THE OBSERVER

Tuesday, April 21, 1998 • Vol. XXXI No. 129

THE INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER SERVING NOTRE DAME AND SAINT MARY'S

CAMPUS LIFE COUNCIL

CLC denies new club coordination member

By FINN PRESSLY

Debate over a resolution from the Bylaws Committee began the new business at last night's meeting of the Campus Life Council.

The resolution, presented by committee chairperson and Pangborn senator Susan Roberts, called for the inclusion of a representative from the Club Coordination Council as a non-voting member of the CLC.

Parliamentarian Tim Keller challenged the resolution by asking whether the addition of a new non-voting member would affect the current quorum, and if he or she would enjoy the same privileges of any member of the CLC, except the right to vote.

Assistant vice president for Residence Life Bill Kirk was next to question the resolution.

He first inquired as to the specific nature of a non-voting member, and whether or not non-voting members are provided for in the council bylaws.

"I DON'T SEE THE LONG TERM VALUE OF A MEMBER WHO IS NOT VOTING."

FATHER DAVID SCHEIDLER

RECTOR, ST. EDWARD'S HALL

new member’s position. He suggested amending the resolution so that it set a definite term for the CCC representative.

Roberts then declined the amendment, later citing that the CCC deserves a place on the CLC and that the resolution was designed to make the transition easier. Adding a new member to the council would result in the dismissal of a student position, she said, and the non-voting membership status would provide a temporary solution to the problem until a permanent solution could be reached.

"I don't see the long term value of a member who is not voting," said Father David Scheidler, rector of St. Edward's Hall. Scheidler also expressed his concern that the addition of a new member would upset the balance between student representatives and representatives of the administration.

Tim Fitzsimmons, the Hall Presidents' Council representative, and April Davis, representative of the Office of Multicultural Affairs, added their support for the measure.

"The CCC does represent a big con-

A "friendly amendment" was proposed by Father George Korzan, who claimed the resolution, as written, was unclear as to the actual duration of the ...bylaws. Members are provided for in the council bylaws.

see DEGREE / page 4

see CLC / page 7

University names 11 honorary degree recipients

Special to The Observer

Ten distinguished national figures in the Church, education, public service, literature, law and business will join principal speaker Joseph Kerman as honorary degree recipients at the University of Notre Dame’s 153rd Commencement exercises on Sunday, May 17.

Degrees will be conferred on some 1,800 undergraduate and 550 advanced degree candidates in ceremonies beginning at 2 p.m. in the Joyce Center on campus.

Kerman, a Notre Dame alumnus, former mayor of South Bend and now lieutenant governor of Indiana, will receive an honorary doctor of laws degree, and the University will present the 1998 Laretta Medal to Dr. Edmund Pellegrino, the John Carroll Professor of Medicine and Medical Ethics at Georgetown University.

In addition to Kerman, the honorary degree recipients are as follows:

• William Beaver, Joan Horingren Professor of

Accounting, Stanford University, doctor of laws. A 1962 graduate of Notre Dame, Beaver holds master's and doctoral degrees from the University of Chicago's Graduate School of Business. He taught for four years at Chicago before joining the Stanford faculty in 1969. An award-winning teacher as well as a leading researcher in financial accounting, he is the author of the widely regarded book "Financial Reporting. An Accounting Revolution." Beaver's contributions to his profession include serving as a consultant to the Financial Accounting Standards Board, a member of the Securities and Exchange Commission Advisory Committee, a trustee of The Heritage Foundation, and as a member of numerous editorial review boards.

• Elaine Chao, distinguished fellow, The Heritage Foundation, Ph.D. in economics. A former member of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Chao is a member of The Heritage Foundation, and as a member of numerous editorial review boards.

• Charles Fischer, chair of the board of directors of The Heritage Foundation and former chairman of the board of directors of The Heritage Foundation.

• Kenneth Chenault, president and chief executive officer of American Express Co. and former chairman of the board of trustees of the University of Chicago.

• Rev. Bryan Heflin, president of the Heritage Foundation and a member of the board of trustees of the University of Chicago.

• Joseph Kerman, former mayor of South Bend and now lieutenant governor of Indiana.

• William Beaver, professor of accounting at Stanford University.

• Elaine Chao, former member of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

• Charles Fischer, former chairman of the board of directors of The Heritage Foundation.

• Kenneth Chenault, former chairman of the board of trustees of the University of Chicago.

• Rev. Bryan Heflin, former president of the Heritage Foundation.

• David Scheidler, rector of St. Edward's Hall.

• Tim Fitzsimmons, Hall Presidents' Council representative.

• April Davis, representative of the Office of Multicultural Affairs.

For additional recipients, see p. 4

see JOURNALIST / page 6

see CLC / page 7

...An Antiochian activity. See also Scene pages 10, 11
Inside the classroom

Stop and wait
Before you read this column, allow us to take time to think about who you are. Since the majority of students at UCSC, and NMSU, have disabilities or are without disabilities, imagine what it would be like to be in contact with disabled people.

These individuals are not just the ones in wheelchairs. Disabilities can also be invisible to the human eye. Dyslexia, ADD and many other disabilities affect thousands of people.

However, it is in communities such as ours that we allow ourselves to escape from the "reality world." Many academic environments place a strong emphasis on one's goals and achievements.

Inclusion is one of the most common topics for debate among the government and school systems in our country. When dealing with this subject, we must remember that all children, whether intellectually gifted or academically-challenged, are given the right to be educated in the "regular-paced" classroom.

Sound like a good idea? Please rethink your answer.

Discussing whether inclusion is the "morally right" choice has become a very complicated subject to address.

For some, reasons, people believe that academically-challenged students belong in a classroom of their own. This way, they can encourage each other in the learning process, receive the individual attention that is necessary for these students to succeed in our everyday society, and build their self-esteem.

On the other hand, many people believe that the disabled boys and girls deserve the right to be educated in the regular-paced classroom. Through this experience, they will be able to develop their education on an equality-based system.

We wonder if it would be the best or the worst choice to make?

While some individuals choose to view inclusion as a way to bring an opportunity for children of all ages to experience, others tend to believe that it is unnecessary because special-needs children belong in an educational environment of their own.

Imagine yourself as an elementary school teacher. You are in front of a classroom of about 30 students. In the whole, they are well-behaved, but at times, the students can show their wild sides and become out-of-control.

"He never seemed down at all," he said. "I sent [Girardi] a message to get the message out." "I sent [Girardi] a message explaining that mass unsolicited e-mails are frowned upon on this campus," said VSA Secretary Makeda Tiye Smith. "That is something you wouldn't necessarily know unless you were on this campus. There is no way he could have known that people would react so strongly.

VASSAR COLLEGE
Students upset over unsolicited e-mail

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y.

