Haitian coup leader Cedras’ power slipping away

Power transition details hazy

By ANITA SNOW

PORT-AU-PRINCE

His days in CSF may be slipping away, Haiti’s military leader went Wednesday to a funeral service for 10 of his men killed in a shootout with U.S. Marines. Even as Lt. Gen. Raoul Cedras sat ramrod straight at the service, starting at the caskets draped with the red-and-blue Haitian flag, Haitians speculated on his imminent departure, along with that of fellow coup leader Philippe Bagyandy and the military-installed government of Emile Fourcassaint.

Another leader of the September 1991 military coup, Lt. Col. Michel François, skipped town Tuesday for a new life in the neighboring Dominican Republic.

The de facto leaders have until Oct. 15 to quit power under a U.S.-Haitian agreement being enforced by 20,000 American troops, including U.S. soldiers surrounding the white-domed Presidential Palace and the domed Presidential Palace and the Presidential Palace and the Presidential Palace and the Presidential Palace and the Presidential Palace.

To Haitians, the issue is not so simple. Parliament took up the issue Wednesday in a legislative palace whose pointing paint ding walls and cobwebbed corners are visible testimony to the degraded state of Haitian democracy.

At the center is the issue of amnesty for the military leaders who deposed Aristide three years ago in a violent coup.

The United States is pushing for amnesty.

Haitians, however, are ready to support an agreement that a U.S. team led by former President Carter signed with Haiti’s military government. The Carter agreement said Aristide would return to Haiti after Parliament granted a general amnesty, or on Oct. 15, whichever comes first.

Amnesty was central to the agreement that a U.S. team led by former President Carter signed with Haiti’s military government. The Carter agreement said Aristide would return to Haiti after Parliament granted a general amnesty, or on Oct. 15, whichever comes first.

But”, he said, sweeping his arm toward the whirls of concentric wire and platoons of U.S. soldiers that surrounded the building, “there is an occupation.”

An amnesty for the military leaders would appear to violate Haitian law.

As for the provisional president, U.S. Embassy spokesman Stanley Schragger said: “We have no word on what Jonathan and his allies plan.”

It’s clear he cannot continue to occupy the palace.

Haitians, meanwhile, helped U.S. soldiers track down armed-allyed gunmen who had terrorized neighborhoods since the coup ousted Aristide from the presidency only seven months after Haiti’s first freely democratic election.

The gunman, known here as an assassin, was forced to face his victims Wednesday without his weapons.

After Samuel Chery was shot down by the U.S. military and led away from a poor neighborhood in suburban Petionville, his victims handed him over to the U.S. military and led away from a poor neighborhood in suburban Petionville.

Ideal Catholic health care position explained

By NORA REGINA MEANY

According to Sr. Patricia Vandenberg, C.S.C., Catholics can take the gospel into the workplace by becoming more like the Good Samaritan from the Gospel of Luke.

At her noontime lecture at Saint Mary’s College entitled “Health Care in America”, Vandenberg cited this Biblical fable to be the basic position any Catholic should have in regards to the mandatory health care plan that has been in the works for almost two years.

Vandenberg received a degree from Duke University in the late seventies. She is President of the Holy Cross Health Care System.

Vandenberg said that there were four main points to the Good Samaritan story. The first was the fact that the individual questioned Jesus what he must do to have life. The second fact was that the Samaritan was “moved to compassion” to help the ailing man in the street. The third was the care the Samaritan took to bandage the ailing man’s wounds, and the final point was the willingness of the Samaritan to pay for the ailing man’s care.

The point that the Samaritan was so generous was the most important part of the parable, said Vandenberg.

“We, like the Good Samaritan, should be willing to pay the price of proper health care...and willing to pay more than necessary,” she said.

Vandenberg said that hospitals should return to the not-for-profit mindset that they held in the beginning of the century. She said that in the post-World War II era, growing economic prosperity lead to a proliferation of hospital funds.

Vandenberg said that the 1960’s brought about the implementation of Medicare and Medicaid. She called these programs the “consummate Good Samaritans.” She said that man’s trip to the moon inspired a proliferation of medical technology.

“If technology is both costly and time-consuming to teach,” she said.

Vandenberg noted that America is in great need of a reform of morals. She stated that we, as a nation, have strayed from the original teachings of Jesus.

“Jesus said to live with integrity. Love God and love your neighbor,” she said.

In conclusion, Vandenberg cited the health care statement of Sr. Patricia Vandenberg, C.S.C., compared health care with the parable of the Good Samaritan in her speech last night in LeMans Hall.

As for the provisional president, U.S. Embassy spokesman Stanley Schragger said: “We have no word on what Jonathan and his allies plan.”

It’s clear he cannot continue to occupy the palace.

Haitians, meanwhile, helped U.S. soldiers track down armed-allyed gunmen who had terrorized neighborhoods since the coup ousted Aristide from the presidency only seven months after Haiti’s first freely democratic election.

The gunman, known here as an assassin, was forced to face his victims Wednesday without his weapons.

After Samuel Chery was shot down by the U.S. military and led away from a poor neighborhood in suburban Petionville, his victims handed him over to the U.S. military and led away from a poor neighborhood in suburban Petionville.

Ideal Catholic health care position explained

By NORA REGINA MEANY

According to Sr. Patricia Vandenberg, C.S.C., Catholics can take the gospel into the workplace by becoming more like the Good Samaritan from the Gospel of Luke.

At her noontime lecture at Saint Mary’s College entitled “Health Care in America”, Vandenberg cited this Biblical fable to be the basic position any Catholic should have in regards to the mandatory health care plan that has been in the works for almost two years.

Vandenberg received a degree from Duke University in the late seventies. She is President of the Holy Cross Health Care System.

Vandenberg said that there were four main points to the Good Samaritan story. The first was the fact that the individual questioned Jesus what he must do to have life. The second fact was that the Samaritan was “moved to compassion” to help the ailing man in the street. The third was the care the Samaritan took to bandage the ailing man’s wounds, and the final point was the willingness of the Samaritan to pay for the ailing man’s care.

The point that the Samaritan was so generous was the most important part of the parable, said Vandenberg.

“We, like the Good Samaritan, should be willing to pay the price of proper health care...and willing to pay more than necessary,” she said.

Vandenberg said that hospitals should return to the not-for-profit mindset that they held in the beginning of the century. She said that in the post-World War II era, growing economic prosperity lead to a proliferation of hospital funds.

Vandenberg said that the 1960’s brought about the implementation of Medicare and Medicaid. She called these programs the “consummate Good Samaritans.” She said that man’s trip to the moon inspired a proliferation of medical technology.

“If technology is both costly and time-consuming to teach,” she said.

Vandenberg noted that America is in great need of a reform of morals. She stated that we, as a nation, have strayed from the original teachings of Jesus.

“Jesus said to live with integrity. Love God and love your neighbor,” she said.

In conclusion, Vandenberg cited the health care statement of Sr. Patricia Vandenberg, C.S.C., compared health care with the parable of the Good Samaritan in her speech last night in LeMans Hall.
Can you win with ethics?

After three years of countless hours studying, numerous nights at Hayes-Realy starting at 5 a.m., and enough discussions about the "real world" and "the business environment" to make the most diehard business major winces, my marketing curriculum is finally coming to an end this semester.

I had learned the four "P's" and how to conduct market research. I learned all about market trends and reaction analysis. I felt I had the skills necessary to become a successful businessperson. With this knowledge I was ready to attack the "real world" with a vigor and intensity that few have seen.

Then came the realization that this was not merely an exercise in my college years. Marketing Management is commonly defined as a "bridge course." Through the simulation, the computer market, teams of students duke it out over the course of ten weeks to see who can control the most market share and money at the end of the simulation.

The course is designed to put you in an environment where all your marketing skills will be used. The competition is intense and builds as the weeks pass. Strategies develop that are designed as much for destruction of the other teams as it is for the success of their own teams. The stress is so intense that the final scores determine a large portion of your grade.

The simulation does indeed force you to use all of the skills acquired over your entire business curriculum. Most worrisome are the many intangibles of the "real world" and the "business environment" that have been overlooked. Namely, ethics in the simulation have been forgotten.

Harvard Business School conducts a simulation game similar to Notre Dame's. In 1982, a group of students created a computer code and broke into the leading team's program. They proceeded to steal the strategic information from that team and used it to win the game. Getting caught appeared to be the only punishment.

The rationales behind the Harvard group's actions was that they were able to economize within the market action because the gain from stealing the information was much higher than the ethical or social consequences.

The marketing simulation at Notre Dame has also made the bottom line king, with no mention of the ethical implications that could present itself. There is no code or guideline to follow.

The students have been left to monitor themselves, with only the punishment (assuming they are caught) being that they will have difficulty working with the other groups.

Notre Dame has always held its students to high standards and it seems to have neglected an important facet of a Notre Dame education: ethics. By ignoring the ethical considerations, has in fact made them obsolete?

