VanDoren highlights environmental duties

BY MICHAEL LEWIS

It is the responsibility of businesses, not politicians, churches, or schools, to preserve and restore the natural beauty of the world, according to Charles VanDoren.

VanDoren spoke as part of a series of lectures on literature and films on business ethics put on by the Notre Dame Center for Ethics and Religious Values in Business. He centered his lecture around the necessity of ethical conduct in business.

"Why should businesses and women be required to be more virtuous than anybody else?" he said. The answer is that it is up to businesses to deal with social, political, economic, and especially environmental problems.

VanDoren likened the situation of business people to the moral dilemma of a group of people watching a girl being swept away by a rushing river and debating whether they should act. Her death imminently, a few individuals in the group (figuratively representing business people) constitute the only element that both understands her predicament and has the physical ability to save her.

He said the advances that humanity has made sometimes become problematic when trying to decide what livelihood and standards of living and circumstances institutions, such as our present welfare system, should establish. However, the decision to these issues is crucial. VanDoren states that the world cannot afford not to analyze these issues.

The world's oldest war is the war between man and nature, and according to VanDoren, nature is losing. The world has increased the number of welfare recipients, and it is time to act. VanDoren provided favorable results from his theoretical approach.

Students dissatisfied with recurring homogeneity

Editor’s note: In light of Multicultural Week at Saint Mary’s College, this is the first in a series exploring diversity in the Saint Mary’s and Notre Dame Community.

By BERNADETTE PAMPUCH

While the Saint Mary’s Office of Multicultural Affairs is busy celebrating Multicultural Week, Sept. 30-Oct. 4, many Saint Mary’s students are concerned with the shortcomings of the Office itself.

“In my dealings with the Multicultural Office in the last four years, I haven’t felt like the door is open to students for me to just talk, about racial issues that have been bothering me or even just for information,” said senior Tracy Hollingsworth.

Hollingsworth’s sentiments are not unique among minority students on campus, some of whom have perceived both a lack of interest in the actual situation of students and too much emphasis on the needs of faculty and administrators.

In the past few years, the Multicultural Office has taken great strides to help faculty increase their knowledge of a more diversified student body, reflecting an increase from 59 total minority and international students enrolled in 1987 (when the Minority, International and Non-Traditional office was first established) to today’s 125 students. Recent programs have included travel grants for faculty and administrators, funding to help introduce new curricular activities and a multicultural award to recognize faculty or administrators who have made a significant commitment to diversity on campus.

"In my dealings with and others point out, the College’s commitment to faculty and increasing enrollment has not necessarily been mirrored with help for students,” Hollingsworth states. A social work major, she took a personal experience from last year when she approached the Office about helping fund her participation in a national conference on race and ethnicity.

"When I first heard about the conference and I went to see if they could help fund it, they were funding five faculty members to go but no students. They told me that faculty had first priority,” she said. She went on to express disappointment in an office supposedly committed to the college community in general.

Freshmen Glowingrainbow and Lisa Zelazny acknowledged that they have had very little contact with the Office of Multicultural Affairs aside from an invitation to an introductory dinner and a few prospective majors. "They’ve never called me to check up on me personally or to invite me to help out (in planning activities) or anything like that," said McDonald.

Glowingrainbow admitted that she had very little knowledge of the Office, but mostly "heard about activities through friends." While activities abound this week, controversy resulted last year over what some students saw as an over-abundance of activities centered around a Lunar New Year celebration. Last year’s Multicultural Week reflects Native American, Asian and international events as a result of the dissonance voiced by Saint Mary’s students in meetings with the office’s director, Marcella Ramirez.

While students last year attempted to ensure the addition of more elements of Asian culture, said that "last Hello again. No, this column is not a rant about the injustices of the system again. Inside you will find no political position or social commentary whatsoever. Instead, this column will begin and end with quotes from a 1966 graduate of the University of Notre Dame. He never need to explain your answer.

1961.

In the past, the association recommended daily levels for each nutrient, but fat and cholesterol, without suggesting that the levels could be a daily average over a week's time. The change was made to alleviate frustration among people who felt that the guidelines every day was unrealistic.

Bernadette Laitson, a dietitian at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center at Dallas, said the idea of moving nutritional goals over week's time is already advanced by many dietitians.

"On a personal level, the balance is what's really important," she said.

So, for those interested, Dallas, Said he figured that out for himself. Rici usually eats a low-fat, low-calorie diet. "I don't like to think of it as a health food," she said. "I just like what I eat and I like to look like a raisin bran and baked potatoes.

"I go to the Sandwich Shop restaurant and get the Wednesday special, which is very good but very bad cheese enchiladas. It's all right once in a while," said Rici, who was eating a fat-free brownie after a chicken sandwich for lunch Monday.

The guidelines, developed by the heart association's nutrition committee, were published in Monday's issue of the association's journal Circulation.

Loggers wield cowl dung in protest

SCOTIA, Calif.

Environmentalists linked arms around a timber company's headquarters and spread cow dung in a Democratic party office Monday to protest a deal designed to save the world's last privately owned stand of virgin redwood.

About 500 chanting, wailing environmentalists surrounded Pacific Lumber Co. headquarters in Scotia.

The protests were the result of a deal designed to save the world's last privately owned stand of virgin redwood for the Hardys and Lund lived in Keokuk, a Mississippi River town, instead of obsessing over every day or right over several days or a week, instead of obsessing over every day or even meal. The guidelines don't change the recommended maximum levels of fat and cholesterol in people's overall diet.

"For the first time, the guidelines cut people a little slack, allowing them to be gluttonous one day if they lose the rest of the week."

"If you want the theme of the variety of foods and reducing guilt from eating something 'bad' now and then, said Dr. Ronald Krauss, chairman of a committee that developed the revamped guidelines.

"It's fairly clear now that the changes we associate with heart disease risk do represent more of a long-term trend rather than changes that occur with any given meal."

These are the first changes since 1988 in the heart association guidelines, which were first published in 1968.

Parton still a country girl at heart

NASHVILLE

Dolly Parton, age 80, sitting in a rocking chair on her front porch somewhere in the Great Smoky Mountains, strumming an autoharp. "Hard to fathom, huh? Especially when she's wearing a bustier. The image is suppose to be Dolly in her Golden Years. But it's pretty hard to envision the bodice bursting blonde ever slowing down. A 50, she's as thin and glamorous as a model, dressed in a costume with a black veil for a show at the cleaners. And yet, here she is waging about her retire. The image is suppose to be Dolly in her Golden Years. But it's pretty hard to envision the bodice bursting blonde ever slowing down. A 50, she's as thin and glamorous as a model, dressed in a costume with a black veil for a show at the cleaners. And yet, here she is waging about her retire. Do you believe her? If so, it's time for a reality check. A born bucktizer does not willingly fade away. With a conspiratorial smile and nudge to the ribs comes the real truth. "I'll be as thin and glamorous as a model, dressed in a costume with a black veil for a show at the cleaners."

Lady fakes pregnancy, steals baby

KEOKUK, Iowa

A woman who pretended for months that she was preg. nant allegedly hired a new mother to her home, shot her twice in the head and then hid the body in her basement, passing the boy off as her own. Police said Kimmi Hardy bought a gun a month before the slaying, wore maternity clothes, and was casual acquaintances, police said.

The guidelines don't change the recommendation that you experienced here.

A dietitian in Dallas, said she figured that out for himself. Rici usually eats a low-fat, low-calorie diet. "I don't like to think of it as a health food," she said. "I just like what I eat and I like to look like a raisin bran and baked potatoes.

"I go to the Sandwich Shop restaurant and get the Wednesday special, which is very good but very bad cheese enchiladas. It's all right once in a while," said Rici, who was eating a fat-free brownie after a chicken sandwich for lunch Monday.

The guidelines, developed by the heart association's nutrition committee, were published in Monday's issue of the association's journal Circulation.

Loggers wield cowl dung in protest

SCOTIA, Calif.

Environmentalists linked arms around a timber company's headquarters and spread cow dung in a Democratic party office Monday to protest a deal designed to save the world's last privately owned stand of virgin redwood for the Hardys and Lund lived in Keokuk, a Mississippi River town, instead of obsessing over every day or right over several days or a week, instead of obsessing over every day or even meal. The guidelines don't change the recommended maximum levels of fat and cholesterol in people's overall diet.

"For the first time, the guidelines cut people a little slack, allowing them to be gluttonous one day if they lose the rest of the week."

"If you want the theme of the variety of foods and reducing guilt from eating something 'bad' now and then, said Dr. Ronald Krauss, chairman of a committee that developed the revamped guidelines.

"It's fairly clear now that the changes we associate with heart disease risk do represent more of a long-term trend rather than changes that occur with any given meal."

These are the first changes since 1988 in the heart association guidelines, which were first published in 1968.

Parton still a country girl at heart

NASHVILLE

Dolly Parton, age 80, sitting in a rocking chair on her front porch somewhere in the Great Smoky Mountains, strumming an autoharp. "Hard to fathom, huh? Especially when she's wearing a bustier. The image is suppose to be Dolly in her Golden Years. But it's pretty hard to envision the bodice bursting blonde ever slowing down. A 50, she's as thin and glamorous as a model, dressed in a costume with a black veil for a show at the cleaners. And yet, here she is waging about her retire. Do you believe her? If so, it's time for a reality check. A born bucktizer does not willingly fade away. With a conspiratorial smile and nudge to the ribs comes the real truth. "I'll be as thin and glamorous as a model, dressed in a costume with a black veil for a show at the cleaners."

