Electric car finishes at Indy, in 4th

After a month of problems that left the Irish Racing Team stranded on the sidelines, Notre Dame's electric race car is up and running again.

The team finished fourth among eight teams last Thursday at the Electricare Formula Lightning Race in Indianapolis. But more important than the middle-of-the-pack finish was the simple fact that the Irish were able to finish the race.

At the Cleveland Electric Formula Classic on July 22, a race that Notre Dame won last year, a warning from the auto disconnect, a safety feature that regulates the flow of electricity through the car and automatically shuts the power down when the flow is too high, prevented the team from competing.

"The auto disconnect warned us that there was a short in the car, but when we checked it out after the race, we couldn't find a short," said Tony Maseda, a senior engineering major. "It might have just been a malfunction in the auto disconnect."

Notre Dame's crew chief Joe Finnerty agreed.

The new College of Business is a technical marvel, both inside and out.

The opportunities are knocking

The start of the fall semester at the University of Notre Dame is more significant than the heat wave that inevitably accompanies it, though nothing is as immediate a strike quite like the buffet of A/C and into the swirling air on campus. Unluckily, the heat will subside. And once you can focus on something other than the way you feel like a wet ramen noodle in the summer sun, you can begin to appreciate how fortunate you are to be a part of Notre Dame.

Yes, you’re fortunate. But you’re not special. Think of yourself as a placeholder in a long line of Notre Dame students just like yourself. There were others before you and there will be many more to come. You are only one sparkling link in the golden chain of Notre Dame tradition.

Then again, maybe you are special. Very special. After all, you are at Notre Dame. No one can steal those amazing credentials. You’ve earned your place in a long line of Donors, in a tradition of excellence. And now is your chance to prove it. The only thing you can do from this point forward is stop and rest. What you can do — well, that’s all up to you.

It’s not enough to be a part of a rich Notre Dame tradition. The tradition, like the Dome, can’t do from this point forward is stop and rest. What you can do — well, that’s all up to you.

It’s not enough to reflect on your years at Notre Dame. You want to remember the people who went on around you, because when you leave and move on, Notre Dame stays with you forever. You want to shape it, can’t do from this point forward is stop and rest. What you can do — well, that’s all up to you.

Russian forces storm town after siege

Russian forces stormed a Chechen town Monday after dozens of rebels seized its police station, further dampening hopes for peace between the two republics. Russian planes, helicopters and artillery launched the assault on Grozny, sending columns of smoke billowing high above the town. Troops backed by more than 100 tanks and armored vehicles, stormed the burning police station. Shooting rocked the town for hours, and helicopters circled overhead. The ITAR-Tass news agency reported intense fighting two miles from the police station several hours after the attack. The Russian military and President Boris Yeltsin said late Sunday night, in defiance of a moratorium on violence, that his forces had retracted the police station, run by the Moscow-backed Chechen administration. The claim could not immediately be verified, and Russian claims of military accomplishments often prove premature or false. Trade hawk makes power move

Tokyo Japan’s most prominent trade hawk, known for his hard-line stance in U.S. trade negotiations, is making a move toward the prime minister’s chair. Trade Minister Ryutaro Hashimoto began a campaign Monday for the presidency of Japan’s largest party, but his comments to avoid offending coalition partners and Asian nations angered by his strong remarks about World War II. Hashimoto, 58, took a hard-line position at this year’s U.S.-trade talks, opposing any change that Japan promise American automakers a certain share of its car and car parts market. But he avoided that subject Monday, releasing a statement saying he wanted to be the United States should remain the “chef”— or axis — of its foreign policy. When asked about World War II, Hashimoto straddled the fence. He acknowledged that Japan invaded China and colonized Korea, but refused to say directly whether he approved of Prime Minister Tomiichi Murayama’s apology last week for Japan’s “aggression.” Hashimoto offered an ambiguous last year when he asserted that during World War II, “Japan turned many places around Asia into battlefields, but it never intended to fight against Asians.”

Ford recalls 1,100 Mustangs

Detroit Ford Motor Co. is recalling 1,100 1995 Mustangs to correct a possible defect in the steering system, the company said Monday. Some of the cars might have a defective joint between the tie rods and the front wheels that could cause a loss of control and increase the risk of a crash. Ford said the company said there have been no reports of accidents or injuries related to the defect. Ford is recalling 208 of the 1,100 affected cars in Canada.

Filipino pushes to ban Slayer

Manila, Philippines U.S. lawmakers aren’t the only ones unhappy with rock lyrics. A Filipino senator wants to ban records of the American metal rock band Slayer, saying some of their songs espouse satanism. Sen. Vicente Sotto said the compositions contain words such as “death to God” — or “God is failed” — and have no place in a largely Christian country such as the Philippines. “Such profane utterances were actually satanic verses incorporated in their songs, yet they are being played on local radio stations,” Sotto said Monday. Sotto, a former recording artist, said such songs “threaten to shake the moral values of music-loving Filipino youths.” The majority of the Philippines’ 66 million people are Roman Catholic.

The internship provided full-time college students with an unique internship to gain experience in nonprofit social, cultural, or health organizations.

The program is run by the Volunteer Center of D a llas County. Included were students from more than 40 colleges.

The 1995 internships encompassed a broad range of agencies such as Mothers Against Drunk Driving, The Science Place, The American Indian Law Project, Medisond, and the American Red Cross.

Exxon, who founded the pro- gram 21 years ago, provides grants of up to $12,000 to pay interns’ salaries and Volunteer Center expenses. Since moving to Dallas in 1990, Exxon Corp. has provided more than $400,000 to place more than 350 college students in internships through the Exxon Community Summer Jobs Program.

Special to The Observer

The Alumnae Board of Saint Mary’s College selected Mary Desmon Liddell of South Bend as the “Outstanding Young Alumna for 1995.”

This award was presented to Liddell, who graduated from Saint Mary’s in 1985, during the reunion banquet on Saturday, June 10.

Each year this award honors an alumna from the last 10 years who has exhibited leadership not only in her personal, professional or volunteer accomplishments, but also in her involvement with a Saint Mary’s alumna club or with the Alumnae Association directly.

Liddell, who operates a successful computer software business with her husband, has been an active board member of the South Bend Alumnae Club since 1987, serving as president in 1993-94. During her tenure, Liddell led the board in the development of the 21st century, the college can garner for generations of women the education and experiences that will prepare them to be the leaders of their time.

Scores of dogs were sickened recently by pet food made with tainted wheat, and the government is investigating whether the same naturally occurring toxin is in food destined for human consumption.

