Russians smash through siege of parliament

By BARRY RENFREW

Associated Press

MOSCOW

Thousands of anti-government protesters armed with rocks, bricks and machine guns smashed through the siege of parliament Sunday, and sent police fleeing in battles across Moscow. It was the worst political violence in Moscow since the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution.

The 40 armored vehicles loyal to President Boris Yeltsin rolled into central Moscow early Monday, taking up positions outside the Kremlin and Defense Ministry. It was the army's major show of force during the two-week standoff between the government and hard-line lawmakers barricaded in parliament.

Yeltsin, rushing back to the Kremlin by helicopter from his country home, declared a state of emergency, giving police and troops the power to crack down on unrest.

Twelve unarmed Yeltsin supporters took to the streets to support the president, who had seized power Sept. 21 in an effort to end his long power struggles with the Soviet-era parliament bent on taking control of the government.

In addition to the armored vehicles that arrived Monday, government forces were guarding the Kremlin, and pro-Yeltsin supporters erected barricades near the Kremlin and City Hall.

"The fate of Russia and the fate of our children is being decided today," Yeltsin said in a statement distributed by the Russian news agency, which itself was freed by a police commando unit after it was seized by rebels who burst into its office with machine guns.

In Washington, President Clinton said the United States would do "what is necessary" to end the battle raging in Moscow, and rejected the president's chief advisor on Russia, Alfonso Portillo, who is going to use as little force as possible. Talbott said.

As elite troops moved on the capital, Yeltsin also notified the United Nations that "they are going to use as little force as possible," Talbott said.

From 5:30 p.m. to 7 a.m., Yeltsin said he was "pretty savage treated." "I believe that part of Australia's evolution involves the cutting of the umbilical cord to England," said Father Miscamble.

Australia's face government change

By JOHN RYAN

Australian politicians have begun to consider how to change their system of government, and how to help with the center in any way they can, said a member of the committee. "Even the local media has been involved in helping the center in any way they can," said Julie Barrett, an associate news editor.

The Women's Resource Center committee is holding an open house for the new center from 1 to 10 p.m. in the Notre Dame Student Government office on the second floor of LaFortune in the center, its hours, purpose, goals, and to gather ideas for future programs and seminars.

The center is also looking for people to apply to be recruited as a student group after their proposal to become an official University organization was recently rejected by the office of Student Affairs, according to its president, Kerri Lynn, a member of the Women's Resource Center committee.

"All Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students, faculty and staff are invited to attend the open house and are asked to help out with the center in any way they can," said graduate student Patty O'Donnell, a member of the committee.

Australians face government change

By JOHN RYAN

News Writer

Australians will soon have to confront issues that will possibly change their form of government, and help to ease relations with the native aborigines, according to Father Bill Miscamble, associate history professor, and Bishop Moses, history professor.

As Australia faces these issues, it will find a new identity, and also find new roles in the world, said Miscamble.

Until the 1960's the aborigines were the victims of some pretty savage treatment," said Moses. But since then the Australians have come to understand the mistreatment of the natives, and the made efforts to come to terms with them, he said.

Aborigines represent two to three percent of Australia's total population, said Miscamble. Many aborigines live in the outback, and many have moved into the urban areas, he said.

Those that live in urban areas live on periphery and in poverty, said Father Miscamble.

Australia must decide what type of government it should adopt, said Moses.

One possibility is a republic similar to that of Germany, with a president and a chancellor to handle the political leader and figurehead roles. "It is necessary to push for a republic in the Pacific, but in a cautious manner," said Father Miscamble.

Another issue is that Australians are currently dealing with is that of a settlement with the native aborigines, said Moses.

As Australia faces these issues, it will find a new identity, and also find new roles in the world, said Miscamble.

As of 6:30 p.m. EDT, the protests continued in Moscow. The U.S. Embassy, tv stations, and government buildings were under threat.

WASHINGTON

President Clinton, speaking Sunday, the United States must not want to use its support for Russian President Boris Yeltsin as his battle against conservative forces in Russia, the United States, was in the streets of Moscow.

"I still am concerned that the United States must support Yeltsin and the process of bringing about free and fair elections," Clinton told reporters on the White House lawn about two hours after Yeltsin declared a state of emergency in Moscow.

Yeltsin informed the U.S. government Sunday he would "do what is necessary" to end the battle raging in Moscow, and released the president's chief advisor on Russia, Alfonso Portillo, who is going to use as little force as possible, Talbott said.

Troops killed in Somalia

NAIROBI, Kenya

At least five Americans were killed Sunday during a U.N. military operation against Somalia's al-Sadrist Mohammed Farrah Aaid, the Pentagon reported. Some U.S. troops were also wounded and two U.S. Army Black Hawk helicopters were shot down in Somalia Sunday during a U.N. military operation.

A Blackhawk helicopter was shot at when it arrived at the scene, but managed to land and rescue the survivors, Stockwell said. The Blackhawk and two other helicopters returned fire with machine guns and cannons, Stockwell said. He said the troopers were "undoubtedly" casualties on the other side, but said he did not know how many. The Marines were hospitalized in stable condition Sunday evening after their chopper was shot down and burned in Washington. U.S. Defense Secretary Les Aspin rejected suggestions Sunday that the United Nations, with a plan immediately withdraw from U.N. peacekeeping efforts in Somalia. "We're all looking for a date certain" to withdraw, Aspin said on CBS' "Face the Nation." "The trick is to withdraw... in a way that at least enough security remains behind that the famine does not take place," Aspin said.

The usually quiet office, founded in the Fall of '91 by Sharon Zint, was a vibrant student initiative in helping students find ways in which they could get involved in volunteer service activities. "It was a center for service that should be created every thing that a center for service needs."

Sister Mary's should invest in a center that could not come soon enough or fast enough for the Saint Mary's community. "I know that the College and the community needs a center," he said. "Since this is the very tentative stages of a plan, it doesn't bring home its troops. There are 28,000 troops from 28 countries in Somalia, where the United Nations took over from the United States in May. The U.N. forces came to protect food shipments to starving Somalis, but have become increasingly bogged down in fighting Aidid's forces. Aidid, who says the U.N. troops have become an unwanted occupying force, has been blamed for masterminding attacks that have killed 56 peacekeepers since June. Stockwell said Sunday's attack on the Humvee was the fifth mine explosion aimed at U.S. forces. Four American soldiers were killed Aug. 8 when a mine explosion tore apart their Humvee. The Humvee attacked Sunday was carrying sandbags to protect against a mine attack. Stockwell said: "We believe that helped preserve life today," he said.