Success in the simulation and in the real world is always more than just winning. Success is winning fairly and with professionalism. Let's hope Notre Dame students are more concerned with being successful than with winning.

The views expressed in the Inside Column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.

VLADIVOSTOK

Disaster teams rush to aid quake-battered Kuril Islands

Russia and Japan would join forces to provide humanitarian and financial assistance to cope with damage estimated at $35 million. Conflicting reports circulated Wednesday about thecasualty toll, and damage to power and tele­phone lines complicated efforts to assess the disaster. Oleg Meshkov, a spokesman for the regional emergency commission on Sakhalin Island, said in a telephone interview that at least nine people were killed in the Kuril, most by falling debris. As many as 10 others were feared buried under the wreckage of an army hospital that collapsed on Iturup Island. President Boris Yeltsin, in a statement expressing condolences to the victims' families, said at least 10 people had died. "All measures are being taken to save as many as possible," he said. The Ministry for Emergency Situations said 419 families in the Kurils lost their homes. The National Earthquake Center in Golden, Colo., using readings from around the world, set the magnitude at 8.2. A quake of magnitude 8 or higher, known as a "great" quake, is capable of tremendous damage. All the buildings in the regional capital, Yuzhno-Kurilsk, collapsed or were badly damaged, and residents fled as huge quake-spawned waves battered the islands. Vladivostok radio reported. In some parts of the islands, 1 1/2-foot-wide cracks were visible in the earth. The quake and its aftershocks Wednesday afternoon caused considerable damage to storage facilities, which began leaking on Sakhalin Island. The southern Kurils, which stretch between Hokkaido and Russia's Kamchatka Peninsula, are controlled by Russia but are claimed by Japan. The Kurils seized the islands from Japan at the end of World War II. Japan's northermost main island of Hokkaido was invaded during the conflict.

President Boris Yeltsin, in a statement expressing condolences to the victims' families, said at least 10 people had died. "All measures are being taken to save as many as possible," he said. The Ministry for Emergency Situations said 419 families in the Kurils lost their homes. The National Earthquake Center in Golden, Colo., using readings from around the world, set the magnitude at 8.2. A quake of magnitude 8 or higher, known as a "great" quake, is capable of tremendous damage. All the buildings in the regional capital, Yuzhno-Kurilsk, collapsed or were badly damaged, and residents fled as huge quake-spawned waves battered the islands. Vladivostok radio reported. In some parts of the islands, 1 1/2-foot-wide cracks were visible in the earth. The quake and its aftershocks Wednesday afternoon caused considerable damage to storage facilities, which began leaking on Sakhalin Island. The southern Kurils, which stretch between Hokkaido and Russia's Kamchatka Peninsula, are controlled by Russia but are claimed by Japan. The Kurils seized the islands from Japan at the end of World War II. Japan's northermost main island of Hokkaido was invaded during the conflict.

Japan's northermost main island of Hokkaido was invaded during the conflict.

Incompetence caused losses

Incompetence by managers at Lloyd's of London caused losses of millions in 1987 to investors when Hurricane Hugo struck and the Exxon Valdez spilled its oil, a judge ruled Tuesday. Investors who won a $2 billion award against them now bankrupt, in the Lloyd's market could eventually get a judgment totaling $600 million, an award in English legal history, their lawyers said. The negligence by Lloyd's underwriters, famous for insuring everything from the Titanic to rock stars and jumbo jets, turned to financial devastation when the investors found them virtually exposed to risk, the judge said. Lawyers for the investors, known as names, predicted this ruling could open the way for billions more in damages. "Justice has triumphed," Britt McGinniss, chairman of a group of 3,095 angry investors who went to court. The trial resulted in a $1 billion punitive damages judgment that will allow them to receive about $800 million. Lawyers for the Lloyd's agencies that likely will pick up the tab predicted the payout could be much smaller. Justice Sir Nicholas Phillips said that in some cases, managers at Lloyd's attempted to expropriate as much money they would lose if the disasters they had bet against happened. The investors should receive awards that will put them in the same financial position they would now be in had their underwriters taken adequate steps to reinsure their damage coverage, the judge ruled.

Incompetence caused losses

Incompetence by managers at Lloyd's of London caused losses of millions in 1987 to investors when Hurricane Hugo struck and the Exxon Valdez spilled its oil, a judge ruled Tuesday. Investors who won a $2 billion award against them now bankrupt, in the Lloyd's market could eventually get a judgment totaling $600 million, an award in English legal history, their lawyers said. The negligence by Lloyd's underwriters, famous for insuring everything from the Titanic to rock stars and jumbo jets, turned to financial devastation when the investors found them virtually exposed to risk, the judge said. Lawyers for the investors, known as names, predicted this ruling could open the way for billions more in damages. "Justice has triumphed," Britt McGinniss, chairman of a group of 3,095 angry investors who went to court. The trial resulted in a $1 billion punitive damages judgment that will allow them to receive about $800 million. Lawyers for the Lloyd's agencies that likely will pick up the tab predicted the payout could be much smaller. Justice Sir Nicholas Phillips said that in some cases, managers at Lloyd's attempted to expropriate as much money they would lose if the disasters they had bet against happened. The investors should receive awards that will put them in the same financial position they would now be in had their underwriters taken adequate steps to reinsure their damage coverage, the judge ruled.

Incompetence caused losses

Incompetence by managers at Lloyd's of London caused losses of millions in 1987 to investors when Hurricane Hugo struck and the Exxon Valdez spilled its oil, a judge ruled Tuesday. Investors who won a $2 billion award against them now bankrupt, in the Lloyd's market could eventually get a judgment totaling $600 million, an award in English legal history, their lawyers said. The negligence by Lloyd's underwriters, famous for insuring everything from the Titanic to rock stars and jumbo jets, turned to financial devastation when the investors found them virtually exposed to risk, the judge said. Lawyers for the investors, known as names, predicted this ruling could open the way for billions more in damages. "Justice has triumphed," Britt McGinniss, chairman of a group of 3,095 angry investors who went to court. The trial resulted in a $1 billion punitive damages judgment that will allow them to receive about $800 million. Lawyers for the Lloyd's agencies that likely will pick up the tab predicted the payout could be much smaller. Justice Sir Nicholas Phillips said that in some cases, managers at Lloyd's attempted to expropriate as much money they would lose if the disasters they had bet against happened. The investors should receive awards that will put them in the same financial position they would now be in had their underwriters taken adequate steps to reinsure their damage coverage, the judge ruled.
Congress suspends vote on GATT accord

By DAVE SKIDMORE
Associated Press

WASHINGTON

Struggling to save a huge global trade accord, Democratic and Republican leaders in the House agreed Wednesday to postpone a vote on the measure until after Thanksgiving.

President Clinton had been pushing for a vote before lawmakers went home this week. And as recently as Wednesday morning House Speaker Thomas Foley, D-Wash., said he was "firmly and absolutely committed" to that.

But, in a letter to the president, Foley and the other leaders said the House would vote Nov. 29 on legislation implementing the accord signed under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

At the insistence of Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., the Senate has already decided to vote on GATT on Dec. 1, two days later.

"The Senate decision to postpone the vote has quite frankly undermined our ability to guarantee bipartisan support for this effort in the House at this time," the House leaders said.

They promised to work "to assure that GATT overwhelmingly passes the House."

As a down payment, the House voted 296-123 Wednesday night to approve the rules of debate for 123 nation GATT accord, touted as the largest trade agreement in world history.

U.S. Trade Representative Mickey Kantor said the "manifestly clear, strong, unequivocal support" in the leaders' letter was "a major step forward" in ratifying an agreement that he said would create $300,000 to 700,000 U.S. jobs.

The pact cuts world tariffs by an estimated $740 billion, reduces other barriers to trade and extends the rules of world trade to services and intellectual property such as computer programs and drug patents.

Opponents, including Hollings, say it will open American markets to a flood of manufactured goods produced in low-wage countries, destroy jobs at companies making textiles, aircraft, automobiles and other goods.

With the postponement, Kantor said, "we've taken the politics out of the debate. It will be calmer, more rational and more effective."

But some rank-and-file Republicans, who hope to see their party make big gains in the Nov. 8 midterm election, complained the lame-duck session would mean as many as 100 defeated or retiring House members would vote without any accountability to the electorate.

"I think it is plain unconscionable that we bring this back in a lame-duck session. This important legislation should not be decided by members who have no political stake in the outcome," said Rep. Elon Gallegher, R-Calif.

Happy 21st Birthday, Jackie!

Love,
The BP crew

RIDE 'EM COWGIRL!

Saturday, October 8
9:00 p.m. - 1:30 a.m.
LaFortune Ballroom

$1

Sponsored by:
SMC Italian Club
ND Italian Club

Saturday, October 8
9:00 p.m. - 1:30 a.m.
LaFortune Ballroom

$1

Sponsored by:
SMC Italian Club
ND Italian Club

Congress suspends vote on GATT accord

By DAVE SKIDMORE
Associated Press

WASHINGTON

Struggling to save a huge global trade accord, Democratic and Republican leaders in the House agreed Wednesday to postpone a vote on the measure until after Thanksgiving.