Lady fakes pregnancy, steals baby

KEOKUK, Iowa

A woman who pretended for months that she was preg. nant allegedly hired a new mother to her home, shot her twice in the head and then hid the body in her basement, passing the boy off as her own. Police said Kimmi Hardy bought a gun a month before the slaying, wore maternity clothes, and was casual acquaintances, police said.

The guidelines don't change the recommendation that you experienced here.
OSU rowdies arrested in bw-3 weekend brawl

Observer Staff Report

Several Ohio State fans couldn't leave town last weekend without running into trouble with the law.

Four Ohio residents were arrested Saturday at bw-3, 123 W. Washington St., on charges of disorderly conduct and public intoxication, according to Sgt. John Williams, assistant public information officer for the South Bend Police Department.

Stefanie Pater, 22, of North Canton, Ohio; Douglas Sandholt, 22, of Sidensreek, Ohio; and Jeffrey Ford, 25, of Toledo, Ohio were those arrested, according to Williams.

All were released from the county jail on $100 bond and will appear in St. Joseph County Superior Court on Oct. 16.

Two females suffered minor cuts under their eyes, and bw restaurant reported at least $600 in damage, including broken tables and glasses, police said.

Police arrived at the scene after restaurant employees called to report a large fight. The fight had ended by the time police arrived, Williams said.

Employees told police that the fight began after verbal taunts between Notre Dame and Ohio State fans intensified. The primary instigators of the fight left the scene before police arrived, according to police reports.

Those arrested allegedly disregarded officers' orders to leave, police said.

The South Bend Tribune contributed to this report.

SUB smoke leads to LaFortune evacuation

Observer Staff Report

Last night, the second floor of LaFortune Student Center went up in smoke. Literally.

According to Tom Quarannillo of the Notre Dame Fire Department, a smoke machine in the Student Union Board (SUB) office was set off, filling the room with smoke, thus triggering fire alarms at 8:06 p.m.

Students were evacuated from LaFortune, and were only allowed to reenter after the building had been completely cleared of the smoke and the alarms were reset; a delay of approximately 15 minutes.

Dave Austin, Patrol Captain of Notre Dame Security, stated that the machine, which was used for a previous SUB event, was accidentally activated and could not be shut off.

Officials did not know that the smoke was artificial until they arrived on the scene. However, Quarannillo stated that the machine should not have been stored in the room.

"Smoke machines should not be used in any room facility with smoke detectors. It's just a common sense issue."

SMC sponsors voter registration drive

Observer Staff Report

The Saint Mary's College Republican Club will be registering voters today in the dining hall during lunch and dinner hours, and Wednesday during all three meals.

Saint Mary's students can register to vote as a resident of St. Joseph County by bringing a driver's license and a social security card to the LaMans side of the dining hall.

If a student wishes to be registered in their home county, they should contact the registration office in their hometown to maintain an absentee ballot.

The club hopes to continue their efforts in raising political awareness with their efforts today and Wednesday.

You provide the wings, SEI will provide the sky.

SEI offers the kind of opportunity and challenge that makes careers soar.

Discover the opportunities that await at a career at SEI.

The Saint Mary's College Republican Club will be registering voters today in the dining hall during lunch and dinner hours, and Wednesday during all three meals.

Saint Mary's students can register to vote as a resident of St. Joseph County by bringing a driver's license and a social security card to the LaMans side of the dining hall.

If a student wishes to be registered in their home county, they should contact the registration office in their hometown to maintain an absentee ballot.

The club hopes to continue their efforts in raising political awareness with their efforts today and Wednesday.

Plan your trip to vote in Indiana?

Voter registration forms due on Thursday, October 3 in the Student Government office 2nd Floor of LaFortune

Sponsored by Student Government
Prejudice Reduction Workshop

If you are interested in learning how to confront oppression, then sign up now!

The Multicultural Executive Council is offering students, staff, and professors the opportunity to participate in this diversity sensitivity workshop.

Limited Enrollment—Call Immediately

Sunday, October 6
9:30 A.M. – 4:00 P.M.
Location TBA

This workshop is being presented by the Notre Dame Affiliate of the National Coalition Building Institute

Contact:
Mickey Franco • 631-4355
Adele Lanan • 631-7308
Awareness week expanded

By ALLISON KOENIG
News Writer

Residence Hall Association President Nikki Miles attended the Monday evening meeting of the Student Activities Board in hopes of gaining support for Alcohol Awareness Week from October 14-18. Alcohol Awareness Week at Saint Mary's College is usually sponsored solely by the Residence Hall Association. Miles feels that the week has lost effectiveness because the activities are redundant from year to year. She cited financial restraints as one reason for the repetition of the Alcohol Awareness Week events.

"RHA has very little funding, and that's why I'm coming to you," stated Miles. Miles requested SAB's financial and moral support in order to put more powerful mechanisms back into the week. She feels that the issue of alcoholism and underage drinking on campus should be a concern for all branches of student government.

Miles' main petition for the Student Activities Board included bringing comic Wendi Fox to Saint Mary's. Fox is a recovering alcoholic who is very serious about alcohol issues, yet presents information in an entertaining way.

SAB voted to provide half of the money necessary funds.

We're Creating a Cookie Commotion

Get a FREE half pint of milk or small coffee when you buy 2 FRESHLY BAKED GOURMET HUDDLE COOKIES for $1.00

Monday, September 30 - Thursday, October 10

The Huddle

Attention Seniors October Events

• Senior Class Service Project
  Starts October 1, Kim @ 243-1960 for more information

• Free Food Night
  FREE food! At Alumni-Senior Club, 7-9 p.m. October 3

• Beacon Bowl Night
  Following free food at Alumni-Senior Club, $4 all you can bowl! 9-11 p.m. October 3

• River Boat Gambling
  Gambling Cruise on the Express in Hammond, IN October 5, 12:00 to 2:00, tickets are $5 at the Lafortune Information Desk.

• Also: Senior Class Cookbooks are in, $8 at the Lafortune Information Desk.
  And...Off-Campus directories are coming soon

NASA privatizes industry

By MARCIA DUNN
Associated Press Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — In the biggest change in the history of the space shuttle program, NASA is turning over $2 billion in operations to private industry beginning Tuesday to save money.

"Today is the first day of a new space program in America," NASA Administrator Daniel Goldin said Monday in announcing the $7 billion, six-year contract with United Space Alliance, a joint venture of Rockwell International Corp. and Lockheed Martin Corp.

Officials promise the shift will be gradual, with shuttle flight safety the No. 1 priority.

In the short term, not even NASA and its contract employees will see much difference.

NASA still will give the final "go" for launch and make the important decisions during a shuttle flight, as it has for the past 15 years. It will retain ultimate responsibility for shuttle safety and hire the astronauts. And it will still own the four space shuttles.

But it will ease itself out of the routine, day-to-day work, such as preparing the shuttles for flight, training the astronauts and operating Mission Control. Those duties will belong to United Space Alliance.

Don't expect shuttle ads anytime soon, though. Space shuttle seats sold to the highest bidder.

That may be one day, said Kent Black, NASA's chief of public affairs.

"This is a very important day as the single prime contractor for shuttle operations," Black said. "We are seeing a lot of this kind of competition to save money."

USA was formed in August 1995 when Rockwell bought the remaining Scaled Composites, the single prime contractor three months earlier.

By compressing many contracts into one — this first phase consolidates 12 previous ones — NASA hopes to improve shuttle safety, continue to fly shuttles seven or more times a year, and reduce costs in the $3 billion-a-year shuttle program.

Because Rockwell and Lockheed Martin already handled most of the shuttle work, the operational changes are new. For the historic, won't make much immediately difference.

Child abuse case aimed at Academy

By ALEX DOMINGUEZ
Associated Press Writer

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — A former midshipman was sentenced to 90 days in prison Monday for molesting a 2-year-old girl, the second child abuse case this year involving a Naval Academy student.

In the wake of those and other scandals, including a sexual assault among the academy's top Prescott admission that she helped kill a female student's alleged molester, the school announced a new independent review board Monday to review its operations.

Jeremy Coale, who pleaded guilty in August to molesting the granddaughter of a couple he was visiting, was sentenced Monday to four years in prison, with all but 90 days suspended. He was also given five years probation and ordered to undergo counseling.

Coale made lengthy statement in which "he basically said he was sorry and was trying to get better," before he was sentenced by Anne Arundel Circuit Judge Raymond Thieme, prosecutor Kurt Messer said.

Coale, 20, of Grand Rapids, Mich., is the second former midshipman this year to be sentenced for child sexual abuse. In June, Patrick Michael Chapman, 25, a former leader of the academy's Big Brothers and Big Sisters program, was sentenced to four years in prison for exposing himself and sexually touching a 13-year-old boy in his hometown of Rockwall, Texas.

Coale had spent weekends with a couple who volunteered to take care of midshipmen away from home.

Prosecutors said Coale abused the child in March and again on another date. Coale admitted in April that he molested the child, and resigned from the academy after his arrest.

