Faculties concerned with student racially obstacles

By JENNIFER LEWIS
News Writer

Catholic women face many obstacles in today's society including eating disorders, suicide, drug and alcohol abuse. Saint Mary's College is finding ways to overcome these problems, according to a faculty and administrative panel discussion on the value of Catholic educational institutions.

The panel, consisting of Sister Miriam Patrick Conney, Prof. Keith Egan, Assistant Prof. Mark Schmitt, and Mary Coghlan, Director of Counseling and Career Development, debated these neglected problems which Saint Mary's students face in their lives.

The panel's goal was to encourage students to put Catholicism in their daily decisions and activities and explore their feminism and religion.

"When you exclude race or religion, you become deligitized," Egan said.

One of the main concerns discussed was alcoholism.

In January 1990 Saint Mary's conducted a study of their students. Fifty two percent of the students said at least one night in the last two weeks they had five or more drinks in one night. More than 60 percent said they had done something they regretted and suffered from memory loss after using alcohol. Forty percent of the students admitted to driving under the influence of alcohol.

"We are really trying to put the issues on the table," said De Pauw. "We are a little faster than the Catholic Church in discussing these issues."

Conney challenged Saint Mary's students to overcome the main obstacles by stepping up to work in the field of mathematics.

According to Cooney, not enough women succeed in math because they are led to believe it is a male dominated field. This is a problem for too many college women.

"We are trying to bring women out of those beliefs," she said. "Tell the more confident women take more math."

A friend of the victim notified Security Tuesday night. Although the victim first requested anonymity, she came forward yesterday and filed a report.

The victim was leaving Security Tuesday night.

By JOSLIN WARREN
News Writer

The Gender Studies Faculty Forums are an excellent way for students and faculty to present their work on gender issues and receive some feedback from the community.

"There is a great deal of gender work going on and anyone who wants to present that work can come to the forums," Collins said. "It's a good way to put things out and see what others are doing."

For fifteen weeks of each semester there is a set schedule of speakers and topics that range from "What's Wrong With the Pro-Choice Movement" to "Language and Gender: Implications for Women in Engineering."

"There are various papers included in several disciplines and most of it is written for publication," said Collins.

Last week's presentation by Julia Dworkin entitled "Light and Insight in La Princesse de Cleves" was an "encyclopedia type entry for a literary encyclopede," she said.

ND student attacked near Grotto

Observer Staff Report

A black male attacked a female Notre Dame student early Monday morning near the Grotto, Chuck Hurley, assistant director of Security, reported Wednesday. Security has no suspects.

A friend of the victim notified Security Tuesday night. Although the victim first requested anonymity, she came forward yesterday and filed a report.

The victim was leaving Security Tuesday night.

Grotto Monday at 3 a.m. when a man grabbed her from behind and threatened sexual assault. The two struggled on the ground until she stabbed him with a brooch pin, kicked him in the stomach and fled. The man is 20 to 25 years old, 6 feet 2 inches tall and has a slender build and closely cut, curly hair. Hurley said he has big, callused hands and was wearing a plain, blue, hooded sweatshirt and white shoes with black Nike markings.

In a separate incident, Hurley said Security has a suspect in a rash of thefts this week. A man fled Cavanaugh today after a student discovered him attempting to steal stereo equipment from a room.

The man is black, about 20 years old and 6 feet 4 inches tall. He has a thin build, a dark complexion and a goatee. He was wearing a red-billed baseball cap and a black jacket.

In three other incidents Monday and Tuesday, over $1,000 worth of stereo equipment and clothing were reported from Dillon and Keenan Halls.
Parietals were here before you, so deal with it

"Post...diddlydahem! Notre Dame has...ugh...Parietals..."

"Oh! No way! That is so gross!"

"Not sure, but it must be bad. What do I do from this on, this catching? All I know is that it has something to do with the different sexes being segregated...eghads! It may be worse than that. I mean, this involves some sort of quarantine during the night."

"This could be bad...real bad."

"Do you know, Man, I knew but I didn’t think it was this bad..."

"WHOA! Here it is, pg. 13 du Lac, right after premartial sex and a few paragraphs before the prohibition of catapults on campus. Okay, this premarital sex and a few paragraphs before the gross! What is it?"

"Dave quarantine during the time of the du Lac committee. Why? Because the policy does not mimic real society nor does it allow for a hip-happening social life."

"You mean, all we have to do is kick Sam Platz out at two or twelve? You were overseeing acting big time. Silly, you were acting like it anyway...you made your choice, now live with it..."

Consider this, the people who constantly complain about the University’s policy regarding parietals and single-sex dorms were aware of the policy when they sent in their freshmen deposits.

Just as the women of Saint Mary’s considered an all-women’s education when choosing colleges and just as you contemplated whether or not you could survive the weather in South Bend, for four years, so should you have considered the fact that Notre Dame has, and probably will forever, parietals and single sex dorms. Had you wanted an unrestricted, co-ed living environment you may have wanted to consider that before deciding to go here.

The reasons often given in favor of lengthening or eliminating the parietal policy are that it does not make sense, and bad dorm and single-sex dorms were aware of the policy when they sent in their freshmen deposits.

The views expressed in the Inside Column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.

TODAY'S STAFF

News

Lauren Farquhar

Production

Rodrigue Fournel

David Tyler

Spencer Ent

George Associates

Mike Norbut

Lab Tech

Thomas Cusick

Graphics

Brendan Regan

David Claintone

The Observer (U.S.P.S. 599 2-4000) is published Monday through Friday except during summer and vacation periods. The Observer is a member of the Herndon Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

The Observer (U.S.P.S. 599 2-4000) is published Monday through Friday except during summer and vacation periods. The Observer is a member of the Herndon Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

"Should someone tell the Pope about this?"

More than 16 years after his death, hundreds of thousands of devoted Elvis fans still revere "The King," holding festivals in his name, decorating their homes with his pictures, even praying to him. Now, a British television documentary making its U.S. premiere Friday night raises the question of whether Elvis worship has become a religion. "The King and Me," produced by Tullstar Productions and part of the weekly series "The Human Factor," will be shown on The Faith and Values Channel. The cable network, which reaches 20 million homes, will show the half-hour documentary again on Monday and next Thursday.

Depending on how the question is worked, several national polls in recent years have found 6 percent to 16 percent of Americans believe Elvis still lives. "The King and Me" producers estimate up to a million people worldwide are devoted followers of Elvis. This interview made clear they do not consider Elvis to be God, and some note Elvis himself would discourage such speculation.

But several of the trappings of religion are evident in the way Elvis fans express their devotion. On the anniversary of his Aug. 16, 1977, death, thousands of his Elvis pilgrims walk single file at his Graceland mansion, touching candles to torches fired from an eternal flame at the grave.

Dan Quayle and potatoes: reunited

PLANO, Texas

When the Dallas Cowboys and the Buffalo Bills revisit their rivalry on Super Bowl on Sunday, former Vice President Dan Quayle will take in an old nemesis. The potato(e). Quayle will make a cameo appearance in a commercial for Wavy Lapay's Potato Chips to be shown just before halftime. "I love football and potato chips, so this was a natural," Quayle said in a statement from Indianapolis. "Football has become a big part of my life, but this time I'm enjoying them!" While vice president in June 1992, Quayle erroneously instructed a New Jersey elementary school pupil to "peel" "patato" as "potato" during a spelling bee.

Proctor & Gamble Inc. said the 60-second commercial, filmed at the George DeGea in Atlanta, will be shown only once. The spot also features 12-year-old actor Elliah Wood and Cowboys quarterback Troy Aikman.

FCC backs away from Stern's employer

WASHINGTON

Regulators are reluctantly prepared to let radio shock jock Howard Stern get his act on Infinity's prize property, Stern's employer by nixing the purchase, but the FCC is caving to a pressure campaign that would be overturned in court, said the newspapers. It is the legal question that has been a favorable decision by Tuesday for Infinity Broadcasting Corp. of New York, the newspapers reported. Infinity's prize property, Stern, has angered regulators with his racy combination of sex — resulting in heavy FCC fines against Infinity for allegedly violating the indecency standard. The company is contesting the fines.

The FCC delayed approving Infinity's application to buy the last station Monday. The company said delaying past Jan. 1 could cost it millions of dollars in penalties.

"Lemons" cite the worst in commercials

WASHINGTON

Too many ads mislead, a group of consumer advocates said Thursday in presenting "lemon awards" to commercial producers that claim gasoline is clean, milk can make your skin smooth and a candy is "so fruity you can hardly bear it."

"Deceptive advertising will remain commonplace until the Federal Trade Commission breaks with the past and enforces law more efficiently," Bruce Silverglade, legal director of the Center for Science in the Public Interest, said at a news conference announcing the group's 1993 Harlan Page Hubbard Memorial Awards. The awards faux gold trophies topped with real lemons — are named for a 19th century ad man who touted such products as Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a supposed cure for everything from impotence to cancer. None of the 12 "honorees" showed up to receive their awards.

INDIANA Weather

The Accu-Weather forecast for day only.

NATIONAL Weather

The Accu-Weather forecast for day only.

BOSTON

"Lines across high terrain zones for the day."
Experiment approved with time limits, subsidies

By JENNIFER DIXON
Associated Press

WASHINGTON

In a preview of the president's plan to overhaul the nation's welfare system, the Clinton administration gave Florida permission Thursday to experiment with time-limited benefits and subsidies to employers who hire welfare recipients.

A senior administration official said Florida's demonstration project is significant because it mirrors President Clinton's efforts to expand education, training and child-care for parents on welfare while limiting their benefits to two years.

In his State of the Union address Tuesday, Clinton promised to introduce welfare-reform legislation this spring. Although the administration has outlined its plan in broad terms, it has yet to make the tough decisions about costs and financing.

Similar to the House Republicans' bill, the Senate measure would require more welfare recipients to work, limit aid to immigrants, and force unmarried teen-age mothers to live with a parent to qualify for welfare.

Learning the hard way

Jim Jaques (in black), sensei of the Notre Dame Martial Arts Institute, makes sure one of his pupils will never forget how to execute this move.

Racist on trial in Evers murder

By MITCHELL LANDSBERG
Associated Press

JACKSON, Miss.

In the same soaring courtroom where he was twice tried 30 years ago, unrepentant racist Byron De La Beckwith went on trial Thursday for the third time in the assassination of civil rights leader Medgar Evers.

Evers was gunned down with a bullet "aimed by prejudice, propelled by hatred and fired by a coward, a back-shooting coward," Assistant District Attorney Bobby DeLaughter told the jury in his opening statement.

His first witness, Evers' widow, Myrlie, swept away the years with an emotional and bitter accounting of the night her husband was shot in the driveway of their Jackson home while she and their three children were inside. They had been up late on June 12, 1963, watching President Kennedy deliver a groundbreaking speech on civil rights.

"We heard the car pull in the driveway and this horrible blast, and the children fell to the floor as he had taught them to do," she recalled, her usually commanding voice beginning to quaver. "The baby was on the bed with me, and I just bolted up off the bed and ran to the front door, and there was Medgar on the ground, reaching to ward the door with his keys in his hand.