The Food and Drug Administration, concerned by reports of fungus invading wheat fields in Kansas and elsewhere in the Midwest this year, plans to collect samples of flour and bran from mills and screen them. Government officials stressed there have been no recent reports of people getting sick from the toxin, called vomatotoxin, from the stomach upset it can cause. The dog food was contaminated by wheat grown in 1994, the FDA’s concern in this year’s crop.

In July, Nature’s Recipe Pet Foods recalled most of its dry dog food amid complaints from hundreds of owners that their dogs lost their appetite or threw up.

“It’s a little unusual to have it affect dogs. You just don’t hear too much about it in pet animals,” said Dr. Robert Poppenga, a veterinary toxicologist at the University of Pennsylvania’s veterinary school.

Vomatotoxin is one of the more common toxins found in a family of fungi that tends to flourish during a wet growing season such as one experienced in the Midwest this year.

Witness' word against Reynolds; jury adjourns without verdict yet

By JAMES WEBB
Associated Press

CHICAGO

A prosecutor accused Rep. Mel Reynolds on Monday of having a 16-year-old campaign volunteer into a sexual relationship "like a hunter stalks his prey.

"He used everything he had, his position ... his office, to get her to have sex with him," Assistant State's Attorney Colleen Hyland told the jury during closing arguments at the 43-year-old congressman's sex abuse trial.

The jury, which began deliberations about 4:30 p.m., adjourned for the night after 3 1/2 hours without reaching a verdict.

Deliberations were to resume Tuesday morning.

After four weeks of trial, both sides focused final arguments on just two witnesses - Reynolds and Beverly Heard, the former campaign worker who says she had sex with the congressman when she was an underage 16 and 17.

The Illinois Democrat has denied having had sex with Heard, now 19, saying they engaged only in fantasy sex talk on the phone.

Defense attorney Ed Genson said Reynolds was targeted by a "bizarre" teen-ager who tried to use telephone sexual fantasies to extort money from the two-term lawmaker.

His voice rising, Genson shook his fists and shouted to the jury that Heard "lied in this courtroom in front of your very eyes!"

"A whole life is being taken down by this girl, a girl who cannot be believed, who they cannot believe," Genson shouted.

Genson earlier noted that Heard had at one time recanted her story of having sex with Reynolds. She agreed to testify after being jailed for 11 days.

Genson also urged jurors not to accept at face value tape recordings of phone calls between Reynolds and Heard. The recordings were made with police help after Heard went to authorities.

"When is she telling the truth? When is she telling you the same malarky she told Mel Reynolds on those tapes?" Genson said. "How are you to believe one word that woman says beyond a reasonable doubt?"

"He told jurors he wasn't there to defend Reynolds' sins, ethics, hormones or 'middle-age crazies.'"

Reynolds is charged with sexual abuse, sexual assault, child pornography and obstruction, for allegedly trying to get the girl to recant.

Conviction on the most serious charge, sexual assault, carries a mandatory sentence of at least four years in prison.

"Much like a hunter stalks his prey, Mel Reynolds was driving his Cadillac down the street" when he met Heard, Hyland told the jury.

The prosecutor reminded jurors that in one of the conversations, Reynolds spoke with Heard about how he "used to" have sexual relations with her.

"He can't escape his own words," Hyland said. "They may be stupid and immoral, but under our law they are criminal."

ND Biologist to direct Center

Special to The Observer

Charles Kulpa, Jr., professor of biological sciences and associate dean of the College of Science at the University of Notre Dame, has been named director of the University's Center for Bioengineering and Pollution Control, according to Timothy O'Meara, provost.

A microbiologist who joined the Notre Dame faculty in 1972, Kulpa is a longtime leader in bioengineering research and holds six patents for microorganisms and processes developed in his laboratory.

His laboratory's research centers on understanding how microorganisms behave when they are used as mixed cultures to treat hazardous and nonhazardous wastes in liquids and soils.

Kulpa's four current research areas include (1) developing methods to detoxify TNT-contaminated soils using microorganisms, (2) using molecular techniques to study the nitrification process in mixed cultures, (3) studying how petroleum fuels and additives to gasoline degrade by biological means, and (4) using microorganisms to remove organic sulfur from petroleum fuels.

His research is funded by grants totaling nearly $1.3 million from Amoco oil Co., Argonne National Laboratory, Chevron Research Corp., and Energy Biosystems Corp.

Kulpa has directed 11 doctoral dissertations and two master's theses, has served as a consultant to companies and government agencies throughout the country, and has been active in a number of professional organizations.

He is a director of the Southern Great Lakes Region of the Society of Industrial Microbiology and has served as president and vice president of the Indiana branch of the American Society for Microbiology.

PLYMOUTH, Montserrat

The government ordered the evacuation of Plymouth, the capital, and more than half of this Caribbean island's residents Monday after the biggest volcanic eruption in a month of tremors.

Frank Savage, governor of this British colony, ordered the evacuation of residents in the south, southwest and east in a late-afternoon radio broadcast. The order affected about 5,000 people.

Seismologist Lloyd Lynch, from the Caribbean Seismic Research Center in Trinidad, said the Soufriere Hills volcano in southeast Montserrat had erupted two more times on Saturday and one on Sunday. Monday's was the biggest since the long-dormant Soufriere last erupted to July 18.

The eruptions have swirled ash and poisonous gases but not lava, Lynch said.

Monday's evacuation order covered Plymouth, the capital of about 3,000 people, a sweep of villages south to Old Fort Point, central villages along the road to Montserrat's only airport and the southeast coast. The airport remained open.

Bosnia demands UN air strikes

By LIAM McDOWALL

SARAJEVO

The Bosnian government protested to the United Nations for failing to order air strikes when Serb shells slammed into the center of the Gorazde "safe area," killing three girls.

Last month, after Bosnian Serbs overran two U.N.-protected zones, NATO vowed to make a "substantial and decisive response" to any Serb attack or threat against Gorazde. NATO ambassadors approved the contingency plans for allied bombing on July 25.

But when a shell killed the girls in the Muslim enclave in eastern Bosnia on Sunday, NATO did not retaliate.

"I wonder when the United Nations will stop closing its eyes, and ask what must happen before the United Nations and NATO will respond adequately to this terrorism," Foreign Minister Muhamed Sacirbey wrote in a letter to the U.N. Security Council, published today by Sarajevo's main newspaper, Oslobodjenje.

"One shell, no matter how lethal, does not constitute an attack against a U.N. "safe area" which would merit a response from NATO," U.N. spokesman Alexander Ivanko said in Sarajevo.

A Western diplomat, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said no air strikes were ordered in part because the United Nations did not want to endanger peacekeepers trying to withdraw from Gorazde.