President Clinton had been pushing for a vote before lawmakers went home this week. And as recently as Wednesday morning House Speaker Thomas Foley, D-Wash., said he was "firmly and absolutely committed" to that.

But, in a letter to the president, Foley and the other leaders said the House would vote Nov. 29 on legislation implementing the accord signed under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

At the insistence of Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., the Senate has already decided to vote on GATT on Dec. 1, two days later.

"The Senate decision to postpone the vote has quite frankly undermined our ability to guarantee bipartisan support for this effort in the House at this time," the House leaders said.

They promised to work "to assure that GATT overwhelmingly passes the House."

As a down payment, the House voted 296-123 Wednesday night to approve the rules of debate for 123 nation GATT accord, touted as the largest trade agreement in world history.

U.S. Trade Representative Mickey Kantor said the "manifestly clear, strong, unequivocal support" in the leaders' letter was "a major step forward" in ratifying an agreement that he said would create $300,000 to 700,000 U.S. jobs.

The pact cuts world tariffs by an estimated $740 billion, reduces other barriers to trade and extends the rules of world trade to services and intellectual property such as computer programs and drug patents.

Opponents, including Hollings, say it will open American markets to a flood of manufactured goods produced in low-wage countries, destroy jobs at companies making textiles, aircraft, automobiles and other goods.

With the postponement, Kantor said, "we've taken the politics out of the debate. It will be calmer, more rational and more effective."

But some rank-and-file Republicans, who hope to see their party make big gains in the Nov. 8 midterm election, complained the lame-duck session would mean as many as 100 defeated or retiring House members would vote without any accountability to the electorate.

"I think it is plain unconscionable that we bring this back in a lame-duck session. This important legislation should not be decided by members who have no political stake in the outcome," said Rep. Elon Gallegher, R-Calif.

Happy 21st Birthday, Jackie!

Love,
The BP crew

RIDE 'EM COWGIRL!
Closer to fine
The Indigo Girls performed last night at Stepan Center.

Senate continued from page 1

this commission would report periodically to the University community on their findings, which, he said, would not be "just in relation to disciplinary matters."

According to Matzze, the commission that he would like the Student Senate to mandate would be independent of the authority of any Student Government Administration and would be under the direct authority of the Student Senate. It would consist of six core members from the Class of '97 or '98 that would be appointed by the Chairperson of the Commission, nominated and appointed by the Student Senate.

Ilary Bonenberger, co-chair of the Hall Presidents Council suggested that the resolution include representation from each class.

"Maybe the class presidents from each class (could sit on the commission), so that the entire student body is represented, not just one class," she said.

Matzze said he hoped the resolution would be passed "by (Fall) break.

---

Flower Delivery 7 Days

Posy Patch

Super Saver Prices on Roses
Balloon Bouquets & Stuffing, Plants, Fresh Flowers, Plush Animals, Gift Baskets
Clocktower Square
11400 31 North
South Bend, IN 46637
(219)277-1291

---

WINNER ACADEMY AWARD

BEST FOREIGN LANGUAGE FILM

BELLE EPOQUE

A FILM BY FERNANDO TRUEBA

CINEMA AT THE SNITE
Friday & Saturday 7:30 and 9:45 pm

---

Looking for fun and a change from the usual ND scene?

Join FLIP SIDE. A new ND club committed to providing great social activities not centered around alcohol.

First organizational meeting: Thursday, October 6, 1994
Foster Room, 3rd Floor LaFortune at 8:30 p.m.
Light Refreshments will be provided.

Questions? Call Mary at 4-4904

---

Lecture continued from page 1

of the Holy Cross Sisters.

"Compassion compels us to stand with and embrace people in suffering. Together we express God's healing presence," she said.

"I would say, in summary fashion that the mindset of modern America is not of the Good Samaritan," she said. "As a nation, we have lost our will to resolve this. When we look into the future, we could be overwhelmed."
Thursday, October 6, 1994

The Observer • NEWS

U.S. health care most expensive

By CHRISTOPHER CONNELL
Associated Press

WASHINGTON

The U.S. health care system is still the most expensive in the world by far and the spending gap with other major countries is widening, a new study indicates.

The United States spent $2,094 per person on health care in 1992, or 13.6 percent of its gross domestic product, according to figures compiled for the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development.

Most of the other 23 countries tracked by the Paris-based OECD spent less than half as much. They devoted just 8.1 percent of GDP to health.

In a report published Tuesday in the journal Health Affairs, the United States had the fifth highest infant mortality rate after Turkey, Portugal, Luxembourg and Greece — and the highest percentage of low-birthweight babies.

But it was near the top in life expectancy for senior citizens: U.S. men can expect to live 7.2 years beyond their 80th birthday and women 9.1 years. Iceland’s octogenarians have the same life expectancy, in Canada the 80-year-old men live for 7.1 more years on average and the women 9.3 years.

“By comparative international standards, the American health care system is still far the most expensive in the world, and the gap between the United States and other countries is widening,” said the report by George Schieber and Leslie Greenwald of the U.S. Health Care Financing Administration and Jean-Pierre Poullier of the OECD.

It said per capita health spending keeps climbing faster than consumer prices. Since 1980, health care spending has grown 4.6 percent a year more than prices in the United States, 2.5 percent more in Canada, 1.4 percent in France, 2.5 percent in Germany, 3.5 percent in Japan and 3.3 percent in the United Kingdom.

Canada spent 10.3 percent of its gross domestic product or $1,949 per resident on health in 1992; Finland 9.4 percent, $1,363; France 9.4 percent, $1,745; Switzerland 9.3 percent, $2,068; Germany 8.7 percent, $1,775; Italy 8.5 percent, $1,497; United Kingdom 7.1 percent, $1,151; Japan 6.9 percent, $1,376, and Turkey 4.1 percent, $156.

Americans spent less time in the hospital than people in most other countries. The United States had the second highest number of hospital employees per hospital bed (after Australia). Its physician to population ratio was slightly below average, but the United States had a far higher percentage of specialists.

A separate report in the same journal said the United States still holds a wide edge in medical technology over Canada and Japan, with far more resonance imaging machines and open-heart surgery units per million residents.

The Observer • NEWS

Shooting rampage
kills 3, stuns France

By DAVID CRARY
Associated Press

PARIS

In one of the bloodiest episodes in recent Paris history, a young couple charged two policemen, stole their guns and set off a wild car-chase, killing three officers and a taxi driver before being captured.

The slayings late Tuesday stunned a nation where only two other police officers had been killed in action all year, and prompted calls for restoration of the death penalty.

Authorities could recall no other case in which so many Paris police officers had been killed. Three officers and two civilian passers-by were also injured.

The male suspect, Audrey Maupin, 21, a deaf mute, was taken into custody Wednesday night, 24 hours after the chase. A second-year law student, he had been too badly hurt to undergo questioning.

The woman, 19 or 20, refused to talk to investigators. She was identified as Florence Ray, from the working-class Paris suburb of Argenteuil, and had been living as a squatter in an abandoned building with Maupin.

Investigators searching the young woman’s family found documents with anarchist slogans, and the name of a previously unknown group, “The Organization of Revolutionary Propagandists.” The words “Death to the cops” were written on several documents.

Interior Minister Charles Pasqua described the suspects as “desperate young people, trapped in a fantasy of anarchist theories aimed at destroying society.”

Right-wing political leaders, including Jean-Marie Le Pen of the National Front, said the best response to the killings would be to reinstate the death penalty, abolished in France in 1981.

Police unions demanded the government provide more funds and personnel for law enforcement. And about 500 cab drivers assembled their vehicles at the Place de la Nation in honor of their skin colleague, Amadou Diallo, 49, an immigrant from Guinea.

The rampage began at 9:25 p.m. Tuesday when a masked couple traveled in a car pound, sprayed tear gas at two policemen on duty, and made off with their fingerprints.

For their getaway, the couple commandeered Diallo’s taxi, taking the driver and a passen­ger hostage.

About 10 minutes into the journey, Diallo deliberately steered his taxi into a police car with three officers inside.

Two of the officers got out of their car, and both were fatally wounded as the couple opened fire, police said. Diallo was executed by the young woman at point blank range, witnesses said.

“The police got out of their car within seconds,” another witness told French radio. “You could hear gunfire everywhere. People were screaming, people, ‘Get down, get down’.”

By SAMUEL BECKETT

Waiting for Godot

NEW YORK

IIT’S SIMPLE. You give us your resume in a personal profile on the disk we provide. And we guarantee to deliver it to 10,000 employers (including the Fortune 500) in exactly the form they’re looking for. Your CareerNET enrollment kit—a preprogrammed disk and a booklet of step-by-step instructions—is $49.95. To be in the nationwide distribution to employers, order today. Call 1-800-682-8539.

