Students respond to Kaptur

Commencement choice evokes mixed reactions from SMC class of 1996

By CAROLINE BLUM

All students at Saint Mary’s will agree that one advantage of attending a small college is the influence one voice can have on the rest of the population.

According to John Valentine, Director of Public Relations at Saint Mary’s, a member of the class of 1996, her voice this year to suggest the name of recently chosen Commencement speaker.

"This year the speaker was suggested by a member of the senior class," Valentine said. "It was the recommendation of this senior that prompted research into Mary's identity, and the Associated Student Council was asked to present the name of the senior to the administration, who then asked the applicant to approve the choice.

Following the tradition of prestigious female Commencement speakers at Saint Mary’s, Kaptur, one of 56 women in the 535 member Congress and the highest ranking Democratic woman on the Appropriations Committee, was announced as the 1996 Commencement speaker for the weekend.

Some seniors have greeted the announcement with satisfaction. "I think it’s really great. In the four years I’ve been here, I’ve never had a political figure here. I’m curious to hear what she has to speak about," especially considering that this is the graduation of three killed by the World Trade Center.

Senior Laura Ferguson. "It’s a political figure during an election year. It seems like Saint Mary’s is trying to present a political figure, other students like Ferguson, support Kaptur based on her record in Congress and her efforts in the community.

Students respond to Kaptur

Holy Cross residents to return for third run-off

By LAURA SMITH

The Barbara Nolan, Adrienne Sullivan, Julie Prager, and Ellen Coleman ticket won the Regina Hall Council runoff in yesterday’s Saint Mary’s Hall Council elections, while abstentions at Holy Cross Hall have forced future Holy Cross Hall residents to return to the polls again to vote for their Holy Cross Hall Council representatives.

In yesterday’s elections, 54 percent of Holy Cross Hall residents who voted abstained. As this was a majority of residents open election will be held next week.

The Erin Battison, Bridget Sullivan, Melissa Lind, and Megan McLaughlin received 41 percent of the vote, after a deduction of 10 percent of the votes they received for a previous election policy violation. Forty-three percent of Holy Cross Hall residents will vote.

"I believe we will run again," said Battison. "Everyone will start from scratch."

A new election will be held next week in the Holy Cross hall according to Christine Riesenberger, Vice President-elect of the Residence Association of Holy Cross Hall (HC Hall) Council elections chair. Nolan ticket won 55 percent of the votes in the Regina Hall Council runoff. The Jenny

CAMPUS LIFE COUNCIL

Preacher: O’Hara’s response inadequate

By GWENDOLYN NORGLE

As this was a majority of residents open election will be held next week.

The resolution, submitted by Ava Preacher, dean of the College of Arts and Letters and Faculty Senate representative for the council, proposed that the CLC find O’Hara’s Open Letter to the Ad Hoc Committee on Gay and Lesbian Student Needs (printed in the April 2 issue of the Observer) “inadequate in meeting the needs of gay and lesbian students.”

The resolution presented for discussion also proposed that the council urge O’Hara to "reconsider her response and begin a respectful dialogue with Gays and Lesbians at Notre Dame/Saint Mary’s College."

The other proposed resolution presented by Student Body President Seth Miller and Vice President Megan Murray called for the council’s encouragement of Notre Dame’s gay and lesbian community “to utilize whatever organization they feel serves their needs.”

It also proposed that after one semester of existence, O’Hara “evaluate the organizational restrictions placed upon the new Notre Dame Gay and Lesbian Student group in her response to Recommendation Five” in her Open Letter. In this section of her response, O’Hara listed characteristics of the University group, which distinguish it from a student group.

The group is supported by one or two members of the faculty or administration.

• The group responds to the Office of Student Affairs.

• The group assists gay and lesbian students

see ELECTION/ page 4

Political satirists P.J. O’Rourke and Michael Moore disagree on practically everything. Perhaps the only thing they do agree on is that politicians lie.

Last night, two in what was titled “Satirists Unleashed: The Ultimate vs. Left Debate” Moving beyond the political spectrum of Republicans against Democrat, the two debated extreme conservative and liberal beliefs.

O’Rourke, Foreign Affairs Editor for “Holling Stone Magazine,” started the evening claiming that government has metamorphosed into the politics of the rich.

"This is the most optimistic time in history. The Soviet Union has fallen, we have more liberty and more democracy than the beginning of civilization," O’Rourke said. "We should be judging ourselves and we are not. America is a whining, cry-baby place."

The story of the 3,000 people laid off work from the Flint, Michigan General Motors factory, the company recorded profits of seven billion in the previous fiscal year, is reason enough for people to complain, according to Moore. The award-winning producer of the film "Roger Decoder of the film "Roger America is a winning, cry-baby place.

O’Rourke retorted that the people that profit the most in society are not the hard working individuals but corporate American.

"It’s a political way to lay off people and move companies to Mexico, why not just let them sell crack?" Moore asks.

He claims that the people who benefit the most in society are not the hard working individuals but corporate America. "Between NAFTA and subsidies, corporations are the biggest welfare mothers in America," Moore said.

O’Rourke retorted with skepticism claiming that the only alternative is to let Congress make all the decisions.

"I’d rather Congress be in control than the Board of GM," Moore responded. "The American dream used to be, you work hard, you earn your own way. Now, you work hard, the company prospers and you get laid off." The Industrial Revolution might not have benefitted everyone, claims O’Rourke, but it brought a number of advancements to our society and that is better than a centrally controlled alternative. "Zero sum economics is simply not true. Our economy is infinitely expandable," O’Rourke said. "We are not going to set up a better society by giving things away."

But Moore claims that society should offer a more equal social and economic environment. Affirmative action is one step toward see DEBATE/ page 4
The Observer • INSIDE
Tuesday, April 16, 1996

Inside Column

A year of monumental change?

This year may be a sweeping one in world politics. Or it may pass virtually unnoticed. Only time will tell.

Regardless of how history will judge 1996, one aspect cannot pass unobserved—an unprecedented number of elections will take place throughout the world, many of which will occur in strategically important countries.

The stage was set last fall in Poland where the Communist party lost power. After the November elections, đó Trumpoweria Walese, the former Cold Warrior and Solidarity leader who had seemed invincible for 10 years, resigned. He challenged President Solidarity, a coalition of Solidarity trade union leaders. They have never been in the position where they have to resign from government.

The vote was the first among 18 elections that will take place on the African continent this year—the most ever.

Although most of us probably failed to note the Australian elections last month, Prime Minister Paul Keating's defeat evoked a plainspoken response from Mr. Bill Kamble, C.S.C., who described Keating's successor as one who actually enjoys bowing to Her Majesty The Queen. By the time of this column, Her Majesty will have completed her first official trip to Australia, an event that will take place in May.

A general election is scheduled for May 28 in the still volatile Middle East. In what amounts to a referendum on the peace process, Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin is square off against Benjamin Netanyahu, the 46-year-old Likud leader who seeks to be the country's first Israeli-born prime minister. This dramatic race has been shaped by an assassination, bombings, the Oslo Accords, and the ongoing border attacks on Lebanese guerrillas.

Perhaps the most intriguing and monumental race, however, will occur in Russia where the Communist candidate, Gennadi Zyuganov, is leading. He challenged President Boris Yeltsin who, according to some Kremlin officials, may not step down even if he loses the election. Ultra nationalist Vladimir Zhirinovskiy adds color to the race with his outbursts of xenophobia and anti-Semitism. Michael Gorbatchev has resurrected himself from the ashes of the Cold War to create a ring into the ring. Although Gorbatchev's contribution to democracy may be appreciated by some, his presence serves only to underscore the democratic void propelling Zyuganov to victory.

The election campaign here in the United States has stirred little excitement since the fortunate demise of Pat Buchanan—with two moderates undefeated, no serious shift in U.S. policy can be expected. This situation certainly was not the case, however, after the New Hampshire primary when the prospect of a Buchanan White House and Zhirinovskiy Kremlin in 1996 elected a good Will of number of people.

The world has witnessed several key elections in recent years, but not in the numbers it will during 1996. If the incumbents are fortunate, which they many times are, the year will pass from the record book of political scenes with this view with no connection to its place. The world may pass on the modern political scene with the world being poised to enter the new millennium with a much altered political scene. Whether that scene will be a favorable one is a question only time will answer.

The views expressed in the Inside Column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.

Tornado rocks Arkansas, kills seven

The smell of sap from freshly silted trees hung over the Ozark Mountains on Monday after a tornado ripped through during the first big tourist weekend of spring, killing seven people.

Three of the victims were tourists staying at a motel near Fayetteville.

At least 30 people were injured. Buddy Marcum struggled to hold back tears as he waited for sheriff's deputies to let him look for any belongings that remained from the destroyed home. His friends who were killed outside Fayetteville, Ark., said they had been in the house when a tornado hit.

Farrakhan's latest offer to reconcile as Benin, a small west African country, forced their respective prime ministers to step down. Benin, a small west African country, forced their respective prime ministers to step down. Benin, a small west African country, forced their respective prime ministers to step down. Benin, a small west African country, forced their respective prime ministers to step down.

Jewish leaders shun Farrakhan

A pivotal election is scheduled for May 28 in the still volatile Middle East. In what amounts to a referendum on the peace process, Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin is square off against Benjamin Netanyahu, the 46-year-old Likud leader who seeks to be the country's first Israeli-born prime minister. This dramatic race has been shaped by an assassination, bombings, the Oslo Accords, and the ongoing border attacks on Lebanese guerrillas.

Perhaps the most intriguing and monumental race, however, will occur in Russia where the Communist candidate, Gennadi Zyuganov, is leading. He challenged President Boris Yeltsin who, according to some Kremlin officials, may not step down even if he loses the election. Ultra nationalist Vladimir Zhirinovskiy adds color to the race with his outbursts of xenophobia and anti-Semitism. Michael Gorbatchev has resurrected himself from the ashes of the Cold War to create a ring into the ring. Although Gorbatchev's contribution to democracy may be appreciated by some, his presence serves only to underscore the democratic void propelling Zyuganov to victory.

The election campaign here in the United States has stirred little excitement since the fortunate demise of Pat Buchanan—with two moderates undefeated, no serious shift in U.S. policy can be expected. This situation certainly was not the case, however, after the New Hampshire primary when the prospect of a Buchanan White House and Zhirinovskiy Kremlin in 1996 elected a good Will of number of people.