General plans children's camp

Retired Gen. Norman Schwarzkopf said his memories of summer camp convinced him every child should have a chance to go to camp, even if seriously ill. Schwarzkopf announced Saturday he has joined Paul Newman in founding a camp for boys and girls in Cassidy, Mont. "It is very special to me because it involves children," Schwarzkopf said. Modelled after the Hole in the Wall Gang camp that Newman founded in the mid-70's in Ashford, Conn., the Lake County facility will be called the Boggy Creek Gang. It will be designed for seriously ill children whose medical needs usually force them to stay at home. Attendance will be free. Newnan has pledged $1 million to the Boggy Creek Gang and the camp will cost $15 million and have 40 buildings, including 16 cabin los, a theater, a farm, a nature center, a dining hall and recreational buildings. The land was donated by the Walt Disney Company to the University of Florida. Groundbreaking is set for February, and the first campers should arrive in 1995.

Chicago teacher talks break off

Talks broke up Sunday without a settlement between Chicago teachers and the school board, and a federal judge will decide whether classes continue Monday for 411,000 students. The Board of Education asked U.S. District Judge Charles P. Kocoras to extend by 30 more days his order to keep schools open, even though the school budget isn't balanced as the law requires. Schools have been operating on a $200 million under two successive restraining orders by Kocoras, the second of which runs through Monday. If he refuses the board's emergency request, the schools are scheduled to close Tuesday indefinitely. More talks between the two sides are scheduled for Tuesday, said Superintendent Jacques Vaughn. As talks broke up early Sunday, she said progress was "very small." Board President D. Sharon Grant said she was "very disappointed."

Fall Festival sign-ups held this week in November called Fall Festival '93.

By JULIE BARRETT

Students will work together with members of the South Bend community to clean up the northeast neighborhood, according to Rich Toohey, a senior off-campus ND Student Government representative who is helping to organize the project. Volunteers will be involved in planting flowers and cleaning up the interiors and exteriors of local residences in the area.

"As of recent years, the northeast neighborhood has declined with an increase in crime and a general rundown appearance," Toohey said. "We are hoping to reestablish the relationship between the Notre Dame and South Bend communities while helping to fix it up at the same time."

Ten Student Government commissioners will be meeting with northeast neighborhood representatives to determine what needs to be done and which houses will be chosen for the project.

The clean up is scheduled for Saturday, November 6 from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Sign-ups will take place this Tuesday, Oct. 5, through Thursday, Oct. 7, in both dining halls during lunch and dinner. Off-campus students can sign up at the LaFortune information desk.

"(ND Student Government) is looking for about 600 volunteers, with 150 of them being neighborhood volunteers," Toohey added.

The northeast area, the majority of which houses will be chosen for the project, is the northeast neighborhood, according to Rich Toohey, a senior off-campus ND Student Government representative who is helping to organize the project. Volunteers will be involved in planting flowers and cleaning up the interiors and exteriors of local residences in the area.

SMC multi-cultural week starts today

By NICOLE MCGRATH

The first Saint Mary's Multicultural week begins today with a student panel discussing different foreign study programs, according to the Office of Multicultural affairs director, Maricela Ramirez.

"I expect greater participation since the office has been here for five years," said Ramirez. "I hope that the students will see this as an opportunity to learn from each other."

Ramirez said, in years past, the Office of Multicultural affairs (formerly the Minority, International and Non-Traditional offices) had sponsored panel discussions but they did not organize a multicultural week.

"There's a difference this year because there is more publicity and more student involvement which includes traditional and non-traditional students," said Ramirez.

According to her, student involvement has varied between Resident Advisors talking up the event in their dorms and student clubs organizing events.

"The different student clubs have been very involved by preparing food, setting up the fashion show and organizing meetings," said Ramirez.

Thursday's lecture should prove to be an interesting one, according to Ramirez. "It's not very often we get to learn about the contribution of American-African women in our country."

"It's a great opportunity for both campuses to learn about a particular group of women who have been excluded from our community and our society," added Ramirez.

The rest of the week's events include:

Nominee requests confidential documents

By RICHARD KEIL

WASHINGTON

While awaiting Senate confirmation, President Clinton's nominee to oversee the government's savings and loan cleanup requested confidential investigative documents involving a Florida thrift executive he had known for years.

The ethics rules for the Resolution Trust Corp., the S&L cleanup agency, mandate that all agency employees avoid even the "appearance of conflicts of interest" by recusing themselves from cases involving individuals they know.

In an Aug. 20 memo, which was obtained by The Associated Press, RTC president-designate Stanley Tate asked the agency's top lawmaker to provide him a detailed status report on the investigations and lawsuits against Miami-based CenTrust Savings.

Their concession stand during cleanup agency, mandate that all agency employees avoid even the "appearance of conflicts of interest" by recusing themselves from cases involving individuals they know.

"I would never involve myself in something privileged," Tate said. "I've tried very hard not to interfere in policy matters or deal with things like that before I am confirmed.

"Student Affairs rejected our proposal last week that's considered 'private and confidential.'

"Would be willing to sign a confidentiality agreement," Tate wrote in the memo to RTC acting general counsel Richard Abouzie.

"Tate, whose nomination is pending before the Senate Banking Committee, said in an interview with the AP he decided not to read the material after he received it because the package was marked "private and confidential."

"He added his relationship with former CenTrust president David Paul had no bearing on his request.

"Student Affairs could not be reached for comment.

The committee is in the process of forming a new student group for the center which will be comprised of two University administrators, two faculty and one staff member, and two student representatives.

"Eileen Kolman, associate provost of the Freshman Year of Students and one of the administration representatives, has already been named as the group's official advisor.

"The advisory board members will be chosen and organized by the end of the week and will continue meeting to discuss future plans and ideas, according to Glynn.

"Glynn said, 'Because the Women's Resource Committee has received support from all components of the University - the Faculty Senate, the GSU and ND Student Government - the group should not only be limited to being a student group.'

"Student Affairs could not be reached for comment.

The release of the Vatican's long-awaited encyclical reinforces traditional church teaching on birth control, divorce, and homosexuality.

It urges the world's bishops to adhere to strict church tenets and warns theologians they have "a grave duty to train the faithful" in them, according to a text published Sunday in The New York Times.

