Community service to receive funding

Changes make deferment possible

By SARAH DORAN
News Editor

While interest in postgraduate study runs high for many Notre Dame students, some immediately discount the opportunity, fearing the encroachment of loan providers looking to collect their share of the college education.

But developments in educational loan programs do away with this hurdle, as new provisions can qualify students for up to three years of loan deferment, according to Margaret J. Brandt, director of financial aid and student employment coordinator.

It is the first change to the federal work-study program in many years, said Brandt. Students qualify to receive work-study funds up to 10 percent of their demonstrated financial need. At the most recently, about $1.8 million in work-study funds are provided by the federal government, and correspondingly, at the least, the students' employer provides 25 percent of these funds.

Although program guidelines are still in the developmental phase, the main criteria in administering the work-study funds is that receiving students must be working directly with clients of the service organization.

Funds will not be given to students performing administrative or clerical tasks.

"Its aim is to instill social responsibility in students," she said.

Approximately 100 students will be offered community service positions as part of their work-study commitment, said Brandt. Eligible students will be matched with service organizations by the end of October, she said.

The Office of Financial Aid has been working closely with the Center for Social Concerns to design student work-study positions in community service organizations, said Brandt.

As part of this process, juniors and seniors currently receiving federal work-study funds have been sent community service forms designed to survey their interest in the new opportunity. As feedback rolls in, interested students will also go through a screening process.

"This year we are just getting our feet wet, trying to see how many students are interested," said Brandt. "The next step will be in the development of the program."

Cable poll results to be reviewed by board

By KATE GRISHAM
Assistant News Editor

Student Government has reseated the options, completed the paperwork, and presented their findings to the Board of Trustees.

Now it's up to the University to determine whether Notre Dame will take the final decision to provide opportunity to cable television in the dorm rooms in the near future.

According to student body President David Hungeling, a committee met with the Board of Trustees on Thursday to discuss the feasibility of installing cable in dorm rooms. Both Hungeling and Secretary of the Board of Trustees Reports Larissa Herczeg felt the Board responded positively to their findings.

"It was about as positive as it could be, considering we really didn't know what to expect," said Hungeling. I thought we were very receptive."

"Bringing it to the trustees has brought the issue of cable T.V. back to Notre Dame's agenda," he said.

Hungeling noted that it is the University, not the Board, who will make the final decision. "What the Trustees can do is ask some pressure on the University," he said. "It's basically up to the Administration."

Both Hungeling and Herczeg noted that cable television will bring many opportunities for academic and educational options for students.

"Our two main arguments are that we are already wiring the dorm rooms, this is the most efficient time to install cable, and also that making friends

With food in hand, Eleanor Horedd reaches out to a group of ducks during Saint Mary's Fall Day on campus yesterday.

Making some friends

By NICOLE NIELSEN
News Writer

"I love the attitude of always wanting to be the best," said David Johnson, President, Chairman, and CEO of the Campbell Soup Company in his lecture last Friday.

Johnson, this year's speaker in the Eugene B. Clark Executive Lecture Series, spoke on "Competing and Winning: Global People Power," in which he discussed his strategies for winning that have made the Campbell Soup Company in his talk. Sales in sales and 42nd in market value within the Fortune 500.

"The first winning strategy," Johnson said, "is to set strategic precepts. These are the values within which the enterprise will operate."

He further stated that the prime purpose of the enterprise is to build shareholder wealth, the driving force is brand power, and the controlling force is people power.

"The source of all company advantage stems from people," Johnson said. "A company must deliver superior results."

The next step is to define the challenge. Johnson said this includes analyzing the company's earnings, return on equity, and cash return on sales.

Next, a company must set measurable objectives. Johnson said, he defines this as "showing the risk bearers that we aren't sentimental."

The next step is to sell the objectives. According to Johnson, this is easy, and includes identifying and knowing the competition, and realizing that the threats of competitors are serious.

A company must also make tough decisions, and Johnson said that this is the most difficult winning strategy. When he came to Campbell Soup, he had to eliminate 16,000 jobs, close 24 plants, and sell businesses totaling $500 million in sales.

"It is important to realize that there is going to be a better tomorrow," Johnson said.

"Winning a company must measure and compare the results versus the objectives," he added. "It is important to look at all-time success, not just the year-to-year success."

Johnson said a company that wants to be a success must set rewards for winning. He added that it is necessary to keep the employees excited, and in the case of the Campbell Soup Company, this is done through performance incentives such as a potential to earn two times one's salary, and savings plans.

"Making some friends is always more successful. For Campbell Soup, the vision for the future is "Campbell brands preferred around the world." The Campbell Soup Company hopes to expand into Mexico, Asia, and Europe.

Johnson discussed the 1995 strategies for the Campbell Soup Company, including brand expansion, low cost business systems, and alliances with other companies.

"Each year the team wants to move to new heights. We are on a global consumer crusade," he said.

Johnson said that the Campbell Soup Company is similar to Notre Dame in that both have a sense of shaping the future, going on forever, and continuing tradition.
Leaving the eight-track behind...

I have always found my dad’s strange attachment to eight-tracks odd. My sister and I have both been told stories about the compactness of cassette tapes compared to the cleanness from CDs, until we drop from sheer exhaustion. However, the last time we go up north, my dad brings out his eight-track player, and half a dozen eight-tracks, and absolutely plays it. He doesn’t seem to care that technology has marched on, and left eight-tracks hanging around with the dinosaurs. Likewise he can’t understand why everyone has left the realm of the eight-track.

The rest of us generally sit back and laugh at those like my father, who are caught in eddies of technology, and don’t flow along with the stream. Everyone has left the realm of the eight-track.

Today's Staff

from sheer exhaustion.
eight-tracks, and those of The Observer.
everyone has left the realm of the eight-track.
"Anybody who knows me knows that I haven't drank or taken drugs since the early 70's.," Mellencamp said last week in an interview with the Herald-Times. "I've never been 42 and I've been making records since 22. Do people really think you can live that stereotypical drugged-up lifestyle and still make records for 20 years?" He confirmed for the first time Friday that the "heart blockage" that forced him to cancel his recent concert tour was indeed a heart attack. Although he said there is no rock 'n' roll "heart attack," he admitted, "Hell, I sometimes wake up and ask myself, 'did I make another record?"'

Mellencamp is frustrated by drug rumors that are living a rock 'n' roll lifestyle and make records for 20 years.' He confirmed for the first time Friday that the "heart blockage" that forced him to cancel his recent concert tour was indeed a heart attack. Although he said there is no rock 'n' roll "heart attack," he admitted, "Hell, I sometimes wake up and ask myself, 'did I make another record?"'

Mellencamp is frustrated by drug rumors that are living a rock 'n' roll lifestyle and make records for 20 years.' He confirmed for the first time Friday that the "heart blockage" that forced him to cancel his recent concert tour was indeed a heart attack. Although he said there is no rock 'n' roll "heart attack," he admitted, "Hell, I sometimes wake up and ask myself, 'did I make another record?"'