Rebel Serbs have refused to let 90 Ukrainian peacekeepers withdraw from the enclave, and a convoy carrying their equipment has been stalled at the enclave's border for four days.

The United Nations ordered the Ukrainians to pull out for fear they might be taken hostage. The 180 British peacekeepers in Gorazde were to begin withdrawing in two weeks.

The troubles came amid increasing skepticism about a U.S. peace plan that last week had raised hopes of an imminent end to the war. Those hopes were dashed over the weekend, after three of the U.S. diplomats negotiating the plan were killed in a crash outside Sarajevo.

Assistant Secretary of State Richard Holbrooke, who leads the team, had indicated talks would have lifted U.N. economic sanctions on Yugoslavia in exchange for recognizing Bosnia, while the new plan would require him to recognize both Bosnia and Croatia, the diplomat said.

The American team headed back to Washington today with the bodies of their colleagues.

"We will reconstitute the team," Holbrooke said.

37 die after fire plan goes awry

By PAUL ALEXANDER
Associated Press

SEOUL, South Korea
Young women desperate to escape from a church-run reform school apparently set fires in their rooms Monday, hoping to flee when guards unlocked the dormitory doors.

The early morning fires swept out of control, however, and at least 37 women died before the doors were opened to let firemen in.

Many of the dead were packed into restrooms, and news reports said bloodstains and fingernail scratches on the barred windows showed their frantic efforts to escape the flames.

The victims — all but three in their teens — either burned to death or suffocated. One was only 13. Sixteen others were injured.

The school had a history of escape attempts and was known for strict discipline of the women, most of them runaways.

Korean Presbyterian Church in Yongin, 35 miles south of Seoul.

Police questioned security guards on why it took so long to unlock the doors, after fire-fighters complained they could not get in before the victims suffocated.

Lee Kun-ja, the chief police investigator, said the fires were planned by a group wanting to escape the center where courts sent them for 10 months of vocational training as hairdressers or tailors.

Diaries found in the wreckage of the Kyonggi Women’s Technical School told a bleak tale.

One girl wrote of beatings, and said she wanted to escape or die. Another wrote of exhaustion and fear.

Georgia commuter crash kills two, injures 27

By DANNI SEWELL
Associated Press

CARROLLTON, Ga. — A commuter plane flying from Georgia to Mississippi crashed in a hay field and burned Monday, killing two people and injuring 27, many of whom fled the wreckage with their clothes on fire.

"I thought I was going to die and I was just hoping it was going to end real quick," a passenger, Chuck Pfisterer, told Atlanta television station WSB.

"And the next thing I knew, after sustaining bumps and bruises, I opened my eyes and saw that, hey, I'm alive, and the plane is in pieces and I'm hanging by my seat belt."

The Atlanta Southeast Airlines turboprop went down around midday about five miles from Carrollton, breaking into three large pieces as it plowed across the green field. The pilot had radioed that he was having engine problems, and may have been trying to land at West Georgia Regional Airport, six to eight miles from the crash site, said Christy Williams, a Federal Aviation Administration spokeswoman.

But a passenger, Air Force Maj. Chuck LeMay, told WSB that, after passengers heard a "loud bang," they were told the plane would try to return to Atlanta for an emergency landing.

Poloma Jeter, who lives near by, said she saw the front of the plane "rolling and tumbling on fire" as the aircraft came apart.

"I could see about 10 people getting out," she said. "Some were burning. They were running. People were trying to get them down and get it out."

One injured man arrived on her front porch and used the phone to leave a message for his wife in Maine.

"His clothes were burned off. His undershorts were all that was left," she said. "The skin just rolled off his body."

Twenty-six of the injured were hospitalized, at least one in critical condition.

The plane left a scarred path in the field indicating it barely cleared trees before hitting the ground.

"We were all lucky to get out of that," LeMay said. "There were some people who came out of the aircraft that were sitting behind where I was at. As they came out, they were on fire. People were telling them to roll, you know, on the ground."

The two-engine Brazilian-made Embraer 120 was about 15 minutes and 50 miles into a flight from Atlanta to Gulfport, Miss., 362 miles away. It had 26 passengers and three crew members. The weather was cloudy and rainy.

The cause of the crash was under investigation. In Washington, the National Transportation Safety Board assembled a team to investigate. It was the third fatal commuter plane crash in 10 months.

Officials at Atlanta-based Atlantic Southeast could not immediately be reached for comment; calls to their office were met with a busy signal.

Paul Butler, who lives about 75 yards from the crash site, said he rushed out of his house when he heard two loud booms and saw the plane skidding to a stop.

"People were already out, some on fire, going in every direction," Butler said.

He watched as others emerged through a gaping hole in the aircraft. Everyone he saw was burned, Butler said, some had no clothes on.

The pilot or copilot was trapped in the cockpit, and Butler said firefighters used axes from his barn to rescue him.

ABC settles libel suits with tobacco industry

WASHINGTON

A federal judge signed a 13-month-old antitrust settlement between Microsoft Corp. and the Justice Department on Monday, ending a review made unusually long by another judge's rejection of the agreement.

U.S. District Judge Thomas Penfield Jackson's order covered a deal under which the software company halted some incentives to computer makers that prosecutors said reduced competition.

The first judge to review the settlement, rejects it, but was overturned by an appeals court that sent the matter to Jackson.

Under the deal, Microsoft agreed to stop giving personal computer manufacturers a discount if they paid the company a royalty for each PC sold, even those that didn't have Microsoft's DOS or Windows software. The practice gave PC makers little incentive to install competing programs since they would have had to pay a royalty to both the competitor and Microsoft.

"It's great to see it finally come to resolution," he said, "there were a lot of years where we were having a lot of meetings and a lot of documents," Microsoft chairman Bill Gates said on CNN's "Larry King Live" Monday night.

"What it comes down to is there's nothing significant that we needed to change and that just confirms the way we viewed it all along," Gates said.

Jackson's approval of the settlement does not free Microsoft from scrutiny, however. A Justice Department attorney, Donald Russell, told Jackson that the government is "investigating certain Microsoft practices to determine whether those practices are 'unreasonable' with the July 1994 bargain.

After the hearing, Microsoft's chief counsel suggested that the government would find nothing wrong.

Crowd watches as woman, forced to strip, dies

DETROIT

As dozens of onlookers cheered, three men pulled a woman from her car, ripping off her clothes, then chased her until she either jumped or was forced off a bridge to her death.

None of the 40 or so passersby tried to help Deletha Word during the confrontation that began with two minor traffic accidents early Saturday on the Belle Isle bridge, said police.

She was involved in two minor traffic accidents on Belle Island. One car with three men inside chased her onto the bridge connecting the island to the city and rammed her car, forcing her to stop.

