Dorm room cable possible

By KATIE CRISHAM
Assistant News Editor

Notre Dame students want their cable television. The question is: does the University care what they say, or is it just putting the coaxial cable wires in all dorm rooms? What is the University's position on cable television in all dorm rooms? Will the University make it possible and cost-effective action of Board of Trustees reports, or go through a private cable company? Which option to take is basically up to the University's discretion, said Herczog.

According to Herczog, academic reasons will force the University to install cable in individual rooms in the near future. "Sure, it will be great to have cable for entertainment purposes, but having cable also opens up different academic options," she said. "For example, within a few years, students and teachers at Boston College will be able to transmit things back and forth to each other through cable," she said. "This is very interactive education.

Herczog said that Student Government contacted other colleges and universities to find out how they have handled the question of cable installation. According to Herczog, all college and university have cable now, too, said Herczog. "It just involves pulling the coaxial cable wires."

"It just involves pulling the coaxial cable wires," said Herczeg. "For example, within a few years, students and teachers at Boston College will be able to transmit things back and forth to each other through cable," she said. "This is very interactive education.

Herczog noted that the student surveys which were distributed to the dorms have shown overwhelming support for cable installation.

"The students are for it, it is extremely cost-effective, and we are going to have to do it sooner or later," she said. "Why have to go wire the rooms twice? It makes sense to install cable now."

By MISSY LIND
News Writer

Over the course of this semester, the Counseling and Career Development Center at Saint Mary's, located in LeMahn Hall, has offered the opportunity to attend a series of academic success workshops. The workshops began six years ago in an effort to aid students in studying and help students to comprehend the importance of studying, according to Carol Bentley-Lenasky, a counselor in the Counseling and Career Development Center.

Workshop topics include: Time Management, Test-Taking, Managing Anxiety, Stress Management, Reading, and Preparing for Finals.

Along with the specialized workshops, an Academic Support Group will meet every Tuesday from 4-5 p.m. This group will allow students to share their feelings on different classes and gain support from fellow students who may have the same concerns. Matters discussed within the workshops are kept strictly confidential.

The workshops are designed to give students the added feeling of security in their academic success at Saint Mary's.

"The workshops teach students study skill techniques to help ensure academic success," according to Bentley-Lenasky.

The Stress Management Workshop will be held on Wednesday, November 2 or Wednesday, November 3. This session students will recognize where stress in their lives comes from help them to turn the negative outlooks into more positive ones.

The Reading Workshop will be held on Wednesday, November 16 or Thursday, November 17.

Dorm room cable possible

By ANALISE TAYLOR
News Writer

In the last six years, undergraduates at Notre Dame have the opportunity to install cable television in their dorm rooms. The University has its own options about how to do that.

According to Herczog, the University also expressed some concern that cable television in each room might break up the 'Notre Dame community'.

"They were worried that it would end the tradition of watching cable in the lounges," she said. "But if Notre Dame has to use T.V. as a way of uniting the student body, then we definitely need to search for other options."

Herczog noted that the student surveys which were distributed to the dorms have shown overwhelming support for cable installation.

"The students are for it, it is extremely cost-effective, and we are going to have to do it sooner or later," she said. "Why have to go wire the rooms twice? It makes sense to install cable now."

Academic workshops to increase success

By MISSY LIND
News Writer

Over the course of this semester, the Counseling and Career Development Center at Saint Mary's, located in LeMahn Hall, has offered the opportunity to attend a series of academic success workshops. The workshops began six years ago in an effort to aid students in studying and help students to comprehend the importance of studying, according to Carol Bentley-Lenasky, a counselor in the Counseling and Career Development Center.

Workshop topics include: Time Management, Test-Taking, Managing Anxiety, Stress Management, Reading, and Preparing for Finals. Along with the specialized workshops, an Academic Support Group will meet every Tuesday from 4-5 p.m.

This group will allow students to share their feelings on different classes and gain support from fellow students who may have the same concerns. Matters discussed within the workshops are kept strictly confidential.

The workshops are designed to give students the added feeling of security in their academic success at Saint Mary's.

"The workshops teach students study skill techniques to help ensure academic success," according to Bentley-Lenasky.

The Stress Management Workshop will be held on Wednesday, November 2 or Wednesday, November 3. This session students will recognize where stress in their lives comes from help them to turn the negative outlooks into more positive ones.

The Reading Workshop will be held on Wednesday, November 16 or Thursday, November 17.

Pair leads Right to Life group

By KATIE MURPHY
News Writer

With six children and 15 grandchildren, John and Barbara Wilke seem to have their hands full. Like most grandparents, they like to talk about their children, and spend time with their family. However, unlike the majority of their contemporaries, John and Barbara Wilke have accomplished lecturers, authors and leaders in the pro-life movement. Since 1970, the Willeys have been actively involved in a number of state, national, and international pro-life organizations.

Dr. Wilke is presently the president of the International Right to Life Federation and the Cincinnati Right to Life Issues Institute. He is a former president of National Right to Life, Barbara Wilke, a professor of nursing, chairs the Right to Life of Greater Cincinnati. The couple's current work in the Cincinnati Right to Life Issues Institute focuses on educating people on the abortion issue.

However, unlike the majority of their contemporaries, John and Barbara Wilke have accomplished lecturers, authors and leaders in the pro-life movement. Since 1970, the Willeys have been actively involved in a number of state, national, and international pro-life organizations.

Dr. Wilke is presently the president of the International Right to Life Federation and the Cincinnati Right to Life Issues Institute. He is a former president of National Right to Life, Barbara Wilke, a professor of nursing, chairs the Right to Life of Greater Cincinnati. The couple's current work in the Cincinnati Right to Life Issues Institute focuses on educating people on the abortion issue.
Driving a car will never be the same again

While driving through South Bend last week, I waited impatiently, with my windows down, at a stop sign. The rear view mirror started to look around. A heavy set man sat anxiously in a blue Toyota directly next to my car. He confidently tapped his pudgy hands on the steering wheel of the old Rolls Royce. "You can't always get what you want." That's when it happened.

He slightly tilted his head back and glanced in the rear view mirror "the tilt," I call it. He slowly lifted his right hand and vigorously started to look around. A light weight woman had left us behind and was going for a world invasion his privacy. She was in public? He seemed to quickly lose interest in the right nostril and moved his fingers to the hand closest to my car. He thought the man would have removed his fingers around his nostril I wondered if he forgotten something. Finally, prosecutors say, they never be the same again.

While driving through South Bend last week, I waited impatiently, with my windows down, at a stop sign. The rear view mirror started to look around. A heavy set man sat anxiously in a blue Toyota directly next to my car. He confidently tapped his pudgy hands on the steering wheel of the old Rolls Royce. "You can't always get what you want." That's when it happened.

He slightly tilted his head back and glanced in the rear view mirror "the tilt," I call it. He slowly lifted his right hand and vigorously started to look around. A light weight woman had left us behind and was going for a world invasion his privacy. She was in public? He seemed to quickly lose interest in the right nostril and moved his fingers to the hand closest to my car. He thought the man would have removed his fingers around his nostril I wondered if he forgotten something. Finally, prosecutors say, they never be the same again.