The computer "camera" always had been big and clunky things with humongous hard drives that clipped to the hip, and not resistant to the bumps and shocks that any Vivitar camera is on an average news day. Furthermore the images they had published were always blurry, and required tons of memory to store, which was not at all measurable a few years ago. But now the "camera" according to the magazine, are numerous. No more paper or film would be needed. The electronic photo could be incorporated directly into the page with any almost publishing software. Minor changes could easily be performed on the picture; and with enough skill, one could erase the background action. However, every time we go into the missing background action.

The computer "camera" always had been big and clunky things with humongous hard drives that clipped to the hip, and not resistant to the bumps and shocks that any Vivitar camera is on an average news day. Furthermore the images they had published were always blurry, and required tons of memory to store, which was not at all measurable a few years ago. But now the "camera" according to the magazine, are numerous. No more paper or film would be needed. The electronic photo could be incorporated directly into the page with any almost publishing software. Minor changes could easily be performed on the picture; and with enough skill, one could erase the background action. However, every time we go into the missing background action.

The computer "camera" always had been big and clunky things with humongous hard drives that clipped to the hip, and not resistant to the bumps and shocks that any Vivitar camera is on an average news day. Furthermore the images they had published were always blurry, and required tons of memory to store, which was not at all measurable a few years ago. But now the "camera" according to the magazine, are numerous. No more paper or film would be needed. The electronic photo could be incorporated directly into the page with any almost publishing software. Minor changes could easily be performed on the picture; and with enough skill, one could erase the background action. However, every time we go into the missing background action.

The computer "camera" always had been big and clunky things with humongous hard drives that clipped to the hip, and not resistant to the bumps and shocks that any Vivitar camera is on an average news day. Furthermore the images they had published were always blurry, and required tons of memory to store, which was not at all measurable a few years ago. But now the "camera" according to the magazine, are numerous. No more paper or film would be needed. The electronic photo could be incorporated directly into the page with any almost publishing software. Minor changes could easily be performed on the picture; and with enough skill, one could erase the background action. However, every time we go into the missing background action.

The computer "camera" always had been big and clunky things with humongous hard drives that clipped to the hip, and not resistant to the bumps and shocks that any Vivitar camera is on an average news day. Furthermore the images they had published were always blurry, and required tons of memory to store, which was not at all measurable a few years ago. But now the "camera" according to the magazine, are numerous. No more paper or film would be needed. The electronic photo could be incorporated directly into the page with any almost publishing software. Minor changes could easily be performed on the picture; and with enough skill, one could erase the background action. However, every time we go into the missing background action.

The computer "camera" always had been big and clunky things with humongous hard drives that clipped to the hip, and not resistant to the bumps and shocks that any Vivitar camera is on an average news day. Furthermore the images they had published were always blurry, and required tons of memory to store, which was not at all measurable a few years ago. But now the "camera" according to the magazine, are numerous. No more paper or film would be needed. The electronic photo could be incorporated directly into the page with any almost publishing software. Minor changes could easily be performed on the picture; and with enough skill, one could erase the background action. However, every time we go into the missing background action.
By LAURA FERGUSON

Students at Saint Mary's will have several opportunities to experience the growing multicultural diversity on campus through Multicultural Week activities, beginning today.

Today, photographer Kay Westhues will kick off her photography exhibit with a lecture entitled, "Art and Social Change" at the Cashwa-Leighton Library Media Center at 2 p.m.

Her exhibit "On the Malecon: Portraits of Cubans" illustrates her concerns about social justice, most recently in Cuba. It will be displayed Oct. 3-31.

"This exhibit is very timely considering all of the attention Cuba has been given lately," said Maricela Ramirez, director of multicultural affairs.

Tuesday, a faculty panel will discuss their personal and professional experiences in Australia, Russia, and Ghana, respectively. "The Research and Teaching Across Cultures" will include Thomas Platt, professor of biology, Cynthia Dunford, assistant professor of nursing, and Claude Rbenshaw, professor of business administration and economics.

"Multicultural week can provide the opportunity to have contact with other cultures and to get involved," she said. "I encourage students to take advantage of the week's events and to get involved."
MULTICULTURAL FALL FESTIVAL

OCTOBER 2 - 7, 1994

CULTURE ON THE QUAD  A daily sample of Notre Dame's ethnic clubs
12:15 - 1:00 PM  MONDAY - FRIDAY  FIELDHOUSE MALL
MONDAY: American Lebanese Club
TUESDAY: Native American Students at Notre Dame (NASAND)
WEDNESDAY: League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC)
THURSDAY: African American Student Alliance
FRIDAY: Indian Association & Asian American Association

FIRESIDE ChATS  "Healing Our World: It's a Family Affair" - Various speakers present their perspectives
12:15 - 1:00 PM  MONDAY - FRIDAY  ND ROOM LAFORTUNE
MONDAY: Don McNeill, C.S.C., Katie Glynn, Isaac Duncan  FREE LUNCH PROVIDED
TUESDAY: Joe Miller
WEDNESDAY: Maura Ryan
THURSDAY: Barbara Mars-Hubbard
FRIDAY: Janet Kourany & Jim Sterba

ENTERTAINMENT ON THE QUAD  Multicultural entertainment
4:30 - 6:00 PM  MONDAY - FRIDAY  FIELDHOUSE MALL
MONDAY: George and the Freeks
TUESDAY: Hawaiian Club & Philippine Club
WEDNESDAY: Ballet Folklórico
THURSDAY: Troop ND
FRIDAY: Native American Students at Notre Dame (NASAND)

SPECIAL EVENTS
7:00 PM  LAFORTUNE BALLROOM
TUESDAY: Bharata Nityam (Indian) Dance Troupe
THURSDAY: Barbara Mars-Hubbard

TASTE OF NATIONS  A taste of international food, entertainment and fun
8:00 PM - 12:00 AM  FRIDAY  STEPAN CENTER  COST $1.00

SPONSORED BY THE MULTICULTURAL EXECUTIVE COUNCIL
By WENDY GRZYWACZ
News Writer

This week's annual Multicultural Fair Festival aims "to bring awareness of all the different cultures at Notre Dame," according to Pam Hoskie, Executive Council member. The festival kicked off yesterday afternoon with campus bands and a spiritual celebration at Fieldhouse Mall. Events including entertainment and food are planned for Monday through Friday.

Some of the week's highlights include "Culture on the Quad," featuring different ethnic clubs each day from 12 to 1 p.m.; and "Entertainment on the Quad," with performances by campus bands from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. at Fieldhouse Mall. Daily "Fireside Chats" addressing the theme of "Healing Our World: It's a Family Affair" will be held from 12:15 to 1 p.m. in the Notre Dame Room of LaFortune, and special events including Bharata Natyam, a Native American dance group, and futurist Barbara Marx Hubbard are planned for Thursday and in LaFortune Ballroom.

The week's events will culminate with "Taste of Nations" on Friday from 8 p.m. until midnight in Steppe Center, a food festival with delicacies from various ethnic groups. The annual festival is planned by the Multicultural Executive Council, whose members have been planning each activity since last semester.

Member Angie McCook encourages participation by the Notre Dame community in an attempt to "eradicate ignorance" and foster a "common bond" between cultures. "It's an eye-opener, bringing it all into perspective," McCook said. Participants in "Culture on the Quad" include the American Lebanese Club on Monday, Native American Students at Notre Dame (NASAND) on Tuesday, League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC) on Wednesday, African American Student Alliance on Thursday, the Indian Association and Asian American Association on Friday.

