ND, SMC continue traditions in rankings

University maintains upward trend, College stays in first

By MAUREEN HURLEY
Associate News Editor
and BRAD PRENDERGAST
News Editor

While Notre Dame continues to climb the rankings in a national magazine’s latest list of colleges and universities, Saint Mary’s position remains the same.

But that’s not too shabby, as the College claimed the top spot among liberal arts schools in the Midwest for the third consecutive year.

The results, which will hit the newsstands in U.S. News & World Report’s 10th annual America’s Best Colleges issue on Monday, ranked 1,422 schools based on the information provided in surveys of college presidents, deans and admissions directors; along with statistical data provided by the colleges.

Notre Dame tied for 17th among national universities, continuing a five-year trend of improving its position. After placing 26th in 1992, the University has finished 25th, 19th and 18th last year.

Saint Mary’s continued its hold on the top spot in its category, besting 135 Midwest liberal arts schools. The U.S. News and World Report survey has consistently listed Saint Mary’s in the top 10 of its class in the publication’s 10-year history.

There were 229 schools listed in the national category. Saint Mary’s has maintained its position, holding the top spot in its category for five consecutive years.

Washington University also was ranked 17th. The top university, according to the rankings, is Yale University, which topped Harvard for the first time in several years. After holding the top spot during those years, Harvard fell to third this year. Princeton finished second.

Fame and fortune.

Dave Shock, the coordinator of Crimestoppers, has the former, but not the latter.

Shock narrates the Crime of the Week that appears on three South Bend television stations and more than a half-dozen area radio stations, but his office is in a basement corner at the South Bend Police Department’s headquarters.

Of course, Shock’s filming fame doesn’t match that of Kevin Costner or Denzel Washington. But for a guy who spent 20 years working the night shift at the police station, becoming the head of Crimestoppers isn’t too bad.

ND student represents U.S. in Paralympics

By RUSSELL WILLIAMS
News Writer

For two weeks this summer, millions of Americans watched the Olympic Games in Atlanta on their television screens.

But for Notre Dame junior Tim Kistner, the opportunity presented by the Olympics went well beyond having an alternative to watching major league baseball on hot summer nights.

Kistner competed in the Paralympics, the two-week international competition for people with physical disabilities. As a member of the United States Paralympic soccer team, he had the rare opportunity of representing the country in international athletic competition.

Kistner has cerebral palsy, a disability resulting from a lack of oxygen to the brain before or during birth. As a result, Kistner experiences a lack of muscle coordination.

Kistner, who transferred to Notre Dame from Sam Houston State University in Texas last semester, has

Catholic lobby to visit SMC

By MAUREEN HURLEY
Associate News Editor

A national lobby organization will try tomorrow morning to make sense of election in an effort to inform voters about Catholic justice issues.

Network, a National Catholic Social Justice lobby with 25 years experience of lobbying in Washington, will sponsor its Election ’96 Workshop on the Saint Mary’s campus. The major focus of the event is to explore how political issues relate to Catholic social justice teaching.

Sister Regina McKilip, a Network lobbyist, will host the interactive, discussion-based workshop. The stop at Saint Mary’s campus also is an opportunity to learn about other political efforts, including the Catholic Vote Coalition and the Coalition for America’s Future.

There were 229 schools listed in the national category. Saint Mary’s has maintained its position, holding the top spot in its category for five consecutive years.

Washington University also was ranked 17th. The top university, according to the rankings, is Yale University, which topped Harvard for the first time in several years. After holding the top spot during those years, Harvard fell to third this year. Princeton finished second.

There were 229 schools listed in the national category. Saint Mary’s has maintained its position, holding the top spot in its category for five consecutive years.

Washington University also was ranked 17th. The top university, according to the rankings, is Yale University, which topped Harvard for the first time in several years. After holding the top spot during those years, Harvard fell to third this year. Princeton finished second.

The results, which will hit the newsstands in U.S. News & World Report’s 10th annual America’s Best Colleges issue on Monday, ranked 1,422 schools based on the information provided in surveys of college presidents, deans and admissions directors; along with statistical data provided by the colleges.

Notre Dame tied for 17th among national universities, continuing a five-year trend of improving its position. After placing 26th in 1992, the University has finished 25th, 19th and 18th last year.

Saint Mary’s continued its hold on the top spot in its category, besting 135 Midwest liberal arts schools. The U.S. News and World Report survey has consistently listed Saint Mary’s in the top 10 of its class in the publication’s 10-year history.

There were 229 schools listed in the national category. Saint Mary’s has maintained its position, holding the top spot in its category for five consecutive years.

Washington University also was ranked 17th. The top university, according to the rankings, is Yale University, which topped Harvard for the first time in several years. After holding the top spot during those years, Harvard fell to third this year. Princeton finished second.

The results, which will hit the newsstands in U.S. News & World Report’s 10th annual America’s Best Colleges issue on Monday, ranked 1,422 schools based on the information provided in surveys of college presidents, deans and admissions directors; along with statistical data provided by the colleges.

Notre Dame tied for 17th among national universities, continuing a five-year trend of improving its position. After placing 26th in 1992, the University has finished 25th, 19th and 18th last year.

Saint Mary’s continued its hold on the top spot in its category, besting 135 Midwest liberal arts schools. The U.S. News and World Report survey has consistently listed Saint Mary’s in the top 10 of its class in the publication’s 10-year history.

There were 229 schools listed in the national category. Saint Mary’s has maintained its position, holding the top spot in its category for five consecutive years.

Washington University also was ranked 17th. The top university, according to the rankings, is Yale University, which topped Harvard for the first time in several years. After holding the top spot during those years, Harvard fell to third this year. Princeton finished second.

Saint Mary’s continued its hold on the top spot in its category, besting 135 Midwest liberal arts schools. The U.S. News and World Report survey has consistently listed Saint Mary’s in the top 10 of its class in the publication’s 10-year history.

There were 229 schools listed in the national category. Saint Mary’s has maintained its position, holding the top spot in its category for five consecutive years.

Washington University also was ranked 17th. The top university, according to the rankings, is Yale University, which topped Harvard for the first time in several years. After holding the top spot during those years, Harvard fell to third this year. Princeton finished second.

Saint Mary’s continued its hold on the top spot in its category, besting 135 Midwest liberal arts schools. The U.S. News and World Report survey has consistently listed Saint Mary’s in the top 10 of its class in the publication’s 10-year history.

There were 229 schools listed in the national category. Saint Mary’s has maintained its position, holding the top spot in its category for five consecutive years.

Washington University also was ranked 17th. The top university, according to the rankings, is Yale University, which topped Harvard for the first time in several years. After holding the top spot during those years, Harvard fell to third this year. Princeton finished second.

Saint Mary’s continued its hold on the top spot in its category, besting 135 Midwest liberal arts schools. The U.S. News and World Report survey has consistently listed Saint Mary’s in the top 10 of its class in the publication’s 10-year history.

There were 229 schools listed in the national category. Saint Mary’s has maintained its position, holding the top spot in its category for five consecutive years.

Washington University also was ranked 17th. The top university, according to the rankings, is Yale University, which topped Harvard for the first time in several years. After holding the top spot during those years, Harvard fell to third this year. Princeton finished second.

Saint Mary’s continued its hold on the top spot in its category, besting 135 Midwest liberal arts schools. The U.S. News and World Report survey has consistently listed Saint Mary’s in the top 10 of its class in the publication’s 10-year history.

There were 229 schools listed in the national category. Saint Mary’s has maintained its position, holding the top spot in its category for five consecutive years.

Washington University also was ranked 17th. The top university, according to the rankings, is Yale University, which topped Harvard for the first time in several years. After holding the top spot during those years, Harvard fell to third this year. Princeton finished second.

Saint Mary’s continued its hold on the top spot in its category, besting 135 Midwest liberal arts schools. The U.S. News and World Report survey has consistently listed Saint Mary’s in the top 10 of its class in the publication’s 10-year history.

There were 229 schools listed in the national category. Saint Mary’s has maintained its position, holding the top spot in its category for five consecutive years.

Washington University also was ranked 17th. The top university, according to the rankings, is Yale University, which topped Harvard for the first time in several years. After holding the top spot during those years, Harvard fell to third this year. Princeton finished second.

Saint Mary’s continued its hold on the top spot in its category, besting 135 Midwest liberal arts schools. The U.S. News and World Report survey has consistently listed Saint Mary’s in the top 10 of its class in the publication’s 10-year history.

There were 229 schools listed in the national category. Saint Mary’s has maintained its position, holding the top spot in its category for five consecutive years.

Washington University also was ranked 17th. The top university, according to the rankings, is Yale University, which topped Harvard for the first time in several years. After holding the top spot during those years, Harvard fell to third this year. Princeton finished second.

Saint Mary’s continued its hold on the top spot in its category, besting 135 Midwest liberal arts schools. The U.S. News and World Report survey has consistently listed Saint Mary’s in the top 10 of its class in the publication’s 10-year history.

There were 229 schools listed in the national category. Saint Mary’s has maintained its position, holding the top spot in its category for five consecutive years.

Washington University also was ranked 17th. The top university, according to the rankings, is Yale University, which topped Harvard for the first time in several years. After holding the top spot during those years, Harvard fell to third this year. Princeton finished second.
Minority high school graduation rates increase

WASHINGTON

The high school completion rate for blacks between the ages of 25 and 29 rose to nearly 87 percent last year, reaching about the same level as their white peers for the first time, the Census Bureau said today.

That education level for all adults 25 and older reached nearly 82 percent — the highest since it was first measured by the bureau in 1947, a Census report said.

This is a very profound change in one of the country's most long-standing, deep-seated problems — the disparity between whites and blacks in education," said Michael Cessler, director of the Council of the Great City Schools, which represents the nation's 50 largest urban school districts.