"I screamed, I guess uncontrollably, and the children ran out and they cried out, Daddy! Daddy! Please get up, Daddy!"

CONTESTANTS:

John Mele
Pete O'Rourke
Mike Johnson
Bill Kempf
Mike Schmiedeler
Frank Timons

HOSTED BY:

Paul Noonan
Bill Dailey

January 29, 1994

Stepan Center

8:00 P.M.

All proceeds to benefit Logan Center

Tickets are on Sale for $3.00 at the LaFortune Info Desk and through Stanford Hall
Buyback continued from page 1

While there is no timetable set for the buyback, the next few weeks will be devoted to contacting school leaders and beginning to identify students who would like to become part of the effort.

Although enthusiastic about having fewer firearms on the streets, Ronald Marciniak, the South Bend chief of police, expressed concern that private funding would be needed to make the plan a reality.

“We will look to cooperate and assist with the logistics of a gun buyback, but we would need someone else to fund the program,” he said.

Although everything is in the early stages of planning, finding funding may not be as difficult as expected, according to David Sutter, pastor of the Kern Road Mennonite Church.

So far, Sutter and the Kern Road Mennonite Church have raised several thousand dollars of seed money for the project.

“There’s a belief that something needs to happen here (in South Bend),” Sutter said. “Violence is an issue that has touched a lot of people, and you begin to make connections with people who are interested in contributing.”

“We’ve had no problem getting money,” Beck said of the Elkhart program. “We’ve even received donations from emergency room doctors and funeral home directors. Those are people who know what life on the other side of a gun is like.”

Although the program is a start at curtailing guns and violence, Beck said that the crime problem will not end because of the buyback effort.

“It’s ironic that more guns were probably bought at Elkhart gun shops over Christmas than were collected by the buyback program so far,” he said.

The South Bend group has the same expectation, Nisley said.

“We’re not thinking that a bunch of thugs will come in and hand in their guns—we’re not that naive. We hope that guns will be handed in by families and youths that would be used by children who were playing around.”

The buybacks are successful, according to Beck, because they remove guns from home where they could be accidentally fired by children, or used by adults in arguments or other crimes “in the heat of passion.”

“In the past when a bunch of guys sitting around playing poker and drinking beer had an argument, the might have traded a few punches,” Nisley said. “Now, you may have a dead guy instead of a guy with a black eye.”

In the past, the Kern Road Church has sponsored a program which encouraged children to trade in their toy guns for teddy bears. Taking things to the next level would be the logical step, according to Nisley.

“In many ways the program is symbolic,” he said. “But having 500 guns off the street won’t be doing anyone harm.”

Control continued from page 1

State-of-the-Union address on Wednesday, Marciniak wonders if the measures Clinton proposes are the real answer to America’s problems.

“We are not the solution to the problem, and guns are not the problem,” Marciniak said.

“Until we do something about our society, more police and tighter gun control measures are just a band-aid. We are just holding the line—just like the boy with his finger in the dike.”

Last year in the city of South Bend, 25 out of 19 homicides involved firearms, Marciniak said. Also, around two-thirds of the 577 aggravated assaults committed in South Bend included guns.

“You can’t minimize it (the problems with violence,)” Marciniak said. “Yes, it’s serious, but no I do not feel like it is out of control.”

In the past, the public was concerned with foreign affairs, Saiz said, but recently, since the end of the Cold War, there has been a growing concern for domestic affairs, and especially crime.

“A lot of it has to do with a shift in public policy concerns in the American public,” Saiz said. “The momentum they (gun control advocates) have will probably help them get more gun control legislation.”

By combining Clinton’s ideas for more police, the “three-time loser” plan with better social and education programs, the crime and violence might be curbed. “We would need to package any further gun control measures,” Saiz suggested.

The Observer • NEWS

Friday, January 28, 1994

English

Spanish Mass

domingo, 30 de Enero de 1994
11:30 a.m.
BADIN HALL CHAPEL
Celebrate
Pedro Dan Greedy, t.s.c.

Todos Estan Invitados
All Are Welcome

MISA EN ESPAÑOL
Spanish Mass

London $395*
Paris $389*
Madrid $389*
Chicago $515*
Milan $585*

NOTRE DAME COMMUNICATION & THEATER CINEMA AT THE SNITE FRIDAY & SATURDAY 7:30 AND 9:30

FRIDAY NIGHT

FESTIVAL CLUB

SUNDAY FRIDAY & SATURDAY

UCARNSJUMINUMURYJ MORD:

BUGHHAUS

EVERYTHING SATURDAY

312-951-0585
Call For A Free Student Travels magazine
Deputy leaves Reno over style

By MICHAEL SNIFFEN
Associated Press

WASHINGTON
Deputy Attorney General Philip Heymann, a veteran of four administrations who served as right-hand man to Janet Reno, resigned unexpectedly Thursday — a move they both attributed to differences in management style and chemistry.

And a special assistant to Reno, Lula Rodriguez, who is under Justice Department investigation over alleged vote fraud in a Miami-area election, also resigned, spreading turmoil to the top of a third key Cabinet department.

The sudden moves at Justice followed recent high-level changes at the Defense Department, where the secretary resigned and his proposed replacement withdrew recently, and the State Department, where the No. 2 man left last year.

There has been speculation that Reno herself has fallen from favor in the White House, which President Clinton denied as recently as last week. A special counsel has been named to investigate financial dealings in Arkansas including some by the department's No. 3 official, Webster Hubbell, when he was a law partner to Hillary Rodham Clinton.

Reno, a former state prosecutor, is the first attorney general in recent memory to operate without a chief of staff. Instead, she has leaned on Heymann, who served at Justice in the Johnson administration, worked for the Watergate special prosecutor during the Nixon administration and ran Justice's criminal division during the Carter administration.

Most of the hottest potatoes and Reno's priority programs were sent to Heymann's office for handling, including a review of mandatory minimum criminal sentences, a report on the FBI's bloody siege of the Branch Davidians complex in Waco, Texas, and the department's investigation of Rodriguez, which was later transferred to the internal watchdog unit.

Heymann's departure brought an instant Republican attack on Reno. Sen. Alfonse D'Amato, R-N.Y., told reporters, "The Justice Department ... is being run by someone who could qualify for the original amateur hour and who has been less than what this nation should be demanding as an attorney general."

At the White House, spokeswoman Dee Dee Myers denied the administration was embarrassed by the resignation. "Certainly not," she said. "Phil Heymann served well for a year. I think he made clear what his reasons were for leaving," she said.

Reno disputed any notion of disarray. "I think the American people understand this move goes through the process of building a team in which people are compatible, in which their styles are the same," she said.

Reno and Heymann said side-by-side to announce his departure at her regularly weekly news conference.
Sea Aqua Motel
633 feet of Gulffront
Super Saver Rates from $11.50 to $19.75
based on Quad of Standard occupancy.
Party Time
P.C. Beach
1-800-226-2782

HOOTERS
Welcomes All SPRING BREAKERS
Have a Safe & Fun Spring Break

Buy 10 Wings & Get $2 OFF T-Shirt!
Only Good At Panama City Beach Location
Limit One (1) Per Person
Expires 6/94

Sandman Motel
1-2 Bedrooms
Kitchen - Pool - Beach
Across from the Beach
SPECIAL
As Low As
$10.93 per person
904-234-8036

HOOTERS®
PANAMA CITY BEACH, FLORIDA

PANAMA CITY BEACH, FLORIDA

SUMMIT CONDOMINIUMS
Next Door to Club Lavela & Spinnaker Beach Club
1-Bdrm. - $725.00 weekly
2-Bdrm. - $850.00 weekly
Weekly rates for 1-4 adults.
Plus all State and Local Taxes.
After 4 adults $10.00 per person per night extra.
Deposit required on all rooms.
Must be 21 years of age to book room.
Must present coupon at check-in.
$1-800-824-5048

ALOHA VILLAGE
$59.1-2 persons
1-800-468-8552
Advanced Reservations Required.
Must present coupon at check-in.
Valid Until May 1, 1994

ABSOLUTE
Republic of Mescalito’s
RED HOT SPRING BREAK
FREE REFRESHMENTS DAILY
LIVE ENTERTAINMENT
$1.00 OFF ADMISSION WITH THIS AD
Mescalito
233-8000
SHOPPES AT EDGECWAY
PANAMA CITY BEACH
Associated Press

N. Ireland terrorists strike again

By SHAWN POGATCHIK
Associated Press

BELFAST

IRA firebombs set off blazes in three stores on London's main shopping street Thursday and two people were killed in Northern Ireland in the first terrorist deaths of the year.

No one was hurt in the pre-dawn firebombings on Oxford Street, which caused hundreds of thousands of dollars in damage, said police.

There were no claims of responsibility but a Scotland Yard spokeswoman said they were "clearly attributable" to the IRA, the outlawed paramilitary group fighting to end British rule in Northern Ireland.

The violence comes as the British and Irish governments await a response to their offer to include the IRA's allies, Sinn Fein, in peace negotiations if the IRA stops killing.

Sinn Fein and the IRA have yet to accept or reject the talks-for-peace offer, protesting that the Anglo-Irish declaration needs "clarification." The firebombings were the first attacks in Britain since the initiative was announced in December, although IRA violence has continued in the province.

The fires damaged a Mothercare mother and baby goods store, the department store C and A and the Silverdale Travel Goods store, police said.

Police closed Oxford Street for about two hours and evacuated six people as officers searched the area. The area was re-opened before the morning rush hour.

In Northern Ireland, terrorists have killed seven times, killing two people and wounding two others.

Masked gunmen snedged-hammered the front door of a south Belfast home and shot John Desmond Dooherty, a 51-year-old Roman Catholic, through the head as he lay in bed, police said.

The outlawed Ulster Defense Association, based in Northern Ireland's Protestant majority community, claimed responsibility.

In recent years the "loyalists" have killed more people than the IRA.

A woman also in the house was not hurt, police said.

Later, unidentified gunmen forced their way into a house in Ballymena, 35 miles northwest of Belfast, and fatally shot an electrician as he watched television. A woman, apparently his wife, was shot in the neck.

Both were believed to be Catholics.

The woman was admitted to a hospital, where her condition was stable. Her daughter was treated for shock.

No one immediately claimed responsibility.

N. Ireland terrorists strike again

By KATHY WILHELM
Associated Press

BEIJING

The two godfathers of China's democracy movement may have reached their point with a certain audience: they know that Western pressure advances human rights in China — it got them out of prison.

Wei Jinghong and Xu Wenli, who headed the list of prominent Chinese political prisoners for more than a decade, said the Exhibits A and B in this year's debate in Washington over to deal with China.

Using trade to win human rights concessions out of China "may not be the best method, but it's what the United States chooses," Wei said. "If you re ­ treat, you lose."

They're articulate and savvy exhibits, especially Wei, who arrived for a joint interview at Xu's home with his own translator.

The soft-spoken Xu put a tape recorder on the table and turned it on. Nothing personal, but miniaturists could get him in trouble with the police, he said.