The world has witnessed several key elections in recent years, but not in the numbers it will during 1996. If the incumbents are fortunate, which they many times are, the year will pass from the record book of political scenes with this view with no connection to its place. The world may pass on the modern political scene with the world being poised to enter the new millennium with a much altered political scene. Whether that scene will be a favorable one is a question only time will answer.

The views expressed in the Inside Column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.

Tornado rocks Arkansas, kills seven

The smell of sap from freshly silted trees hung over the Ozark Mountains on Monday after a tornado ripped through during the first big tourist weekend of spring, killing seven people.

Three of the victims were tourists staying at a motel near Fayetteville.

At least 30 people were injured. Buddy Marcum struggled to hold back tears as he waited for sheriff's deputies to let him look for any belongings that remained from the destroyed home. His friends who were killed outside Fayetteville, Ark., said they had been in the house when a tornado hit.

Farrakhan's latest offer to reconcile as Benin, a small west African country, forced their respective prime ministers to step down. Benin, a small west African country, forced their respective prime ministers to step down. Benin, a small west African country, forced their respective prime ministers to step down. Benin, a small west African country, forced their respective prime ministers to step down.

Jewish leaders shun Farrakhan

A pivotal election is scheduled for May 28 in the still volatile Middle East. In what amounts to a referendum on the peace process, Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin is square off against Benjamin Netanyahu, the 46-year-old Likud leader who seeks to be the country's first Israeli-born prime minister. This dramatic race has been shaped by an assassination, bombings, the Oslo Accords, and the ongoing border attacks on Lebanese guerrillas.

Perhaps the most intriguing and monumental race, however, will occur in Russia where the Communist candidate, Gennadi Zyuganov, is leading. He challenged President Boris Yeltsin who, according to some Kremlin officials, may not step down even if he loses the election. Ultra nationalist Vladimir Zhirinovskiy adds color to the race with his outbursts of xenophobia and anti-Semitism. Michael Gorbatchev has resurrected himself from the ashes of the Cold War to create a ring into the ring. Although Gorbatchev's contribution to democracy may be appreciated by some, his presence serves only to underscore the democratic void propelling Zyuganov to victory.

The election campaign here in the United States has stirred little excitement since the fortunate demise of Pat Buchanan—with two moderates undefeated, no serious shift in U.S. policy can be expected. This situation certainly was not the case, however, after the New Hampshire primary when the prospect of a Buchanan White House and Zhirinovskiy Kremlin in 1996 elected a good Will of number of people.

The world has witnessed several key elections in recent years, but not in the numbers it will during 1996. If the incumbents are fortunate, which they many times are, the year will pass from the record book of political scenes with this view with no connection to its place. The world may pass on the modern political scene with the world being poised to enter the new millennium with a much altered political scene. Whether that scene will be a favorable one is a question only time will answer.

The views expressed in the Inside Column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.

Tornado rocks Arkansas, kills seven

The smell of sap from freshly silted trees hung over the Ozark Mountains on Monday after a tornado ripped through during the first big tourist weekend of spring, killing seven people.

Three of the victims were tourists staying at a motel near Fayetteville.

At least 30 people were injured. Buddy Marcum struggled to hold back tears as he waited for sheriff's deputies to let him look for any belongings that remained from the destroyed home. His friends who were killed outside Fayetteville, Ark., said they had been in the house when a tornado hit.

Farrakhan's latest offer to reconcile as Benin, a small west African country, forced their respective prime ministers to step down. Benin, a small west African country, forced their respective prime ministers to step down. Benin, a small west African country, forced their respective prime ministers to step down. Benin, a small west African country, forced their respective prime ministers to step down.
Union orders workers to terminate GM strike

By THOMAS SHEERAN

LORDSTOWN, Ohio

Just weeks after a crippling strike at two GM parts factories, production at a giant assembly plant stopped Monday after workers defied their union and walked out to protest the firing of their shop chairman.

United Auto Workers Local 1112 told the workers to end the walkout after午后 shift at 6:18 a.m. The plant stopped Monday after a 18-day strike that involved roughly the same number of workers as the previous strike.

Linda McGill said. She said she could not say how many workers were on the job, but a full shift would have been about 1,200 employees.

She said the plant would have to wait for the next shift at 6:18 a.m. Tuesday to see if that shift would be able to operate.

"We will have to wait and see," McGill said.

General Motors Corp. spokesman Ray Deibel said the union members must return to work on the next shift and otherwise the company will not say whether they will be fired. The union members must return to work at the plant, which resembles Chevrolet Cavalliers and Pontiac Sunfire.

Deibel said the workers showed up for their 6:18 a.m. shifts Monday and walked out after three hours later.

The Tribune Chronicle of Warren reported that Alli was fired Saturday for improperly clocking out. Alli told the newspaper that he clocked out the same way he has for 20 years.

Deibel said Alli was fired "for improper conduct in the plant, conduct in violation of GM rules, that apply to that." He refused to give details but did say it was not related to contract negotiations between GM and Local 1112.

Alii, the union's lead negotiator, has been deadlocked in talks with Lordstown management over use of outside negotiators. A woman who lost her job at the plant, which is north of Cleveland, died after being hit by a car Saturday.

Alii and Zone could not be reached Monday for comment.

A woman who answered the phone at the union local said no one was available to talk.

\section*{INTERNATIONAL}

Main stand trial for war crimes

Defendant faces first indictment under 1991 act

By BOB ANEZ

DORKING

Britain's first Nazi war crimes case, an 85-year-old retired Nazi mercenary, will stand trial on charges of murdering Jews during World War II.

The magistrate ordered Serafinowicz, who is free on bail at his home in Banstead, a commuter town southwest of London, to appear at London's Old Bailey court on May 10.

Serafinowicz, now thin and frail, listened intensely to the court proceedings, at times appearing bewildered. His two sons observed from the public gallery.

Serafinowicz, who came to Britain in 1947 and is now a British citizen, is the first person charged under the country's 1991 War Crimes Act.

The law gives British authori-
Debate
continued from page 1
achieving this goal. "Colleges and Universities should reach out to make sure those that don't have opportunities get them or, if only for a selfish reason, to create a better society," Moore said. "People earning a decent wage tend not to com­mit crime."
O'Rourke criticized affirma­tive action as a weak solution. "Minute rights assigned ac­cording to whom we are rather than what you do is a recipe for hatred, violence and disas­ter," he said. "We're attempting to correct one wrong while creating another."
In addition to splitting on the political issues confronting so­ciety, both Moore and O'Rourke differ on the impor­tance of political parties. "People do not vote because they are apathetic, but because there are not enough choices," Moore said. "I call our current parties 'Republicracists' because they are basically the same." O'Rourke countered with the idea that the less people that vote, the better the reflection on the state of society.

Election
continued from page 1
Wejman ticket, including Gwynn goals for next year." We're very pleased with our campaign against government cor­ruption or derail his plans to run for the presidency," he added.
"Once again the divide emerged between conservative and liberal beliefs. "The more ideas and groups the better," said Moore. "I would rather the Michigan Million have a party and two seats in Congress than plan the next Oklahoma City." Moore has gained attention for his work as a producer in the film and television indus­tries with such works as the political satire, "Canadian Bacon," and the television newsmagazine "TV Nation." O'Rourke is the author of several best sellers including "Parliament of Whores," "Give Me a Chance," and "The People in the Trouble in the World." Publications such as Time and The Wall Street Journal have titled him "the funniest writer in America."

CLC continued from page 1
in coming together to fund mutual support and to explore common issues within the context of this community and the teachings of the Catholic Church. • The group's right to receive University funds, publicize its meetings and use University facilities for its meetings comes through its advisor(s). • The vice president for Student Affairs plays a role in the selection of the advisor(s). Miller and Murray's resolution also called for O'Hara to "issue a written report on these limita­tions and the effectiveness of this group and the Standing Committee as outlined in Recommendation Six in serving the needs of our gay and lesbian community" to the CLC no later than February 1, 1997.
Future meetings will take place every Tuesday at 4:15 in the Haggar Room.
One person from each inter­ested ticket must attend this meeting.

Our copy
We're open late so your copy order will be completed on time!
Mon. - Thurs.: 7:30 am to Midnight Fri.: 7:30 am to 7:00 pm Sat.: Noon to 6:00 pm Sun.: Noon to Midnight
Most orders delivered by 9:00 a.m. the next weekday
Call 631-COPY (631-2679) for Free Pick-Up & Delivery to University Departments

The 11-pound bomb, hidden under a sofa, killed six people Sunday and wounded 20 oth­ers. At least 10 of the injured were listed in critical condition. The blast also damaged the hospital's chemotherapy ward, a reception area and parts of the cafeteria. It will take up to three months to repair, Khan said.

Although investigators have not named suspects, they said they believe the bombing was aimed at Khan, seen as a po­tential political rival to Prime Minister Benazir Bhutto. Analysts say Khan, the popu­lar captain of Pakistan's 1992 World Cup champion cricket team, could pose a real chal­lenge to Bhutto's ruling Pak­istan People's Party as well as to the opposition Muslim League.

Khan has acknowledged his political ambitions. His said the bomb would not halt his cam­paign against government cor­ruption or derail his plans to unveil his political platform later this month.
"Those people who feel threatened by me, the bombing was a clear message from them," Khan said.
Bhutto visited the blast site Sunday, and blamed opposition militants for the attack.

Katie Smith –
Happy 21st Birthday!
4/16/96
We Love You!

Father and Mom
Maura, Patrick, Larry, Theresa, Kevin, and Gandum

China - American Restaurant and Cocktail Lounge
Authentic Szechuan, Mandarin & Hunan Cuisine

Chinese - American

Bar and Restaurant open 7 days a week
Lunches starting at $4.25
Dinners starting at $5.95
Banquet rooms available for up to 200
130 Dixie Way N., South Bend
(next to Rundell's Inn)

Attention College of Business Administration Students
If you are interested in serving on the College of Business Administration Council please submit your resume to: Assistant Dean Sam Gaglio, room 101 College of Business Administration, no later than April 19, 1996.
If you need more information call 631-6602.