One of the men smashed her car with a crow bar and pulled her from the car, ripping off some of her clothes, Cmdr. Gerald Stewart said. The man pushed her against the car and beat her, he said.

One of the men weighed nearly 300 pounds, according to a police source quoted in The Detroit News. Word, who was 4-foot-11, weighed 115 pounds, her mother said.

When Word tried to run away, police said the man with the crowbar chased her. What happened after that is unclear.

Police are not saying whether Word jumped or was forced off the bridge, but Mrs. Word said she is sure her daughter was forced into the Detroit River.

"They ... made her leap over that bridge and beat her hands," she cried Monday. "How could they be so cruel?"

"My baby was down there all by herself. I knew she was scared to death," the woman's mother, Dortha Word, said as she cried Monday. "I know she didn't want to do this."

"How could they be so cruel?"

Trouble started around 3 a.m. Morel said, when Word was weighed near the Belle Isle bridge, said police.

Sgt. John Morel.

A man who arrived late tried to rescue her from the Detroit River but couldn't reach her. The 33-year-old woman's body, missing a leg, was found several miles downstream later that morning.

"My baby was down there all by herself. I knew she was scared to death," the woman's mother, Dortha Word, said as she cried Monday. "How could they be so cruel?"

Questioning the teaching of Darwin at Notre Dame

Dear Edito r,

As we begin another academic year, I think it is important, in light of current educational missions, to ask ourselves, "Are we meeting the goals program of an university?" ...and, "Are we achieving excellence?" Given this mission, it is imperative that we scrutinize our efforts and praise or criticize as appropriate. We can all agree that we must do more than simply study for tests and uncritically accept our course materials as given.

Higher education, for over 100 years now, has given Darwinism a foothold, if not the driver's seat outright. Let us question the criticism is a arbitrarily leveled against one view and not the other. Unfortunately, Campbell does commit this very error.

Concerning the mechanism for the origin of genetic variation, Campbell does not properly distinguish the explanation of the evolutionary model from that of the creationist model. Consider Campbell's definition of evolution: "the cumulative changes in the average characteristics of populations that occur over many generations (see also natural selection)" (p. 533); and natural selection: "the principal mechanism of evolutionary change, by which the individuals best adapted to the environment control the succeeding generations than others do. As more of such individuals' characteristic s are incorporated into the gene pool, the characteristics of the population evolve." Even believers of MBPC would agree that Campbell's definition of evolution is occurring. These creationists claim that the richness of divinely created genetic phenomena facilitates the average characteristics (phenotype) of populations to change in response to their environment. (The Long War Against God by Henry Morris, p. 158).

For the sake of brevity, I will not con­consider MBPC creationists in this essay. In the following assertions by Professor Campbell, I believe the literal creationism can be made, but that doesn't mean we share a common desire to do the same.

GARRY TRUDEAU
“Orange Juli-yo”

Take two tall dining hall glasses. Fill one cup up with Sprite, about a quarter of the way. Then throw in some yo-cream, also about a quarter of the way. Fill with Five-Alive or Orange Juice. Shake CAREFULLY, using other glass.

Pizza Bagel

Grab a bagel and smother it in spaghetti sauce. Thrown some mozzarella or other cheese of your choosing on it (check the salad bars or delis). Heat it up in the microwave. Alternatives: Try this on an English Muffin or Pita.

---

Baked Potatoes

Lots of things you can do here. Use Light Ranch dressing as a substitute for sour cream. Or microwave some broccoli and cheese on top, maybe with some bacon bits. If chili is an option that day, try chili and cheese. Try making your own mashed potatoes. Fun, fun, fun.

Pizza Burger

Similar to the Pizza Bagel. Get a burger and drown it in sauce. Then add some cheese and zap it in the microwave. Great on a toasted bun. Use the Veggie Burgers for a different taste.

Grilled Chicken Caesar Salad

If grilled chicken or turkey is on the menu some day, why not cut some up into strips and toss with the regular salad bar offerings? Add garlic powder (not garlic salt!) to Ranch dressing and top with parmesan cheese. Corn can be rather tasty on top.

Yo-Cream with Everything

Make shakes. Make floats. Try it with frosted flakes. Try it with cheerios. Try it with hot cocoa or coffee. Works well with just about everything, proving that Yo-cream is one of the most versatile things the dining hall has to offer.

Pasta Primavera

Microwave every single veggie on the menu that night and toss with your choice of pastas. Ranch dressing may work well as a sauce, but standard spaghetti sauce works fine. Top with parmesan and garlic powder. Make some garlic bread to be really authentic.
King being scoured, questioned by critics

By Jim Litke

Associated Press

LAS VEGAS As omens go, this one ranked just ahead of the guy who lost his head thanks to the deck of the Titanic and called to the captain: "Clear ahead!

On the eve of Mike Tyson's hooliganistic sideshow, aides clad fried-fish promoter Don King aide and whispered that a visit from the guy who once down his lunch, a New York-style, plump kosher red hot — "Now, you're going to see something," said Joe Mike appeared anything but a used-up fighter heading into Saturday night's tune-up against Peter McNeeley.

Already, though, King had been subject to second-guessing about how much more damage then Tyson could get out of this.

And whether about, by charging the highest ticket prices and a victory right outside of the gate, he hadn't limited the paydays down the road.

After all, those same critics reasoned, this is the biggest comeback story of all time, where does Tyson's value go from here?

"Critics," King snarled. "They won't let me savor this one even for a moment."

"It's like when a baby is born; they already want to know when it will walk?" I tell them the next one will take care of itself. Just like this one.

What do my critics say about this one? That you can't do this in August. That nobody pays attention then. The pay-view will be miserable, laughable. The thing will be over by the time you're halfway through.

And what are my critics doing? No one's asked without waiting for an answer. "Ending sorrow."

"This out-of-the-bat attitude is going to backfire at some point," said Bert Sugar, publisher of Boxing Illustrated.

"The only way this thing is worth $50 pay-per-view is if you impress 40 friends. And don't bother taking out chairs. The fight — let me rephrase that — may not even last long enough to take a seat.

Beginning of end near for SWC

Legendary players, games mark rich history

By Denne H. Freeman

Associated Press

DALI\NS

In May 1941 at the Oriental Hotel in Dallas, the league of Davey O'Brien, Sammy Baugh, John David Crow, Kyle Rote, Doak Walker, Bob Lilly, Jim Swink and Earl Campbell was born.

On Dec. 2, 1995, after Texas A&M and Rice meet Houston, the storied old conference will be dead at the age of 81. Cause of death can be listed for the SWC as the inability to compete.