CareerNET

*Plus $4.95 for shipping and handling.

UNIVERSITY OF MEXICO CITY
INTERNATIONAL STUDENT PROGRAMS

MEXICO CITY

SPRING 1995

1995-96 ACADEMIC YEAR

INFORMATION MEETING
Thursday October 6, 1994
4:30 P.M.
206 DeBartolo

ALL ARE WELCOME!

INFORMATION MEETING
Thursday October 6, 1994
4:30 P.M.
206 DeBartolo

ALL ARE WELCOME!

INFORMATION MEETING
Thursday October 6, 1994
4:30 P.M.
206 DeBartolo

ALL ARE WELCOME!

INFORMATION MEETING
Thursday October 6, 1994
4:30 P.M.
206 DeBartolo

ALL ARE WELCOME!

INFORMATION MEETING
Thursday October 6, 1994
4:30 P.M.
206 DeBartolo

ALL ARE WELCOME!

INFORMATION MEETING
Thursday October 6, 1994
4:30 P.M.
206 DeBartolo

ALL ARE WELCOME!

INFORMATION MEETING
Thursday October 6, 1994
4:30 P.M.
206 DeBartolo

ALL ARE WELCOME!
The bodies of 48 members of a religious sect were discovered today in a concealed underground chapel and other buildings after apparently committing mass suicide. Some victims wore ceremonial robes, their hands clasped in prayer and plastic bags tied over their heads.

Police found the bodies in the burning ruins of a farm and three ski chalets in southern Switzerland. The victims apparently killed themselves before the fires were set shortly after midnight, they said.

Authorities said most of the victims appeared to be Swiss, French, and Canadian and were investigating possible links with a religious sect in Canada.

Twenty-three adult bodies were found at a farm in the canton of Fribourg, northeast of Geneva, police said. One man was in the farmhouse with a bullet wound to the head, and 21 others were in an underground chapel lined with mirrors, where they had apparently suffocated themselves with plastic bags. Another body was found in a separate building.

Some of the victims in the chapel, which was reached by a door hidden behind paneling in a barn, were wearing red, white and black ceremonial robes, said Fribourg police spokesman Beat Carlen. Two women were wearing gold robes. One couple was in an embrace.

Carlen said some sort of altar was found in the chapel, but he did not have details.

UNCERTAINTY

Are you a senior who is not as certain about what you want to do as you once were? Perhaps you feel that the only thing you are certain of anymore is that you are not certain.

Are you a freshman who, at the beginning of this year, planned on majoring in one area, but is not so sure anymore? Perhaps you are only sure of one thing, that you are not going to major in what you thought you would.

A friend of mine, who is a senior at Notre Dame, told me that when she was a freshman she felt certain that she wanted to be an attorney. She studied like crazy. She picked out law schools. But, her certainty about this has gradually evaporated. She is not sure that she wants to be an attorney. When I asked her about what she is thinking about doing after she graduates in May, she told me, "I don't know." She feels a little stressed because she feels like she owes it to others, especially her parents, to be certain, and to certainly be a success.

There is only one phrase which I have spoken more often than "I'm not sure" and "I don't know."

When I was younger, I thought that as I would grow older and wiser I would need to use these phrases less often. However, as I have grown older, formally educated, and experienced, I have said "I'm not sure" and "I don't know" more often, not less.

Although the story of Jesus tells us that what we do in this life is important, it also tells us that how we do what we do is of even greater importance. Jesus told people who seemed sure of what God wanted them to do and sure of an exact way to be saved that they better think again. Jesus welcomed all people, especially those who were rather certain that they were not acceptable. Jesus welcomed people who were most brutally excluded, with love. I imagine it was not just what Jesus did that revealed him as God, but how he did it.

We are well into the first semester. At times it may seem like the pressure is on. There is that popular question, "What are you going to do?" Anxiety seems to go hand-in-hand with uncertainty.

Perhaps seniors in their final year are realizing that when it comes to discerning a career, absolute certainty is at least unlikely and probably impossible.

Maybe one of the most important aspects of education is the dispelling of the ways that we oversimplify ourselves and others. Hopefully, in this place of education, we die to old ways of seeing ourselves and others in order to continually rise to new ways of seeing ourselves and others that allow us the freedom to change and appreciate the ability of others to change.

Perhaps this dying and rising calls us to be a little more comfortable with not being sure all of the time and not knowing everything exactly.

Maybe our uncertainty is a step toward the truth.

What do we do with our lives is important. It can have a great impact on others. However, maybe the question which should precede "What do I want?" is "How do I want to be?"

Maybe the most important thing is not always what we do with our lives, but how we do it.
Finding good in the land of white people and lousy coffee

The line I have given my friends back East is as follows: South Bend is a bleak place. It is cold in the winter and hot in the summer. The only movies you can see are Milk Money or burnt burgers, endless white people, Notre Dame is even worse, with its stale atmosphere. It is cold in the winter.

Ozersky has been writing it for years, and I suspect that many students whisk past it, expecting either Rice-style pontification or mindless "inspirational" advice. Little do they know! Father Griffin is a mad genius, his column an inexpressible vortex of quotations and non-sequiturs, pious insights and odd, off-center self-deprecation. I usually take a smug pride in knowing from the first paragraph what most columnists will say next. I never have a clue what the next segue is going to be in the Letters. He never ceases to surprise and amaze, does he? This is partly immutable and unpredictable, far and away the most original mind to be found in the Observer. Attending to him when you get the chance; a mind like that doesn't come along every day. More Griffin, less Rice!

2: Archie's Barbeque. Now, I know what you're saying—"What the hell does this Jew know about barbeque?" Well, let me tell you something, my friend. I know more about barbeque as an obsession than most New Yorkers do in a lifetime, and Archie's is the real thing. It's not genuine southern barbeque—like most Midwest establishments, the sauce is too sweet and thick for my taste. And the dark, empty, cathode-ray-like space of Archie's, with its creepy wallpaper and proofed-strewn platters, is something of a drag. But those ribs! Order them with the sauce on the side, and they arrive at your table firm and sweet, with a reddish-brown crust redolent of smoke. The fries are exquisite, crisp and greasy to a point of transcendence. White bread and cold Pepsi. Talk about the Lord's bounty! Attend to the week-end special, beef ribs, a heavy slab of fatty, fibrous, unutterably rich meat cooked for a tenderizing eternity in that cloaking sauce. Holy cow, what a place. You want to drop into a coma when you come out, blinking like a surprised larva in the sudden light, but while you're there it is earthly paradise.

3: Mortal Kombat. I never get past the game room's glass window in the basement of LaFortune without stopping to watch some lad hurt his yellow man'sメンバー into his opponent's chest, or carving him up with scissor hands as bright red blood drips from the wound. They say this country is losing its fastball, but I have yet to see it in our video games. The variety of "fatalities" in Mortal Kombat beggars the imagination. I love it when the Bruce Lee guy goes inside his dazed enemy's head and blows him up in a shower of bones; or when, having knocked him silly with flying kicks, "Scorpion" pulls off his ninja mask to reveal a frightening skull, from which he breathes a fireball at his helpless foe, burning his once-mighty frame into a charred, kneeling skeleton. These are plenty fatalities I haven't seen, too.

The chance of seeing a new and lurid way of dispatching the other player (and the absolute geniality which accompanies these sadisms in the real world — a pat on the back, a chuckle from the fried/beheaded/dismembered loser) gives me a new spark with which to face my day.

4: The Superstore. The giant shopping edifice on Grape Road with the unpronounceable name, can you beat it? Where else can you grab appliances with hands still cold from feeling roast beef, or discard an unwanted container of chocolate milk on a tractor? These disguisements and inconsistencies amaze and delight me.

5: My TA salary, my column, my fine home, the upstairs bar at Truman's, Father Kirby's lectures, The Killer, and the Eighth floor of the Hesburgh library (literature and film). Hey! You know, perhaps things aren't so bad here after all.

Josh Ozersky is a graduate student in history.

Josh Ozersky
At the Abbey of Gethsemani, a Trappist monastery in Kentucky, when we have spent several weeks this summer, they have an interesting way of coming to decisions. In the refectory, all facing each other. When an issue is raised on which they need to hear from every monk, they invite the youngest members to speak first. This wisdom is tried to avoid a "doing what you youngest members to speak first. This ancient monastic version of wisdom coming out to Morrissey, I think we pretty well solved the equation. At least Eric and I thought so.

The Catholic Character at Notre Dame. Eric said it was perhaps the main reason he chose Notre Dame. He also said it is the reason he stayed. For him the residence hall and living among so many people who took faith seriously could talk about it. Some people fear that the Catholic Character requires faculty members sending their course descriptions to the local bishop. Eric said that would be stupid. I agreed. He went on to say it had to do a bit with the place where the Center for Social Concerns. He remarked how one hears so much of a tradition of service here that one gets swept up by it, even if one hasn’t done much of it before. I said I thought that was true.