He said he is not surprised by the finding because his group has seen evidence of this trend at the local level for some time. The gap has narrowed because schools, particularly in urban areas, have done more to keep students in school, have tailored programs for students who are faced with dropping out and work, or leave school because of pregnancy.

"Finally, the effects are showing up in minority statistics," he said.

The findings are based on data collected in the bureau's Current Population Survey in March 1995. Those questioned were asked to state the highest grade or degree they had completed. Education Secretary Richard Riley highlighted the findings of the census report in a study of youth indicators he released today.

A different list is for education goals. He said the goal is for urban students, and for those with educational problems, is to work for the highest grade or degree they can obtain.

The Census Bureau's report today is also the first to include a breakdown of the high school completion rates by race or ethnicity. It shows the completion rate for whites is 98 percent, up from 91 percent in 1978. The rate for blacks is 80 percent, up from 78 percent.

Apathy confronted

Apathy confronts a large portion of the student body at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College.

I traded in social justice for a chemistry book and never looked back.

It wasn't until sophomore year when I came to realize the importance of my sexuality that I truly realized the value of fighting for your ideals. Obviously I have chosen to spend a large portion of my life fighting for the equal rights of all oppressed groups.

If there's one thing everyone should learn at Notre Dame, it's that the students choose to live by their beliefs, not just pay lip service to our Catholic character.

Many students who choose to attend Catholic institutions will not be able to say that there is less hostility on campus than when I was a freshman questioning my sexuality.

The importance of our Catholic identity is on the decline. The im­portant thing is not what you do, but that you use your time on earth to fight for something.

Last year our campuses witnessed a remarkable thing. Students, faculty, and staff from both Notre Dame and Saint Mary's came together to demand respect and equality for gay, lesbian, and bisexual students. We, as Notre Dame passed resolutions condemning the administration's treatment of gay and lesbian students.

The remarkable thing was that very few of the students who protested were gay, lesbian, or bisexual. These were people with nothing at stake, but who were willing in great numbers to risk their careers for what they felt was right. They were able to create change. They were able to make a difference. Catholic campuses in the nation.

While few students would admit that the gay and lesbian issue is resolved, I can certainly say that there is less hostility on campus than when I was a freshman questioning my sexuality.

The administration has made a significant effort to improve the quality of life for its gay, lesbian, and bisexual students.

Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College both spent a lot of time talking about Catholic character. Unfortunately, neither institution had a cohesive plan for the term. Catholic character is not the headcount at Sunday mass, but instead the way the students choose to live their lives.

With programs on and off campus ranging from the Open Housing Coalition to the World Hunger Coalition, there are plenty of opportunities for students to get involved. Many of these programs are only a few months away and give you something extremely valuable: a real college education. If the only books you read are textbooks and the only letters you write are to your friends, you have wasted an incredible opportunity for a real education.

Does one thing everyone should learn at Catholic University is how to fight for your rights and more importantly how to fight for the rights of others in a time that we more than just pay lip service to our Catholic character.

This year's staff

Matthew Loughnan

Maureen Hurlay

Brad Fenderson

Tim McCorn

Grady

Brian Blank

Accent

Dan Czubala

The Observer is published Monday through Friday except holidays. The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

The views expressed in the Inside Column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.
Lending a Helping...Hogg

Six thousand leather-clad, tattooed, Harley-owning bikers packed a field on the north side of Michiana airport Sunday afternoon after riding 55 miles through Indiana countryside and back. They ate, drank, and listened to rock and roll. And they did it for charity.

The rally, in its 16th year annually, helped raise over $120,000 for the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA) and was run by ABATE, the American Bikers Aimed Toward Education, a political action group located regionally in Elkhart.

"We're just a group of people who band together and share a common interest. Because we have the numbers, we can do good things," volunteer Jim Berkshire said. But he and other bikers understand the misconception that many have of a "tough" biker image, one that is often untrue.

"It's too bad that bikers get such a bad rap. Most of the ones I know have the biggest hearts and would do anything for anyone, especially the kids (with muscular dystrophy) that we're helping today," ride participant Tara Miller of Mishawaka said. But Berkshire admits that some riders adhere to the stereotypical "fifties movie image."

"There is an element in cycling that wouldn't show up to this because it would destroy their image. We have to fight for this image," Berkshire said.

The children benefiting from the ride's proceeds all receive treatment at local hospitals in neighboring counties. Many attend a three day MDA camp organized by ABATE in June, and few ABATE volunteers can explain the event without restating that "it is all for the kids."

"It (cycling) represents a freedom to them that they will never have. Our goal is to never have to do this again — to find a cure. Then there will be a party," volunteer Judy Ecklebarger said.

Following the ride, many of the bikers found time to rest before the Charlie Daniels Band came onto stage.

The procession traveled right past campus down Route 31 on the course of their 55 mile ride for charity.
Shocked, a program that pays rewards of up to $1,000 for the arrest or indictment of suspects involved in a case, was a dream come true.

Before taking over the program in September 1995, Shock was working evenings four nights each week at a liquor store and going to school at Indiana University-South Bend on two other evenings.

"Honestly, I didn't know about Crimestoppers when I applied for the job," said Shock, who holds a degree in sociology and an associate's degree in law enforcement from IUSB. "Before, I was either working or sleeping. I didn't know what else was going on (in the Police Department).

"I had a lot of fun working at nights, there were some good times, and it was satisfying," Shock continued. "But it was repetitive. The year before (coming to Crimestoppers) I told my wife that I wanted to be more involved in community-type activities.

And now that is exactly what he does. Besides assisting 98 different law enforcement agencies in a 12-county area that includes St. Joseph County and extends into Michigan, Shock frequently appears at community functions. In the area that includes St. Joseph County and extends into Michigan, Shock frequently appears at community functions.

"He has used people from Sears, who he used to work with in the garage who work in the garage behind the police station. He's even used his wife to portray the victim or the suspect on several occasions, and his dog also has gotten into the act."

"I try to find somebody who resembles the victim or the suspect in the case," Shock said. "If you were to call me up and wanted to hire a reenactment, I'd try to match you with someone in the community."
Three seniors on display in Nebraska showcase

By JILLIAN M. PAGLIOCCA
West Writer.

During the first weekend of fall break, three Notre Dame seniors will find themselves in the company of royalty. Selected to participate in the 100th Ak-Sar-Ben Coronation Ball in Omaha, Neb., on Oct. 19, Elizabeth McCarthy, Michael Ruma and Kara Slowiaczek will represent their families in the honorary event. Each year, the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben — "Nebraska" spelled backwards — recognize outstanding leaders from across the state. Princesses, countesses, escorts and pages represent their families, who are recognized for their contributions to the region.

The self-sustaining, fund-raising event annually raises approximately $150,000 for the Ak-Sar-Ben four-year college scholarship program. "The Ak-Sar-Ben coronation is held each year to raise money for the Ak-Sar-Ben Youth Scholarship Fund and to honor families who have made special and distinctive contributions to their communities," said Teri Teutsch, chair of the Ak-Sar-Ben Women's Ball Committee.

Wearing the honorary title of "princess," McCarthy and Slowiaczek will join the 22 other princesses and 22 countesses named to this year's court. Ruma is one of 48 escorts among the 21 to 26 year olds participating.

During the televised ball, the king and queen of Ak-Sar-Ben will be crowned. The king, who is chosen based on community contributions, and the queen, who is selected from among those designed "princesses," will represent the organization at a variety of events in the coming year.

Established in 1895, the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben declared their mission "to build a more prosperous Heartland, where communities can flourish and every child can succeed." Their name was suggested by one of the founding fathers of the organization, who perceived that "everything seems to be going backwards these days."

Over the past four decades, the organization has contributed approximately $24 million to various agricultural, civic, charitable and educational endeavors. Scholarships have been awarded to youths since 1945, in excess of $10 million. Ak-Sar-Ben's traditional Coronation Ball is the major source of funds for the scholarship program.

The hype for the event is considerable. Although the members of the court were notified of their selection last spring, it was not until August that the selections were made public. "It's supposed to be a big secret," explained McCarthy.

At a gathering of the young women in August, windows and doors of the boutique where the meeting took place were covered to keep the identities of the women under wraps. For the young men involved in the pageant, this is a chance for them to make career connections. Through a mentoring program which matches them with businessmen and leaders from the region, escorts are able to make contact with established professionals chosen because of their civic involvement.
The Observer • CAMPUS NEWS
Friday, September 6, 1996

Kistner

continued from page 1

followed in his father Tom’s footsteps, who graduated from Notre Dame in 1965. The Houston native and Fisher Hall resident started playing soccer in sixth grade. “As a student at the University of Houston, my sister met some- one who was involved in dis- abled sports, so she introduced me to him,” Kistner said. As an eighth-grader in 1990, Kistner first played soccer compet- itively. One year later, dur- ing the summer of 1991, his contributions to a Houston area team consisting of players with similar disabilities won the Texas state title.

Later that same summer, Kistner was chosen to compete for the prestigious United States Paralympic soccer team. The team consisted of players with similar disabilities who won the national 400 meter track record for athletes with cerebral palsy.

His first tournament as a Paralympic team member was the Paralympic trials in the United Kingdom, where the team defeated France for its win over.

Following the trials, the team moved to Barcelona to compete in the 1992 Paralympics. Although the team finished eighth in an eight-team field, the Barcelona Paralympics provided the first chance for the United States to field such a soccer team.

Kistner and his teammates did not work out again until 1995, when the team held a spring training camp at the University of Georgia. Following the spring camp and a summer practice session in Dallas, the team traveled to Argentina to compete in the Pan-American Paralympic games.

The team around, the team put on a strong showing, finishing third.