The charter members were Texas A&M, Texas, Oklahoma, Oklahoma A&M, Southwestern, Arkansas, and Baylor. Rice joined in 1915 in the first year of official play, sat out two years, and returned in 1918. Louisiana State was represented at the meeting but decided not to join.

There was a bumbling of things to come even in 1915. Oklahoma and Baylor tied for the title but the Bears later had to forfeit their piece of the championship. The reason: ineligible player.

Dr. W.T. Mahler, professor of physics and chairman of the University of Texas athletic council, was named the first president for the Southwestern Athletic Council. It was his idea to get the schools together.

The league finally ran out of steam in the early 1950s when schools began to scramble for their best TV packages. Texas, Texas A&M, Texas Tech and Baylor decided to join the newly formed Big 12 Conference. Rice, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian went to the Western Athletic Conference.

And Houston signed on with the American Athletic Conference USA.

The SWC rose to prominence in the late '30s when TCU won the national title in 1936 and 1937, and the Longhorn captured the championship the following year. But the real golden years for the league were the mid-1940s and early '50s.

Texas won the Associated Press title in 1961, and 1962, was second in 1961, and finished third fourth from 1962-72. Arkansas finished second in 1964 and third in 1965 and 1977. SMU, led by the Pony Express backfield of Craig James and Eric Dickerson, was runner-up in 1982.

After that, only Texas A&M kept the SWC in the Top 10.

The SWC for the SWC will be a hard one for generations of fans who grew up listening to K Türk on the radio and watching some of the best 1914.

District Judge James Farris of Beaumont hitchhiked to the Cotton Bowl as a child.

"I just had to see Notre Dame and SMU play in the Cotton Bowl back in 1944," he said. "I didn't have a ticket, I tried to sneak in, got caught and snuck in again. It was the greatest game I ever saw.

Notre Dame had enough edge in the game but SMU almost beat them behind Kyle Rote. Then I got really lucky. Somebody left his ticket on a seat. I grabbed it and ran out of the game. I'll still get that program. It's a treasure.'

This is the way SWC football affected one man.

"I'll miss the color of the game it was," said A&M coach Dennis Franchione. "I'll miss the flavor of the game. I'll miss that kid in Orange, Texas. I knew all the players. They had all those Humble Oil stickers you put on the helmets, all those working for the athletic departments...about pro football then. Everything was college football.

"The heroes were guys like Bob Lilly and Doak Walker. I met (former Rice quarterback) Frank Ryan one time and he was the most famous person ever."

Watching the demise of the SWC, Sluern, added, "Is like seeing an old friend with a termite in it."

Texas Tech coach Spike Dykes said the SWC began to lose national prestige because it lost a lot of Texas-born players to other schools.

"Our credibility level went down and we lost the respect of the fans."

But not all fans were against the move. "I've been going to a lot of SWC games for the last 20 years, So we're losing a lot now; we're down to our last dance.

There were many great games, but none bigger than the 1966 Texas Tech-Oklahoma game in Dallas that was capped by Darrell Royal's top-ranked Longhorns and the Sooners. The final score was 11-10.

Both teams were unbeaten. Arkansas jumped to a 14-0 lead but Texas rallied for a 15-14 triumph in a national television audience and President Nixon. The Longhorns went on to beat Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl and win the national championship.

"This was the game that had everything," said veteran columnist Blackie Sherrod of the Dallas Morning News. "This was the fourth-down kill when Darrell went for everything and lost. It was the greatest game I ever saw and the comeback.

Bryyles said "it was a very special game. We had the attention of the nation. I still think about it a lot."

"We were lucky to win," Royal said. "Arkansas outplayed us but just made the big plays when it counted. We had a great team and we were national champions again."

"The Cotton Bowl was a great game. That's a once in a lifetime experience."

"It's the close of a great chapter in a great book," said Dykes, who was in Laddubke for the Sooners. "It was a great game and a lot of people have been brought on by money. I can remember where money wasn't the reason people played it. It was just playing football."

"It was like a great American story."

As omens go, this one ranked just ahead of the guy who lost his head thanks to the deck of the Titanic and called to the captain: "Clear ahead!

"Now, you're going to see something," said Joe Mike Mike appeared anything but a used-up fighter heading into Saturday night's tune-up against Peter McNeeley.

Already, though, King had been subject to second-guessing about how much more damage then Tyson could get out of this.

And whether about, by charging the highest ticket prices and a victory right outside of the gate, he hadn't limited the paydays down the road.

After all, those same critics reasoned, this is the biggest comeback story of all time, where does Tyson's value go from here?
Huskies hunt for help up front to make repeat run

Lincoln, Neb.

Nebraska center Aaron Graham is already tired of answering the question of the day: Will the "new" Cornhuckers line do the job for the national champions?

"This is Nebraska," said Graham, the only returning starter from last year's behemoth line that opened holes for the nation's best rushing attack. "We don't drop down, we reload or however they say that.

"It's going to be the same thing all over again. You're going to see five guys who are going to be smashing people around, doing the same things we did last year."

Last season's line averaged 295 pounds, gave up just six sacks and was called for only four holding penalties in leading the team to its 11th national rushing title. But the "Pipeline" is gone.

The burden of protecting quarterback Tommy Frazier and Brook Berringer—who knows which will start—falls to Graham, senior guard Steve Ott, junior tackle Chris Dishman and two sophomores, guard Aaron Taylor and tackle Eric Anderson, who pulled a hamstring on the first day of practice.

The new line is typical Nebraska—it averages 290 pounds. But coaches and players say it needs more experience.

Nebraska lost 14 starters from last year's team, including the four offensive linemen and four of five linebackers.

Coach Tom Osborne will say only that he believes his team will be good. He also said playing for anything less than the championship again in the Fiesta Bowl would be "anachronistic."

"We don't look for drama in the Husker schedule. Seven of the 11 games are at home, where Nebraska has won 23 straight during an NCAA record 201 consecutive sellouts. In one stretch, Nebraska has five home games and a week off.

Ohio State, the Aug. 31 season-opener for Nebraska, and the four non-conference teams had a composite 1994 record of 2-5-0-1. The only teams Nebraska faces in the first five games with winning records will be Washington State (8-4) and Pacific (6-5).

Nebraska beat Pacific 70-21 last year, and the Cougars return only three starters from a defense that allowed only 223 yards per game.

At quarterback, Nebraska coaches will decide between seniors Frazier and Berringer. Frazier's blood clots are gone; his throwing is better and he is 21-3 as a starter. Berringer, however, impressed coaches with his improved running during spring practice and he led Nebraska to eight victories last season.

"Obviously, one guy is going to be a little bit disappointed in his playing time," said Osborne, who does not plan to decide on the starter until the week before the Oklahoma State game.

