"Workers pay taxes on health essential feature of the ‘man­ plan in the face of a warning by package he is proposing, senior By CHRISTOPHER CONNELL C u rren tly co m p an ies can mates at $1,800 for an individ­

"The rationale is that it gives Lane Kirkland s£

Arnold about using the store's n0 longer will need 285,000 tape that saddles efficient gov­­

the store is still being set up. She plans to provide ser­vices such as faxing and phon­ephone, but said it will be prob­ably be next year before these services are available.

Currently, Pandora's is open from 10-6 from Monday through Saturday and 9-3 on Sunday. The store will also be open on Friday evenings for weekly book giveaways.

Arnold plans to hold book signings for authors such as Don Yaeger and Doug Logan, according to "Under the Tarnished Dome: How Notre Dame Betrayed Its Ideals for Football Glory," said Saturday.

"We may not always agree with every book, but everyone should have access to any book they desire to read," said Arnold.

Pandora's will also celebrate Banned Book Week again this September in order to "call at­­tention to the fact that books are still being banned every­­

Any literary groups inter­ested in holding readings or book signings should contact Arnold about using the store's upstairs area.

The White House hopes to save $108 billion over five years by improving the way government works and making it operate with fewer people, officials said Sunday.

"Instead, we will encourage more of our 2.2 million federal employees to become managers of their own work," the White House hopes to save $108 billion over five years by improving the way government works and making it operate with fewer people, officials said Sunday.

President Al Gore's re­port on overhauling govern­ment operations will outline changes in the federal bureau­­cra­cy that would result in the loss of 252,000 federal jobs, said an aide to the vice pres­ident, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

"As our reinventing govern­ment begins to liberate agen­cies from over-regulation, we no longer will need 285,000 separate supervisory staff and 585,000 'system control' staff to support them," reads a draft of the National Performance Review report. "Instead, we will encourage more of our 2.2 million federal employees to become managers of their own work.

The recommendations would reduce the federal workforce by 12 percent, bringing it below the two million mark for the first time since 1966, the Washington Post reported Sunday.

Gore and President Clinton will unveil the plans Tuesday to eliminate or consolidate wasteful programs, allow the private sector to compete for government business, cut red tape that saddles efficient go­vern­ment workers, expand the use of modern office technolo­gies such as computers and make the bureaucracy more user-friendly.

The report is not expected to specify where the federal jobs will be lost, leaving those deci­sions to the agencies. It is ex­pected to call for increasing the ratio of managers to workers from 1-to-7 to 1-to-10.

Workers who would no longer be needed in the downsized government would be offered buyouts, early retirements, training or transitions.

Administration officials tried Sunday to make sure their plans to "reinvent government" will be lost, leaving those deci­sions to the agencies. It is ex­pected to call for increasing the ratio of managers to workers from 1-to-7 to 1-to-10.

"We're not anticipating much (revenue) on the tax cap in the first couple of years," the official said, adding that its impact probably would not be more than a few billion dollars a year for the rest of this decade.

"We're not anticipating much (revenue) on the tax cap in the first couple of years," the official said, adding that its impact probably would not be more than a few billion dollars a year for the rest of this decade.

"We're not anticipating much (revenue) on the tax cap in the first couple of years," the official said, adding that its impact probably would not be more than a few billion dollars a year for the rest of this decade.

"We're not anticipating much (revenue) on the tax cap in the first couple of years," the official said, adding that its impact probably would not be more than a few billion dollars a year for the rest of this decade.

"We're not anticipating much (revenue) on the tax cap in the first couple of years," the official said, adding that its impact probably would not be more than a few billion dollars a year for the rest of this decade.

"We're not anticipating much (revenue) on the tax cap in the first couple of years," the official said, adding that its impact probably would not be more than a few billion dollars a year for the rest of this decade.

"We're not anticipating much (revenue) on the tax cap in the first couple of years," the official said, adding that its impact probably would not be more than a few billion dollars a year for the rest of this decade.

"We're not anticipating much (revenue) on the tax cap in the first couple of years," the official said, adding that its impact probably would not be more than a few billion dollars a year for the rest of this decade.

"We're not anticipating much (revenue) on the tax cap in the first couple of years," the official said, adding that its impact probably would not be more than a few billion dollars a year for the rest of this decade.

"We're not anticipating much (revenue) on the tax cap in the first couple of years," the official said, adding that its impact probably would not be more than a few billion dollars a year for the rest of this decade.
INSIDE COLUMN

FUTURE DAME: Home of the Surcharge

Notre Dame, how do you screw me? Let me count the ways.

Every Wednesday, Notre Dame students work 60-hour weeks to pay for their educations. We do not work all summer to pay for The Shirt. We do not work all summer to see Notre Dame football games.

And we do not work all summer for Friday night beer. Some people, we imagine, might regret, and we take pictures forcing them to remember.

As soon as freshmen receive the keys to their dorm room, they are whisked with a full tax of up to $50. This money goes to pay for hall SYRs and formals, at which our friends do things they would do just as poor.

With the application comes a coupon to be used on a Friday night beer. The regular price, any student can have a The Shirt.

But as soon as The Shirt Performs its magic to rise over the horizon, the lady on the dome begins to bludgeon us to rise over the horizon, $20. This money goes to pay for hall SYRs and formals, at which our friends do things they would do just as poor.

A couple of days later, the football ticket application arrives in the mail. It demands $80.00 for six football tickets, half of which every student gets the opportunity to see such games as Notre Dame vs. Pitt and Notre Dame vs. Pittsburgh. Perhaps we'll be happier if student tickets are $15.00. But by now, we've all learned that nothing is really free. Maybe we'll be blissfully happier if the fee for football tickets were burned in that of student activities, but we'll just be poor.

The Accu-Weather® forecast for daytime conditions and high temperatures.

NATION AT A GLANCE

Clinton's health reform package

Key features of President Clinton's promised health reform package as disclosed Saturday by senior administration officials:

- Hospitalization
- Emergency care
- Physician and other professional services
- Prescription drugs
- Mental health services
- Preventative care

WHAT WOULD BE COVERED:

- Hospitalization
- Emergency care
- Physician and other professional services
- Prescription drugs
- Mental health services
- Preventative care

The Costs:

- Consumers would have a choice of managed care plans as well as a traditional fee-for-service plan.
- Employers and employees would split the cost of premiums for the basic plan on an 80-20 basis.
- Up to 20 percent of cost and co-pays (actual figure will vary from state to state)
- Individual policy: $1,800
- Individual and child: $3,700
- Family: $4,200

Small businesses:

- would pay no more than 15.5 percent of payroll toward health insurance
- would pay no more than 3.5 percent of payroll toward health insurance

- Adults would get preventative dental care starting in the year 2000.
- Some health plans might pay for chiropractic and acupuncture, some may not.

SOME BENEFITS:

- Routine eye and ear exams would be covered subject to the 20 percent co-payments.
- Well-baby visits.
- Dental benefits and preventative dental services.

INDIANA WEATHER

NATIONAL Weather

The AccuWeather® forecast for noon, Monday, Sept. 6.

- Emergency care
- Physician and other professional services
- Prescription drugs
- Mental health services
- Preventative care

WHAT WOULD BE COVERED:

- Hospitalization
- Emergency care
- Physician and other professional services
- Prescription drugs
- Mental health services
- Preventative care

The Costs:

- Consumers would have a choice of managed care plans as well as a traditional fee-for-service plan.
- Employers and employees would split the cost of premiums for the basic plan on an 80-20 basis.
- Up to 20 percent of cost and co-pays (actual figure will vary from state to state)
- Individual policy: $1,800
- Individual and child: $3,700
- Family: $4,200

Small businesses:

- would pay no more than 15.5 percent of payroll toward health insurance
- would pay no more than 3.5 percent of payroll toward health insurance

- Adults would get preventative dental care starting in the year 2000.
- Some health plans might pay for chiropractic and acupuncture, some may not.