As we got into the deep green of the nature trail, we got more serious. I said that the Catholic Character holds the conviction that our graduates will ask new questions in their studies.

"What will this financial strategy do to the ways and men the ways and women relate here. They spoke about the difference to the majors trying to form a 'book-club' and they asked why connecting with someone emotionally often leads to connecting with them physically.

Eric remarked that he wasn't sure if the kind of conversation Eric would talk with a priest nearly any place else. He said that the many Holy Cross men and women who have served at Notre Dame certainly have not been the sacrifices they have made, but that for Notre Dame's Catholicism is not our private property at all.

I told him my sense is that everyone contributes to the atmosphere here. We either help Notre Dame to be fearful or we help it to be creative. We can help another see the person of Jesus affecting our studies and our common life in a way that we can help other avoid that reality. We help these possibilities to happen to Notre Dame because we Catholic, simply because we Catholic.

I wondered if we weren't overly confident in our Catholicity, simply because we have the Grotto, Sacred Heart, hall chapels and crosses in the classrooms. He said precisely firmly, that his experience so far showed him the spirit of Jesus present in people and conversations. I marked that building reality and policies do form people. If you build a residence hall without a chapel, life in that hall will not be interesting.

As we got into the deep green of the nature trail, we got more serious. I said that the Catholic Character holds the conviction that our graduates will ask new questions in their studies.

"What will this financial strategy do to the ways and the women relate here. They spoke about the difference to the majors trying to form a 'book-club' and they asked why connecting with someone emotionally often leads to connecting with them physically.

Eric remarked that he wasn't sure if the kind of conversation Eric would talk with a priest nearly any place else. He said that the many Holy Cross men and women who have served at Notre Dame certainly have not been the sacrifices they have made, but that for Notre Dame's Catholicism is not our private property at all.

I told him my sense is that everyone contributes to the atmosphere here. We either help Notre Dame to be fearful or we help it to be creative. We can help another see the person of Jesus affecting our studies and our common life in a way that we can help other avoid that reality. We help these possibilities to happen to Notre Dame because we Catholic, simply because we Catholic.

I wondered if we weren't overly confident in our Catholicity, simply because we have the Grotto, Sacred Heart, hall chapels and crosses in the classrooms. He said precisely firmly, that his experience so far showed him the spirit of Jesus present in people and conversations. I marked that building reality and policies do form people. If you build a residence hall without a chapel, life in that hall will not be interesting.
Multicultural Week stresses cross-culture communication

By PATTI CARSON
Saint Mary's Accent Editor

During this Multicultural Week on the Notre Dame and Saint Mary's campuses, we have been celebrating ethnic diversity with activities such as cultural lectures, discussion panels, international fashion shows, and exhibitions. Judging from the turnouts at this week's events, many students have expressed their interest in learning about other cultures and their own culture. Students are more aware, especially during Multicultural Week, of the importance of cross-cultural communication.

There are many students who work not only during Multicultural Week, but all year long to promote cultural awareness. These students are members of language clubs and other groups on campus that celebrate ethnic diversity. One such organization is the French Club (FUEIRA), which means "strength and unity among the races." FUEIRA is an organization for students interested in Hispanic culture," said Saint Mary's FUEIRA co-president, Nell Pampuch. Currently comprised of thirty members, FUEIRA attempts to increase cultural awareness and unity, according to Pampuch. The organization distributes a monthly newsletter and promotes its members with entertainment and service-oriented opportunities, Pampuch said. "We can learn a lot from people of other cultures. We live in a changing world where cultural diversity can no longer be ignored," she said.

The Italian Club of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's also promote ethnic awareness on campus. The Italian Clubs will co-sponsor the "International Disco" this Saturday evening, at the LaFortune Ballroom. Presidents Heather Matula, from Saint Mary's, and Louis Vitrice, from Notre Dame, are working to "open our campuses up to new ideas," according to Matula. Everyone is invited to enjoy the cultural dance music from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. for only one dollar, she said. Last year, the "International Disco" drew nearly 300 people. Matula and Vitrice are hopeful that this year's dance will draw even more.

Matula said that the Italian Club also offers cooking classes and publishes an annual cookbook to promote cross-cultural awareness on campus.

The Saint Mary's Spanish Club also works throughout the year for the spread of ethnic ideals. Saint Mary's Spanish Club co-president Veronica Torres said that club members meet two times per month for lunch, during which they practice speaking Spanish with other students and faculty members.

"The Spanish Club also meets to see Spanish films when they come to town," Torres said.

According to Torres, cross-cultural communication is a necessity. "With good communication, we can break through the barriers and stereotypes that society imposes," Torres said.

"Many people have preconceived notions of other cultures. If we learn to communicate effectively and honestly, we can come to the reality about those cultures. And we break through the stereotypes," Torres added.

Multicultural communication implies that the world is definitely diverse. We cannot learn from other cultures and we can benefit from what we learn. Resident Dr. John Pauley, assistant professor of Communication, Dance & Theatre at Saint Mary's. "Our cultural differences are not a bad thing. And there is one underlying similarity. It is simply that we are all human beings created in the image of God. This commonality underlies our differences. And when a commonality underlies differences, then there is hope," Pauley said.

If you were to open the directory to the listings of the ethnic organizations of the Notre Dame and Saint Mary's Communities, you would find that they number over thirty. These organizations provide opportunities for students who want to learn about their respective cultural awareness. And these opportunities exist not only during Multicultural Week, but all year long.

Music Review

By ROB ADAMS
Music Critic

If a CD comes out and nobody knows about it, does it make a sound? The answer is usually no. However, I have chosen to rescue three very interesting albums that have probably not gotten much attention from other publications.

Although each of them is filled with some fantastic sounds, they come from three distinctly different music schools of thought.

The Planet Janet by Janet Speaks French.

Long live the rock concept album! Began in the 1960's in an attempt to gain respect as a true artistic medium, the concept has been developed over the years by such great players as The Who, Pink Floyd, and Santana. However, I doubt that they considered doing it their way.

For this concept album, the three New York City men who make up Janet Speaks French, their CD cover and liner notes tells the story of how the universe was to be taken over by complete syncretization. They stop here and saved the day with rock music.

The CD is actually worth buying just for the title story; the songs are an enhancement to the tale.

If only writing music were as simple as composing stories! The members of Janet Speaks French have a fabulous imagination and they are all talented musicians, but the songs do not always accurately go along with the messages that the fabricator's are trying to convey.

A deserted feel surrounds the song, "Dog in Sand." Palpable, overwhelming bass and vocal distortion complete the mix, sounding a lot like circa Green.

On the other hand, the Red Hot Chilli Peppers funk set the tone on the song, "Petition," which vocals stylized by Michael Penn, Sean O' Sullivan croons "And then you kissed me/And right then and there I felt numb/And I guess it's true I fell for you/But it ain't like I jumped I was pushed/"

A lengthy bit of guitar distortion leads into "World on a Wire." The drums are soft, yet consistently tasteful, and O' Sullivan adopts a spoken-word style much like old Lou Reed.

This band is definitely not short on ideas, but they do slip when it comes to portraying themselves through their music. Once they find a less shaky balance, however, they will be an excellent band.

In Love by Jazz Passengers:

While listening to the first few minutes of In Love, you will have to remind yourself that no, this is not the sound-track for the next Twin Peaks movie.

About two or three minutes after that, you will fight to keep yourself from thinking that this music was being played in Short Cuts, Part II.

With a cover containing a spilled cup of drinking glass, it is easy to expect the unexpected. Jazz Passengers apply their "no rules" approach much like Naked City, a different eclectic jazz act that stretch the boundaries. Through by Love, Jazz Passengers almost bring about a physical spectrum for their abstract structures.

"Yet I'm still with you/Don't know what it is/That I can't resist/This sensation of a kiss," sings Jimmy Scott in a brutal falsetto on the song "imitation of a kiss." The amazing arrangement of the vibes creates a somewhat obsessive tone. The soft, cymbal-ridden drum arrangement runs the mood.

A more traditional jazz arrangement is featured on "Jolly Street." The bass climbs and falls like a vertical type writer. Jeff Buckley's guest vocals on the track are stupendous as the lyrics reflect quick, monoplastic images.

Deborah Harry is the guest vocalist on "Dogs in Sand." Although the scene seems to be of a seedy nightclub filmed in black and white, Harry fits in this new turf with ease; her vocals are flawless. A simmering trombone accompanies her on every note, while the bass is not far behind. The mood is set gradually, percussion is utilized only sparingly.

If there was ever an album of frightening jazz, this is it. But being scared never felt so good.

United State of Ambience II by Various Artists:

With 73 minutes of music in only ten songs, Moonshine Music is not fooling around when they tell you they want to set a mood on the back of the disc.