Government leaders and students will participate in "Fireside Chats" which will feature Father Don McNeill on Monday, Dr. Joe Miller on Tuesday, Dr. Maura Ryan on Wednesday, Barbara Marx Hubbard on Thursday, and Dr. Janet Koury and Jim Sterba on Friday. "Entertainment on the Quad" will include George and the Freeks on Monday, the Hawaiian Ensemble and Philipino Club on Tuesday, Ballet Folklorico on Wednesday, Troop N.D. on Thursday, and Native American Students at Notre Dame on Friday. All events are open to the public and free, except for the "Taste of Nations," which costs $1 for admission.

Notre Dame student Freeks

WASHINGTON HALL
University of Notre Dame
Notre Dame, IN 46556
(219) 631-5956

Washington Hall Management has immediate openings for the following student-employment position:

Assistant Hall Manager

Student managers work with a diverse array of campus organizations and audiences. Student managers must:

- be able to work as a team and alone.
- have a cumulative GPA of 2.8 or higher.
- be able to work 10 hours per week.
- must be able to work some weekends.

We will train students on the job, however, students who possess the following KSA's (knowledge, skills, abilities) will receive greater consideration:

- technical theatre skills (sound and light)
- knowledge of Mac programs (FileMaker Pro, Word 5.0, Excel, PageMaker)
- creativity
- certification in CPR and First Aid

Interested students should apply at the Facility Manager's Office, 125 Washington Hall.

By ISAAC LEVI
Associated Press

MEXICO CITY

A man who confessed to a role in the assassination of a top Roman Catholic politician told investigators Sunday that the plot was masterminded by a congressman upset over plans to reform the party.

According to a statement from the attorney general's office, Jorge Rodriguez Gonzalez, who was arrested over the weekend, told police the congressmen, Manuel Munoz Tovar and Rocha Ruiz Massieu, were seeking to kill their rival, Fernando, to plan last week's killing of Jose Francisco Ruiz Massieu.

The congressmen wanted Ruiz Massieu, 28-year-old horse trainer and farmhand Daniel Aguilar Trevino, who was arraigned in a Mexico City criminal court for murder and possession of a firearm prohibited for civilian use, a federal felony. He was being held Sunday night.

But authorities allege Trevino was part of a wider conspiracy of at least five men, all from Tamaulipas state.

Muñoz Rocha is accused of hiring the two brothers, who later hired Trevino as a triggerman, authorities say.

Unfortunately, though, only students participating in President Clinton's newly created AmeriCorps National Service programs can qualify for Stafford Loan forgiveness. Although a broad Stafford forgiveness program was authorized in the Higher Education Act, the federal Corporation for National Service has only $3 million to put towards Stafford forgiveness.

Although it is not known where, Stafford forgiveness for non-AmeriCorps participants may be available in the future, said Fogarty.

ND to have multicultural week

1994 STUDENTS WITH MOTHER TERESA

SAINT MARY'S SEMESTER AROUND THE WORLD PROGRAM
OPEN TO ALL ND/SMC STUDENTS

CHALLENGING ACADEMIC PROGRAM
FOCUSING ON THE ASIAN WORLD
16 SEMESTER CREDITS APPLICABLE TOWARDS CORE OR MAJOR REQUIREMENTS
OPPORTUNITY TO TRAVEL AND STUDY IN MANY COUNTRIES OF FAR EAST, SOUTHEAST ASIA, SOUTH ASIA, EASTERN AND WESTERN EUROPE.
COST: A SEMESTER'S SMC TUTION — ROOM — BOARD PLUS A SURCHARGE.

INFORMATION MEETING
WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1994 7 P.M.
WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1994 7 P.M.
FOR FURTHER INFORMATION: DR. C. FULLAPILLY
MADELEVA 336. SMC. 284-4686/4474

1994 STUDENTS AT THE TAJ MAHAL

MasterCuts

family haircuts

University Park Mall

20% Discount
on haircuts and brand name products
with student ID and this ad

277-3770

NOTRE DAME
COMMUNICATION & THEATRE PRESENTS
A TRAGICOMEDY ABOUT LIFE

Waiting for Godot

By Samuel Beckett

DIRECTED BY REX DAVID GARRICO
CHOREOGRAPHED BY AUDITONUM

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1994票12:15 P.M.
THURSDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1994 7:30 P.M.
FRIDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1994 7:30 P.M.
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1994 7:30 P.M.
SUNDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1994 2:30 P.M.

PLAYING AT:
WASHINGTON HALL
RESERVED SEATS $7
STUDENT AND STAFF DISCOUNT TIX AVAILABLE

NOTICE: TICKETS NOW ON SALE AT THE DOOR

BY OBERWALD ROBERT F. KOZSA
Fireside Chats
October 2 - 7, 1994
Healing Our World: It's A Family Affair

Monday, October 3

Don McNeill, C.S.C., Katie Glynn, Isaac Duncan
"Unity Through Community: Cross Cultural Experiences Through Service"

Tuesday, October 4

Joe Miller
"The Earth Is Your Home: Is Your Room Clean?"

Wednesday, October 5

Maura Ryan
"Relationships: The Building Blocks Toward A Global Family"

Thursday, October 6

Barbara Marx-Hubbard
"How To Create A Global Family"

Friday, October 7

Janet Kourany & Jim Sterba
"The Ideal Of A Feminist Family"

Free lunch will be provided
Sponsored by the Multicultural Executive Council
The vote of the group's executive council to the recent founding of the news service was 29-1 in favor of the office, reversing the decision or exclusion, DeCleene in inclusion and we don't want to because key members of the group could not find a convenient time to meet.

Sally Green, President of OUT, IU's GLB People's Union, said the College Democrats' support for the office means gay students at IU have a political party to support, rather than being alienated from both parties.

"I hope they re-organize themselves into a functioning group with a clear agenda, because then maybe we can help each other," Daily Student Reporter Anne Bishop contributed to this article.

DeCleene instead argued that the $50,000 allocated for the office should fund things from which a majority of students can benefit, such as more bike racks.

Yet Chiam Juliane, College Democrats of Indiana political director, said DeCleene never discussed the issue with the executive council and his position was "in good faith." "There has been no record of us stating support of his stance," he added. "We did not support it. He never talked to us about it, he only never brought it up at an executive board meeting.

Several council members countered that he did not take a formal vote before making his announcement of the office. "If we were an office key because members of the group could not find a convenient time to meet.

"I hope they re-organize themselves into a functioning group with a clear agenda, because then maybe we can help each other," Daily Student Reporter Anne Bishop contributed to this article.

DeCleene instead argued that the $50,000 allocated for the office should fund things from which a majority of students can benefit, such as more bike racks.

Yet Chiam Juliane, College Democrats of Indiana political director, said DeCleene never discussed the issue with the executive council and his position was "in good faith." "There has been no record of us stating support of his stance," he added. "We did not support it. He never talked to us about it, he only never brought it up at an executive board meeting.