SOME BENEFITS:

- Routine eye and ear exams would be covered subject to the 20 percent co-payments.
- Well-baby visits.
- Dental benefits and preventative dental services.
Defendant won't testify in racial beating trial

By JAMES MARTINEZ
Associated Press

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — One of two white laborers accused of burning a black tourist decided not to testify in his defense. Meanwhile, witnesses said Sunday the other man was at home miles away when the attack occurred.

After burn victim Christopher Wilson testified last week that Mark Kohut and Charles Rourk were the men who set him afire, attorneys for Kohut considered having him take the witness stand in his defense. But they said before proceedings began Sunday that Kohut would not testify. Rourk's attorneys did not indicate whether he would take the stand.

Kohut, 27, and Rourk, 33, could be sentenced to life in prison if convicted of attempted murder, kidnapping and robbery.

Wilson, a New York stockbroker clerk, said the two abducted him New Year's Day near Tampa and forced him to drive to a remote field, where they doused him with gasoline and set him ablaze.

Authorities say the attack occurred at 9 a.m., but defense witnesses testified that they saw Rourk around that time at his trailer-park home 40 miles away.

Carla Wade said she was pulling up rose bushes when she saw Rourk walking his dog about 8:15 a.m.

"He was walking his pit bull, Caesar," she said in videotaped testimony. "I had thorns in my fingers. I had to look up and I saw him."

Timothy Barkley, another resident, said he spent New Year's Eve with Rourk at a bar and the two returned to Barkley's trailer to play video games.

"He fell asleep on the couch and woke up at 5 a.m.," Barkley said. "It took me till about 6:30 to get him out of the house."

CAMPUS BRIEFS

■ The South Bend Police raided Curby's, a bar at 441 South LaSalle Avenue, early Sunday morning and cited several students who were under age drinking. Additional information was unavailable at press time.

■ William Allford, a Notre Dame student from Leavenworth, Kan., has been awarded a $3,000 Joyce C. Hall College Scholarship from People to People International (PTPI). A government and international relations major, Allford is one of five 1993 award recipients. Founded by President Eisenhower, PTPI is a private, non-profit organization that attempts to create international understanding through direct contact with individuals throughout the world.

■ For the second year, Notre Dame students will be selling Holtz masks to be sold by the Madison Foundation to raise funds for the second year, Notre Dame students will be selling Holtz masks to be sold by the Madison Foundation to raise funds for mental health support of men and women. Holtz masks have been sponsored by People International (PTPI). A gift of five 1993 award recipients. Founded by President Eisenhower, PTPI is a private, non-profit organization that attempts to create international understanding through direct contact with individuals throughout the world.

■ For the second year, Notre Dame students will be selling Holtz masks to be sold by the Madison Foundation to raise funds for mental health support of men and women. Holtz masks have been sponsored by People International (PTPI). A gift of five 1993 award recipients. Founded by President Eisenhower, PTPI is a private, non-profit organization that attempts to create international understanding through direct contact with individuals throughout the world.

■ For the second year, Notre Dame students will be selling Holtz masks to be sold by the Madison Foundation to raise funds for mental health support of men and women. Holtz masks have been sponsored by People International (PTPI). A gift of five 1993 award recipients. Founded by President Eisenhower, PTPI is a private, non-profit organization that attempts to create international understanding through direct contact with individuals throughout the world.

■ For the second year, Notre Dame students will be selling Holtz masks to be sold by the Madison Foundation to raise funds for mental health support of men and women. Holtz masks have been sponsored by People International (PTPI). A gift of five 1993 award recipients. Founded by President Eisenhower, PTPI is a private, non-profit organization that attempts to create international understanding through direct contact with individuals throughout the world.
Brazil mourns massacre victims

By GARY RICHMAN
Associated Press

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil
Nine widows and dozens of orphans went to Mass on Sunday to mourn for 21 shantytown residents massacred a week ago. Meanwhile, new evidence in the case has led to the arrests of military police agents.

Still shocked by the Aug. 30 black-hooded assassins who sprayed a retriever's military police with gunfire, residents of the Vigario Geral neighborhood feared more incentives through the door, said 13-year-old Eliane Ferreira, whose father was gunned down.

"I can't sleep at night anymore. I still hear shots ringing out," she sobbed.

Many of the shantytown's children cry out at night, and only 150 of 500 public school students returned to classes Friday.

"I'm living a nightmare that won't stop," said Traceza Medeiros, whose husband, Antonio, the owner of a bar, was murdered along with seven customers.

Civil police Friday found 17 black hoods, laser technology weapons, machine guns and stolen car keys at the home of a military police agent, leading to the arrests of five agents.

Authorities said the agents were members of the "galloping horse," an extermination squad that massacred 11 street children as they slept in the shantytown and carried out last week's massacre.

A key witness survivor, Jadir Santos, 38, disappeared after being released from a hospital Thursday and the captain responsible for his safety was believed to be a member of the death squad.

Rio residents were shocked by the July 23 killings of eight street children as they slept in the shadow of a church. Three military policemen and one civilian were arrested for that crime and remain in custody.

Arabs gather support for Mideast peace proposal

By ROUBA ASAIDE
Associated Press

DAMASCUS, Syria
President Hafez Assad added his support to the Israeli-Palestinian peace accord on Sunday, saying he backed the Palestinian people's right to make their own decisions.

The endorsement from Assad, a key player, came after he met for six and a half hours with PLO chief Yasser Arafat. Arafat also visited Egypt Sunday as he struggled to sell the peace agreement.

Radical groups throughout the Middle East, meanwhile, threatened to step up their campaign against the plan, which would establish Palestinian self-rule in the Gaza Strip and West Bank town of Jericho. Iran also denounced the deal.

Opponents have branded the accord a sellout that contains no guarantees for an independent Palestinian state.

There also were obstacles in Israel, which balks at recognizing the Palestinian Liberation Organization until it pledges to delete references to Israel's destruction from its charter. But officials said they thought the differences could be resolved and the accord signed in Washington by Sept. 13.

Arafat told reporters in Cairo: "We're on the verge of finalizing this agreement," Arafat told reporters in Cairo.

Syria's state-run media have criticized Arafat for not coordinating beforehand with the other Arab parties to the Mideast peace process: Syria, Jordan and Lebanon.

Syria's support is crucial because it influences Damascus-based radical Palestinian factions that have put up some of the most vehement opposition to the Gaza-Jericho deal.

Egypt, which signed a peace treaty with Israel in 1979, supports the Gaza-Jericho accord and has reportedly been trying to mediate between Arafat and Assad, longtime adversaries.

Israel's Cabinet approved the autonomy plan last week.

Arafat won support for the proposal on Saturday from his Fatah faction, the PLO's most important group.

But Palestinian officials have reported that influential members of Fatah and senior PLO officers are digging in to fight the plan.

Many members of the PLO's ruling Executive Committee, with whom Arafat is expected to meet this week, reportedly oppose the plan.

Arafat contends, however, that he does not need the approval of another group, the Palestine National Council. He has come under fire for refusing to convene the council, which serves as a Palestinian parliament-in-exile.

In another move, Arafat has sought to distance himself from his headquarters in Tunis, Arafat stopped in Cairo, where he met with Foreign Minister Amr Moussa and spoke to President Hosni Mubarak by telephone.