Any suspicion that the media was actually the last dozen years in politics, instead of exhibits, when they laugh: "There's a barely a full set of teeth between them, "Xu, 50, and Wei, 43, were leading advocates of democrat­ ic reform in 1979-80, when they cranked out home-mimeographed jour­ nals of political essays. Wei was arrested in 1979. Xu in 1981; both were sentenced to 15 years.

Xu was released last May, as Washington debated whether to cancel China's most-favored nation trade status as punishment for suppose dissident. Loss of normal trade status would sharply raise tariffs on Chinese exports to the United States, effectively shutting them out of the largest market.

Wei was freed in September, 10 days before the International Olympic Committee voted on Beijing's bid to hold the 2000 Olympic Games.

China lost the Olympic bid, but kept its MFN status for another year. Now, as the U.S. government again debates what to do about MFN, Xu and Wei said they were Washington strategy, tough.

The pressure on the U.S. gov­ernment to play down human rights issues is rising as China is wooing American companies with the prospect of rich con­ tracts if MFN stays in place. Some China scholars in the United States say the annual MFN battle is too bruiting and that quiet diplomacy is more ef­fective.

A growing chorus — including U.S. Ambassador-in-­residence Roy — says China has already made big human rights im­provements.

Wei, who isn't free to travel or find work, responded ang­rily.

"We're certainly not true that now is the best time in Chinese history. Many Chinese are dis­gusted with what your ambas­sador said."

Xu said he was alarmed by U.S. Treasury Secretary Lloyd Bentsen's hints that the United States might make China's status permanent, eliminating the annual pressure for human rights improvements, if China makes significant concessions.

"That would be very bad," Xu said. "For two or three people, tomorrow they can arrest four or five more.

"Very convenient!" Wei cut in. "The United States should provide China's human rights improvements a long-­term thing, and then great lift sanctions."

Although they have respect for the influence in the U.S. of a dispersed dissident community, Wei and Xu do not speak for all dissidents.

Most dissidents and intelec­tuals in Beijing say they oppose canceling China's MFN status because they fear the loss of the U.S. export market would cost tens of thousands of facto­ry workers their jobs.

A veteran dissident in Shanghai, Yang Zhou, said he and other dissidents agree that the United States should use MFN to pressure China, but not actually cancel it.

We want foreign countries to con­cern themselves with China's human rights situation, but also to give China an oppor­tunity to develop economica­lly, "Yang said in a telephone interview.

Xu and Wei said the United States should be willing to lift MFN if China fails to make con­cessions: providing information about jailed dissidents, allowing Red Cross visits to them, halting exports of prison-made goods and relaxing repression in Tibet.

They are confident China will not call Washington's bluff be­cause trade is so important to its economy.

"The way the Chinese government is behaving, shouting at the top of its voice — this only shows they are very afraid of losing MFN," Wei said.

"When you are gambling, you watch your opponent's ex­pressions," he added. "The United States should pay atten­tion to his opponent's expres­sion."

ATTENTION

JUNIOR AND SENIOR MARKETING MAJORS

Marketing Club Meeting

Monday, January 31
at 6:30 pm
Room 122 Hayes-Healy

ATTENTION

CLASS OF '94

SENIOR FORMAL

is coming March 19th so mark your calendars and keep posted for further information

(P.S. There will be no raffle at Senior Bar this Friday)

"Look for our Coupons every Friday in the Observer!"

The BEST Of Both Worlds!

DISCOVER JAVA COAST™ FINE COFFEES and I CAN'T BELIEVE IT'S YOUR® DELICIOUS FROZEN YOGURT FOR THE BEST OF BOTH WORLDS!

MON.-SAT. 8AM-10PM
SUN. 11AM-10PM

FINE COFFEES
Buy 1, Get 1 FREE!!
Cappuccino
Buy 1 Reg. size cappuccino and get 1 Reg. size cappuccino FREE!!

FINE COFFEES
Buy 1 Reg. or Large cup and get 1 Reg. or Large cup FREE!!
Japanese parliament abandons compromise efforts

By DAVID THURBER
Associated Press

TOKYO

Negotiators from the two houses of Parliament abandoned efforts to compromise on anti-corruption reforms, throwing Japanese politics into deep turmoil Thursday night.

Prime Minister Morihiro Hosokawa, who has staked his administration on passage of the reforms, said earlier in the day that he is ready to quit if the reforms fail. "If I cannot deliver on my promise of political reform, I will not insist on the post of prime minister," he said.

Hosokawa said failure to enact reforms would doom five years of effort and would make "the loss of confidence in Japan's party politics complete, and Japan would lose the trust of the international community." If Hosokawa resigned, he would become the third prime minister in five years to do so over failure to reform a scandal-ridden political system that has voters growing increasingly angry.

The deadlock over reforms also has prevented Hosokawa's government from putting together a stimulus package for Japan's stagnant economy and distracted it from trade talks with the United States that face a Feb. 11 deadline.

Pessimism in the business community led to more selling on the Tokyo Stock Exchange, where the Nikkei Stock Average fell 1.3 percent Thursday. With the Parliament session ending Saturday, the committee of 10 lawmakers from each house was unable to narrow differences over how legislators should be elected and whether they should receive corporate donations, chairman Fusajiro Ikikawa said.

In a last-ditch effort, Hosokawa urged Yohei Kono, head of the opposition Liberal Democratic Party, which opposes the package, to meet with him in an attempt to break the deadlock.

"It is in the 50-odd hours we have left that we must show the world that Japan has become a mature democracy whose people are able to make wise decisions," Hosokawa said at a news conference. But early Friday Kono declined to hold a meeting, the Japan Broadcasting Corp. reported.

The reform bills were passed by Parliament's lower house in November but voted down by the upper house last Friday in a serious blow to Hosokawa's government.

Hosokawa's only other chance is to have the lower house override the upper house by a two-thirds vote re-approving the package. Chances of that are seen as slim.

When Hosokawa's coalition won elections in August, knocking the scandal-plagued Liberal Democrats from power for the first time in 38 years, he vowed to reform Japan's political system.

The dispute threatens to splinter both the Liberal Democratic and Socialist parties because of differences of views on reform within each party.

Defections among the Socialists, the largest group in Hosokawa's seven-party coalition, helped defeat the package in the upper house.

In Thursday's negotiations, the coalition reportedly offered to raise the number of single-seat districts in the package from 274 to 280. The remainder of the proposed 500 seats would be apportioned according to the percentage of the vote received by each party.

---

By DAVID THURBER
Associated Press

TOKYO

Prime Minister Morihiro Hosokawa, who has staked his administration on passage of the anti-corruption reforms, said earlier in the day that he is ready to quit if the reforms fail. "If I cannot deliver on my promise of political reform, I will not insist on the post of prime minister," he said.

Hosokawa said that the deadlock over reforms has prevented Hosokawa's government from putting together a stimulus package for Japan's stagnant economy and distracted it from trade talks with the United States that face a Feb. 11 deadline.

Pessimism in the business community led to more selling on the Tokyo Stock Exchange, where the Nikkei Stock Average fell 1.3 percent Thursday. With the Parliament session ending Saturday, the committee of 10 lawmakers from each house was unable to narrow differences over how legislators should be elected and whether they should receive corporate donations, chairman Fusajiro Ikikawa said.

In a last-ditch effort, Hosokawa urged Yohei Kono, head of the opposition Liberal Democratic Party, which opposes the package, to meet with him in an attempt to break the deadlock.

"It is in the 50-odd hours we have left that we must show the world that Japan has become a mature democracy whose people are able to make wise decisions," Hosokawa said at a news conference. But early Friday Kono declined to hold a meeting, the Japan Broadcasting Corp. reported.

The reform bills were passed by Parliament's lower house in November but voted down by the upper house last Friday in a serious blow to Hosokawa's government.

Hosokawa's only other chance is to have the lower house override the upper house by a two-thirds vote re-approving the package. Chances of that are seen as slim.

When Hosokawa's coalition won elections in August, knocking the scandal-plagued Liberal Democrats from power for the first time in 38 years, he vowed to reform Japan's political system.
Yeltsin gives way to the Chernomyrdin era

By ALAN COOPERMAN
Associated Press

Friday, January 28, 1994 The Observer

By ALAN COOPERMAN

Viktor Chernomyrdin, the gruff
[52x744]Y ushenkov, a m em b er of the [52x905]he, w hat are his intentions, and [52x1025]Soviet-era m anagers who share
[344x451]he flunked m ath in a technical [344x471]m ade such a mess of the Soviet [344x520]m arket reform s while softening
[344x530]m arket reform s while softening
[344x411]th e re fo rm ist daily Segodnya
[344x431]literate about economics.”
[344x461]econom y. Some rep o rts claim [344x481]klatura,” the coddled elite that [344x351]the end of free-m arket reforms,
[344x361]T hursday the presid en t would
[344x381]F in a n c e  M in iste r B o ris
[344x361]cam e th is w eek from  fo rm er [344x391]cam p, w hich now ap p e a rs to [344x381]A n a ly s t s in  R u ssia  a n d
[344x367]7
[344x354]Mandarin & Hunan Cuisine
[344x355]Chinese - American
[344x344]Palestinians'  lives.
[344x294]D r. O m ar F e rw a n a , 38, a [344x235]Prom inent in the pragm atist

Invitation:
Come and talk with young men from Cabrini Green

and

Ham as prepares for autonomy

GAZA CITY
Muslim fundamentalist group Hamas, a leading opponent to the interim Palestinian self-rule, said it may want to share the fruits of the concessions being made by Israel to the Palestinians as long as they begin running their own territory.

"If a political shift could ease the threat of civil war for PLO chief Yasir Arafat, Hamas will no longer establish Palestinian self-rule in the Gaza Strip and the West Bank region of Jericho."

Prominent in the pragmatist camp, which now appears to hold sway in Hamas, are former deputies who recently returned from a year of exile in Lebanon.

"If we have a chance to see Israeli soldiers leave, that is a win. If we see a better economy, a better education, that is a win," said Ferwana, speaking in his clinic.

Some of Ferwana's pragmatism was born in Mar al-Za­hour, the southern Lebanon tent camp where he and more than 400 other Palestinian refugees had been stranded after being deported by Israel in December 1992.

"In Mar al-Zahour ... we decided that Palestinian unity is a priority, and that there shouldn't be any fighting," said Ferwana.

Ferwana's views are a far cry from Hamas' hard-line de­m onstra­tion of the Israeli-PLO talks as a sellout and reflect a growing pragmatism as autonomy is ap­proaching.

Hamas intellectuals remain adamant that they will not rec­ognize a Jewish state. But they can accept a Palestinian state alongside Israel as a compromise until all of Palestine is re­claimed.

The political avenue for Hamas in elections It claims the support of about one-third of Gaza's 780,000 residents and believes it could gain control of many city halls as well as a share of the seats on a self-governing council that runs Gaza and Jericho.