“Argentina was one of the best trips I’ve had. We went 2-1 and won the bronze medal! In addition, our hats were very kind to us,” Kistner said.

Kistner was one of only three players from the Barcelona Paralympic team to be selected to play in the 1996 Paralympics. In Atlanta, the team was placed in a pool with Brazil, Russia, and Ireland. The team advanced to the medal round based on strong showings against Ireland and Brazil.

“We beat Ireland 3-0 and Brazil 3-1, and that was very rewarding. No one thought we were capable of winning any games at all,” Kistner said.

The team then lost to Spain in the consolation match, finishing fourth out of eight teams.

“It was an emotional letdown to lose, because we lost a 1-0 lead in the second-half,” Kistner said.

Kistner has experienced many special moments as a Paralympic soccer player off the field as well. During a break at the 1995 Paralympic Festival in Colorado Springs, Kistner met Carl Lewis and Dan O’Brien. And before the game versus Brazil in Atlanta, Kistner and his teammates got to meet with world famous soccer player and former Brazilian star, Pele.

“Thai still hasn’t registered yet. It was so exciting to meet him,” Kistner said.

In addition, our hosts were very kind to us,” Kistner said.

Aside from being a soccer player, Kistner set the national 400 meter track record for athletes with cerebral palsy.

But Kistner eventually gave up track to focus on soccer. “I would run and work out with the track teams at Sam Houston State and here at Notre Dame, but when it came time to compete, I was all alone and couldn’t participate.”

But Kistner doesn’t feel remorse for the decision to give up track and focus on soccer. “We have a great group of guys on the soccer team and I saw some great potential. I have made three or four really strong friend- ships with guys on the team,” Kistner said.

Football Ticket Exchange

Extended to ALL Games!!!

The Athletic Department and the Athletic Resources Department of Student Government announce a ticket exchange program for all six games in ’96.

Each student ticket holder may exchange up to 2 student tickets for GA's during the season, plus a $16 exchange fee.

How many tickets are available??

September 14 vs. Purdue - 400 tickets
September 28 vs. Ohio State - 400 tickets
October 12 vs. Washington - 300 tickets
October 19 vs. Air Force - 300 tickets
November 16 vs. Pittsburgh - 400 tickets
November 23 vs. Rutgers - 400 tickets

• All persons exchanging tickets must be present at time of exchange

Remember that exchanges take place on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of the week prior to the game at the Joyce Center ticket office.

Questions? Call Student Government at 1-6283
France supports U.S. attack on Iraq

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

PARIS
Buoyed by Britain's strong support of America's military actions in Iraq, Secretary of State Warren Christopher today won limited support from France in patrolling no-fly zones over Iraq.

However, French planes will not operate in the newly expanded area in the south, which reaches to the outskirts of Baghdad. In this respect, Christopher's back-to-back meetings with President Jacques Chirac and Foreign Minister Herve de Charette fell short of U.S. objectives.

Beginning Monday, French crews will join the United States and Britain in making sure Iraqi warplanes do not enter the old zones and menace Kurds and Shiites in the safe havens below, the French Foreign Ministry announced.

"The United States welcomes the continuation of France's participation as an important member of the coalition," State Department spokesman Nicholas Burns said.

The French statement said Christopher had "confirmed the end of the American operation 'Desert Strike' in Iraq"—referring to the attack of Iraqi military targets by cruise missiles. However, a senior U.S. official, insisting on anonymity, said Christopher had not given any assurance to the French ruling out any further U.S. strikes.

And Burns said, "American policy and American action will be based very much on what Saddam Hussein does. The United States does retain any option ... in the future to counter the efforts of Saddam Hussein."

"The United States intends to enforce the new zone," Christopher declared after meeting with de Charette. France has been sharply critical of the U.S. military actions this week in Iraq.

French air crews not only have refused to venture into the extended Iraqi no-fly zone in the south, but also have not flown the full expanse of the old zone, according to a French spokesman—an apparent protest of U.S. policy.

U.S. denied access to Turkey

By ZEYNEP ALEMDOAR
Associated Press Writer

ANKARA, Turkey
In Washington's eyes, Turkey used to be a staunch ally that opened its air bases to U.S. jets fighting in the Gulf War.

Six years later, led by a prime minister from an Islamic party, Turkey appears less willing to cooperate with the United States in its missions against Baghdad.

U.S. aircraft have bombed Iraqi positions this week after Baghdad sent troops to dislodge an Iraqi Kurdish faction from the main city in northern Iraq.

Prime Minister Necmettin Erbakan has remained silent about the attacks, but Abdullah Senor, the finance minister and a close Erbakan aide, criticized the U.S. offensive—apparently on Erbakan's behalf.

"The problems of a certain region must be handled by the countries which belong to that region," Senor said. "I do not think it is healthy for some countries to see themselves as the single resolver" of problems.

Come to your Class Mass

Sunday, September 8, 1996
at the Grotto
8:00pm

Fr. Joe Ross, C.S.C. Presider

Hey Sophomores!!!

RHA MEETING

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 9
9:15 P.M.

COME AND GET INVOLVED.
PIZZA AND BREADSTICKS WILL BE PROVIDED...

 Election '96 Workshop
1:30 - 3:00 p.m.
Sun., Sept. 8
Free Food!!!

Bargains & Treasures Galore
Historic District Yard Sale
W. Washington & Chapin Sts.
Across from Northern Indiana Historical Society
Saturday, September 7th
8 am - 5 pm
Raindate: Sunday, Sept. 8

Jazzman's Nite Club
535 N Hill St
233-8505
MULTI-LEVEL - 2 LARGE DANCE FLOORS presents
FRIDAY'S MEN NIGHT

All men admitted free before 11 pm; free admission all night to anyone wearing a tool pouch

MONDAYS AND TUESDAYS in PENNY NIGHT all night at Jazzman's!
The Observer

Fran moves in on Carolinas

By EMERY DALESIO
Associated Press Writer

WILMINGTON, N.C. Hurricane Fran came ashore at Cape Fear on Thursday, battering the Carolinas with 115 mph winds, ripping apart trees and blowing rain sideways as thousands of people scrambled for safety.

Fran accelerated and veered slightly to the east before the north wall of its 25-mile-wide eye passed over the cape just before 9 p.m. and channeled up the Cape Fear River to Wilmington, about 45 miles to the north.

"The wind has been screaming, blasting through here. But right now it's calm," Grover Gore, 65, said as the hurricane's eye passed over him in Southport, near the mouth of the river.

Gusts as high as 120 mph were reported as the brunt of the storm's worst winds were tearing up Wilmington and the storm's most destructive winds were slamming into the building, said David Paynter, a spokesman for New Hanover County.

At any rate, they were stuck; it wasn't safe for rescue officials to try to reach them, Paynter said.

More than a half-million tourists and residents had been ordered to evacuate the coast in North and South Carolina as Fran drew near, leaving a string of deserted beach towns.

"Believe you me, we wanted to get out of there," said Audrey Landers, who fled her townhouse a block from the ocean with her neighbors and their children. They took shelter at a high school in Conway, S.C., 15 miles inland.

Hurricane warnings were posted from Edisto Beach, S.C., to the Virginia line. People living as far inland as West Virginia were warned to expect tropical storm-force winds and 5 to 10 inches of rain.

Waves were crashing 10 feet high along the shore at Myrtle Beach, where the usually bustling Ocean Boulevard was deserted and driving was all but impossible with sheets of rain blown horizontal by gusts reaching 55 mph.

In North Topsail Beach, one of the beach towns hardest hit by Hurricane Bertha in July, a double-wide mobile home housing the town hall and police station either washed or was blown away.

One motorist, a 66-year-old woman from Conway, was killed when her car hit standing water and flew down an embankment into a tree.

More than 9,000 people in both the Carolinas took refuge in hundreds of shelters.

In Calabash, just above the state line, Thomas Wynn's neighbors headed the mandatory evacuation, but the 72-year-old World War II veteran decided to ride out the storm in his wood frame house. "I've been under fire before," he said.

Lynn High, owner of Calabash Marina and Storage, pulled boats out of the water, put plywood over windows, then took off — with memories of Hurricanes Hugo on her mind.

That huge storm caused almost $8 billion in damage, mostly in South Carolina, and killed 35 people as it tore through the Caribbean and up the East Coast.

The Observer

is accepting applications for the following paid position:

Viewpoint Editor

Applications should have editorial writing skills, editing skills, and an ability to deal with the public. The Viewpoint manager manages a staff of copy and layout editors and columnists. The manager also decides the content each day.

Applications due Monday by 5 p.m.

Call Liz Foran at 631-4542 for information.

Sheranigans

NOTRE DAME’S ONLY SINGING AND DANCING ENSEMBLE

ANNOUNCES
EXTENDED AUDITIONS
One Night Only!

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1996
8:45-10:45 p.m.

Call 1-5896 for an audition time!