---

Tuesday, October 1, 1996
The Observer • page 5
Welfare

explained the specific reforms entailed within the bill. He first acknowledged the measure's promise to reduce the federal government's role in welfare, but also noted it to make the presence of the states much stronger. If the premarital birthrate of a state should decrease, according to Clinton's plan, the federal government will financially reward that state.

Robinson admitted that, while a true incentive is provided to the states to reduce the number of citizens on welfare, the plan's successful implementation may only occur if economic growth continually increases and if the unemployment rate continually decreases.

Reforming the perspective of a abortion patients, Robinson noted, "If the panel's viewpoint question, continually increases and if the successful implementation of welfare reform, Robinson echoed the panel member's view point question, continually increases and if the successful implementation will fail, Robinson echoed the panel member's viewpoint question.

Joanne Albous established a "Will this [fallout] make liberals always with us," Professor Albous asserted that, "Pension and Social Security to support the kind of lifestyle you'll want. How can you help ensure that you'll be in good health?" Albous had much to say concerning the lack of a job availability guarantee for individuals who wish to exit the welfare system. She also asserted that, because the majority of recipients on welfare are unemployed and unskilled, the government will have to subsidize job training programs and health care. In the process of preparing welfare recipients for work, Albous stated that, "Clinton's Temporary Assistance for Needy Families will be more costly than our present program."

This lecture was the fourth in a series entitled 'The 1996 Election and the Common Good." The lectures are hosted every Monday from 4 until 5 in the Center for Continuing Education.

Homogeny

continued from page 1 year we were very dissatisfied with Multicultural Week," admitting that many changes were needed.

"It's a really small department, but I'm sure we've improved from where we started," said Robinson. Simply responding to varied concerns from students about college-wide activities may still not be enough to satisfy the needs of a student body facing issues of race, ethnicity, funding for college, and other problems. Lucila Brogdon, president of the Sisters of Nefertiti, expressed some dismay in the lack of interest in the Office's recruitment of student volunteers.

In response to the myriad of activities planned for Multicultural Week, ranging from the lecture of noted African-American writer Marita Golden to various theater productions on campus, Brogdon said "It looks like a well-planned week, but it would be interesting to actually partake in the planning of it." She went on to say that one of the biggest problems facing the campus was the lack of diversity, citing the example of humanity and the environment, he said. Charles Van Doren has been a seminar leader of the Aspen Institute since 1973, and he received his Ph.D. from Columbia University. He is now a consultant for the Encyclopedia Britannica for over 20 years.

EXERCISE REGULARLY AND YOU COULD LIVE LONGER.

INVEST REGULARLY SO YOU CAN AFFORD TO.

Americans are living longer than ever. So it's quite possible you'll spend 20 or 30 years or more in retirement. How can you help ensure that you'll be in good health?" Albous had much to say concerning the lack of a job availability guarantee for individuals who wish to exit the welfare system. She also asserted that, because the majority of recipients on welfare are unemployed and unskilled, the government will have to subsidize job training programs and health care. In the process of preparing welfare recipients for work, Albous stated that, "Clinton's Temporary Assistance for Needy Families will be more costly than our present program."

This lecture was the fourth in a series entitled 'The 1996 Election and the Common Good." The lectures are hosted every Monday from 4 until 5 in the Center for Continuing Education.
The Observer • NATIONAL NEWS

Corn prices fall with fair weather forecasts

By HILLARY CHURA

Associated Press Writer

Corn and soybean futures prices fell Monday amid prospects for beneficial Midwest weather and a federal report of unexpectedly strong U.S. stocks.

On other markets, energy and gold futures prices retreated.

The Commodity Research Bureau's index of 17 commodities fell 1.01 points to 245.63.

The Agriculture Department said soybean inventories on Sept. 1 were 183 million bushels, 20 million above expectations and 13 million above the USDA's most recent estimate:

The USDA report also said the 1995 harvest was 25 million bushels higher than anticipated, and there is talk among investors on the Chicago Board of Trade that this year's yields also will surpass expectations.

Soybean harvest begins this week, and warm, dry weather should allow farmers to make a lot of progress and also strengthen immature crops. Prospects for a damaging Midwest frost in the near future also have waned.

Corn futures fell to the lowest spot price in a year after the Agriculture Department said ending 1995-96 stocks would be greater than the current forecast.

Soybeans for November delivery plunged 25 1/4 cents to $7.18 a bushel — the lowest price since mid-August.

December corn fell 6 1/2 cents to $2.96 3/4 a bushel.

Reaching another goal... Legal at last! Happy 21st, Cindy

WASHINGTON

Defense Secretary William Perry said today he has ordered his staff to investigate a report that commanders in Desert Storm ordered troops to disregard reports of low-level nerve agents on the battlefield — even as those commanders enjoyed the protection of chemical warfare air filters in their headquarters.

"I'm very distressed that some people seem willing to believe the worst about the military and the Pentagon. I'm very concerned about that. We will look at this report very carefully and take whatever action is necessary," Perry added.

He made the comments during a photo session in his office.

The report said U.S. commanders, who had sealed their headquarters in Riyadh with airlocks and used to chemical warfare filters for ventilation, told troops to ignore Czech reports of low-level nerve agents.

"Told them to disregard any reports coming from Czechs," the logs say.

The Czech reports were made two days after the air war began in January, 1991.

In the logs, a military officer responded to incoming reports of toxic clouds. "Predictably, this has become — is going to become a problem."

Gulf War symptoms

The Pentagon is notified 5,000 Gulf War veterans that they may have been exposed to nerve agents. On March 4, 1991, a battalion destroyed a bunker which may have housed chemical weapons.

Exposure could have reached 16 miles from the complex. There are reports of a separate January chemical exposure in Saudi Arabia.

NATIONAL NEWS

M E C Fall Festival

Sept 30 through Oct. 4

ENTERTAINMENT ON THE QUAD:

Entertainment for you from all corners of the globe.

(and hey, we're giving away stuff)

Be at Fieldhouse Mall - 4:00-6:00 p.m.

Mon: NANDAS - Native American Dancing
Tues: Martial Arts demonstrations (can you lay a finger on these people?)
Wed: TBA
Thurs: Ballet Folklorico & FASO
Fri: Polynesian Chant and Dance

Taste of Nations:

Food & Entertainment from around the world!

Friday Oct. 4th, 8:00 - 12:00 a.m.
It's a great time and all for only $1

The Fall Festival is brought to you by the Multicultural Executive Council
Eurotunnel expansion suspended

Associated Press

LONDON Eurotunnel, the troubled operator of the Channel Tunnel, suspended trading in its shares Monday as it negoti- ates with creditors over refinancing its debt. The decision to call a deal with 200 banks was midnight Paris time, or 6 p.m. EDT, but negotiations continued past the deadline and an announce- ment was not expected until later Tuesday. After court-appointed negoti- ators finish their work, Jean- Pierre Matti, president of the French commercial court, was to rule on any contract that emerged. Earlier, Eurotunnel suspended its share trading in London, Paris and Brussels, saying it was doing so pending the review by Mattei.

The Path to Justice

Find out where you stand...

Come to a free showing of Dead Man Walking followed by a panel discussion with residents of DISMAS HOUSE

Wednesday, October 2

@ 7:00 p.m. in the Library Auditorium brought to you by SDB and

(twin towers of student organizations)

The women must cover their hair and must not wear low-cut dresses. They do not have to cover their face as well. Rouhani said the Taliban are mostly Sunni Muslims, the large- est sect of Islam.

For women, there are not the out- targets of the militants in Kabul. On Sunday, a small-time crook was patted down by a busy street; his face was painted black and bills of the local currency were stuffed into his nose and into his ears and mouth.

Radio Kabul warned in several broadcasts that death would be the penalty for murder, drug dealing and adultery, with amputation the price of theft. These measures go well beyond common interpretation of Islamic law; other predominantly Muslim nations allow women greater freedom and do not use amputation as punishment.

The latest on-site edit: All military and government per- sonnel should cease shaving and grow beards in the next 45 days. Violators will be punished. Cleanshaven men in the region around Herat, in western Afghanistan, which the Taliban have controlled for some time, are commonly forced to have their heads shaved, too, in a mark of submission.

Within hours of the Taliban army’s arrival in Kabul last week, the rebels burst into a U.N. compound where former Afghan Prime Minister Najibullah had taken shelter the last 4 1/2 years and executed him. His bloodied body was left to hang for 48 hours outside the presiden- tial palace. He was a war- derer and a Communist, the Taliban said, and death is the punishment for murder.
Generation X: The culture that lacks a brain

About six or seven years ago, a Vancouver native published a little book called Generation X. Basically, this guy interviewed a bunch of kids from around the Seattle-Vancouver area who had grown up in middle-class families, graduated from college and begun successful careers, only to discover they had no idea what to do with their lives.

Matthew Apple

This happened to coincide with the birth of the "Seattle Sound," or "grunge" as everyonebably called it, the music industry preferred any given week to call its invention. Within two or three years, the music industry had already dumbed Seattle in favor of Los Angeles and New York, but, by then, the Baby Boomers. The label appears in every printed and electronic media available almost daily, it is repeated like a mantra or in a condemnation, or a reminder, as if to say, "You are Generation X. You are named."