"We're on the verge of finalizing this agreement," Arafat told reporters in Cairo.
Pope patches differences with Orthodox Church

By VICTOR SIMPSON

VILNIUS, Lithuania

Pope John Paul II reached out Sunday to the Russian Orthodox Church, and warned against the revival of ancient European divisions and a desire to avenge modern-day oppression.

On the second day of his visit to this Roman Catholic stronghold of the former Soviet Union, the pope also went out of his way to send greetings to Moscow. And he met with leaders of Lithuania's Jewish community, which was nearly wiped out during World War II.

The pontiff seemed intent on patching up differences with the 60 million member Russian Orthodox Church, which made its own gesture by sending an envoy to Vilnius.

The Russian church has accused the Vatican of overzealous missionary activity in Russia, dealing a major setback to the pontiff's goal of uniting, more "Christian" Europe in the post-Communist era.

The pope began his day Sunday by paying tribute to Lithuanian Jewry, which had lost 50 years of Soviet occupation. He prayed at the tombs of 18 people killed by tanks and gunfire during the 1991 uprising against Soviet power, and lauded the quest for freedom that "refused to bend before the dark and relentless waves of a violence that ignored God and dehumanized humanity."

But, he added, "I desire to pray and forgive." The temptation for revenge, he said, "always leads into useless labyrinths of hatred."

The pope warned against "sinister megalomaniac adventures undertaken under the blind impulse of ideologies, of national pride and of willful refusal to acknowledge human dignity."

The pope's words come at a time of strained relations between Moscow and the former Soviet Baltic republics of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia. Disputes center on the pace of Soviet troop withdrawals and the rights of the ethnic Russian minority, especially in Estonia.

The pontiff also will visit Latvia and Estonia on his seven-day tour.

The pope raised the issue of ethnic Russians, telling diplomats in an evening speech that the Holy See recognized their right to enjoy human rights in their own country.

Thousands of Russians settled in the Baltics after Moscow annexed the three republics in 1940 in a secret agreement with Nazi Germany.

Religious right reacts to Clinton

By JOHN KING

CHESAPEAKE, Va.

Editor's Note: The following is part one in a series.

In the ashes of George Bush's defeat, a young political organizer named Ralph Reed saw the seeds of revival. "For Christians," he says, "without a crucifixion there is no resurrection."

Insurrection may be a more fitting word to describe Reed's ultimate political goal for the Christian right, but the Biblical metaphor is fitting. His is the business of mixing religion and politics.

The movement is one of the country's most intriguing and controversial political forces. Still young, its potential in elective politics has barely been tested.

This year, in virtually every state, Christian conservatives are using evangelical and fundamentalist churches — along with direct mail and television fund-raising appeals — as bases for a sophisticated organizing effort that merges eager activists with state-of-the-art training and communications.

The primary target is local politics — typically school and library boards, state legislatures, precinct and county Republican organizations. Already, conservative Christians can claim significant political success:

• Effective control of Republican Party operations in a handful of states, including Iowa, Virginia, South Carolina, Minnesota and Oregon. They hold considerable sway in many more, including California, Texas, Pennsylvania and much of the South.

• Majorities on a small but growing number of school boards.

• Top dollar fundraising. The movement is reaping tens of millions of dollars, fueled by opposition to President Clinton's policies.

The explosion of political activity by religious conservatives helped Ronald Reagan to two landslide presidential victories. One of the movement's own, broadcaster Pat Robertson, bid for the 1988 GOP nomination and in the process awakened more activists. The most militant activists are blamed, in part, by moderates who have corresponded to the Religious Right's "electorate.

But, he added, "I desire to pray and forgive." The temptation for revenge, he said, "always leads into useless labyrinths of hatred."

The pope warned against "sinister megalomaniac adventures undertaken under the blind impulse of ideologies, of national pride and of willful refusal to acknowledge human dignity."

The pope's words come at a time of strained relations between Moscow and the former Soviet Baltic republics of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia. Disputes center on the pace of Soviet troop withdrawals and the rights of the ethnic Russian minority, especially in Estonia.

The pontiff also will visit Latvia and Estonia on his seven-day tour.

The pope raised the issue of ethnic Russians, telling diplomats in an evening speech that the Holy See recognized their right to enjoy human rights in their own country.

Thousands of Russians settled in the Baltics after Moscow annexed the three republics in 1940 in a secret agreement with Nazi Germany.

Religious right reacts to Clinton

By JOHN KING

CHESAPEAKE, Va.

Editor's Note: The following is part one in a series.

In the ashes of George Bush's defeat, a young political organizer named Ralph Reed saw the seeds of revival. "For Christians," he says, "without a crucifixion there is no resurrection."

Insurrection may be a more fitting word to describe Reed's ultimate political goal for the Christian right, but the Biblical metaphor is fitting. His is the business of mixing religion and politics.

The movement is one of the country's most intriguing and controversial political forces. Still young, its potential in elective politics has barely been tested.

This year, in virtually every state, Christian conservatives are using evangelical and fundamentalist churches — along with direct mail and television fund-raising appeals — as bases for a sophisticated organizing effort that merges eager activists with state-of-the-art training and communications.

The primary target is local politics — typically school and library boards, state legislatures, precinct and county Republican organizations. Already, conservative Christians can claim significant political success:

• Effective control of Republican Party operations in a handful of states, including Iowa, Virginia, South Carolina, Minnesota and Oregon. They hold considerable sway in many more, including California, Texas, Pennsylvania and much of the South.

• Majorities on a small but growing number of school boards.

• Top dollar fundraising. The movement is reaping tens of millions of dollars, fueled by opposition to President Clinton's policies.

The explosion of political activity by religious conservatives helped Ronald Reagan to two landslide presidential victories. One of the movement's own, broadcaster Pat Robertson, bid for the 1988 GOP nomination and in the process awakened more activists. The most militant activists are blamed, in part, by moderates who have corresponded to the Religious Right's "electorate.

But, he added, "I desire to pray and forgive." The temptation for revenge, he said, "always leads into useless labyrinths of hatred."

The pope warned against "sinister megalomaniac adventures undertaken under the blind impulse of ideologies, of national pride and of willful refusal to acknowledge human dignity."

The pope's words come at a time of strained relations between Moscow and the former Soviet Baltic republics of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia. Disputes center on the pace of Soviet troop withdrawals and the rights of the ethnic Russian minority, especially in Estonia.

The pontiff also will visit Latvia and Estonia on his seven-day tour.

The pope raised the issue of ethnic Russians, telling diplomats in an evening speech that the Holy See recognized their right to enjoy human rights in their own country.

Thousands of Russians settled in the Baltics after Moscow annexed the three republics in 1940 in a secret agreement with Nazi Germany.

Religious right reacts to Clinton

By JOHN KING

CHESAPEAKE, Va.

Editor's Note: The following is part one in a series.

In the ashes of George Bush's defeat, a young political organizer named Ralph Reed saw the seeds of revival. "For Christians," he says, "without a crucifixion there is no resurrection."

Insurrection may be a more fitting word to describe Reed's ultimate political goal for the Christian right, but the Biblical metaphor is fitting. His is the business of mixing religion and politics.

The movement is one of the country's most intriguing and controversial political forces. Still young, its potential in elective politics has barely been tested.

This year, in virtually every state, Christian conservatives are using evangelical and fundamentalist churches — along with direct mail and television fund-raising appeals — as bases for a sophisticated organizing effort that merges eager activists with state-of-the-art training and communications.