Several council members countered that he did not take a formal vote before making his announcement of the office. "If we were an office key because members of the group could not find a convenient time to meet.

"I hope they re-organize themselves into a functioning group with a clear agenda, because then maybe we can help each other," Daily Student Reporter Anne Bishop contributed to this article.

DeCleene instead argued that the $50,000 allocated for the office should fund things from which a majority of students can benefit, such as more bike racks.

Yet Chiam Juliane, College Democrats of Indiana political director, said DeCleene never discussed the issue with the executive council and his position was "in good faith." "There has been no record of us stating support of his stance," he added. "We did not support it. He never talked to us about it, he only never brought it up at an executive board meeting.

Several council members countered that he did not take a formal vote before making his announcement of the office. "If we were an office key because members of the group could not find a convenient time to meet.

"I hope they re-organize themselves into a functioning group with a clear agenda, because then maybe we can help each other," Daily Student Reporter Anne Bishop contributed to this article.

DeCleene instead argued that the $50,000 allocated for the office should fund things from which a majority of students can benefit, such as more bike racks.

Yet Chiam Juliane, College Democrats of Indiana political director, said DeCleene never discussed the issue with the executive council and his position was "in good faith." "There has been no record of us stating support of his stance," he added. "We did not support it. He never talked to us about it, he only never brought it up at an executive board meeting.

Several council members countered that he did not take a formal vote before making his announcement of the office. "If we were an office key because members of the group could not find a convenient time to meet.

"I hope they re-organize themselves into a functioning group with a clear agenda, because then maybe we can help each other," Daily Student Reporter Anne Bishop contributed to this article.
Although the physical character of the mind was the opening last week of the Bouts. He was kidding about law school worth. This was the only thing. He means, "a sound mind in a sound body." reflecting the goal of "mens sana in cor body." Participatory athletics have always played an important role at Notre Dame, boxing is... an extension of boxing. The four-year study found that amateur boxing presented no more risk ropes seemed. It doesn't really matter than even the scrupulous program in long and buildings characte-ristic of an aspiring "research univer-sity," the participatory athletic tradition survives in the club and intramural sports that student managers headed by assistant managers. Assistant John Christoforetti, T knew I had lost experience after losing a hard fight with Norbut, summarized his Bengal Bouts program. Jack instinctively embodies the spirit of Nappy as it was described by Tom Suddes. "His boxing instruction was not meant to teach just the 'knock how,' but the 'knock why.' And not just the why behind the punches or ring strategy, but the why of 'Strong bodies a fight that weak bodies may be nourished.' Among members of the Boxing Club, I have noted a persistent eagerness to help other participants, including poten-tial opponents, and a remarkable awareness that the benefit to the needy in Bangladesh is more important than any personal benefit to themselves. These attitudes reflect a generosity of spirit we could all do well to emulate. Last year, Observer sports editor, Mike Norbut, summarized his Bengal Bouts experience after losing a hard fight with John Christoforetti, "I knew I had lost unambiguously, but it didn't matter. I was on my feet. I was proud to be wearing gloves and heads up in front of a crowd of 600 people. I was proud to be a Bengal Bouter."
Notre Dame 34, Stanford 15.
The Cardinal outplayed Notre Dame on paper, but definitely not where it counted the most.

BERT BERRY:
Berry had three quarterback sacks to pace an improved Irish pass rush.

“The frustrating thing is that we were dominating everything but the scoreboard.”
—Stanford quarterback Steve Stenstrom

The Observer/Jake Peters
Irish corner back Shawn Wooden flips a Stanford receiver during the first half of Saturday’s Irish victory.

Playing the numbers

Sensational stats mean little as the Irish club Cardinal

By GEORGE DOHRMANN
Sports Editor

Derrick Mayes cracked a big smile and fantasized for a moment. Notre Dame’s wide receiver liked the idea of himself playing in Stanford’s pass-happy offense.

“That sure would be nice,” he said. “I could see those 15-catch days.”

But quickly Mayes clicked back to reality and voiced the resounding theme of Saturday’s game at Notre Dame Stadium.

“It’s nice to have the numbers, but it’s better if you win.”

The Cardinal did indeed own the numbers but the Irish won the statistical game where it counted. Notre Dame 34, Stanford 15.

It was a game for the fantasy leagues, for nerds huddling behind a computer living for the stat. Keep adding the yards, keep track of the passes, and spell Stenstrom correctly.

That would be Steve Stenstrom, the Cardinal quarterback who sprayed the Irish secondary 59, completing 37 and totaling 360 yards.

Stanford ran 95 offense plays, the most ever against a Notre Dame team, and controlled the ball for just over 35 minutes.

Stanford offense a sputtering shrine to Stenstrom

Steve Stenstrom wore the stains of the struggle. Patches of grass and mud covered his once-white jersey, residue of several trips to the turf courtesy of an awakened Notre Dame defense.

“It’s tough to throw from the supine position,” Irish coach Lou Holtz said earlier in the week, a not so subtle wake up call to his defense.

But Stenstrom left his own mark on the Irish, albeit an ultimately insignificant one. He left Notre Dame Stadium Saturday as the most prolific quarterback ever to play against the Irish.

He also left as a loser.

Stenstrom piloted a Cardinal offense that chewed up the clock and chewed up yardage, but spit out scoring opportunities.

A penalty negated a touchdown pass on Stanford’s first drive and the Cardinal set-
Stanford stifled by Irish hitting, pass defense

Bone Awards emphasized as Notre Dame's defense pounds Cardinal

By MIKE NORBUT
Associate Sports Editor

The Notre Dame defense had a bone to pick with Stanford's offense. And along the way, the Irish players picked up a few bones of their own. At the beginning of the season, defensive coordinator Bob Davie and defensive line coach Mike Trgovac invested in a box of dog biscuits, treats that they would give to the players after a bone-crushing hit.

That investment began to pay dividends for them Saturday.

"We have a bone award that we give out for big hits," Irish cornerback Robby Taylor said. "When we get a hard hit, we're supposed to point to Coach Trgovac, and tell him we got a bone." "He has them in his pocket. We actually got a bone. We must have had five or six today.""Hard hits go down simply as tackles in the statistics book, but it means a lot in the intimidation category.

"We got mad hearing that people said we don't hit as hard as previous Notre Dame defenses," Irish inside linebacker Justin Goheen said. "We just tried to physically dominate the game."

It was a big hit from free safety Brian Magie that put the Cardinal out of the end zone early in the game. Just seven minutes into the contest, the junior jarred the ball loose from Stanford running back Anthony Bookman after he had been hit by a Steve Stenstrom pass off a Goheen up.

The drive forced Stanford to kick a field goal, the only points the Cardinal could get all game.

"I personally was on a mission," Berry said. "I'm able to use my speed to my advantage. It's something that I do every day in practice."

Notre Dame frequently used a three-man rush during the game, a tactic that has not put as much pressure on opposing teams in the past, but it did Saturday.

"We sometimes rushed only three people, but it was not straight up," Irish coach Lou Holtz said. "I used an unconventional pass rush. We had to mix it up, because Stanford's a good offense."

Despite the pressure, Stenstrom was still able to complete 37 of 53 for 360 yards and two touchdowns, statistics that do not put a smile on Holtz's face.