Members of the Vassar community have expressed concern over the confidentiality of e-mail addresses following an all-campus advertisement which was distributed by an increasingly popular e-mail service. Many students were mailed strong, local packing and shipping business. Pak Mail owner John Girardi said that he received between 60 and 100 immediate responses from Vassar students who were unhappy with receiving the unsolicited e-mail, feeling that their privacy had been invaded. "I responded personally to all concerned students," said Girardi. "I didn't want to make any one feel invaded — I thought it would be a good way to get the message out." "I sent [Girardi] a message explaining that mass unsolicited e-mails are frowned upon on this campus," said VSA Secretary Makeda Tiye Smith. "That is something you wouldn't necessarily know unless you were on this campus. There is no way he could have known that people would react so strongly.

GAINESVILLE, Fla.
The body of UF football signee James McGriff was found Saturday morning on Indialantic Beach, one day after strong rip tides carried him away. The 6-foot-1, 215-pound running back from Madison, Fla., apparently drowned after going for a swim with his girlfriend on Friday. The two were at the beach with friends because it was McGriff's 21st birthday. "We share our grief and give our condolences to the McGriff family, especially to James' mother who expressed to the Observer the importance of God, not their differences. When man has reconciled differences with God, it becomes easy to reconcile our differences with each other," Farrakhan said. "The natural inclination is to be with your own kind," Farrakhan said. "The natural inclination is Jew with Jew, Christian with Christian, Muslim with Muslim. When a people has reconciled differences with God, it becomes easy to reconcile our differences with each other." Farrakhan was on campus for the 62nd birthday celebration of Yusef Haskell Taylor Jr., who is also marking 26 years as senior pastor at Second Baptist Church. For Members Only, an NU student group, gave $3,000 to fund the event, which it co-sponsored with the church. Farrakhan urged believers to focus on God, not their differences.

■ UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA

Protestors: worker wages too low

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va.

About 60 university students, faculty members, employees and local residents gathered on the steps of Minor Hall yesterday to show support for the Support the Living Wage Campaign and to promote awareness of what participants said are low worker wages at the university. "There is a problem at the university — [blue-collar employees making less than $8 an hour] are non-persons and don't have a voice," history professor Nelson Lichtenstein said after the rally. "They need to have their own voice, and then shameful things like making $5 or $6 an hour won't happen." Lichtenstein, a founder of the Labor Action Group — a university workers' rights advocacy organization that organized the rally — said his group aims at increasing the average starting salary for a receptionist, which, according to a LAG press release, is $11,392. But university officials said the number is inaccurate. After the rally, university relations director Louise Dudley said the state requires staff salaries to start at $11,392, but the university pays its starting workers more than this amount.

■ NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY

Farrakhan calls for reconciliation

Evanston, III.

Acknowledging he is disliked by many, Nation of Islam leader and minister Louis Farrakhan said Sunday at Alice Millar chapel that Christians, Jews and Muslims must find a way to get along. "An agenda is to be w ith your own kind," Farrakhan said. "The natural inclination is to be with your own kind," Farrakhan said. "The natural inclination is Jew with Jew, Christian with Christian, Muslim with Muslim. When a people has reconciled differences with God, it becomes easy to reconcile our differences with each other," Farrakhan said. "The natural inclination is to be with your own kind," Farrakhan said. "The natural inclination is Jew with Jew, Christian with Christian, Muslim with Muslim. When a people has reconciled differences with God, it becomes easy to reconcile our differences with each other." Farrakhan was on campus for the 62nd birthday celebration of Yusef Haskell Taylor Jr., who is also marking 26 years as senior pastor at Second Baptist Church. For Members Only, an NU student group, gave $3,000 to fund the event, which it co-sponsored with the church. Farrakhan urged believers to focus on God, not their differences.

■ SOUTH BEACH WEATHER

5 Day South Beach Forecast

The AccuWeather® forecast for noon, Tuesday, April 21.

FL

According to UC police, Luis Llorente, 23, was discovered in his third-floor room shortly after 11 a.m. Saturday. Authorities said his body was decomposing, indicating that he may have been dead for several days. Residents of the International House said police were not notified. Sever Llorente's family called the dormitory, saying they thought it was the bedrooms. Police placed fans in Llorente's room and surrounding areas to eliminate the stench.

Although police are still conducting an investigation into Llorente's death, authorities said it appeared that he had killed himself.

The pathologist did an autopsy on Llorente yesterday morning, and although the cause of death is still u nder investigation, it appears that he hanged himself," said John Prindiville, an investigator at the Alameda County Coroner's Office. "The police are lean­ ing towards suicide.

Prindiville said Llorente had been invited by someone to his room, but Llorente, described as a quiet and reserved person by his friends, was from Madrid, Spain, and was studying East Asian languages. Tracy DeLeon, a dormitory front desk staff, said Llorente had lived at the International House for his entire four year's at Cal.

Ethan Lewis, a graduate student in economics, said every time he saw Llorente, he would smile and chat. "He never seemed down at all," he said.

The Observer • INSIDE

Tuesday, April 21, 1998,

page 2

The Observer • INSIDE

Compiled from The Observer reports.

POLICE find body of Spanish student in dormitory

BERKELEY, Calif.

A graduate student from Spain apparently hung himself at the International House late last week, making this the third such reported case in five years.

According to UC police, Luis Llorente, 23, was discovered in his third-floor room shortly after 11 a.m. Saturday. Authorities said his body was decomposing, indicating that he may have been dead for several days. Residents of the International House said police were not notified. Sever Llorente's family called the dormitory, saying they thought it was the bedrooms. Police placed fans in Llorente's room and surrounding areas to eliminate the stench.

Although police are still conducting an investigation into Llorente's death, authorities said it appeared that he had killed himself.

The pathologist did an autopsy on Llorente yesterday morning, and although the cause of death is still u nder investigation, it appears that he hanged himself," said John Prindiville, an investigator at the Alameda County Coroner's Office. "The police are lean­ ing towards suicide.

Prindiville said Llorente had been invited by someone to his room, but Llorente, described as a quiet and reserved person by his friends, was from Madrid, Spain, and was studying East Asian languages. Tracy DeLeon, a dormitory front desk staff, said Llorente had lived at the International House for his entire four year's at Cal.

Ethan Lewis, a graduate student in economics, said every time he saw Llorente, he would smile and chat. "He never seemed down at all," he said.

The Observer • INSIDE

Tuesday, April 21, 1998,
Theological Union at the Theology and Graduate
Testament studies and spirituality at the Jesuit School of Theology and Graduate Theological Union at the University of California-
Berkeley, will be the commencement speaker at Saint Mary's College.
Graduation ceremonies at Saint Mary's will be at noon on Saturday, May 16, in the Le Mans Courtyard.
Recognized internationally as one of the most creative and original thinkers in the fields of spirituality and the theology of religious life, Schneiders of the Congregation of the Immaculate Heart of Mary is known for her contemplative yet contemporary interpretation of the biblical message that speaks to academic and lay readers.
She is the author of seven books that examine theological topics ranging from biblical exegesis and feminist spirituality to religious vocational topics. She has also contributed over 100 articles and talks to numerous publications.
A graduate of Marygrove College, she received her master’s degree in philosophy from the University of Detroit, then earned her licentiate in sacred theology from the Institut Catholique of Paris and her doctor of sacred theology degree from the Pontifical Gregorian University in Rome.
She currently sits on the Catholic Commission on Intellectual and Cultural Affairs and the editorial boards of New Testament Studies and Christian Spirituality Bulletin, as well as the board of the Care Through Touch Institute. She received a two-year Lilly Endowment grant to support her work on contemporary Roman Catholic religious life.