- Positions available for men and women singers and dancers
- Over 15 performances a year
- Only 6 hours per week
- Members of all Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s choirs are encouraged to audition

The Observer • NEWS

Friday, September 6, 1996

WFRN Concert Update

Twila Paris
with Special Guest
Aaron Jeffrety & Avalon
SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 8
Elco Theatre • Elko, N.
TICKETS: $12.50/$10
Tickets on Sale - Monday, July 29

JD Sumner & the Stamps
SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 14
First Church of God
Sharon, N.
TICKETS: $14 in advance • $16 on Sale - Monday, August 5

Kathy Troccoli and Phillips, Craig & Dean
with Special Guest Scott Kettapane
THURSDAY, OCTOBER 3
Kokomo High School
Kokomo, IN
TICKETS: $10 in advance • $13 on Sale - Monday, August 26

Jim Cole & Kelly Willard
FRIDAY, OCTOBER 4
First Baptist Church • Pesotum, IL
TICKETS: $10 in advance • $12 on Sale - Saturday, August 30

Michael Card & Wes King
SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 17
Kokomo High School
Kokomo, IN
TICKETS: $10 in advance • $13 on Sale - Friday, October 4

For tickets call WFRN Radio
219-674-4090 • 219-875-5166 • 800-522-WFRN

ONE NIGHT SOCCER TOURNAMENT
THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 12
6:00 - STEPAN CENTER
OPEN TO ALL NOTRE DAME STUDENTS
FIELD IS 60 YD. BY 40 YD.
5 ON 5 PLUS GOALIE
REGISTER A TEAM IN THE RECREATION OFFICE
DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11
6:00 - STEPAN CENTER
Tickets on Sale - Monday, August 26
NICKETS: $13.50/$11.50

Tickets on Sale - Monday, July 29
NCKETS: $8.50

Tickets on Sale - Monday, August 5
TICKETS: $8.50

Tickets on Sale - Saturday, August 21
TICKETS: $12.50/$10.50

'Thanksgiving Tournament' - November elections.

Election

continued from page 1

The number one rank three years in a row.

In a new feature to the college issue, schools in the national category were ranked according to value. To figure this, researchers computed a predicted graduation rate, based on entrance exam scores and congressional races will be discussed, in order to discover the candidates' true stand on each of the issues, and what voters can do to make their voices heard, according to Oestreich.

"All morning, we’ll look at issues in the 1996 campaign, and see where the candidates fall in terms of Catholic teaching," said Oestreich. "It’s really important that students take part in this, since it will be the first time most of them will take part in a national election.

The workshop will take place tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the Lourdes Assembly Hall on the Saint Mary’s campus.

Election

continued from page 1

Mary’s is the first of a tour around the nation before the November elections.

Sponsored by the Sisters of the Holy Cross Justice Committee, this weekend’s Network workshop is intended to provide an inside view to "looking at legislation through the lens of Catholic social teaching," said Sister Ann Oestreich, justice coordinator of the Sisters of the Holy Cross.

A wide range of issues and their impact on the upcoming elections in both presidential

Rankings

continued from page 1

and congressional races will be discussed, in order to discover the candidates' true stand on each of the issues, and what voters can do to make their voices heard, according to Oestreich.

"All morning, we’ll look at issues in the 1996 campaign, and see where the candidates fall in terms of Catholic teaching," said Oestreich. "It’s really important that students take part in this, since it will be the first time most of them will take part in a national election.

The workshop will take place tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the Lourdes Assembly Hall on the Saint Mary’s campus.

Election

continued from page 1

Mary’s is the first of a tour around the nation before the November elections.

Sponsored by the Sisters of the Holy Cross Justice Committee, this weekend’s Network workshop is intended to provide an inside view to "looking at legislation through the lens of Catholic social teaching," said Sister Ann Oestreich, justice coordinator of the Sisters of the Holy Cross.

A wide range of issues and their impact on the upcoming elections in both presidential

Rankings

continued from page 1

and congressional races will be discussed, in order to discover the candidates' true stand on each of the issues, and what voters can do to make their voices heard, according to Oestreich.

"All morning, we’ll look at issues in the 1996 campaign, and see where the candidates fall in terms of Catholic teaching," said Oestreich. "It’s really important that students take part in this, since it will be the first time most of them will take part in a national election.

The workshop will take place tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the Lourdes Assembly Hall on the Saint Mary’s campus.
Congress debates shutdown

By JIM ABRAMS  Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON

Just days after returning to work, Congress is behind schedule in passing spending bills and Republicans and Democrats already are passing around blame in case there is another government shutdown.

Senate Majority Leader Trent Lott, R-Miss., accused Democrats on Thursday of stalling action on appropriation bills with an eye to creating an issue in the presidential election. "I have a sneaking suspicion there is a slow roll of a lifetime. Just transfer or roll over $25,000 or more into a Prudential Securities IRA by September 30, and we'll cover your annual custodial fee for life. And that means more money working even harder for your retirement.

But just because this IRA comes with no fee, doesn't mean it comes with no advice. A Prudential Securities Financial Advisor is always there to help make sure you're meeting your investment goals.

And our lifetime no-custodial fee IRA provides you the perfect opportunity to consolidate your retirement funds in one place, making it easier to keep track of them. So call today for more information about our IRA program.

Prudential Securities is offering you the opportunity of a lifetime. Just transfer or roll over $25,000 or more into a Prudential Securities IRA by September 30 and we'll wave the annual custodial fee for life. And that means more money working even harder for your retirement.

But just because this IRA comes with no fee, doesn't mean it comes with no advice. A Prudential Securities Financial Advisor is always there to help make sure you're meeting your investment goals.

And our lifetime no-custodial fee IRA provides you the perfect opportunity to consolidate your retirement funds in one place, making it easier to keep track of them. So call today for more information about our IRA program.

Prudential Securities

Thomas J. Derwent
Financial Advisor
431 East Colfax Avenue, Suite 100
South Bend, IN 46617
219-236-4700 or 800-548-2323

The Observer • WASHINGTON NEWS  page 9
Macintosh. More flexible than ever.

We don't know how you'll fill in the blank. That's why we make Macintosh computers so flexible. To help you be the first to do whatever you want to do.

And with word processing, easy Internet access, powerful multimedia and cross-platform compatibility, a Mac makes it even easier to do it. How do you get started? Visit your campus computer store today and pick up a Mac.

You want to be the first to...

---

Related Articles:
- Yeltsin set for heart surgery
- Macintosh. More flexible than ever.
- Madagascar president resigns
- Shiites suspected in bombing
- Yeltsin set for heart surgery

---

Madagascar president resigns

Associated Press Writer

ANTANANARIVO, Madagascar

The president of this Indian Ocean nation said Thursday that he will resign next month, ending two years of political squabbling with a bolder parliament that sought to oust him.

President Albert Zafy's announcement came an hour after Madagascar's top court upheld a move by lawmakers to force him from office. He said he would resign effective Oct. 10.

The National Assembly, angered at a 1995 presidential referendum that significantly diminished its powers, voted a month ago to oust Zafy. The High Constitutional Court upheld the vote Thursday but did not set a date for a new presidential election.

It said Prime Minister Norbert Ratirahonana would serve as chief executive in the interim.

Frustration between Zafy and parliament dates to 1994, when he and then-prime minister Francisque Ravony barked at an economic over­haul ordered by the International Monetary Fund and World Bank as a condi­tion for future financial aid.

The overhaul, backed by Ravony, would have frozen pay for government workers and led to big layoffs in the public sector. Zafy bristled at the plan, considering the changes a challenge to Madagascar's sovereignty.

Last month, security sources in Saudi Arabia said investigators had made no arrests in the June 25 bombing of a military housing complex near the eastern city of Dharan. They denied a claim by an opposition group, the London-based Movement for Islamic Reform in Arabia, that six suspects were under arrest and had confessed to the attack.

A previously unknown Saudi Shiite dissident group said Thursday that Saudi authorities had made no arrests in the crackdown in which hundreds of people were arrested.

The Grouping of Hejazi Clergymen said most of the arrests took place during the two days that followed the bombing.

Shiites make up about 2 million of the 12 million Saudi pop­ulation. They complain they face job discrimination, have limited freedom of movement inside the country, and are not allowed to travel outside.

The June bombing was the second in less than a year in the oil-rich kingdom. In November, five Americans and two Indians were killed in a car bombing at a U.S.-run military facility in the Saudi capital.

By ANWAR FARUQI

Associated Press Writer

DUBAI, United Arab Emirates

Saudi authorities are holding 40 Shiite Muslims in connection with the June bombing that killed 19 American airmen in Saudi Arabia, security sources in Saudi Arabia said Thursday.

The sources said the Shiites were among an unspecified number of people in custody for questioning. They said suspects are routinely questioned and released.

Last month, security sources in Saudi Arabia said investiga­tors made no arrests in the June 25 bombing of a military housing complex near the eastern city of Dharan. They denied a claim by an opposition group, the London-based Movement for Islamic Reform in Arabia, that six suspects were under arrest and had confessed to the attack.

A previously unknown Saudi Shiite dissident group said Thursday that Saudi authorities had made no arrests in the crackdown in which hundreds of people were arrested.

The Grouping of Hejazi Clergymen said most of the arrests took place during the two days that followed the bombing.

Shiites make up about 2 million of the 12 million Saudi pop­ulation. They complain they face job discrimination, have limited freedom of movement inside the country, and are not allowed to travel outside.

The June bombing was the second in less than a year in the oil-rich kingdom. In November, five Americans and two Indians were killed in a car bombing at a U.S.-run military facility in the Saudi capital.

You want to be the first to...

---

Related Articles:
- Yeltsin set for heart surgery
- Macintosh. More flexible than ever.
- Madagascar president resigns
- Shiites suspected in bombing
- Yeltsin set for heart surgery

---

Yeltsin set for heart surgery

By SERGEI SHARGORODSKY

Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW

Ending months of speculation, Boris Yeltsin acknowledged Thursday that the rumors are true. He has serious health problems and will undergo heart surgery later this month.

"I want us to have a society of truth. We should not conceal what has been concealed before," Yeltsin said in the interview.

The 65-year-old president then closed his eyes and said medical tests showed he was suffering from heart disease. The head of the presidential press service, Igor Ignatyev, said the tests were done last month.

The doctors gave Yeltsin two choices: an operation or a more subdued routine — "more pas­sive work," as the president put it. "I have never been satisfied by passive work and I will not be satisfied by it now," he said.

"Therefore, it is better for me to have an operation."