If elections were held today, Hamas would be the second-largest faction in Gaza, winning 17.3 percent of the vote, com­pared with 36.1 percent for Arafat's main Fatah group, according to a survey conducted this week by the Cen­ter for Palestine Research and Studies in the West Bank city of Nablus. The survey of 78 Palestinian voters in the Gaza Strip did not give a margin of error.

Sheik Ahmed Yassin, the spiritual leader of Hamas who has been in hiding in Lebanon since May 1989, has sent out messages through visitors that he supports a peace-sharing arrangement with the PLO and elections.

"There is a growing realism in Hamas," said Maimoon Al­aker, a Palestinian peace nego­tiator and Fatah member.

Some PLO leaders say Hamas has no choice but to partici­pate.
Orders to factories on the rise

By JAMES RUBIN
Associated Press

WASHINGTON

In the latest sign of a strengthening economy, factory orders for durable goods rose for a fifth straight month in December. The increase helped to lift the key barometer of manufacturing since 1988, despite the lowest level of defense spending in a decade.

Economists said the surge reported Thursday was led by business investment in computers and other equipment — pointed to expansion this year despite a likely slowdown in consumer spending in the first half of 1994.

"Despite slow growth in the economy as a whole, equipment investment has continued to show remarkable buoyancy," said George Richards, economist for the National Association of Manufacturers.

"The capital goods boom continues," Commerce Secretary Ron Brown.

Brown, a former Sohio, an economist with Norwest Corp. in Minneapolis, intorted a note of caution.

"The important question is how long can this spending spree continue in view of the low savings rate," he said. "Will businesses find they're stuck with unwanted inventory?"

Durable goods orders are a key barometer of manufacturing industry plans. Increased orders often lead to more production and jobs.

In other economic news, the government said the number of Americans applying for initial unemployment benefits declined by 56,000 last week, due in part to the effects of frigid weather, a federal holiday and the California earthquake.

"The driving force is that we think the interest of investors should always come first and that markets should be designed to make sure that customers get the best price for their securities and the design of the markets should work to their advantage, not to their disadvantage," said Branden Becker, head of the SEC's Division of Market Regulation, which conducted the study.

Within that context, Becker told investors at a briefing, competition is a very valuable tool "so long as it's fair competition to investors and provide investors with a range of choices."

To meet their doubled-edged goal of protecting investors and making the markets more efficient — and thus more competitive — the Market 2000 study recommended:

• Making more trading data available to the public including a shift from using fractions to decimals in stock quotations; and
• Making it easier for New York Stock Exchange member firms to trade NYSE-listed stocks after regular trading hours.

Simplifying procedures for companies to remove their stock from listing on the NYSE.

• Requiring better record-keeping and disclosure by the non-traditional trading systems, known as off-exchange or automated trading systems, without imposing the same regulations that monitor traditional brokers.

Overall, however, "the study makes clear that our markets are not in crisis today," the four SEC commissioners noted in their introduction to the 500-page report.

Dear Tom Schmidt, An exact copy of what it is we are seeing today...
Dear Editor:

In light of the recent Student Body Elections on Saint Mary's campus, we would like to congratulate those with back to the new officers in the upcoming school year. As students of Saint Mary's, we would like to express our views on the issues and concerns that we believe need to be addressed. We hope that you research these programs and if possible implesch o o l y e a r. As s tu d e n t s of services provided to stu d en ts needs to work on making Saint the upcoming school year.

In light of the recent Student Body Elections on Saint Mary's campus, we would like to congratulate those with
new officers in the upcom­ing school, we would like to contin g Saint Mary's to larger in c r e a s e  e n ro llm e n t. S a in t Mary's needs to be involved in worry, permanent volleyball programs and alumnae donations will help decrease the cost of the project.

While social interaction is important to the Saint Mary's community, there are deeper concerns in issues that are commonly overlooked. Group therapy programs such as those for sexual offense and rape victims, alcoholics anonymous, and drug abuse need to be creat ed and given recognition for their efforts.

We recognize that many of these programs are in existence, however they are unknown to many in the community. We suggest that signs should be posted in each hall,
and in areas of public use listing the names and phone numbers of the organizations.

Finally, the school denied invitations from the Dallas
Alumni Club and sufficient funds created by our own fundraising.

The Pom Pon Squad has done nothing to embarrass the school, yet has been continually undermined by the administration. Frustrated with the inconsistent explanations offered by the Notre Dame administration, I find myself pondering this question: Would the Pom Pon Squad be treated this poorly if we were not all an female organization?

NATALIE BROH
Senior
LeMann Hall

DOONESBURY

Dear Editor:

Chauvinism a possible cause in
Pom Pon Squad denial?

The Pom Pon Squad has not been turned down too often to Chauvinism a possible cause in
Pom Pon Squad denial?

The Pom Pon Squad has been nothing to embarrass the school, yet has been continually undermined by the administration. Frustrated with the inconsistent explanations offered by the Notre Dame administration, I find myself pondering this question: Would the Pom Pon Squad be treated this poorly if we were not all a female organization?

NATALIE BROH
Senior
LeMann Hall

DOONESBURY
friday

events

"Dazed and Confused," Snite Auditorium, 7:30 and 9:30 p.m., $2.

"The Good Son," Cushing Auditorium, 8 and 10:30 p.m., $2.

The Odd Couple, by Neil Simon, Cavanaugh Hall

The Killing Floor, Midway Tavern, 9:30 p.m.

music

Bughaus, Alumni-Senior Club, 10 p.m.

Chideco Zydeco, The Madison Oyster Bar, 10 p.m.

The Killing Floor, Midway Tavern, 9:30 p.m.

saturday

events

"Dazed and Confused," Snite Auditorium, 7:30 and 9:30 p.m., $2.

"The Good Son," Cushing Auditorium, 8 and 10:30 p.m., $2.

The Odd Couple, by Neil Simon, Cavanaugh Hall

Players, Washington Hall, 8-10 p.m., free admission.

Keenan Revue, O'Laughlin Auditorium at Saint Mary's, 7 p.m.

DJO-GBE, a participation dance performance, 7 p.m., LaFortune Ballroom, ID required for admission.

music

Red Beans and Rice, blues band, Madison Oyster Bar,

The Killing Floor, Mishawaka Midway Tavern, 10 p.m.

Sunday

events

Misa en Espanol, Badin Hall Chapel, 11:30 a.m., Padre Dan Groody. All are welcome.

movies

University Park East

Intersection 7:35, 9:55

Philadelphia 7, 9:35

Grumpy Old Men 7:30, 9:40

Shortcuts 7:45

Shadowlands 7:15, 9:30

The Piano 7:20, 9:40

University Park West

Iron Will 7:10 and 9:30

Blink 7:20, 9:50

Tombstone 7, 9:40

By KENYA JOHNSON

Accent Editor

Check out the four fashion figures below; which woman would hire? After extensive research by the Accent Staff, certain looks and fashions have made it to the top ten list of acceptable and reputable career looks.

The new year of 1994 brings with it a whole new line of dress for the working woman. Through a variety of magazines, tip-brochures and books we’ve deciphered which we thought would get the job.

Each outfit had their pros and their cons, and

When a women looks uncomfortable, her professionalism is totally gone.

Steven Fleming

there’s no right answer. You make the call. Number 3 won our votes. It’s says professional and feminine flair all at the same time.

Number 2 is definitely more conservative fields, perhaps finance and law. The coolness gets kudos for it’s dark color, but the suit style is still preferred. The good news is that there’s a new look in suits. There are no longer stuffy and uptight. Women are able to loosen up a bit, look fashionable and still maintain the professional look that is needed. Many times women can perk up the average suit with a colorfully printed scarf or noticeable, yet not gaudy, costume jewelry.

Less conservative fields may be split between number 4 and number 1. Both are more casual looks - perhaps great ensembles for middle of high school teachers, or those women working with design concepts, such as architecture. Many of these fields are hands-on work and the workers need to be comfortable as well as look professional.

Color has become a large concern of many executives lately.

"Pale colors and pastels are not the trend anymore. They tend to say timid or less-self-assured," said Marie Johnson, executive director of W&W Associates, a law firm in Los Angeles. "When a woman looks uncomfortable, her professionalism is totally gone."

But that mean pastels are out completely? Not necessarily. Many times a one pale item, such as a jacket or a skirt, might be better than both pale together.

The most important tip is to wear it because it looks good.

"Too many times women are more concerned about maintaining an up-to-date look rather than wearing what looks nice on them," said Steven Fleming, co-president of Gutman, Royer and Associates, a law firm in Los Angeles. "When a women looks uncomfortable, her professionalism is totally gone."

Clothes that are too tight, heels that are too high or jewelry that is too flashy are sure-fired ways to turn off an employer, or even worse, a potential employer.

The Likes and the Leathers

Number 1:

Like - The relaxed top (either a cardigan or pull-over will work) and bright skirt (preferably red) wins some votes. The look is more non-conserv-
Girls

The Look

EXECUTIVE SUITES

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Percent of women in top-level corporate positions</th>
<th>1992</th>
<th>1993</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>President/CEO/OOD</td>
<td>11.4%</td>
<td>11.6%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CFO/Controller/Treasurer</td>
<td>6.2%</td>
<td>6.2%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Executive Vice President</td>
<td>4.7%</td>
<td>4.7%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Senior Vice President</td>
<td>23.0%</td>
<td>23.0%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vice President</td>
<td>56.3%</td>
<td>56.3%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MONETARY REWARDS

Age when $100,000 base salary was attained.

| Less than 30 years | 11.6% |
| 31-35 | 33.2% |
| 36-40 | 28.6% |
| 41-45 | 33.5% |
| 46-50 | 7.1% |
| 51-55 | 11.0% |

BASIC TRAINING

Traits that enhance women's chances for advancement.

| Ability to make decisions | 78.9% |
| Concern for financial results | 69.7% |
| Capacity for hard work | 56.9% |
| Desire for responsibility | 57.7% |
| Integrity | 19.5% |
| Ambition | 22.2% |

OBSTACLE COURSE

Women's greatest professional obstacles.

| Sexism | 72.3% |
| Lack of confidence | 11.6% |
| Convincing others of ability | 8.9% |
| Personal vs. professional trade-offs | 5.3% |
| Limited education | 0.0% |
| Youth or age | 3.6% |
| Lack of managerial training/ experience | 5.0% |

Cavanaugh Hall Players

off comedy as a farewell performance

By BEVIN KOVALIK

Tim Simon's play The Odd Couple will offer comedy at a complimentary price, as the Cavanaugh Hall Players' very last performance before Cavanaugh transforms into a women's dorm.

One of Simon's greatest plays, The Odd Couple debuted last night at Washington Hall, and will show Friday and Saturday at 8:10 p.m.

The play centers around the lives of two middle aged, divorced men who become roommates in the craziness of New York City apartment.

The Odd Couple becomes the two men as they both try to put their lives back together and battle the surprises of life fighting and laughing along the way, until soon developing a wonderful friendship.

"This is a comical play that people at Notre Dame can relate to because everyone has roommate problems at one time or another," said junior co-director Jen Andre.