To back up this rock-eyed labeling, the media compared Generation X to the "Lost Generation," the high society of the Roaring Twenties with their flappers and their speakeasies, their New Yorker and their Al Capone. The Lost Generation essentially parted their way into the Great Depression because it refused to do anything constructive or worthwhile. One could say that this current generation similarly has no focus—except that there is no single, current label.

Generations are created by cycles of war and peace. The World War II generation's males went away en masse, and when those who survived returned at the same time, they created the Baby Boomers. In turn, the Baby Boomers' children, the so-called Vietnam generation's males went away to be confronted with an unconventional war as wars go, the Baby Boomers didn't create a generation; they spread their children out over two decades. Some claim that Generation X came to be because there is no war, no "big" concept which unites today's youth, while others claim that Generation X is a backlash of sorts against the Sixties, against their parents' ideals. I claim that there are in fact a large number of smaller "generations" which comprise what the Boomers call Generation X, which is the initial reason for the pseudo-existentalist label.

An interesting analogy to the attitudes of the Nineties might be those of the "Dazed and Confused" generation and of the "Dazed and Confused" generation. Both are "forgotten" generations. Nobody cares about the early Fifties and Harry S Truman any more; no one wants to remember the mid to late Seventies (out of mass cultural embarrassment, if nothing else). Both periods can be characterized as transitional, exemplifying the awkward and uncertain feeling that comes with the nostalgia of lost ideals and the reluctant realization of a new societal order.

"Sak's Fifth Avenue sells "grunge" clothing, torn-up, faded blue jeans and plaid shirts, and people actually buy it. Students wear baseball caps backwards and rings on their ears, noses, and various other body parts, in an attempt to look different; and as a result everyone winds up looking the same."

One look at the self-appointed voice of this generation, MTV, will tell you the current social order: boredom. On MTV's "Beach House," California teenagers with too much time on their hands wear sequined dresses and bicycle helmets while a crowd peels them with a few hundred plastic floor hockey balls.

"On Singled Out," faithfully reproduced here at Notre Dame last spring, a shallow "Generation X-er" can find or has her or his appropriately shallow "mate" by eliminating those contestants who don't have large breasts or small noses and then asking them to shrivel as loud as possible into a microphone. On "Beach Rules" and "The Real World," evidently the goal is to make a group of trendily spoiled brats live together for a short amount of time and take turns screwing and squabbling with each other on television.

What has happened—the section of American society which formerly resided in the label "Generation X" has now gleefully accepted it. Generation X has become a self-fulfilling prophecy, and the media can pat itself on the back for once again being allowed to resort to backhanded cliches instead of providing real communication between age groups. And the Generation X-ers love it. They love having a collective name, because it gives them a group identity. Having a name gives them a sense of purpose, contrived and pointless though it may be. Having a name means they no longer have to worry about being individuals any more.

And so, to quote Ed Brubaker, "Once again, the mainstream media has stolen youth rebellion and sold us a laceration at a higher price. By portraying today's youth as "slackers," they've given us permission to be lazy and stupid."

Upper-middle-class bored Californians think they're punk rockers because they do their hair punk and complain that their rich parents haven't died yet. Sak's Fifth Avenue sells "grunge" clothing, torn-up, faded blue jeans and plaid shirts, and people actually buy it. Students wear baseball caps backwards and rings on their ears, noses, and various other body parts, in an attempt to look different; and as a result everyone winds up looking the same.

It's the new and improved James Dean story: Rebels Without A Brain. Except, now, the counterculture has become the establishment, and the establishment's laughing all the way to the bank.

Matthew Apple is an MFA candidate in Creative Writing at Notre Dame. He can be reached at matthy51-apple1@nd.edu or at http://www.nd.edu/80-mapple.
I dream of Jenny...

Singling out TV's favorite

By JOEY CRAWFORD
_accoutant editor_

Just add a touch of humor to a beautiful face and a seemingly perfect body, and you will get Jenny McCarthy. She combines the physical comedy associated with Lucille Ball with the classic beauty and grace of a Marilyn Monroe or Greta Garbo, making her one of the most recognizable faces in the nation.

Imagine being in your early twenties, your picture is plastered on magazines as well as dorm room walls, you have your own TV show, people of the opposite sex adore you and people of the same sex respect you. This was hard for even Jenny McCarthy to imagine just a few short years ago.

Jenny McCarthy was raised in an Irish Catholic family on the south side of Chicago. Her parents as well as her three sisters are supportive of her career. The three sisters are as talented as the super-model, with all three receiving bachelor's and scholarshipships to the University of Illinois, where they average a combined 45 points per game.

As a child Jenny wrote letters to Wonder Woman, but disbelief she never wrote the young Jenny back. This fact has helped McCarthy adopt the extraordinary and approachable personality that she has. "I know that when the little boys and girls come up with adoring faces, I try to make those three seconds worth the three hour wait. I feel horrible if I didn't anything else." Following her graduation from Mother McAuley High School (where she ran track, played softball and floor hockey, (yes, she said floor hockey); she attended Southern Illinois University for two years where she majored in nursing. She left college three years ago and ventured to California by herself to pursue her dreams of becoming a model. "At first everyone said that I couldn't do it."

McCarthy explained in Coach Holtz's office, "I went to four agencies and they all said 'No,' got out of here, we don't want you. Later on, Jenny sent her first calendar to these four hapless agencies.

When Holtz learned of her early turmoils as a model he jokingly asked, "What, did they have dogs as clients?"

Eventually, she met a "great manager" and current boyfriend Ray Manzella, and he altered her image where she has achieved celebrity status. "Every time there was a door that was shut I just kept going. I just wanted to show people I could do it." Not bad for a girl who used to sell cole slaw at a Polish Grocery Store.

Right now, McCarthy is on a tour promoting her new CD and book, stopping in the country and occasionally taking in a Notre Dame football game. The book, which she did not write, is a dating game book that McCarthy claims as a "fun book.

Pictures of McCarthy decorate the book cover, with Musicland, McCarthy capitalizes on the trend by releasing a compilation of fourteen surf tunes. When asked how she compiled the collection she explains, "I put together the songs that I thought were the coolest, like Hawaii Five-O." Manzella boasts, "It is the best compilation in the genre, and it's affordable." In this McCarthy began her antics, "Affordable...school's out, surfer's up, let's go out on a surfing safari.

During her tour, McCarthy stopped in South Bend to sign autographs at the Scottsdale Mall and importantly, to see her favorite college football team, the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame. The signing, sponsored by Musicland and WBRE, the Bear, brought in well over 1500 fans.

Radio personality Joe From WBRE, the Bear, maintained that McCarthy's visit helped South Bend achieve some recognition as a cultural center, claiming, "It is about time that we bring true talent to the area, whether it be performers like Jenny or musicians, and bring them to South Bend and show them that we have a really vibrant audience here. It's a change of pace. Why go out west or to Chicago, when you can do stuff right here in South Bend?"

The Bear, which has had a good working relationship with Musicland, was excited about helping promote the book and CD signing tour. "The CD is fun music for the whole family. It reminds you of summer time, and now that the weather is warmer, it reminds you what summer is like. She is a very intelligent woman who knows where she wants her career to go.

And where does she want her career to go? She appears to be the limit for the girl that's been called, "a cross between homecoming queen and class clown." McCarthy has written a book, performed in a play, gone on vacations to Paris and London, and has appeared on "King of the Hill" and "M*A*S*H*". McCarthy's future is promising, and she is already generating a new wave of adoration among the media. She is an asset to the entertainment world and is destined for big things. The media has trained its guns on McCarthy's every move, and she is determined to carry on the legacy of the beautiful, comedic wonder that is Jenny McCarthy.

The first level is generally simple enough to win seventy-five percent of the time on any mediocre trivia and crossword game. The book, which she did not write, is a dating game book that McCarthy claims as a "fun book.

Pictures of McCarthy decorate the book cover, with Musicland, McCarthy capitalizes on the trend by releasing a compilation of fourteen surf tunes. When asked how she compiled the collection she explains, "I put together the songs that I thought were the coolest, like Hawaii Five-O." Manzella boasts, "It is the best compilation in the genre, and it's affordable." In this McCarthy began her antics, "Affordable...school's out, surfer's up, let's go out on a surfing safari.

During her tour, McCarthy stopped in South Bend to sign autographs at the Scottsdale Mall and importantly, to see her favorite college football team, the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame. The signing, sponsored by Musicland and WBRE, the Bear, brought in well over 1500 fans.

Radio personality Joe From WBRE, the Bear, maintained that McCarthy's visit helped South Bend achieve some recognition as a cultural center, claiming, "It is about time that we bring true talent to the area, whether it be performers like Jenny or musicians, and bring them to South Bend and show them that we have a really vibrant audience here. It's a change of pace. Why go out west or to Chicago, when you can do stuff right here in South Bend?"

The Bear, which has had a good working relationship with Musicland, was excited about helping promote the book and CD signing tour. "The CD is fun music for the whole family. It reminds you of summer time, and now that the weather is warmer, it reminds you what summer is like. She is a very intelligent woman who knows where she wants her career to go.