---

Appearing LIVE at the MADISON OYSTER BAR

402 EAST MADISON

SOUTH BEND, IN (219) 288-1776

Fri., September 6: Off the Wall Blues (blues)

Sat., September 7: Lovey Howl (classic rock)

HALF PRICE COVER WITH STUDENT ID

DAILY SPECIALS

SERVING EXCELLENT FOOD til 1 a.m.

WEDNESDAYS: open mic jam

THURSDAYS: reggae

FRIDAYS: blues

SATURDAYS:

classic rock - alternative - retro

national and regional acts

---

You want to be the first to...

---

Related Articles:
- Yeltsin set for heart surgery
- Macintosh. More flexible than ever.
- Madagascar president resigns
- Shiites suspected in bombing
- Yeltsin set for heart surgery

---

You want to be the first to...

---

Related Articles:
- Yeltsin set for heart surgery
- Macintosh. More flexible than ever.
- Madagascar president resigns
- Shiites suspected in bombing
- Yeltsin set for heart surgery

---
When my roommate got out of his car, I have noticed the Notre Dame situation developed on campus. We do not like the alcohol policy or rooms without cable television. We do like our freedom to say what we think, and the prison term, just so we could say with surety that we would face the police and the riot gear and the tear gas and the prison term, just to say what we think, when all that could be avoided through simple silence. Given that, we ought to use words like "freedom" and "rights" with greater care."

F ew of us could say with certainty that we could say with surety that we would face the police and the riot gear and the tear gas and the prison term, just to say what we think, when all that could be avoided through simple silence. Given that, we ought to use words like "freedom" and "rights" with greater care.

The point is this, and there’s no real way of getting around it. Few of us could say with surety that we would face the police, the riot gear, the tear gas and the prison term, just to say what we think, when all that could be avoided through simple silence. Given that, we ought to use words like “freedom” and "rights" with greater care.

I don’t think there will be a shotgun in the living room of our house any time soon. I think we’ll leave the lights on and get a dog (Darby O’Gill — we will call him). Once in a while, we’ll remember that we are living on borrowed time. We don’t have to fight for our “freedom” or “rights.” It was our tremendous good fortune to have that done for us a long time ago.

Christopher Regan is a senior Arts and Letters major.

"F orme to Seoul, Korea, students risk peace to preserve their rights"

Christopher Regan

the lines of a baseball bat.

We were over it as a household. Someone wanted to move out. Someone wanted to put up lights. Someone wanted to buy a gun. Someone wanted to see if we could train the mold in the shower to eat intruders. Someone wanted to say with surety that we could say with certainty that we would face the police and the riot gear and the tear gas and the prison term, just to say what we think, when all that could be avoided through simple silence. Given that, we ought to use words like “freedom” and “rights” with greater care."

We talked it over as a household. When my roommate got out of his car,...

...we were doing it for money or a real sense of either nation the students were involved in. He was just walking to the door. As he turned around, he wasn't both—

...willing to run the risks of ND avenue between my roommates and friends, fighting the good fight on St. Louis street much in the way the French did in 1789, the Union in 1864 and of course, Martin Luther King in 1968, I’d like to talk about a very different situation. It’s college kids risking something for freedom, but it’s half a world away, in South Korea. The stakes in Seoul were vastly higher than those in the Bend.Violent student demonstrations were associated with the summer anniversary of Korea’s liberation. The demonstrations focused at Yonsei University in Seoul. By most accounts the students were communist agitators interested in unifying with the North. The protests became more violent as they progressed over several days. Both the police and the students used clubs, tear gas and other chemical agents as a siege situation developed on campus. The students were barricaded indoors for several days without food. Over 150 students were injured, some quite seriously.

...the students are now being prosecuted under Korea’s National Security Law, which allows anyone supposedly socialist views to be jailed, even if they do so peacefully. Prior to this summer’s riots, the Seoul government prohibited demonstrations pertaining to Korean unification. The press releases from the Seoul government prohibited demonstrations pertaining to Korean unification. The press releases from the Seoul government prohibited demonstrations pertaining to Korean unification. The press releases from the Seoul government prohibited demonstrations pertaining to Korean unification. The press releases from the Seoul government prohibited demonstrations pertaining to Korean unification.

...of the students are now being prosecuted under Korea’s National Security Law, which allows anyone supposedly socialist views to be jailed, even if they do so peacefully. Prior to this summer’s riots, the Seoul government prohibited demonstrations pertaining to Korean unification. The press releases from the Seoul government prohibited demonstrations pertaining to Korean unification. The press releases from the Seoul government prohibited demonstrations pertaining to Korean unification. The press releases from the Seoul government prohibited demonstrations pertaining to Korean unification. The press releases from the Seoul government prohibited demonstrations pertaining to Korean unification.
Once a year, it happens. Like the running of the bulls in Pamplona or the return of the sparrows to Capistrano. It is a tradition filled with mystique and reverence, one that must not be taken lightly by the chosen ones who participate in it.

It is the annual rite of fall known as football ticket distribution, and is a celebrated event in the passage from football novice freshman to die-hard upperclassman.

But what is it all about? What's the big deal? Do the best tickets really go to the first ones in line? Can anyone really justify crashing out on cement and being assaulted by pesky mosquitoes and security guards just for football tickets?

And why was I stuck with the all-night shift for the second year in a row? Once again, found myself hunkering down, pillow, and various caloric laden snacks from Lyons to Gate 10 of the JACC in preparation for a hard night's work of sitting around socializing with several hundred of my classmates while anxiously awaiting the morning's prime event: the arrival of Coach Lou Holtz with dining hall donuts at some obscene early hour of the morning.

My part of the cohort, whom I'll call Erin (you can call her that too), and I sat down to assess the situation when we took our "shift" at 10 p.m. Tuesday night. I would like to note that for the second straight year, we chose to get our tickets with a large group of males who very graciously worked 2 hour increments and then left us to cover the next 12 hours. And you thought childhood was dead.

By midnight, the majority of the groups of students had arrived with gear in tow and had made something that looked like it might have been a line from the doors and around both sides of the large tree planters. Actually, "line" is stretching it — more like Woodstock but with "The Shirt" and University blankets replacing tie-dyes.

Our male companions decided to call it a night by 12:30 a.m., so Erin and I set off to unveil the mystery of the attraction of camping out for tickets. Our mission started at the back of the line with a group of late starters that arrived at about 10 p.m. We found Tejal Mehta, Chriisa Harley, Janice O'Connell, Nina Pagnotti and Molly Gibson enjoying an appetizing combination of Papa John's crick in the neck.

Down the line, we found first-time camper Shari Nemeth whose group had arrived at around 5 p.m. that night. "It's pretty crazy," Nemeth said, "but security is ridiculous. It's been fun, though, I don't get to see a lot of these people too often!"

Just about everyone we talked to had some kind of run-in with security during the course of waiting in line, most of which had to do with confiscation of various life-threatening items such as Busch Light and futons. Why anyone would bother to confiscate Busch is beyond me.

In a night by 12:30 a.m., so Erin and I set off to unveil the mystery of the attraction of camping out for tickets. Our mission started at the back of the line with a group of late starters that arrived at about 10 p.m. We found Tejal Mehta, Chriisa Harley, Janice O'Connell, Nina Pagnotti and Molly Gibson enjoying an appetizing combination of Papa John's

By MELANIE WATERS
Assistant Sports Editor
It out at the JACK

I'm all parts of yet another timeless Notre Dame tradition

wore't technically "forming a line." "We were there forever," McCarthy said. "We'd been up for like 24 hours and we finally got out of the car at about 7 a.m. (Wednesday.)"

Smelling lovely, I presume, the group worked in shifts, most of them had regraduated from the "big party" overnight. The course, hours and hours of sitting required lots of nutrition, which at least one security guard seemed to understand.

"They told us to just keep our beer in the car and go back to get more," said Clinton. Everyone agreed that insecuri-ty is a concern that seriously needs to be reconsidered. While some guards permitted alco-hol since just about anyone was in line, others confiscated coolers, cases, and our stashes.

Unfortunately, no matter how many guards there were, there were forever," McCarthy said.

Finally got out of the car at about 7 a.m. While many members of group numero uno were sacked and/or passed out against the heralded locked doors of Gate 10, we were able to talk to Chris Sikora, Jim Korczak, Camille Clinton, Maureen Nugent, and the actual first person to get in line, Tom Threadgold.

The group took its place at about 6:30 a.m., and while Sikora said they had one other group that also worked feverishly, they weren't technically "forming a line." "We (Wednesday)."

By this time it was after 3 a.m., the thick of the camp-out experience. Maybe it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.

After a few failed attempts at a rousing song, it was because of the huge percentage of Notre Dame students, but by this point near-ly everyone was horizontal for one reason or another. Boring, boring, boring.
NOTICES

SATURDAY NIGHT STOMP BOB at Brigitte's - 10:00 pm special appearance by GLUB
Entertainment Enterprises Co.
HM: M-Th 11-1 Sat. 10-2
You break it, we'll fix it!

THAT PRETTY PLACE, Federal Ind. has space available for rent. Has private baths, $70 - $90, Breakfast Inn has space available
Call 1-800-242-5285 for more information.

THURSDAY, AUG 4
VOLUNTEER NEEDED.
The Early Childhood Development Center has programs at St. Mary's Hospital. The program is for parents interested in becoming Volunteer for the children. volunteering at the Center.

يزناء

WANTED: 3 black cows (not pedigreed)
WANTED: 2 center box seats for
dave m. black crowes concert in Prague, Budapest, or Krakow. No European swimmers. Call 243-5934.

искать советов по разным вопросам.