Returning to the lineup for his junior season is 6-4, 295 pounds Lawrence Phillips, a leading contender for the Heisman Trophy. The nation's third-leading rusher with 1,772 yards last year, Phillips rushed for at least 100 yards in 11 straight games.

The soft-spoken Phillips has not commented on off-field problems that include a disturbing the peace charge and a $400 payment to settle a dispute with a student who said Phillips damaged his car and jewelry during a confrontation.

His relationship with a recruiter for a sports agent also was being reviewed by the NCAA.

The receiving corps is deep, with seniors Cluster Johnson and Reggis Baul and juniors Brandon Holbein and Jon Vedral. The Huskers averaged 137.5 yards passing last season, well below the 340-yard per game rushing attack.

"We feel like if we have to throw the ball 40, 45 times a game that we are a good enough receiving corps to get the job done," said Holbein, a split end.

Humble Hurricanes just another contender

By STEVEN WINE
Associated Press

The swagger is gone. Miami's Hurricanes, the best and baddest team in college football for much of the past dozen years, now look like just another Top Ten contender.

"The weight of scandal has humbled the Hurricanes. Following months of stories about drugs, fraud and playing for pay, Miami opens the season Sept. 2 at UCLA with a slate that is anything but clean. What's more, new coach Butch Davis must overcome predecessor Dennis Erickson's shortcomings as a recruiter. The Hurricanes have only nine seniors, including two kickers. Davis last coached at Miami in 1988 as an assistant to Jimmy Johnson. That team, Davis said, had better speed, better depth and a better attitude than the players he inherited from Erickson. "They have taken winning for granted — that's something that automatically happens because they belong to the University of Miami," Davis said. "They have lost a certain amount of the work ethic that it has taken to win." The Hurricanes also have lost five games in the past two years. That's as many as they lost from 1987 to 1992. An NCAA record 18-game winning streak at home ended last year against Washington. Hope for a national title ended with the Hurricanes' fourth-quarter foldup in an Orange Bowl loss to eventual champion Nebraska.

This year, for the first time since 1985, Miami failed to earn a Top 10 spot in the preseason rankings. The Hurricanes are 11th. "Maybe it will help motivate the players that people don't think we will be very good," Davis said.

"The team and the coaches have very high expectations. We're going to be very disappointed if we don't put our solutions in position to win the Big East Conference championship and compete for the national championship. We may have a chance to sneak up on some people," Davis said. "Freckles and Huck Finn drawl beleave a toughness that helped him win two Super Bowl rings as an assistant to Johnson with the Dallas Cowboys. Miami's new coach will need all the toughness he can muster to rein in a program character-
Varsho hit propels Phillies

HOUSTON

Pinch-hitter Gary Varsho hit a two-run single in the eighth inning Thursday to give the Philadelphia Phillies a 3-2 victory over the Houston Astros, their third win in 15 games.

With no outs in the eighth, Lenny Webster reached on a fielder's choice and went to third on a single by Kevin Flora. Flora stole second before Varsho singled off Todd Jones (6-3), his first hit in six at-bats since coming off the disabled list Aug. 7 with a strained right forearm.

Paul Fiehler (1-0) got the final two outs in the seventh, and Toby Borland pitched the final two innings for his fourth save. Houston took a 2-1 lead in the seventh on Mike Simms' RBI double. Dave Magadan led off with a single off Tommy Greene and was replaced by pinch-runner Brian Hunter. Simms followed with a looping double into the left-field corner and Hunter scored standing.

The Phillies went ahead 1-0 in the first when Kevin Stocker doubled off Doug Brocail and scored Jim Eisenreich's infield single. Houston tied it in the bottom half when John Cangelosi singled, went to third on Craig Biggio's single and scored on a grounder by Derrick May.

After the first inning, Greene kept the Astros in control until the seventh. He allowed seven hits in 6 1-3 innings, struck out three and walked two. Brocail pitched seven innings, allowing one run on seven hits.

Miami, New England fight to be beast of the AFC East

By BARRY WILNER
Associated Press

The stars of the AFC East aren't just in Buffalo and Miami anymore. They've found their way to New England and Middle America. Only the big cats in New York, pretty much lacks them.

And with the defection of stars such as Barry Sanders, Ty Law, Tracy Taylor, Pete Metzelaars and Don Beebe this year, following the likes of Will Wolford, Nate Odomes and Howard Ballard in previous seasons, the Bills hardly are a threat to get into (and, of course, lose) the Super Bowl.

The Dolphins added to their cast of headliners by signing tight end Eric Green and wide receivers Gary Clark and Ricky Williams, but who are dealing for...[paragraph continues...]

Dellenbach.

"I like the moves we've made to improve our offense," says Marino, who should become the career leader in passing yardage, completions and touchdowns this season. "And what we've done for our defense, too." The Dolphins, who tied for the league lead with 23 interceptions, would like to see Buckley challenge J.B. Brown at cornerback. They are solid at Safety. Tim Bowens at tackle and pass-rushing demon Mario Coleman at end. Armstrong should bolster the sacks total. The main worry is at linebacker, where only Bryan Cox in the middle is proven. That's the one area where Shula couldn't find much help.

Miami outlasted New England's late charge last year to win the division. Things shouldn't change much this season.

The Patriots hardly have the depth at receiver and in the backfield of Terry Kirby, but now are cornering the market on young runners. Chris Turner and Leroy Thompson, who combined for 191 receptions.

The Dolphins added to their defense, too." The Colts won three key players to free agency in Michael Timpson, Kevin Turner and Leroy Thompson, who combined for 191 receptions.

Signings David Meggett was a master stroke, and Meggett will boost the attack. But he's not an every-down player.

Up front, Dellenbach enhances a line that already has steady tackles Bruce Armstrong and Pat Harlow.

The defense is taking more time for Parcells to develop. The sudden retirement of Todd Collins and injuries to Vincent Brown damaged the inside-linebacking. Youngsters Chris Slade, a sack specialist, and 1994 No. 1 pick Willis McGinest have to be ready on the outside.

The line is mediocre, as is a secondary that was torched in the first half of last season before settling down.

Indianapolis won't settle for anything less than a playoff berth after an 8-3 finish a year ago. The Colts won three of their last four as their defense got stingy, and that unit could be even better if linebacker-end Troy Albright contributes after an injury-ravaged rookie season.

The big-play guys on defense are cornerstone Ray Buchanan (seven interceptions in as many games moving from safety to safety) and Tony Bennett (nine sacks). Where the Colts figure to make a leap up is with the ball. They were 27th in total offense and 28th last in passing.