The Vatican plans to officially release the 180-page encyclical on Tuesday, but details of the document "Veritatis Splendor" (The Splendor of Truth) have been published in the media.

The pope said Sunday that the church cannot remain silent because it appears convenient for its teaching to be "co-opted to the best advantage" by theologians who reject or distort the truths of Catholicism.

"No damage must be done to the harmony between faith and life," the pontiff said. "The unity of the church is damaged not only by Christians who reject or distort the truths of faith but also by those who disregard the moral obligations to which they are called by the Gospel." The pope wrote, according to the text published in The Times.

Peronists win in Argentina
By IAN KATZ
Associated Press

BUENOS AIRES
The ruling Peronist Party appeared headed to victory Sunday in congressional elections that could affect President Carlos Menem’s chances of running for a second term.

Early exit polls conducted by Argentine TV stations indicated that the Peronists would win as expected in Buenos Aires province and run close with the opposition Civic Radical Union in the city of Buenos Aires, traditionally an opposition stronghold.

Voters were electing half of the 257-seat Chamber of Deputies, nearly 400 members of provincial legislatures and more than 3,000 other local officials. Polls closed at 6 p.m. (5 p.m. EDT).

The campaign focused on Menem’s efforts to reform the 140-year-old constitution to allow him to run for re-election in 1995. The charter limits presidents to one six-year term, but can be amended by a two-thirds vote in both houses of congress.

Even a convincing victory Sunday would not give the Peronists the seats they need for a re-election amendment. But Menem hopes a strong showing will give him political momentum and force the opposition to agree to constitutional reforms.

More than 21 million people were to vote in this country of 27.5 million, when every voter aged 18 to 70 is obligated by law to cast a ballot.

Army stops looting in quake-damaged area
By VIJAY JOSHI

KILLIAR, India
The Indian army cracked down on looting in the country’s earthquake-stricken southwest on Sunday, taking control of police and civilian authorities and blocking outsiders from shattered villages.

Tremors continued to thunder through Maharashtra state, where as many as 30,000 people died in Thursday’s earthquake.

In the days following the disaster, looters have slipped into villages in the guise of volunteers, stripping corpses of jewelry and wrecked homes of any valuables that could be carried away, relief workers said.

“I am not allowing anyone today to work in the villages unless they are cleared by the army,” said Col. S.K. Joshi, head of the relief effort for Killiari and four surrounding villages.

“We are allowing only genuine voluntary groups in. They are being issued identification cards to avoid the looting which has been going on the last two days,” he added.

The army barricades brought more hardship to victims driven from their homes by the earthquake.

“I do not understand these men in uniforms. They won’t even let me into my own house,” said Jagannath Kumble, a 65-year-old farmer who was stopped from entering his village.

H elicopters dropped food in isolated villages, and medical teams began a massive operation to inoculate survivors against cholera. Officials fear the disease may spread through water contaminated by the putrefying bodies of people and livestock.

Authorities decided to set up new townships for survivors, abandoning many devastated villages. New sites will be found within two weeks, said Anil Pawar, a local administrator.

Dozens of volunteer groups have arrived in Maharashtra state, bringing food, drinking water and temporary shelters to earthquake victims. But many remote villages off the main roads remain without aid.

Army vehicles, private relief workers and tens of thousands of curiosity seekers jammed the region’s roads. The heavy traffic combined with a steady rain to churn muddy streets into slippery slush.

Volunteers gave uncooked rice to refugees who had no pots to boil it or firewood to cook with.

“We have to drink water with our cupped hands,” said Jaimal Sheikh, 30, whose village was demolished.

Survivors swarmed relief vans whenever they stopped. Without organized distribution, the weak went hungry.

More attacks amid ceasefire

ZAGREB, Croatia
At least one man died when Muslims attacked Muslims in northwestern Bosnia, just hours before Bosnian Croats and Muslims signed a new cease-fire for embattled Mostar.

The man was killed and two people were wounded Sunday in Velika Kladusa, in the Bihac region, when supporters of Bosnian President Alija Izetbegovic stormed the local radio station, said Col. Thierry Boutilier, commander of a French battalion of U.N. peacekeepers.

He said police loyal to Bosnian rebel leader Fikret Abdic managed to restore order, but the station remained in the hands of Izetbegovic supporters.

Lawmakers in Bihac, a Muslim pocket in northwestern Bosnia, declared regional autonomy last Monday. Abdic has good relations with neighboring Croats and Serbs and is credited with sparing the enclave from Bosnia’s war.

Three other Muslims were wounded Saturday in the village of Sokolovi, also in Bihac, when Abdic supporters manning a roadblock fired on government soldiers.

Violence overshadowed a Croat-Muslim agreement to stop the fighting and protect civilians in the Mostar area. The pact was signed Saturday at Medjugorje, 12 miles southwest of Mostar, news reports said Sunday.

It was not immediately clear when it was to take effect. However, many truces have been declared and violated in Bosnia’s 18-month war.

The Croat-Muslim accord also provides for the evacuation of wounded and the exchange of prisoners. Croatia’s Ilna news agency reported both sides also agreed to let Spanish U.N. peacekeepers monitor its implementation.

Kenya accused of failure to protect Somali refugees
By NABOBI
Associated Press

NAIROBI
A human rights group has accused Kenya of failing to protect Somali women refugees from rape.

The government has shown “an appalling lack of concern for the plight of Somali refugees,” the New York-based Africa Watch said in a report released Sunday.

Victims of rape and sexual assault in and around Kenya’s refugee camps ranged from 4-year-old girls to 50-year-old women, the report said. Most victims were also robbed, beaten, knied or shot, it said.

Refugees have been attacked by Kenyan bandits and Somali raiders from across the poorly guarded border, the report said. Some women have reported being raped by Kenyan police or military personnel.

The report said 192 refugee women reported being raped in the first seven months of this year.

The Kenyan government has said it does not sanction rape.

The government blames the assaults on criminals who get into Somalia.

The United States said last week that it will give Kenya $3.5 million to improve security along its border with Somalia.

Africa Watch said the United States should require Kenyan authorities to spend some of the money on improving security in refugee camps.
Rebels harbor hatred of Yeltsin

By THOMAS GINSBERG

Moscow

The anti-Yeltsin demonstrators who tore through downtown Moscow had one thing in common: hatred for Boris Yeltsin and willingness to stop at almost nothing to remove him.