While driving through South Bend last week, I waited impatiently, with my windows down, at a stop sign. The rear view mirror started to look around. A heavy set man sat anxiously in a blue Toyota directly next to my car. He confidently tapped his pudgy hands on the steering wheel of the old Rolls Royce. "You can't always get what you want." That's when it happened.

He slightly tilted his head back and glanced in the rear view mirror "the tilt," I call it. He slowly lifted his right hand and vigorously started to look around. A light weight woman had left us behind and was going for a world invasion his privacy. She was in public? He seemed to quickly lose interest in the right nostril and moved his fingers to the hand closest to my car. He thought the man would have removed his fingers around his nostril I wondered if he forgotten something. Finally, prosecutors say, they never be the same again.

While driving through South Bend last week, I waited impatiently, with my windows down, at a stop sign. The rear view mirror started to look around. A heavy set man sat anxiously in a blue Toyota directly next to my car. He confidently tapped his pudgy hands on the steering wheel of the old Rolls Royce. "You can't always get what you want." That's when it happened.

He slightly tilted his head back and glanced in the rear view mirror "the tilt," I call it. He slowly lifted his right hand and vigorously started to look around. A light weight woman had left us behind and was going for a world invasion his privacy. She was in public? He seemed to quickly lose interest in the right nostril and moved his fingers to the hand closest to my car. He thought the man would have removed his fingers around his nostril I wondered if he forgotten something. Finally, prosecutors say, they never be the same again.

While driving through South Bend last week, I waited impatiently, with my windows down, at a stop sign. The rear view mirror started to look around. A heavy set man sat anxiously in a blue Toyota directly next to my car. He confidently tapped his pudgy hands on the steering wheel of the old Rolls Royce. "You can't always get what you want." That's when it happened.

He slightly tilted his head back and glanced in the rear view mirror "the tilt," I call it. He slowly lifted his right hand and vigorously started to look around. A light weight woman had left us behind and was going for a world invasion his privacy. She was in public? He seemed to quickly lose interest in the right nostril and moved his fingers to the hand closest to my car. He thought the man would have removed his fingers around his nostril I wondered if he forgotten something. Finally, prosecutors say, they never be the same again.

While driving through South Bend last week, I waited impatiently, with my windows down, at a stop sign. The rear view mirror started to look around. A heavy set man sat anxiously in a blue Toyota directly next to my car. He confidently tapped his pudgy hands on the steering wheel of the old Rolls Royce. "You can't always get what you want." That's when it happened.

He slightly tilted his head back and glanced in the rear view mirror "the tilt," I call it. He slowly lifted his right hand and vigorously started to look around. A light weight woman had left us behind and was going for a world invasion his privacy. She was in public? He seemed to quickly lose interest in the right nostril and moved his fingers to the hand closest to my car. He thought the man would have removed his fingers around his nostril I wondered if he forgotten something. Finally, prosecutors say, they never be the same again.

While driving through South Bend last week, I waited impatiently, with my windows down, at a stop sign. The rear view mirror started to look around. A heavy set man sat anxiously in a blue Toyota directly next to my car. He confidently tapped his pudgy hands on the steering wheel of the old Rolls Royce. "You can't always get what you want." That's when it happened.

He slightly tilted his head back and glanced in the rear view mirror "the tilt," I call it. He slowly lifted his right hand and vigorously started to look around. A light weight woman had left us behind and was going for a world invasion his privacy. She was in public? He seemed to quickly lose interest in the right nostril and moved his fingers to the hand closest to my car. He thought the man would have removed his fingers around his nostril I wondered if he forgotten something. Finally, prosecutors say, they never be the same again.

While driving through South Bend last week, I waited impatiently, with my windows down, at a stop sign. The rear view mirror started to look around. A heavy set man sat anxiously in a blue Toyota directly next to my car. He confidently tapped his pudgy hands on the steering wheel of the old Rolls Royce. "You can't always get what you want." That's when it happened.

He slightly tilted his head back and glanced in the rear view mirror "the tilt," I call it. He slowly lifted his right hand and vigorously started to look around. A light weight woman had left us behind and was going for a world invasion his privacy. She was in public? He seemed to quickly lose interest in the right nostril and moved his fingers to the hand closest to my car. He thought the man would have removed his fingers around his nostril I wondered if he forgotten something. Finally, prosecutors say, they never be the same again.

While driving through South Bend last week, I waited impatiently, with my windows down, at a stop sign. The rear view mirror started to look around. A heavy set man sat anxiously in a blue Toyota directly next to my car. He confidently tapped his pudgy hands on the steering wheel of the old Rolls Royce. "You can't always get what you want." That's when it happened.

He slightly tilted his head back and glanced in the rear view mirror "the tilt," I call it. He slowly lifted his right hand and vigorously started to look around. A light weight woman had left us behind and was going for a world invasion his privacy. She was in public? He seemed to quickly lose interest in the right nostril and moved his fingers to the hand closest to my car. He thought the man would have removed his fingers around his nostril I wondered if he forgotten something. Finally, prosecutors say, they never be the same again.

While driving through South Bend last week, I waited impatiently, with my windows down, at a stop sign. The rear view mirror started to look around. A heavy set man sat anxiously in a blue Toyota directly next to my car. He confidently tapped his pudgy hands on the steering wheel of the old Rolls Royce. "You can't always get what you want." That's when it happened.

He slightly tilted his head back and glanced in the rear view mirror "the tilt," I call it. He slowly lifted his right hand and vigorously started to look around. A light weight woman had left us behind and was going for a world invasion his privacy. She was in public? He seemed to quickly lose interest in the right nostril and moved his fingers to the hand closest to my car. He thought the man would have removed his fingers around his nostril I wondered if he forgotten something. Finally, prosecutors say, they never be the same again.

While driving through South Bend last week, I waited impatiently, with my windows down, at a stop sign. The rear view mirror started to look around. A heavy set man sat anxiously in a blue Toyota directly next to my car. He confidently tapped his pudgy hands on the steering wheel of the old Rolls Royce. "You can't always get what you want." That's when it happened.

He slightly tilted his head back and glanced in the rear view mirror "the tilt," I call it. He slowly lifted his right hand and vigorously started to look around. A light weight woman had left us behind and was going for a world invasion his privacy. She was in public? He seemed to quickly lose interest in the right nostril and moved his fingers to the hand closest to my car. He thought the man would have removed his fingers around his nostril I wondered if he forgotten something. Finally, prosecutors say, they never be the same again.
Campus voting, cable issues facing students

By GWENDOLYN NORGLE
News Writer

The possibility of having cable television in dorm rooms and voter registration on campuses were topics of discussion at last night's Student Senate meeting.

The Student Government will present a report on making the dorm rooms cable ready at the next meeting of the Board of Trustees, according to Larissa Herczeg, coordinator for the Board of Trustees reports for the Student Government. In reference to the surveys students filled out last week concerning the acquisition of cable television, Herczeg said "very positive results" were received. Most universities get educational channels, like CNN and CSPAN, free or for a very low fee, Herczeg said. She spoke of "the possibility for other channels, like entertainment channels" as well.