"We are not as on top of pass defense," said Stanford coach Bill Walsh. "We did everything but he said. "We can't give up 360 yards passing on defense. We take great pride in things like this."

"Steve Stenstrom is a great quarterback," Magie said. "He was doing well reading our coverages. But we really wanted to concentrate more on finishing games."

"Nevertheless, Stenstrom could not get over the mound on defense. And although his personal statistics did not show it, Cardinal quarterback Steve Stenstrom was running all day from Notre Dame's linemen and linebackers."

Sophomore Bert Berry provided a spark for the Irish, running over the Stanford offensive line on his way to recording three sacks for the game. Goheen and defensive end Brian Hamilton also contributed with one sack apiece.

"We're playing more as a team on defense," he continued. "We're developing in all areas.

"Defensive line coach Lou Holtz probably relished this victory because his punts were high and deep. Scott Sollmann recovered a fumble on a Cardinal punt. Only the returns were less than stellar.

"We're playing more as a team on defense," he continued. "We're developing in all areas."

"We were unable to punch the ball into the end zone when it counted. And the rest of the time, they could not punch it past the Irish defense."

Notre Dame's defensive unit held Stanford to only 360 yards of offense, and the Cardinal could not get into the end zone until the fourth quarter. Hard hits from the Irish ended several Stanford scoring threats.

"We were unable to punch the ball into the end zone when it counted. And the rest of the time, they could not punch it past the Irish defense."

Bert Berry sacks Stanford quarterback Steve Stenstrom, Berry's third sack of the game.

GRADED POSITION ANALYSIS

QUARTERBACKS—A

Not an earth-shattering performance from Ron Powlus, but an effective one nonetheless. The sophmore completed 11 of 14 for 166 yards, three touchdowns, and no interceptions. He also had a 45-yard run off an option play.

RUNNING BACKS—B

Randy Kinder once again had a 100-yard rushing day, and Ray Zellars rolled over the Stanford offense. But Emmett Morely had a problem holding on to the ball.

RECEIVERS—A

Once again, a superb performance from Mayes, Miller, and Stafford. Each had a touchdown reception and some eye-opening catches.

OFFENSIVE LINE—B

263 yards on the ground and 166 through the air is nothing to shake a stick at. But three sacks allowed put a blemish on their performance.

DEFENSIVE LINE—B

A mean pass rush kept Stanford quarterback Steve Stenstrom either on the run or on his back all day. Gibson, Grassman, and Hamilton threw the Cardinal offensive line around like rag dolls.

LINEBACKERS—A

Bert Berry had three tackles on the run and all tackles. Justin Goheen had a sack and eleven tackles. Renaldo Wynn caused a fumble that he caused on a punt. Coach Holtz said.

SECONDARY—B

With the pressure on, the defensive backfield performed well. They gave up 360 yards passing, but the Cardinal could not get into the end zone until the fourth quarter. Hard hits from the Irish ended several Stanford scoring threats.

SPECIAL TEAMS—A

Scott Cengia nailed two field goals and actually put a kickoff into the end zone. Brian Ford must have dropped the ball on his foot correctly.

COACHING—A

Bill Walsh did his talking in a book. Lou Holtz let his team do the talking on the field. The Irish coach probably relished this victory more than any other this year.

GAME G.P.A.—3.56

A very solid performance on the whole for the Irish. There were no gimmicks, no focusing on coaching side-shows, just hard-nosed, smash-mouth football. And Notre Dame truly smashed the Cardinal.

---

MiKE NORBUT

Assistant Sports Editor
Special teams finally make special plays

Irish defense rewarded for punishing hits

By JASON KELLY
Associate Sports Editor

Notre Dame’s special teams, particularly the coverage units, looked better Saturday than they have all season.

Scott Sollman, a converted baseball player, forced and recovered a fumble on a Stanford punt attempt, setting up Notre Dame’s only touchdown of the first half.

“We need to put Sollman on the field more,” Holtz said. “Everybody on the kicking game played well. They’re a bunch of no-names.”

Kicker Scott Cengia connected on two field goals, one from 43 yards and also booted his first half. Holtz looked better Saturday than he has all season.

“It was an awakening for the Notre Dame defense, which earlier in the season had been bone-dry.”

BROKEN PROMISE: Notre Dame offensive coordinator Bob Diaco made a promise to Irish coach Lou Holtz last week. He swore he would not fumble the football.

Against Purdue, his proved to be true to his word. Saturday against Stanford he retracted, coughing the ball up in the fourth quarter. Notre Dame already led 34-3, but the play symbolized Holtz’s concerns about not being able to “put the nail in the coffin.”

“We aren’t going to play a game who lays the ball on the ground, I promise you that,” Holtz said.

WADSWORTH WELCOME: Michael A. Wadsworth, who will take over as Notre Dame’s athletic director on August 1 was in town this weekend for the first time since his appointment was announced last summer.

He admitted his unfamiliarity with college athletics and spoke little of policy, but he did comment on his interest in returning to his alma mater in this capacity.

“There was a certain romance involved with being associated with the university again,” Wadsworth said at a media gathering before Saturday’s football game.

“When you look at what Notre Dame stands for—the development of young men and women. It’s hard to imagine an opportunity more worthwhile than that.”

SCHOOL DAZE: World-renowned New York Knicks founder and filmmaker of some esteem, Spike Lee stood on the Notre Dame sideline Saturday.

He didn’t try to hide his hatred of Notre Dame and he predicted Irish fortunes would change in the near future.

“I’m a fan of anyone who beats Notre Dame,” Lee reportedly said to Irish players in the tunnel after the game. “I’ll tell you in Orlando at Florida State!”

Where does he get tickets to all these games?

Schoen/Observer/Scott Robinson

Notre Dame chases a loose ball he forced on a Stanford punt attempt in the first half.

dated for a field goal.

It would be Stanford’s only points until the fourth quarter, despite controlling the ball for nearly two-thirds of the game.

The frustrating thing is that we knew we were dominating everything but the scoreboard,” Stronstom said.

The scoreboard was the only significant statistic from the Irish defense.

But Cardinal heads were drooping.

Stronstom’s 37-for-59, 360-yard passing performance may have had pro scouts drooling for more.

But Cardinal heads were drooping.

Stanford’s one-dimensional offense defied the Irish defense, but didn’t do any serious damage.

A swarming pass rush and competent coverage kept the Cardinal under control.

When a quarterback throws on 59 of 95 offensive plays, defense isn’t exactly a guessing game.

But Stanford managed to pick up the Irish secondary despite the lack of disguise.

He became Stanford’s all-time leading passer in the process and also finished with 100 completions for 1,020 yards in his career against Notre Dame, better than any quarterback ever to play against the Irish.

“Stenstrom demonstrated again that he is one great football player,” Stanford coach Bill Walsh said. “You saw a gallant performance by a guy who just wouldn’t quit.”

He couldn’t quit.

Stanford didn’t have any other options.

His only reward was a pat on the back from his coach, and a bunch of stains on his back from the Irish.

He will have his day in the sun, though it likely won’t be at Stanford, where numbers, not wins, make him a coveted prospect.