CLC
continued from page 1

PAKISTAN
Hospital staff works amid ruins

The Observer • NEWS
Tuesday, April 16, 1996

Associated Press

LAHORE Doctors and nurses salvaged a few instruments from the ruins of a hospital outpatient clinic and returned to work Monday, a day after a bomb blasted through the waiting area, killing six.
"We have to stay open for the people," said former Pakistan cricket star Imran Khan, who runs the cancer hospital. He said outpatient services at Shaukat Khanum Memorial Trust Hospital had been shifted to another part of the building and the department reopened.

The blast was considered an act of terrorism to eliminate the medicines and equipment needed to treat cancer patients. "I call our current party, both Moore and O'Rourke differ on the impor­tance of political parties. "People do not vote because they are apathetic, but because there are not enough choices," Moore said. "I call our current parties 'Republicracists' because they are basically the same." O'Rourke countered with the idea that the less people that vote, the better the reflection on the state of society.

Election
continued from page 1
Wejman ticket, including Gwynn goals for next year." We're very pleased with our campaign against government cor­ruption or derail his plans to run for the presidency," he added.
"Once again the divide emerged between conservative and liberal beliefs. "The more ideas and groups the better," said Moore. "I would rather the Michigan Million have a party and two seats in Congress than plan the next Oklahoma City." Moore has gained attention for his work as a producer in the film and television indus­tries with such works as the political satire, "Canadian Bacon," and the television newsmagazine "TV Nation." O'Rourke is the author of several best sellers including "Parliament of Whores," "Give Me a Chance," and "The People in the Trouble in the World." Publications such as Time and The Wall Street Journal have titled him "the funniest writer in America."

CLC continued from page 1
in coming together to fund mutual support and to explore common issues within the context of this community and the teachings of the Catholic Church. • The group's right to receive University funds, publicize its meetings and use University facilities for its meetings comes through its advisor(s). • The vice president for Student Affairs plays a role in the selection of the advisor(s). Miller and Murray's resolution also called for O'Hara to "issue a written report on these limita­tions and the effectiveness of this group and the Standing Committee as outlined in Recommendation Six in serving the needs of our gay and lesbian community" to the CLC no later than February 1, 1997.
Future meetings will take place every Tuesday at 4:15 in the Haggar Room.
One person from each inter­ested ticket must attend this meeting.

Our copy
We're open late so your copy order will be completed on time!
Mon. - Thurs.: 7:30 am to Midnight Fri.: 7:30 am to 7:00 pm Sat.: Noon to 6:00 pm Sun.: Noon to Midnight
Most orders delivered by 9:00 a.m. the next weekday
Call 631-COPY (631-2679) for Free Pick-Up & Delivery to University Departments

China - American Restaurant and Cocktail Lounge
Authentic Szechuan, Mandarin & Hunan Cuisine

Chinese - American

Bar and Restaurant open 7 days a week
Lunches starting at $4.25
Dinners starting at $5.95
Banquet rooms available for up to 200
130 Dixie Way N., South Bend
(next to Rundell's Inn)

Attention College of Business Administration Students
If you are interested in serving on the College of Business Administration Council please submit your resume to: Assistant Dean Sam Gaglio, room 101 College of Business Administration, no later than April 19, 1996.
If you need more information call 631-6602.
BEIRUT
Israel aircraft and artillery bombarded Hezbollah targets in Beirut and southern Lebanon on Monday in an effort to ratch­et up pressure on Lebanon and Syria to end their support of the group.

Israel said it was ready to ne­gotiate an end to its 5-day-old offensive, but would not initiate talks. Hezbollah, however, sent more rockets crashing down on northern Israel and claimed to have dozens of suicide bombers ready to attack.

"Our human bomb brigade is going to concentrate vengeance on Israel. We'll strike at the United States when it directly intervenes against us," said Hezbollah's second-in-com­mand, Sheik Naim Qassem.

"We have deployed a shield of suicide bombers in the south ready to devastate any enemy ground force that dares to atta­ck us into south Lebanon. We'll have them an­nihilated," Qassem told the Lebanese Broadcasting Corp. in a televised interview.

Hamas, the Palestinian group whose suicide bombings have Israel reeling, said it has joined the rocketing of northern Israel from Lebanon. A spokesman called on Hamas activists in the West Bank and Gaza Strip "to carry out assigned mis­sions."

Seven Lebanese civilians were killed and 20 people were wounded in the Israeli attacks Monday, Lebanon's police re­ported. Eight Israelis were slightly wounded by Hezbollah rockets.

All told, 35 people have been killed and 133 wounded since skirmishes between Hezbollah and Israel ignited a major Israeli offensive last week. Apart from one Israeli soldier, the dead have all been Lebanese civilians.

Despite a rush of diplomatic efforts of ECOMOG, the peacekeeping forces from West Africa, known as ECOMOG, "The United States has now failed because ... the U.S.A. did not give full support to the efforts of ECOMOG," KImi said.

"They did not put at their dis­posal urgently needed re­sources or equipment."

By GEORGE GEDDA
Associated Press

Israelis refuse to initiate talks

The Observer • INTERNATIONAL NEWS

U.S. government reports
20 Americans missing

WASHINGTON
As a five-ship naval group steamed toward Liberia on a still-undefined mission, the State Department said Monday about 20 of the 470 Americans who were in the country a week ago remained unaccounted for.

Spokesman Glyn Davies said some of the 20 may have slipped out of the troubled country by means other than the evacuation carried out by Air Force helicopters that began last week.

The remainder are either content to remain in Liberia or have been prevented by fighting from making it to the embassy compound for evacua­tion.

As of Sunday, 65 helicopter sorties had evacuated 1,795 people from Liberia, including 206 Americans. The evac­uees hailed from 64 countries.

"A spokesman for Charles Taylor, a rebel leader, criti­ized the U.S. airlift. "We do not think that the crisis is deep enough to warrant the airlift of people," said the spokesman, Reginald Goodridge.

Meanwhile, a three-ship am­phibious group accompanied by a destroyer and a tanker was heading for waters off the Liberian coast where they were to await instructions and to be ready if needed.

Senior defense officials said there were no plans for an ambitious landing. During a previous Liberian crisis, in 1990, U.S. warships stood by for four months and left with­out intervening.

Davies said that as of Monday night, the number of Americans at the U.S. embassy compound was 24 — all U.S. officials. He said 14 Americans had left recently. The remaining officials, Davies said, "will continue their work of assuring the safety of American citizens and facilitating their evacuation from Liberia."

They will also try to help negotiate an end to the fighting.

Despite close historical ties to Liberia, Davies suggested the United States does not plan a major initiative in Liberia. But he said it would be wrong to suggest the United States has abandoned Liberia.

"The fact that we're staying in a very dangerous situation is one strong measure of our in­terest and our ties to that na­tion," he said.

Nigerian Foreign Minister Tom Ikimi accused the United States of failing to give enough financial or technical aid to the Nigerian-led peacekeeping forces from West Africa, known as ECOMOG.

"The United States has now failed because ... the U.S.A. did not give full support to the efforts of ECOMOG," Ikimi said.

"They did not put at their dis­posal urgently needed re­sources or equipment."

By HUSSEIN DAKROUB
Associated Press

Israel's offensive  in Lebanon

\---

Happy Birthday
Ben!

With Love,

Dad, Mom,
Amy, Scott,
Matt, Jenny,
and Babue

Bring a friend!
Bring a date!
Bring your roommate!

Fourth Day Presents...

Relationships

and Sexual Ethics

with

Fr. Mark Poorman, C.S.C.

7:30PM, Wednesday, April 17, in the Stanford-Keenan Chapel

Celebrate a friend's birthday

with a special
Observer ad.

\---

Correction

Composer Libby Larson's name was miss­spelled in yesterday's edition of The Observer. Larson will receive an honorary doctorate of fine arts at the Saint Mary's College Commencement ceremony in May. The Observer regrets the error.
U.S., China offer mediation in peace negotiations

By TERENCE HUNT

Associated Press

JOHANNESBURG (AP) - President Clinton will propose unconditional peace talks between North and South Korea with China as participants, U.S. officials said.

The president was expected to seek China's approval for the initiative in a meeting with South Korean President Kim Young-sam on this resort island Tuesday morning, Korean time.

Discussions about the proposal have been under way quietly for about two months, an official said, speaking on condition of anonymity.

Until now, the United States has insisted that North and South Korea negotiate directly with each other on a permanent peace accord.

Now, the U.S. military statement quoted Clinton as saying there was no link between the two Korean militaries and the United States into direct negotiations, which would put Clinton's initiative in a secondary role.

Clinton's initiative is expected to draw a mixed reaction in South Korea, where the late president's son, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, is expected to arrive in the country on Tuesday.

Some officials believe that North Korea staged military incursions into the Demilitarized Zone earlier this month after learning about the initiative. That way, North Korea could claim that the United States was reacting to its move, in a form of compensation.

Clinton has tried to make a statement of his own by featuring his administration's willingness to try to reach a final peace agreement with the North. He has already made a similar overture in the talks with China.

With the United States and China as participants, the United States could claim that the United States was reacting to its move, in a form of compensation.

Clinton has tried to make a statement of his own by featuring his administration's willingness to try to reach a final peace agreement with the North. He has already made a similar overture in the talks with China.

While the United States and China have direct ties with the United States, the United States has been guilty of guilting each other on a permanent peace accord.

In their talks at a hotel adjacent to the United States, Clinton told reporters he was optimistic about maintaining the United States, which was devastated in the 1950-53 war in which the United States and its U.N. allies backed the South against North China.

On Sunday, he said he believed Clinton could eventually force the United States to negotiate a peace treaty to replace the armistice.

Their aim is to cut out the South, which they regard as a puppet of America.

The military statement quoted Clinton as saying he had hoped Clinton would be able to see more of the island's attractions and the president repeated.

"Time will take care of that."

In his talks at a hotel adjacent to the United States, Clinton told reporters he was optimistic about maintaining the United States, which was devastated in the 1950-53 war in which the United States and its U.N. allies backed the South against North China.

On Sunday, he said he believed Clinton could eventually force the United States to negotiate a peace treaty to replace the armistice.

Their aim is to cut out the South, which they regard as a puppet of America.

The military statement quoted Clinton as saying he had hoped Clinton would be able to see more of the island's attractions and the president repeated.