And where does she want her career to go? She appears to be the limit for the girl that's been called, "a cross between homecoming queen and class clown." McCarthy has written a book, performed in a play, gone on vacations to Paris and London, and has appeared on "King of the Hill" and "M*A*S*H*". McCarthy's future is promising, and she is destined for big things. The media has trained its guns on McCarthy's every move, and she is determined to carry on the legacy of the beautiful, comedic wonder that is Jenny McCarthy.
"Both guys and girls love her. She is so much fun and so approachable, she is like the girl next door."

Despite being an avid fan herself, McCarthy was humble about her first visit to the University of Notre Dame this past weekend and was greeted by the perennial bad weather, to which Mannella replied was the perfect weather for her surfing CD. She attended the pop rally this past weekend hoping to inspire the Fighting Irish to victory, and even though it may not have been enough to secure an Irish victory, her perseverance, despite doubtful modeling agencies, can serve as a model for us all. She has proven that she is more than just a pretty face.

In case you missed Jenny McCarthy while she was on campus, she will demonstrate her comic skills on "Wings" this Wednesday night on NBC. As for her kissing abilities, the only person that can attest to that is Notre Dame kicker Jim Saxon, who was rewarded for his game-winning field goal at Texas with a kiss.

Joey Crawford and Don Cichalski thoroughly enjoyed conducting this interview, while in the back seat of her limousine.

If you really need that quick win fix, log into the first instant winner sweepsakes on the web at http://www.surf-up.com. All you have to do is click on the surf board to see if you win one of the thirty-five instant prizes available monthly.

What kind of a win is a better than guaranteed win? The Jelly Belly site, http://www.jellybelly.com, offers free jelly beans when you fill out a survey. The biggest challenge of all is finding a time when the supply of 500 free samples hasn’t run out. Order one for late night snacks, one as a gift, one for later - heck, it's free!

Now, there are probably some skeptics out there saying, "How can all this be free?" Well, it's all in the advertising. How did Hollywood Squares give away all those cars? Advertising spots. The site gives away prizes on the web, and the site gives away more, people are interested. Therefore more advertisers want to buy a spot on their site, and more prizes can be given away.

So what are you waiting for? Time is money!

Guest Web correspondent Dominic F ahey's a sophomore computer science major who lives in Sorin Hall. He can be reached at dominic.fahy5@nd.edu.

As anyone who has been treated by the infirmary here on campus can attest to, antibiotics seem to be an extremely common treatment for a huge variety of ailments. However, recent studies prove that these frequently used "wonder drugs" are rapidly losing their potency.

Antibiotics are the most commonly used drugs to treat diseases caused by bacteria. Researchers have found that almost all diseases that antibiotics help to cure are now resistent to at least one of the hundred and fifty antibiotics that are in use today.

The future of antibiotic use as we know it today is uncertain. Many believe that we will have to start using antibiotics for prophylactic use to prevent antibiotic resistance. In such a world, tuberculosis, pneumonia and typhoid could become common killers. Moreover, the very young, the very old, and the ill would be extremely susceptible to numerous disease-causing bacteria.

One proposal to receive this idea is the American Society of Microbiology. In a statement released last spring, the society warned, "There is little doubt that the problem is global in scope and very serious. We are in greater danger from common disease-producing organisms that are becoming increasingly resistant to antibiotics than from any existing outbreak in the hot zone.

Resistance, or the ability of microbes to neutralize or evade drugs that previously had controlled them, is evolving through mutations and natural selection of bacteria. Bacteria often undergo mutation in their genetic makeup, it is these mutations, coupled with the rapid multiplication of bacteria (new generations forming every few hours), that are responsible for the development of antibiotic resistance.

These bacteria are capable of ridding themselves of the drugs trying to destroy them. Examples of bacteria capable of resisting antibiotics include the synthesis of enzymes that deactivate the drugs, alteration of cellular wall structure to prevent entry of antibiotics, and destruction of the surface proteins on which antibiotics normally attach. Obviously, scientists are unable to create new antibiotics as quickly as bacteria are able to acquire resistance.

Who is to blame for the rapid increase of antibiotic resistance? The answer to this question is - man! The use of antibiotics in medicine, agriculture, and industry has started to create a world in which antibiotics are no longer effective. In the public hospital system, antibiotics are used extensively. Through misuse of antibiotics, through means such as halting a course of antibiotics prematurely, the public has devastatingly contributed to antibiotic resistance. Doctors warn that infected patients must take all of a prescribed antibiotic in order to kill all bacteria, so the organism does not reinfect in the future in a resistant form. Furthermore, doctors stress that "the one-two punch of complete antibiotic treatment and the patient's immune system can usually sweep away both antibiotic resistant and nonresistant bacteria."

Historically, hospitals are the most common breeding ground for antibiotic resistant bacterial infections. The reason lies in the fact that the most common hospital patients: the very young, the very old, and the very sick have very weakened immune systems and are unable to suppress resistant bacteria. However, in recent years these strains have begun to spread to areas outside hospitals. Cramped cities, day care centers and preschools have become prime sites for the emergence and spread of bacteria.

Experts agree that there is a need for a new antibiotic drug to combat these antibiotic resistant strains before they become widespread. With this knowledge, many scientists have begun to work together to find a method that will actually stop the growth of these systems and are unable to suppress resistant bacteria. However, in recent years these strains have begun to spread to areas outside hospitals. Cramped cities, day care centers and preschools have become prime sites for the emergence and spread of bacteria.

Experts agree that there is a need for a new antibiotic drug to combat these antibiotic resistant strains before they become widespread. With this knowledge, many scientists have begun to work together to find a method that will actually stop the growth of these systems and are unable to suppress resistant bacteria. However, in recent years these strains have begun to spread to areas outside hospitals. Cramped cities, day care centers and preschools have become prime sites for the emergence and spread of bacteria.

As for Larry Ward's predictions for competitive games in the near future.

Larry Ward is a junior Science Pre-Professional major. He is always trying to think of creative topics to discuss in the weekly Medical Minute. If you have any suggestions, Larry would love to hear from you. He can be reached at Larry.A.Ward.25@nd.edu.
Cowboys’ credibility restored

By DAVE GOLDBERG

Associated Press Writer

PHILADELPHIA

The Dallas Cowboys live. Lighted by a brilliantly executed straight points in a 16-minute second half that stopped Philadelphia’s first two possessions, the Cowboys’ credibility was restored today.

“When was this win for Dallas?” the Cowboys, who fell behind 10-0 on the Eagles’ first two drives, seemed to be thinking before the game began. Two turnovers had led to three points in both instances. Moreover, they came game-doubting themselves with just one offensive touchdown in their last six quarters.

But the return by Walker, who returned to Dallas for the second time this season after the Cowboys had fallen behind 10-0 on the Eagles’ first two possessions, the Cowboys’ credibility was restored today.

The Eagles, meanwhile, will be without their quarterback, Rodney Peete, for the rest of this season, and the rest of the offense, as well. Rodney Peete tore the patellar tendon in his right knee when he slipped dropping back to pass with 1:15 left in the half.

“Who was this win for Dallas?” the Cowboys, who fell behind 10-0 on the Eagles’ first two drives, seemed to be thinking before the game began. Two turnovers had led to three points in both instances. Moreover, they came game-doubting themselves with just one offensive touchdown in their last six quarters.

But the return by Walker, who returned to Dallas for the second time this season after the Cowboys had fallen behind 10-0 on the Eagles’ first two possessions, the Cowboys’ credibility was restored today.

The Eagles, meanwhile, will be without their quarterback, Rodney Peete, for the rest of this season, and the rest of the offense, as well. Rodney Peete tore the patellar tendon in his right knee when he slipped dropping back to pass with 1:15 left in the half.

“Who was this win for Dallas?” the Cowboys, who fell behind 10-0 on the Eagles’ first two drives, seemed to be thinking before the game began. Two turnovers had led to three points in both instances. Moreover, they came game-doubting themselves with just one offensive touchdown in their last six quarters.

But the return by Walker, who returned to Dallas for the second time this season after the Cowboys had fallen behind 10-0 on the Eagles’ first two possessions, the Cowboys’ credibility was restored today.

The Eagles, meanwhile, will be without their quarterback, Rodney Peete, for the rest of this season, and the rest of the offense, as well. Rodney Peete tore the patellar tendon in his right knee when he slipped dropping back to pass with 1:15 left in the half.

“Who was this win for Dallas?” the Cowboys, who fell behind 10-0 on the Eagles’ first two drives, seemed to be thinking before the game began. Two turnovers had led to three points in both instances. Moreover, they came game-doubting themselves with just one offensive touchdown in their last six quarters.

But the return by Walker, who returned to Dallas for the second time this season after the Cowboys had fallen behind 10-0 on the Eagles’ first two possessions, the Cowboys’ credibility was restored today.

The Eagles, meanwhile, will be without their quarterback, Rodney Peete, for the rest of this season, and the rest of the offense, as well. Rodney Peete tore the patellar tendon in his right knee when he slipped dropping back to pass with 1:15 left in the half.

“Who was this win for Dallas?” the Cowboys, who fell behind 10-0 on the Eagles’ first two drives, seemed to be thinking before the game began. Two turnovers had led to three points in both instances. Moreover, they came game-doubting themselves with just one offensive touchdown in their last six quarters.

But the return by Walker, who returned to Dallas for the second time this season after the Cowboys had fallen behind 10-0 on the Eagles’ first two possessions, the Cowboys’ credibility was restored today.