Student body president Dave Hungeling said the Student Government would be "pressing the educational side of cable" to the Board of Trustees in order to make the dorm rooms cable ready and to "bring Notre Dame up to date with a lot of other schools." Junior Class President George Fischer said "cable television would present a cultural and intellectual benefit to this university."

The other topics discussed among Senate members last night concerned voter registration on college campuses. Hungeling spoke of a non-partisan politically active organization called "Lead or Leave," whose headquarters is in Washington, D.C.

This group has "a nation-wide voter registration drive," according to Hungeling. They are working with universities to get schools to "be a base" for voter registration, he added. In order for the Student Senate to get more involved with this organization, the Senate is looking for a liaison between the Student Government and "Lead or Leave," says Hungeling.

Paul Douggherty from The Gideons International Bible company was a guest speaker at the meeting. As a representative from Gideons, Douggherty was passing out the small New Testament pocket Bibles on campus Wednesday. According to Douggherty, the Gideon organization's objective is to encourage "a personal relationship with Christ."

Gideons "present the Word" to 162 countries on campuses and in hotels, motels, and hospitals, according to Douggherty, who called himself and his associates "Christian businessmen."

Hungeling thanked Douggherty for speaking at the meeting and informing the Senate as to why Gideon was on campus because "a lot of people were wondering why the organization was handing out pocket Bibles Wednesday afternoon.

Cameras banned in courts

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press

WASHINGTON

There will be no television cameras in federal courtrooms, a panel of judges who make rules for the courts has decided. The action was formally announced today.

"Their basic concern was the potential impact on jurors," said David Sellers, a spokesman for the Judicial Conference of the United States. He said the judges worried about "any negative impact on jurors, witnesses, potential distraction of witnesses and whether jurors were made nervous by any fear of possible harm."

Cameras have become the norm in many state courts, allowing the general public to see proceedings in highly publicized cases, like the murder case against O.J. Simpson in Los Angeles and the rape trial in Florida of William Kennedy Smith.

After a three-year experiment in six U.S. district courts and two appeals courts, the panel on Tuesday voted down a proposal to make the pilot project permanent. The experiment will end on Dec. 31.

Research presented to the conference said that between July 1, 1991, and June 30, 1993, news media filed applications for photo coverage of 257 cases and for video coverage of 82 percent were approved.

"The most common type of coverage was television coverage of civil trials," said the research by the federal judicial center. "Overall, attitudes of judges toward electronic media coverage of civil proceedings were initially neutral and became more favorable after experience under the pilot program," the report said.

The Judicial Conference of the United States, the policy-making arm of the federal courts, discussed the issue for about 20 minutes before voting nearly 2-1 against making the change. Sellers would not release the actual vote, but said Chief Justice William Rehnquist, who heads the Conference, votes only in case of a tie.

The experiment had involved only civil trials, not criminal, at the individual judges' discretion.

The 27-member Judicial Conference is composed by the chief justice and includes chief judges of the 13 federal appellate circuits and judges from district courts in each circuit.

The district courts conducting the experiment were in Indianapolis, Boston, Detroit, Philadelphia, Seattle and New York City.

Grad Communities ND

The Challenge of Adult Christianity

An opportunity for graduate and professional students and/or their spouses to share their Christian faith and experience in small community groups and to explore together the challenge of living that faith as young adult professional people.

SUNDAY

2 October 1994

Fischer Community Center
6:00 - 8:00 p.m.
Pizza Supper, Information, Beginning

New groups will be formed.
Continuing groups will be on hand to share their experience.

Reservations and Information:
return the Application Form received in the mail and/or call
John Gerber, C.S.C. at 1-8801 or
Sharon Harwell at 1-8807 by September 30.
Rock and Roll fantasy

Eager students wait in line for a chance to buy tickets to the Indigo Girls concert. Tickets for the popular band quickly sold out.

---

Attention Freshmen, Sophomores and Juniors

Announcing the National Security Education Program Competition

Win an NSEP scholarship to study abroad in regions of the world outside of Canada and Western Europe. Applicable to most foreign study abroad programs.

Come to the informational meeting with Professor A. James McAdams on Monday evening, September 26, 1994 at 7 p.m. in room 131 DeBartolo

---

FACULTY UPPER ROOM SERIES

"FAITH AND PROFESSIONAL LIFE"

An opportunity to reflect with colleagues and spouses/guests on the integration of spiritual concerns and professional challenges and demands.

TUESDAY

27 September 1994

Faculty Dining Room of the South Dining Hall

Dinner at 7:00 p.m. - Discussion until 9:00 p.m.

Speaker

Michael K. Sain

Freimann Professor of Electrical Engineering

"Humility and Academic Life: Over the Rainbow?"

Reservations: Return the form received in the mail or simply call John Gerber, C.S.C. at 1-8601 or Sharon Harwell at 1-8607 by Friday, September 23.

A donation of $5.00 at the door or by check made out to Campus Ministry can help defray the expenses of the dinner.

Co-Sponsored by Campus Ministry and the Center for Social Concerns

---

Success

continued from page 1

November 17. It will propose ways for students to become a more active reader by using a method called muscle reading. This method will require students to become involved in readings so more information is absorbed.

The Preparing for Finals Workshop will be held on Tuesday, November 29 or Wednesday, November 30. It will guide students on how to more efficiently manage their time while studying for finals. It will employ knowledge from all the previous workshops to show students that cramming is not the best way to learn important material.
Former student fights injuries with ND’s help

By ETHAN HAYWARD
News Writer

Although he is barely able to walk or talk, former Notre Dame graduate student Zhengde Wang still keeps in contact with the University through the help of Sister Jean Lenz and Osco Drug.

Wang, a Ph.D. candidate in sociology, was struck by an automobile on October 20, 1989 on Notre Dame Avenue. The accident left him in a coma, which Wang quickly recovered from. But the injury also left him unable to perform the simplest motor functions. He had to undergo nearly two years of physical therapy before being able to return to his home in Tianjin, China.

In 1990, members of the student body began a fund-raising project called “The Shirt for a Cause” to assist Wang and his family. The shirt was sold as a promotional item for the 1990 Miami game and helped raise more than $100,000.

While studying at Notre Dame, Wang began a special relationship with Lenz, an assistant vice president for student affairs. He arrived on campus before classes began and stopped Lenz to ask her for directions. She gladly gave them and invited him to visit her office whenever he could.

Lenz describes Wang as “very interesting.” “There are a million Wang stories,” she says. “She remembers two of them in particular quite fondly.”

“One time, Wang needed to go to a store and asked me if I could recommend one. I offered to drive him to the mall and assist him in his purchase.” Lenz relates. “He was amazed and said that this was ‘a big store’.”

“One summer, he took a bus trip west. While boarding the bus, he helped an older woman with her bags. The woman was very grateful and asked what he did for a living. He replied that he was a graduate student at Notre Dame. The woman answered that she should have known he was a Notre Dame student because of his simple act of kindness. When he got back, Wang asked me if this was something that was required of Notre Dame students,” laughed Lenz.