In 1986, Schneiders was the Madeleva Lecturer in Spirituality at Saint Mary’s. Her lecture, titled “Women and the Word: The Gender of God in the New Testament and the Spirituality of Women,” was published and proved to be such a success that it is still in print 12 years later.

Great Summer Job Opportunity in Chicago

Seeking energetic student for summer internship/service project. Individual would be actively involved in all aspects of a start-up not for profit agency founded by fellow Domers. Job offers ability to sharpen communication, planning and implementation skills while teaching the individual about the basics of operational and financial management. Position is an excellent resume builder and networking opportunity. Housing in the heart of trendy Lincoln Park will be provided. A can’t miss opportunity for someone who wants a different summer experience. Interested parties should call Brendan Gilboy: 312-938-5358 ASAP.

Listening Session with Professor Nathan Hatch

The University Committee on Cultural Diversity will sponsor a listening session with Professor Nathan Hatch tonight, Tuesday, April 21, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the Hesburgh Library Auditorium. Professor Hatch will offer a 15-minute reflection on issues related to multicultural challenges and concerns at Notre Dame. After Professor Hatch’s comments, those in attendance will be invited to share their comments and concerns with him. Refreshments will be served.
interested in being on the Sophomore Literary Festival committee for next year?

Pick up applications outside the sub office

For information, call Jim Bilek at 4-1744
New report criticizes university research

WASHINGTON

Big universities too often neglect their undergraduates in favor of research, even though undergraduates pay a big chunk of the costs, says an independent report entitled "Reinventorying Undergraduate Education: A Blueprint for America's Research Universities," released yesterday. "Undergraduate students are often taught by badly trained or untrained teaching assistants, not the famous professors touted in the catalogs or recruiting materials."

Public school wins case over church

WASHINGTON

The Supreme Court today refused to force a New York City public school building for a church's weekly worship services. The court, without comment, rejected an appeal in which the church's lawyers argued that the school cannot refuse to allow worship services on its property while allowing some community groups to rent rooms after hours. "This is an appeal to the church's school board," the district's policy violates the church's constitutional freedoms of speech and religion. The Bronx Household of Faith, an evangelical Christian church, meets in a house and has bought land to construct a church building. In September 1994, the school permitted the use and the church made a formal request to rent the Anne Cross Messervey Middle School in the Bronx on Sunday mornings.

Virginia court sentences boy in 'Pimp' case

FAIRFAX, Va.

A 13-year-old boy who bragged to police that he nicknamed was "Mr. Pimp" was sentenced Monday to two months in juvenile detention and ordered to seek counseling for sex offenders, after he was found guilty of pimping a 14-year-old classmate who are allowed to pay taxes but are barred from voting, the guests at the banquet who pay their share of the tab but are given leftovers," said the report from the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. The panel of scholars and some outsiders assembled by the nonprofit organization found that undergraduate students are often taught by badly trained or untrained teaching assistants, not the famous professors touted in the catalogs or recruiting materials.

---

Mexican Nobel laureate dies

CHICAGO

Poet and philosopher Octavio Paz, who probed the contradictions of the Mexican soul through prose and verse and lost many friends and won him a Nobel Prize, died Saturday afternoon after a long illness. He was 84.

President Ernesto Zedillo announced the death from his jet yesterday while he was returning from the Summit of the Americas in Chile. Mexican news reports said Paz died late Sunday at his home in Mexico City neighborhood of Coyoacan.

Paz had been sick for years and what he called a "long and wretched" illness. In November, after a European news agency prematurely reported his death, he revealed a television station to joke: "It pains me that those who instead of killing me are in such a hurry.

After a wake yesterday at the national theater that brought politicians, politicians and writers gathered at the nation's Fine Arts Palace for a memorial service for one of their most admired sages. "This is an irreparable loss for contemporary thought and culture, not just for Latin America but for the entire world," the president said.

"He is the greatest Mexican of all time and on one of the principal writers of this century," said prominent historian Enrique Krauze.

In Washington, State Department spokesman James Rubin said: "We in the United States will remember him with great affection and gratitude for his revealing explanations of the reality and complexity of our southern neighbor." Using a clear and simple writing style that broke with Mexico's baroque literary traditions, Paz explored the Mexican psyche, including the contradiction between its Indian and Spanish roots.

He still is best known for two of his earlier works: the book-length essay "The Labyrinth of Solitude" and the poem "Sun Stone." Paz won the Miguel Cervantes Prize, Spain's most prestigious award, in 1982. In 1987, he was given the T.S. Eliot Award in Chicago. And three years after that, he captured the Nobel Prize for literature.

He also founded Vueltavista, which would become Mexico's Latin America's most prestigious literary magazine, in 1976.

Paz grew up on the edge of Mexico City. His father was secretary to Emiliano Zapata, a peasant leader of Mexico's 1910-1920 revolution. When Zapata was murdered in 1919, the Paz family went into exile in Los Angeles.

Back in Mexico, Paz published his first poem when he was 16 and his first essay a year later. During law school at Mexico City's National Autonomous University, he joined a Marxist student group, the Mexican President Ernesto Zedillo eulogizes Mexican Nobel literature laureate Octavio Paz yesterday during a memorial service at Mexico City's Palace of Fine Arts.

---

Jury convicts radical anti-abortionists

CHICAGO

In an unusual use of a racketeering law designed to fight the mob, a federal jury ruled Monday that anti-abortion protesters used threats and violence to shut down clinics - a verdict that could cost the movement millions.

Although the abortion foes were ordered to pay only about $258,000, the class-action ruling opened the door for more claims by as many as 1,000 clinics across the country.

"This is the biggest courtroom defeat for the anti-abortion movement ever," declared Ray Clayton, an attorney for the National Organization for Women, which was a defendant in the lawsuit.

Defense attorneys said the verdict was "utterly preposterous" and Cardinal Francis George announced that the Chicago Archdiocese would consider joining the appeal as a friend of the court, calling the verdict "unjust."

"The jury in this case effectively equates freedom of speech with racketeering," the cardinal said in a statement.

The jury found that anti-abortion activist Joseph Schleider and two associates, Timothy Murphy and Andrew Schoelberg, engaged in 21 acts of extortion to shut down clinics. The jury also found that two anti-abortion organizations, the Pro-Life Action League and Operation Rescue, were part of the scheme.

The jury ordered the three activists and two organizations to pay $85,926.92 in damages, which will be tripled under the racketeering law.

The damages were awarded to abortion clinics in Milwaukee and Wilmington, Del., for security measures required after violence flared outside their doors. But a number of other clinics intend to file for class-action damages under the verdict.

"They want to bankrupt us - there's no question about that," said Schleider, executive director of the Pro-Life Action League.

Operation Rescue founder Randall Terry originally was named in the lawsuit. But already facing $169,000 in court awards from two other abortion lawsuits, he settled with NOW in January and was no longer part of the case.