The Eagles, meanwhile, will be without their quarterback, Rodney Peete, for the rest of this season, and the rest of the offense, as well. Rodney Peete tore the patellar tendon in his right knee when he slipped dropping back to pass with 1:15 left in the half.

“Who was this win for Dallas?” the Cowboys, who fell behind 10-0 on the Eagles’ first two drives, seemed to be thinking before the game began. Two turnovers had led to three points in both instances. Moreover, they came game-doubting themselves with just one offensive touchdown in their last six quarters.

But the return by Walker, who returned to Dallas for the second time this season after the Cowboys had fallen behind 10-0 on the Eagles’ first two possessions, the Cowboys’ credibility was restored today.

The Eagles, meanwhile, will be without their quarterback, Rodney Peete, for the rest of this season, and the rest of the offense, as well. Rodney Peete tore the patellar tendon in his right knee when he slipped dropping back to pass with 1:15 left in the half.

“Who was this win for Dallas?” the Cowboys, who fell behind 10-0 on the Eagles’ first two drives, seemed to be thinking before the game began. Two turnovers had led to three points in both instances. Moreover, they came game-doubting themselves with just one offensive touchdown in their last six quarters.

But the return by Walker, who returned to Dallas for the second time this season after the Cowboys had fallen behind 10-0 on the Eagles’ first two possessions, the Cowboys’ credibility was restored today.

The Eagles, meanwhile, will be without their quarterback, Rodney Peete, for the rest of this season, and the rest of the offense, as well. Rodney Peete tore the patellar tendon in his right knee when he slipped dropping back to pass with 1:15 left in the half.

“Who was this win for Dallas?” the Cowboys, who fell behind 10-0 on the Eagles’ first two drives, seemed to be thinking before the game began. Two turnovers had led to three points in both instances. Moreover, they came game-doubting themselves with just one offensive touchdown in their last six quarters.

But the return by Walker, who returned to Dallas for the second time this season after the Cowboys had fallen behind 10-0 on the Eagles’ first two possessions, the Cowboys’ credibility was restored today.

The Eagles, meanwhile, will be without their quarterback, Rodney Peete, for the rest of this season, and the rest of the offense, as well. Rodney Peete tore the patellar tendon in his right knee when he slipped dropping back to pass with 1:15 left in the half.

“Who was this win for Dallas?” the Cowboys, who fell behind 10-0 on the Eagles’ first two drives, seemed to be thinking before the game began. Two turnovers had led to three points in both instances. Moreover, they came game-doubting themselves with just one offensive touchdown in their last six quarters.

But the return by Walker, who returned to Dallas for the second time this season after the Cowboys had fallen behind 10-0 on the Eagles’ first two possessions, the Cowboys’ credibility was restored today.

The Eagles, meanwhile, will be without their quarterback, Rodney Peete, for the rest of this season, and the rest of the offense, as well. Rodney Peete tore the patellar tendon in his right knee when he slipped dropping back to pass with 1:15 left in the half.

“Who was this win for Dallas?” the Cowboys, who fell behind 10-0 on the Eagles’ first two drives, seemed to be thinking before the game began. Two turnovers had led to three points in both instances. Moreover, they came game-doubting themselves with just one offensive touchdown in their last six quarters.

But the return by Walker, who returned to Dallas for the second time this season after the Cowboys had fallen behind 10-0 on the Eagles’ first two possessions, the Cowboys’ credibility was restored today.

The Eagles, meanwhile, will be without their quarterback, Rodney Peete, for the rest of this season, and the rest of the offense, as well. Rodney Peete tore the patellar tendon in his right knee when he slipped dropping back to pass with 1:15 left in the half.

“Who was this win for Dallas?” the Cowboys, who fell behind 10-0 on the Eagles’ first two drives, seemed to be thinking before the game began. Two turnovers had led to three points in both instances. Moreover, they came game-doubting themselves with just one offensive touchdown in their last six quarters.

But the return by Walker, who returned to Dallas for the second time this season after the Cowboys had fallen behind 10-0 on the Eagles’ first two possessions, the Cowboys’ credibility was restored today.

The Eagles, meanwhile, will be without their quarterback, Rodney Peete, for the rest of this season, and the rest of the offense, as well. Rodney Peete tore the patellar tendon in his right knee when he slipped dropping back to pass with 1:15 left in the half.
THE OBSERVER • SPORTS page 13

MEN’S SOCCER

Irish hoping to stop Broncos

By BRIAN REINHTHALER
Sports Writer

Last year, six of the nine wins recorded by the men’s soccer team were shutouts. DePaul and Western Michigan were two of the six Irish shutout victims.

This season, after losing five starters to graduation, the Blue Demons averaged an 8-0 drubbing at the hands of the Irish by handing Notre Dame its first loss of 1996 — ironically, a 1-0 shutout. Western Michigan suffered a 4-0 defeat at Alumni Field last year and, like DePaul, last year missed more than a third of their starters in the off-season. And if those similarities are not enough to make Irish fans wonder about tonight’s matchup at Western Michigan, the Bronco Blue and Demons also played to a 1-1 tie earlier this year.

Notre Dame is coming off of its second loss of the season, a 3-0 decision at Indiana on Friday night — yet another shutdown. After losing to DePaul, the Irish responded rather well, tying a strong Connecticut team and handing Sonor State a shutout. Western Michigan’s previous two contests kept the Irish undefeated in the Big East. So perhaps for the first time in this season, we’re coming together as a team.

The Spartans (2-1) are coming off a loss to (2-1) at Kinnick Stadium on Saturday in the conference opener for both teams. It will be the 23rd meeting between the teams, with Iowa owning a 15-14-2 edge over Michigan State.

Beethoven freshman quarterback Bill Burke, who handled first game last Saturday, will be the starting quarterback. Saban said Burke earned the right to start Saturday. But he added that quarterback Gus Ornstein still could be a contender for the top spot in later games.

“Gus had a pretty good attitude about this,” Saban said during his weekly news conference. “I think he did the right thing in a competition if you do the right thing. Burke has taken the attitude that he’s going to work hard.”

Burke had to turn to Ornstein after junior quarterback Todd Schultz was injured in the Sept. 7 game against Nebraska. Ornstein finished the Nebraska game and led the Spartans’ losing effort (30-20) against Louisville Sept. 21.

“We both had a good practice week,” Saban said. “But we wanted to see what Bill Burke could do.

Burke ended against Eastern with eight completions in 22 attempts for 166 yards and two touchdowns. He missed his first eight attempts before connecting on a 49-yard touchdown pass to Niges Carter in the first quarter.

“Bill was a little nervous at the beginning of the game,” Saban said. “As the game went on, he settled down.”

The Michigan State coach repeated his weekly theme that his players have to be more consistent and play for the entire game.

Saban said the Spartans will have a tough time getting ready for Iowa because Iowa is coming off of its second loss of the season, a 3-0 decision at Indiana on Friday night — yet another shutdown. After losing to DePaul, the Irish responded rather well, tying a strong Connecticut team and handing Sonor State a shutout. Western Michigan’s previous two contests kept the Irish undefeated in the Big East. So perhaps for the first time in this season, we’re coming together as a team.

By KATHY HOFFMAN

A lot less grim now that his Monday, but his expression is opener for both teams. It will be the 23rd meeting between the teams, with Iowa owning a 15-14-2 edge over Michigan State.

Beethoven freshman quarterback Bill Burke, who handled first game last Saturday, will be the starting quarterback. Saban said Burke earned the right to start Saturday. But he added that quarterback Gus Ornstein still could be a contender for the top spot in later games.

“Gus had a pretty good attitude about this,” Saban said during his weekly news conference. “I think he did the right thing in a competition if you do the right thing. Burke has taken the attitude that he’s going to work hard.”

Burke had to turn to Ornstein after junior quarterback Todd Schultz was injured in the Sept. 7 game against Nebraska. Ornstein finished the Nebraska game and led the Spartans’ losing effort (30-20) against Louisville Sept. 21.

“We both had a good practice week,” Saban said. “But we wanted to see what Bill Burke could do.

Burke ended against Eastern with eight completions in 22 attempts for 166 yards and two touchdowns. He missed his first eight attempts before connecting on a 49-yard touchdown pass to Niges Carter in the first quarter.

“Bill was a little nervous at the beginning of the game,” Saban said. “As the game went on, he settled down.”

The Michigan State coach repeated his weekly theme that his players have to be more consistent and play for the entire game.

Saban said the Spartans will have a tough time getting ready for Iowa because Iowa is coming off of its second loss of the season, a 3-0 decision at Indiana on Friday night — yet another shutdown. After losing to DePaul, the Irish responded rather well, tying a strong Connecticut team and handing Sonor State a shutout. Western Michigan’s previous two contests kept the Irish undefeated in the Big East. So perhaps for the first time in this season, we’re coming together as a team.

By BRIAN REINTHALER

Sports Writer

Reminded that Saturday’s game with Michigan — just as it was a year ago — is a “big” game for Northwestern, Wildcats linebacker Pat Fitzgerald was quick with a response.

“It’s a big game for them, too,” he said Monday. “They have to play the defending Big Ten champions.

Michigan played a huge role in Northwestern’s ride to the Rose Bowl a year ago. First, the Wolverines lost to the Wildcats, 19-13 in Ann Arbor, a stunning victory that set Northwestern’s remarkable season into motion.