Starring in this hilarious and heartwarming performance, Cavanaugh Hall juniors Stephen Susco and Mark Poisella play the roles of Oscar Madison and Felix Ungar as the two jesting and amusing roommates who discover what kind of people they really are.

"I like this particular play because of the way it balances disaster and perfection at any given moment," added Poisella, who plays Felix.

The audience can surely expect to be entertained.

According to sophomore Cort Peters, a member of the rowdy poker playing posse, one especially funny scene involves a potentially serious disaster when Felix attempts to kill himself and the six infamous poker players chase him around, hoping to stop him.

After a few minutes the chase leads up to an incredibly crashing finish in an unexpected place. Of course if you have not already seen the play's debut last night you will have to venture out this weekend to see what happens.

At times during the performance the audience may even feel like part of the cast as they dodge unidentified flying objects soaring from the stage.

"If you sit in the first two rows in the audience it will be an experience similar to the show at Sea World," warns Susco who plays Oscar.

The cast has been rehearsing since October and the two directors Andre and Tony Leonardo have high hopes for the outcome of their hard work.

"We have an excellent cast, and anyone who comes to see our performance will have a great time," Andre said.

Executive Woman,

Executive Woman, according to a recent survey of companies. Executive women's salaries have increased two-thirds of what their male counterparts earn, earning 72 cents for every dollar men earn.

It says "I work...and I do it casually." nut - The cardigan is too casual for mid-level positions, even if they are in less conservative fields. It says "I work...and I do it casually." nut - The cardigan is too casual for mid-level positions, even if they are in less conservative fields. It says "I work...and I do it casually." nut - The cardigan is too casual for mid-level positions, even if they are in less conservative fields. It says "I work...and I do it casually." nut - The cardigan is too casual for mid-level positions, even if they are in less conservative fields. It says "I work...and I do it casually." nut - The cardigan is too casual for mid-level positions, even if they are in less conservative fields. It says "I work...and I do it casually." nut - The cardigan is too casual for mid-level positions, even if they are in less conservative fields. It says "I work...and I do it casually." nut - The cardigan is too casual for mid-level positions, even if they are in less conservative fields.
ND is a ‘moveable feast’ according to Hemingway

When Father O'Hara—later to become Cardinal O'Hara, whose dust is now boxed in gargoyle-topped marble in a side chapel of the Basilica—was president of Notre Dame, he would go on walkabouts of the Library, taking books whose authors he considered beneath the shelf. Ernest Hemingway impressed O'Hara as a bum: reading his novels shouldn't be a part of a Notre Dame education.

Before writing this piece, I prayed for the eternal rest of O'Hara’s soul. I do not wish to vex the late Cardinal’s ghost when I encourage students to put Hemingway, a Farewell to Arms on the summer reading list. It’s book worth reading and re-reading. And it’s a book parents should share with their kids.

Lieutenant Frederic Henry does not think that the universe is a user-happy place. Doubtlessly a rattling of dry bones can now be heard on the Cardinal’s side of church, as those venerable remains of him try to turn over in their mau­soleum. How can the senior priest in campus ministry con­ciliate a novel of illicit love, in which a hero of the Great War, Lieutenant Frederic Henry, is a nurse, Catherine Barkley, whom he loves, live together, and have a baby without bene­fit of clergy.

Ah, but the love story be­comes especially tender at this point, since Catherine dies after having the child. A Farewell to Arms is full of what Virgil called a sparsely distributed mortality that touches the heart. It’s the indifference of the universe, as Hemingway communicates it that the read­er should stay aware of.

I woke up this morning with the realization that I’d been dream­ing of a novel about the school of hard knocks that nobody gets out of alive. I had to smoke an entire cigarette before I realized I’d been dream­ing of A Farewell to Arms. As a member of Campus Ministry, I tend to take the Cather in the Rye, saving chil­dren from falling over the edge of the cliff, as my operating metaphor.

If I were the Captain, O my Captain, of the Dead Poets’ Society, I’d advise the members to tell Henry David Thoreau—called the tears of things and dreaming of A with the world and the very brave impar­tially. If you are none of these you can be sure that it will kill you too, but there will be no special hurry.

This code of Hemingway’s should be useful as a warning in the new dark ages. What we call that which doesn’t come with a price tag, but doing nothing can have a price tag too. It doesn’t take any longer to die for love than it does to die from boredom. Maybe when you’re dying for love, you’re not in so much of a hurry to get it over.

Sooner or later, the world breaks everyone. The Irons on which Jesus died is proof of that. But the Cross is about love that is stronger than Death, for the Hemingway code doesn’t tell all of the story. You need the Creed, if you want to hear the rest of the story. Hemingway made heroes of bullfighters who show courage and grace under pressure, by which he meant "guts." He made a hero of Christ, showing under pressure on Good Friday. Santiago, the old man of the sea, as a hero of grace under pressure, is Hemingway’s Christ, as Hemingway shows by an explicit use of Christian im­agery in describing Santiago. We would have known who he was, even if he hadn’t been tarted up with religious symbol­ism.

"I must be worthy of the great DiMaggio who does all things worth even with the pain of the bone spur in his heel." Santiago is beautiful in his love of the great fish who battles Santiago, because it is a marlin’s nature to struggle with the fishman who has hooked him. Santiago loves the boy who sometimes goes in the boat with him. He teaches the boys courage, and the arts of the fisherman, and the love he needs to survive on in a hostile universe.

Hemingway could write truth­fully and beautifully, but plainly he wasn’t the Cardinal’s cup of tea. Neither, I suppose, was the Jesuit poet Hopkins, who can be tough reading. He’s the opposite of Hemingway, because Hopkins celebrates the sacramentality of the universe, which means that the very humble things can be of service in revealing God.

In a century where the abstract­glory words have become ob­scene, we can almost count the candles going out all over the place, leaving us with a distrust of sacramentality. Often, in places where we expected to find grace, we have found nada, which cancels grace.

Christ, giving as grace under pressure, in His turn cancels the nada. The spiritual warfare surrounding the liturgy and Hemingway can be a consola­tion to read. He wrote: "If you are lucky enough to have lived in Paris as a young man, then wherever you go for the rest of your life, it stays with you, for Paris is a moveable feast." Coming to Notre Dame when you’re young, it stays with you and becomes a moveable feast. John O’hara, CSC, told me ND is a moveable feast before Ernest Hemingway died.
Cowboys trying to deal with injuries

"Injuries? We all live with that all the time."

"When we were playing in the Dome on the second weekend of the season, at the end of the game we were trying to stop them on defense with a bunch of backups and a rookie."

A soft rain fell Thursday, although the elements won't be in the opposite line with the Cowboys in Georgia. But the rain didn't force the Bills to change their defense or the starting line-up at Georgia Tech. They worked for two hours in pads, and the next day they worked three hours for practice.

The Cowboys worked outside at President's Park in Sowasee but Johnson shorten practice by 10 minutes because of the weather. Haley finished the defensive back with a back problem, didn't practice but Johnson said he will play Sunday.

Johnson has kept an even higher profile than usual, especially with his longstanding ties of Dallas misfortune.

"I've never, in all my years of coaching, had as much adversity as what we've had to face this year."

"Maybe because in all his years of coaching, Johnson never won a Super Bowl before last year."

"It doesn't mean that it's an unwritten rule in the NFL that the losers follow a year of revenge. That's what a back-to-back tight ends and special teams players aren't the end of the world."

But the Cowboys, having to wait until overtime of the final regular-season game to clinch the NFC East apparently qualify as adversity.

"I don't think problems started before the season, when Aikman underwent back surgery in a contract dispute and the running back held out."

Backup tight end Alfred Pena returned to the field with a broken foot, along with backup center Clayton Haley, one of the better special teams coordinator.

ATLANTA-Missed Jimmy Johnson from the Buffalo Bills. Getting to the Super Bowl would be a must. If you'd be exposed to the game, Johnson's Cowboys be immune.

"It's funny, but in football, we all live in our own little worlds," Frank Reich, Buffalo's backup quarterback, said Thursday. "We're injected with many of our own problems are the only problems in the world. It's just a national tendency."

Added Walt Carey, the Bills' defensive coordinator.

"Can YOU FIGURE OUT THE PRIZES?

SOPHOMORES!!!

Your friend that works the entrances to your dorm is demanding a case of good beer? Why? It's in a contract dispute and the bigger one is demanding a case of good beer.

SOPHOMORES!!!

Call Eddie "Jonnie" Debartolo 215-607 E. Corby-2 bdrm $750, 1/2 MILE FROM CAMPUS

SOPHOMORES!!!

Call Jonny "donnie" Trump 277-268-504

SOPHOMORES!!!

ATTENTION SENIORS!

"It's my last dying wish."

Call Joanny "donnie" Trump 282-266 and leave message.

SOPHOMORES!!!

SKI RESORT JOBS. Up to $2000+ in salary & benefits. Ski/Snowboard instructors, lift operators, wait staff, fun staff, seasonal workers needed. St. Moritz Ski Resort in Adirondack Mountains near Lake Placid, NY. Call 1-800-864-8385.

SOPHOMORES!!!

FREE MAID SERVICE '94 GET 7 clean beds & 5 clean rooms of house for 100% free. Call 396-2342-10-6 M-Sat 9-3 Sun at North Dining Hall, Lafortune, or CASE. CALL AMY X4966

SOPHOMORES!!!

Band. I lost it on Sat., Jan. 22, either bound to a medal with St. Emmett Smith's holdout to an agreement that the Cowboys are bound to a medal with St. Emmett Smith's holdout.

"Maybe because in all his years of coaching, Johnson never won a Super Bowl before last year."

A soft rain fell Thursday, although the elements won't be in the opposite line with the Cowboys in Georgia. But the rain didn't force the Bills to change their defense or the starting line-up at Georgia Tech. They worked for two hours in pads, and the next day they worked three hours for practice.

The Cowboys worked outside at President's Park in Sowasee but Johnson shortend practice by 10 minutes because of the weather. Haley finished the defensive back with a back problem, didn't practice but Johnson said he will play Sunday.

Johnson has kept an even higher profile than usual, especially with his longstanding ties of Dallas misfortune.

"I've never, in all my years of coaching, had as much adversity as what we've had to face this year."

"Maybe because in all his years of coaching, Johnson never won a Super Bowl before last year."

"It doesn't mean that it's an unwritten rule in the NFL that the losers follow a year of revenge. That's what a back-to-back tight ends and special teams players aren't the end of the world."

But the Cowboys, having to wait until overtime of the final regular-season game to clinch the NFC East apparently qualify as adversity.

"I don't think problems started before the season, when Aikman underwent back surgery in a contract dispute and the running back held out."

Backup tight end Alfred Pena returned to the field with a broken foot, along with backup center Clayton Haley, one of the better special teams coordinator.

ATLANTA-Missed Jimmy Johnson from the Buffalo Bills. Getting to the Super Bowl would be a must. If you'd be exposed to the game, Johnson's Cowboys be immune.

"It's funny, but in football, we all live in our own little worlds," Frank Reich, Buffalo's backup quarterback, said Thursday. "We're injected with many of our own problems are the only problems in the world. It's just a national tendency."