He agreed not to participate in any criminal activity against abortion clinics, their staffs or patients or to belong to any group that does; violation of that agreement could cost him $15,000 and allow NOW to reinstate him as a defendant.

A number of other clinics intend to file for class-action damages under the verdict, according to clinic operators.

Wendy Crew, an attorney for the Alabama-based New Woman All Women Clinic, announced in Birmingham that the clinic was considering an effort to collect triple damages. A security guard was killed and a nurse badly injured in a Jan. 29 bombing at the facility. The suspect remains at large.

A turning point in the case came in 1994 when the U.S. Supreme Court overturned lower-court rulings and gave NOW permission to refile the lawsuit under the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act.

It was the first nationwide class-action lawsuit ever filed against the anti-abortion movement under RICO. Congress passed the law in 1970 as a weapon against organized crime and, in recent years, businesses have also become targets of its civil provisions.
Journalist continued from page 1

She believes that everyone learns by doing. Gregory also said that internships are also very valuable opportunities.

When asked how she balances a career and a family, Gregory said that “women can have it all, but not at the same time.” She said it becomes extremely difficult to balance a personal and a professional life.

Gregory stated that most of her work is full of “high stress and deadline pressure.” But how does she feel about her career decision?

“I love it,” she said. “Expanding on her love of pressure, Gregory said that individuals must “learn to be cautious and deal with the pressure.” She said that she “responds better to the pressure.”

Gregory also discussed ethical journalism.

“Integrity is about all you have no matter what field you go into,” she said.

She also stressed the importance of reporting both sides of a story with equal access.

As a contributor to the Arts and Entertainment Channel’s “Biography” series, Gregory won a 1994 Cable Award for best documentary with her biography of Hillary Rodham Clinton.

Gregory has won many additional journalism awards. One of her television specials on defense contractors won the national Headliners Award for Outstanding Investigative Reporting by a TV Network.

“TV Guide” included Gregory in its list of “Top Ten Investigative Reporters in Television News,” and in 1995, she won the prestigious Edward Murrow Award for her daily wrap-ups of the O.J. Simpson trial.

“Ibetta Gregory made journalism real for the audience. I like how she described the decision-making process in assigning stories and the challenge of meeting deadlines,” said Saint Mary’s president, Marilou Eldred. “She portrays well the balance faced by so many women with demanding careers and raising a family.”

“She completely confirmed my ideas about my future goals,” said Heather O’Donnell, a communication major.

“She is a captivating speaker. She talked about the excitement of her career, the ethical dilemmas and her personal life issues she faces,” Lori McKenna, student body vice-president added.

The Shaheen President’s Lecture Series is endowed by the Shaheen family, longtime benefactors of Saint Mary’s. The series is designed to bring the students and Michiana community into direct contact with significant changes occurring in society as seen through the eyes of those most closely involved.

Urban Plunge Task Force
For Fall of 1998

• Be involved with coordination of the Urban Plunge
• All participants are invited to apply

Applications currently available in the Center for Social Concerns
Monday, April 27, 1998 is the deadline

GRADUATES

Look behind you and remember where it is that you came from.
Look in front of you and see where it is that you want to go.
Look down that long and winding road and ask yourself...

How the heck am I gonna get there?

Credit Cards
Auto Loans
First Mortgages
Internet Banking
24-Hour Loan-By-Phone
Touch-Tone Teller

For People. Not For Profit.
(219) 239-6611 or (800) 522-6611
www.ndfcu.org
e-mail: ndfcu@skyenet.net

Independent of the University
Court defeats anti-abortion movement

Associated Press

Tuesday, April 21, 1998

Although the abortion foes were ordered to pay only about $328,000, the class-action ruling opened the door for more claims by as many as 1,000 clinics across the country.

"This is the biggest court-room defeat for the anti-abortion movement ever," declared Ray Clayton, an attorney for the National Organization for Women, which filed the lawsuit in 1986.

Defense attorneys said the verdict would be appealed and Cardinal Francis George announced that the Chicago Archdiocese would consider joining the appeal as a friend of the court, calling the verdict "unjust."

"The decision in this case effectively equates freedom of speech with racketeering," the cardinal said in a statement.

The jury found that anti-abortion activist Joseph Scheidler and two associates, Timothy Murphy and Andrew Scholberg, engaged in 21 acts of extortion to shut down clinics. The jury also found that two anti-abortion organizations, the Pro-Life Action League and Operation Rescue, were part of the scheme.

The jury ordered the three activists and two organizations to pay $85,926.92 in damages, which will be tripled under the racketeering law.

The damages were awarded to abortion clinics in Milwaukee and Wilmington, Del., for security measures required after violence flared outside their doors. But a number of other clinics intend to file for class-action damages under the verdict.

"They want to bankrupt us — there's no question about that," said Scheidler, executive director of the Pro-Life Action League.

Operation Rescue founder Randall Terry originally was named in the lawsuit. But already facing $169,000 in court awards from two other abortion lawsuits, he settled with NOW in January and was no longer part of the case.

---

Meeting for Notre Dame Lesbian and Gay Students Group

Today, Tuesday, April 21, 1998

For time and location of meeting, call: 1-8041

NDLGS Group Advisors: Fr. Tom Gaughan, C.S.C

Sr. Mary Louise Gude, C.S.C.

All Meetings are private and confidential.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>... CIO</th>
<th>LIBRARIAN</th>
<th>INTERFACE DESIGNER</th>
<th>PRESERVATIONIST</th>
<th>WEBMASTER ...</th>
<th>RENOWNED FACULTY</th>
<th>ENGAGED IN THE WORLD</th>
<th>LEADING-EDGE RESEARCH</th>
<th>MULTIDISCIPLINARY LEARNING</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The</td>
<td>Information</td>
<td>Age</td>
<td>Is Here.</td>
<td>Envision It.</td>
<td>School of Information</td>
<td>University of Michigan</td>
<td>www.si.umich.edu/envisionit/</td>
<td>734.763.2285</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

CLC continued from page 1

"This is the biggest court-room defeat for the anti-abortion movement ever," declared Ray Clayton, an attorney for the National Organization for Women, which filed the lawsuit in 1986.

Defense attorneys said the verdict would be appealed and Cardinal Francis George announced that the Chicago Archdiocese would consider joining the appeal as a friend of the court, calling the verdict "unjust."

"The decision in this case effectively equates freedom of speech with racketeering," the cardinal said in a statement.

The jury found that anti-abortion activist Joseph Scheidler and two associates, Timothy Murphy and Andrew Scholberg, engaged in 21 acts of extortion to shut down clinics. The jury also found that two anti-abortion organizations, the Pro-Life Action League and Operation Rescue, were part of the scheme.

The jury ordered the three activists and two organizations to pay $85,926.92 in damages, which will be tripled under the racketeering law.

The damages were awarded to abortion clinics in Milwaukee and Wilmington, Del., for security measures required after violence flared outside their doors. But a number of other clinics intend to file for class-action damages under the verdict.

"They want to bankrupt us — there’s no question about that," said Scheidler, executive director of the Pro-Life Action League.