And then the Wildcats watched and rooted for Michigan as the Wolverines defeated Ohio State in the regular-season finale, giving Northwestern the league’s trip to Pasadena.

“I think they’re pretty ticked off about last year. I think after they beat Ohio State, they probably found out we were going to go to the Rose Bowl,” Wildcats quarterback Steve Schnur said.

“If I tell them they’re pretty ticked off, I don’t expect them to be that way,” he said. “We’re just worried about preparing ourselves.”

Schnur, ranked sixth, brings a 4-0 record into Saturday’s game after routing UCLA 38-9 last Saturday. The Wildcats have also beaten Illinois, Colorado and Boston College.

Northwestern is 3-1, as it was a year ago when it beat the Wolverines, and is coming off a 25-11 victory over Indiana in its Big Ten opener. The Wildcats are ranked 22nd.
Lesson continued from page 20

came up a yard short. “I didn’t really give our play­ers as good a chance as what they should have had.”

The team wasn’t sharp in pre-game warm-up drills. The opening kickoff return was a fumble that was stripped away by Blannea, but it was recovered by the Bears.

The coaching staff has every intention of making positive changes, especially on the offensive side of the ball. That means one thing: back to the basics. Goodbye “Blannea,” hello smash-mouth.

The team will resume practice today after having the weekend off from contact drills, and will not practice this weekend. The key to the season may lie in how the Irish mentally and emotionally get back on track this week.

No excuses allowed. It’s time to put the pieces back together. Holts and his staff realize this, and the Irish head coach displayed his usual knack for putting things in perspective.

“If Skip Holtz, Connecticut’s football coach called me (Saturday) night and he didn’t feel they played particularly well. He got mad and he went home and my grandson is there and he is watching a video called King Lion. He just told me one little phrase of it that I think is applicable.

“The lion is standing there and the monkey takes a bat and hits him in the head. The lion says, ‘It doesn’t matter, it’s in the past, and I was so mad. And a few minutes later the monkey took the bat and swung it at the lion again, the lion ducked this time. The lion said, ‘why did you do that? The monkey said, doesn’t matter, it is in the past, but you learn from the past.

Kramer’s injury forces him out for six weeks

By MIKE NADEL
Associated Press Writer

LAKE FOREST, Ill. — Erik Kramer was uncomfortable, a thick therapeutic collar wrapped around his necking neck, discussing the football future he hopes is only a few weeks away.

“I don’t know what the possibil­ity of me not playing again actually is. I’ve had it explained to me that it’s very small,” the quarterback said Monday, eight days after a herniated disk knocked him out of the Chicago Bears’ lineup. “Now I just have to wait and see.”

Kramer spoke Sunday night with team orthopedist Michael Schafer, who said the injury should cause Kramer to miss six weeks. One of those weeks already has passed, so he would be ready to play at Denver on Nov. 10 if he heals on schedule.

“Six weeks? I can’t even think six hours from now,” Bears coach Dave Wannstedt said. “We’re hoping that if they turn him loose in six weeks to play, he’ll have had a couple weeks of practice to get back into syn­ce.”

Dave Krieg will run the Chicago offense.

Krieg, who turns 38 on Oct. 20, led the Bears to a 19-17 victory Sunday over the Oakland Raiders.

After a slow start, he completed 11 of 15 passes for 123 yards as the Bears scored on each of their final four posses­sions. The last time Chicago had the ball, Krieg connected with Curtis Conway twice for 32 yards during a 12-play, 66­-yard drive that set up Jeff Jaeger’s 30-yard field goal with 11 seconds left.

“Dave played great, making great decisions and keeping us in a position to win,” said Kramer, who was hospitalized for five days last week. “Then finally, he took one drive at the end to put us over the top.”

Their three-game losing streak behind them, the Bears (2-3) now need Krieg to pull out a victory over Green Bay. He has a 5-0 regular-season record against the Packers.

“It’ll be fun because people from back home will get to watch the game,” said Krieg, a Wisconsin native. “But it’s a division game, which is more important than anything else.”

Football Ticket Exchange Information!!

Keeping in mind both the needs of students for a suitable ticket exchange program and the need to suppress unlawful selling/scalping of tickets, the Athletic Department and the Athletic Resources Department of Student Government have come up with the following Football Ticket Exchange Program for the ’96 season.

1) Ticket exchange will be available for all six (6) home football games
2) Each student ticket holder may exchange a maximum of two (2) student issue tickets for general admission tickets during the course of the season.
3) The exchanging of tickets will take place on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of the week prior to game week, at the ticket office in the Joyce Center, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
4) The number of tickets available for each game will vary by game, depending on the circumstances surrounding that game (see chart).
5) Upon exchanging tickets, all students will be asked to sign a contract asserting that the tickets will not be unlawfully sold.
6) “Any student wishing to exchange his or her ticket must be present at the time of the exchange, with the school I.D., ticket booklet, and $16$”

GAME
28 September Ohio State 400
12 October Washington 300
19 October Air Force 300
16 November Pittsburgh 400
23 November Rutgers 400

If you have any questions whatsoever concerning the exchange, please contact Student Government Athletic Resources at 1x8283

*Please take notice: If cases of scalping arise, Athletic Resources and the Athletic Department will be forced to discontinue this program.
Volleyball

continued from page 20

and she has done everything that we have tried so far. The team’s offensive balance has likely been a part of the reason for their ability to battle through injuries. At every attacking position (middle blocker and right and left side hitters) the Irish boast a player who has a hitting percentage of .256 or better. Lefters, Harris, and senior captain Jenny Birkner do most of the damage for the Irish.

"The fact that we can go to different people keeps the other team of guard," Treadwell commented.

Although the Irish have enjoyed their success they still see weaknesses last week and we trained really hard and I think we are ready.

That match will see Randy Litchfield’s Ball State Cardinals challenge the Irish at the Joyce Center. Litchfield’s team posted a 22-12 mark last season from which they return five starters.

The Cardinals are lead by hitter Jennifer Schilling and Liz Cothren. Schilling marks a very good .301 hitting percentage while Cothren leads BSU’s blocking scheme with a 1.5 blocks per game average.

Brown sizes up their match with Ball State, "They’re a very, very good blocking team and I think that’s their strength. If they have a weakness it is probably their passing and hall control, so I think we are going to work on serving aggressively and try to keep them out of their offense.

Brown continued to explain the non-physical aspects of the game, "The other thing is that this is definitely a very big match for them. They always get fired up to play Notre Dame and I am sure they are going to have a lot of fans here and that it is going to be pretty emotional."

During the initial part of the first quarter, after a long drive, Dave Schank produced a 25 yard touchdown run. After Mammolenti ran in the two-point conversion, the Dawgs jumped out to a 8-0 lead. In the second quarter Mammolenti, who had been pivotal in putting Alumni in scoring position during both games this season, scored a touchdown. With the two point conversion, Mammolenti helped Alumni increase their lead to 16-0.

Defensive dominates interhall contests

By ADRIAN WILKERSON

Sports Writer

It should be said that football, like life, must go on. So with that in mind, IH football action resumed Sunday with three exciting games at Stepan Fields north.

ZAHM 13 CARROLL 2

Zahn used several key defensive efforts to secure the victory and improve their record to 2-0.

"The first half of this game displayed tremendous defensive efforts by both teams. Turnovers by both offenses could have spelled disaster for either team. However, the worst that happened was when Carroll allowed Zahn into field goal range, which was no good.

The second half of the game found Zahn ready to break out of the offensive drought that plagued them in week one. After stopping Carroll from cashing in on a Zahn fumble, quarterback Chris Orr hit Mike Garko with a long touchdown bomb. With the extra point, Zahn doubled their offensive production for the year.

Carroll pulled within range of a victory by doing absolutely nothing at all. Early in the fourth quarter, a bad punt snap deep in Zahn territory rolled out of the end zone. The resulting safety reduced the Zahn lead to 7-2.

Late in the fourth quarter, Zahn sealed their second victory with a sustained drive capped off by a Orr to Mike Bailey touchdown pass, which umped the final tally to 13-2. Zahn coach Jerry Fitzpatrick had this to say about his revitalized offense, "They [the offense] really struggled in the first half, but really started to get in the flow. We just need more repetition."

ALUMNI 16 ST. EDWARD’S 0

Alumni again used quick offensive production to run away with a convincing 16-0 victory over St. Eds. The brunt of the scoring for the Dawgs fell on Matt Mammolenti, who was responsible for 10 of Alumni’s points.

Due to the fact that not all of the women’s teams have played there will be no poll this week.

During the initial part of the first quarter, after a long drive, Dave Schank produced a 25 yard touchdown run. After Mammolenti ran in the two-point conversion, the Dawgs jumped out to a 8-0 lead. In the second quarter Mammolenti, who had been pivotal in putting Alumni in scoring position during both games this season, scored a touchdown. With the two point conversion, Mammolenti helped Alumni increase their lead to 16-0.

O’NEILL 3 SORIN 0

Fans of great defense would have loved the finale for the day. Offense was nowhere to be found in this matchup between the O’Neill Angry Mob and the Sorin Screamin’ Otters.

For three and a half quarters neither offense moved the ball effectively. Both defensive lines would not permit fumbles deep in each team’s territory to be converted into scores.