Added Walt Carey, the Bills' defensive coordinator.

"Can YOU FIGURE OUT THE PRIZES?

SOPHOMORES!!!

Your friend that works the entrances to your dorm is demanding a case of good beer? Why? It's in a contract dispute and the bigger one is demanding a case of good beer.

SOPHOMORES!!!

Call Eddie "Jonnie" Debartolo 215-607 E. Corby-2 bdrm $750, 1/2 MILE FROM CAMPUS

SOPHOMORES!!!

Call Jonny "donnie" Trump 282-266 and leave message.

SOPHOMORES!!!

SKI RESORT JOBS. Up to $2000+ in salary & benefits. Ski/Snowboard instructors, lift operators, wait staff, fun staff, seasonal workers needed. St. Moritz Ski Resort in Adirondack Mountains near Lake Placid, NY. Call 1-800-864-8385.

SOPHOMORES!!!

FREE MAID SERVICE '94 GET 7 clean beds & 5 clean rooms of house for 100% free. Call 396-2342-10-6 M-Sat 9-3 Sun at North Dining Hall, Lafortune, or CASE. CALL AMY X4966

SOPHOMORES!!!

Band. I lost it on Sat., Jan. 22, either bound to a medal with St. Emmett Smith's holdout to an agreement that the Cowboys are bound to a medal with St. Emmett Smith's holdout.

"Maybe because in all his years of coaching, Johnson never won a Super Bowl before last year."

A soft rain fell Thursday, although the elements won't be in the opposite line with the Cowboys in Georgia. But the rain didn't force the Bills to change their defense or the starting line-up at Georgia Tech. They worked for two hours in pads, and the next day they worked three hours for practice.

The Cowboys worked outside at President's Park in Sowasee but Johnson shortend practice by 10 minutes because of the weather. Haley finished the defensive back with a back problem, didn't practice but Johnson said he will play Sunday.

Johnson has kept an even higher profile than usual, especially with his longstanding ties of Dallas misfortune.

"I've never, in all my years of coaching, had as much adversity as what we've had to face this year."

"Maybe because in all his years of coaching, Johnson never won a Super Bowl before last year."

"It doesn't mean that it's an unwritten rule in the NFL that the losers follow a year of revenge. That's what a back-to-back tight ends and special teams players aren't the end of the world."

But the Cowboys, having to wait until overtime of the final regular-season game to clinch the NFC East apparently qualify as adversity.

"I don't think problems started before the season, when Aikman underwent back surgery in a contract dispute and the running back held out."

Backup tight end Alfred Pena returned to the field with a broken foot, along with backup center Clayton Haley, one of the better special teams coordinator.

ATLANTA-Missed Jimmy Johnson from the Buffalo Bills. Getting to the Super Bowl would be a must. If you'd be exposed to the game, Johnson's Cowboys be immune.

"It's funny, but in football, we all live in our own little worlds," Frank Reich, Buffalo's backup quarterback, said Thursday. "We're injected with many of our own problems are the only problems in the world. It's just a national tendency."

Added Walt Carey, the Bills' defensive coordinator.

"Can YOU FIGURE OUT THE PRIZES?

SOPHOMORES!!!

Your friend that works the entrances to your dorm is demanding a case of good beer? Why? It's in a contract dispute and the bigger one is demanding a case of good beer.

SOPHOMORES!!!

Call Eddie "Jonnie" Debartolo 215-607 E. Corby-2 bdrm $750, 1/2 MILE FROM CAMPUS

SOPHOMORES!!!

Call Jonny "donnie" Trump 282-266 and leave message.

SOPHOMORES!!!

SKI RESORT JOBS. Up to $2000+ in salary & benefits. Ski/Snowboard instructors, lift operators, wait staff, fun staff, seasonal workers needed. St. Moritz Ski Resort in Adirondack Mountains near Lake Placid, NY. Call 1-800-864-8385.

SOPHOMORES!!!

FREE MAID SERVICE '94 GET 7 clean beds & 5 clean rooms of house for 100% free. Call 396-2342-10-6 M-Sat 9-3 Sun at North Dining Hall, Lafortune, or CASE. CALL AMY X4966

SOPHOMORES!!!

Band. I lost it on Sat., Jan. 22, either bound to a medal with St. Emmett Smith's holdout to an agreement that the Cowboys are bound to a medal with St. Emmett Smith's holdout.

"Maybe because in all his years of coaching, Johnson never won a Super Bowl before last year."

A soft rain fell Thursday, although the elements won't be in the opposite line with the Cowboys in Georgia. But the rain didn't force the Bills to change their defense or the starting line-up at Georgia Tech. They worked for two hours in pads, and the next day they worked three hours for practice.

The Cowboys worked outside at President's Park in Sowasee but Johnson shortend practice by 10 minutes because of the weather. Haley finished the defensive back with a back problem, didn't practice but Johnson said he will play Sunday.

Johnson has kept an even higher profile than usual, especially with his longstanding ties of Dallas misfortune.

"I've never, in all my years of coaching, had as much adversity as what we've had to face this year."

"Maybe because in all his years of coaching, Johnson never won a Super Bowl before last year."

"It doesn't mean that it's an unwritten rule in the NFL that the losers follow a year of revenge. That's what a back-to-back tight ends and special teams players aren't the end of the world."

But the Cowboys, having to wait until overtime of the final regular-season game to clinch the NFC East apparently qualify as adversity.

"I don't think problems started before the season, when Aikman underwent back surgery in a contract dispute and the running back held out."

Backup tight end Alfred Pena returned to the field with a broken foot, along with backup center Clayton Haley, one of the better special teams coordinator.
What if?—Questions surround Harding's confession

By LARRY SIDDONS
Associated Press

If charges are filed against Tonya Harding in the alleged plot to attack figure skating rival Nancy Kerrigan, it would be only one step in determining whether the national champion stays on the U.S. Olympic team.

Administrative actions, arbitration and court appeals all would have to be settled before Harding's place in next month's Winter Games is decided in what could be an unprecedented action.

And officials said Thursday that decision could come at the last moment, before women's skating begins at Lillehammer, Norway, Feb. 23.

"It's still at the point where they (Harding's actions) may or may not be an issue," said Francois Carrard, director general of the International Olympic Committee. "There are still many, many possibilities."

The IOC, the International Skating Union and the Lillehammer Olympic Organizing Committee all said the decision remained in U.S. hands.

The IOC has ultimate authority over who competes at the Games. Carrard said he was uncertain if the IOC had ever refused an athlete's entry.

Harding was chosen for the team after winning the national women's title Jan. 8. Kerrigan also was selected for the team even though she did not compete after being clubbed above the right knee following a practice session.

Harding said Thursday she learned of the plot after the attack but failed to immediately tell authorities.

Panel to investigate Harding involvement

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.

A five-member panel to investigate allegations of Tonya Harding's involvement in the attack on Nancy Kerrigan was appointed Thursday by the U.S. Figure Skating Association.

The action was the first formal step in deciding whether Harding will remain on the U.S. team for the Winter Olympics.

"We feel extremely confident in the hearing panel's ability to make a recommendation which recognizes the rights of all of our athletes and upholds the integrity of the association," USFSA president Claire Ferguson said.

She gave no deadline for the panel to complete its work, but the association must submit its team for the Feb. 12-27 Winter Games in Lillehammer, Norway, by Sunday.

Headed by former U.S. Olympic Committee president William Hybl, the panel will "investigate allegations based on information contained in public records that ... Harding was involved" in the attack on Kerrigan Jan. 6.

The panel starts its investigation Tuesday and hopes to make a recommendation to the USFSA within 10 days to two weeks, Hybl said.

"This really is a sports organization endeavoring to provide due process to an athlete, but still enforcing the rules of the association in terms of its code of conduct, the highest standards of ethical behavior, and good sportsmanship," Hybl said.

It will initially determine if "reasonable grounds" exist for a disciplinary hearing on Harding's USFSA membership, which is required to compete on Olympic and other national teams.

Harding could then be called before the panel, which would consider her dismissal.
Associated Press

Tonya Harding admitted today she failed to tell authorities what she knew about the Nancy Kerrigan attack, but declined to implicate her figure skating rival and asked to remain on the U.S. Olympic team.

Harding’s statement came as her ex-husband, who was arrested in the attack on the skater, was apparently working out a deal with authorities to testify against her.

One law enforcement source told The Associated Press Wednesday, "The walls are really closing in on that girl."

Wearing a jacket from the U.S. team at the 1991 World Championships, Harding said she was "embarrassed and ashamed to think that anyone close to me could be involved" but said she had "no prior knowledge" of the attack.

"I am responsible, however, for failing to report things I learned about the assault when I returned home from nationals," she said, reading from a statement in a voice that shook with emotion at times. It was at the U.S. National Figure Skating Championships in 1991 that Kerrigan was smashed on her right knee Jan. 6 with a metal baton, knocking her from the competition won by Harding.

"Many of you will be unable to forgive me for that," she said about her failure to inform authorities. "It will be difficult for me to forgive myself."

She did not say what information she withheld. Harding said that a few days after returning home Jan. 10, she learned "persons that were close to me" may have been involved.

"My first reaction was one of disbelief, and the disbelief was followed by shock and fear," Harding and her ex-husband, Jeff Gillooly, spoke with authorities for 10 1/2 hours on Jan. 26. It was during that session that Harding issued a statement breaking off her live-in relationship with Gillooly, with whom she had reconciled after divorcing in August. Gillooly, her former bodyguard and two other men have been arrested in the attack on Kerrigan.

If Harding is charged, she could be removed from the U.S. Olympic team competing at the Winter Games in Lillehammer, Norway, next month. The U.S. Figure Skating Association said today it has appointed a five-member panel to investigate Harding’s alleged involvement in the attack. The USFSA gave no deadline for the panel to conclude its investigation.

Harvey Schiller, executive director of the U.S. Olympic Committee, said in a statement the USOC "is deeply concerned with statements made today by Tonya Harding relative to her knowledge of the attack on Nancy Kerrigan at the national championships."

Schiller said the USOC "is prepared under Constitutional procedures, to initiate any action deemed appropriate relative to the conduct of any athlete entered in the Games."

Harding’s attorney has already indicated they would fight any attempt to remove her from the team.

"I still want to represent my country in Lillehammer next month," she said. "Despite my mistakes and rough edges, I have done nothing to violate the standards of excellence, of sportsmanship that are expected of an Olympic athlete."

Harding said she has since told authorities what she knows about the attack and "although my lawyers tell me that my failure to immediately report this information is not a crime, I know I have let you down, but I have also let myself down."

Multnomah County deputy district attorney Norm Frink said of Harding’s statement, "We’re not going to comment on it."

Asked whether it is true that no crime is committed if one learns of an illegal act after the fact and fails to report it, Frink said: "We can’t comment on the state of the law. That’s their opinion."

Harding made repeated references to Kerrigan and expressed respect for her fellow skater and sadness over her injury.

"Nancy Kerrigan and I can show the world two different types of figure skating," Harding said: "I look forward to being on the team with her."

