio, lead actress Michelle Rossi as Kate, and energetic supporting cast, Sherwood said.

McKenna, a sophomore, also performed in the Sophomore One Act Plays and was the lead in the St. Edward Hall production "Out of a Frying Pan" this year. Rossi, a senior, played various roles in the English department sponsored "Shakespeare's Greatest Hits." She also played the lead in the Not So Royal Shakespeare Company's presentation of "A Comedy of Errors" two years ago.

"Michelle and Sean do a great job leading the audience through the stages of the relationships (between Petruchio and Kate)," stressed Sherwood.

Also, Professor Paul Rathburn assists the company. Sherwood said that Rathburn's extensive knowledge of Shakespeare provides great help in interpreting the script. "There's nothing he can't explain," Sherwood said.

The cast walks through the aisles and makes extensive use of entrances and exits in an effort to draw the audience into the play.

To provide an added touch of splendor, Saint Mary's costume department has donated Elizabethan attire.

SUB-sponsored Fun Run to benefit Beeler-Hipp Memorial Scholarship Fund

By KEVIN DOLAN
Accent Writer

Student Union Board hopes hundreds of feet will hit the pavement Saturday as they hold the "Irish Jog," a race for charity, according to Ellen Zahren, program director for SUB.

The race offers runners a choice of participation in either a 5-mile run or a 2-mile walk/jog, Zahren said.

"Anyone can run this course," said Zahren. "What we hope is that people will come out and have fun with it, because it is a 'fun run', and it is for a good cause," she said.

The proceeds from the Irish Jog will benefit the Beeler-Hipp Memorial Scholarship Fund. The fund was established by student government in memory of the two swimmers, Meghan Beeler and Colleen Hipp, who were killed in last year's bus accident, Zahren said.

The race will end at Fieldhouse Mall, where the prizes will be awarded. The entry fee for the jog is $2. Prizes are $10 for the men's and women's winners in the 2-mile race, and $30 to the men's and women's winners in the 5-mile run.

SUB had planned "a big celebration at the end," but the potentially inclement weather has forced them to adjust their plans, said Zahren.

"We wanted XYZ affair to play after the race, but they won't be able to because of the cold," Zahren said. Instead, SUB plans to serve mint chocolate chip ice cream and hot cocoa in the Dooley Room of LaFortune.

Despite the weather, Zahren and SUB still hope for a good turnout.

"It's always tough to advertise right after spring break and we were hoping to come back to spring (warm weather), not winter," said Zahren. "But we've put the race together really well. It's a tradition, and a growing one at that. Next year, weather permitting, we hope to do it even better."

Students may sign up on Thursday and Friday nights and at 3:10 pm on Saturday. Donations will be requested.
NOTRE DAME HALL'S IRISH WAKE

WAKE IT!
SHAKE IT!

Saturday, March 20th
At the Center of the Universe

INVITATIONS ONLY
NCAA’S continued from page 16
Purdue, which will play Rhode Island in the first round of the East Regional Thursday night, was unbeaten in nine non-conference games. Then in the Big Ten campaign, they managed only four wins in Mackey Arena.

Women – Are you going to be alone in a BIG CITY next year?

SMC Women’s Alliance is sponsoring a six-week class in self-defense Thursdays at 7 p.m. from March 18 - April 22 at the Wellness Center in the basement of Regina. The cost is $10. Call Catherine Adams at 284-5469 to reserve a place or for any questions.

Chorovaya AkaDemia

Men’s a cappell choir from Moscow

Washington Hall Auditorium

Saturday, March 20

8:10 pm

Students $7

General Admission $10

 Buy one get one free! **

Available at LaFortune Information Desk 631-8128

Lenten Graduate Student Mini - Retreat

Sunday, March 28

3:00 - 7:00 p.m.

A time of silence and reflection on the biblical texts of the Sundays of Lent.

Hey Kowena O’Shea

It’s your 21st Birthday!

That means no more tears at the door!

Happy Birthday!

Love,

The Rest of the 8-Ball Possee

“Spring of Hope after the long Winter of the Pastoral on Women?”