Wang is now home in China, but he and his family receive the necessary medical supplies from the University. Wang’s mother sends faxes to Lenz asking her what they need. Lenz places the order and then ships it to Tianjin. Wang’s family pays for the supplies through the Notre Dame Credit Union.

“I imagine they could probably get this medicine in China, but I think this is their way of maintaining contact with Notre Dame and the whole community,” Lenz said.

She also says that the family is very fond and trusting of the University. They send regular letters and Christmas cards to the University offices and to members of the sociology department.

Wang’s parents keep Lenz and other faculty members informed of his condition. Apparently, he is now able to pronounce simple words, but his healing process is one of extremely gradual improvement.

Although she is not sure, Lenz says it wouldn’t surprise her if Wang and his mother visit the campus in the future.

Meet Author

Murray Sperber

Friday, Sept. 23rd
2 to 4

Saturday, Sept. 24th
10-11:30

Will Autograph His Book

“Shake Down the Thunder”

Hammes Notre Dame Bookstore

Store Hours

Friday, Sept. 23rd
9 to 7

Saturday, Sept. 24th
9 to 7

Chinese gunman identified

By L. FU
Associated Press

BEIJING

The gunman who killed nine people and wounded 40 in a shooting rampage on a major Beijing thoroughfare was an army first lieutenant, police said today.

The gunman, identified as Tian Mingjian, had been disciplined for being a “dangerous soldier,” the official Xinhua news agency said, quoting a senior police officer. He was a member of an army unit stationed in the capital’s suburbs.

Tuesday’s shooting rampage was shocking in a country where the incidence of violent crime is small compared with that of the United States. It began in the Beijing suburb of Tongxian, where the gunman commandeered a vehicle and headed toward the center of Beijing, said the Hong Kong China News Agency, regarded as a mouthpiece for the Chinese government.
U.S. to Haitian military: Stop the beatings now

By JEFFREY ULBRICH
Associated Press

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti
The commander of U.S. forces in Haiti urged the country's military leaders today to stop using "unnecessary force" against pro-democracy demonstrators. Sporadic violence erupted Tuesday at Port-au-Prince's docks, airport and huge Cite Soleil slum, while American soldiers stood by and watched in dismay. Witnesses said one man was clubbed to death by a Haitian policeman.

The military government banned street demonstrations in a communiqué on state radio late Tuesday night. The broadcast was repeated this morning.

To head off further violence, Lt. Gen. Henry Hugh Shelton and his top aides met this morning with army chief Lt. Gen. Raoul Cedras. Shelton said he would urge Cedras to rein in police, soldiers and pro-army militiamen.

The "use of unnecessary force is a matter of concern to us," he said before the meeting at army headquarters.

Shelton said American soldiers would leave crowd control and law and order to Haitian authorities, but left open the possibility U.S. troops could step in if the situation goes out of control.

"It's an internal law and order situation," Shelton said, adding that if the Haitians fail to take the appropriate measures, "we will take the next step." He did not specify what that step might be.

The arrival of the Americans, under an accord brokered over the weekend that headed off an invasion, has prompted pro-democracy demonstrations and celebrations.

The jubilation has led to ugly clashes with Haitian police, who beat and tear gassed crowds that gathered to welcome the U.S. forces. American troops were preparing today to spread out from Haiti's two major cities amid appeals for calm by political leaders.

In Washington, White House Chief of Staff Leon Panetta told reporters this morning. "We're going to increase the patrols. We're going to make very clear to General Cedras that we can't see the kind of repetition of the situation that we saw yesterday."

U.S. Embassy spokesman Stanley Schrager told The Associated Press that the presence of U.S. soldiers "sort of opened up an avenue for demonstrations that hasn't existed before."

The U.S.-Haiti agreement, worked out by a delegation headed by former President Carter, requires military leaders to step down by Oct. 15 and allow the restoration of exiled President Jean-Bertrand Aristide.

Shelton told NBC-TV that American officials contacted Cedras on Tuesday. He told a news conference this morning that a tape was being prepared to tell Haitians the purpose of the American presence and how residents can best cooperate.

One problem that does not bode well for efforts to quell the violence could be that Cedras does not have firm enough control over police or militiamen, Shelton said.

"Many of them can be classified only as thugs," he said.

U.S. troops landed in Port-au-Prince on Monday, and about 1,800 Marines landed Tuesday at Haiti's second city, Cap-Haitien, in the north. Once their equipment is ashore, they are to begin fanning out into the countryside.
Endowment shopping list...

What 'All the Money in the World' could buy

Nothing gives me more pleasure than reading responses to my college. If only more of you would write them. They all start off the same way — "How little you understand of international relations, Ozersky," or "Bosh! You know nothing of the Bible." But the column is the last refuge of amateur opinion. I am not responsible for anything except its literariness.

Josh Ozersky

I am moved to write the issue of the ordination of women to the priesthood. I strongly encourage her and anyone else to write them. They all start off the same way — "How little you understand of international relations, Ozersky," or "Bosh! You know nothing of the Bible." But the column is the last refuge of amateur opinion. I am not responsible for anything except its literariness.

Speaking of football, do you think the University might give a few bucks there? Every idiot you see in the mall wearing a Notre Dame hat is contributing to our ocean-sized endowment. Everyone you hear the Notre Dame fight song, we get a check. Oh, and every time you see Notre Dame on TV, that is our unique contract with NBC operating, another vast cascading river of money gushing into our coffers. Judas Priest! Let's spend it today.

I mean, really. Have you ever tried to make a microfilm copy in the library? We only have one reader-printer! Every state college in North Dakota has half a dozen, and our million-volume research library has only one? Hello! What year did you say this was?

And what about our poor departments? A dozen more professor slots, please! Why not? We can afford them. And while we're at it, how about $65,000 stipends for grad students? I would even settle for $45,000. As long as the University gave me the use of my own Travelodge to get back and forth from my house two blocks from school. Why not? We can afford it.

We have All the Money in the World.

All the Money in the World! Let's get William Shakespeare here as writer in residence, or at least a random one. Get Stanley Kubrick to make our orientation films. Hire Marion Barry to lecture on the honor code. Or wilder ideas—a grill for Lafayette, so you could get eggs in the morning—even if it was after 9:00 a.m. A fourth bathroom stall, to match the number of places that sell food and coffee! An island for the OUC to run, complete with a long, rambling constitution and plenty of complicated laws and codifications needing their administrative energies. Next machines for the Observatory. New departments all together: the Department of Reservoir Dogs Studies, the Department of Yiddish Language and literature, the Gordon Lightfoot Chair of the Department of Canadian Culture, and more. We can afford it.

A supercollider. Personal papers of Aristotle. A full-size replica of Saturn. We can afford all these things, we have only to reach out for them. I put it to you, Mr. Provost, or whoever's in charge of the money—let's break the bank! We of all people ought to know you are fighting for recognition as human beings.
The Tulla Pipe Band led the Notre Dame Folk Choir into their town while the group toured Ireland.

By THOMAS KANE

The people of Tulla, like those of most of Ireland, have more than a little happy to see the Notre Dame Folk Choir when they made a visit this summer.