PERSONAL

\begin{itemize}
  \item \textbf{WANTED HELP: $25-35 per hour.
  Work part-time. Flexible.
  No experience required.
  Majors welcome.}
  \item \textbf{WANTED: White cows must be at least 2 at 6 update to 8. Call [219] 289-4529.}
  \item \textbf{Need spending $5 City News needs carriers to deliver morning papers at 6:00 a.m. GM students and French majors welcome. Pay hourly.
  Call 256-1407 after 6 pm.}
\end{itemize}

Outback Steakhouse GPA
Resident has a low position still available for outside individuals interested in the following positions:
waitstaff, host, and busser. No Football season is under way and sales are increasing. Come and Sign up for Afternoon shift.

NATIONAL PARKS HIRING
Position are available at National Parks, Forests, Wildlife Preserves. Excellent benefits - beginning wage. Call 1-800-1111 ext 1111.

ALASKA SUMMER EMPLOYMENT
18-24 year old for employment.
Call 606-971-3510 ext 055457

EASTERN EUROPE JOBS
Teach basic conversational English in Ireland and other European countries to Teaching certification or English Language Exams.
Call 1-800-1111 ext 1111.

Make money selling great American Home Products. Call
1-800-242-5285

Earn extra money for this minimum-wage day. Student carriers are needed to help us deliver the morning papers all over the dorms for this school year.
Thank you for your interest.

1750 N. Dewart St.
1-800-242-5285

LOST & FOUND

LOST - a camera at Bridgette's.
Needs carriers to deliver morning papers at 6:00 a.m. We need carriers to deliver morning papers at 6:00 a.m. GM students and French majors welcome. Pay hourly.
Call 256-1407 after 6 pm.

Lost - need A Bed?
219-271-2837

Headsboard included. Asking $275
Mattress, Boxspring, and 273-2812

FOR SALE

219-271-2837

NEED: 5 PURDUE GAs
Matt.
NEED 1  PURDUE TICKET
NEED 3 RESERVED SEAT tickets
Can you sell us ND - UT tix? call
Lee @ 271-2845. Make an offer!

WANTED TO BUY OHIO STATE
BALL TIX FOR WASHINGTON
JENNIFER. 616-925-0629

ATTENTION: The Class of 1998 is seeking any information about the recent disappearance of Chey in the St. Buff Office.
Recent ads have implicated us in the crime, and we wish to clear our names of any wrongdoing. We wish to work with the family of the deceased Chey.

35$ HARRY VAST measurement.
1523 LINCOLN WESTWOOD S
B & M - FAVORITES.

Are you stressed and tense?
For light exercise, try Tai Chi, Sunday 10-12; 5-7 pm.
Look for club sign in front of the Old

50$ SWIM COACH- ASSISTANT
WILL BARGAIN. CALL 258-6056

YOU CAN CALL 273-6929

FOR SALE!! 687-8435

WANTED TO TRADE IGA OR STUDENT TIX.
Call to (303) 543-9534.

WANTED: SMU tix for sale...Call Tony x0500

WANTED: Need Advice? Classes? Clubs?
LaFortune. Expert replies promised.
Call 1-5382.

Need Advice? Classes? Clubs?
LaFortune. Expert replies promised.
Call 1-5382.

WANTED: Student Ticket books!
I need student Ticket books!
NEED 1  PURDUE TICKET
WANTED: Student Ticket books!
I need student Ticket books!

NEED 2 PURDUE TICKETS FOR OSU GAs - 273-8379.

WANTED: Purdue tickets!
Need 2 Purdue tickets!
NEED 5 PURDUE, 5 OHIO STATE, 2 AIR FORCE, AND 2 WASH. Call 913-541-3240

NEED 2 PURDUE, 2 OHIO STATE, AND 2 AIR FORCE TIX. WILL PAY $50.00 EACH.

ATTENTION: THE OBSERVER is war. One week, no questions asked. Come on over and see what we're all about.

You can call 258-6056.

Who needs a bed?
219-271-2837

$2500. CALL 272-4562

I NEED FOOTBALL GA'S!
I need football GA's for all games for the 1993 Alum needs 1 GA or student tix.
Sept. 21 Call 1-800-840-3548

WANTED: 2 center box seats for
Dave M. Black Crowes concert in Prague, Budapest, or Krakow. No
European swimmers. Call for tickets.

WANTED: Smith Corona, GREAT COND
317-942-2408.

NEED 2 PURDUE GAs
Matt.
NEED 1  PURDUE TICKET
NEED 3 RESERVED SEAT tickets
Can you sell us ND - UT tix? call
Lee @ 271-2845. Make an offer!

WANTED TO BUY OHIO STATE
BALL TIX FOR WASHINGTON
JENNIFER. 616-925-0629

ATTENTION: The Class of 1998 is seeking any information about the recent disappearance of Chey in the St. Buff Office.
Recent ads have implicated us in the crime, and we wish to clear our names of any wrongdoing. We wish to work with the family of the deceased Chey.

$500 HARRY VAST measurement.
1523 LINCOLN WESTWOOD S
B & M - FAVORITES.

Are you stressed and tense?
For light exercise, try Tai Chi, Sunday 10-12; 5-7 pm.
Look for club sign in front of the Old

50$ SWIM COACH- ASSISTANT
WILL BARGAIN. CALL 258-6056

YOU CAN CALL 273-6929

FOR SALE!! 687-8435

WANTED: Need Advice? Classes? Clubs?
LaFortune. Expert replies promised.
Call 1-5382.
Save Additional $50 with Student ID!

YAMAHA Techno-Organic Mini-Component System

One look tells you the GX-5 is no ordinary component system. Its bold, curvy, techno designs leaves the usual boxy component stereos far behind and it's got the sound to match. Start with a powerful amp, add Yamaha's unique Active Servo Technology (YST) that delivers stunning bass response, and throw in a seven-band graphic equalizer with four music presets, three location mode settings and four user memories—now that's versatility! And the Spectrum Analyzer display gives you a "picture" of the music as it plays. You've got plenty of listening choices, too, beginning with a high-performance CD changer. It holds three CDs and even lets you change two while the third continues to play. Not one, but two cassette decks and an AM/FM tuner add to your enjoyment. The GX-5: fun to use, great to look at, and fabulous to listen to—what more could you ask for?

35 Watts/ch of Real Power!

YAMAHA CG-75

NATURAL SOUND MINI COMPONENT SYSTEM

SIMPLY THE BEST!
state of the art

NOW ONLY 69995
REG: 79995

55 Watts/ch RMS
THD: 0.08%, I BIT DAC

ALLTRONICS AUDIO/VIDEO SPECIALTY STORE BEST SERVICE DEPT.
3915 GRAPE RD., MISHAWAKA ONE BLOCK SOUTH FROM DAY ROAD IN FRONT OF BASNEY HONDA
277-1801
Iron Mike helps Seldon fulfill ‘dream’

By TIM DAHLBERG

Associated Press

LAS VEGAS

From the moment Bruce Seldon walked into a place of the heavyweight title 17 months ago, he knew the day was coming.

Now that it’s almost here, Seldon almost has to pinch himself to believe what he’ll be doing Saturday night.

“I will be stepping into the ring with Iron Mike Tyson,” Seldon said. “This is something I’ve dreamed of a long time.”

It may be a short-lived dream, if oddsmakers are correct with Iron Mike Tyson’s odds.

Seldon (30-3, 29 knockouts) has a good left jab and hits harder enough to win his last nine fights by knockout.

But he has a suspect chin as evidenced by his first round knockout loss to former champion Riddick Bowe in August 1991 and has not fought many fighters approaching the caliber of Tyson.

“I’ve fought guys with better jabs than him,” Tyson said. “I’ve never looked at the jab as as big an asset as most guys do.”

Tyson, on the other hand, is just Tyson, a ferocious puncher who is easily the most feared fighter of his time.

“I’m in the hurt business,” Tyson said. “This is what I do.”

Seldon and Tyson were supposed to meet July 13, but Tyson pulled out the week before because of bronchitis. It was the second time in three weeks that Tyson postponed a fight.

“Word got back to him that I was in shape,” Seldon said. “At one point, I thought he was taking me lightly, then 10 days before the fight he postponed the fight.

“I’ve dreamed of a long time,” Seldon said about his chances to retain the WBA title he won April 8, 1995, against Tony Tucker.

“I’ll be stepping into the ring for what I think is the biggest fight of my life,” Tyson said of Seldon. “It’s going to be the biggest fight I’ve ever been in.”

Tyson said. “This is what I do.”

It was the second time in three weeks that Tyson postponed a fight, a far cry from the $5 million he’ll make against Tyson.

“I have to be confident. I have to feel this way because I’m a champion,” Seldon said Thursday. “I feel Mike Tyson is not going to beat me, not going to take my title.

Seldon, who won his title only two weeks after Tyson was released from prison, has defended it only once, stopping an outclassed Joe Hipp in the ninth round.

He got $700,000 for that fight, a far cry from the $5 million he’ll make against Tyson. Not that he’s not grateful, of course.

“I’d truly like to thank you, bro,” Seldon said to Tyson at Thursday’s final pre-fight press conference. “It’s been a long time waiting for this fight.

Seldon (30-3, 29 knockouts) owns a good left jab and hits hard enough to win his last
Big Four Classic offers Irish stiff competition

By JOE CAVATO

Sports Writer

Friday, September 6, 1996

The Joyce Center will host the Big Four Classic, an annual volleyball tournament featuring some of the Big East Conference's top teams. The tournament, which kicks off Friday and Saturday, will offer Notre Dame's volleyball team a chance to test their skills against some of the nation's top competitors.

The tournament will feature four teams: Notre Dame, UCLA, Stanford, and Kentucky. The Irish will face off against UCLA and Stanford, two of the nation's top teams, while the Cardinals will play against UCLA and Stanford, two of the nation's top teams.