"Time will take care of that."

As a result, the United States opened fire in an airport hangar on Sunday night, killing and 11 wounded.

Soldier opens fire in airport

By TERENCE HUNT

Associated Press

A gun battle broke out Monday when an airport official opened fire in an airport hangar in Jakarta, the military said. The official said at least 14 people were killed and 11 wounded.

The shootings occurred in a region that has been the scene of violence recently.

The official said at least 14 people were killed and 11 wounded.

The shootings occurred in a region that has been the scene of violence recently.

The official said at least 14 people were killed and 11 wounded.

The shootings occurred in a region that has been the scene of violence recently.

The official said at least 14 people were killed and 11 wounded.

The shootings occurred in a region that has been the scene of violence recently.

The official said at least 14 people were killed and 11 wounded.
Russia

Germany objects to Trojan gold display

By DAVE CARPENTER

Associated Press

WASHINGTON

With an eye toward Election Day, House Republicans spent Tax Day debating a constitutional amendment that would make it much more difficult to raise federal taxes.

GOP leaders had scheduled the vote for a few hours before the midnight filing deadline for 1995 income tax returns. Democrats said that was aimed at attracting maximum news coverage and began a series of procedural maneuvers designed to delay the vote as late into the night as possible.

Supporters conceded their chance of victory was slim but said the vote would illustrate the difference between Democrats and Republicans.

"The overwhelming majority of Republicans will vote for it. I think it's a question of how many Democrats vote for it," House Speaker Newt Gingrich, R-Ga., told college students and business leaders in Atlanta.

"Most Americans agree that it's too easy for politicians to raise their taxes and that we need some kind of additional protection," he said.

A two-thirds majority of both the House and Senate is required to send the amendment to the states. For approval, three-fourths of state legislatures then would have to ratify it within seven years.

---

The Vatican

Pope revisits Rome synagogue

By DAVE SKIDMORE

Associated Press

He told Rome's chief rabbi, Elio Toaff, that "the climate of anti-Semitism in this country has never been worse. I want to see a change." The pope's visit was to coincide with Taxpayer Day of Outrage, an anti-tax day sponsored by Americans for Tax Reform, a bipartisan anti-deficit group.

Toaff, who heads the anti-tax group's European chapter, said the pope was looking to address the issue of the Roman Catholic Church's efforts to make the world aware of anti-Semitism and the pope's visit was in response to the "Serie of Pains and Sufferings" of the Jewish people.

The pope made his remarks as he met with Jewish leaders and journalists, including the rabbi of the Great Synagogue of Rome, and at a noon rally in Lafayette Park.

---

Student Business Board

Now taking applications for Assistant General Manager of The Student Business Board.

- Great on-campus business experience creating financial statements for ND Video and Irish Gardens.
- Open to all business majors.

Pick up applications in the Student Activities Office today, in 315 LaFortune. All Applications must be submitted by Friday, April 19.

---

Come see the...

IRISH ACCENT comedy improv troupe

Tuesday, April 16

8:00PM

LaFortune Ballroom

Admission: $1

---

Please Recycle The Observer
The Observer

Let's say it's a Friday night. Now, you suspect that the safest thing to do is either rent a movie or watch basketball on TV with a friend. Of course, you could always pretend you have a life, which would necessarily involve going to a movie. And guess what? Then you might end up getting wasted with your friends. (Of course, unless you're one of those people who just happen to be going to a mystery play. I never thought I'd say this, but I really do suspect that the safest thing to do is go see "Braveheart," the modern sexual game-within-a-game has its own complex ramifications.)

Learning some tricks of the trade

For women, this means sighing at the kissy knick scenes, as if they can't imagine anything more romantic than a grubby aging Australian actor treating them like a French princess. This also means the women must show outward disapproval of the guy, or at least let out a few "licks" to allow the men to feel all manly and projecting.

For the men, this means tolerating the kissy-kissy stuff, maybe even using it as an excuse for physical contact by pretending to get the women to lean their heads on the men's shoulders (a tried and true method, obviously).

During the bloody fight scenes, the men are required to bellow "cool" or "gross" (in the good sense), or even "awesome" if they get carried away, fully expecting the women to show some sort of revulsion. In fact, if a woman doesn't respond the expected way, or even appears to enjoy a good hack and slash, the man can generally assume she's to be a tomboy, or heaven forbid, a dyke.

Remember, ladies, there's nothing more frightening to a guy that the prospect of a woman being his equal or better. Act appropriately and you will be like a worn-out wife, or even appear to enjoy a good hack and slash, the man can generally assume she's to be a tomboy, or heaven forbid, a dyke.

For the men, this means tolerating the kissy-kissy stuff, maybe even using it as an excuse for physical contact by pretending to get the women to lean their heads on the men's shoulders (a tried and true method, obviously).

During the bloody fight scenes, the men are required to bellow "cool" or "gross" (in the good sense), or even "awesome" if they get carried away, fully expecting the women to show some sort of revulsion. In fact, if a woman doesn't respond the expected way, or even appears to enjoy a good hack and slash, the man can generally assume she's to be a tomboy, or heaven forbid, a dyke.

After the movie, make sure to vacate the theater immediately, as this will show the other party that you really only have them in mind and not the movie. You can then proceed to the dance, which will most likely be as lame as you all know it will be, or head directly to the room of the woman's choice. And after the brief conclusion of the sordid affair (which, as both parties are repressed Catholics in an even more repressive Catholic environment, will generally be a 5 minute slam session that both will think romantic), the man promises to call on Sunday, the woman believes him, and they both ignore each other from that point on, occasionally passing on a random sidewalk and exchanging their eyes or saying a uncom­

"Or, if in the event of mutual de­

GARRY TRUDEAU

"If you steal from one a

"author, it's plagiarism; if you steal from many, it's research."

—Wilson Mizner
College seniors gain chance to relive prom experiences

Dear Editor:

The prom that I plan to teach again next semester. For political reasons, there has be a subtle effort to obliterate the gay and lesbian college students could relate to experiences that threaten to disrupt the structure and values upon which the exposure of a gay or lesbian content not seen how certain "universal" formulas helps also to interpret literary conventions. The "intersexuality" very often depends on the bias of a text, thus demonstrating that "uniformity of the implicit homosexual content of the heterosexual critic or the way in which the existing ones, and as it does so, it reinforces one's understanding of other people, their own sexuality. More than in any other gay texts.

Dear Reader:

This course has also become a much needed meeting place on this campus, a place free from the coronal suntan and telecommunication "high" of the world. As I have been a lover of "trash" and the intimacies evoked in some of these texts that address more immediately the intimacies evoked in some of these texts we analyzed in class, and this is a salutary reaction. An otherwise very often exaggerated fear of offending someone is easily overcome due to the common understanding that class discussion promotes. So, what was once concepted as peccatum illud (that abominable sin not to be named among Christians), after three or four years of reading, we might as well suck it up and build upon past prom accomplishments.

Thursdays, if you got the urge to bad-mouth your high school prom, don’t. You’ve got to learn to take any negative prom memories in stride. Since prom is a crucible for your self-esteem, we might as well suck it up and build upon past prom accomplishments.

Certainly I had nothing to lose.

Kara Pavlik is a senior at Saint Mary’s. She can be reached at pavli087@stmarys.edu

Homo sexuality pervades intellectual discourse

Professor: For me, this was not a routine introduction to the course but rather an integral part of the course. The course was designed as a way to approach intellectual discourse, not only for the purposes of the class discussion but for the purposes of the whole class. The course itself is a pleasure to teach. One broad-minded teacher may have to teach it to the public, while a more conservative teacher may have to teach it to the public. However, the whole class is a pleasure to teach. One broad-minded teacher may have to teach it to the public, while a more conservative teacher may have to teach it to the public.

Kara Pavlik

Dear Editor:

I didn’t want to...
Are you tired of getting your professional baseball fix on ESPN? Frustrated that your favorite team is hundreds of miles away? Do you find yourself in Chicago in search of baseball adventures? Your quest for baseball satisfaction need not stop just because you're a Notre Dame student.

Coveleski Stadium, home of the South Bend Silver Hawks, has somethi ng for everyone. The Silver Hawks are the perfect solution to college-student boredom with the social offerings of South Bend. Magrane, Assistant General Manager of Promotions and Marketing, has some words to consider, which Magrane pointed out are "cheaper than any bar around here!"

"It's all the entertainment of Coach's or other sports bars, but it's outside and it's exciting...that's the magic of it," Magrane said. For the true sports enthusiast, there's always the refreshment offerings to consider, which Magrane pointed out are "cheaper than any bar around here!"

As a minor league affiliate of the Sox, the Silver Hawks are a great place to look for a glimpse at the future of professional baseball. Two promising players hail directly from Notre Dame's baseball program, with Tim Kraus recently joining the Hawks. The same is true for many of the "farm teams" in the Midwest League, which feature up-and-coming players who often work their way up the minor league ladder and eventually sign with the majors.

"In addition to low-priced and high-quality entertainment, the Silver Hawks organization also has something more important to offer college students: potential jobs.

According to Magrane, the Silver Hawks do sponsor an internship program, and currently employ two Notre Dame students. Enterprise entrepreneurs might also be interested in some of the upcoming events at Coveleski Stadium. For a much needed break before finals, the May 3 game against the West Michigan Whitecaps features a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for fans to see the "E Team" - E as in Elvis, of course; but these are no ordinary Elvises, as they will skyrocket their way onto the field in a truly interesting spectacle.

If Elvis and baseball just don't mix, for other early May promotions include a batting glove giveaway on May 4 vs. the Quad City Bandits, or the Mother's Day/Diamond Giveaway sponsored by Zales as the Hawks take on the Fort Wayne Wizards on May 12. For those of you who missed out on tickets at Jacobs Field, then you might be interested in some of ND's own as the Hawks finish their home season against the Michigan Battle Cats.

"Much cheaper than a movie and with better hot dogs than the dining hall, the Cove is the perfect place to take a date, or several dates, or a bunch of buds, or all of the above. General admission tickets are only $4, with the best seats in the house. Club Boxes, costing only $7. Ticket information and availability can be found by calling 232-9988. Magrane hopes that the Hawks will draw close to 300,000 fans this year, so stop griping about the South Bend social scene and flock on down to the Cove to catch the Silver Hawks in action.