A Sorin fumble late in the game deep in their own territory allowed O’Neill to drive the ball into field goal range to secure the victory.

Men’s Interhall Power Poll

1. Off-Campus (2-0)
2. Zahm (2-0)
3. Morrissey (2-0)
4. Alumni (2-0)
5. Planner (1-1)
6. Keenan (1-0)
7. Carroll (1-1)
8. O’Neill (1-1)
9. Keough (0-1)
10. Sorin (0-1)
11. Dillon (0-2)
12. O’Hallor (0-2)
13. St. Ed’s (0-2)

Due to the fact that not all of the women’s teams have played there will be no poll this week.

TONIGHT!

AIDS Awareness/Students With AIDS Training

Will be holding their 1st AIDS Training Seminar:

Tuesday, October 1st (TONIGHT!) 7:30p.m. - 8:30 p.m.

Guest Speakers

AIDS Training Pamphlets Refreshments will be served.

Please Call for location and information: Klarissa Garza 4-4863 Scott Baker 4-1826
By CHARLEY GATES
SPORTS WRITER

In a battle between teams fighting to establish themselves following poor season-opening games last week, the Flanner Guards shut-out Stanford 26-0. The Gamecocks relied on solid defense and big plays to secure the victory.

Opening drives stalled for both teams. On Stanford's second possession, Studs quarterback Mark Rule took possession, Studs began their drive. On Stanford's second possession, Studs quarterback Mark Rule took possession, Studs began their drive. Drew Klusterman took position at their 44-yard line. Drew Klusterman took a 4-yard run. Placekicker Mark Nicholson added the extra point, giving Off-Campus a 7-0 lead.

Perhaps the only questionable spot fo...
75 Days of Student Government

As of October 1, 1996, Student Government will have been in office for 75 academic days. Have we completed our major platform issues? Have we listened to your concerns?

Are we really “Connecting You?”

- Book Fair: An alternative to the Hammes and an easy, effective way to buy and sell your books on-line.
- Ticket Exchange: An opportunity for you to exchange up to two student tickets for GA's each season.
- ATM: One new ATM at the JACC for your convenience on football weekends and special events.
- Opening Mass and Student/Faculty Picnic: A way to start the year with better relationships between students and professors.
- OSU Pep Rally: Organized by students, for students. A great way for us to come together and show great spirit and unparalleled sportsmanship.
- Presidential Election Events: Voter registration, absentee ballot information, and campaign issues made easy.
- The Guide: New and improved, with better information on the classes and professors you want.
- Board of Trustees Report: A thorough recommendation and proposal to the Board of Trustees on the need for increased social space on campus.
- Gender Relations Task Force: Offering a student perspective on what is needed to improve gender relations at ND.
- Connection Forum: An opportunity for you to voice your concerns at an open forum with Seth and Megan.
- Increased Access: Everything we do is on-line for your information.

We are YOUR student government. Please contact us with your thoughts on what we have accomplished. Don't hesitate to make your voice heard at 631-7668 or stop in at 203 LaFortune. You can also reach us at http://www.nd.edu/-studegov.
Belles secure double victory in triangular

By KELLEY PROSSER
Sports Writer

The Saint Mary's Volleyball team won both of its matches at the SMC triangular on Saturday, ending a five match losing streak. The Belles topped North Central College 15-7, 15-3, 8-15, 15-4 in the first match, and handily defeated Carroll College 15-4, 15-2, later in the day, bringing their record to 1-1 for the season. The Belles are focused on improvement.

Several members contributed to the 5-2 run including freshman Katy Barger, junior Dahi Biemer and Eileen Newell, and sophomore Janice Weiers connecting on two goals.

Pang named volunteer coach

Former ESPN broadcaster and current ESPN broadcaster Darren Pang has been named to the newly created position of volunteer coach at the University of Notre Dame. Pang, 32, has served as a radio and television analyst since retiring from the NHL in 1991. He has worked for ESPN and ESPN2 since 1993 and will remain with the network during the 1996-97 season.

In addition to his continuing association with hockey as a broadcaster, Pang served from 1991-1994 as the goaltender coach for the University of Illinois-Chicago, a former rival of Notre Dame in the Central Collegiate Hockey Association.

The Belles return to action on Saturday when they host Concordia University beginning at 7 p.m. Friday's contest didn't prove to be as "Bell dominating" against Hope College. After a disappointing referee call, the opposing team received a penalty kick, connecting for the lead in the middle of the second half. The Belles fought back but time proved to be their enemy as they were defeated 0-1 by Hope College.

The weekend was rounded out with a tie, 1-1 against John Carroll University on Sunday afternoon. Several adjustments to 1-1 structure, playing field brought about some confusion for the starting minutes of the game, but the Belles quickly regained control, ending in a final score of 1-1. Endurance fell on the side of Saint Mary's throughout overtime, but both sides remained unable to connect for the winning goal. Freshman Emily Moriarty was the lone scorer for Saint Mary's.

The Belles face up against Kalamazoo College today, who proves to be a very strong defensive team. The Belles are looking to improve on their season record and bring home a victory.

Some players return to hockey because they love to remain part of the game, but I do it because I love teaching goalkeepers and I have a passion for the game of hockey," said Pang, who beat the odds by succeeding in the NHL despite his 5-foot-5, 155-pound frame.

A lot of my love for hockey has to do with the challenge I faced in making it to the NHL due to my size. I hope to instill that passion in the players I work with.

"I have a great respect for Dave Pang, for what he did in the NHL and for his decision to return to Notre Dame," added Pang. "Dave is a classic over-achiever who has succeeded in so many things because of his big heart, a love for hockey and an unwillingness to quit."

"And when I got the call from Dave to be part of the program at Notre Dame, I thought it would be a perfect fit. We have the same love for hockey and similar goals, which include putting Notre Dame hockey on the map as a highly competitive national power.

The Observer • SPORTS Tuesday, October 1, 1996

recycle the observer
WELCOME TO THE OBSERVER

HAPPY BIRTHDAY IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: Keep your needs and expectaitions in proper perspective. Your person will need to enter a period of equanimity next month. Slow now, more stability on the job. A leadership position that opens up early in 1997 has your name written all over it! Friendship could influence a professional choice you make next spring. Practical matters will keep you too busy to do much philosophizing. Travel whenever you can. Promotional activities will be an important for all.

CELEBRITIES ON THIS DAY: actress Julie Andrews, actor Walter Matthau, baseball great Bob Feller, actress Stella Stevens.

ARES (March 21-April 19): Local events going roaring. A funny, romantic partner will make your heart flounce. Don't feel sorry; you could work up an inspired speech, especially in work helping you repair your fading. TASKUS (April 20-May 20): Try not to be overly concerned if certain matters surface. Take a continental journey into your past. A partner could shed new light on an old puzzle.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): A business switch better than a reality show. You act wise to be cautious. Get the full facts and figures you can before making a commitment. A friendship may want to date.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sep. 22): A psychic could come knocking at your personal life when you discover mutual interests. Get down if this person offers to help you make new business connections.

LIBRA (Sep. 23-Oct. 22): Someone's aggressiveness could make good sense. Their persistence is what irritates you! Remain your usual valiant self. You may be able to rescue the relationship.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Write down innovative ideas before they are gone forever. Recycling an old project will lead to new profits and advances. You may be impressed by your own perspicacity.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): A business plan will be highly profitable, especially if completed in one day. A career change or relocation holds strong appeal now. Your mate or partner could require an explanation from your own camp next.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): A change you have long contemplated to long-term necessary. There may be a lean drastic way to accomplish your goals. Talking with a counselor may help you get at the root of your restlessness. A pattern of behavior that opens up early in 1997 has your name written all over it! Forcing a change may help you this year.
By TIM SHERMAN

Sports Editor

Last fall, the Notre Dame men's golf team became the first Irish squad to win a Big East championship. Sunday, they became the first squad to win consecutive Big East titles. On the strength of Brad Hardin's 70-74 and Joel Hepler's 78-74, the Irish held off Georgetown by two strokes at the Tournament Players Club at Avenel in Bethesda, MD.

"It's just a great way to end your senior year," co-captain Hepler said.

"To win three straight conference championships, two of them Big East, is a great feeling. We couldn't ask for anything more." And they couldn't have asked for it to be much closer. With just three holes left to play, George Thomas' squad looked to be in great shape, holding a seven-stroke advantage over the field. However, the pressure took its toll.

Senior Brian Donohue, who fired an opening round 70 to share the lead entering Sunday, had an uncharacteristic turn home. The co-captain finished the round bogey-double bogey-triple bogey for a 81 but the margin his teammates had built up was enough for the crown.

"I knew he wasn't playing well enough to make it a blow-out so Coach Thomas was starting to sweat," Hepler said. "We were all sitting at the scoreboard adding up the score and getting updates from the course."

With tougher Sunday pin placements on the par 71, 7,000 yard course, the Irish slowly gave back much of their once 11 stroke lead, but Hepler's improvement was key.

"I was happy with the way I came back," Hepler said. "I was disappointed with Saturday but I just wanted to make the most of Sunday. Knowing I wasn't playing for the individual title took the pressure off." Hardin, though, did have a great shot at medalist honors, but Seton Hall's Mike Cosigian carded a 73 to take the title.

"I had a bad last hole but I had a great see GOLF / page 14