In this second part of the Ambience series, the leaders of the movement from America and England have been united in what was dubbed "The Mid-Atlantic Sessions." The recording consists of "no definitions," this set continues the ever-expanding genre that is ambience. Blasted by many critics who don't think music is music without a guitar, bass, and drums, ambience has nevertheless stretched even further what was once acid house.

"Sargasso Sea" by Salt Tank contains fascinating elements of psychedelia as sounds swirl all around the speakers. Samples of birds chirping are tossed in and complete a mood of utter isolation. Later in the song, thrashing bass and sporadic cymbal arrangements pulsate through the wall of keyboards.

On the track "Daisy" by one of the most widely-renowned groups that make ambient music, Electric Skychurch, their hypnotic rhythm hits right away; a soft whine greets you as the song moves into its first seconds.

The synthesizer's lovely, time-consuming journey transmits you back to the Mojave Desert where the group records their music.

The opening notes of "Dreamscape" seem to invite you to go spelunking in a vast cave. As you go deeper into the song you go also deeper into the cave, created by layer after layer of raw sound. Collapsing and meandering sections of dark keyboard arrangements tumble through the wall of keys.

Regardless of what any praucers of "real instruments" think, ambience is wonderful music. It is good, it can communicate the thoughts of the artist to an almost startling accuracy; "no definitions" is a perfect way to define this music.

THE PLANET JANET

7 records, 1994

In Love
High Street Records, 1994

The Planet Janet

United State of Ambience II

Moonshine Music, 1994
MIAMI looking for big play against FSU
By STEVE WINE
Associated Press

The Class of '97 Service Project will continue.

The 13th-ranked hurricanes (3-0) scored against Florida State.

The Hurricanes (3-1) have scored
against Florida State.

The 13th-ranked hurricanes (3-0) scored against Florida State.

The Hurricanes (3-1) have scored against Florida State.

The big play is back in the Miami backfield.

THE CLASS OF '97 SERVICE PROJECT will continue.

Florida State linebacker Brock. "They have come back to making the big play. Last year that was missing."

Games between Miami and Florida State often swing on one bolt of offense. Last year, when the Seminoles won 28-
10, they scored on Sean Jackson's 69-yard run and Charlie Ward's 72-yard pass to Matt Fier.

This year, Florida State's second victory in the past nine games of the series.

"That's the way it's been down here," Ward said. "It almost seems like with one on the line, you try to find one or two big plays that beat you. Maybe you're out-playing them all, and you still have to get a 60-yard strike when we have them shut down.

Today we are faced with finding a cure for initial eligibility so that we as coaches and administrators can continue to provide opportunities for many young people that want to attend college, play athletics, graduate and become productive citizens in our society," said George Washington's Mike Jarvis.

The hurricanes are a freshman for a few players to be eligible are still what is referred to as Prop 46, a 2.0 grade point average in at least 11 high school core courses and at least one year of American World. Prop 16, which was passed in 1992, increases the number of core courses to 13 and would allow a student-athlete to have at least a 900 on the SAT with a 2.0
average or a 700 with a 2.5.

THEObSErver • SPORTS
Thursday, October 4, 1994
Kentucky receives threats aimed at Curry's wife

Associated Press

LEXINGTON, Ky.—A threatening phone call to the University of Kentucky football office included a threat on the life of Carolyn Curry, wife of UK coach Bill Curry, the university announced Wednesday.

The university said the call was received within the past few days and was immediately reported to the UK police. The FBI has since joined in the investigation.

University administrators and athletics officials were not at liberty to comment on the call pending the conclusion of the investigation, the school said in a news release.

Curry was unable to make his weekly radio broadcast on Thursday afternoon, the first time since coming to Kentucky in 1990.

Ralph Hacker, moderator of "Cat Calls," said at the start of the broadcast that Curry had "pressing personal business" that kept him from participating in the show.

Kentucky, which does not play this weekend, is in the throes of a four-game losing streak. The Wildcats are 1-4 overall and 0-3 in the Southeastern Conference.

Mishawaka: INDIAN RIDGE PLAZA, 5924 GRAPE RD. 219-273-6097

Friday October 7, 1994
8pm-12am Stepan Center
FOOD AND ENTERTAINMENT FROM AROUND THE WORLD

TASTE OF NATIONS

Recollect
The Observer

DANCERS!
There will be an organizational meeting for the Dance Collective TONIGHT!
5:45 p.m. Regina Dance Studio, SMC
MEN ARE ENCOURAGED TO ATTEND.

SHOE CARNIVAL

NOW THRU COLUMBUS DAY
MON. OCT. 10th

2nd PAIR

Price

DON'T BE FOOLED BY 19% OFF INFLATED DEPARTMENT STORE PRICES, SHOP THE SHOE CARNIVAL & SAVE REAL MONEY!

BUY YOUR FIRST PAIR AT OUR ALREADY LOW REGULAR STICKER PRICE, GET A 2nd PAIR OF EQUAL OR LESSER VALUE FOR 1/2 PRICE.

MISHAWAKA: INDIAN RIDGE PLAZA, 5924 GRAPE RD. 219-273-6097

SPORTS BRIEFS

DomeR Run- Saturday, October 8, 10:00 am at Stepan Center. Three and six mile runs followed by a pancake breakfast. T-shirts to all finishers plus awards to the champions of each division. There will be student and staff divisions. Register in advance at RecSports. $5 fee in advance, $6 day of event. More Info, call RecSports at 631-6100.

Ski Club will have a meeting on Thursday, October 6, at 6:00 pm in 123 Neiland Schiano Hall. Deposits of $100 for the trip to Crested Butte will be accepted and T-shirts and sundresses are in. Bring your checkbook. Call Kevin Malone with any questions.

Sports Talk on WWVL 640 AM, will be broadcast from the main level of LaFortune Student Center on Sunday at 7:30. This week's guests are Notre Dame stars Cindy Dawes and Rosella Guerrero. The Men's Basketball Program will be holding try-outs at 6:30 a.m. at the JAG Annex on October 7.

Mitchell continued from page 16

in our first two games and turned the ball over too much," he added. Against Pittsburgh, "a lot of guys were talking how the first half felt like last year when we were moving the ball down the field, I think we've got the feeling back."

But if Notre Dame can shut down Mitchell, Hartshill will be deprived of his biggest offensive weapon.

"He's got a great knack of finding the open area," Notre Dame coach Lou Holtz said. "He reads coverages very, very well. ... He's got excellent hands."

Smart enough to know that another year at Boston College would enhance his NFL prospects. He thought about turning pro this season, especially when coach Tom Coughlin left to coach Jacksonville's new NFL team and Foley went to the Jets.

But he was told he needed to get stronger. He also got a chance to enjoy college football for one more fall, and perhaps, one more upset of Notre Dame. "I talked to some family members and friends and people whose opinions really mattered to me," Mitchell said. "There's nothing like playing college football. "There's nothing like playing on a Saturday afternoon."

REGISTER TO WIN 100 FREE PLAY COUPONS FOR THE NEW GAME FROM... PLUS 100 NEW H 1 CT. GOLD HERRINGBONE BRACELETS FROM DIAMOND GALLERY. TO M IN ORERS GIFT TO REGISTRATION.

FOR THE NEW GAME FROM... PLUS 100 NEW H 1 CT. GOLD HERRINGBONE BRACELETS FROM DIAMOND GALLERY. TO M IN ORERS GIFT TO REGISTRATION.
The Observer • SPORTS

Thursday, October 6, 1994

NBA
Former Irish star Monty Williams signs with Knicks

Associated Press

NEW YORK

The New York Knicks announced the signing Wednesday of first-round draft choice Monty Williams to a multi-year contract.

Terms were not disclosed for Williams, the 24th player chosen in the NBA draft.

Williams, a 6-foot-8 forward, led Notre Dame, averaging 22.4 points per game and 8.2 rebounds. He finished his college career as Notre Dame's 12th leading scorer with 1,371 points.

The Knicks' other first round pick, Florida State's Charlie Ward, signed a multi-year contract on Sept. 28.

SPECIAL NEEDS: 3 poor parishes have requested men; 2 have requested bilingual (Span.) persons; mature women needed to serve with homeless families.

“The mission of the Church is to evangelize.”
—Pope Paul VI

FINANCE CLUB

EFFECTIVE INTERVIEWING

Guest Speaker:
Prof. James O'Rourke

Dr. O'Rourke is Director, Notre Dame Center for Business Communication and Associate Professor of Management at the University of Notre Dame.

Place: 131 DeBartolo

When: Thursday, October 6

Time: 7:30 - 8:30 p.m.

The Observer/Scott McDonald

Running back Andi Odicino and Pasquerilla West face Lewis at Cartier.

Pasquerilla East v. Knott

Knoth has had a lot of time to prepare for tonight's game against fifth-ranked Pasquerilla East.