Statistics will carry Steve Stronstom to the pros.

But big numbers don’t necessarily translate into success on Saturdays.
Notre Dame 34
Stanford 15

Notre Dame Stadium
October 1, 1994

FROM THE LENS

Justin Goheen lunges to tip a potential touchdown pass in the endzone on Stanford’s first drive.

Brian Magee knocks the ball from the hands of Cardinal receiver Anthony Bookman in the endzone.

Marc Edwards plunges in for a third quarter touchdown.

Notre Dame quarterback Ron Powlus eludes a diving Leroy Pruitt.

Stanford's Mike Hall dives in vain to tackle Irish fullback Ray Zellars.

Stanford coach Bill Walsh could only hang his head.

The Observer/Jake Peters

The Observer/Eric Ruethling

The Observer/Jake Peters

The Observer/Eric Ruethling

The Observer/Jake Peters
The art of 'Friendship'

By SHANNON FORBES

The severity of the US embargo against Cuba is constantly being depicted in newspapers and on television. Horror stories about destitute Cubans and confused Americans have dominated the news during the past year. Always included in tumultuous times like these, however, are hopeful people with good intentions.

Starting Monday, October 3, the Cushwa-Leighton Library at Saint Mary's College will feature an exhibit illustrating the story of people who are determined to offer aid to suffering victims.

Recently, the political struggle over the US embargo has reached its height of severity. The caravans have recognized the need for immediate attention, and have responded by forming the US-Cuba Friendship caravans. The US-Cuba Friendship caravans are massive grassroots campaigns that directly challenge the US embargo of Cuba.

The US-Cuba Friendship caravan, under the auspices of Pastors for Peace, have traveled on thirteen different routes. The trip began February 3, 1994 and continued through March 1994. During the trip the 250 caravans delivered over 150 tons of aid, valued in excess of three million dollars, including $500,000 worth of medicines.

Although all caravanners demonstrated their dedication and altruism, one number of the caravans in particular was able to capture the true feelings and emotions of these journeys. Kay Westhues photographed the day to day life of the journey. Cubans immigrants, and the American caravanners. She is now sharing her experiences with the rest of the South Bend community.

Kay Westhues traveled on the third caravan and photographed Cubans on the Malecon, which is a promenade along the harbor of Havana. Westhues photographed people walking and relaxing on the Malecon. She was able to capture the emotions and feelings that depicts day to day life in Cuba.

Westhues received her education at Indiana University, Bloomington and the Rhode Island School of Design. She has received many awards for her work, including an award at the Art and Social Justice Exhibit at Colfax Cultural Center and the Michiana Arts and the Sciences Artist Fellowship.

Her work has been on display at exhibits throughout the Midwest. Some of her most recent exhibits were at the Dras! Art Center, the School of Fine Arts Gallery at Indiana University, Bloomington, the Bellevue Gallery, Grace College Art Gallery and Colfax Cultural Center.

Westhues has also participated in a number of juried exhibitions, including National Exposures 90 and Creative Images 92 at the Indianapolis Art League. In order to participate in a juried exhibition, artists must be invited to attend. The work of the invitees are then judged by a jury of other artists. It is an honor just to be invited to the exhibition, but Westhues has demonstrated her talent and abilities by received many awards at these juried exhibitions.

Westhues most recent exhibit, entitled On the Malecon: Portraits of Cubans features her work and the work of Cuban artists. Westhues went to Cuba to attend art conferences, she was impressed with the work of many Cuban artists, and decided to include their photographs in her exhibit.

The exhibit is on display Monday, October 3 beginning at 7 p.m. at the Media Center, Cushwa-Leighton Library at St. Mary's College. The exhibits features Westhues's work as well as the work of other Cuban artists she selected. The exhibit particularly focuses on the March 1994 US-Cuba Friendship Caravan.

Westhues will also present a slide-lecture entitled, "Art and Social Change." The lecture will explain her education as an artist, her first-hand experience with social justice, and why artists need to be concerned with social justice and other controversial issues.

Both the lecture and exhibit are sponsored by Cushwa-Leighton Library, Justice Education, The Anthropology Club, The Office of Multicultural Affairs, The Art Department, and Campus Ministry.
The Observer • SPORTS
Monday, October 5, 1994

Irish

continued from page 20

The referee had stopped the clock for a North Carolina injury. Petrucelli, not realizing Guerrero had scored, screamed for Irish sweeper Kate Sobrero to pass the ball to the midfield. When she didn't do it, he screamed again. And again. Finally, he screamed his frustration on the Irish bench were able to convince him that the clock had stopped. Petrucelli recognized the humor in his outburst.

Irish put the North Carolina bench in full revival as Tar Heel Anson Dorrance to sub freely from an 18-player rotation. Petrucelli, on the other hand, substituted just junior Stacia Masters. Keeping up with fresh playing players were the Irish and by the end of regulation the fatigued squad was having difficulty. The performance left Petrucelli overwhemed. "I'm so proud of those guys in the back," Petrucelli said. "How did we do with the patch job we had to do?"

At Issue

continued from page 20

Petrucelli may have been bit by his lip instead of giving it, his loose attitude displayed itself. The referee had stopped the clock for a North Carolina injury. Petrucelli, not realizing Guerrero had scored, screamed for Irish sweeper Kate Sobrero to pass the ball to the midfield. When she didn't do it, he screamed again. And again. Finally, he screamed his frustration on the Irish bench were able to convince him that the clock had stopped. Petrucelli recognized the humor in his outburst.

The three teams are quietly, either by themselves or in pairs, before or concentrating on the games to come the next day. The only noise in the room was laughter and banter from the players and the coaches.

They're losing, don't you think?" Petrucelli said. "But they're better than that, so I try to let them go. They're focused underneath.

North Carolina coach Anson Dorrance took the field on Sunday, their cheers, and their small band of fans more than a silent Carolina machine did to rack up win number 6.

North Carolina coach Anson Dorrance may have seen some ATTITUDE / page 18

The Observer accepts classifieds every business day from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Notre Dame County, 314 Lafayette and Avenue South. Deadline for non-sports is 1 p.m. All classifieds must be prepaid. The charge is $2 per column inch per day, including all text and telephone numbers.

ATTITUDE

ATTITUDE

ATTITUDE
March comes early to Notre Dame.

SEE THE UP-AND-COMING IRISH AGAINST . . .

One NCAA Final Four Team.
Two NCAA Final Eight Teams.
Two NCAA Sweet 16 Teams.
Two NIT Teams.