---

Random Acts of Poetry

By LORI ALLEN

"Random Acts of Poetry" is a great way to promote National Poetry Month as well as the English department, she added.

All students planning to be on the Saint Mary's campus this week should keep their eyes peeled for the poetry in progress. If all the volunteers take Lenzczewski's desk climbing initiative, they should not be hard to miss.

Enjoy the brief recesses wherever, whenever you can. The "Random Acts of Poetry" aren't freezegat, but then again, we aren't in grade school anymore.

No student or place will be safe from these "random acts of poetry" as sweat teams of students team up to live the words of poets past.

---

Random Acts of Poetry

By LORI ALLEN

SOUTH BEND

"Random Acts of Poetry" is a great way to promote National Poetry Month as well as the English department, she added.

All students planning to be on the Saint Mary's campus this week should keep their eyes peeled for the poetry in progress. If all the volunteers take Lenzczewski's desk climbing initiative, they should not be hard to miss.

Enjoy the brief recesses wherever, whenever you can. The "Random Acts of Poetry" aren't freezegat, but then again, we aren't in grade school anymore.

No student or place will be safe from these "random acts of poetry" as sweat teams of students team up to live the words of poets past.
By MELANIE WATERS

The plays are designed to give students the opportunity to experience the Creation story and end with the Creation of man. The play would begin with the Creation story and end with Doomsday, hence the term "mystery" play.

"The plays are a combination of several medieval cycle dramas popular in England 400 years ago. The plays are designed to give modern audiences a glimpse at the way Bible stories were told during the Middle Ages. From the 14th to the 16th century, cycle dramas were performed for religious instruction in order to reaffirm their faith and to share Christ's message for salvation with the people of the time. The play would begin with the Creation story and end with Doomsday, hence the term "mystery" play.

"The plays would begin with the Creation story and end with Doomsday, hence the term "mystery" play.

Mystery plays refer to a guilds involved, and not to the actual content of the plays. While the original productions of these dramas could last for up to three days, Pilkinton has "deleted a great amount of material into a 'taste' of this vital form of theater." He believes that the production appeals to modern audiences because the content is still timely. "The plays speak in tones that people will find very relevant today.

The plays are built around the conflict between Heaven and Hell, with earth as the battleground where God meets Evil. In his ambition for the Mystery Plays, Pilkinton combines portions of six productions - The Birth of Christ, Chester, N-Town, and Wakefield, as well as sources from the little-known, non-English, Latin cycle. His production of The Birth of Christ focuses on Creation and the Fall of Lucifer, as well as the Fall of Humanity throughout history. The cycle ends with Noah, Ark, Advent, The Crucifixion, The Resurrection, Ascension and Doomsday. Pilkinton said that over 84 students are involved in the production, from actors to stage crew to costume and lighting design. "Visually, it's just stunning." Pilkinton said, referring to the breathtaking set that depicts Heaven, Hell and Earth with dazzling lighting effects and powerful imagery. The center of the stage is a large revolving wooden platform, where the action on Earth takes place under the scrutiny of both God and Lucifer.

Pilkinton's work assures today's audiences that the style and messages of these Medieval dramas survive in the 20th century. Christ's Passion: Medieval Mystery Plays opens tomorrow and plays through Sunday, April 21. Tickets are available at the door or in advance at the LaFortune Box Office, or can be purchased by calling 631-8128. Tickets are $8 for general admission, $7 for senior citizens, and $6 for students. Evening performances begin at 8 p.m., and the Sunday matinee begins at 2:30 p.m.

By JASON HUGGINS

Love Tips from Cyberspace

Spring is here and so is the Spring Formal, the last big dance before finals and the end of the school year. It's also your last opportunity to ask out that special someone you've been lusting after all semester. But, how do you ensure you'll luck out - that you'll get that date and have a great time, too?

Well, just because you don't have all the answers doesn't mean you have to give up all hope. With the help of your trusty World Wide Web browser and some time to kill, you can find almost all the advice you need on the net, without having to go see Dr. Ruth. In the quest for cheap love advice, I took to the Internet and scoured the world wide web for "Search.com" (http://www.search.com) for dating tips. While most of the stuff I found was garbage, I was able to find a few gems.

First, I found the "Official Hopeless Romantics' Zone" on things that make us feel good (http://www.cjnews.com/-jone/shrome.html), featuring the best of the best in love tips and tricks, with additional commentary by the author, Eric Jones, a romantic hobbiest. Hopeless Romantics sites feature visitor-submitted love poems, stories of romantic encounters, and information on other useful resources, including other dating-related links on the Internet for further reading.

God's advice is pretty straightforward stuff presented in an easy-to-follow manner. You can heed such flirt tips as "Be funny! Be witty!" or follow Godek's lead on practicing romance, an artform which he calls "the demonstration of a perfect emotion." His theory is that romance is the balance of two concepts: "Action speaks louder than words" and "It's that which counts."

"Hopeless Romantics" and "The World of Romance," are convenient sources of love advice for you and your soon to be (or not be) significant other. If you have some time to blow at the computer lab this week between trips to the mall and the hair salon and the flower shop, I highly encourage you to check these sites out.

By LIZA NYKIEL

Medical Minute - Knocking Out Knee Problems

S o there you are, playing bookstore on a glorious spring afternoon, pulling up for a beautiful jump shot in front of all your adoring fans, and just as you make that beautiful shot as the ball falls through, you feel a lightning bolt of pain shoot through your knee. Next thing you know, you're rushed off to Memorial Notre Dame Hospital (slightly excited that you'll finally appear in the Secret Reat show in the next day's paper) and end up on crutches for a week. This scenario is all too common now that the weather is warming up. As the student bodies venture out onto the basketball courts, baseball fields and running paths, weak knees respond in quite an unfriendly manner.

So what's the deal here? Well, it seems that 350 million people have suffered knee pain or injury, ranging from sprains, torn cartilage or even fractures. It's no wonder there are so many injuries to the knee joint since it wasn't designed to handle the stresses we inflict upon it. According to Dr. James Fox, knees can be injured playing football or soccer, or are they equipped for squatting or kneeling all day as the knees of a carpenter or a plumber endure.

Following any activity that causes knee pain, immediately rest the area and apply ice, compression and elevation (RICE). Ice can do wonders for reducing inflammation, helping you to regain some of your mobility. For relief of painful joints, sometimes over-the-counter anti-inflammatory lotions provide soothing heat. Keeping in mind that such lotions are only temporary relief of symptoms, often times applying them and then wrapping the knee can be quite relaxing. Care must be taken when wrapping the knee. The joint can be quite sensitive, as they can burn or irritate sensitive skin.

When it comes to using heat for pain relief, be cautious. When there is no severe irreparable injury, a good heat pad before exercise can let you be active with less pain. If you use heat after an activity, it will only irritate the joint already irritated by the exercise. For relief of the pain and inflammation that often occurs with knee injuries, use for an over-the-counter painkiller. Ibuprofen, found in Advil or Nuprin, can reduce the inflammation without causing stomach problems that aspirin can cause (do I sound like a commercial yet?). Recent studies have also shown that ibuprofen can significantly improve joint mobility in those people with acute knee ligament damage.

Once a knee injury has been inflicted, the next best thing to do is to strengthen the joint with exercise. The only thing holding the knee together are the muscles and ligaments, therefore it is essential that you build up strong quadriceps and hamstring muscles to support the joint. Keep in mind that care must be taken when exercising an injured knee. If pain is felt, you should stop. Exercise is not the answer to counter painkiller. Ibuprofen, found in Advil or Nuprin, can reduce the inflammation and the joint pain and swelling, but some people say that aspirin can cause (do I sound like a commercial yet?). Recent studies have also shown that ibuprofen can significantly improve joint mobility in those people with acute knee ligament damage.

One knee injury has been inflicted, the next best thing to do is to strengthen the joint with exercise. The only thing holding the knee together are the muscles and ligaments, therefore it is essential that you build up strong quadriceps and hamstring muscles to support the joint. Keep in mind that care must be taken when exercising an injured knee. If pain is felt, you should stop. Exercise is not the answer to counter painkiller. Ibuprofen, found in Advil or Nuprin, can reduce the inflammation and the joint pain and swelling, but some people say that aspirin can cause (do I sound like a commercial yet?). Recent studies have also shown that ibuprofen can significantly improve joint mobility in those people with acute knee ligament damage.

As for knee braces, buyer beware. Some braces are meant to be preventive, and can often be very complex and designed strictly for you, but these types of braces often run anywhere from $300 to $1000. The wrap and lycra braces that can be purchased in sporting goods stores don't do much good and can even be harmful. The majority of store-bought braces fail to separate the knee by pushing the kneecap into the joint, something which not all knee injuries need.
Pained Pippig, upstart Tanui capture historic Boston wins

By JIMMY GOLLEN

Boston Marathon

Weakened by an upset stomach and muscular cramps, two-time defending champion Uta Pippig kept falling further and further behind in Monday's (April 14) Boston Marathon.

She almost dropped out after four miles and even four and a half as she seemed to be gasping for breath. But Pippig, a heavy favorite to capture a third straight title, overcame a 30-second deficit with 2.2 miles to go and won by 1 minute, 25 seconds.

"I'm just not nice," the 30-year-old German said, "I was thinking several times to drop out because it hurt so much. But in the end, I'm okay."

Moses Tanui pulled away from three-time defending champ Haile Gebrselassie of Ethiopia and Heartbreak Hill and led a sweep in which Kenyans finished 1-2-3 and captured seven of the top eight spots. He finished in 2:09:10, 10 seconds ahead of Ezekiel Biok. Ndeti was third in 2:09:51.

"We felt that was the start of the race," said Tanui, who cramped on the 187-foot hill between the 20th and 21st mile last year and placed second to Ndeti by a minute.

The two-time Boston champ returned to the city because he can spell the dreams of pretenders who think the course's worst is behind them. But Ndeti refused to be heartbroken.

"I'm not disappointed. Losing is not a big shock," he said after falling in his effort for an unprecedented fourth consecutive Boston Marathon crown. "I will say I am the best because I hold the course record and I won here three times in a row."

It was the sixth straight year a Kenyan man has won in Boston. Kenya used this race for its Olympic trials. Paul Tergat, who said he would skip the marathon at Atlanta in favor of the 10,000-meter run, finished 17th.