Operation Rescue founder Randall Terry originally was named in the lawsuit. But already facing $169,000 in court awards from two other abortion lawsuits, he settled with NOW in January and was no longer part of the case.
Shades of Gray

The Boy with the Ultimate Excuse

There used to be a kid in my neighborhood who was a couple of years older than I was. His name was Joe. Although our parents were good friends, we had a difficult time getting along. There was an underlying tension in our friendship, and when words failed us (they usually did), Joe would put us on the ground, punching and kicking each other as hard as we could.

Isaac Ruiz

Joe and I went to the same school and lived just two blocks apart from each other — albeit in La Feria, that's practically across town. But even as children, we knew we lived in different worlds. My parents wouldn't let me out of the house until I finished my homework, my chores and everything else I had to do. And as much as she tried, Joe's mom couldn't keep tabs on him. When I could, I'd ride my bike around the church parking lot with my church friends, but Joe would ride his all around town.

My friend Joe never did well in school — he was always in trouble for some reason or another — and it wasn't long before he was slapped with the label "hyperactive." Although this condition earns a politically correct Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD) classification, back then I thought his hyperactivity was the ultimate excuse for bad behavior. For Joe it was a source of shame.

"Joe, did you take your pill today?" his mom would ask on days when he was behaving especially bad. There were lots of those days. I remember one time that our mothers were talking on the phone. They didn't remember what they were talking about, but today, everyone knows where they were the day Joe first took scissors to the phone cord, and the second time, and...

And did he have a flare for pyrotechnics? Every Fourth of July, Joe would show up at my house with a box full of illegal fireworks bought in Mexico.

Armed with our weapons of mass destruction, we'd set out to make the neighbors kids look like pansies. Joe's love affair with fire wasn't limited to national holiday days. "You wanna come over and play with gasoline?" he'd ask one Sunday. I didn't join him, but the next day at school, there was something different about Joe. His eyes, brows and eyelashes had burned off when he got too close to the fire. For a while, he walked around with a hairless face. But that was Joe. As we grew up, we grew apart. I stopped spending my time beating him up or watching him set things on fire. From the little I saw of him, I knew that he had taken up drugs and was keeping bad company. Sometime in high school, he was prosecuted for arson, and he's still in jail.

His family tells me that he no longer takes his ADD medication. His attempt to earn a GED in prison has failed, and trips before the parole board haven't fared any better. But that's not where Joe's story ends.

It's recently been revealed that Joe had been the victim of sexual abuse by a La Feria man. The abuse had continued for more than a decade. When we were children, I thought Joe used his ultimate excuse, "hyperactivity," to get away with everything. As an adult, Joe was too ashamed to raise his history of sexual abuse at trial. He received a maximum sentence, and today, he receives no assistance in dealing with the trauma.

I remember Joe's grandparents used to live with him and his mom. When he'd get in trouble, his frail grandfather, barely able to speak, would rise and tell his mother not to scold him. "No me peguen!" (Don't hit him.)

Joe's mom would proceed with the punishment, though. Back then, no one listened to the old man. Today, we all wish we had.

Isaac Ruiz is a first year law student. His column appears every other Tuesday. E-mail him at isaac.ruiz.12@nd.edu.

The views expressed in this column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.
Robert Novak Washington Post

to Play Role in High School Education

A n increasing number of high school students cannot find jobs because of their sexual orientation. Training programs in the field of education experts who spoke during congressional hearings on vocational education increasingly targeted the role of high school graduates are facing a bleak future.

Michele Costello

Peers major who lives in Pangburn Hall. The two expressed in this column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.
Scene

It's that time of year again!

AnTostal Returns. This Time with Greg Brady.

By ADAM MALLORD
Scene Copy Editor

Students look forward to finals week as much as they look forward to getting root canals. The anxiety of the upcoming finals week is something that can be quelled, and the festivities of AnTostal might be the solution you are looking for.

AnTostal, created in 1968 by the Hall President's Council, began as an activity that would be comparable to "Greek Week" at other universities at that time. The three-day festival (Friday, Thursday, and Friday) took place in the spring of 1968. Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students. They had to fill up a two-pound coffee bucket. The second was a race between teams of ten students to fill up a 55-gallon water drum using a five-gallon bucket. The third was a mud run in order to catch the pigs and bring them to a designated location.

The second year of AnTostal appears to have been even more fun, with events such as a beer can stack contest, a kissing contest in front of the HPC, the highest stack of cans by 10 p.m., using a 5-gallon container, won a case of beer. Another addition to the activities was a hose house in the middle of South Quad. Students had the chance to have their friends captured by two hose operators and put in the hose until they paid to be released.

Cow-milking does not seem like it would be a lot of fun. But in the second annual AnTostal event, they had a contest for that too. The person who could fill a Dixie cup the fastest and then drink the product of their labor won the test. Spots in the contest were limited, though, because cows only have a limited supply of milk. Over the next couple of years, several other events were added to AnTostal, including a kissing contest (in which only lips could touch), the Jocks vs. Saint Mary's College Basketball game, an impersonation contest, piano smashing and the Irish Wake.

The winner of the first kissing contest, J.T. Lyons, won with a kiss of six seconds. And there were hundreds of people there. That's why we had to change the competition. The first Kiss-off was a slow-mo kiss-off. There were also a lot of fun with the many activities at this year's AnTostal celebration.

"Greg Brady's speech was supposed to be crazy and fun. It was not serious. He will talk about his off-the-set romance with Marcia Brady (Maureen McCormick), and he will also most likely dress up in 70s clothes.

Another event scheduled is Tuesday's Singled Out dating game. Students who wish to participate in the Singled Out show need to show up at the LaFortune Ballroom at 7 p.m. Students who want to watch the show need to arrive by 7 p.m.

Another event planned is the Double Dare game, which is modeled after the reality TV show. The game will include trivia and physical challenges. The winners of the Double Dare will also be tied dying, bead-making, and sno-cones.

On a more disappointing note, Vanilla Ice will not be coming to Notre Dame as planned because there would be too many chairs set up in front of the HPC. Evidently, Vanilla Ice only performs when people can mosh to "Ice, Ice, Baby.

The festivities will close on Sunday with the Hostile Tostal run, which is a 5 kilometer run that will be held at Stepan at 1:45 p.m. There may or may not be any beer can towers, mud pits, pigs, kissing games or mud pits, all of which can be a lot of fun with the many activities at this year's AnTostal celebration.

Decades Day

Monday, April 20

Future Day

Tuesday, April 21

60's Day

Wednesday, April 22

70's Day

Thursday, April 23

80's Day

Friday, April 24

Saturday

April 25

Alumni-Student Picnic

11-1:30 pm

JACC

Sunday

April 26

Hostile Tostal Run

$1.50 St. Pat's Quad

Java and Jazz

11 a.m.-2 p.m.

LaFortune Ballroom
n, so let the ‘tostals’ begin

“Decades fun on the Quad”

Above: AnTostal festivities began yesterday with “Decades Fun on the Quad,” which provided an opportunity for students to tie-dye T-shirts at Fieldhouse Mall.

Above right: From 4-7 p.m., various bands, including a mariachi band, performed at Fieldhouse Mall.