The Angels have had over a week and a half to work on their defense and improve their offensive attack. The defense has been strong, allowing only one touchdown in three games, but the offense hasn't been able to convert of lately.

“We've been working on new plays all week, and we're excited to see what we can do with them in our next game,” co-Captain Katie Warzon said.

Lewis, boasting a sizeable team from the campus large female dorm, hopes to continue their offensive attack and capitalize on turnovers forced by their improving defense. The chickens are preparing for an intense game against a highly motivated PW team.

Pasquerilla West intends to end their frustrating streak with the skills of quarterback Carrie Wieneke and Lanny Le and Andy Odicino at runningback.

“I think we'll be able to win if we can bring our offense up to the high level of play that our defense has maintained,” Warzon said.

The Observer/Mary Huard

“HAVE YOU EVER CONSIDERED THE DIFFERENCE IT WOULD MAKE TO JOIN A FIRM WITH A GLOBAL PERSPECTIVE?”

Merrill Lynch cordially invites you to attend an Information Session regarding career opportunities in Investment Banking Debt & Equity Markets October 13, 1994 at 6:30 p.m.

Hesburgh Peace Center—The Greenfields Room Reception to follow

Casual Attire

We are an equal opportunity employer.

The difference is Merrill Lynch.

© 1994 Merrill Lynch & Co.
Women
continued from page 16
The Attitudes were plagued by penalties in the early-going, which kept them from scoring and allowed Lyons to score.
Quarterback Julie Byrd and tailback Jenny Layden were the story of the evening for Lyons. Together they passed and ran up the field on their first possession, and Byrd ran the ball for a touchdown. Lyons was unable to convert on the extra point attempt.

Happy 21st, Jenny... the day after... Still feeling the effects
Love, The John Black fan club

Badin attempted to recoup their loss and came out passing, but time ran out and they went into the second half trailing 6-0. Tough defense on both sides made the first possessions of the second half uneventful. On Lyons’ second possession, Byrd and Layden again combined their efforts to drive down the field.

Layden caught a long pass from Byrd and ran in for a touchdown. Lyons failed to score on the extra point attempt. Next it was Badin’s turn to score, as captain Bill Satanek caught a long pass for a touchdown.

The Lyons offense off-sides was made up with Byrd’s 17-yard run, but time ran out and they went into the second half trailing 6-0.

Together they passed and ran up the field on their first possession, and Byrd ran the ball in for a touchdown. Lyons was unable to convert on the extra point attempt.

Happy 21st, Jenny... the day after... Still feeling the effects
Love, The John Black fan club

The Cavaliers were unable to convert on the extra point attempt, setting the tone for the rest of the game.

From this point on, Pangborn dominated on both sides of the ball. The Phoxes stellar offensive effort was led by wide receiver/running back Kelly Brady.

“She did it all,” said Coach Eric Cunningham. The Phoxes quickly answered Cavagnagh’s touchdown with one of their own. With ten minutes left in the half, Kelly Brady ran for 65 yards and put the Phoxes on the scoreboard.

Pangborn failed to score the extra point, and Cavagnagh took over. The Cavaliers could not get their offense going, and had to punt to Pangborn.

The Phoxes then marched down to the endzone. Quarterback, Mary Kraft threw a 50-yard pass which Kelly Brady caught and took into the end zone. Kraft passed to Stacey Baker up the middle for the extra point. The Cavaliers could not get things started on offense, and they went in to the second half trailing 13-6.

Pangborn came up short on their first possession of the second half, as did Cavagnagh. Mary Kraft and the Pangborn offense pushed down the field, and Trish Sorenson was able to score on a 3-yard option run with five minutes left in the half.

Cavagnagh coach Greg Montgomery was proud of his team for finally scoring.

“We played strong defense, and our offense stepped it up this week,” he said. “They are really starting to develop. We’re a new team, but a good team. “We need to work on our option defense and pass defense. We’ve played some of the best teams in the league this season, and we’re really starting to improve.”

Pangborn’s coaches Greg Bannos and Eric Cunningham agreed that the Phoxes defense “played tough.” Both coaches felt that Kelly Brady was the key player for Pangborn.

“Our offense picked it up tonight,” he said. “They showed what they really had.” Bannos said.

Mary Kate Love!
20 down and 1 to go!!

Hope it’s a wonderful birthday—We Miss You!!
Lots of Love,
“From all your Family”

KATE BARRETT
on
‘THE PEACE AND SIMPLICITY OF ST. FRANCIS’

All are welcome and encouraged to attend
Sunday, October 9 at 2 p.m. in the Log Chapel

the CASTLE & CO.
MINI-SPA
FULL SERVICE HAIR CARE

EUROPEAN SKIN & BODY CARE STUDIO

EUGENESE PANICURE SPA
-REVITALIZING DEEP CLEANSING FACIALS
-CORRECTIVE MAKE-UP LESSONS
-RETAIL PRODUCTS FROM

CLARINS of Paris (Cosmetics & Skin Care)

APPOINTMENTS & WALK-INS WELCOME

PERM PLUS EXTRA
Shampoo
Precision Cut
Quality Perm
Complete Style
With Selected Stylists
Reg. $65 ZOTOWAVE
Must present coupon — Expires 10-30-94

$45.00

TANNING PACKAGES
1 month Unlimited Tanning
Facial Tanners + Stereo
Closed Sunday-Monday
Must present coupon — Expires 10-30-94

$35.00

FACIAL SERVICE
Free Eye Treatment Cream/Gel
By Clarins of Paris
With a Facial Service
Reg. $45.00
Must present coupon — Expires 10-30-94

$35.00

®

Sculptured Nails
Reg. $35

$45.00

SCULPTURED NAILS
GEL TIPS
FILL INS
Reg. $25

$23.00

$35.00

272-0312 272-8471
ST. RD. 23, IRONWOOD
Belles lose fall home finale to DePauw

By TARA KRULL
Sports Writer

The Saint Mary's tennis team was defeated Tuesday by DePauw University 6-3, in their fall season home finale. The loss left the Belles with an overall 1-2 record.

"Victories were just slipping away from us," coach Katie Cromer said. "We had chances to win matches, but we seemed to have trouble ending them."

The Belles started off on the right foot with two wins turned in by the number one doubles team of seniors Andrea Ayres and Robin Hrycko, and the number three doubles team of freshmen Nora Shuar and Kate Marchofer.

Sophomore Kate Kozacik, the Belles' number one singles player, made a great comeback after losing her first set 6-2. Unfortunately, she suffered leg cramps during her tie-breaker set and was forced to back down on her opponent in the end.

"I tried to just stay out there and play through it," Kozacik said. "It was just so frustrating though, because I had a good chance at winning the match after losing my first set."

Cromer noted that the team's inexperience was probably the main factor in their loss against DePauw.

"We had many matches go all the way to three sets, but we just did not have it in ourselves to carry out the sets into wins," she added.

Despite the fact that the Belles concluded their fall season with a losing record, Cromer and her team have high expectations for their longer, regular spring season.

"Overall, I am pleased with the outcome of this fall," she said. "We played tough teams and we played them well, so I definitely believe that we are on the right track for a solid spring season."

Cromer also noted that the losses the Belles suffered came from teams who have extensive fall seasons. In return, those teams have had more of a chance to establish themselves as a team than the Belles have at this point.

Nevertheless, this fall season has given the team hope for the spring. It also gave them a chance to get to know each other which will allow for a smooth beginning once they start up again in January.

"This season was definitely a plus for team bonding," Kozacik stated. "Everyone feels comfortable now, calling a teammate and asking her if she wants to get together and practice."

According to Cromer, it will be this team unity and extra practice during the Belles' time off that will make the team a winner next spring.

"As long as everyone continues to work hard and we gain a little more experience, there's no reason why Saint Mary's won't be a team to beat," Cromer said.

Saint Mary's Soccer will take on The University of Chicago today at 4 p.m. at home.

---

Frazier likely to miss rest of season

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Associated Press

LINCOLN, Neb. - Nebraska quarterback Tommie Frazier, hospitalized with a blood clot in his right leg, is all but certain to miss the rest of the season.

A doctor Wednesday recommended surgery and said Frazier, once a leading contender for the Heisman Trophy, should have no physical contact for three to six months.

Dr. Deepak Gangahar, a cardiovascular surgeon, said the 20-year-old junior from Bradenton, Fla., should remain in the hospital for a week to 10 days for an operation.

"Medicine is an inexact science," Gangahar said from Bryan Memorial Hospital. "But as it goes today that is my recommendation to the coach."

Osborne admitted the doctor probably was right, but he wasn't ready to give up yet.

"You never say never in athletics," Osborne said after practice. "But I wouldn't hold out that hope to anybody. The main concern now is down the road ... to get him healthy."

Gangahar said Frazier showed no expression when told the news.

"Tommie kept his chin up and recognized the reality," he said.

The doctor said he is 90 percent sure Frazier will have surgery to tie off a surface vein that had a smaller blood clot.