The primary target is local politics — typically school and library boards, state legislatures, precinct and county Republican organizations. Already, conservative Christians can claim significant political success:

• Effective control of Republican Party operations in a handful of states, including Iowa, Virginia, South Carolina, Minnesota and Oregon. They hold considerable sway in many more, including California, Texas, Pennsylvania and much of the South.

• Majorities on a small but growing number of school boards.

• Top dollar fundraising. The movement is reaping tens of millions of dollars, fueled by opposition to President Clinton's policies.

The explosion of political activity by religious conservatives helped Ronald Reagan to two landslide presidential victories. One of the movement's own, broadcaster Pat Robertson, bid for the 1988 GOP nomination and in the process awakened more activists. The most militant activists are blamed, in part, by moderates who have corresponded to the Religious Right's "electorate.

But, he added, "I desire to pray and forgive." The temptation for revenge, he said, "always leads into useless labyrinths of hatred."

The pope warned against "sinister megalomaniac adventures undertaken under the blind impulse of ideologies, of national pride and of willful refusal to acknowledge human dignity."

The pope's words come at a time of strained relations between Moscow and the former Soviet Baltic republics of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia. Disputes center on the pace of Soviet troop withdrawals and the rights of the ethnic Russian minority, especially in Estonia.

The pontiff also will visit Latvia and Estonia on his seven-day tour.

The pope raised the issue of ethnic Russians, telling diplomats in an evening speech that the Holy See recognized their right to enjoy human rights in their own country.

Thousands of Russians settled in the Baltics after Moscow annexed the three republics in 1940 in a secret agreement with Nazi Germany.
Attacks on clinic doctors legally unjustified

Michael Griffin will stand trial on September 20th for the murder of abortionist Dr. David Gunn in Pensacola. On August 19th, Rachelle Shannon was wounded late-term abortionist Dr. George Tiller in Wichita, Kansas. Mrs. Shannon has been charged with attempted murder.

Some have defended these and other attacks on abortionists as an exercise of the moral and legal right to defend the life of a child person, the unborn child threatened by abortion. It may be useful here to review some reasons why such attacks are neither morally nor legally justified, in the context of the imminent and introduced into the law by legalized abortion.

The common law or statutory defense of necessity or justification includes the privilege to defend a third party from attack. If, from the street, you see an attack progress inside a house, you would have a legal as well as a moral right to take action, including causing injury or perhaps even death to the assailant, if that were apparently the only way to save the life of his victim.

If you were in the room with an abortionist as he were about to perform a procedure, it could be fairly argued that you would have a moral right to use reasonable force to prevent that imminent threatened killing of the unborn child. It is inconceivable, however, that deadly force would be necessary or justified to prevent that situation. In any event, the killing of Dr. Gunn was not an instantaneous, imminent, necessary act of justified defense. Rather, it was a privately decreed execution. Whatever the applicability of the privilege to defend others to the abortion situation, there can be no justification for a private citizen to set himself up as judge, jury, and executioner of anyone.

As recognized by Catholic teaching, the only situation in which anyone ever has the moral right intentionally and directly to kill anybody are capital punishment and just war. In both cases, the killing is by authority of the state, which derives its authority from God. The death penalty is inflicted on persons judged guilty of a capital crime and a just war is subject to the mandate of noncombatant immunity, which forbids the killing of anyone, can have no justification for a private citizen to set himself up as judge, jury, and executioner of anyone.

As recognized by Catholic teaching, the only situation in which anyone ever has the moral right intentionally and directly to kill anybody are capital punishment and just war. In both cases, the killing is by authority of the state, which derives its authority from God. The death penalty is inflicted on persons judged guilty of a capital crime and a just war is subject to the mandate of noncombatant immunity, which forbids the killing of anyone.

In an otherwise just war or any other circumstances, moreover, no one ever has the moral right intentionally and directly to kill an innocent human being. Even in self-defense or defense of others, the defender's intent must be to defend, rather than to kill.

The death penalty is inflicted on persons judged guilty of a capital crime and a just war is subject to the mandate of noncombatant immunity, which forbids the killing of anyone.

In an otherwise just war or any other circumstances, moreover, no one ever has the moral right intentionally and directly to kill an innocent human being. Even in self-defense or defense of others, the defender's intent must be to defend, rather than to kill.

Roe v. Wade has corrupted the law by defining the innocent unborn child as a nonperson who therefore has no constitutional rights and who may be executed at the discretion of his mother. The necessity defense, however, is not limited to the protection of persons; it authorizes the use of necessary and reasonable force for the protection of human beings as well as animals and other property.

Whether in an otherwise just war or any other circumstances, moreover, no one ever has the moral right intentionally and directly to kill an innocent human being. Even in self-defense or defense of others, the defender's intent must be to defend, rather than to kill.

The use of violence, whether lethal or non-lethal, against abortuaries and abortion "providers" is unjustified on several prudential grounds.

It is not the most effective way to save lives of unborn children threatened by abortion. It is counterproductive in that it distracts attention from the real nature of the problem and diverts pro-life efforts away from more useful approaches. And it accelerates the desecration of the civil order with predictably harmful impact on the common good.

The use of violence in the pro-life cause should be utterly rejected. If we attempt to combat the abortion movement with force, we oppose its strongest weapon, the coercive power of the state, with our weakest. Legalized abortion, moreover, is only marginally a legal or political issue. At root it is a spiritual problem, the symptom of a pagan, contraceptive culture in which the autonomous individualism, liberated from objective moral standards, has made himself the arbiter of the ending as well as the beginning of life.

The ultimate remedy for abortion is the re-conversion of the American people to respect for God and His law which mandates our special concern for the weak and defenseless.

While the nonviolent rescue movement has done much to dramatize the reality of abortion, the most effective on-site pro-life activity is the legal, peaceful prayer vigil with sidewalk counseling and referral to pregnancy help centers. These efforts are not spectacular, but they do save lives. And, unlike illegal disruptive tactics, they can be carried on continuously. Overall, whether on site or elsewhere, the most effective, practical thing we can do to restore respect and protection for the right to life is to pray, especially the Rosary because the issue is life and Mary is the mother of Life.

Professor Rice is on the Law School faculty. His column appears every other Monday.

GARRY TRAEBUD

Monday, September 6, 1993

"We now have creativity on an equal footing with evolution."

Deirdre Holloway
School board president, Vista, Calif.
Monday, September 6, 1993

Tony Smith, a United Limo driver, has been making the route from Saint Mary’s to Notre Dame and back since May.

By MARA DIVIS

Some students race the big United Limo shuttle to the bus stop and dig through pockets for quarters. Others stand inside the moving vehicle, ready to wish the driver a good night before they brave the weather waiting outside.

The United Limo Notre Dame/Saint Mary’s shuttle service sponsored by the University of Notre Dame, transports students between the two campuses and the commuters also provide company for the drivers, according to several United Limo drivers.

Most drivers who work the Notre Dame/Saint Mary’s route are part-time drivers working off bids for different routes, which include chartered rides for the Notre Dame/Saint Mary’s route, United Limo drivers.

They provide company for the drivers and the commuters also include students between the two campuses.

Music teacher.

“Your passengers become like your friends. I have a ball. They harass me and I love to harass them.”

—ESTON GASAILL

United Limo driver

Lewellen, who holds a six year part-time record with United Limo, said that as long as the driver is easygoing and friendly, the students won’t try to disrespect him.

“They (students) might get a little bit rowdy on Friday and Saturday nights, but that reflects on the driver,” he said. “It depends on his reaction to them, whether they’ve had a couple of beers.”