But then again, in a country so Catholic that the symbol of the National Radio Company (NTR) is the Cross of Saint Bridget, and a country that has been actively reviving its musical heritage since Vatican II, such an outpouring of emotion is not surprising.

"The choir has quite a following in Ireland," said Folk Choir director Steve Werner, who this summer returned to Ireland with the choir for the fourth time since 1988. Ever since gaining exposure by performing on national radio several years ago, receptions such as the one in Tulla of 1200, have been common. "The name of the choir goes before us [now] we've been on NTR," said Werner.

The ties between the real Irish and the Notre Dame Fighting Irish are more than name deep. "There has been a tremendous interchange of [music] between the Irish and Notre Dame," Werner said.

According to Werner, this musical exchange started in 1963 when the mass went from Latin to English and the music had to similarly adapt. "We actually brought their music back to them," Werner said.

Besides performing Irish folk music, the choir also presented workshops on "the Irish style of liturgical music, the 'history of the choir and its variation and mission,'" said Father Tom Gaughin, Folk Choir member and chaplain.

Gaughin joined the choir made up of 47 undergraduates, graduate and priests in 1991 after "I just got bitten by the [musical] bug." This year's Ireland trip is just the latest in what Father Gaughin terms "a nice string of events" that the folk choir has been involved in. In the last three years the choir has performed for the National Conference of Bishops, as well as the International Federation of Catholic Universities. They also had the honor of performing for the Pope at the World Youth Day in Colorado last year, said member Anne Marie Salen.

According to choir co-presidents Jenny Robinson, while the Ireland trip cost each choir member $500, the cost was somewhat reduced by profits made from the sale of the group's tapes such as, "Mass on the Feast of Saint Patrick," "Holy Women," and their most recent recording, "Canceled Season."

This summer's Ireland trip differed from previous trips in its diversity. Most of the towns visited were new stops on the tour, and small towns "not even on the map" (places such as Longfoot and Lismore), as well as large cities such as Limerick were performance sites for the group, said Father Gaughin.

The tour of Ireland gave the choir a view of the real Ireland, out the one presented in a travel guide.

"People think Ireland is very postcardish...in fact there is a lot of poverty...we sang in some nice places, as well as some not nice places," said Werner, who recalled one city with such a bad crime rate that it had the dubious nickname 'stab city.'

The ties between the real Irish and the Notre Dame Fighting Irish are more than name deep. "There has been a tremendous interchange of [music] between the Irish and Notre Dame," Werner said. This is in contrast to the English, who during their occupation of Ireland "tried to eradicate Irish culture."

The sentiment held by the Irish for their music can be overwhelming. On one stop in the tour the choir sang on the steps of the residence of Bishop Hart, the head of the Irish Church Committee for reforming the liturgy, was driven in tears by the hymn the choir sang in a Gaelic tongue.

"This was a wonderful moment of one country speaking to another," noted Werner. Another memorable moment came in the Limerick after a concert for the school children. The choir was mobbed by 400 kids seeking autographs, and who even chased after their bus.

"I won't forget this moment," said Werner.

The people of Notre Dame will get a taste of this folk music this Saturday when the choir gives a concert to benefit Catholic House in South Bend. The concert, to be held at 7 p.m. in the Brothers Chapel of Holy Cross College, will feature not only Irish music, but also African and Hispanic rhythms, as well as traditional American hymns.

"There is always a real variety...spiritual music performed a cappella as well as music with the full ensemble," said Gaughin.

While the choir performs every Sunday at the 11:45 a.m. mass in the Basilica, their concert appearances are few and far between.

"We don't do many concerts...in fact we hardly ever do them," said Robinson.

Making Saturday's free concert even more notable is the fact that it will be an alumni reunion for Steve Werner's choir members from the last 15 years.

"This concert will be special because of the alumni," Robinson said.

With a home football game this weekend, the returning alumni choir members will at least be greeted by an Irish Guard, if not bagpipe parade.
Natural Born Killers: The future of movie scores

By ROB ADAMS

Mary's movie releases soundtracks and a few even release a CD of the movie's score, the music that is played in the background as the film progresses. It is almost as if the producers of the CD's are afraid to make the pop songs that usually appear during the moments not containing dialogue with the classical music that fills conversations, builds tension, and sets mood.

Enter Trent Reznor. That tattered, afflicted genius behind Nine Inch Nails took snippets, clips, and full songs, mixed them with corresponding or not so corresponding parts of Oliver Stone's movie, Natural Born Killers and then released it on an Interscope CD. The only unfortunate circumstance of the CD is, unlike other soundtracks, the music doesn't make much sense (especially the parts with movie dialogue tossed in) unless the listener has seen the movie. However, once the powerful and brilliant music has been experienced, the soundtrack's purpose becomes much clearer.

Although Reznor's own music has taken industrial rock to an other level and accurately portrays the intense pain which is also main theme to rule his entire existence, this disc is too time-limited accomplishment. The no-holds-barred attitude he takes towards the music of Natural Born Killers is the future of scores. No longer should music merely have the soundtrack purpose inscribed by light, breezy accompaniment to suggest a funny moment or deep, brooding themes to say, "Oh, no our heroes are in trouble!"

It is ironic that such a talented and visionary musician should reach this height by using other people's music. Thankfully, he had the courage as well as the modesty to shop around and discover the best possible grooves he could come up with, rather than just trying to invent his own. It is the 90's, the era of sampling, and anything is fair game these days.

For example, Mallory Knox's (Juliette Lewis) visions of the future are set on top of the first few notes of the Cowboy Junkies version of "Sweet Jane," one of the most beautiful songs ever sung by the most beautiful voices ever to sing, Margo Timmins. This version has always completely increased the Velvet Underground's quasi-humorous original. L.J. is another band who receives the Reznor touch. "S—list," formerly a good song becomes a raucous anthem of intensity after seeing the movie. The raw fury of the music, the brick wall of solid guitar, and the lyrics of complete abandon come together in Stone and Reznor's world to create a monument of power.

A slice of rockabilly is dished through "Drums a go go," recorded in 1965 by the Hollywood Persuaders. Along with the fast-paced beat and exciting bass groove, the haunting organ provide impetus to understand the wonders of the desert where the movie takes place.

Waiting for the Miracle" opens the movie with a musical vignette of a coarse and bleak wasteland, sung by none other than Mr. Barris, Leonard Cohen; his sleepy vocals seep through the notes eerily, recreating images of the chilling first scenes. An excellent collaboration is performed on the track, "Two in One." This features the calypso sounds of "Kipenda Roho" by Remmy Ongala and Orchestre Super Matimila spliced with the utterly preposterous"fans on the street" who declare the serial killers as underground heroes.

Another exciting collaboration is on the track, "Sex is Violent." Mallory is attempting to seduce a cop who has come to visit in her jail cell, while the experimental jazz of Jane's Addiction's "Ted Just Admit It" float lazily in the background. Perry Farrell's glowering seems to put him in the cell with the two others: "Nothing's shocking," he humes with giggly nonchalance. Also from that cell-scene is Mallory Knox's isolated a capella, "Born Bad," written by Cissie Cobb. This song's meaning lies somewhere in the context of the movie. Her scratchy voice sounds surprisingly gorgeous in the setting intended.