Lecture and Questions

Auxiliary Bishop Francis Murphy

Baltimore, Maryland

Monday, March 22 at 7:30 pm

101 DeBartolo Hall

Sponsored by

The William K. Warren Chair in Theology

The Robert and Margaret Short Chair in Gender Studies

Notre Dame’s Committee on the Ordination of Women
The Observer
Thursday, March 18, 1993

continued from page 16

Cincinnati, Arizona and Vanderbilt, who sit quietly in the shadows, waiting to pounce on some unsuspecting favorite. History seems to be on Indiana's side this year. Bob Knight has never gone more than six years without a championship, and his last title came in 1987. That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

 Ranked No. 1 in the season's final poll, the Hoosiers carry their last title came in 1987. that year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

If he is unable to return, Indiana will return to Bloomington early.

North Carolina faces similar difficulties. Point guard Derrick Phelps incurred his back in the final game of the ACC tournament and his status is questionable for the tournament. The Tar Heels' chances of winning a title out of the shadows, waiting to pounce on some unsuspecting favorite. History seems to be on Indiana's side this year. Bob Knight has never gone more than six years without a championship, and his last title came in 1987. That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

If he is unable to return, Indiana will return to Bloomington early.

North Carolina faces similar difficulties. Point guard Derrick Phelps incurred his back in the final game of the ACC tournament and his status is questionable for the tournament. The Tar Heels' chances of winning a title out of the shadows, waiting to pounce on some unsuspecting favorite. History seems to be on Indiana's side this year. Bob Knight has never gone more than six years without a championship, and his last title came in 1987. That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

If he is unable to return, Indiana will return to Bloomington early.

North Carolina faces similar difficulties. Point guard Derrick Phelps incurred his back in the final game of the ACC tournament and his status is questionable for the tournament. The Tar Heels' chances of winning a title out of the shadows, waiting to pounce on some unsuspecting favorite. History seems to be on Indiana's side this year. Bob Knight has never gone more than six years without a championship, and his last title came in 1987. That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

If he is unable to return, Indiana will return to Bloomington early.

North Carolina faces similar difficulties. Point guard Derrick Phelps incurred his back in the final game of the ACC tournament and his status is questionable for the tournament. The Tar Heels' chances of winning a title out of the shadows, waiting to pounce on some unsuspecting favorite. History seems to be on Indiana's side this year. Bob Knight has never gone more than six years without a championship, and his last title came in 1987. That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

If he is unable to return, Indiana will return to Bloomington early.

North Carolina faces similar difficulties. Point guard Derrick Phelps incurred his back in the final game of the ACC tournament and his status is questionable for the tournament. The Tar Heels' chances of winning a title out of the shadows, waiting to pounce on some unsuspecting favorite. History seems to be on Indiana's side this year. Bob Knight has never gone more than six years without a championship, and his last title came in 1987. That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

If he is unable to return, Indiana will return to Bloomington early.

North Carolina faces similar difficulties. Point guard Derrick Phelps incurred his back in the final game of the ACC tournament and his status is questionable for the tournament. The Tar Heels' chances of winning a title out of the shadows, waiting to pounce on some unsuspecting favorite. History seems to be on Indiana's side this year. Bob Knight has never gone more than six years without a championship, and his last title came in 1987. That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

If he is unable to return, Indiana will return to Bloomington early.

North Carolina faces similar difficulties. Point guard Derrick Phelps incurred his back in the final game of the ACC tournament and his status is questionable for the tournament. The Tar Heels' chances of winning a title out of the shadows, waiting to pounce on some unsuspecting favorite. History seems to be on Indiana's side this year. Bob Knight has never gone more than six years without a championship, and his last title came in 1987. That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

If he is unable to return, Indiana will return to Bloomington early.

North Carolina faces similar difficulties. Point guard Derrick Phelps incurred his back in the final game of the ACC tournament and his status is questionable for the tournament. The Tar Heels' chances of winning a title out of the shadows, waiting to pounce on some unsuspecting favorite. History seems to be on Indiana's side this year. Bob Knight has never gone more than six years without a championship, and his last title came in 1987. That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

If he is unable to return, Indiana will return to Bloomington early.