Pippig, who blew kisses to the crowd in her first two victories, hammered with a camera to go before the finish in Copley Square. She was timed in 2 hours, 17 minutes, 12 seconds, short of her course record of 2:21:45 set in 1994.

A 61-year-old Swedish man, among the record field of 38,706 runners, died of an apparent heart attack after finishing the 26.2-mile race. Kenyans Collins Cheboi and Cheborui Rono were third and fourth, in 2:18:54.

Sharon Stempel of Minnetonka, Minn., also finished third, timed unofficially at 2:42:34 to lead U.S. women.

"I couldn't believe it," said Brigid Driscoll of Champaign, Ill., who won an unprecedented seventh consecutive wheelchair race, and Heinz Frei of Switzerland took the men's wheelchair division.

"It was pleasing to see how many of our race fans and friends turned out," said Christopher Conklin, senior director of the Boston Athletic Association. "It was a great day for running and great day for the Boston Marathon."
Graduates, this is a special time in your life that you and your family will always remember.

Memory Tassels represent tradition and class unity. Tassels provide nostalgic memories for years to come.

Celebrate your achievements, order additional Tassels for parents, relatives and special friends.

At this year's graduation ceremony, "Move On In Style", with Collegiate Caps, Gowns and Memory Tassels.

When the Commencement Ceremony ends, throw that Tassel to the other side of your Graduation Cap but keep the memory forever.

Order your souvenir Memory Tassels and Graduation Cap & Gown today.

Graduation Cap and Gown Orders will be taken at the Notre Dame Bookstore:
Tuesday, April 16 and Wednesday April 17 from 9am - 5pm

The Hammes
NOTRE DAME BOOKSTORE
"on the campus"
Open Monday - Saturday 9am - 5pm
OL
continued from page 20
have a couple of guys who have got to step up — so far. Bidder and Rosenthal have stepped it up. When I was a freshman, the older guys took me in and showed me how it was done. Now I’m trying to do the same, and sharing some of my experiences with them.”

Besides his experience, Akers has dis­ played a versatility that most line­ men lack. As a junior, he moved from tackle to right guard against BYU, then switched to left tackle at Navy, then switched again to left guard vs. Florida State and Air Force for his fourth differ­ ent position of the season. Nevertheless, Akers will play at his usual left guard spot next season and does not foresee any further position changes.

“The coaches situated us in a position comfortable to us since, and we’re pretty deep, changes shouldn’t be neces­ sary.”

“I assume Cleve­ linger will be at left tackle,” said Moore. “At fall camp, Akers and Wis­ ne will decide who starts.” I f the worst of the two beats out Rosenthal, then that player will move to right guard.”

While some questions remain, two things are nearly certain: come next fall, Jeremy Akers will be a mainstay in a bonecrushing offensive unit of size that South Bend has not seen since 1993.

Notre Dame heads down the stretch
By DYLAN BARMER
Assistant Sports Editor

With 36 games now under their belts, the 26-10 Notre Dame baseball team is ready to begin the stretch run of the season. The Irish are sched­ uled to play at least 17 more games this season, 10 of which are Big East Conference games of immense importance.

The Irish’s 6-4 mark in con­ ference play puts them in a tie with Rutgers for second place in the Big East National Division.

The team’s 1-2 performance against Rutgers this past weekend, coupled with the cancellation of their three game series with Division leader Villanova due to weather conditions, puts the Irish in an essential must win situation if they are to reach the Big East tournament and a shot at the NCAA tournament.

The following is a synopsis of the Irish’s strengths and weaknesses in certain areas of the game thus far this sea­ son.

Hitting:
This may be this team’s greatest asset. The Irish are batting .295 as a team on the season, and boast seven starters who are batting at or over .300.

The Irish also boast a healthy 492 team slugging percentage, and are averaging 6.7 runs per game. While Irish bats have flourished this season, they could also benefit from being more selective. Irish hitters have struck out 202 times, while collecting just 139 walks.

Notre Dame’s hitting has also come through in Big East games, with their .326 clip second only to West Virginia’s .341.

One are which must be improved on is the team’s clutch hitting. Of late, the Irish’s inability to drive in runners from scoring position has caused concern on the part of head coach Paul Mainieri and his staff.

On the season, the Irish have left 259 men on base.

Pitching:
A little bit of a sore spot. While the pitching has shown signs of solidification follow­ ing a shaky start, this staff is still marked by inconsistency.

Junior Darin Schmalz has been the most effective of the starters, and senior Rich Saugez seems to be stepping into the closer role.

The team ERA stands at 4.33 on the season, and Irish arms have limited opposing batters to a .266 average on the year.

Particularly of concern is the staff’s performance in 10 conference games this season. The Irish’s 5-40 ERA in league games is the fifth worst mark in the conference, and they have surrendered 95 hits in just 80 innings of work.

Top Individual Performers

By DYLAN BARMER
Assistant Sports Editor

Several Notre Dame baseball players are having strong seasons for the 26-10 Irish, both at the plate and on the mound. The following is a rundown of some of the Irish’s top performers and their numbers so far this season. (Team highs are in boldface).

Offensive Leaders
- Daniel Schmalz (SP/RP): 2.75 ERA, 4-1, 39 IP, 34 SO, 14 BB, .328 AVG, 3 HR, 12 RBIs
- Mike Brack (RP): 3.00 ERA, 5-1, 39 IP, 34 SO, 18 BB, 2 SV
- Alex Shilliday (SP): 3.67 ERA, 4-1, 19 2/3 IP, 21 SO, 14 BB
- Rich Sauget (RP): .320 AVG, .415 OBP, .614 SLG
- Scott Shimanek (OF): .302 AVG, 4 HR, 33 RBIs
- J.J. Brock (RP): .317, 38 H, 22 RBIs, 62 OBP
- Mike Amrhein (LF): .317 AVG, 38 R, 43B, 31 SB
- Mike Arnoldi (LF): .318 AVG, 122B, 5 HR, 33 RBIs
- Dan Stavisky (SP): .317 AVG, 44 H, 40 RBI, 7 SB

Pitching Leaders
- Alex Shilliday (SP/RP): 2.75 ERA, 4-1, 39 IP, 34 SO, 14 BB
- Mike Brack (RP): 3.00 ERA, 5-1, 39 IP, 34 SO, 18 BB, 2 SV
- Daniel Schmalz (SP/RP): 2.75 ERA, 4-1, 39 IP, 34 SO, 14 BB
- Scott Shimanek (OF): .302 AVG, 4 HR, 33 RBIs
- Mike Amrhein (LF): .317 AVG, 38 R, 43B, 31 SB
- Mike Arnoldi (LF): .318 AVG, 122B, 5 HR, 33 RBIs
- Dan Stavisky (SP): .317 AVG, 44 H, 40 RBI, 7 SB

1996 Big East Baseball Standings

American Division
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>W</th>
<th>L</th>
<th>Pet.</th>
<th>GB</th>
<th>(Overall)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>St. John’s</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>.727</td>
<td>15-9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>West Virginia</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>.688</td>
<td>0.5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Providence</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>.500</td>
<td>2.5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Connecticut</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>.500</td>
<td>2.5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pittsburgh</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>.500</td>
<td>2.5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boston College</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>.091</td>
<td>7.5</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

National Division
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>W</th>
<th>L</th>
<th>Pet.</th>
<th>GB</th>
<th>(Overall)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Villanova</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>.846</td>
<td>15-11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Notre Dame</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>.600</td>
<td>3.5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rutgers</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>.600</td>
<td>3.5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Georgetown</td>
<td>9</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>.769</td>
<td>12-3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Seton Hall</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>.231</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Summer At Loyola

EARLY SESSION
Six weeks beginning May 17 (6 pm)

- Days, evening or weekend classes.
- Courses in business, arts and sciences, education, nursing.
- All courses applicable to Loyola University Chicago degrees.
- Classes held at Loyola’s Lake Shore (Chicago), Water Tower (Chicago), Medinah Country Club, Mallineckrodt (Wilmott) campuses.
- Convenient Touch-Tone registration (TTR) system.

LATE SESSION
Six weeks beginning June 28 (6 pm)

- Days, evening or weekend classes.
- Courses in business, arts and sciences, education, nursing.
- All courses applicable to Loyola University Chicago degrees.
- Classes held at Loyola’s Lake Shore (Chicago), Water Tower (Chicago), Medinah Country Club, Mallineckrodt (Wilmott) campuses.
- Convenient Touch-Tone registration (TTR) system.

*To receive your free copy of the 1996 Summer Sessions bulletin, return coupon or call (312) 915-6501.

THE SUMMER SESSIONS

Loyola University Chicago is an equal opportunity educator and employer ©1996 Loyola University of Chicago.
Saturday, Irish sponsored their first tournament, hosting Toledo, Dayton, Buffalo, Purdue and Indiana. The tournament showed how far the club has come in the past three years, as Notre Dame cruised to the championship despite frigid weather conditions.

But the rag-tag days of women’s lacrosse at Notre Dame appear to be over. While the ground-work was laid by seniors Martin and Erin Breen and junior Tara Pierce, much of the club’s success this year can be credited to its talented freshman and sophomores.

From the outset Saturday, it was the youngsters who led the way for the Irish. Freshman Stephanie Fox scored four goals as Notre Dame shut out Toledo 13-0 in their first game. Sophomore Amy McGann had three goals and several assists, while classmate Kara Winn combined with junior goalie Catherine Simons for the shut-out.

The next round against Purdue was much of the same. Sophomore Rachel Cain led the way with four goals. Fox added three, and McGann, senior Jill Piper and junior Mara Grady each had two goals as the Irish beat the Boilermakers 14-4. Dayton was no match for the club, as they picked up an easy 13-1 win over the Flyers to advance to the championship.

Junior attacker Tara Pierce was a dominating force on offense, firing five goals. Freshmen Margaret Cholis and Fox each added two scores.

After Indiana stunned Buffalo 7-4, the Hoosiers were the Irish’s next victims. In the closest, but coldest, game of the day, Notre Dame earned a 7-3 win to claim the championship. Freshmen Fox, Cholis and Terry Callahan scored quick goals to give the Irish an early lead. Callahan added three more in the second half to put the game away.