- INDIANA
- DUKE
- BOSTON COLLEGE
- KENTUCKY
- MARQUETTE
- DUQUESNE
- XAVIER

STUDENT TICKET DISTRIBUTION SCHEDULE

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Seniors</th>
<th>Tuesday</th>
<th>Oct. 4</th>
<th>8 a.m.—5 p.m.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Juniors</td>
<td>Wednesday</td>
<td>Oct. 5</td>
<td>8 a.m.—12:30 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Law/Grad</td>
<td>Wednesday</td>
<td>Oct. 5</td>
<td>12:30 p.m.—5 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sophomores</td>
<td>Thursday</td>
<td>Oct. 6</td>
<td>8 a.m.—12:30 p.m.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Freshmen</td>
<td>Thursday</td>
<td>Oct. 6</td>
<td>12:30 p.m.—5 p.m.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

STUDENT ISSUE AT GATE 10 — JOYCE ACC

1994-95 BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

Nov. 17 Slovakia
Nov. 22 Verich Reps.
Nov. 27 * Valparaiso
Nov. 29 Indiana
Dec. 22 * St. Bonaventure
Dec. 31 * Cornell
Jan. 3 * Lehigh
Jan. 5 * Loyola (Md.)
Jan. 10 * Columbia
Jan. 15 * Hofstra
Jan. 21 Xavier
Jan. 24 Duke
Jan. 28 Boston College
Feb. 1 Iona
Feb. 8 Duquesne
Feb. 12 Kentucky
Feb. 25 Marquette
Feb. 28 Loyola (Ill.)

Games omitted from student package because of Thanksgiving and Christmas break are indicated by an asterisk (*) in the schedule.

11-GAME STUDENT PACKAGE JUST $44 TOTAL

$4 / GAME
Despite setbacks, Irish still finish third

By KATE CRISHAM
Sports Writer

Neither illnesses, nor injuries, nor the absence of their top seven runners could prevent the Notre Dame men’s cross country team from turning in an admirable performance this weekend at the National Catholic cross country championships.

The tenth-ranked Irish garnered eighty points to finish in third place. Boston College won the meet with 38 points and Marquette placed second with 65 points.

The absence of an injured Joe Dunlop and a sick captain J.B. Melero, forced head coach Joe Plane to juggle his usual lineup.

"Every one of the top six ran the best race of their lives," he said. "If you can get a kid to run the best he’s ever run, that’s a pretty good job."

Plane decided not to put his usual top seven runners in Friday’s race to avoid forcing them to compete three consecutive weekends.

"You can’t run at a competitive level three successive weekends," he said. "But I gave those seven guys the opportunity to rise to the occasion, and I think they com­peted pretty darn good."

Plane was particularly pleased with the performance of junior Shane DuBois, who finished sixth with a time of 25:37.5.

"Shane DuBois really put his nose to the grindstone and ran a great race," he said. "He and some of these other kids are going to be real contributors in the next few weeks."

According to Plane, the team fulfilled their two primary goals: improve on their time and run as a group.

“Our top seven all finished in the top 29,” said Plane. “They ran as a tight group, which is what we needed to do, and... what we didn’t do against Georgetown.”

Notre Dame’s other top finishers included Derek Martinson, who finished eleventh with a time of 25:53.2, and Will Clark, who finished seventeenth with a time of 26:06.8. Jeff Hujaraski completed the course in 26:08 to finish eighteenth, while Andy Burns placed twentieth with a time of 26:16.7.

The tenth-ranked Irish garnered eighty points to finish in third place. Boston College won the meet with 38 points and Marquette placed second with 65 points.

The absence of an injured Joe Dunlop and a sick captain J.B. Melero, forced head coach Joe Plane to juggle his usual lineup.

"Every one of the top six ran the best race of their lives," he said. "If you can get a kid to run the best he’s ever run, that’s a pretty good job."

Plane decided not to put his usual top seven runners in Friday’s race to avoid forcing them to compete three consecutive weekends.

"You can’t run at a competitive level three successive weekends," he said. "But I gave those seven guys the opportunity to rise to the occasion, and I think they com­peted pretty darn good."

Plane was particularly pleased with the performance of junior Shane DuBois, who finished sixth with a time of 25:37.5.

"Shane DuBois really put his nose to the grindstone and ran a great race," he said. "He and some of these other kids are going to be real contributors in the next few weeks."

According to Plane, the team fulfilled their two primary goals: improve on their time and run as a group.

“Our top seven all finished in the top 29,” said Plane. “They ran as a tight group, which is what we needed to do, and... what we didn’t do against Georgetown.”

Volleyball rallies in five games

By BETSY BAKER
Sports Writer

The Stanford Cardinals were out the only flock of Cardinals west flying home from South Bend last Saturday.

The Louisville Cardinals traveled north hoping to avenge their earlier loss to the Notre Dame volleyball team. Although the Cardinals forced the Irish to go five games for the first time this season, their hope for a victorious rematch were shattered by a record setting game for the Irish.

The Irish recovered from a 2-1 deficit to win their 17th match in a row in the Joyce Athletic and Convocation Center with scores of 15-12, 9-15, 15-17, 15-1, and 15-13.

All-American outside hitter Christy Peters led the team with a game-high 27 kills, putting her at the top of the Notre Dame career kills list. Four other Irish players hit for double figures in the kill category, including sophomore outside hitter Jenny Birkner who contributed 17 kills to the effort.

Irish head coach Debbie Brown complimented her team’s performance, especially that of 6-2 middle blocker Jen Rose who had 10 kills and four blocks in just over two games.

"Jennifer Rose came in and gave the lift that we needed at the end of game three and that carried through to the end of the match."
Irish held scoreless for second straight game

By THOMAS SCHLIDT
Sports Writer

Conferences must be a gift from heaven. They pave the way to the NCAA tournament for many collegiate programs. This is good news for the (5-5) Notre Dame men's soccer team as they lost yesterday to (6-4-1) Wisconsin-Milwaukee 1-0. While, the Irish dropped to 3-2 in conference play, there is no need to worry with the Midwestern Collegiate Conference tournament in November.

"Too much is made of it," coach Mike Bertielli explained. "Two losses don't effect anything except the tournament seedings, and we should be able to beat anyone in the conference."

Yet, the Irish couldn't beat the Panthers as they took the lead in the match on a goal from defender Kevin Denk at 33:41 as Denk headed in a corner kick pass from Jon Coleman.

The Irish offense, again, was unable to convert any scoring chances. They have yet to score on the road, and have been shut out in the last two games (Wake Forest and UWM). Reasons for the drought has been the absence of forward Tim Oates, who leads the team in points and goals scored. Also, the team has been unlucky, and the Irish depth is inexperienced.

"It's no mystery," Bertielli said. "If you take out the leading scorer you aren't going to do as well. We dominated both games, but we had inexperienced freshman in there. Maybe a senior would have scored."

Yet, when it comes to the seniors, midfielder and captain Jean Joseph did not play.

"There's no reason that Jean didn't play," Bertielli said. "He's not a goal scorer. We put more dangerous players in. Jean's just a player that complements others well."

The best scoring chance for the Irish came in the 78th minute when a goal was scored by Konstantin Koloskov from a sliding crossing pass from Tony Capasso. The goal was called back as the linesman called the ball out of bounds before Capasso kicked it.

Irish Lacrosse- The lacrosse team lost over the weekend to the Philadelphia All-Stars 13-12 in overtime just in case you were wondering.

Dinner Run-Saturday, October 8, 10:00 am at Stopan's Center. Three and six mile runs followed by a pancake breakfast. T-shirts to all finishers plus awards to the champions of each division. There will be student and staff divisions. Register in advance at RecSports. $5 fee in advance. $6 day of event. More info, call RecSports at 631-6100.
Runners capture Invitational

By RANDY WASINGER
Sports Writer

There's never been a question which Catholic university stands above the rest, both in the classroom and on the playing field. On Friday the Notre Dame women's cross country squad proved that the lofty distinction included them as well.