Notre Dame's volleyball team, ranked second in the country, will face UCLA in their opening match. The Bruins, who have already defeated the Irish in the last two meetings, will provide a stiff challenge for the Irish.

The Irish will then face off against Stanford, who are currently ranked fourth in the country. The Cardinal's have already defeated the Irish in the last two meetings, and will likely provide a tough test for the Irish.

Notre Dame's volleyball team will also face off against Kentucky, who are currently ranked sixth in the country. The Wildcats have already defeated the Irish in the last two meetings, and will likely provide a tough test for the Irish.

The Big Four Classic will offer Notre Dame's volleyball team a chance to test their skills against some of the nation's top competitors. The tournament will be a great opportunity for the Irish to gain valuable experience and prepare for their upcoming matches.

The Joyce Center will host the Big Four Classic on Friday and Saturday, with matches scheduled for 7:30 PM and 9:30 PM. Fans are encouraged to come out and support the Irish as they take on some of the top teams in the country.
Irish ready to calm Storm of Big East

Powerful St.
John’s travels to South Bend

By BRIAN REINTHALER
Sports Writer

On Saturday evening, the highest ranked men’s soccer team in the Big East conference will walk onto Alumni Field. No, the Irish, with their 2-0 record, have not come quite that far as of yet, but with a win over the reigning Big East Tournament champion St. John’s Red Storm, they would be on their way.

St. John’s comes into town with an identical 2-0 record and nine of the eleven starters that banded Notre Dame a 6-0 drubbing a year ago. At the first half of last season, the Red Storm led 2-0 and had held the Irish in just one shot on goal. Everything simply went downhill from there, which is why it is so important for the team to get off to quick start tomorrow.

The Blue and Gold have had no problem starting fast in their first two games this season. In the opening game at Providence, they smothered the Friars throughout most of the first half and took a 1-0 lead that they would not relinquish. On Tuesday, the Wildcats of Northwestern fell victim to the tenacious first half play of the Irish and recorded just one shot on goalie Greg Velho.

One ought not forget how ever, that this is not Northwestern or Providence. This is a squad that finished 16-5-1 overall with a 6-3-1 record to a slow 0-3. The forward played most of the second half against Northwestern and contributed a goal and an assist to what was an excellent team effort overall.

This is a squad that finished the 1996 campaign. One of them is starting goalie Kris DaCosta, who posted a 0.88 goals against average and nine of the eleven starters were each named to the first team all Big East squad last year.

The team is the Big East Conference’s highest ranked men’s soccer team. They led 2-0 and had 16 shots on goal. Everything simply went downhill from there, which is why it is so important for the team to get off to quick start tomorrow.

The Blue and Gold have had no problem starting fast in their first two games this season. In the opening game at Providence, they smothered the Friars throughout most of the first half and took a 1-0 lead that they would not relinquish. On Tuesday, the Wildcats of Northwestern fell victim to the tenacious first half play of the Irish and recorded just one shot on goalie Greg Velho.

One ought not forget however, that this is not Northwestern or Providence. This is a squad that finished 16-5-1 overall with a 6-3-1 record to a slow 0-3. The forward played most of the second half against Northwestern and contributed a goal and an assist to what was an excellent team effort overall.

The other offensive standout in Tuesday’s game was senior midfielder Konstantin Koloskov, who was the beneficiary of Aris’ assist. St. John’s has the firepower to open the game up front to blow a game open early and then suffocate its opposition with a swarming defense. Should the Irish hope to compete with the Red Storm tomorrow evening, they will have to play a full 90 minutes of in-your-face soccer. The defense will have to remain stingy and Velho will need to come up big in his first real test of the 1996 campaign.

Belles seek redemption

By KELLY COUGHLIN
Sports Writer

It wasn’t quite the way they wanted to open their season at home.

In a match against Illinois-Wesleyan Wednesday, the Belles soccer team plummeted to a 2-0 loss, lowering their record to a slow 0-3.

“We played the first half a little slow,” coach Bob Sharp explained. “We were in confusion and experienced a few let-downs.”

After allowing Illinois-Wesleyan to score three goals on his team in the first half, Sharp began to experiment with alternate line-ups. He eventually developed a sound and well-balanced combination to come back and shut out their opponents in the second half.

“In the second half we passed as a team,” senior forward Jolie Pokorny said. “We proved our capabilities through passing and talking as a team. We kept our heads in the game.”

Sharp hopes his team will develop their offensive play to add to his strong defense combination in the Belles’ weekend game against Wheaton.

“If we can come back on Saturday with the same aggression we showed in the second half against I-W,” Pokorny said, “then we hope to come home with a win.”

Refrigerators for Rent

2.5 CU FT $45.00
4.0 CU FT $50.00
10 CU FT $900.00

Pick-up and Delivery available

Burns Rent Alls Inc.
332 W. Mishawaka Ave.
(corner of Mishawaka Ave. and Liberty Dr.)
219-259-2833

Spin Doctor

S

She came bounding into one of our on-campus information sessions about a year ago, an engineering undergrad carrying a bag of dismantled hard drives.

“Look,” she said, and pointed out a subtle inefficiency in the servo mechanism, which to that day, only our top engineers had recognized.

Then she gave us a half hour lecture on how to fix it, and we told her about state-of-the-art labs; she launched into a monologue about data storage and what we should be doing about it, so we told her what we are doing about it.

She said there’s a lot of work to be done, and we invited her to join us, and do it. And since then, she’s taken storage technology to the Nth degree.

Y

Helped revolutionize how portable hard drives work.
Which brings us back to campus. This semester we’re scouting the country again, looking for more spirited people and ideas.
We’re pushing this company to the Nth degree.
And you can take us there.
Respect
continued from page 24

team fares on the road.

Petrucelli is fairly optimistic about the schedule.
In fact, he believes that they might even have the advantage when it comes to the schedule. "Playing on the road is sometimes easier," he said. "There are less crowds at the football games, parents, and classes. This is the time when the team can really focus on the game. Since the Final Four is not in South Bend, we have to be prepared to play
to well on the road.

This is where having a tough road schedule becomes an advantage."

The Irish lost three key players to graduation this year, so they are looking for a large num-
ner of freshmen to step in.
Freshman Jen Grubb will command the defense, as she steps in at sweeper. She brings a lot to the team. Grubb is known for her speed and maturity on the field.

"We are trying a brand new system in the back," said Grubb. "This one is easier than man to man. I am the leadership in the back, which is hard because, I am the youngest."

The Irish are trying more of a zone defense, and trying to stay from the man to man coverage. This allows for less breakaways and one on one opportunities.

To Grubb's left is senior defender Kate Fischer. Fisher is a relatively quiet player with a strong left foot.

Another defensive standout is junior Kate Soberro.
Soberro is a key player in the team's new system because she is known as a marking back, and she can shutdown anyone.

"We are running a zone this year which takes a lot of communication," said Petrucelli. "People will have a strong back line with two veterans on the outside, and then the freshmen in the center."

The Irish have one of the most talented and stacked midfields in the country. "In the midfield, we have some extremely talented players. You find two potential candidates for player of the year in Mathei
d and Daws. Not to mention Shannon Boxx is a really great player for us," said
Petrucelli.

"We have the best all-around midfielder in the country," said Manthei.
The Irish plan to use the midfield to their advantage.
Manthei will join Daws in the middle of the field.
They will command things from the center. Freshman Kara Brown will start at right midfield where she has a lot to offer the Irish. She is intense and quick on the outside.

"The strength of the mid-field lies in that we have four different players with four different strengths," stated Manthei. "Daws has really good vision, while Streiffer has good distribution skills. Brown and I are good at keeping balls in the penalty box."

Senior Amy VanLaecke and sophomore Monica Gerardo will lead the Irish up front. VanLaecke made the move from defense to forward towards the end of last season, and made an immediate impact.

She has already made her presence known with five goals last weekend against Providence and Boston College. Also she was named Big East Offensive Player of the Week.

Gerardo led the Irish with 20 goals last year. "I played up top with Monica last year," stated VanLaecke. "She is a great finsher and she takes people on well.

Also making an appearance in the offensive lineup will be freshman Jenny Streiffer. Streiffer also fairied pretty well in her first weekend, and she was named Big East Rookie of the Week. "Jenny will be a great addition," stated VanLaecke about her teammates' potential. "She can come in and play consist-tently."

Capturing the Irish this year will once again be senior Jen Renola and Daws. Renola will be the starting goalkeeper once again. She holds the record of 13 shutouts set last year.
Daws is known for her winning goal winning goal last year to clinch the NCAA championship for the Irish.
She also has been a two time All-American. "This year they are stronger and better leaders than they were last year," remarked
Petrucelli.

The true test of the Irish will come in the first two weeks of October, when they play University of North Carolina and Duke.

North Carolina who returns all of its starting lineup except for one, is currently the top ranked team in the country."

When Notre Dame arrives in Durham, it will be the midpoint in the season basically for everyone," stated Duke head coach Bill Hempen.
"A lot will come from that weekend. It will make or break a team."

Duke, who is currently ranked seventh, also should be a formidable opponent for the Irish.

"Notre Dame finds itself in the same position that North Carolina was in a couple of years ago," said Hempen.

"When playing Notre Dame you can not focus on individual because they will hurt you with another player.
They have so many weapons, that they can hurt you from anywhere.

Sophomore Shannon Boxx (above) is a vital cog in the machine that is the talented group of Irish midfielders, including two-time All-American Cindy Daws and potential Player-of-the-Year candidate Holly Manthei, that will help the Irish vie for their second consecutive national championship. Freshman Jenny Streiffer (right), one of the many talented first year players joining this year's squad, debuted in her new Irish uniform by being named Big East Rookie of the Week based on her performances from last week. Lastly sophomore Monica Gerardo
(below), who was a Soccer America freshman All-American honoroee last season, will team with junior Amy VanLaecke to form a very formidable and lethal duo on the front line for the Irish.
Welcome Back to Campus

Students

The Notre Dame Varsity Shop has grown to better serve you. Please come visit our newly remodeled store in the Joyce Center Fieldhouse.