Below left: SUB provided cotton candy as part of the AnTostal Kick-Off.

SMCTostal: coming Thursday to a college near you

BY JANICE WEIERS
Assistant Scene Editor

Jump out of a plane.
Or rather, just pretend to.
Race a canoe for prize money.
Listen to local bands perform without taking a cab.

All these activities are being hosted by Saint Mary’s on Thursday as they celebrate SMCTostal, an annual end-of-the-year celebration. The theme of this year’s event is “Carnivale.” And that’s exactly what the campus will look like.

The kick-off activity will begin at noon and will continue all afternoon. Extreme Air, a simulated sky-dive emulator, will make its first appearance in South Bend on the Saint Mary’s library lawn. So, if you’ve ever wondered what it was like to jump out of an airplane, this is your chance.

A canoe race will take over the lake between 3 and 5 p.m., with prizes being awarded to the winners and many confused geese to look forward to. Frisbee tossing and rollerblading activities will round out the afternoon.

A DJ will be on-hand to insure foot-tapping continues all afternoon and throughout dinner. Saint Mary’s students as well as Notre Dame students are eligible to eat picnic food on the lawn. And even if you forget to get a CO-EX, you have no excuse, because they will be available at the door for free with proper identification.

Some local bands will be on-hand to help with the celebration. Beginning at 7 p.m., campus band Hotel Prati will perform, followed by Letter 8 on the Haggart Terrace. Gravity Hill will follow at 9:30 p.m.

And after the musical entertainment comes to a close, follow the crowd to the library lawn once again for the last activity of the day: a movie. Air Force One will be played on a big screen beginning at 11 p.m.

T-shirts can be purchased, food can be eaten and prizes can be won. So there aren’t many reasons not to come, unless you’re allergic to fun.

“It should be a good time. We tried to extend the activities this year to make it a full-day event,” said Katie Wehby, chairwoman of Student Activities Board. “I just hope the weather is nice.”

Either way, the Saint Mary’s community has two years of celebration to catch up on. Last year, the activities were interrupted midday by a bomb threat. Maybe a cloudy day wouldn’t be the worst thing that could happen.
By ANTHONY BIANCO
Sports Writer

The 25th-ranked Notre Dame ultimate Frisbee squad took the spirit of its game to a higher level this weekend as they turned in one of their best ever performances, sweeping the competition in the Indiana-Illinois sectionals.

The tournament divided which teams would advance to next weekend’s regional tournament, held at Ann Arbor, Michigan. The men’s team, named Papal Flage, went 6-0 on Saturday and Sunday to repeat as sectional champions while Wombat, the women’s squad, swept all four of its contests to win the sectional title for the first time. Indiana finished second in both competitions.

“This has been the most competitive year for us, and our most successful,” said Kerry O’Brien, the women’s team captain. “And today, we’re reaping our nemesis, Indiana.”

“This tournament was real successful this year,” said Joe Kerbelski, the men’s team captain and the coordinator for the Indiana-Illinois section. “The tournament brought two new teams with strong programs in Augustana College [Illinois] and Rose-Hulman [Indiana].”

This tournament, like all ultimate Frisbee matches, relied on an active following of the spirit of the game. Focusing on friendly competition and a love of the game rather than of winning, ultimate Frisbee players are responsible for calling their own fouls and accepting from opponents.

Thus the game is without officials to ref-
Campus Ministry This Week

Tuesday, April 14, 7:00 pm, Campus Ministry-Badin Office
Campus Bible Study

Wednesday, April 22, 3:00 pm, Basilica of Sacred Heart
Memorial Service in Celebration of the Life of Dr. Erskine A. Peters

Friday-Saturday, April 24-25
ARE YOU LESBIAN? GAY? BISEXUAL? QUESTIONING?
ARE YOU A FRIEND OF SOMEONE WHO IS?
Campus Ministry's SECOND ANNUAL RETREAT for lesbian, gay and bisexual undergraduate students and their friends.
*STUDENT-LED  *STUDENT TALKS  *CONVERSATION  *PRAYER
For more information or to register, please call or e-mail:
Kate, 1-5242 katharine.s.barrett.28@nd.edu
Mark, 4-1933 mark.f.massoud.1@nd.edu
Alyssa, 4-1884 alyssa.l.hellrung.5@nd.edu

Saturday-Sunday, April 25-26
Senior ROTC Retreat

Monday, April 27, 7:00 pm, Basilica
Mass and Rite of Confirmation
Presider: Bishop Daniel Jenky, CSC
Please come to support and celebrate with these men and women of the Notre Dame community!
Women's Golf

Irish back in action with best season performances

By GENE BRTALIK
Sports Writer

After a two week absence from the links, the women's golf team returned to action this past weekend at the Illinois Spring Classic and showed no signs of rust.

The team came out on the first day and played the best round of the season and second best of the year. Leading the way for the Irish was senior Tracy Melby, the winner of last year's Illinois Spring Classic. Melby came out and fired a 4 under 71 on the 5,840-yard Orange Course. The 71 matched the record for lowest round while the 4 under set a new standard for lowest round to par.

After day one it seemed that Melby would repeat as champion as she held a two-shot lead.

The second day saw Melby falter and record an 81 for a total of 152 and a second place finish behind Jessica Popiel of Toledo. Her score of 152 is the fourth lowest total for 86 holes in team history, while her 2 over is the best-ever 36-hole score to par. The team-leading finish also marked the 12th time she has finished first in her career, and she now stands in third place in that category.

As Melby faltered so did the rest of the team. They came away from day two with a team score of 332, which dropped them into a tie with host Illinois for first place.

Rounding out the field for the Irish was senior Katie King, who shot rounds of 77 and 81 to achieve a fifth-place finish out of 89 competitors.

Freshman Mary Klein's total of 163 was good enough for 13th place, following behind her in 14th place was sophomore Andrea Klee (164).

King's stroke average of 79.86 puts her on pace to best her record-breaking scoring average of 80.17 last year. Klee's score has counted in all 21 rounds that the team has played, which no player has done before in a season of 21 or more rounds.

Both King and Klee will be given shots to beat their respective records this weekend as the team travels to Ohio State to play in their last tournament of the season.
Notre Dame defines its role for remainder of season

By ALLISON KRILLA
Associate Sports Editor

Notre Dame's baseball team has worked consistently all season with one goal in mind — winning. And there's no question that the team has talent. But on this squad, the Brant Usts and Jeff Wagners are not the only ones stepping up to win games. Senior second baseman Todd Frye divulged the secret of Notre Dame's success: "Everyone understands their role."

Junior catcher Mike Knecht understands his role as a backup to first-team all-Big East selection Jeff Wagner. That hasn't stopped the five-foot-six Knecht from starting 11 more games than he did in 1997 and improving on his lone hit that year. Knecht ranks second on the team in an often unheralded category: sacrifice bunts. Frye holds the top spot with seven sac bunts on the year.

Outfielder Jeff Perconte also knows the importance of his role. Tonight against Michigan, Perconte finds himself in a familiar position in the batting order behind the hard-hitting Ust. "A lot of teams try to pitch around [Ust] because he's so good," said Perconte. "My job is to drive in runs when we've got guys on base, and just do whatever it takes up there to help the team."