The near-perfect Irish amassed a total of only 26 points as they ran over the competition at the National Catholic Invitational held at the Burke Memorial Golf Course at Notre Dame. The field included teams from 22 Catholic schools from across the nation.

Following the Irish were Boston College in 2nd place and Alabama in 3rd.

The race included an exciting battle for first place as Amy Lyman of Boston College just edged Notre Dame's Kristi Kramer at the tape. Kramer was closely followed by fellow seniors Maureen Kelly and Sarah Riley to lead the Irish in defending their title from last season.

"We did a lot better," said Coach Tim Connelly. "We put six kids in the top ten, which is what I expected. We dominated the field."

Each of the top six runners for the 18th ranked Irish improved their time from the previous meet against Georgetown, which was also held on the Notre Dame golf course. Sophomore standout Emily Hood was one of those runners.

"As a team we did great," said Hood. "Going into the race, we wanted to keep our top seven together as long as we could. We made it about a mile and a half before we broke off."

Coach Connelly had been emphasizing team running earlier in the week, and it definitely seemed to work well for the Irish.

"We need to keep doing what we're doing and raise the intensity," said Connelly. "The competition will be getting better each week."

"The first six weeks of the season, I worked the girls very, very hard," he added. "We still have a few quality workouts, but our real emphasis is now on racing."

The Irish don't have much time to savor their victory, however. Next up is the Notre Dame Invitational. Alabama is included in that field. Coach Connelly mentioned that the Crimson Tide, who are ranked in the top ten, would be Notre Dame's biggest challenge to date.
CALVIN AND HOBBIES

FOUR FOOD GROUPS OF THE APOCALYPSE

CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1 Day in Hollywood
6 Like V. P. and others:
14 Live
19 Mr. Mostel
25 One of the 30 Fuss
32 Postpone
35 Jeannette d'Arc
37 Asp
40 Soft drinks
46 Composer
50 Hair curls
51 Bygone title
52 Kind of nut or seed
54 Egyptain deity
55 Live in Hollywood day in
56 Verne captain
58 C on vex/concave
62 Divide the pie
63 Poses
64 Kind of detector
65 Tick-tock pink
66 Hatcher
67 Favorable vote
68 Mound
69 Big books
70 Intersection
71 Confederate
73 Paradise
75 Intersection
76 Roses
77 Big books
78 Mound
80 Soft drinks
81 Birthday cake
82 Snack
83 Kind of nut or seed
84 N. J. neighbor
85 Boring tool
86 Trench
87 Kind of nut or seed
88 Rhythmic sound
89 Egyptian deity
90 Turk top
91 Turk top
92 Finnish
94 Postpone
95 Awareneds
96 Corkscrew
97 Wall paper
98 Bull"
99 Stuffed animal

THE EXECUTIVE COMPANY HAS REVIEWED THE COMPENSATION PLAN
THE DOGBERT CONSULTING COMPANY HAS REVIEWED THE EXECUTIVE
COMPENSATION PLAN AS YOU REQUESTED

THE FAR SIDE

GARY LARSON

"I wouldn't do that, Spunky—I have friends in pie places."

Fireside Chat: Joe Miller will speak on "The Earth is your home - Is your room clean?" today in the ND Room of LaFortune from 12:15 to 1:00 p.m. Lunch will be provided.

The Multicultural Fall Festival: Culture on the Quad will begin today from 12:15-1:00 p.m. at the Fieldhouse Mall. The weeklong festival will feature a daily sample from Notre Dame's ethnic clubs.

Seniors, recent alumni, and young faculty interested in a year of professional work in Asia, under a grant from the Luce Scholars Program, should attend an informational meeting at 4:15 p.m. in 109 DeBartolo.

The Innsbruck, Austria, informational meeting with Professor Marie-Audionette Kremer is today at 4:30 p.m. in 207 DeBartolo.

Effective Resume Writing: Learn to write a resume that will market your skills and abilities to match the employer's needs. The workshop will be held Tuesday, October 4, in the ND Room of LaFortune from 3:00 to 4:00 p.m., and is presented by Judy Goebel, Career Counselor, Career and Placement Services.

Taste of Nations: Food, music, and dancing from around the world will be showcased on Friday, October 7, from 8 p.m. to midnight at Stepan Center. Bring your friends and SYR dates. Admission is $1.

THE OBSERVER

Notre Dame
North Dining Hall

South Dining Hall

Gyro
Roast Top Round of Beef

Southern Fried Chicken
Turkey Turnover

Vegetable Ratatouille
Pasta

Lemon Cheese Ball
Mozzarella

Turkey Petrazzini
Whipped Potatoes with Gravy

Pita Bar
Basil and Chive Chicken

RECYCLE
THE OBSERVER

DESIGNATED DRIVERS CLUB CARD
now available in the Student Government Office for students who did not receive one last year. Cards from last year are still valid at all bars. These cards entitle the bearer to free soft drinks if he/she is the designated driver.
As good as the best

Notre Dame halts North Carolina's record streak

By RIAN AKEY
Associate Sports Editor

When time expired, there was no celebration. No one jumped in the air. No one rushed the field. There were a few groups of Notre Dame players hugging each other, but they were more like hugs of consolation than congratulation.

In the first few minutes after Notre Dame's stunning 0-0 tie with perpetual national champion North Carolina, the Fighting Irish players didn't care what they had just done. Instead, their minds focused on what they had not done.

"Right now everyone's caught up in the could haves," senior midfielder Jodi Hartwig said. "We were so close to winning and that makes us think of all the ways we would have done it."

But it didn't take long for the disappointment to yield to happier thoughts.

It shouldn't have.

After all, by tying the Tar Heels, the Irish had just broken one of the longest winning streaks—92 games—in the history of collegiate athletics. During those 92 games, only five teams had managed to stay within two goals of North Carolina, and no team had taken the Tar Heels into overtime.

The result puts this women's soccer team tie in the same category as some other pretty impressive events.

Freshman Holly Manthei's shot in the closing seconds of overtime almost won the game for Notre Dame.

Petrucelli, Irish have winning attitude

By RIAN AKEY
Associate Sports Editor

"Clean up your mouth."

In his first year with the Irish, Notre Dame women's soccer coach Chris Petrucelli may have heard that comment a lot, because during that season, he was uptight.

But Petrucelli wasn't swearing at his players. He wasn't even swearing at himself.

As the story goes, Petrucelli drank so much Pepto Bismol during that first season that he often walked around with pink stains on his mouth.

Since that opening year, however, as the Irish teams have gotten better and better, Petrucelli has cleaned up his act, so to speak. Quips and one-liners flow from his mouth this season like the "pink stuff" used to flow into it.

With just six minutes left in the second overtime against North Carolina, when much Pepto Bismol during that first season that he often walked around with pink stains on his mouth.

Since that opening year, however, as the Irish teams have gotten better and better, Petrucelli has cleaned up his act, so to speak. Quips and one-liners flow from his mouth this season like the "pink stuff" used to flow into it.

With just six minutes left in the second overtime against North Carolina, when