Some students will ignore the fare box, though, or will try to shortchange the driver by quickly tossing a nickel and running back to the bus, Lewellen said.

The company charges 25 cents for each ride after 6 p.m. weekends and all day on the weekends, but the drivers don’t usually enforce it.

He says he prefers honesty to sneakiness and deception, and would rather students tell him if they can’t pay the quarter.

Lewellen, who works as a “dinner breaker” for night drivers, and also drives on weekends, said he doesn’t mind night driving, even on nights when students take the shuttle to dances on either campus.

“It’s interesting to find the fellows getting on the bus on Friday nights all dressed up with a single rose,” he said. “Sometimes they’ll even have a dozen roses. I think that’s always kind of neat.”

However, weekend nights are not easy for everyone, Gasaill said. One fall night last year, after a dance at Saint Mary’s, Lewellen was driving dates from Notre Dame to their campus. The bus was packed and the students, he said were intoxicated and disrupt the trip.

“It was the last bus,” he said. “They were really loud and my wife was sitting behind me. I stopped the bus and said, ‘My wife is right here and she doesn’t like the language you’re using’.

He said that in a situation like that, the security officer will get on board and warn the students, then follow the bus on the remainder of its route.

But the security officers did not follow Gasaill that night, he said, and the students’ noise only got worse. He said he was forced to stop at the Grotto bus stop to order the students off.

Despite rare problems, though, Lewellen said that the people he drives are the best part of the job. After selling cars for 38 years, he said he wanted to do something relaxing where he could meet new people.

“When I first got out the Navy in 1947, I drove the city bus for a year,” he said. “Then I started selling cars. But the 70-hour workweek wasn’t something I could enjoy if you don’t do it well.”

“Driving gets me out, and you meet a lot of people,” he said. “That’s the best part.

The truth behind Labor Day

Grover Cleveland, no friend of the working classes, declared the first Monday in September would be Labor Day, in 1894. Today, only the US and Canada (but not a significant portion of the French Canadians) do not celebrate May 1 as Labor Day.

Why don’t we celebrate Labor Day on May 1?

HaymarketSquare

High tech in the 1860s meant shoe manufacturing. Shoe factories sprouted all over New England as the slow process of hand-built shoes gave way to the sewing, sole-cutting, and stripping machines. Thirty years later, in 1899, the President of the Shoe and Boot Workers’ Union testified in Congress against the industries’.

“What is the present condition of your trade now?”

“A. ‘As to work very good, as to wages very poor, the introduction of child labor is quite a factor. There was an instance in Marlboro where a woman was receiving $2.50 a day; the firm turned him off at $1 a day, on the same job.”

“The shoe industry was not atypical. The use of machines and subdivision of the trade made work so quick and so much faster that anyone could do them and do them for a long time. All factors of the labor movement galvanized around the Labor Day to solve the paradoxical and cruel result that labor-saving machines meant longer work hours and falling labor standards. Drastic strikes by both black and white workers led to states making eight hour a legal day’s work and Congress made eight hours a working day for federal employees. But with little enforcement, not much changed. As early as May 1, 1867 thousands of Chicago workers marched into Haymarket Square and demanded the eight hour day. And, between 1883-1886, the Knights of Labor—the largest labor union of the time—organized a national strike for the eight hour day that in 1905, the American Bar Association declared by the US Congress to be ‘Law Day.’

Today Today

Americans work longer hour than anyone but the Japanese and the United Arab Emirates. We even sit at our desks longer than anyone but the Japanese and the United Arab Emirates. We even sit at our desks longer.

We have two golden opportunities the American economic success story. All day, the American Bar Association

On this American Labor Day

Patrick Sullivan, sociology.

In the mid 1990s the Hormel plant with the latest technology, forced the union to strike. The police family member fought family member over resisting the company’s threats. The company then took each other jobs undercutting each other.

The new Labor Secretary Robert Reich has pledged to attend to falling living standards and bring up American productivity in a global economy—drawing the lesson that American productivity is connected to workers in other nations. A group of the Chicago martyrs every Labor Day to the area. The Chicago martyrs are convinced that they learned this lesson over one hundred years ago.

On this American Labor Day in September let us remember not only her.

Information and research collected by Teresa Ghillarducci, Economics, and Baradach, and by the Chicago Martyrs.
Montana's flawless Chief debut highlight of weekend

By DICK BRINSTER
Associated Press Writer

While the Kansas City Chiefs' investment in Joe Montana, who bruised his right wrist in the Chiefs'-27-3 victory Sunday over the Tampa Bay Bucs, threw three touchdown passes in a nearly flawless performance, the defending Super Bowl champions were no match for Steve Young in San Francisco's 24-13 victory.

—Jack Truesdell Jr. said the same problem at Indianapolis, where the Colts succumbed to a game-saving drive by Dan Marino in Miami's 24-20 victory.

Elsewhere on the NFL's 74th opening day, it was Detroit 30, Atlanta 13; Green Bay 36, the Los Angeles Rams 6, and San Diego 18, Seattle 12.

Houston was at New Orleans for a night game. Dallas is at Washington on Monday night.

Chief's Bucs

3 old targets Jerry Rice and John Taylor were nowhere to be found, so Montana discovered Willie Davis and J.J. Birden.

"I would have liked to have finished the game, but overall I was pretty satisfied," said Montana.

Montana threw TD passes of 19 yards to Davis for 250. Birden and to Marcus Allen in a 24-7 victory over the Minnesota defense in a 24-7 victory over the Vikings.

While the Kansas City Chiefs' investment in Joe Montana, who bruised his right wrist in the Chiefs'-27-3 victory Sunday over the Tampa Bay Bucs, threw three touchdown passes in a nearly flawless performance, the defending Super Bowl champions were no match for Steve Young in San Francisco's 24-13 victory.

—Jack Truesdell Jr. said the same problem at Indianapolis, where the Colts succumbed to a game-saving drive by Dan Marino in Miami's 24-20 victory.

Elsewhere on the NFL's 74th opening day, it was Detroit 30, Atlanta 13; Green Bay 36, the Los Angeles Rams 6, and San Diego 18, Seattle 12.

Houston was at New Orleans for a night game. Dallas is at Washington on Monday night.

Chief's Bucs

3 old targets Jerry Rice and John Taylor were nowhere to be found, so Montana discovered Willie Davis and J.J. Birden.

"I would have liked to have finished the game, but overall I was pretty satisfied," said Montana.

Montana threw TD passes of 19 yards to Davis for 250. Birden and to Marcus Allen in a 24-7 victory over the Minnesota defense in a 24-7 victory over the Vikings.

While the Kansas City Chiefs' investment in Joe Montana, who bruised his right wrist in the Chiefs'-27-3 victory Sunday over the Tampa Bay Bucs, threw three touchdown passes in a nearly flawless performance, the defending Super Bowl champions were no match for Steve Young in San Francisco's 24-13 victory.

—Jack Truesdell Jr. said the same problem at Indianapolis, where the Colts succumbed to a game-saving drive by Dan Marino in Miami's 24-20 victory.

Elsewhere on the NFL's 74th opening day, it was Detroit 30, Atlanta 13; Green Bay 36, the Los Angeles Rams 6, and San Diego 18, Seattle 12.

Houston was at New Orleans for a night game. Dallas is at Washington on Monday night.

Chief's Bucs

3 old targets Jerry Rice and John Taylor were nowhere to be found, so Montana discovered Willie Davis and J.J. Birden.

"I would have liked to have finished the game, but overall I was pretty satisfied," said Montana.