The unity of the sound is shown through its emotion. Even though Reznor has selected music from many different times and genres, each is intense on its own, let alone when added to the music of Natural Born Killers. In this age when video is king, there should be more movies daring enough to show that great music conveys its audiences are subjected to.

"For those who have seen the movie 4 1/2 out of 5 For those who haven't 3 out of 5"
Fall game for Belles

By MISSY LIND

The Saint Mary's tennis team will begin their season this fall as another past, Saint Mary's had just been listed as another consideration when the primary rankings come out in December.

This year, coach Katie Cromer created a fall season for one purpose alone, to get ranked. The Belles will take on Valparaiso University, in their autumn, to create a fall season for one team in the singles bracket, while Andrea Ayres and Robin Hrycko lead the doubles bracket.

The Belles are made up of five returning players, and five new players. The singles players are: no. 1 Kozacik, no. 2 Ayres, no. 3 Jennifer Kelley, no. 4 Nora Slusar, no. 5 Nancy Waibel, and no. 6 Jennifer Bramall.

The doubles teams consist of: no.1 Ayres and Hrycko, no. 2 Kozacik and Bramler, and no.3 Slusar and Kate Marchewek.

The Belles are looking forward to their fall season because it will give them a chance to get the recognition they deserve, according to Cromer. It also gives them extensive practicing time for the more intense spring season.

"I feel very confident with this team," said Cromer. "It has a balance of experience and new players and there is so much improvement in the returning players."

Will your company grow as fast as you do?

Almost every company's recruiting ad promises you rapid growth. But before making any decisions, ask them how fast they're growing. After all, you're going to have to keep up with rival PW in the next season opener and have an excellent shot at making a run at the Interhall football title in 1994.

Happy 22 Matt!!!

We didn't forget about you!!

A Belated Birthday Performance

Tonight at the Linebacker

A R T H U R  A N D E R S E N

YOUR VOTE WILL COUNT ON NOV. 8!

SO BE SURE TO REGISTER TO VOTE:
10:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. & 4:30 p.m. to 7:00p.m.
Wednesday (9/21) and Thursday (9/22)

NORTH AND SOUTH DINING HALLS

Notre Dame Student Coordinators of Leone for State Senate Committees:
Ann Goodwin, Molly Lajoie & Kari Hussain

Saint Mary's Coordinator: Jennifer Dillman

For further information call: 272-1968 or 271-0469

NORTH AND SOUTH DINING HALLS

A Belated Birthday Performance

Andersen Consulting will be conducting screening interviews on Thursday, October 6 - Friday, October 7. Please see Career and Placement Services office for details. To learn more about us, please stop by at our Andersen Consulting Career Day on Friday, September 23 from 8:30 am - 5:00 pm in the La Fortune Ballroom. Casual attire is appropriate.
Men's

Football

Blue Division

1. Stanford
2. Keenan
3. Off-Campus
4. Morrissey
5. Flanner
6. Dillon
7. Grace

Gold Division

1. Fisher
2. Zahm
3. St. Ed's
4. Alumni
5. Carroll
6. Sorin

Catholicism abhors, by its very universality, assimilation and sameness. As the U.S. Bishops state in their 1983 Pastoral Letter on Hispanic Ministry: "Respect for culture is rooted in the dignity of people made in God's image. The Church shows its esteem for this dignity by working to ensure that pluralism, non assimilation and uniformity, in the guiding principle in the life of communities in both the ecclesial and secular societies. All of us in the Church should broaden the embrace with which we greet our Hispanic brothers and sisters and deepen our commitment to them."

In Campus Ministry we are trying to "broaden the embrace" through our weekly Spanish Mass, through the "Coro Primavera" choir, through retreats, and through a "Wednesday night drop-in at the Hesburgh Library. We are working with the Center for Social Concerns, H.A.O., and La Casa de Amistad to develop a mentoring program for at-risk Hispanic youth in South Bend. We will also offer with the C.S.S. an immersion experience/seminar at a Holy Cross parish in Monterey, Mexico over Christmas break. Much more can be done.

We recognize how gifted Notre Dame is to have a growing Hispanic presence on campus. The Hispanic leaders of tomorrow, in business, in politics, in the Church, are here now at this University. Notre Dame has an unparalleled opportunity to form and shape the future of the Hispanic community.

Perhaps when my friend sends his son or daughter to this place, he/she, unlike their father, will feel very much at home at Notre Dame.

Fr. Patrick Neary, C.S.C.
KEENAN

Keenan want to the stadium in 1991 and 1992, so it is no stranger to winning. However, Keenan is in an unusual situation in that it lost its entire starting backfield (quarterback, tailback, and fullback), so it is obviously unprepared at several skilled positions. However, Keenan expects to have a fine football team once again, with a lot of skill back at other positions. Key returnees include senior quarterback Bessette; junior lineman Chris Wolf; Ben Mitchell; senior cornerback Mark Hughes.

The state of rebuilding with a lot of talent coming back again, with a lot of talent coming back, Keenan expects improvement, we will be a challenge to compete for a quarterback, they will rely on running back Chris Pol- an excellent job of leading the offense and backing him up will be our starting quarterback from the beginning.

-B.J. HOOD

STANFORD

Building on their second place finish last year in the stadium, Stanford has been working hard to make this year another successful season.

However, Zahm had some crucial personnel problems in the second place finish last year in the stadium, and the team is in its running backs and fullback positions. However, Zahm had some crucial personnel problems in the second place finish last year in the stadium, and the team is in its running backs and fullback positions.

-B.J. HOOD

CARROLL

The Carroll Hall football team entered the season with a lot of unanswered questions. There are a large number of seniors on the team, and the team has a lot of potential if they play field, but what kind of experience will they have? The team lost all four of their games last year.

Although the offense is still looking for a quarterback, they will rely on their backfield and their speed of their talented running backs, in this case, the Vermin defense ability they will have.

The Vermin Defense remains unrested even a week before the season opener. With fifth year coach Marty Ogren still trying to fit the players into the right positions, the defense is a question mark as well. The seniors are performing well in scrimmages against Flanner and Fischer, senior running back Nasir will return, and that the Vermin are "pretty excited" for the regular season to get underway. Yet with so many uncertainties playing an experienced team will be a good team, but questions whether or not the Vermin can succeed last year's disappointing winless campaign. But there is no doubt in the mind of the coach that the team's record will better last year's mark.

-B.J. HOOD

FISHER

Last season, Fisher went 4-0 in the regular season, and only missed a trip to conference this trip to conference with the team's record last year. In 1993, Fisher was 4-0 in the regular season, and only missed a trip to conference this trip to conference with the team's record last year.

If there is one team to put your money on, it would have to be Off-Campus.

Off-Campus

If there is one team to put your money on, it would have to be Off-Campus.

We are looking very good. We have Chris Hammren who was MVP for two years in a row and tailback Mike Thomson is looking pretty good," realized key captain Dave Delore, who was MVP three years ago himself. "Let's not look at this team as being a sorry bunch of hitchhikers yet, the season has barely started yet. But give them credit, they've got a bunch of good guys playing for a team.