Perconte, along with Jeff Felker, leads the team with three triples.

The Wolverines (15-16-1) host the Irish at Old Kent Park in Grand Rapids, Mich., at 7 p.m. Last year, Notre Dame was in the midst of a seven-game winning streak when Michigan overcame the Irish, 4-3.

Although below .500, the 1997 Big Ten regular-season conference champions present a formidable task for the Irish, who are riding a nine-game unbeaten streak. "We're excited to play them," said Perconte. "It's always fun to play at Old Kent Park. Plus, we'll be wearing our old-time uniforms and they'll be wearing theirs, and being a Big Ten school they always get a huge crowd."

Michigan began the season in the Top 25, but has since faltered. Leading the Wolverine attack is senior outfielder Derek Besco, who batted .391 with 11 homers and 63 RBI in 1997, and sibling Bryan, the lefty Besco brother who anchors the Wolverine infield at first base.

Tonight's contest is also a game the Irish need to win to keep their momentum in the weeks ahead, when they face the three toughest teams in the Big East — Seton Hall, St. John's and West Virginia. A win on the road against one of their oldest rivals would bode well for the coming weekend series on the road against the Seton Hall Pirates.

"We're playing three of the tougher teams in the conference coming up," said Perconte. "We just want to continue playing well right now."

Against Michigan, the home-run-hitting derby should continue, as Ust and Wagner vie for sole possession of the team lead, which is tied at 12.

---

TEACHING AND RESEARCH ABROAD!!

All first year students, sophomores and especially juniors interested in Graduate Study Abroad, don't miss the informational meeting with Professor Alain Toumayan

Thursday evening, April 23, 1998 at 6:30 pm in room 126 DeBartolo.
Williams and Brown lead team in weekend meets

By KATHLEEN O'BRIEN

The Notre Dame track and field team made the most of its opportunity to take on fierce competition in the Mt. Sac Relays and at a meet at Pomona College last weekend, getting strong performances from many Irish runners.

Mike Brown, a junior pole vaulter, took fourth in both meets. He vaulted 16'9" at Pomona and 17'0" at Mt. Sac.

"I think there were several really good performances this weekend. Everybody did well," said Brown. "Personally, I thought I could have done a lot better, but it was a great opportunity to compete against the best vaulters in the nation."

Senior Errol Williams, a captain and indoor all-American, won in the 110-meter high hurdles at Pomona College Friday and took third in the highly competitive Mt. Sac Relays on Sunday.

Both of these times were better than the NCAA provisional qualifying times, but fell short of his personal record.

All-American Jason Rexing placed sixth at Mt. Sac in the 5,000 meter run. His time of 14:02.18 was not only a personal best, but a NCAA provisional qualifying time.

Also at Mt. Sac, Jennifer Engelhardt jumped 5'7" for fifth place in the high jump and Berit Junker ran the 400 meter hurdles in 60 seconds flat.

Top performances at Pomona came by 800-meter runners Tom Kober and Phil Mishika, who earned third and fourth places, respectively, and Engelhardt, who leaped 5'7" for fifth place in the high jump.

"I thought Pomona went pretty well, and Mt. Sac also went well considering the level of competition," said track and field coach Joe Piane.
Powlus continued from page 20

speak for his ability. Powlus holds virtually every Notre Dame passing record and finished last season with a career-best 61 percent pass completion rate. "I heard several weeks ago that he may not get drafted," Davie said. "I figured with the amount of big games he's played and really with what he's accomplished at Notre Dame and maintaining through difficult times that [would have made him] attractive to some NFL teams." But it's not statistics or probability that will make Powlus an NFL standout. According to Davie, Powlus will succeed not despite his hardships at Notre Dame, but because of them. "I know he's been through a lot here," Davie said. "His experiences will help him at the next level. He's experienced things a lot of these other college quarterbacks haven't."

One thing Powlus may have going for him in the professional ranks actually could be the lack of expectation surrounding him. Heading into Notre Dame, Powlus was submerged in predictions of Heisman trophies and national championships. At least for now, he does not have to worry about the anticipation of super Bowl rings and MVP titles. But knowing about those pressures may give Powlus an added edge in crowded stadium situations.

"Tennessee got a steal as far as I'm concerned," said senior flanker Bobby Brown. "I think he'll make a great career in the NFL." Although Davie admitted to having limited knowledge on the subject, he stated that he thought Powlus was met with more than one offer as a free agent. But it's not statistics or probabilities that will make Powlus an NFL standout. According to Davie, Powlus will succeed not because of his hardships at Notre Dame, but because of them. "I heard several weeks ago that he may not get drafted," Davie said. "I figured with the amount of big games he's played and really with what he's accomplished at Notre Dame and maintaining through difficult times that [would have made him] attractive to some NFL teams." But it's not statistics or probability that will make Powlus an NFL standout. According to Davie, Powlus will succeed not despite his hardships at Notre Dame, but because of them. "I know he's been through a lot here," Davie said. "His experiences will help him at the next level. He's experienced things a lot of these other college quarterbacks haven't."

One thing Powlus may have going for him in the professional ranks actually could be the lack of expectation surrounding him. Heading into Notre Dame, Powlus was submerged in predictions of Heisman trophies and national championships. At least for now, he does not have to worry about the anticipation of super Bowl rings and MVP titles. But knowing about those pressures may give Powlus an added edge in crowded stadium situations.

"Tennessee got a steal as far as I'm concerned," said senior flanker Bobby Brown. "I think he'll make a great career in the NFL." Although Davie admitted to having limited knowledge on the subject, he stated that he thought Powlus was met with more than one offer as a free agent. But based on my experiences with Ron ... he'll work tremendously hard to please the coaches. But I know as far as intangible things, I wouldn't bet against him."
Top teams advance with ease

By KATHLEEN LOPEZ
Sports Editor

Sometimes perseverance pays off. Rallying seems to be the strength of some teams as the amount of Bookstore opponents dwindles to 6.

Perhaps in one of the best games in yesterday's action, Doctor Teeth and the Electric Mayhem outlasted a fiery penetration in a grinding battle. Tempers flared as the game progressed and the lead changed hands numerous times.

"We came out and played hard," Doctor Teeth's Jerry Barca said.

The game turned into a saga with the second half being marred by foul. Fouls-called for penetration slowed the game's tempo. In the end, the experience of Doctor Teeth came from behind to capture a spot in the round of 64.

Doctor Teeth rallied from a 20-17 deficit to clinch a spot in the round of 64. Como Lumber gave the team the win as he poured in the final two buckets.

Up next for the group is the round of 64. Team 591's Dolan complemented his teammate's play with his fadeaway jumpers. Team 591's height advantage progressed and the lead was much improved as the season advances.

Irish continued from page 20

The game turned into a saga with the second half being marred by foul. Fouls-called for penetration slowed the game's tempo. In the end, the experience of Doctor Teeth came from behind to capture a spot in the round of 64.

Doctor Teeth rallied from a 20-17 deficit to clinch a spot in the round of 64. Como Lumber gave the team the win as he poured in the final two buckets.