Kerrigan was practicing when Harding made her statement and was not available for comment.

Happy Birthday Mike Catenacci
 LOVE, Dad, Kathy, Vicki, Katie, Michelle and Matt

Front National Champions 1993 National Football Champions

Back

100% Heavyweight Cotton T-Shirts & Sweatshirts

T-Shirts $15.95
Sweatshirts $25.95

Shipping and handling:
$100-$200 add $5.00
$200.01-$500 add $7.50
$500.01-$750 add $10.00
$750.01-$1000 add $12.50

The shirt that tells the TRUTH!

The Best Looks Come From Bernardo's

FORMAL WEAR RENTALS & ALTERATIONS
We offer the best selection, best quality & best service at the best price in town
$10 off any taxed in stock with this ad
prices $55-$75

FRONT

FRONT

TOWN & COUNTRY SHOPPING CENTER, 3452 MINSK Lane, Mishawaka, In.

NOTRE DAME APARTMENTS

"Newly Remodeled Apartments at Very Affordable Rates"

• Spacious 2-Bedroom Apartments
• New Appliances, Cabinets, and Carpets
• Entry Security
• Laundry Facility Available
• 4 Blocks From Notre Dame Campus
• Professional Management Team
• Skilled Maintenance Crew
• Private Off-Street Parking for Tenants
• Several Units Available for Immediate Occupancy

Now Taking Applications For
'94-'95 School Year
For More Information Call

323-8256
Odomes, Bills want to shock Cowboy receivers

By JOHN F. BONFATTI
Associated Press

WAYNE'S HOUSE...THEM. I don't want to talk about receivers.

"I don't want to talk about how good somebody is if I have to play against them. I don't want to talk about their receivers. Who can blame him? Irvin and Harper combined for 159 yards and three touchdowns in Dallas' 52-17 victory in last year's Super Bowl.

Making sure that doesn't happen again will be a job left to Odomes, strong safety Jones, cornerback Mickey Washington, free safety Mark Kelso, and key reserves Thomas Smith, Matt Darby and Kurt Schulz.

They know it will be difficult. They also know they can't shy away from the challenge.

"The key is to be aggressive," Kelso said. "If you go out there afraid to make a mistake, you're probably going to make a mistake. The more aggressive you are, the better chance you have of something good happening.

The Bills can't be too aggressive, however, in their base two-deep zone, where safeties Jones and Kelso stay back until the pass is thrown.

"When we're in our zone coverage, when they catch the ball, we're going to have to get people there and make them pay for catching the ball short," Jones said.

Irvin was one of 17 children, but he stayed off the back streets as much as he could.
Barclay leads All-Star vote getters

By PAUL NEWBERRY

The Associated Press

NEW YORK

Charles Barkley of the Phoenix Suns led all vote-getters in the final tabulation of fan balloting for the NBA All-Star teams, released today.

With 794,836 votes, Barclay will start at forward for the West Conference team, along with Shawn Kemp of Seattle, who had 481,880 votes.

Also starting for the West will be center Hakeem Olajuwon of Houston (478,018), and guards Clyde Drexler of Portland (493,204) and Mitch Richmond of Sacramento (469,978).

The coaches of the two teams will select the remaining seven players on each squad.

Happy 21st Birthday Geoff!

Love,
Ann, Cathy, Kim, Sara, Sean

Truly Affordable Living

Make your next move to Hickory Village and discover affordability, convenience and comfort. We're just minutes from University Park Mall, the toll road, Notre Dame and downtown South Bend. Our beautiful grounds are spacious and well kept...and we have an activity program that includes team sports, free exercise classes, and much more.

Efficiencies from $270
1-Bedrooms from $285
2-Bedrooms from $345

At Hickory Village, we'll show you how affordable apartment living can be.

272-1580

Mon. - Fri. 9-6, Sat. 10-4 & Sun. 12-4

The Names Project
AIDS Memorial Quilt

will visit Notre Dame’s Stepan Center

February 25-27, 1994

Persons Preparing New Panels
For the Memorial Quilt are invited to Work together
Saturdays, 2-5 p.m.
January 29, February 5, 12 and 19

of AIDS Ministries/AIDS Assist North St. Louis Street

makers will be available for assistance

Barclay leads All-Star vote getters

By PAUL NEWBERRY

The Associated Press

NEW YORK

Charles Barkley of the Phoenix Suns led all vote-getters in the final tabulation of fan balloting for the NBA All-Star teams, released today.

With 794,836 votes, Barkley will start at forward for the West Conference team, along with Shawn Kemp of Seattle, who had 481,880 votes.

Also starting for the West will be center Hakeem Olajuwon of Houston (478,018), and guards Clyde Drexler of Portland (493,204) and Mitch Richmond of Sacramento (469,978).

The coaches of the two teams will select the remaining seven players on each squad.

Barclay leads All-Star vote getters

By PAUL NEWBERRY

The Associated Press

NEW YORK

Charles Barkley of the Phoenix Suns led all vote-getters in the final tabulation of fan balloting for the NBA All-Star teams, released today.

With 794,836 votes, Barkley will start at forward for the West Conference team, along with Shawn Kemp of Seattle, who had 481,880 votes.

Also starting for the West will be center Hakeem Olajuwon of Houston (478,018), and guards Clyde Drexler of Portland (493,204) and Mitch Richmond of Sacramento (469,978).

The coaches of the two teams will select the remaining seven players on each squad.

Barclay leads All-Star vote getters

By PAUL NEWBERRY

The Associated Press

NEW YORK

Charles Barkley of the Phoenix Suns led all vote-getters in the final tabulation of fan balloting for the NBA All-Star teams, released today.

With 794,836 votes, Barkley will start at forward for the West Conference team, along with Shawn Kemp of Seattle, who had 481,880 votes.

Also starting for the West will be center Hakeem Olajuwon of Houston (478,018), and guards Clyde Drexler of Portland (493,204) and Mitch Richmond of Sacramento (469,978).

The coaches of the two teams will select the remaining seven players on each squad.

Barclay leads All-Star vote getters

By PAUL NEWBERRY

The Associated Press

NEW YORK

Charles Barkley of the Phoenix Suns led all vote-getters in the final tabulation of fan balloting for the NBA All-Star teams, released today.

With 794,836 votes, Barkley will start at forward for the West Conference team, along with Shawn Kemp of Seattle, who had 481,880 votes.

Also starting for the West will be center Hakeem Olajuwon of Houston (478,018), and guards Clyde Drexler of Portland (493,204) and Mitch Richmond of Sacramento (469,978).

The coaches of the two teams will select the remaining seven players on each squad.

Barclay leads All-Star vote getters

By PAUL NEWBERRY

The Associated Press

NEW YORK

Charles Barkley of the Phoenix Suns led all vote-getters in the final tabulation of fan balloting for the NBA All-Star teams, released today.

With 794,836 votes, Barkley will start at forward for the West Conference team, along with Shawn Kemp of Seattle, who had 481,880 votes.

Also starting for the West will be center Hakeem Olajuwon of Houston (478,018), and guards Clyde Drexler of Portland (493,204) and Mitch Richmond of Sacramento (469,978).

The coaches of the two teams will select the remaining seven players on each squad.

Barclay leads All-Star vote getters

By PAUL NEWBERRY

The Associated Press

NEW YORK

Charles Barkley of the Phoenix Suns led all vote-getters in the final tabulation of fan balloting for the NBA All-Star teams, released today.

With 794,836 votes, Barkley will start at forward for the West Conference team, along with Shawn Kemp of Seattle, who had 481,880 votes.

Also starting for the West will be center Hakeem Olajuwon of Houston (478,018), and guards Clyde Drexler of Portland (493,204) and Mitch Richmond of Sacramento (469,978).

The coaches of the two teams will select the remaining seven players on each squad.

Barclay leads All-Star vote getters

By PAUL NEWBERRY

The Associated Press

NEW YORK

Charles Barkley of the Phoenix Suns led all vote-getters in the final tabulation of fan balloting for the NBA All-Star teams, released today.

With 794,836 votes, Barkley will start at forward for the West Conference team, along with Shawn Kemp of Seattle, who had 481,880 votes.

Also starting for the West will be center Hakeem Olajuwon of Houston (478,018), and guards Clyde Drexler of Portland (493,204) and Mitch Richmond of Sacramento (469,978).

The coaches of the two teams will select the remaining seven players on each squad.

Barclay leads All-Star vote getters

By PAUL NEWBERRY

The Associated Press

NEW YORK

Charles Barkley of the Phoenix Suns led all vote-getters in the final tabulation of fan balloting for the NBA All-Star teams, released today.

With 794,836 votes, Barkley will start at forward for the West Conference team, along with Shawn Kemp of Seattle, who had 481,880 votes.

Also starting for the West will be center Hakeem Olajuwon of Houston (478,018), and guards Clyde Drexler of Portland (493,204) and Mitch Richmond of Sacramento (469,978).

The coaches of the two teams will select the remaining seven players on each squad.

Barclay leads All-Star vote getters

By PAUL NEWBERRY

The Associated Press

NEW YORK

Charles Barkley of the Phoenix Suns led all vote-getters in the final tabulation of fan balloting for the NBA All-Star teams, released today.

With 794,836 votes, Barkley will start at forward for the West Conference team, along with Shawn Kemp of Seattle, who had 481,880 votes.

Also starting for the West will be center Hakeem Olajuwon of Houston (478,018), and guards Clyde Drexler of Portland (493,204) and Mitch Richmond of Sacramento (469,978).

The coaches of the two teams will select the remaining seven players on each squad.

Barclay leads All-Star vote getters

By PAUL NEWBERRY

The Associated Press

NEW YORK

Charles Barkley of the Phoenix Suns led all vote-getters in the final tabulation of fan balloting for the NBA All-Star teams, released today.

With 794,836 votes, Barkley will start at forward for the West Conference team, along with Shawn Kemp of Seattle, who had 481,880 votes.

Also starting for the West will be center Hakeem Olajuwon of Houston (478,018), and guards Clyde Drexler of Portland (493,204) and Mitch Richmond of Sacramento (469,978).

The coaches of the two teams will select the remaining seven players on each squad.
Irish, Bonnies clash in swimming rivalry

By KELLY CORNELIS
Sports Writer

Last year Notre Dame swim teams traveled to St. Bonaventure and beat the men's team and tied the women. This year the Irish will have a tough time reclaiming that loss as the Bonnies come to South Bend on Saturday.

The women's contest will begin at 11 a.m. and the men will start off at 2 p.m. at Rolf's Aquatic Center.

Kevin Flanagan

After a heated rivalry that began several years ago when the Leprechaun threw a few Bonnie swimmers into the pool, these two Catholic schools are both determined to win.

The men look to hold off the Bonnies for one more year, and to improve their 7-5 record.

Sophomore Ryan Schroeder will race in three individual events and one relay, and stressed the team's emphasis on swimming their fastest times, along with beating St. Bonaventure.

"The Championships are only three weeks away, so this is a great chance for us to swim faster than we have all season, and we're ready to do that."