With a record last year not to smile at the Off-Campus team looks to win a playoff bid that they missed out on last year.

With the Off-Campus bunch consisting of experienced players, it is interesting to see if the egos win in the way of respect that need to win. But make no mistake, true champions come when the heat is on. With an MVP captain who knows his stuff and a bunch of experienced players leading the way, Off-Campus will be a team to reckon with in the blue division.

-TODD RUTH

GRACE

Optimism has been a rarity for the Grace Intall ball team over the last two years. However, after two weightless seasons, the coaches and players are confident that this will be the year their winning tradition is continued at Grace Hall.

"We won't know until we test out every area against live competition," said captain Pat Cooke. This year's squad has a combination of experienced veterans and freshmen. Grace Hall's offensive line, Offen. Tom Butler, Brie Bert, Tim Phillips, Jack Hughes, and Steve Lewis mean business. Receiver Michael Mataro, Ben Long, and Aaron Affronti will be the primary targets for Perez to throw the passes to.

The defensive unit is also big and experienced up front with Phillips, Todd Lewis, and Mark Gonzalez making up a line that could prove to be a menace against opposing quarterbacks. Mark Tekon, Ryan Soriano, and Mark Gonzalez give the Grace team the depth on line-backing to potential to lead.

According to Grace, they have a lot of players in the right places, and they will be competitive as long as they minimize their errors.

"If we avoid giving the big play, get good snaps from center, avoid mistakes in the kicking game, and play penalty free football for the most part, we should be fine," said senior captain Dave Delore.

-MICHAEL DAY

ZAHN

It didn't take senior captain Dave Bozanich long to hone one strength of the Zahn football team. "We know how to win," indeed they do, as they went to the stadium in '91 and '92, winning the championship in '92.

"We're hungry to get our gold pants back, no matter what it takes to get them back," says captain J. John Sokol. "We've got a lot of newcomers and we're going to have a lot of talent coming back. We're going to make this season equally successful."

St. Ed's will soon begin what they are looking very good. We have Chris Hammren who was MVP for two years in a row and tailback Mike Thomson is looking pretty good," realized key captain Dave Delore, who was MVP three years ago himself. "Let's not look at this team as being a sorry bunch of hitchhikers yet, the season has barely started yet. But give them credit, they've got a bunch of good guys playing for a team.

With a record last year not to smile at the Off-Campus team looks to win a playoff bid that they missed out on last year.

With the Off-Campus bunch consisting of experienced players, it is interesting to see if the egos win in the way of respect that need to win. But make no mistake, true champions come when the heat is on. With an MVP captain who knows his stuff and a bunch of experienced players leading the way, Off-Campus will be a team to reckon with in the blue division.

-TODD RUTH

-MICHAEL DAY

ST. ED'S

With their first game coming up this Sunday, St. Ed's takes on Off-Campus. St. Ed's will soon begin what they are looking very good. We have Chris Hammren who was MVP for two years in a row and tailback Mike Thomson is looking pretty good," realized key captain Dave Delore, who was MVP three years ago himself. "Let's not look at this team as being a sorry bunch of hitchhikers yet, the season has barely started yet. But give them credit, they've got a bunch of good guys playing for a team.

With a record last year not to smile at the Off-Campus team looks to win a playoff bid that they missed out on last year.

With the Off-Campus bunch consisting of experienced players, it is interesting to see if the egos win in the way of respect that need to win. But make no mistake, true champions come when the heat is on. With an MVP captain who knows his stuff and a bunch of experienced players leading the way, Off-Campus will be a team to reckon with in the blue division.

-TODD RUTH

-MICHAEL DAY

ALUMNI

For Off-Campus, Off-Campus is one of the league's best. It was bailed out in the post-season by Donnie Sullivan, who's a senior captain who knows his stuff and a bunch of experienced players leading the way, Off-Campus will be a team to reckon with in the blue division.

If there is one team to put your money on, it would have to be Off-Campus.

-NEIL ZENDER

FISHER

Last season, Fisher went 4-0 in the regular season, and only missed a trip to conference this trip to conference with the team's record last year. In 1993, Fisher was 4-0 in the regular season, and only missed a trip to conference this trip to conference with the team's record last year.

If there is one team to put your money on, it would have to be Off-Campus.

With their first game coming up this Sunday, St. Ed's takes on Off-Campus. St. Ed's will soon begin what they are looking very good. We have Chris Hammren who was MVP for two years in a row and tailback Mike Thomson is looking pretty good," realized key captain Dave Delore, who was MVP three years ago himself. "Let's not look at this team as being a sorry bunch of hitchhikers yet, the season has barely started yet. But give them credit, they've got a bunch of good guys playing for a team.

With a record last year not to smile at the Off-Campus team looks to win a playoff bid that they missed out on last year.

With the Off-Campus bunch consisting of experienced players, it is interesting to see if the egos win in the way of respect that need to win. But make no mistake, true champions come when the heat is on. With an MVP captain who knows his stuff and a bunch of experienced players leading the way, Off-Campus will be a team to reckon with in the blue division.

-TODD RUTH

-MICHAEL DAY

SORIN

With their first game coming up this Sunday, Sorin Hall takes on Off-Campus. With an MVP captain who knows his stuff and a bunch of experienced players leading the way, Off-Campus will be a team to reckon with in the blue division.

Sorin Hall looks toward Pete Sleasleto against Alumni is the big one. They have a lot of talent coming back. When asked about his biggest worry of the season, Dan McGinty, a senior wideout who's been impressive. "W e've got a lot of newcomers and we're going to have a lot of talent coming back. We're going to make this season equally successful."

Sorin Hall looks toward Pete Sleasleto against Alumni is the big one. They have a lot of talent coming back. When asked about his biggest worry of the season, Dan McGinty, a senior wideout who's been impressive. "W e've got a lot of newcomers and we're going to have a lot of talent coming back. We're going to make this season equally successful."

SORIN

With their first game coming up this Sunday, Sorin Hall takes on Off-Campus. With an MVP captain who knows his stuff and a bunch of experienced players leading the way, Off-Campus will be a team to reckon with in the blue division.

"We've got a lot of newcomers and we're going to have a lot of talent coming back. We're going to make this season equally successful."

-NEIL ZENDER

CARROLL

The Carroll Hall football team entered the season with a lot of unanswered questions. There are a large number of seniors on the team, and the team has a lot of potential if they play field, but what kind of experience will they have? The team lost all four of their games last year.

Although the offense is still looking for a quarterback, they will rely on their backfield and their speed of their talented running backs, in this case, the Vermin defense ability they will have.

The Vermin Defense remains unrested even a week before the season opener. With fifth year coach Marty Ogren still trying to fit the players into the right positions, the defense is a question mark as well. The seniors are performing well in scrimmages against Flanner and Fischer, senior running back Nasir will return, and that the Vermin are "pretty excited" for the regular season to get underway. Yet with so many uncertainties playing an experienced team will be a good team, but questions whether or not the Vermin can succeed last year's disappointing winless campaign. But there is no doubt in the mind of the coach that the team's record will better last year's mark.