Their well-organized assault Sunday on the government's riot police was a dramatic show of unity, if only a day's worth, that must have shaken the confidence of Yeltsin supporters. But if Sunday's demonstrators ever triumphed and tried to run Russia, their rule would likely run aground on their own differences.

The attackers' leaders were a hardcore group of nationalists, communists and fascists, the cutting edge of a violent, loosely organized coalition against Boris Yeltsin. Unlike many more peaceful protesters, they taunted soldiers, ignored calls for restraint and grabbed any weapons they could.

Yeltsin himself long has dismissed his opposition as aging Communists and political misfits wedded to an outdated system. Many rallies have been dominated by elderly people waving Soviet flags.

But despite Yeltsin's public assurances, Russia has been seeing the growth for at least a year of a far broader anti-Yeltsin bloc of monarchists, Communists, anti-Semitic fascists and Cossacks, joined at times by bureaucrats, state factory and farm directors, and even some Orthodox Christian groups.

Within this bloc is a hard core of former Red Army soldiers who have fought in conflicts across the Commonwealth of Independent States, usually with the goal of destabilizing independent-minded former Soviet republics. These soldiers are furious at the destruction of the Soviet Union and would like the new nations formed from the U.S.S.R. to fail and fall back to Moscow's control.

They are aghast at the deterioration of the powerful Soviet army into a poorly paid, poorly housed force with little sense of mission, struggling to maintain morale and discipline.

An unknown number of those young, battle-hardened fighters rushed to Moscow during the 13-day standoff between the parliament and the president.

They joined the ranks of self-styled defenders at the white marble building, whose commanders included Gen. Albert Makashov, who had helped plan Soviet operations in Afghanistan in the 1980s.

Muscovites ignore drama, crowd center of city

By DEBORAH SEWARD

Moscow

For most of Moscow's 10 million residents, Sunday was a glorious autumn day of walks in the city's parks, boat rides on the river and trips to their country homes to pick mushrooms, apples, pears and plum grapes that had just arrived from the south.

Several of the city's farmers' markets were packed with shoppers, buying freshly picked mushrooms, apples, pears and plum grapes that had just arrived from the south.

Despite a gathering of hard-line protesters near Gorky Park, the Ferris wheel twisted and hundreds of art lovers picked through the canvasses on sale across the street.

Protesters marching past the park toward the center of Moscow urged passersby to join their demonstration, but most ignored the call and just watched the malcontents.
Catholic character lacking without juridical relation to Church

The National Conference of Catholic Bishops has proposed eight ordinances to implement Ex corde Ecclesiae, the Apostolic Constitution of Catholic higher education which Pope John Paul II issued in 1990. In his August 30 letter to the Notre Dame faculty and staff, the University president, Fr. Edward Malloy, C.S.C., described these proposed ordinances as "legalistic in tone and hierarchical in orientation." He described three of them (5, 6 and 7) as "especially problematic in their approach to the role of the Catholic theologian in the context of a Catholic university."

Fr. Malloy invited comment from members of the Notre Dame community to aid in preparing the University's formal response to the ordinances by Dec. 31, 1993.

The first thing to note about the ordinances is that they are vague and toothless. The Code of Canon Law (Can 812) provides: "It is necessary that the institution of the university to the Christian message include a recognition of and adherence to the teaching authority of the church in matters of faith and morals." (No. 27) Proposed ordinance 6, however, reduces the requirement of a mandate to a practical matter: "Catholic professors of theological disciplines are to be advised by academic officials of the Church's expectation that they request the mandate from the diocesan bishop or his delegate if Canon 812. Accordingly, the bishop is to invite the Catholic professor to request a mandate and, after appropriate review, the bishop is to respond to the request."

Proposed ordinance 5 describes the mandate as "recognition by the competent ecclesiastical authority of a Catholic professor's suitability to teach theological disciplines." Proposed ordinance 7 provides procedures to resolve any "dispute" that may arise.

While Canon 812 says that the mandate is "necessary," proposed ordinance 6 merely provides that Catholic professors of theology be "advised" of the Church's expectation that they request the mandate. The ordinances are silent as to what happens if the university fails to advise the professor of that expectation or if the professor chooses not to apply for it.

The bishop is to "invite," rather than require, the professor to apply for the mandate. Nor do the ordinances require that the professor's contract be modified if the university includes any reference to the mandate. In effect, these vague and unenforceable ordinances are an exercise in empty symbolism.

Still, even they are objectionable to the Notre Dame Administration.

Fr. Malloy's description of ordinances 5, 6 and 7 as "especially problematic" in the context of his overall description of the ordinances as "legalistic in tone and hierarchical in orientation," reflects the effort of Notre Dame to maintain a "Catholic" character with effectively no juridical relation to the Catholic Church.

The Land O'Lakes declared, adopted by Notre Dame and other major Catholic universities in 1967, stated that "the Catholic university must have a true autonomy and academic freedom in the face of authority of whatever kind, lay or clerical, external to the academic community itself." In 1968, Notre Dame transferred its control from the Congregation of Holy Cross to a lay-de-nominated board of trustees. The most important decisions are reserved to the twelve Fellows of the University, six of whom must be Holy Cross priests. The Congregation itself, however, does not control the University.

Notre Dame has not liberated itself from external authority. For the authority of the Catholic Church it has substituted the more demanding authority of the secular academic establishment. Notre Dame pursues recognition by that establishment as a great "Research University," the criteria for that recognition are secular.

And, despite the professed desire of its Administration to maintain a "Catholic character," the University is so allergic to any juridical connection with the Catholic Church that even the feeble symbolism of the proposed ordinances triggers a negative reaction.

This is so because, with no formal tie with the Church, the University's "Catholic professors" tend to itself to become a mere symbol.

In his Aug. 30 letter, Fr. Malloy noted that "the percentage of Catholic faculty University-wide has gone from 66 percent in 1970 to 61 percent in 1980 to 58 percent in 1992. In addition, new hires in the last three years have been 46 percent, 47 percent and 37 percent Catholic. Where such percentages include every faculty member who checked the "Catholic" box on the form, "I read the evidence," said Fr. Malloy, "to suggest that we have a problem that needs to be addressed."

No kidding.

The problem is that erosion of the Catholic character and presence inevitably follows severance of the juridical connection with the Church. The discussion of the proposed ordinances ought to focus, not on evading, but on strengthening them. And it should include the question of whether it is not time for the Congregation of Holy Cross finally to rouse itself from its torpor and to assume legal control of the University and reestablish its connection with the Church.