Montana threw TD passes of 19 yards to Davis for 250. Birden and to Marcus Allen in a 24-7 victory over the Minnesota defense in a 24-7 victory over the Vikings.

While the Kansas City Chiefs' investment in Joe Montana, who bruised his right wrist in the Chiefs'-27-3 victory Sunday over the Tampa Bay Bucs, threw three touchdown passes in a nearly flawless performance, the defending Super Bowl champions were no match for Steve Young in San Francisco's 24-13 victory.

—Jack Truesdell Jr. said the same problem at Indianapolis, where the Colts succumbed to a game-saving drive by Dan Marino in Miami's 24-20 victory.

Elsewhere on the NFL's 74th opening day, it was Detroit 30, Atlanta 13; Green Bay 36, the Los Angeles Rams 6, and San Diego 18, Seattle 12.

Houston was at New Orleans for a night game. Dallas is at Washington on Monday night.

Chief's Bucs

3 old targets Jerry Rice and John Taylor were nowhere to be found, so Montana discovered Willie Davis and J.J. Birden.

"I would have liked to have finished the game, but overall I was pretty satisfied," said Montana.

Montana threw TD passes of 19 yards to Davis for 250. Birden and to Marcus Allen in a 24-7 victory over the Minnesota defense in a 24-7 victory over the Vikings.
San Diego Chargers finally kicked off a season right. Carney, the hottest kicker in the NFL, had a team-record six straight kicks on opening day, the longest in the defensive AFC West championship history.

Chargers snapped a six-game losing streak over the Seattle Seahawks. Seattle's defense frustrated San Diego, but Carney connected from 26, 44, 50, 32, 51 and 19 yards as the game's third play. Tackle Cortez Kennedy swatted Stan Humphries' pass with his left hand and the other tackle, Joe Nash, who had come around behind Humphries, got the deflection, a block of Humphries by Cortez and ran 13 yards for his second career NFL score.

Former Irish kicker Carney sets record for 1-4841. Associated Press Writer By BERNIE WILSON

Tryouts for all walk-ons will begin Thursday September 9 at 3:00 at the Courtney Tennis Center. Anyone interested in trying out should contact the tennis office at 1-6113 or 1-4841.

Women's tennis tryouts will be Thursday September 9 at 3:00 at the Courtney Tennis Center. Anyone interested in trying out MUST contact the tennis office at 1-5149. Notre Dame Sports Information is looking for volunteer help for the 1993-94 academic year. Our office handles statistics, press releases and media guides for all Irish varsity sports. For more information, call Rose at 631-7516. Any St. Mary's College student interested in trying out for the varsity basketball team should attend a meeting on Tuesday Sept. 7 at 4:30 p.m. in the Angelo Athletic Facility.

In the indoor or outdoor season: 7:00-9:00 PM in Rockne Rm. 219. Class size is limited to 15 and open to students/faculty/staff and requires a $9.00 fee. For more information call 631-6100. SCUBA diving course-YMCA lifetime certification. Classes begin Sunday, September 12. Seven classroom and pool sessions meeting on Sundays 3:30-7:30 PM important information meeting Wednesday, September 8, 6:00 PM in Rockne 218. For more information call 631-6100.

Biatlon - 1/2 mile swim and 2 mile run. Saturday, September 11, 10:30 AM at St. Joe Beach. Three divisions: Varsity, Non-varsity, and Team. Register in advance at RecSports. For more information call 631-6100.

Visa. It's Everywhere You Want To Be.
Walsh pays for comments
By RICK WARNER
Seattle Post-Intelligencer

After winning an emotional grudge match against Stanford, Washington must be worried about its showdown next week at Ohio State.

We’re still going to get up for games, even if our coach hasn’t said anything bad about us,” running back Napoleon Kaufman said.

Stanford coach Bill Walsh said some bad things about Washington a few months ago, and his team paid the price with a 31-14 loss Saturday.

Ohio State coach John Cooper hasn’t badmouthed the Huskies, but they still have plenty of motivation to beat the 16th-ranked Buckeyes, who opened with a 34-7 victory over Rice.

Although No. 12 Washington is on a roll and barred from a bowl game because of NCAA violations, the Huskies can still go undefeated and win the national championship awarded by The Associated Press.

“This game was for the Pac-10 race, and next week is for the national race,” Kaufman said after rushing for 195 yards against Stanford.

It was a victorious head coaching debut for Jim Lambright, a longtime Washington assistant promoted last month when Don James resigned to protest the Pac-10 penalties against the Huskies.

“I loved it,” Lambright said. “I loved being on the field. It was exciting seeing the players’ faces, being involved with them at that level.”

Washington played at a very high level against No. 23 Stanford, which shared the Pac-10 title with the Huskies last season.

First-time starter Damon Huard threw for three touchdowns and ran for another while the defense held Stanford to 35 rushing yards and sacked the Cardinal quarterbacks seven times.

“Physically, they could not keep up with us,” Kaufman said.

Washington also had a psychological edge because of James’ resignation and Walsh’s offensive remarks to a Stanford alumni group. The Huskies wanted revenge against the coach who called them “mercenaries” and portrayed Washington as a football factory.

“Emotion did play a big part today, but emotion is going to be there for us all year,” Kaufman said.

Walsh was booted during pregame introductions and was surrounded by security men when he jogged onto the field. But he had no complaints about the way he was treated.

Walsh was booed during pregame introductions and was surrounded by security men when he jogged onto the field. But he had no complaints about the way he was treated.

Walsh was booed during pregame introductions and was surrounded by security men when he jogged onto the field. But he had no complaints about the way he was treated.
Michigan ticket lottery
Tues, Sept. 7
12-6pm, Stepan
4 IDs per person, please

Activities Night!
Tues, Sept. 7
7-10pm, JACC
Irish volleyball takes second at UK's Big Four Classic

By TIMOTHY SEYMOUR
Sports Writer

After a heart-wrenching loss to ranked Kentucky in the opening match of the Big Four Classic, Notre Dame volleyball coach Debbie Brown wondered how her team would respond. In less than twelve hours her team would have to take the floor again.

"I was concerned with how we would come back," stated Brown. "We were really drained."

As it turned out, Brown's concern was unwarranted, as the Irish dominated in their next two matches, pounding Indiana in three straight (15-5, 15-13, 15-4) and then controlling Louisville 15-11, 15-9, 14-16, 15-10.

"I was definitely pleased with how well we rebounded from the Kentucky match. We were disappointed because we really wanted that first one, but we were able to come back strong the next day," added Brown.

The highly-touted match against Kentucky lived up to its billing as the Irish captured the first two games, but then relaxed and let UK come back to force a decisive fifth game. In a closely played final, UK prevailed 15-13, leaving a bitter taste for the Irish.

"We were really disappointed that we had them and couldn't finish them off," stated Brown.

"That one was really disappointing," lamented senior co-captain Julie Harris. "We should have won the match, but we relaxed and let them back into it. We have to work on putting people away in the third game."

Senior co-captain Janelle Karlan and freshman outside hitter Jenny Birkner both had outstanding matches against UK, propelling them to honors on the all-tourney team.

Karlan ended the tournament hitting an impressive 50% for the three matches. "She's our most efficient offensive player," said Brown. "She really took advantage of the opportunities provided, and knew where to go with the ball."

Birkner carried the offensive load against both Kentucky and Indiana, notching double figures in kills in both matches while keeping her errors to a minimum. "She was our leader in kills, but she also blocked well," noted Brown. "She's not your typical freshman."

According to Brown, blocking well was the key for Notre Dame in edging Louisville, and the Irish were led by Harris.