Friars
continued from page 24

for 17 points and point guard Kevin Flanagan added a double double.

Kevin Flanagan

"This one is going to be tough," added men's captain, senior Kevin Flanagan. "We're all fired up for these guys, and we hope a lot of people show up to support us because they really packed it in up there last year.

The men hope to emerge with a victory to avenge their tie from last year. The Bonnie men have strong relays and will be tough in the long-distance events.

"It's going to be the biggest dual meet of the season," said freshman swimmer Elizabeth Rice, who will compete in the 500 and 1000 freestyle races.

"They've improved their distance events, and they're a very good swimming team."

The relays are going to be key," commented captain Kristin Heath. "On paper, the meet could go either way."

Freshman Karen Dayor will be swimming in those key relays, and also competing in the 50 free and the 100 fly. Everybody's looking forward to it," said Dayor. "From what I've heard about last year, it should be an exciting meet."

Coach Tim Welsh is also very excited about the challenge ahead.

"It's always been a very well-contested meet, and the best thing about swimming the races are always so close."

The Notre Dame swim teams will try to make a twin killing Saturday when both the men and women take on St. Bonaventure.
Aquatic Center's swim team is looking to regain control of their home pool this Saturday when they host the University of Chicago at Rolfs Aquatic Center.

Head Coach Greg Janson explained that although the Belles are disappointed with Wednesday's results, they are maintaining a positive attitude. "The final score was not a good indicator of how we swim," said Janson. "I think we swam well and came out of the meet with a good experience."

Several swimmers performed very well against Kalamazoo and some even set season records.

Senior captain Ellen Kramer, a sprint freestyler, swam her season best splits in the medley relay and the freestyle relay. She also swam a spectacular 200 breaststroke, which is not her usual event. "I really think that she will perform even better in the 100 freestyle," said Janson.

He also explained that she has shown great improvement in the 50 freestyle, and he is looking for a similar improve-ment in her 100 meter times.

Sophomore Jill Cooper, the number one breaststroker for Saint Mary's, swam her season best time in both the 100 and 200 meter breaststroke. "Jill was more relaxed for these events, and that paid off for her," said Janson. "I think she'll swim incredibly if that continues."

Sophomore Katie Rose set her season record in the 200 backstroke and was 0.99 seconds off the school record. Janson noted that Rose's times have been consistently dropping throughout the season and that he expects her to keep it up.

Teressa Popp, sophomore freestyler, swam her season best splits in the 100 meter race and pulled off a victory in that event. "All of those times were very encouraging," said Janson. "I think that we will swim better this weekend because of it."

Junior Tara Krull, who swam her season best time in the 200 freestyle, is also optimistic about tomorrow's meet despite the disheartening loss to Kalamazoo.

"We really came together last night and almost pulled it off," said Krull. "I really think that we can play off of that for Saturday's meet."

Krull also swam the 1000 freestyle in which her times have continued to drop over the season, especially in the last few meets.

"I really felt good about my performance and the team's," she said. "I think our times will keep dropping and that we'll be able to win this meet."

Janson noted some concern about the events in which the University of Chicago has excelled. "(They) are strong in some events that we haven't been pushed in yet," he said. He expects the toughest competition to be in the 500 and 1000 meter freestyle events.

But freshman Shannon Kelleher has dominated these all year. Janson is optimistic about Kelleher's abilities and is looking forward to the challenge of some tougher competition. "Shannon has not lost in these events all year," said Janson. "There is a tough girl from Chicago who will push her to do some good things."

Janson is also anticipating good races in the 200 meter IM, one of Rose's events, and in the 200 meter breaststroke. In this event, several good distance swimmers will be challenged and look to improve.

Krull noted that the Belles beat the University of Chicago last year and will be up to the challenge again this year. "I think that the meet will be a good one for everyone, especially being in our home pool," she commented.

Janson agreed. "Our level of confidence is up and our attitude is good. I think we'll swim even better than we did on Wednesday."
Hockey team on road against the best

By TIM SHERMAN
Sports Writer

They know what to expect. Notre Dame must a question of stopping it.

For the fourth time this season, the Notre Dame hockey team faces off against the top-ranked Michigan Wolverines at the Palace of Auburn Hills on Saturday night. The Irish have soundly defeated the Irish in the previous three meetings. At least that is what the scoreboard indicated. However, all those games were evenly played except for one period. On Saturday, the Irish will be looking to play a complete 60-minute game in order to pull what would be considered by the college hockey world to be a monumental upset.

"We just have to deny them that spurt they've had in the past," said coach Ric Schafter. "I call it a time-out, but I only get one. It'll be up to the players. It's going to take an awful lot of hard work."

One factor that may help the Irish will be the crowd. Last year's meeting between the two squads attracted 14,474 fans. Because they are used to crowds in the neighborhood of a few thousand, the added electricity could possibly carry over onto the ice.

This year's contest should match. If not exceed last year's total. Everyone wants to see the nation's undisputed top team. The Irish, too, should have some strong support. For one thing, they are Notre Dame and the Irish will always attract fans. In addition, this year's team, despite hovering under 500, has proven to be a competitive, and, at times, a talented group of skaters.

Notre Dame's seniors have never beaten the mighty Wolverines and Saturday marks their last regular season opportunity.

"That'll be a big factor," said forward Jay Matsushak. "We know we have to play a better game. Our attitude is right."

Two seniors who must lead the Irish are captains Matt Oishek, a defenseman, and goaltender Greg Louder. "We have to put an emphasis on defense," said Matsushak. "Our offense is as powerful as it comes. Averaging 5.6 goals per game, the Big Blue have at least three of the top skaters in college hockey. Oishek will have to lead his fellow blueliners to a consistently solid effort. As the cliché goes, "You can't stop 'em, you can only hope to contain 'em."

A key factor in this contain- ment will be Louders. During Notre Dame's recent six-game losing streak, the goaltending situation did not look promising. This past weekend, Louder looked as if he was returning to his previous play before an injury. The Irish must get a solid, if not spectacular game from the netminder if they are to change the outcome of the previous three meetings.

Michigan Sports Information
Junior goaltender Al Loges leads a stifling Wolverine defense.

Guts
continued from page 24

of our size," explained McGraw. The experiment worked to perfection. Notre Dame outbounded Xavier 54-39, continuing to dominate in a statistic that ranks them ninth in the country. The Irish starting front line of Leslie Bowen, Carey Poor, and Tootie Jones cleared a combined 31 boards, led by Bowen's 17. This opened up the outside for the Irish backcourt of Kara Leary and Beth Morgan, who scored a combined 31 points and were 9-10 from the line in the waning seconds.

"We've somewhat become used to out-rebounding our opponents," stated Bohm. "Coming off a letdown against Butler, we came out hard."

Xavier was able to make one final run, but the depth of Notre Dame was too much. Bohm dominated the inside, while the Irish received a surprise burst of offense from freshman Andrea Alexander, who scored a quick seven points.

"Bohm was great off the bench, and Andrea, who's usually a defensive stopper, was a real spark," commented McGraw.
Irish Swimming
Jennifer Dahl and Notre Dame's swim team take on St. Bonaventure.

see page 20

Irish bleeding must end against Friars
By JASON KELLY
Assistant Sports Editor

These ups and downs are enough to make you nauseous. The Notre Dame men's basketball team is searching for stability and there is no accurate gauge to determine which team will show up Saturday at the Joyce Center against Providence.

Will it be the team that lost back-to-back home games to Manhattan and Loyola? Or will it be the team that nearly pulled the biggest upset of the season Wednesday at Duke?

"We have to look at this and realize it's not enough," Irish coach John MacLeod said after the 74-72 loss to the Blue Devils. "We have to build on this performance and realize that this is how we're capable of playing."

Notre Dame has played its best against its best competition this season. But they have played its worst against its worst competition. Providence falls somewhere in the middle.

The Friars are certainly a better than average team, but what a schedule includes Duke, North Carolina, UCLA, Kentucky and Indiana, Providence doesn't look quite as imposing.

Irish Justice will hope to spark the Irish at point guard tonight. The Friars are just 12 to tie Austin Carr's school record.

Senior forward Michael Smith and center Dickey Simpkins make the Friars one of the nation's best rebounding teams. That is a weakness for the Irish, who have only two players averaging more than five rebounds per game.

Production is lacking from the Providence backcourt, but point guard Abdul Abdullah is a master distributor.

But after Wednesday's performance at Duke, the quality of competition doesn't seem to matter. Quality of performance is the key.

If the Irish can scare Duke, they can scare anybody.

Senior Monty Williams is enough to make anyone sweat in their socks and his 34-point performance against the Blue Devils certainly raised his stock.

"Monty is not only an outstanding player," MacLeod said. "But as a senior he has really become a leader on this team."

Ryan Hoover has been Notre Dame's No. 2 weapon. He was the only other Irish player in double figures Wednesday, with 10.

Hoover has also hit 24 consecutive free throws and he needs just 12 to tie Austin Carr's school record.

Brian Hurley has been Notre Dame's No. 2 weapon. He was the only other Irish player in double figures Wednesday, with 10.

Hoover has also hit 24 consecutive free throws and he needs just 12 to tie Austin Carr's school record.

"Monty is not only an outstanding player," MacLeod said. "But as a senior he has really become a leader on this team."

Ryan Hoover has been Notre Dame's No. 2 weapon. He was the only other Irish player in double figures Wednesday, with 10.

Hoover has also hit 24 consecutive free throws and he needs just 12 to tie Austin Carr's school record.

"Monty is not only an outstanding player," MacLeod said. "But as a senior he has really become a leader on this team."

Ryan Hoover has been Notre Dame's No. 2 weapon. He was the only other Irish player in double figures Wednesday, with 10.

Hoover has also hit 24 consecutive free throws and he needs just 12 to tie Austin Carr's school record.

"Monty is not only an outstanding player," MacLeod said. "But as a senior he has really become a leader on this team."

Ryan Hoover has been Notre Dame's No. 2 weapon. He was the only other Irish player in double figures Wednesday, with 10.

Hoover has also hit 24 consecutive free throws and he needs just 12 to tie Austin Carr's school record.

"Monty is not only an outstanding player," MacLeod said. "But as a senior he has really become a leader on this team."

Ryan Hoover has been Notre Dame's No. 2 weapon. He was the only other Irish player in double figures Wednesday, with 10.

Hoover has also hit 24 consecutive free throws and he needs just 12 to tie Austin Carr's school record.

"Monty is not only an outstanding player," MacLeod said. "But as a senior he has really become a leader on this team."

Ryan Hoover has been Notre Dame's No. 2 weapon. He was the only other Irish player in double figures Wednesday, with 10.

Hoover has also hit 24 consecutive free throws and he needs just 12 to tie Austin Carr's school record.

"Monty is not only an outstanding player," MacLeod said. "But as a senior he has really become a leader on this team."

Ryan Hoover has been Notre Dame's No. 2 weapon. He was the only other Irish player in double figures Wednesday, with 10.

Hoover has also hit 24 consecutive free throws and he needs just 12 to tie Austin Carr's school record.