That smaller vein, he said, likely rubbed against the larger inner vein, causing the second blood clot in two weeks.

The larger second clot discovered Tuesday has been dissolved, Gangahar said. Doctors now want Frazier's blood to gradually thicken so they can operate to tie off the smaller vein.

After a first clot, about 6 to 8 inches long, was discovered Sept. 25 behind Frazier's right knee, Gangahar said Frazier would be out for the season if the clot re-formed.

While clots like Frazier's are not rare, Gangahar said they usually occur among the elderly or those with heart disease or cancer.
Robert Down The Smoking Man— Of The Countdown Reporters— "Dear Mr. President"— Put on Some Sunglasses

Thursday, October 6, 1994

The Observer • TODAY

FOUR FOOD GROUPS OF THE APOCALYPSE

DAVE KELLETT

In addition to my current duties, I'll be managing the marketing group.

THE MARKETING JOB OPENED BECAUSE THE PREVIOUS MANAGER GOT RUN DOWN IN THE PARKING LOT.

WHEN THEY NEEDED A GOOD MANAGER, THEY KNEW WHERE TO LOOK.

IN ADDITION TO MY CURRENT DUTIES, I'LL BE MANAGING THE MARKETING GROUP.

THE MARKETING JOB OPENED BECAUSE THE PREVIOUS MANAGER GOT RUN DOWN IN THE PARKING LOT.

WHEN THEY NEEDED A GOOD MANAGER, THEY KNEW WHERE TO LOOK.

CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1 Jam maker
2 Mayor of Rome
14 Fascimile
15 Tour follower
16 Occupy
17 Treadmill
18 They may try you.
19 Bill sniper
20 Borders
22 Look-up and down
23 "No bid"
25 Curve between musical notes
26 Agrus
27 Crusader
29 Before

DOWN
1 Shooter
2 Supporter
3 Took back
4 High orbit points
5 Get wider
6 Whopper
7 Junior
8 Henry's here
9 Blonde
10 Bathing suit top
11 Bit
12 Takes to the street edge
13 Uniform attachment
14 Visualize
15 Is incensed
16 Comprehends
17 Red Sox opener
18 Resolve, as differences
19 Console
20 Kid corral
29 City on the Loren
31 Baseball stat
32 Ring result
36 Where nautical rope is wound
37 Little lake
38 Dusters
39 W.W.I contest
40 Masters tournament location
41 Freeloader
42 Cracker toppers
43 Certain code carrier
44 Ruthless ruler
45 "Star Trek"
46 Book containing legends
47 Youngster

Get answers to any three clues by touch-tone phone: 1-500-420-6556 (75¢ each minute).

Puzzle by Harvey Cates

Of Interest

Lutheran Volunteer Post Graduation Program recruiters will be available at the Center for Social Concerns from 9:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. An information session will be held at the CSC from 3:00 to 4:00 p.m. This is a great opportunity for all interested in working for social justice for one year while being in an intentional Christian Community.

A Fireside Chat with Tim Sheeha and Janet Kaunzyn entitled, "The Ideal of a Feminist Family" Friday in the Notre Dame Room of LaFortune from 12:15 to 1:00 p.m. Lunch will be provided.

The Inner City Teaching Corps will recruit at Notre Dame tonight. An informational meeting will be offered at 7:00 p.m. in the Center for Social Concerns. The ICTC is a post-graduate volunteer program that places recent college graduates as full-time teachers in Inner-city Chicago parochial elementary schools.

STUDENT DISCOUNT

This text is meaningless, but feel free to read him. One of your friends is sitting in the middle of cheese also.

MOOVES

Over 18,000 Pints. The Policy #008
9pm Fridays
Smoking Pops
Only One Hundred Cents

Every Thursday Night from 9pm until Midnight

Skinny Tuna, or

Taste of Nations

9pm on Friday at Stetson Center

ACOUSTIC CAFE

This text is meaningless, but feel free to read him. One of your friends is sitting in the middle of cheese also.

amounts of time may be hazardous

Have something to say?

Use Observer classifieds

Western Comfort

Notre Dame

Grilled Salmon

Winter Blend Vegetables

Rice

Shrimp Poppers

Vitattigio Alfredo

Steamed Escarole

284-6500 for the menu hotline

Saint Mary's
SPORTS

Thursday, October 6, 1994

Men’s Soccer

Mike Bertocci (right) and the Notre Dame men’s soccer team lost to Loyola 2-0 last night. Dropping their record to 3-3 in conference play and 5-6 overall.

Women’s Interhall Football

Walsh tops Badin, 14-7

By JENNY SHANK
Sports Writer

An exciting evening of women’s interhall football was kicked off by a game between top-ranked Walsh and the Howard Ducks.

Anne Jackoboice scored the first touchdown for Walsh as they went into the second half leading the Ducks by a score of 7-0.

To start off the second half, Sarah Norton capped a long drive by scoring a touchdown for Howard. The Ducks went to Angel Donovan who scored the extra point.

Walsh quickly answered with another touchdown, as Luz Maria Rodriguez ran the ball in the end zone. Walsh’s Rachel Kavanagh ran up the middle and converted the extra point attempt.

The final score was 14-7. Walsh improved their record to 4-0, and Howard dropped to 0-3.

Walsh captain Kirsten Edmison said that key catches on offense allowed them to win.

“We had two interceptions on defense by Genna Geyw and Meg Hogarty,” she said. “Elane Cook and Becky Cantwell both made key tackles. We just wanted to go out there and win so that we could stay number one.”

Lyons 19, Badin 6

In the second game of the evening, Lyons faced the Badin Attitudes. Badin’s speedy Kim Gold got things started with a long kick-off return.

The Attitudes threatened to score, but Lyons’ tough defense kept them at bay.

Blue race heats up as Off-Campus, Siegfried clash

By K.C. GOYER
Sports Writer

Siegfried will be serving up something special for a hungry Off-Campus team.

“Off-Campus has a good quarterback,” Siegfried co-captain Sam Spencer said. “We’ll need to shut her down.

Spencer would not elaborate further on her thoughts about the upcoming game, but commented that her team has been stressing organization and execution on both offense and defense all week. Off-Campus is confident that they have the necessary talent to win, but acknowledge that no team is to be taken lightly.

With some of the finest offensive and defensive lines in the league, the experience of many seniors, and dedicated coaches who have assessed and utilized their talent well, the Off-Campus team packs a powerful punch.

However, the eighth ranked Slammers have yet to lose a game and are not willing to settle for one of the many ties that plagued Interhall.

see IH / page 12

FOOTBALL

Mitchell remembers

Eagles’ tight end knows Irish out for revenge

By HOWARD ULMAN
Associated Press

BOSTON

Just 47 seconds left. Third-and-10 at his own 25. Down by one point in front of a hostile crowd.

Make the catch and Pete Mitchell would rekindle hopes for an upset that would shake the very top of the national rankings. Miss it and only one desperate chance would remain to avoid a stunning choke.

Pete Mitchell made the catch.

From that 12-yard gain last Nov. 20, Boston College gained momentum that ended in David Gordon’s 41-yard field goal on the final play. It gave the Eagles a 41-39 win at Notre Dame, which had erased a 38-17 fourth-quarter deficit.

It was the last regular-season game for the Fighting Irish, who went into it at 10-0 with the No. 1 ranking. They came out of it ranked fourth and ended the season in the second spot.

Mitchell had “by far the best game of my career” with 13 catches for 132 yards, two touchdowns and 10 first downs. He added a 24-yard reception to the Notre Dame 33 with 19 seconds left.

It Glenn Foley’s 12-yard pass after two incompletions was the biggest.

“T he media is making a large deal out of this game,” Mitchell said. “It just seemed like Glenn threw the ball only where we could catch it.”

Mitchell, an outstanding pro prospect at tight end, will be back for Saturday’s rematch at Boston College. Foley, a four-year starter, won’t be. He’s with the New York Jets, and Mark Hartsell, who has thrown just 36 passes, will start at quarterback.

“We’re there with Mark,” Mitchell said. “He’s a very confident kid. He’s not cocky but he’s very confident and wants to win badly.”

The presence of a reliable veteran like Mitchell should help.

Mitchell had 10 receptions in the opening 34-26 loss to Michigan, scored in a 12-7 loss to Virginia Tech and caught just two passes in a 21-9 win at Pittsburgh in which the Eagles focused on running the ball.

Now comes Notre Dame, a big favorite with a 4-1 record.

“The media is making a large deal out of this game,” Mitchell said. “I think all we need to know is the 90 guys on this team believe we can win this game and we expert to win this game.”

“We just made too many mistakes of note...”

Dillon and Breen-Phillips won the interhall cross country titles. Joe Kerbleski and Julie Toth won the men and women’s individual titles.

WOMEN’S INTERHALL

A further look at last and tonight’s action on the gridiron.

See page 12-13