San Diego faces bumpy road to AFC West repeat

By DAVE GOLDBERG
Associated Press

Before last season, the San Diego Chargers were considered a middle-of-the-pack team. So they went to the Super Bowl where they were embarrassed by San Francisco.

This year, however, the division is wide open. Denver has shored up its defense, the Raiders have gotten a lift by moving back to Oakland - and the Chargers are still seeking to prove themselves.

"I think everybody respects what we did last year," says quarterback Stan Humphries. "Everybody says you had a great season, congratulations and all that. But I don't know if everybody really respects us as a team. That's something we still have to earn, I guess.

Enter the Raiders, last year's consensus choice to win the AFC title. They never quite recovered from a 44-14 loss in San Francisco the opening Monday night and finished 9-7, out of the playoffs. Al Davis fired Art Shell and hired Mike White, a coach-in-waiting for more than a decade.

They may have added the running back they needed in Napoleon Kaufman, its first-round draft choice. But they'll still live on the vertical passing game - Jeff Hostetler to Tim Brown, James Jett and Rocket Ismail, although Jett and Ismail have been spotty.

The defense should be improved after a year adjusting to the retirement of Howie Long, both on and off the field. If Chester McGlockton, the massive tackle, keeps his weight down, he could be a disruptive force and Rob Fredrickson, the No. 1 choice last year, looks like a future linebacker star.

What may help most is simply the move. "They never had a home field in Los Angeles," says Gene Upshaw, the Hall of Fame guard who played for 14 years in Oakland and ended his career with a final season in the southland. "We always felt the crowd was one reason we were so successful there."

Like the Raiders, the Broncos started slowly last season, losing their first four games and ending up 7-9. As with the Raiders, the coach got fired - Wade Phillips was replaced by Mike Shanahan.

But there was more to it than that. The Broncos, who beefed up their offense before the 1994 season, had the NFL's worst defense even though Phillips' background was there.

So this year they got defenders - linemen Michael Dean Perry and James Jones from the Browns and cornerback Lionel Washington from the Raiders.
Pro football a new, exciting thing in Jacksonville

By PAUL NEWBERRY
Associated Press

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. Jay Adkins had waited two decades for an NFL team to call his own, and he couldn't wait any longer.

He packed up his van and headed to Jacksonville Municipal Stadium more than five hours before the expansion Jaguars played their first home game, a Friday night exhibition against the St. Louis Rams.

"After I got here and sat down, got the chairs out, the umbrellas up, yeah, I started feeling like, 'You know, this could be it,'" Adkins said as he lounged outside his vehicle in a parking lot near the stadium, his T-shirt soaked with sweat in the 90-degree heat.

"But I don't think it's going to hit me till there are 73,000 fans screaming in that stadium," he added, looking toward the new $140 million stadium built on the site of the old Gator Bowl.

"That's going to be something else. This is not going to be like a preseason game anywhere else in the league this year."

John and Teresa Henniger also arrived early.

"He's been like a little kid on Christmas Eve all day," Mrs. Henniger said. "He's been antsy, nervous, excited. I finally said, 'OK, let's go to the game.'"

Henniger said he has switched his allegiance from the Green Bay Packers to the Jaguars.

"I've been to games in five other NFL cities, but nothing compares to this," he said.

While a few hundred fans arrived early like Adkins and the Hennigers, most didn't show up until shortly before the 7 p.m. kickoff. There were long lines to get in the stadium, but they moved quickly and no one seemed upset.

"I just hope we get in before kickoff," one fan said.

The crowd was relatively tame, with none of the shenanigans associated with the Georgia-Florida college game, held in the old Gator Bowl and known as "The World's Largest Cocktail Party."

"I think this is pretty mild," Adkins said as he surveyed a half-empty parking lot. "A lot of people had to work a full day and they're late coming. But I think Sunday mornings, four hours before game time, it's going to be full."

The entire city had been dreaming of this day since the mid-1970s. People who had learned to be content with watching a couple of college games a year (the Gator Bowl in addition to Georgia vs. Florida) and an occasional NFL exhibition finally had their own team.

"It's always been a football town," Adkins said. "We might have a small TV market, but we have more fan support here than most people realize."

That fervor was demonstrated Friday. Nearly everyone who descended on the stadium was decked out in a teal, gold and black shirt of some kind.
Black

Black's position will be filled by Parker Laketa, a 1983 graduate of Kansas State who has been the restricted earnings coach on the team for the past three years.

Prior to his stint with the Irish, Laketa was an assistant at Western Michigan.

Tyler, an 11-year veteran of the National Basketball Association and a graduate of the University of Detroit, was named to Laketa's vacated position.

After beginning his career in 1978 with the Detroit Pistons and moving to the Sacramento Kings in 1985, Tyler finished his career under MacLeod with the Dallas Mavericks. He averaged 10.2 points per game in his 871 game career. Most recently, Tyler was coordinator of the Town North YMCA in Dallas.

"I worked hard to play at the level of basketball where the elite play and now I want to give something back to the game," Tyler said. "I hope I can be a great credit to Notre Dame and I know I can learn a lot at Notre Dame. Coach MacLeod has had a great impact on my life because of his work ethic."

The Irish begin their regular season against Akron at home in the Joyce Center November 25.

The South Bend Tribune contributed to this report.

Black was the starting point guard on North Carolina's 1982 national championship squad, a backcourt mate of former Tar Heel Michael Jordan. He finished his career second on North Carolina's all-time assist list.

Black, who was a respected and visible member of the Notre Dame athletic community during his tenure with the Irish, offered his apologies to the University and the community "for any embarrassment this has caused."

"Jimmy has made major contributions to this program," noted MacLeod.

"He was very popular, and we are sorry to see him go. He has helped us point of shoving and physical contact."

Mesa sets record in Cleveland's win

By CHUCK MELVIN
Associated Press

CLEVELAND

It may have taken a little longer than Jose Mesa would have liked, but there's no question about it now: He's found his niche.

The 29-year-old right-hander set a major league record Sunday with his 37th save in 37 set a major league record. He's found his niche.

The 29-year-old right-hander set a major league record Sunday with his 37th save in 37 season mark of 36 straight saves without a blown opportunity. For Mesa, who hasn't allowed an earned run since June 8, pitched a scoreless ninth to seal a 27-26 win.

Pitching coach Mark Wiley said, "You realize he's in uncharted territory," manager Mike Hargrove said. "Nobody in the history of this game has been where he's about to be. I think it's the most improbable thing anybody can imagine."

Coming into this season, Mesa had all of two saves to his name, having gone 2-for-6 in save situations last year. For four seasons before that and for most of his minor league career, he was a so-so starter who tended to wear out early.