Up next for the group is the round of 64. Team 591's Dolan complemented his teammate's play with his fadeaway jumpers. Team 591's height advantage progressed and the lead was much improved as the season advances.

Irish continued from page 20

The game turned into a saga with the second half being marred by foul. Fouls-called for penetration slowed the game's tempo. In the end, the experience of Doctor Teeth came from behind to capture a spot in the round of 64.

Doctor Teeth rallied from a 20-17 deficit to clinch a spot in the round of 64. Como Lumber gave the team the win as he poured in the final two buckets.

Up next for the group is the round of 64. Team 591's Dolan complemented his teammate's play with his fadeaway jumpers. Team 591's height advantage progressed and the lead was much improved as the season advances.
ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1 Convention attire
2 — mater
3 Over, on Born
4 Big name in microwaves
5 Anon
6 It borders the 7 — opus
8 Drama winner, with "The"
9 Anon
10 Sugar Snap Peas
11 Tomato Soup
12 Mexican Potato Skins
13 South
14 North
15 Glazed Baked Ham
16 Holiday cupcakes
17 Relaxation
18 Mafia V.I.P.'s
19 Baby
20 Early P.M.
21 Observed
22 Part of TWA
23 Must
24 More cunning
25 Computer for a
26 Ingredient
27 Not clean
28 Bernard's river
29 "Bill" — Thirl (1930 hit)
30 Pool needs
31 Defeat
32 Nonplus
33 French philosopher
34 Test, as ore
35 RH stop
36 Computer for a
37 Tavern potables
38 Dancer
39 French river or
40 French despot
41 Bivouac
42 Tavern potables
43 Russian despot
44 Computer for a
45 Flower fragrances
46 Computer for a
47 Russian despot
48 French river or
49 French despot
50 French river or
51 French despot
52 French river or
53 Tavern potables
54 Bouquet
55 Hammatt
56 Computer for a
57 Publicity info
58 To — ice
59 Galsworthy
60 Bixby
61 Williams Morris employee
62 Radar point
63 Small fry
64 Je ani basket
65 "Very funny!"
66 — Bakers 40's-50's
g
67 Night crawlers, e.g.
68 Painless
69 Bixby
70 Affect
71 Sugar Snap Peas
72 Tomato Soup
73 Mexican Potato Skins
74 South
75 North
76 Glazed Baked Ham
77 Holiday cupcakes
78 Relaxation
79 Mafia V.I.P.'s
80 Baby
81 Early P.M.
82 Observed
83 Part of TWA
84 Must
85 More cunning
86 14th-century literary classic, with "The"
87 Choir voice
88 French river or department
89 Williams Morris employee
90 Radar point
91 Small fry
92 Je ani basket
93 Fowl
94 Fowl
95 Fowl
96 Fowl
97 Fowl
98 Fowl
99 Fowl
100 Fowl
101 Fowl
102 Fowl
103 Fowl
104 Fowl
105 Fowl
106 Fowl
107 Fowl
108 Fowl
109 Fowl
110 Fowl
111 Fowl
112 Fowl
113 Fowl
114 Fowl
115 Fowl
116 Fowl
117 Fowl
118 Fowl
119 Fowl
120 Fowl
121 Fowl
122 Fowl
123 Fowl
124 Fowl
125 Fowl
126 Fowl
127 Fowl
128 Fowl
129 Fowl
130 Fowl
131 Fowl
132 Fowl
133 Fowl
134 Fowl
135 Fowl
136 Fowl
137 Fowl
138 Fowl
139 Fowl
140 Fowl
141 Fowl
142 Fowl
143 Fowl
144 Fowl
145 Fowl
146 Fowl
147 Fowl
148 Fowl
149 Fowl
150 Fowl
151 Fowl
152 Fowl
153 Fowl
154 Fowl
155 Fowl
156 Fowl
157 Fowl
158 Fowl
159 Fowl
160 Fowl
161 Fowl
162 Fowl
163 Fowl
164 Fowl
165 Fowl
166 Fowl
167 Fowl
168 Fowl
169 Fowl
170 Fowl
171 Fowl
172 Fowl
173 Fowl
174 Fowl
175 Fowl
176 Fowl
177 Fowl
178 Fowl
179 Fowl
180 Fowl
181 Fowl
182 Fowl
183 Fowl
184 Fowl
185 Fowl
186 Fowl
187 Fowl
188 Fowl
189 Fowl
190 Fowl
191 Fowl
192 Fowl
193 Fowl
194 Fowl
195 Fowl
196 Fowl
197 Fowl
198 Fowl
199 Fowl
200 Fowl
201 Fowl
202 Fowl
203 Fowl
204 Fowl
205 Fowl
206 Fowl
207 Fowl
208 Fowl
209 Fowl
210 Fowl
211 Fowl
212 Fowl
213 Fowl
214 Fowl
215 Fowl
216 Fowl
217 Fowl
218 Fowl
219 Fowl
220 Fowl
221 Fowl
222 Fowl
223 Fowl
224 Fowl
225 Fowl
226 Fowl
227 Fowl
228 Fowl
229 Fowl
230 Fowl
231 Fowl
232 Fowl
233 Fowl
234 Fowl
235 Fowl
236 Fowl
237 Fowl
238 Fowl
239 Fowl
240 Fowl
241 Fowl
242 Fowl
243 Fowl
244 Fowl
245 Fowl
246 Fowl
247 Fowl
248 Fowl
249 Fowl
250 Fowl
251 Fowl
252 Fowl
253 Fowl
254 Fowl
255 Fowl
256 Fowl
257 Fowl
258 Fowl
259 Fowl
260 Fowl
261 Fowl
262 Fowl
263 Fowl
264 Fowl
265 Fowl
266 Fowl
267 Fowl
268 Fowl
269 Fowl
270 Fowl
271 Fowl
272 Fowl
273 Fowl
274 Fowl
275 Fowl
276 Fowl
277 Fowl
278 Fowl
279 Fowl
280 Fowl
281 Fowl
282 Fowl
283 Fowl
284 Fowl
285 Fowl
286 Fowl
287 Fowl
288 Fowl
289 Fowl
290 Fowl
291 Fowl
292 Fowl
293 Fowl
294 Fowl
295 Fowl
296 Fowl
297 Fowl
298 Fowl
299 Fowl
300 Fowl
301 Fowl
302 Fowl
303 Fowl
304 Fowl
305 Fowl
306 Fowl
307 Fowl
308 Fowl
309 Fowl
310 Fowl
311 Fowl
312 Fowl
313 Fowl
314 Fowl
Jim Sanson, assigned to kickoff duties last season, suffered a torn Saturday and Mike Doughy Tennessee Oilers. He will join weekend's seven-round draft, second-rate welcome.

The attention of playing behind who was also picked up as a quarterback Steve McNair. Agent ye sterd a y by the third round of the draft pros: Allen Rossum, who went two 1997 teammates into the third of Powlus was picked up as a free agent QB who they had at quarterback. Think Ron is a great competitor. Reasons why he wasn't picked? Powlus will accompany only third round of the draft. Reasons why he wasn't picked?