“We’ve beaten IU before, so we had confidence heading in to the game,” Callahan said. “We got some early goals so we could play with the lead, and just kept them out of it.”

Notre Dame travels to Whiton College Saturday, and then has the Women’s Collegiate Lacrosse League Playoffs at Toledo next weekend. Last year the Irish took third, falling to Ohio State.

VARIOUS
By MEGAN McGrath

Junior Tara Pierce’s (eight) efforts on and off the field have been crucial to the rise of the Notre Dame women’s lacrosse program.

Senior Jeff Wiese

The Notre Dame women’s lacrosse club has something to prove this year, and they are doing it at the hands of the rest of the lacrosse teams in the Midwest. In their attempt to achieve varsity status, the squad has dominated their competition en route to a 7-0 record.

Are you interested in International Business?
BA 491
Post-communist markets of Europe
Dr. Igor Grazin
11:45AM-1:00PM
M&F
call #4520

Sunday – “Take Back the Night March”
a march from ND to SMC against violence and crime beginning at Fieldhouse Mall with speakers and music ending at Dallmany’s Cafe for refreshments 6:30 PM

Monday – “When a Kiss is Not Just a Kiss”
an interactive play adapted for Notre Dame life* 7:00 PM in the Little Theater (SMC)

Tuesday – “Not Just Bad Sex: Rape on Campus”
a discussion with Melissa Desert from Washington University on the realities of sexual assault 7:00 PM in Carroll Auditorium, Madeleva (SMC)

Wednesday – “Verbal Consent and the Antioch College Sexual Offense Policy” a discussion with Karen Hall from Antioch College on their radical Sexual offense policy 7:00 PM in the Montgomery Room (LaFortune)

Thursday – “Ask the Administrator”
the Director of Residence Life, Jeff Shoup, discusses Notre Dame’s sexual offense policy 2:00 PM in the Dooley Room (LaFortune)

Sexual Assault Awareness Week
April 14 - 18

Transfer Orientation
Accepting Applications
for Transfer Orientation
Executive Staff Committee
Applications Available at Student Activities
3rd Floor of LaFortune

Application Deadline
Wednesday, April 17, 1996

Return Applications to Student Activities by 5:00.
CJ’s advances despite Hoover’s struggles, seeds see first action

By TIM MCCONN
Sports Writer

Build it and they will come.

This statement may apply to baseball, as Kevin Costner so aptly portrayed, but former varsity player Ryan Hoover and the 8th-ranked CJ’s Wooden Shoes discovered that this saying has its place in basketball as well.

Bookstore Basketball, that is. Despite the inclement weather conditions, the crowds flocked to Stepan courts yesterday to see the first-round battle between Hoover’s squad and Five Fresh Cocks. They came to watch the former Illinois high school and Notre Dame star show off his renowned long range prowess, this time out of his natural environment.

They did not exactly get what they expected.

In his first ever Bookstore Basketball experience, sharp-shooter Hoover and his teammates had a tough go of it. Hoover’s first shot of the game, an airball, proved to set the tone for the remainder of the contest. He and his teammates had trouble finding the basket from the outside throughout the game’s entirety. In fact, Hoover began the game by missing his first 6 shots before he finally hit a layup.

One fan was even overheard asking Hoover if he and his teammates were building a house.

“I couldn’t buy a basket,” exclaimed Hoover.

This seemed to fit into the strategy of the ‘Cocks.

“They were really tough,” said freshman Mike Wilcox. “We wanted to make him shoot from as far away as possible.”

Toward the end, Hoover began to sink a few. How ironic: it that he should hit a jumper to end the game 21-10.

Although Hoover was having his problems at the outset of the game, there was an even deeper plot thickening. This match had the intensity of a Final Four game, with plenty of trash-talking, diving for loose balls, elbows flying, and shoving to give all the fans a good show.

This high level of emotions led to a brief squabble that was broken up quite quickly by Bookstore commissioners and surrounding fans.

“We had to bust it up and take control,” commented commissioner Dan Delaney. “After that everything was fine.”

For their effort, the five freshmen earned the respect of Hoover.

“For a first-round opponent, they were really tough,” said Hoover. “That’s good, because we didn’t want to play anyone weak.”

Also making their first appearances of the tournament were second-seeded NBT III and 27th-seeded All the Presidents’ Men. NBT, last year’s runners-up, did not have quite as difficult a time, as they soundly defeated Yours is to Question 21-4.

Monk Malloy’s team, sans the priest/roundballer who usually does not participate in the tournament until the later rounds, advanced by beating Team 115-21-12.

“I was anxious to get things started,” stated sophomore Adin McCann, point guard for NBT. “We wanted to get this over and move on to the next round.”

Follow the Fighting Irish to Ireland

Visit the Cork Jazz Festival

October 25 - November 3
Join us for eight days in Ireland (two weekends and a week), featuring fresh entertainment, sightseeing, great jazz and Notre Dame football.

Only $2150 from Chicago* Only $1450 from Chicago*

For complete brochure, phone 1-800-638-9150 or (410) 224-2230.

The Bee and his garb exemplify the best that the early rounds of Bookstore Basketball action have to offer.

Bookstore Referees Needed.

Meeting tonight in the Foster Room in LaFortune.

9:00 PM $10 per game and all the heckling you can ever want guaranteed.

Hit the books this summer.
(And be better prepared for fall).

If you need to do some catching up or want to get a jump on fall, summer classes at Holy Cross College may be just the ticket.

Choose one or both sessions, each offering a wide variety of quality general education courses. And pay our summer tuition rate of just $150 per credit hour.

Take advantage of exceptionally small classes, a dedicated and caring faculty, and our convenient location just to the west of the University of Notre Dame campus. Credits earned are transferable.

You’ll enjoy summer activities even more, knowing that you’re also getting ahead in your studies. Write or call Holy Cross College today. Applications for Summer Sessions I and II, as well as for the 1996 Fall Semester, are now being accepted.

Session I – May 20 to June 27
Session II – July 1 to August 9

HOLY CROSS COLLEGE
Office of Admissions
P.O. Box 308 • Notre Dame, IN 46556
(219)239-8400, ext. 22 • Fax (219)233-7427
e-mail: hccadmis@gnn.com
Shown here in weekend action, O’Doyle Rules and Tons O’Bird had their eyes on the ball and a second round round berth. Only O’Doyles got their wish.

Now Open

CHESAPEAKE BAGEL BAKERY.

• Fresh Baked Bagels
• Homemade Soups & Salads
• Hot & Cold Deli Sandwiches
• Seating On Premises
• Open Early Seven Days A Week
• Gourmet Coffees
• Cappuccino & Espresso

Serving Central Pennsylvania

Grape Road

Indian Ridge

Sam’s Club

Venture

Graff Road

Northeast US 40-90

5920 Grape Road, Mishawaka, IN 46545
Phone: 219-272-9415 • Fax: 219-272-7775

Free

Buy 1 deli sandwich & get 1 of equal or lesser value

BUY 6 BAGELS AND GET 3 FREE

Must be purchased at time of purchase. Not valid with other offers or promotions. One per customer. Valid only at Grape Road. EXPIRES 5/20/96

TWEAK II vs. COORDINATION
Stepan 2, 6:15 p.m.
BRING OUT THE GIMP II vs. MBE
Stepan 3, 8:00 p.m.
SERIAL KILLA vs. EBRUPEPA,
Stepan 7, 6:15 p.m.

ABSOLUTE KURLIES vs. DR. SUGARDADEE
Bookstore 10, 6:15 p.m.

Tuesday, April 16, 1996
The Observer • SPORTS

Basketball

Team 367 def. 3 Germans, a Bucsa...
23-21
Maker don’t shoot def., Team 330, 21-14
Check in Box Out def., We’re Gonna Bubble
All Over..., 21-10
Chromy Projectile Cheeseholts def., Gastic
James, by forfeit
House of Shot def., Bumba Come, 21-5
Bloodbites Pestigangs def.,
Team 451, 21-10
Ain’t No Love, Part 3 def. One Round
Wonders, 21-4
Five Crossers def.,
Five Bored Guys, 21-15
Steve Miller’s Band def., 911 Recon Squad,
7-3
Prime Time def., MBS, 21-9
Kaptain Potter’s Bungalo, 21-1
Team 361 def., Jf and
Jogh Talkers, 21-10
Hesiodus def., Lucky 47, 21-1
Vince’s Lr Unit def., Vivacious Ball
Handlers, 21-9
Team 453 def. 4 under 6
and the Messiah, 21-17
Woody Harrison, Christopher def.,
What the Hell..., 21-2
5 Oscips from Hazard County def., Ladies down under, 21-7
Wandering Orlandoistics def.,
Team 104, 21-10
continued from page 20

overall success for the day. "(Sorota) did awesome," Cromer said. She won both singles and doubles. She played really well, to come off the court morning and then score two points for us."

Junior Ashley McArdle, #4 singles, said, "Their match was the deciding factor for us," McArdle said. "They were the only ones left on the court. It was a big win for them as a doubles team."

Sorota said that, after nearly five hours of testing, she just wanted to play tennis. "It wasn't a big deal," Sorota said. "It was a close match, and it was a good win for us. I wanted to just play our best tennis."

The Belles’ victory at Wheaton was a big win for the entire team. With the Midwest Invitational Tournament approaching this weekend, coupled with the expectation of an updated ranking today, SMC must be at the top of their game against strong teams if they hope to advance in both team and individual standings. Kozacik made progress to that end Saturday, beating Wheaton’s #1 singles, in a de­breaker, 7-6 (8-6) 6-2. To date, Kozacik, ranked twelfth in the Midwest, has beaten the thirteenth and the nineteenth ranked players in the region, losing only to two players tied for eleventh in the Midwest. Both Cromer and Kozacik have high expectations for the Midwest Invitational. However, before the tournament, the Belles travel to Greenca­stle, IN today for a match against DePauw, postponed earlier this season due to inclement weather. Though

SMC beat DePauw 6-3 in the fall season, that score is no indication of the team’s success today. Last fall, DePauw suffered the loss of their #1 singles player, Katy Lowe, to illness. A national contender as a sopho­more, Lowe has been one of Kozacik’s rivals for nearly a year.

"(Lowe) is a huge asset for (DePauw)," Kozacik said. "She is one of my personal rivals. DePauw is just one of those teams you love to beat."