Now, he works one inning — no more, no less — and can let loose with the 98-mph fastball that has earned the Indians since they acquired him from Baltimore in a 1992 trade. He has pitched exactly one inning in each of his last 40 appearances.

"When you're just coming in for one inning, you're coming in and giving it everything you've got," Mesa said. "This is the first time I've done it, and so far I've had success. I like it right now. I don't know how long it's going to last."

Paul Sorrento and Wayne Kirby each drove in two runs in the ninth inning as the Indians in the eighth inning as they overcame a 5-3 deficit. Sorrento hit a two-out, bases-loaded double off Steve Dibble. Omar Vizquel added an infield grounder by Belle and a walk loaded the bases. Sorrento's double to right tied it 5-5 and finished Sparks.

"The thing about pitching against Cleveland is, you have to concentrate all the way through the lineup," Sparks said. "They feed off each other. One guy gets a hit, and it pumps up the other guys. Then you really have trouble."

Julian Tavarez (8-1) pitched a perfect eighth, striking out two, and Mesa had two strikeouts in the ninth while allowing two base runners.

Sparks gave up a two-run home run to Belle in the first inning, his 25th, and a leadoff home run by Ramirez in the second, his 33rd, then blanked the Indians until the eighth.

Carlos Baerga led off the inning with a triple, and an infield grounder by Belle and a walk loaded the bases. Sorrento's double to right tied it 5-5 and finished Sparks.

"The heat was damn near unbearable," Edwards said. "During practices, the sun was out the entire time and near one hundred degrees. Plus, we had no air conditioning at night. There were only two spots to avoid the heat."

But like everything else, the heat just served as another thing for the squad to rally around.

"We were tired and hot but the guy next to us was just as tired and just as hot," Edwards commented. "That really kept us going."

Being isolated like that gave the upperclassmen like Edwards an even easier time keeping an eye on the freshman and guiding them through their froshball orientation period.

"We do what we can to show them the way," he said.

Now, the squad is back on campus and returning to normal.

Will the camaraderie of Culver be missed?

"Culver was great but we're sure happy to be back."

Moss

But in a way, it is understandable that Moss could not get the application in on time. He had other things on his mind.

Like a pending conviction and prison sentence.

Last March, Moss was involved in a racially motivated fight at DuPont (W.Va.) High School and was charged with malicious wounding two days later. The injured student, Roy Johnson, spent several days in the hospital with damage to his head, kidney, and spleen.

Moss was summarily expelled from DuPont and was forced to transfer to Cabell Alternative School with two months of school left in order to receive his diploma.

Three weeks ago, Moss pleaded guilty to misdemeanor battery charges and was sentenced to 30 days in the South Central Regional Jail in Charleston. He then proceeded to proclaim his intention to play for Florida State.

And to make sure the recruit did not get to school late, the judge decided to allow Moss to serve the first three days of his sentence in the beginning of August.

He has the next 18 months to serve the remaining 27 days of his sentence.

The incident, however, played no part in Notre Dame's decision to reject him.

"We were aware of the incident, but we were confronted with his application before the legal issue was resolved," Rooney continued. "We had to make a decision on the application before the legal issue was resolved."

But it did not stop Florida State from admitting him. And it only fuels the criminal reputation that surrounds the Seminoles, starting with the Foot Locker shopping spree two years ago.

Also on the casualty list was James Jackson, a running back from Belle Glade, Fla. Though he did not beat anyone up or turn his application in late, he did not meet the academic requirements of the university.

"James Jackson was characterized as a student who was improving in high school," Rooney said. "We told the coaches that we would accept his application if he improved his grades and test scores. But he did not do that."

Despite the loss of Jackson and especially Moss, Notre Dame still has what many consider to be the number one recruiting class in the nation, barely above Florida State.

Irish football recruits Moss, Jackson rejected by University Admissions

By MIKE NORBUT
Sports Editor
The University of Notre Dame Admissions Office received a record 9,099 applications for the class of 1999. If only Randy Moss had gotten his in on time. Then a real milestone would have been reached.
Moss, the Belle, W.Va native and most highly touted recruit in the country, did not meet the university's academic requirements, and was therefore refused entrance into Notre Dame.

"Randy Moss filed an application rather late," Notre Dame Director of Admissions Kevin Rooney said. "The content of it would not have been acceptable for any student."
Those letter of intent signees who did not apply initially were asked to return their application by the end of February. Moss' application arrived in South Bend in the beginning of June.
But being late is nothing new for the West Virginia Player of the Year. He was also a day late in signing his letter of intent to attend Notre Dame.

Black out as assistant basketball coach after incident of domestic violence

By TIM SEYMOUR
Associate Sports Editor
The Notre Dame men's basketball team will enter the much anticipated challenge of their inaugural season in the Big East conference under a revamped coaching staff, following the May 29th resignation of assistant Jimmy Black and the June 6th appointment of former NBA player Terry Tyler.
Black, who was an assistant to head coach John MacLeod for four years, offered his resignation amidst numerous allegations of domestic violence involving his fiancee, Stacy L. Frick. Between Oct. 30, 1994 and May 7, 1995 South Bend police were called to the couples' home five separate times. On the day following his resignation, police were again called to the Black household, this time arresting Frick after assessing the damage inside the house.
In a statement issued with his resignation, Black held that "many of the allegations made against me are not true," but admitted that "there is a ker-

Basic Training
Notre Dame goes through two-a-days at Culver Military Academy

By TIM SHERMAN
Assistant Sports Editor
Every summer, like clockwork, eager campers all across the country pile into small, cramped yellow school buses and head off to camp. Usually the destination is a wooded spot somewhere off in the middle of nowhere with nothing attractive except a lake. The accommodations are cramped and hot, the food less than desirable and the sing-alongs more than desirable.
But to the Notre Dame football team, the week of practice spent at the Culver Military Academy was far from your typical summer camp. It was more along the lines of boot camp.
"There was a lake but Culver wasn't too much like summer camp," junior fullback Marc Edwards said. "It was more along the lines of getting back to the basics." Basic training.
In an effort to bring the club closer together by eliminating distractions, Irish coach Lou Holtz arranged for the entire Irish football operation to be moved forty-five miles south to Culver Military Academy for nine days of intense practice. It was not an easy move.
Holtz has attempted to arrange such a camp in previous years, but there always seemed to be some stumbling block in the way of logistics. This summer, though, the Notre Dame athletic department managed to organize the 175 person (105 players) and equipment move. Going 6-5-1 for the 1994 season maybe gave the little extra corner than an Indiana plain. It's an American tradition.
This summer, it became a part of the Irish tradition. All except the sing-alongs.