"As a team we really came together and picked up the tempo, which helped everyone's individual game," said Harris. "We were really encouraged by the second place finish in the tournament. As Harris said, "We played well. We've been playing well for a couple of weeks, and we're ready to compete now."
Irish squeak past... Wildcats?

Notre Dame falls four places to No. 11 in polls

By GEORGE DOHRMANN
Sports Editor

It wasn't pretty. It wasn't cute. In fact, it wasn't even mediocre. It was the type of game you want to beat with a stick until it's over or dead, whichever you prefer.

Notre Dame's 27-12 win over Northwestern Saturday was about as exciting as an insurance convention. Not until Jeff Burris plunged into the end zone from two-yards out with 10:30 left in the fourth quarter did Notre Dame fans begin to think about post-game celebrations.

The irony in Burris putting the game out of reach is that he is a full-time safety and a part-time running back. He and his defensive mates not only held the Wildcats in tow but they also supplied most of the Irish offense.

Meanwhile the Kevin McDougal-Paul Failla quarterback committee employed by Notre Dame coach Lou Holtz played more like what fans are used to seeing at Northwestern. And from the standpoint of a Notre Dame fan that could translate into a season full of somber defense struggles, which end up being losses.

"I was hoping we would look impres-

See WIN on page 2

Holtz still looking for answers

Lou Holtz has been facing difficult questions since the season began, but after Saturday's lackluster win over Northwestern, he had a few questions of his own.

"Can we correct the mistakes we made? Can we be a good football team?" Holtz asked. "At the present time, I honestly do not know. If we can't I'll be one sick puppy."

Holtz is a master at correcting mistakes and creating good teams. Inexperience and injuries are a different story.

With six offensive starters seeing the first extended action of their careers, and starting linebacker Anthony Peterson out for at least a month with a knee injury, Notre Dame finds itself in an unusual place. The middle of the pack.

"One could ask whether or not we will ever win another football game," Holtz said. "It's a legitimate question."

That is typical Holtz bad-mouthing. The Irish proved Saturday that medioc-

See KELLY on page 2

Irish prove Saturday that medioc-

27-12

Notre Dame falls four places to No. 11 in polls

By GEORGE DOHRMANN
Sports Editor

It wasn't pretty. It wasn't cute. In fact, it wasn't even mediocre. It was the type of game you want to beat with a stick until it's over or dead, whichever you prefer.

Notre Dame's 27-12 win over Northwestern Saturday was about as exciting as an insurance convention. Not until Jeff Burris plunged into the end zone from two-yards out with 10:30 left in the fourth quarter did Notre Dame fans begin to think about post-game celebrations.

The irony in Burris putting the game out of reach is that he is a full-time safety and a part-time running back. He and his defensive mates not only held the Wildcats in tow but they also supplied most of the Irish offense.

Meanwhile the Kevin McDougal-Paul Failla quarterback committee employed by Notre Dame coach Lou Holtz played more like what fans are used to seeing at Northwestern. And from the standpoint of a Notre Dame fan that could translate into a season full of somber defense struggles, which end up being losses.

"I was hoping we would look impres-

See WIN on page 2

Holtz still looking for answers

Lou Holtz has been facing difficult questions since the season began, but after Saturday's lackluster win over Northwestern, he had a few questions of his own.

"Can we correct the mistakes we made? Can we be a good football team?" Holtz asked. "At the present time, I honestly do not know. If we can't I'll be one sick puppy."

Holtz is a master at correcting mistakes and creating good teams. Inexperience and injuries are a different story.

With six offensive starters seeing the first extended action of their careers, and starting linebacker Anthony Peterson out for at least a month with a knee injury, Notre Dame finds itself in an unusual place. The middle of the pack.

"One could ask whether or not we will ever win another football game," Holtz said. "It's a legitimate question."

That is typical Holtz bad-mouthing. The Irish proved Saturday that medioc-

See KELLY on page 2

Irish prove Saturday that medioc-

Notre Dame falls four places to No. 11 in polls

By GEORGE DOHRMANN
Sports Editor

It wasn't pretty. It wasn't cute. In fact, it wasn't even mediocre. It was the type of game you want to beat with a stick until it's over or dead, whichever you prefer.

Notre Dame's 27-12 win over Northwestern Saturday was about as exciting as an insurance convention. Not until Jeff Burris plunged into the end zone from two-yards out with 10:30 left in the fourth quarter did Notre Dame fans begin to think about post-game celebrations.

The irony in Burris putting the game out of reach is that he is a full-time safety and a part-time running back. He and his defensive mates not only held the Wildcats in tow but they also supplied most of the Irish offense.

Meanwhile the Kevin McDougal-Paul Failla quarterback committee employed by Notre Dame coach Lou Holtz played more like what fans are used to seeing at Northwestern. And from the standpoint of a Notre Dame fan that could translate into a season full of somber defense struggles, which end up being losses.

"I was hoping we would look impres-

See WIN on page 2

Holtz still looking for answers

Lou Holtz has been facing difficult questions since the season began, but after Saturday's lackluster win over Northwestern, he had a few questions of his own.

"Can we correct the mistakes we made? Can we be a good football team?" Holtz asked. "At the present time, I honestly do not know. If we can't I'll be one sick puppy."

Holtz is a master at correcting mistakes and creating good teams. Inexperience and injuries are a different story.

With six offensive starters seeing the first extended action of their careers, and starting linebacker Anthony Peterson out for at least a month with a knee injury, Notre Dame finds itself in an unusual place. The middle of the pack.

"One could ask whether or not we will ever win another football game," Holtz said. "It's a legitimate question."

That is typical Holtz bad-mouthing. The Irish proved Saturday that medioc-

See KELLY on page 2

Irish prove Saturday that medioc-
Irish QBs still sharing spotlight

By JASON KELLY

Associated Press Editor

Spotlights aren’t meant to be shared, and one of the brightest shining on the Notre Dame quar­term back Ron Powlus felt it. Even Ron felt it. Even Irish QBs still sharing spotlight crowed. JHA only feel.

Powlus felt it. Back did anything to push the that isn’t big. Paul Faida connected on all three of his attempts for 11 receivers. Faida also did some nice things and some things happened that weren’t his fault, partials and missed assignments.

McDougal’s second-half success limited Faida’s minutes, but the junior remains con­fident.

“I think I did a pretty good job, but I wasn’t asked to do much today,” Faida said. “It would have been an excuse. I think of myself as a starting quarterback and I expect to play along with my teammates.

Holtz also expects a lot from either quarterbacks as they face at every practice, barking instructions and correcting mis­takes.

His presence can be a bur­den, particularly to inexperi­enced players. But if they can handle Holtz in practice, he be­lieves they can handle any game situation.

And at least in the near future, both will continue to get the opportunity to handle those situations.

McDougal played about three-fourths of the series on Saturday, but Holtz has not intention of establishing any set plan.

The better player will play more, and it will be a little better on Saturday. Faida may be bet­ter next time. Holtz will follow his gut feel-

“We don’t have any pattern that Kevin will play this many series and Paul will play this many series,” Holtz said. “We’ll just go by feel. Both will continue to play. That’s our plan.”

Win from page 1

“Kevin McDougal got on a roll and we kept him in,” Holtz said. “But he was able to run and he is still a co-quarter back. We are just being careful about some things and some things happened that weren’t his fault, but he handled all that well.”

McDougal’s second-half success limited Faida’s minutes, but the junior remains confident.

“I think I did a pretty good job, but I wasn’t asked to do much today,” Faida said. “It would have been an excuse. I think of myself as a starting quarterback and I expect to play along with my teammates.