-JACK MACLEOD

FISHER

Last season, Fisher went 4-0 in the regular season, and only missed a trip to conference this trip to conference with the team's record last year. In 1993, Fisher was 4-0 in the regular season, and only missed a trip to conference this trip to conference with the team's record last year.

If there is one team to put your money on, it would have to be Off-Campus.

-NEIL ZENDER

The Observer • SPORTS page 13

When Thursday, September 22, 1994
Sports Briefs

- Challenge U Aerobics - Some classes remain open. There is very limited space in Step classes. Please call or walk into the RecSports office for info about sign-ups.

- Horse Riding Lessons - Informational Meeting Thursday, September 22 at 7 pm in the Rush Aquatic Center classroom. For more info call RecSports at 1-6100.

- Rowing Club - Rowing needs a coach. Call Chris at 273-3975.

- Novice Rowers - Practice begins Wednesday at 4:30 and 5:45. Meet at the boathouse and bring insurance forms. It's not too late to join. Just show up Wednesday, Friday.

- Men's Boxing Club - Informational meeting for all students interested in becoming a part of the club or ski team. The meeting will be on Thursday 9/22 at 8:00 pm in 118 Nieuland.

- Ski Club will have an informational meeting for all students interested in becoming a part of the club or ski team. The meeting will be on Thursday 9/22 at 8:00 pm in 118 Nieuland.

- Horse Back Riding Trail Ride - Sunday, October 2 at 11:00, to 12:00, 1:00, 2:00, 3:00. No experience necessary and transportation will be provided. The bus will leave the Library Circle thirty minutes before each riding time. The fee is $2 before 11 p.m. and $3 after.

- Student Run - Saturday, October 8, 10:00 a.m. at Stepan Center. Three and six mile runs followed by a pancake breakfast. T-shirts to all finishers plus awards to the champions of each division. There will be student and staff divisions. Register in advance at RecSports. The fee is $5 in advance and $6 the day of the race. For more info call RecSports at 1-6100.

- Varsity Crew Team - Will be a meeting tonight in room 117 Debattole at 7:30 p.m. Bring your checkbooks!

---

Laker's to deal picks for Ceballos

By MEL REISNER

PHOENIX - The Phoenix Suns and Los Angeles Lakers are close to making a deal to send small forward Cedric Ceballos to the Lakers in exchange for a draft choice, Suns president Jerry Colangelo said Wednesday.

"It could be as early as tomorrow morning, but there's still work to be done," Colangelo said Wednesday evening. "The Ceballos has met with the Lakers and is going to have a physical taken, and there has to be a final agreement on the realization of his contract because of his salary slot. But it all could come together tomorrow."

Under the salary cap, the Lakers have a $1.75 million slot for Ceballos, who signed a five-year, $10 million contract with Phoenix last year and would make $2.1 million in 1994-95. A trade would mean a $350,000 pay cut, but the Lakers could make up the difference in later years.

"That's a separate issue we'll have to work out with Cedric and his agent," Lakers spokesman John Black said.

Colangelo said the Suns never were interested in Lakers point guard Sedale Threatt, whose name surfaced early in reports about a possible Suns-Lakers deal for Ceballos.

The Suns wanted a future first-round draft choice even before they signed guard Winston Garland as a backup to Kevin Johnson, Colangelo said.

"I can't be more specific, but the chances are that we're going to end up with a high draft pick over the next couple of years," he said.

Colangelo credited Ceballos' hard work for enhancing his trade value. Ceballos, who grew up in Los Angeles and attended Cal State Fullerton, was a second-round choice (No. 48) when the Suns drafted him in 1990.

---

Player's Ball

Sept. 24th
9 p.m. - 3 a.m.
at C.S.C.
$2 before 11 p.m.
$3 after

---

Hey Big Guy!

Call x3232 and wish me, Donna Lynn, a happy 20th birthday!
CALVIN AND HOBBES

HOW CAN OUR TIME BE UP IF I JUST DID THE FIRST PROBLEM ON THIS QUIZ? WHERE DID THE TIME GO?

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

25 Lobster claw

16 Mr. Potato Head

12 19

8 Lab tube

55 Poser

56 (750 each minute).

DILBERT

Let's start with a brief refresher in macroeconomics

DIEBERT

This diagram explains why I'm an expert in money yet I dress like a flood victim

BILL WATTERSON

You'll have no trouble with the rest of the course unless your mechanical pencil jammed. Let's erase.

Dave Kellett

Hand it in, Calvin. Your times up.

Scott Adams

Guesst Guesst Pick random numbers. I,said. If they come up right I'll buy you a soda.

Hand it in. Calvin. Your times up.

Don't forget we want a bet on who gets the higher grade.

The sets off. I don't gamble. No bets?

Celebrate a friend's birthday with a special Observer ad.

Of Interest

The First Hospitality Lunch of the semester will be hosted by St. Margaret's House, a welcoming space for women and children who need a safe place. It will be held today at the Center for Social Concerns from 11:30am -1:30pm Please come and support this important service and view the quilt made and designed by the residents and Mary Bern Brandenburg.

Menu

Notre Dame

SOUTH DINING HALL

English Beef Soup/Chili Grilled Cheese

Rolled Bacon/Cheddar Omlett BBQ Chicken

French Silk Pie

Baked Ham

Chocolate Fantasy

Saint Mary's

Parmesan Oven Fried Cod Baked Mascarpone

Baked Ham Portobello

Baked Ham Portobello

Friday Night in the LOFT!

With Campus Band

The RoadApples

9 p.m. Admission $1
Mainieri confident in players, season

By HEATHER MROSLA
Sports Writer

Though the major league strike continues, America's favorite pastime still thrives at Notre Dame. In anticipation of the upcoming season, St. Ed's Sports Writer Pat Murphy, head coach at Creighton, and St. Ed's Baseball" by discussing his new position. He praised his favorite pastime still thrives at Notre Dame two years ago. Mainieri himself brings experience coaching hitters and on-the-field players. He then outlined his own philosophy. "My attitude is to show a lot of confidence in the players," he said. This confidence was evident in his praise for his team, especially the pitchers. "The true strength lies with pitchers," he said. "These pitchers could throw the ball through a carwash and it wouldn't even get wet." Though optimistic overall, Mainieri spoke of a possible weakness due to the loss of five of the best infielders and limited infield recruiting. He also answered questions about his offensive philosophy, which emphasizes a hit and run offense. "We're going to put the pressure on the other team," he said. Mainieri's excitement for baseball and for Notre Dame was apparent throughout his presentation. "Notre Dame is the greatest university God ever put on earth," he said.

"Forget the weather," he said. "We're playing in a beautiful ballpark." Irish baseball faces a tough season beginning with the University of Texas, Cal State Fullerton, and Pepperdine. Mainieri, however, is confident in his players. "Notre Dame offers the best of both worlds," he said. "We have some great players, but they're also smart players." For an early look at the team, the Irish will be scrimmaging after Friday's pep rally at the Frank Eck Baseball Stadium.