North Carolina faces similar difficulties. Point guard Derrick Phelps incurred his back in the final game of the ACC tournament and his status is questionable for the tournament. The Tar Heels' chances of winning a title out of the shadows, waiting to pounce on some unsuspecting favorite. History seems to be on Indiana's side this year. Bob Knight has never gone more than six years without a championship, and his last title came in 1987. That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

If he is unable to return, Indiana will return to Bloomington early.

North Carolina faces similar difficulties. Point guard Derrick Phelps incurred his back in the final game of the ACC tournament and his status is questionable for the tournament. The Tar Heels' chances of winning a title out of the shadows, waiting to pounce on some unsuspecting favorite. History seems to be on Indiana's side this year. Bob Knight has never gone more than six years without a championship, and his last title came in 1987. That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

If he is unable to return, Indiana will return to Bloomington early.

North Carolina faces similar difficulties. Point guard Derrick Phelps incurred his back in the final game of the ACC tournament and his status is questionable for the tournament. The Tar Heels' chances of winning a title out of the shadows, waiting to pounce on some unsuspecting favorite. History seems to be on Indiana's side this year. Bob Knight has never gone more than six years without a championship, and his last title came in 1987. That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

If he is unable to return, Indiana will return to Bloomington early.

North Carolina faces similar difficulties. Point guard Derrick Phelps incurred his back in the final game of the ACC tournament and his status is questionable for the tournament. The Tar Heels' chances of winning a title out of the shadows, waiting to pounce on some unsuspecting favorite. History seems to be on Indiana's side this year. Bob Knight has never gone more than six years without a championship, and his last title came in 1987. That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

If he is unable to return, Indiana will return to Bloomington early.

North Carolina faces similar difficulties. Point guard Derrick Phelps incurred his back in the final game of the ACC tournament and his status is questionable for the tournament. The Tar Heels' chances of winning a title out of the shadows, waiting to pounce on some unsuspecting favorite. History seems to be on Indiana's side this year. Bob Knight has never gone more than six years without a championship, and his last title came in 1987. That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

If he is unable to return, Indiana will return to Bloomington early.

North Carolina faces similar difficulties. Point guard Derrick Phelps incurred his back in the final game of the ACC tournament and his status is questionable for the tournament. The Tar Heels' chances of winning a title out of the shadows, waiting to pounce on some unsuspecting favorite. History seems to be on Indiana's side this year. Bob Knight has never gone more than six years without a championship, and his last title came in 1987. That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

If he is unable to return, Indiana will return to Bloomington early.

North Carolina faces similar difficulties. Point guard Derrick Phelps incurred his back in the final game of the ACC tournament and his status is questionable for the tournament. The Tar Heels' chances of winning a title out of the shadows, waiting to pounce on some unsuspecting favorite. History seems to be on Indiana's side this year. Bob Knight has never gone more than six years without a championship, and his last title came in 1987. That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

If he is unable to return, Indiana will return to Bloomington early.

North Carolina faces similar difficulties. Point guard Derrick Phelps incurred his back in the final game of the ACC tournament and his status is questionable for the tournament. The Tar Heels' chances of winning a title out of the shadows, waiting to pounce on some unsuspecting favorite. History seems to be on Indiana's side this year. Bob Knight has never gone more than six years without a championship, and his last title came in 1987. That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

That year the Final Four was in New Orleans and the Hoosiers came out of the Midwest Region. Same scenario this year.