Irish make the Cardinal blue in rout

Derrick Mayes lunges to grab Kevin McDougal's touchdown strike late in the first half of Saturday's 48-20 win over Stanford.

Big plays help avenge last year's loss

By GEORGE DOHRMANN

PALO ALTO, Ca.

With the third quarter halfway gone it was decided that this day belonged to Notre Dame.

Lake Dawson and Derrick Mayes had twice taken off their helmets for the camera, people were talking about Clint Johnson as the next Rocket Ismail, and Lou Holtz was preparing his speech about how this win wasn't sweet revenge.

Notre Dame's 48-20 win Saturday under the blazing sun at Stanford Stadium was revenge, in a big way. Twelve Irish wins ago the Cardinal pulled the upset at Notre Dame Stadium 33-16 and they paid for it Saturday.

"In my four years here we've lost to them twice," said quarterback Kevin McDougal. "We wanted to come in here and beat them on their own turf."

"You go in thinking about revenge until the first snap," said defensive tackle Oliver Gibson, "and then you concentrate on what you have to do."

The Irish did what they had to do, and then some. Notre Dame played near-flawless football, winning all facets of the game.

Option alive and well, right coach?

Notre Dame football coach Lou Holtz must be confused.

"We can't run the option." "We can run the option." "We must run the option, but we can't." Please coach make up your mind.

The Irish 48-20 win at Stanford Stadium was due greatly to the presence of, what else, the option.

Holtz acting like typical Holtz has pointed to the weaknesses in the Irish offense all year. Most of his tears have fallen over Notre Dame's inability to run the option.

His fears came to a climatic conclusion last Tuesday when he told reporters that the option was a thing of the past under the Golden Dome. It was gone, graduated with the Tony Rices and the Rick Mirers, never to be re-admitted.
Johnson helps Notre Dame return the favor

By GEORGE DOHRMANN

PALO ALTO, Calif. .

Clint Johnson wants his way. Lou Holtz wants it his way. Saturday they found a happy medium, and both were happy.

"At first I didn't want to do it (the kickoff return) as coach Holtz told me to," said Johnson. "I wanted to run it to the side. I found out then what happens when you do what coach says."

What happened was the senior flanker turned in his best performance in an Irish uniform, returning two kickoffs for 179 yards and a touchdown. But it wasn't a matter of coach knows best. Holtz also inserted a new kick return strategy at the request of his players.

"For years we ran only one return, but a few weeks ago we put in a second. I didn't want to do it, but players convinced me," said Holtz.

They will have no trouble convincing Holtz to try it again. Johnson finished with returns of 79 and 100 yards, the latter being the first kickoff return for a touchdown against Stanford since "The Play" at Cal in 1982.

"Before half I thought I was going to go all the way," said Johnson, who also scored on a kickoff return in 1991 against Hawaii. "I didn't think they were going to kick me to begin again to start the second half."

With 6:30 remaining in the third quarter Stanford sent the ball towards Johnson again. The senior flanker sprinted to the left while his blockers built a wall to to the right, creating the illusion that the return was going that way.

No Cardinal defender came within ten yards of Johnson before he reached midfield. He ran untouched until his teammates mobbed him in the endzone.

"I looked up-field, and all the blockers were on the right and I went left," said Johnson. "I cut inside at about midfield and then it was a foot race."

It was a change from Holtz's traditional return whichemphasis straight-ahead running while looking for a seam. "Coach Holtz felt that we weren't getting enough productivity out of that," said Johnson.

"Clint really wants to run it," said Holtz. "We just have a different opinion of how it should be run."

But somewhere in between it works out perfectly.

"When I said that at the press conference, I was flat serious about it," said Holtz. "We went back into the coaches meeting and I was in a good mood. We decided that Kevin would have to learn to do it."

McDougal seemed to have a firm grasp on the concept Saturday, and against the Cardinal defense he appeared to round end untouched on both scoring runs.

"The option is a great play when you work it," said McDougal. "It was Johnson's second contribution to the shot."

Johnson did, but he had trouble convincing Holtz to give him the shot.

"I better get it straightened out if we were going to get the option right," said McDougal, who scored two of the option touchdowns. "I'm not to happy about running it," said Johnson.

"I'm not to happy about running it," said McDougal.

But with the exception of Clint "Cosmic" Johnson, the option was the key to beating Stanford. And from that alone, we assume, that Notre Dame's option attack is currently enrolled at the University.

"We got upset on Tuesday," Holtz said. "When I said that in the press conference, I was flat serious about it. We went back into the coaches meeting and I wasn't in a good mood. We decided that Kevin (McDougal) would definitely have to learn it. We thought it was something we had to do and we made some progress."

"More than some," Notre Dame's defensive coordinator, running the option only three times, but each building the Irish lead by six.

"I'm not to happy about running it," said Holtz. "We just had two offensive g "

"I saw we were going to get the option straightened out."

McDougal looked like a seasoned option quarterback, pitching to tailback Lee Benton for a third quarter touchdown, just as a Stanford linebacker wrapped him up.

"I knew we were going to run it," said McDougal. "It's in his offense."

Not according to Holtz, not last Tuesday, when all hope was lost and Notre Dame was "an all things, out of options."

"We don't run it much, but it is a good thing to have," said Holtz.

"Do we have it? We will see it next week?"

"We've got to get a lot better.

So confining.

Receivers make the most of few opportunities

By JASON KELLY
Associate Sports Editor

Lou Holtz is reluctant to fill the sky with footballs, even if it's a sunny California sky. The Notre Dame quarterbacks threw the ball as often in last week's downpour at Purdue as they did in Saturday's sunbath at Stanford.

Irish co-quarterbacks Kevin McDougal and Paul Failla have been inconsistent passers early in the season, forcing Holtz to keep the ball on the ground.

But after the performance of his receivers against the Cardinal, he may think about altering his game plan. Lost in the shadows of Clint Johnson's kickoff returns and Randy Kinder's 104-yard rushing performance was the clutch play of the Irish receivers.

They call themselves AFROS—"America's Finest Receivers on Saturday." This Saturday, they lived up to their name.

Mike Miller leaped high into the air to haul in a 46-yard pass from McDougal to set up Notre Dame's first score. Derrick Mays stretched his gluey hands as far as they could reach to snag a bullet from McDougal for a touchdown near the end of the first half. It was the first time this season an Irish receiver has caught a touchdown pass.