While DePauw will be at full strength today, the Belles line­up will also return to complete capacity. For a month, fresh­men Betsy Gemmer and Morey Graham have stepped into the line-up to take up the slack that the absences of junior Anne Underwood and fresh­man Amy Fors left in the roster.

Today, Underwood will resume her position at #4 sin­gles, while Graham will move to the #6 spot. According to Sorota, the move should strengthen the Belles line-up against DePauw.

"I’m excited for Anne," Sorota said. "With her back, the line-up should be stronger, because Betsy will have had more experience that a lot of the competition at #6."

McArdle said that a win against DePauw could prove to be the impetus the Belles need clinch an invitation to the Midwest Tournament.

There are a lot of good teams (at the Invitational)," McArdle said. "If we beat DePauw, that will give us the confidence that we need."
CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Reply to an insult
5. Fleece
10. On vacation
14. Prefix with scope
19. Robert of "Gilligan's Island"
23. Theodor
25. MISTER BOFFO
30. CANS, CASSETTES, BASKETBALLS, DARTS
34. How to live In the Shadow of the Future
36. Cast Aside Doubts
37. And editors
41. Oscar winner
42. At the Moon
46. Florist
48. "Here, Tuesday, April 16, 1996 The Observer • FOUR FOOD GROUPS OF THE APOCALYPSE SCOTT ADAMS
49. "Wastage Rentals."
50. "How to live In the Shadow of the Future
53. "Ratatouille Spaghetti Pie"

DOWN
1. Shoe covers
3. Rosemary's Baby" author
4. Resilience
6. Biscuit
7. Beach moment
8. Abuse
9. Thus
11. Beside
12. chock, as a story
13. Overwhelm
14. Sherramsh
15. Waterless
17. First person in line
20. Dublin-born
21. Dallas-to-Austin
22. Prepare to fire

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

Sporit Item Aton
1. Eye soothers
2. 175-year-old canal
3. High-handed
4. Being a dummy
5. Boyfriend
6. Forest
7. Kudzu
8. Some chonsters
9. Old World animal with a ringed tail
10. Put ___ Happy
11. Guang ho
12. Frame score
13. Flattop
14. "Phegaming"
15. "Duck"
16. Miss
17. Earth of song
18. Tennis's Naismith
19. 532-bp lyer
20. Get answers to any three clues

Body Composition & Blood Pressure Testing

When: Monday, April 22, 11:30-1:00
Where: Foster Room, 3rd Floor LaFortune
Who: All Faculty, Staff & Students
Why: Learn more about your health
How: Contact Jennie Phillips
631-6100

OF INTEREST
Class of 1996, The map of the USA has been posted down in the Career & Placement Office to aid in your hunt for a position that interests you. If you have not checked it out yet, stop by today and see what opportunities are available for you.

MENU

Notre Dame
North
Beef Bourguignon
Bavarian-Italian Grilled Sole
Saint Mary's
Chicken Kiev
Cheesecake Tortellini

Reported for, reporters, photographers, and editors. Join The Observer staff.
SPORTS

No. 7 UW pulls rank on Irish

By KATHLEEN LOPEZ
Sports Writer

The eighth-ranked women's tennis team put up a gallant effort against the Badgers, but they just fell short. The Irish just could not put away the match, and watched their record fall to 1-8.

Irish head coach Jay Lounderback characterized the match, "It was a good college match, because there were no major blow-outs."

The doubles competition was a heated one. The Badgers and the Irish matched up well. In fact, two of the three doubles matches were so intense that they went to tie-breakers.

The No. 3 doubles team of sophomore Kelley Olson and freshman Marisa Velasco were quickly dismissed by their Wisconsin opponent, 1-8. The two had an off day, and basically could not get anything started.

Olson and Velasco tried to bounce back by making some big shots and trying to overpower their opponents in long rallies, but it was too little too late.

"The main problem is that we weren't making our returns."

Veterans and talented youngsters look ahead to 1996

By T. RYAN KENNEDY
Sports Writer

Senior Holyn Lord took a straight set singles win yesterday over Wisconsin...

Jeremy Akers will be the elder statesman of the 1996 Irish offensive line.

However, it is Jeremy Akers who provides the key experience. Akers has recently returned to the practice field with a mission. In a practice last September 6, he dislocated his kneecap, and was virtually out of commission for the rest of the year despite playing sparingly in the last two games. Then, shortly into the spring session, he sprained his shoulder. While it has been frustrating, Akers remains confident and helpful in the development of the underclassmen.

"I definitely think we have a strong line. We have seven who can block somebody. I'd like to see us without a let-down in a big game," said Moore who, like any Notre Dame coach, tends to raise expectations with his players.

But Moore, even with the loss of stars Ryan Levy and Dusty Zeigler, did acknowledge the line's depth. "As of now, we have seven who can play: Doughty, Akers, Kaczenski, Cleverenger, Kidder, Wisne, Rosenthal. Cleverenger is out all spring but will be ready in the fall, and Akers and Kilburg just returned."

According to Moore, if the Irish had to suit up today, Mike Rosenthal would start at right guard. However, Akers has recently returned to the practice field with a mission. In a practice last September 6, he dislocated his kneecap, and was virtually out of commission for the rest of the year despite playing sparingly in the last two games. Then, shortly into the spring session, he sprained his shoulder. While it has been frustrating, Akers remains confident and helpful in the development of the underclassmen.

"I definitely think we have a strong line. We could have more, but we are where we need to be."

According to Moore, if the Irish had to suit up today, Mike Rosenthal would start at right guard. "But Moore, even with the loss of stars Ryan Levy and Dusty Zeigler, did acknowledge the line's depth. "As of now, we have seven who can play: Doughty, Akers, Kaczenski, Cleverenger, Kidder, Wisne, Rosenthal. Cleverenger is out all spring but will be ready in the fall, and Akers and Kilburg just returned."

According to Moore, if the Irish had to suit up today, Mike Rosenthal would start at right guard. However, Akers has recently returned to the practice field with a mission. In a practice last September 6, he dislocated his kneecap, and was virtually out of commission for the rest of the year despite playing sparingly in the last two games. Then, shortly into the spring session, he sprained his shoulder. While it has been frustrating, Akers remains confident and helpful in the development of the underclassmen.

"I definitely think we have a strong line. We third consecutive win 5-4.

Sorota, a biology major at SMC, chose Wheaton for her test site in hopes of being finished in time for her 3 p.m. doubles match. The DAT began at 8 a.m., and Sorota took the court at 11:5 p.m.

According to Belles Head Coach Katie Cromer, Sorota's individual play proved to be an important factor in the team's overall success for the day.

Junior Nancy Sorota practices her backhand in preparation for last Saturday's match against Wheaton.

O-line looks to regain form

Veterans and talented youngsters look ahead to 1996

By STEPHANIE BUEK
Saint Mary's Sports Editor

Nancy Sorota took the Dental Aptitude Test Saturday, but that was only one of the tests she aced last weekend.

Down 4-4 in cold and windy conditions, the Saint Mary's #1 doubles team of Juniors Kate Kozacki and Sorota came through for the team in the clutch, taking Wheaton College to 8-6, and securing the Belles' third consecutive win 5-4.

Sorota, a biology major at SMC, chose Wheaton for her test site in hopes of being finished in time for her 3 p.m. doubles match. The DAT began at 8 a.m., and Sorota took the court at 11:5 p.m.

According to Belles Head Coach Katie Cromer, Sorota's individual play proved to be an important factor in the team's overall success for the day.

SMC, chose Wheaton for her test site in hopes of being finished in time for her 3 p.m. doubles match. The DAT began at 8 a.m., and Sorota took the court at 11:5 p.m.

According to Belles Head Coach Katie Cromer, Sorota's individual play proved to be an important factor in the team's overall success for the day.

Junior Nancy Sorota practices her backhand in preparation for last Saturday's match against Wheaton.

No. 7 UW pulls rank on Irish

By KATHLEEN LOPEZ
Sports Writer

The eighth-ranked women's tennis team put up a gallant effort against the Badgers, but they just fell short. The Irish just could not put away the match, and watched their record fall to 1-8.

Irish head coach Jay Lounderback characterized the match, "It was a good college match, because there were no major blow-outs."

The doubles competition was a heated one. The Badgers and the Irish matched up well. In fact, two of the three doubles matches were so intense that they went to tie-breakers.

The No. 3 doubles team of sophomore Kelley Olson and freshman Marisa Velasco were quickly dismissed by their Wisconsin opponent, 1-8. The two had an off day, and basically could not get anything started.

Olson and Velasco tried to bounce back by making some big shots and trying to overpower their opponents in long rallies, but it was too little too late.

"The main problem is that we weren't making our returns."

Veterans and talented youngsters look ahead to 1996

By T. RYAN KENNEDY
Sports Writer

Senior Holyn Lord took a straight set singles win yesterday over Wisconsin...

Jeremy Akers will be the elder statesman of the 1996 Irish offensive line.

However, it is Jeremy Akers who provides the key experience. Akers has recently returned to the practice field with a mission. In a practice last September 6, he dislocated his kneecap, and was virtually out of commission for the rest of the year despite playing sparingly in the last two games. Then, shortly into the spring session, he sprained his shoulder. While it has been frustrating, Akers remains confident and helpful in the development of the underclassmen.

"I definitely think we have a strong line. We could have more, but we are where we need to be."

According to Moore, if the Irish had to suit up today, Mike Rosenthal would start at right guard. However, Akers has recently returned to the practice field with a mission. In a practice last September 6, he dislocated his kneecap, and was virtually out of commission for the rest of the year despite playing sparingly in the last two games. Then, shortly into the spring session, he sprained his shoulder. While it has been frustrating, Akers remains confident and helpful in the development of the underclassmen.

"I definitely think we have a strong line. We third consecutive win 5-4.

Sorota, a biology major at SMC, chose Wheaton for her test site in hopes of being finished in time for her 3 p.m. doubles match. The DAT began at 8 a.m., and Sorota took the court at 11:5 p.m.

According to Belles Head Coach Katie Cromer, Sorota's individual play proved to be an important factor in the team's overall success for the day.

Junior Nancy Sorota practices her backhand in preparation for last Saturday's match against Wheaton.