If he is unable to return, Indiana will return to Bloomington early.
Today

Thursday, March 18, 1993

SPELUNKER

JAY HOSLER

THE FAR SIDE

GARY LARSON

CROSSWORD

ACROSS

1. See 59 Across
2. Tiger Half of Farmer 34. "Olympia" artist
3. Fish dish 35. Typical refuse
4. Cynta — (a modeling) 36. Tissue layer
5. Gujarian note 37. Flowe
6. Esprit de corps 38. M. M. M. DCCCLVII
7. Spring 39. Or"
8. M. M. M. DCCCLVII 40. M. M. M. DCCCLVII
9. Goofed off the 41. Corrupt
10. Wildflowers 42. Flowe
11. Esprit de corps 43. Temorary
12. Turkish hospice 44. Tree
13. A. C. T. ihon u
14. Star in Cygnus 45. Tissue layer
15. Hairy wonder 46. M. M. M. DCCCLVII

DOWN

2. Playwright 5. Enumerate
3. Style 6. Not for
4. Compound 7. Corrupt
5. Tobacco 8. Anointed, old type
7. Not for 10. M. M. M. DCCCLVII
8. M. M. M. DCCCLVII 11. M. M. M. DCCCLVII

Get answers to any three clues by touch-tone phone: 1-900-420-5656 (75¢ each minute)

CAMPUS

Thursday
8:00 p.m. Community Discussion: "Sexual Identity," Hugger Parlor, Saint Mary's College. Sponsored by the Mint and SMC Really Groovy Women.

LECTURES

Thursday
8:00 p.m. Community Discussion: "Sexual Identity," Hugger Parlor, Saint Mary's College. Sponsored by the Mint and SMC Really Groovy Women.
March Madness is officially underway
64 teams begin tournament with the same dream

Midwest Regional
College basketball's next dynasty? Don't close the book on the West just yet, says Duke coach Mike Krzyzewski.
"People are waiting to close the chapter," Krzyzewski said as he prepared his Blue Devils for their NCAA opener on Thursday night. "What we have to try to do is use that to our advantage, don't let anybody close any darn chapters on us. This is our time."

Of course, Krzyzewski also realizes his Blue Devils are not as powerful as in the last two seasons, when they won the national championship.

While the Blue Devils have plenty of postseason experience with star players like Bobby Hurley, Grant Hill and Thomas Hill, who have two championship rings each, Krzyzewski said his 1992-93 team has been more comprehensive at times.

"They are more easily distracted than my last two teams," Krzyzewski said. "They might be distracted by a performance of a player against them... it knock them back. A call, or if they miss a couple of shots. In some games that will impact on them more than we would like..."

"This team gets along great, but that's what we mean by maturity. It has nothing to do with something like 'you stole my towel and I'm mad at you for life.'"

By RIAN AKEY

Sports Writer

When the Notre Dame women's tennis team takes to the courts of Eck Pavilion today against Illinois, it will be fighting to keep its undefeated record intact.

Although the Irish are 6-6 in dual match play this season, their record is 2-0 versus Midwest Region teams. A win against the Lady Illini would push them one step closer to receiving the Midwest's automatic NCAA bid.

The Irish netters have been playing consistently until their recent stumble against South Florida. In order to beat the Bills, Jay Louderback, though the Irish will need to return to the form which helped them to a 5-4 upset of 19th-ranked Kansas over Spring Break.

"Illinois recently beat a good Northwestern squad," said Irish coach Jay Louderback. "That puts them in contention with the other top teams in the region (Notre Dame, Wisconsin, and Indiana)."

The Irish have already defeated Northwestern earlier this season in Evanston, 6-3. Their other in-region victory was an 8-1 drubbing of Wisconsin in Madison.

As in their upset over Kansas, Notre Dame may need strong play from its lower seeded players in order to overcome Illinois' power at the upper seeds.

"Their number-one player (Lindsey Nimmo) will be very tough," said Louderback. "She's ranked fourteenth in the country."

Notre Dame's highest ranked player in the International Tennis Association's most recent rankings is freshman Wendy Crabtree at No. 35.

Crabtree lost 3-6, 4-6 to Nimmo earlier this season in the Eck Invitational, but she looks forward to today's rematch.

"I think the Illini played well in the Eck Invitational, and I don't think I had my best match," said Crabtree. "It will be good to get another shot at her."

For upperclassmen on the Irish squad, today's match will be a chance for another shot at the entire Illinois team.