"It's all about timing," Mays said. "It was bound to happen [catching a touchdown pass] sometime with one of the receivers. I'm just happy it was me."

McDougal also found Lake Dawson with a 32-yard strike early in the fourth quarter to set up another Irish touchdown. Then it was Mays again, running under an 80-yard bomb from Paul Failla to score the game sealing touchdown. It was the longest play from scrimmage this season.

In all, the trio collected seven of nine passes for 211 yards and two touchdowns. Big results from few opportunities.

"We (the receivers) were one of the big factors in the game because of the type of defense Stanford plays," Mays said. "We don't think much about how often we throw the ball, we just want to take advantage of the opportunities when they come."

They haven't come very often in recent weeks. Slick conditions at Purdue kept the Irish on the ground and when they did go to the air, McDougal's passes were generally off target.

Against Stanford the Irish stayed on the ground not because of the weather, but because it was working. Kinder's 100-yard performance was the first by an Irish freshman since 1982 and McDougal ran for 42 yards of his own.

That opened up the passing game, which was used sparingly but very successfully against the Cardinal. Mays believes that Holtz is not reluctant to pass the ball. Rather, he is reluctant to abandon an improving running attack.

"If you look at the Michigan and Michigan State games, we threw the ball 22 or 24 times," Mays said. "It's just a matter of how our running game is going. It doesn't matter how many opportunities we get, what matters is whether or not we take advantage of them."

The Christ Child Society, the South Bend in need. The Clothe-A-Child campaign with the help of various local businesses. When the organization was founded in 1947, the members themselves donated and distributed the clothing to citizens in need. According to Bauer, a volunteer and current board member, the inability or members to meet the growing needs of low income families soon necessitated an appeal to the community at large. With initiatives like the new Clothe-A-Child campaign, they have targeted the customers of some of Michiana's most frequented businesses, including Martin's Supermarkets, Burger King, Kroger, Sam's Club, and the Kid's Store, Inc. Support from both the businesses and their patrons has been superb. The Clothe-A-Child campaign, in effect from September 13 to October 11, centers around the sale of paper dolls for $1 each. Customers who purchase the dolls, which depict young boys and girls bun­ dled in winter clothes, may then write these family or business names on the dolls, color them, and hang them in the windows of the stores. Because The Christ Child Society is staffed entirely by volunteers, none of the money from donations will be spent on administrative costs. Along with membership dues, donations and other fund raising projects, all proceeds from Clothe-A-Child will be used to purchase clothing in bulk from select dealers. Bauer said that the goal of this partic­ ular campaign is to sustain the supply of funds and clothing through the winter. Each year a product of quality and demand slows down continuously, and by Christmas, the demands simply cannot be met. With the help of local businesses through the Clothe-A-Child campaign, Bauer and others hope that this decrease in the supply will be eliminated.

Tracie Davis, Advertising Assistant at Martin's, stated that support for community service organizations has become an integral part of this chain's daily business. The supermarket, a locally owned chain founded by Martin and Jane Tarnow, has always supported efforts similar to Clothe-A-Child. "From the beginning, the Tarnows felt their success depended on their customers," said Davis, who has also helped organize fundraisers for the Madison Center and Literacy Council.

"The community made us what we are, and we feel a responsibility to give back to the community," Davis remarked on the unique nature of Clothe-A-Child and the determination of The Christ Child Society in promoting the campaign. "Most promotions like this are self-sustaining," she said. "It was unique, a new slant on a new program, and we like to be a good corporate citizen," said Shelly Myers, Marketing Assistant at Burger King. Pat Ladewski, Marketing Director of Burger King, named a series of other efforts, including the "Hole-In-One" pro­ gram in conjunction with Society Bank and the St. Joseph Care Foundation, and the "You Can Land a Hand" coupon books sold every Friday. Peter Uhl, SAB cultural director at William Penn College, about a recent perfor­ mance of "Mystery Murders on Campus." Groups approach Martin's and other businesses regularly for help in fundraising, but according to Davis, it is creative projects, rather than requests for monetary and product donations, that Martin's chooses to support.

ATLANTA

After winning game No. 104, the Braves waited and watched. And, finally, on the last day of the best pennant race in years, they were San Francisco Giants. The Giants won their third straight NL West title Sunday -- but it hadn't happened until three hours after their 3-2 victory over the Colorado Rockies. With players watching on big-screen TVs in the 'travellers' room, and about 8,000 fans watching on the scoreboard television in Atlanta Fulton County Stadium, the title finally came when the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Giants 2-1 a continent away. It took after a marathon stretch drive that the Giants never will forget, the celebration finally began.

"We showed character," said David Justice, who hit his 40th homer in the most timely of circumstances, as the Braves moved over the Colorado Rockies. The title since divisional play began in 1969 that were even going into the final day. But the Braves made the Giants the first team since the 1975 New York Yankees to win 103 games and finish second.

"It's nice to have a couple of nights to relax and know where we're going for a change," said Tom Glavine, who broke the Rockies for his 22nd win of the season.

The two-time NL champions needed a remarkable comeback to make the race. The Braves, in a hitting slump throughout the first half of the season, trailed the Giants by 15 games in late June. Since then, divisional play began in 1969 that were even going into the final day. But the Braves made the Giants the first team since the 1975 New York Yankees to win 103 games and finish second.

Men’s cross-country wins invite

The Notre Dame men’s cross country team posted an important victory Friday afternoon at the Notre Dame Invitational, finishing with a total of 76 points.

The nearest competition for the Irish came from West Virginia, which finished 10 points behind Notre Dame. Penn State (108), North Central College, (120) and Edinboro University (131) rounded out the top five finishers.

Notre Dame, while victorious, was unable to follow their game plan to the end. The Irish pride themselves on running as a group, and strive to stick together as a group from beginning to end. Friday’s meet saw no such finish, as the Irish runners were scattered throughout the finishing order.

The Irish runners finished second, sixth, 12th, 24th, 32nd, and 101st. While not exactly a tight grouping, the runners were spaced just far enough apart to claim the victory.

Leading the way for the Irish was senior captain Mike McWilliams, who finished second with a time of 24:21.9. The consistently stellar McWilliams finished second for the second-straight week junior Nate Ruder, who finished first overall at the previous meet, finished sixth with a time of 24:40.3.

Sophomore Derek Selling finished 12th with a time of 24:47, sophomore Joe Dunlop finished 11th overall, and 107th. While not exactly a straight week, junior Nate Ruder, who finished first overall at the previous meet, finished sixth with a time of 24:40.3.