Holtz also expects a lot from either quarterbacks as they face at every practice, barking instructions and correcting mis­takes.

His presence can be a bur­den, particularly to inexperi­enced players. But if they can handle Holtz in practice, he be­lieves they can handle any game situation.

And at least in the near future, both will continue to get the opportunity to handle those situations.

McDougal played about three-fourths of the series on Saturday, but Holtz has not intention of establishing any set plan.

The better player will play more, and it will be a little better on Saturday. Faida may be bet­ter next time. Holtz will follow his gut feel-

“We don’t have any pattern that Kevin will play this many series and Paul will play this many series,” Holtz said. “We’ll just go by feel. Both will continue to play. That’s our plan.”

Player of the Game

BOBBY TAYLOR

6’4” 190 lbs. sophomore Cornerback

The sophomore cornerback had four solo tackles along with two assists. He saved a touchdown on a diving pass deflection. Taylor was also robbed of an interception in the second half after a ques­tionable pass interference call.

The Observer/John Bingham

Senior quarterback Kevin McDougal led the Irish on four second-half scoring drives, but he will continue to split time with junior Paul Faida.

Kelly from page 1

rity can win football games. Whether or not its enough to beat a team like Michigan re­mains to be seen.

Other questions remain.

Will the quarterback sit­uation ever be settled?

Neither Kevin McDougal or Paul Faida did anything to win or lose the quarterback job Saturday. Both were, well, mediocre.

“We don’t need to make great plays,” Holtz said. “We just need to eliminate the bad ones.

It appears that the quar­terback situation won’t be settled until Freshman Messiah Ron Powls returns.

Will junior Justin Goheen and freshman Lyall Cobbeins fill in the void if Powlus returns.

Cobbeins is simply untested.

“Losing Peter Lon­ser hurts our offense,” he was one of the most underrated linebackers in the nation,” Holtz said. “We’re very happy to have a player like Justin Goheen. He has a good feel for the ball and a good feel for the game.”

Defense is supposed to carry the Irish this season. Without Peterson it may not be able to handle the load.

Will the offensive line im­prove enough to handle Michigan’s horses?

Holtz removed starting off­ensive guards Pat Lyell and Dusty Zeiger in favor of Pat Leahy and Mark Zatavsky. But Holtz is leaving his options open, including the option of moving starting tackles Aaron Taylor and Todd Norman back to guard.

“That’s a possibility. I will write down all the possible solutions and even though that doesn’t seem like the best solu­tion at the present time,” Holtz said. “It may even play the position myself.”

Publication may be fixed. Only time can heal inexpediency and ineptitude.

Notre Dame may not have enough.
The Observer • FOOTBALL MONDAY

Final Statistics

Scoring Summary

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Score by Quarters</th>
<th>Final</th>
<th>Northwestern (0-1)</th>
<th>0 6 6 0 12</th>
<th>Notre Dame (1-0)</th>
<th>7 0 10 10 27</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

Team Stats

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Nu</th>
<th>Nd</th>
<th>First Downs</th>
<th>21</th>
<th>17</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Rushing</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Passing</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Penalty</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Rushing Attempts</td>
<td>34</td>
<td>46</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Passing

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Nu</th>
<th>Nd</th>
<th>Yards</th>
<th>238</th>
<th>146</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Passing</td>
<td>32</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Yards PerAttempt</td>
<td>239</td>
<td>308</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Penalties-Yards</td>
<td>10-46</td>
<td>7-61</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Interceptions-Yards</td>
<td>0-0</td>
<td>1-21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Pass-Yards Per Pass</td>
<td>5-35</td>
<td>8-40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Kickoff Returns-Yards</td>
<td>4-76</td>
<td>1-17</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Individual Stats

Rushing

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>At.</th>
<th>Yards</th>
<th>TD</th>
<th>Long</th>
<th>Northwestern</th>
<th>2 48 12</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Lundy</td>
<td>2 48 12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Williams</td>
<td>5 9 0 14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Wright</td>
<td>4 15 0 11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Robinson</td>
<td>3 9 0 9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Notre Dame</td>
<td>16</td>
<td>72</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>16</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Zellers</td>
<td>14</td>
<td>67</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>10</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Passing

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>At.</th>
<th>Yards</th>
<th>TD</th>
<th>Long</th>
<th>Northwestern</th>
<th>35-23-1</th>
<th>238</th>
<th>146</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Williams</td>
<td>35-23-1</td>
<td>238</td>
<td>146</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Notre Dame</td>
<td>8-6-0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>130</td>
<td>150</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Zellers</td>
<td>3-2</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>2</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Miller</td>
<td>2-7</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>50</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Johnson</td>
<td>2-34</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>23</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Receiving

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>No.</th>
<th>Yards</th>
<th>TD</th>
<th>Long</th>
<th>Northwestern</th>
<th>10</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>10</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Notre Dame</td>
<td>7-0</td>
<td>14</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>18</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>42</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Notes

- Florida State 1-0-0 1535 1
- Alabama 1-0-0 1464 2
- Michigan State 1-0-0 1426 3
- Miami 0-0-0 1301 4
- Texas A&M 1-0-0 1225 5
- Syracuse 0-0-0 1179 6
- Florida 0-0-0 1097 8
- Tennessee 0-0-0 1075 10
- Nebraska 0-0-0 1057 9
- Colorado 0-0-0 1051 11
- Notre Dame 0-0-0 996 7
- Arizona 0-0-0 764 13
- North Carolina 2-0-0 729 16
- Penn State 0-0-0 708 17
- Ohio State 0-0-0 637 18
- Oklahoma 1-0-0 489 21
- North Carolina State 1-0-0 345 24
- South Carolina 1-0-0 327 21
- Brigham Young 1-0-0 323 19
- Clemson 1-0-0 288 22
- Georgia 0-0-0 191 14
- Stanford 0-0-0 187 15
- Baylor 0-0-0 153 –
- Boston College 0-0-0 116 20

Lake Dawson joins his teammates in saluting the student body after Saturday's 27-12 win over Northwestern.

Junior Mike Miller turns the corner on a kickoff return, escaping the diving Anthony Punnett.
Defense is everything. And when applying that to Notre Dame you can take it literally. As the offense sputtered on Saturday the Irish defenders took it upon themselves to pick up the slack, on defense and offense.

Pete Bercich was the most glaring example of how the defense put points on the board, as he provided the only first-half scoring for the Irish. But if defense put points on the board, the unit lost starting linebacker Anthony Peterson in the first quarter but Justin Goeheen replaced him admirably and for the most part the linebackers were not the most instrumental part of the defense.

The defensive line got probably the only opportunity it will all season to solely pass rush, as the Wildcats used primarily a no-back set. "I switched to my passing scheme well out there," said safety Jeff Burris. "You can be successful as long as everyone is on the same page."

At times the defensive backs looked confused as they barked instructions back and forth at one another. But on the key plays they were on the same page. No play was bigger than Bobby Taylor's pass deflection at the end of the first quarter when he tipped away a ball in the endzone intended for Lee Gissendaner. "We were in a three deep zone and I was splitting the distance between the two receivers," said Taylor. "I broke on the ball and I wasn't sure if I was going to get to it, but I got a hand on it."

Taylor also made two miraculous pass breakups, but on both instances the opposing quarterback was flagged for pass interference. "In the second half, after the turnover we got into a rhythm on defense," said Holtz. "They were able to match our substitutions and that made the difference," said Northwestern coach Gary Barnett.

John Covington and Renaldo Wynn wrestle Northwestern quarterback Len Williams to the ground.

Not even your local diet center offers reductions like this.