The Irish are ranked first in the country." said Irish coach Gene Keady. "But all you can do is play your best and learn how to absorb the losses. It's just a matter of how much your ego can take."

"Even though we have not done as well as expected with the nation's toughest schedule, they have gotten their share of wins against top 25 foes, including wins over No. 20 Minnesota, No. 13 Texas, No. 27 Arizona State, and they suffered narrow losses to No. 10 North Carolina and No. 12 Kentucky.

The Irish will be looking for a couple more quality wins this weekend, and to add to Alabama for a tournament they finished fifth in last season, posting a 2-3 record including with wins over Oklahoma State and Drake last year.

A win over the Illini today would help the Irish as they enter a busy weekend schedule that includes home matches against Drake, Michigan, and Kansas State.

By JONATHAN JENSEN

Assistant Sports Editor

The Notre Dame men's tennis team hit the road once again yesterday, as they will clash with New Mexico this afternoon in the first round of the prestigious Blue-Gray National Classic in Montgomery, Alabama.

The match is yet another against an opponent ranked in the top-25, as New Mexico moved up from 24th to 19th in the latest Intercollegiate Tennis Rankings. But that is nothing new for the road weary Irish, as they have already faced ten such teams, including five teams ranked higher than the nation.

"It really makes a difference when there's not any one team," said Irish head coach Bob Bayliss. "But all you can do is play your best and learn how to absorb the losses. It's just a matter of how much your ego can take."

"Even though we have not done as well as expected with the nation's toughest schedule, they have gotten their share of wins against top 25 foes, including wins over No. 20 Minnesota, No. 13 Texas, No. 27 Arizona State, and they suffered narrow losses to No. 10 North Carolina and No. 12 Kentucky."

The Irish are familiar with New Mexico, as they prepared for them before. The Irish expected to play New Mexico in the championship of the Lee-Volleys tournament in Minnesota earlier this year, but the Irish lost to unranked San Diego in the first round and the Irish captured the title.

"We know we will have our hands full," Krzyzewski said. "But all you can do is play your best and learn how to absorb the losses. It's just a matter of how much your ego can take."

"Even though we have not done as well as expected with the nation's toughest schedule, they have gotten their share of wins against top 25 foes, including wins over No. 20 Minnesota, No. 13 Texas, No. 27 Arizona State, and they suffered narrow losses to No. 10 North Carolina and No. 12 Kentucky.

The Irish will be looking for a couple more quality wins this weekend, and to add to Alabama for a tournament they finished fifth in last season, posting a 2-3 record including with wins over Oklahoma State and Drake last year.

A win over the Illini today would help the Irish as they enter a busy weekend schedule that includes home matches against Drake, Michigan, and Kansas State.

By JONATHAN JENSEN

Assistant Sports Editor

The Notre Dame men's tennis team hit the road once again yesterday, as they will clash with New Mexico this afternoon in the first round of the prestigious Blue-Gray National Classic in Montgomery, Alabama.

The match is yet another against an opponent ranked in the top-25, as New Mexico moved up from 24th to 19th in the latest Intercollegiate Tennis Rankings. But that is nothing new for the road weary Irish, as they have already faced ten such teams, including five teams ranked higher than the nation.

"It really makes a difference when there's not any one team," said Irish head coach Bob Bayliss. "But all you can do is play your best and learn how to absorb the losses. It's just a matter of how much your ego can take."

"Even though we have not done as well as expected with the nation's toughest schedule, they have gotten their share of wins against top 25 foes, including wins over No. 20 Minnesota, No. 13 Texas, No. 27 Arizona State, and they suffered narrow losses to No. 10 North Carolina and No. 12 Kentucky."

The Irish will be looking for a couple more quality wins this weekend, and to add to Alabama for a tournament they finished fifth in last season, posting a 2-3 record including with wins over Oklahoma State and Drake last year.

A win over the Illini today would help the Irish as they enter a busy weekend schedule that includes home matches against Drake, Michigan, and Kansas State.