Senior All-American Mike McWilliams finished second in this weekend’s Notre Dame Invitational, won by the Irish. 24th with a time of 25:13.1, junior John Cowan finished 32nd at 25:21.8, and J.R. Meloro finished 107th.

The Irish were hurt by the loss of freshman Matt Ahlhoff, who fainted during the last 300 meters of the race. Ahlhoff was running very well, and would probably have finished the race fifth for the Irish, ahead of eventual fifth-place finisher John Cowan, who finished 32nd overall. Thankfully, Ahlhoff was not seriously injured, and will be running again this week in practice.

One of the reasons that the Irish team was not able to stay as a tight group after the first few miles is that the competition level was much higher than the previous few weeks. Due to this fact, the runners were forced to compete at their own individual level.

"The concentration of this race was so much steeper that everyone had to race at their own level," said Ruder.

"They ran well, not great," said Irish head coach Joe Piane. "In terms of things to come, we are right on track for reaching the NCAA's."

The next test for the Irish will come on October 17, when the team travels to Michigan to compete against thirteen other teams in the Michigan Invitational. Until then, the Irish will be working hard during practice to prepare for this important race.

"We will be focusing mostly on workouts this week," said Ruder.

Irish women’s golf team takes fifth in Huskie Classic

By ELAINE SIRMANS

The Notre Dame Women’s golf team finished fifth in spite of windy and chilly conditions at the Northern Illinois University Huskie Classic.

Senior co-captain Crissy Klein led the Irish this weekend in the tournament, shooting in the low 70’s for the three rounds.

She finished eleventh overall with a score of 248. The rest of the team shot consistently in the mid-eighties to clinch fifth out of a field of seventeen teams.

"We held our position throughout the tournament. After the first round, we were only one shot behind Illinois State in fourth. I was hoping we might catch them," said Coach Tom Hantun.

Even though they were on their home course, the best

Northern Illinois could manage was third. Iowa State dominated the tournament with Beth Cooper and Maureen Ronhaar finishing medalist and runner-up. Ohio State finished second, with Illinois State earning fourth place.

The winds were getting to everyone’s shots. If any ball was hit with spin, it was going to be pulled," said Hantun.

The Irish underclassmen also continued their consistent play. Juniors Katie Shannon and Katie Cooper shot in the 80’s with the wind. Sophomore Julie Melby shot a 264, but got in to trouble with the hazards on the course.

"Julie had trouble with the hazards early on, and most of the golfers had problems putting on the slick greens. It was an adjustment for most of the teams," said Hantun. "But overall, I was pleased with the way we played. We played well despite the teams I thought we would and we are continuing to make progress that will show up in the spring."

The women will begin again at the Irish Classic, where they will golf over spring semester break.

Montana injured, Rocket back

By DOUG TUCKER
Associated Press

KANSAS CITY—Three starts into his new career in Kansas City, Joe Montana is 3-0 in games won and 1-2 in games finished.

The Chiefs (3-1) have won every game Montana has played, including a 24-9 victory Sunday over the mistake-prone Los Angeles Raiders, who also were without their No. 1 quarterback.

But only once has Montana stayed injury free. He was sidelined again Sunday after injuring his left hamstring in Aaron Wallace's late hit.

Montana was sharp, hitting 7 of 9 passes for 68 yards and two touchdowns, when Wallace hit him from behind out of bounds near the Chiefs' side line in the second quarter. Montana said Wallace did not fall on his leg.

“They said it happened when I pulled back (by the defender) but I don’t remember,” Montana said. “They say it happened when he grabbed me but I don’t remember. All I know is right before I got to the sideline, just as I was going out of bounds, I felt it go. I was going to keep running so I didn’t get hit. It was a little pop. It just got stiff.”

The only bright spot for the Raiders (2-2) was the debut of Rocket Ismail. The former Notre Dame star caught a 43-yard scoring pass from Vince Evans in the fourth quarter.

After Wallace's hit, the Raiders drew a 15-yard unsportsmanlike conduct penalty

Notre Dame freshman Ryan Simme defeated teammate Tad Eckert in the championship flight of the Princeton Invitational on Sunday.

Simme won all five of his matches in the event in straight sets, breezing through the singles crown.

Saint Mary's volleyball beats N. Central, Carroll

By KILEY COBLE

The Saint Mary's volleyball team's home court advantage came through for them this weekend, as they conquered North Central College and Carroll College.

Mary Wheeler

Saint Mary's now has a 12-6 record after their impressive hold on these two teams in Saturday's Triangular match. This is the first time coach Julie Schroeder-Biek's team has beaten North Central.

"We didn't play up to potential, since we were saving it for our next match against Carroll," said Schroeder-Biek. "But we played as a real unit."

The coach also commented on how the team's passing wasn't up to par against their first opponent. However, she did compliment senior setter Michelle Martin on mustering enough offensive power from what she had.

Senior tri-captain Kim Brantsteder stated that the Belles offense played aggressively.

"Everyone swung away and was real smart," said Brantsteder. "On defense we covered everything. We had a lot more digs than usual and they were hitting at us really hard.

Carroll turned out to be the tougher of the two opponents. They beat Saint Mary's earlier this season in their opening tournament at Kalamazoo.

"They are very tough defensively and offensively," said Schroeder-Biek.

Senior Andrea Salazar had an excellent showing against Carroll with seven service aces.

Other players who racked up impressive statistics were: Martin with 97 assists, junior Erica Freitag had 24 digs and 26 kills, tri-captain sophomore had 9 blocks, senior Mary Wheeler had 8 blocks and Brantsteder had 50 digs, 22 kills and 17 points.

The Belles go up against DePauw University at home on Tuesday at 7:00 pm.

Saint Mary's soccer crushes DePauw

By MARY GOOD

Sports Writer

The Saint Mary's soccer team scored a 5-0 victory over DePauw this Saturday, to up the team's record to 5-4. Saint Mary's and DePauw have played similarly against other teams all season, which makes the Belles' win that much bigger.

"It was an extremely tight match-up going into the game," said coach Tom Van Meter, who was pleased with the team's execution on Saturday and hopes it will continue to improve as the season progresses.

Senior co-captain Megan Dalsaso, and Tina Raczyński each scored two goals, while Bridg Kyes also scored for the Belles.

"Everyone played well as a team," said Tina Brockman. "The offense and defense worked together and never let down.