Bring in the coupon below and receive:

10% off original priced merchandise

"Specializing in Authentic Notre Dame Sportswear."

Use this coupon to receive 10% off original priced merchandise

Cannot be used on "The Shirt '96"

Cannot be used in conjunction with any other coupons. Varsity shop Hours: Monday through Friday • 11 a.m. - 5 p.m. / Sunday • 1 p.m. - 4 p.m.
Defensive domination offsets fumbles, mistakes

Joe VILLinski
Assistant Sports Editor

NASVILLE: It seems as if the Notre Dame backfield should have only two words for their team-mates on the other side of the ball. While "you're awesome" might fit the bill, "thank you" would seem more appropriate.

The defensive efforts only became magnified in light of the four fumbles. The usually sure-handed Edwards made up for his mistakes, but it was not the play of the Notre Dame front seven that allowed him to do so.

Head coach Lou Holtz does not tolerate fumbles and reminds his team that as a junior defensive back, he coughed it up on Notre Dame's fourth offensive play from scrimmage.

Farmer would then be used sparingly the rest of the game as Autry Denson received a bulk of the time at the backfield position.

The plan was to utilize Denson at the flanker spot, but when Farmer could not step up in Randy Kinder's absence, Denson would not be looking to catch passes the rest of the night.

Late in the third quarter Farmer's number was called again and again the senior tailback displayed his tendency to drop the ball. He fumbled on a one yard run up the middle.

That's when the defense would rise to the challenge. After giving up their first two fumbles of the game, the Commodores did capitalize, but that does not take away from Notre Dame's defense. The Commodores put up an early season challenge in a game predicted not to be as close as it turned out.

"I want to compliment Vanderbilt," Holtz added. "I think they gave a tremendous effort. I thought they played an outstanding game."

"I think their coaching staff did an outstanding job in having them ready for their open game."

Vanderbilt has a great defense," quarterback Ron Powlus said. "We knew that. They are a good team, no doubt about it. There was no underestimation. They are just a good team."

However, not a good enough team to cause seven fumbles, four that were recovered. In 1993, the Irish only lost five fumbles all year.

It was not to be. The Irish could have suffered their second straight opening season defeat, because no one else could keep the ball in their hands.

Happy 21st Birthday, Aud!

ATTENTION

Quality Hair Care

* Special Haircut Rates For College Students
* Haircut For Only $7.00 (With Student ID)
* Shampoo, Cut, & Blow Dry Only $11.00

Just Call & Say You Are a Student 256-9585 For Appointment Mon.-Fri. 9:00-5:00 Sat. 9:00-5:00

BECOME A CATHOLIC

Sacred Heart Parish
University of Notre Dame

Offers R.C.I.A. with:
- Parish setting on ND campus
- Wednesday evening sessions
- Alternative to Campus Ministry R.C.I.A.

Call Chris Miller at 631-7508

Welcome Students

You are invited to:

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH
333 N. Main St., South Bend

WORSHIP SERVICES
- 8:45 a.m.
- 11:00 a.m.

FALL KICK-OFF CELEBRATION
Sunday, September 8, 1996

SUNDAY SCHOOL
For All Ages
9:45 a.m.

YOUNG ADULTS’ SPECIAL ACTIVITIES following 11 a.m. worship
September 8: Ice Cream Social and Pizza lunch on Church front lawn
September 15: "Out to Lunch" (meet at back of sanctuary) - look for the "Young Adults’ Rio" sign - call the Church Office to let the young adults know you’ll be picking up
November 13: "Young Adult BBQ" - phone to let the young adults know you’ll be picking up
December 10: "Young Adult Snowball" - phone to let the young adults know you’ll be picking up Visit your campus computer store for the best deals on a Mac.

Notre Dame Computer Store Room 112 OGCIS • 631-7477
Monday - Friday 8am - 5pm

*Both the 5400 and 9000 include built in ethernet and 25 foot RJ-45 network cables.
Free one-year Apple warranty.
over the success to the second," Wynn said. "We wanted to bring it to a higher level."

"It was soaking wet out there," said Edwards. "But when I get the ball, it's my responsibility to hold it." He betrayed that responsibility at the 13:13 mark of the final quarter, fumbling at his own 22.

Again, the defense responded, forcing a 3rd and 37. However, Ivory Covington's 5'8" frame betrayed him, and he lost a jump ball in the end zone to Yoder. Brett Speaksman's extra-point put the Commodores ahead.

As for Game Day, coach Holtz said to me, "Now we'll find out just what kind of team we are." A resilient one, it appears.

Vanderbilt returned the fumbling favor with 4:12 left and the game was pretty much finished.

"We played as a team and we won as a team," Wynn summarized.

Although he coughed up the ball twice, fullback Marc Edwards redeemed himself by scoring the game-winning touchdown.

FIGHTIN' IRISH GAME DAY REPORT CARD

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>OFFENSE</th>
<th>DEFENSE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>QUARTERBACKS</td>
<td>DEFENSIVE LINEMEN</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B</td>
<td>A</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ron Powlus started off slow, but he settled down to lead the Irish down the field on the game-winning drive.</td>
<td>Renaldo Wynn, Melvin Dansby, and company kept constant pressure on the Vandy quarterback while allowing a net 2 yards rushing.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RUNNING BACKS</td>
<td>LINEBACKERS</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C-</td>
<td>A</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fumbles plagued this unit from the outset. Even the sure-handed Edwards had trouble holding on to the ball. That is, until he scored the winning touchdown.</td>
<td>The 'backers were constantly swarming the ballcarriers, and blitzed with abandon when called upon.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>WIDE RECEIVERS</td>
<td>SECONDARY</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B+</td>
<td>B+</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>This group showed they could step up in Derrick Mayes' absence. Malcolm Johnson showed flashes of brilliance, but a couple drops hurt.</td>
<td>Only mistake was the touchdown pass. Other than that, the DB's covered well and hit hard. Jarvis Edison's interception kept the Commodores from gaining the early momentum.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>COACHING</td>
<td>SPECIAL TEAMS</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B</td>
<td>B+</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dave's defensive troops were ready to take on the world, while the offense was stagnant for much of the night.</td>
<td>Cengia's missed field goal could have proven costly, but Holtz may have found a gem in Sanson.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

FIGHTIN STARS – FINAL STATS

OFFENSE

- Ron Powlus – 19 for 32, 216 yards passing
- Mark Edwards – 22 for 84 yards rushing
- Autry Denson – 19 for 59 yards rushing
- Emmett Mosely – 6 receptions 55 yards
- Malcolm Johnson – 4 receptions 69 yards

DEFENSE

- Renaldo Wynn – 4 tackles, 2 sacks
- Melvin Dansby – 2 tackles, 1.5 sacks, 3 assists
- Bert Berry – 4 tackles, 2 sacks
- Kory Minor – 3 tackles, 4 assists, 0.5 sacks
- Ivory Covington – 5 tackles

GPA FOR GAME 1

3.30

INTRODUCING AT
L.S. AYRES

cK be. The new fragrance for people. Calvin Klein

L.S. AYRES
SPORTS Weekend

On the Defensive

Irish 'drop' the Commodores

By TIM SHERMAN
Sports Editor

NASHVILLE
Marc Edwards and Robert Farmer seemingly tried as hard as they could to let Vanderbilt perform a "Northwestern." Fortunately, the Notre Dame defense simply would not allow another season-opening loss.

Seven Irish fumbles, four of which they lost, and a 50-yard fourth quarter Todd Yoder touchdown grab put the Irish on the brink of having their national championship aspirations disappear, but a crucial late fourth quarter touchdown grab put the Irish in command.

Throughout much of the off-season and even during fall camp, the newly-installed "Blarney" offense had been the source of substantial hype.

Judging by the play of the first half, the offense was exactly that — type.

Or at least the execution was. Actually, helplessness may have been a better word.

"We just didn't execute all that well at times," Holtz noted.

"We had some openings, but didn't execute.

Though the Irish did manage to accumulate 190 yards in the first half and ten first downs, it was the errors they committed that led to a half at just three points.

"The mistakes were mind-boggling," Holtz admitted. "The fumbles, the penalties, everything."

Those gaffes started early, as senior tailback Robert Farmer, starting in place of the injured Randy Kinder, fumbled on Notre Dame's fourth play from scrimmage.

A zany play ensued, as free safety Jarvis Edison returned a Damian Allen interception from the ND 38, only to fumble. Melvin Dansby fell on the loose ball.

The next series typified the type of half Notre Dame experienced on the offensive side of the ball.

The highly-touted offensive line did their job rather well, as Irish backs rushed five times during the drive for 25 yards. But it was ballyhooed signal caller Ron Powlus who struggled in the first half.

The senior missed two clear openings (Raki Nelson at the 5 and Pete Chryplewicz at the end zone) and overthrew receivers on numerous occasions.

Maybe I was tentative," Powlus offered.

"Ron was a little anxious and excited," Holtz asserted.

Whatever the case, a late Jim Janson 33-yard field goal was all the offense could muster in the first half.

The defense, though, was superb in its task of keeping the Irish in command.

"I felt, and I speak for everyone else, very fresh," defensive end Ronaldo Wynn stated. "At times, we felt dominant."

Dominant indeed.

Wynn contributed two of the teams five total sacks in the game and was the leader of a defense that dominated the line of scrimmage and allowed just 126 total yards (50 on the Yoder TD) with five first downs.

"We played well in the first half and just wanted to carry