According to senior Mandy Eiler, the great weather and presence of many parents visiting for Senior Dad's Weekend added to the spirit of the game.

"It was an all-around great effort," added Eiler.

Van Meter noted that Saturday was also a success because everyone got an opportunity to participate. However, Van Meter is especially concerned with a knee injury sustained by senior Patty Hand.

Although the team is excited about Saturday's victory, they are focusing on Thursday's game against Calvin, as Calvin is a game the team cannot afford to look past. However, Van Meter is optimistic.

"We still have the future in our own hands," said Van Meter.

Men's soccer upsets South Carolina

By MIKE NORBUT

The mangled turf of Alumni Field was a good symbol of the four hard-played matches this weekend, as four of the nation's finest men's soccer programs squared off during the Notre Dame Classic.

Though No. 3 Indiana, No. 12 Penn State, and No. 14 South Carolina were all considered to be favorites of the tournament, it was the underdog Irish that entered the final game with a chance to take home the tournament. "Our defense had a great game," said junior Tim Oates, who recorded both goals in the contest. "It's a real big win for us.

"The Irish jumped out to the lead only 1:57 into the game when Oates knocked in a loose ball from in front of the net off a Mike Palmer corner kick. The goal gave Notre Dame a 1-0 advantage.

Notre Dame took this lead into the second half despite constant pressure by South Carolina, who finished the contest with 18 shots on goal compared to only 12 for the Irish. Strong defensive plays were turned in by fresh-

14th-ranked volleyball posts two wins

By TIMOTHY SEYMOUR
Sports Writer

The No. 14 Notre Dame volleyball team got a taste of the pressure of being the team to beat this weekend, as it endured a difficult match against Ball State before finally dismissing the Cardinals 10-15, 14-16, 15-9, 15-7, 15-11.

The Irish also posted a 15-6, 15-11, 12-15, 15-3 victory over Western Michigan to improve to 13-3 on the year.

Playing an inspired and experienced Ball State squad, the Irish were in a position they had faced only once before, needing to win three games in a row after having dropped the first two. This time, Notre Dame prevailed, relying on its talent to return to the fundamentals that have led them to national prominence.

"We anticipated that Ball State would be a good team, but we didn't think they would be that good," said Irish head coach Debbie Brown. "They deserve a lot of credit, they played very well."

The Cardinals came out with a strong service game that pressured the Irish into losing the first two games, as their active defense gave Notre Dame problems. However, it was just a matter of time before Notre Dame regained its composure and turned the match around. "Ball State was playing above what they were capable of," noted Brown. "And we didn't think they could continue the pace."

Notre Dame began its rally in the third game, relying as it has so often lately on the play of senior middle-blocker Molly Stark. "Molly was definitely a factor, as we relied on her and Jenny Birkner to carry the offense," explained Brown.

Stark's net play served as a catalyst to the rest of the squad, as her blocking and quickset kills changed the tempo in favor of the Irish. Birkner also proved a spark, as her error-free play made her a favored option in the attack.

Stark continued her impressive performance as the Irish travelled to Western Michigan on Saturday, blocking a career high 15 total balls to go along with her team high 17 kills.

In a match that saw almost every Irish player see action, the Notre Dame starters dominated play, limiting the Broncos to only 10 points when they were on the floor.

The Irish also saw the continued improvement of some of its younger talent, especially in freshman outside hitter Kristina Ervin, who is steadfastly making her bid to enter the starting rotation. Ervin, whose playing time and hitting opportunities have increased steadily in the past few weeks, had the best night of her young college career, hitting .727 with eight kills and no errors in 11 attempts. She also had a solid defensive effort, including seven digs and two blocks.

"Kristina played very well, probably having her best match since she's been here," stated Brown. "Again, it's valuable experience for her, and should help the team down the road."

Next up for the Irish will be Illinois State, which travels to the J.A.C.C. for a 7:30 game Tuesday night.

All good things must come to end.

The Notre Dame women's soccer team lost its first game of the season Friday night, snapping its 14-game winning streak and falling to its first ranked opponent since late last season.

The 10-1 Irish fell to the ninth-ranked Stanford Cardinal 3-1 in overtime, before rebounding on Sunday for a 4-0 victory over St. Mary's College of California.

Sophomore Michelle McCarthy gave Notre Dame a 1-0 lead twenty minutes into the first half against the Cardinal when she drilled home a 30-yard pass from fellow midfielder Ragen Coyne.

The lead stood until Stanford's Sarah Rafanelli tied it up with just under thirty minutes left in the game.

Tied at the end of regulation, the team's began two halves of overtime where the Cardinal netted two goals to wrap up the win.

The game marked the first time that the Irish have ever lost a game in which Coyne scored at least one point. They were 16-0-1 over that span.

Stanford, now owning an 8-1 record, outshot Notre Dame 20-13. Freshman goalkeeper Jen Renola made three saves as Coyne scored the first and final goals of the contest.

The Notre Dame women's cross-country team showed they can compete with the nation's top teams by capturing the title at their own Notre Dame Invitational on Friday, squeaking past 11th-ranked Alabama by two points.

In a field composed of twenty teams, three ranked amongst the top twenty in the nation, the Irish displayed their true potential.

Five finishers for the Irish broke their personal records in the meet.

"It's definitely the best team performance we've had," said junior Kristi Kramer. "Everyone ran towards their personal best.

Junior Sarah Riley led the Irish with a strong performance, finishing fourth overall with a time of 17:47. Freshman Emily Hood and Kramer rounded out the second and third spots by placing fifth and ninth, respectively, in the invitational.

Alabama had runners finish at the top two spots overall but with the depth of the Irish, Notre Dame was still able to secure the 66-64 victory.

"It's really rare for a team to beat a team that has runners finish first and second. But, that just shows how good our five have to be," said Kramer.

"I was real pleased to see the girls respond to the challenge," said coach Tim Connolly.

Dismayed with their performance, the Irish were not ranked. We knew we'd have to run very well."

While Alabama finished two points behind the Irish, Baylor and Auburn finished third and fourth, respectively.

Defeating some top teams has brought a lot of confidence to the team. "I was really surprised about the victory," said Hood. "Going in we knew we were up against some ranked teams and we weren't ranked. We knew we'd have to run very well."

The team's next big meet is October 17 at Michigan. For the next couple weeks the team plans to work hard and stay focused.

"Michigan is going to be a competitive meet. We're happy that we have our eyes focused on the next big meet," said Kramer.
