Students help Kids Corp. spread hope

By ANNE MARIE MATTINGLY

Students struggling within the bleak Newark, N.J., school system may now find a glimmer of hope with an organization called Kids Corporation and the help of some Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students.

Half of Newark ninth-graders drop out before completing high school, and, in 1994, 20 of 38 schools tested had no students that could pass basic proficiency tests. But Kids Corporation, a nonprofit group that provides educational opportunities for Newark children, is trying to change all that. "They're not given a fair chance from the start," said Kids Corporation recruiting director Brian Klausner of the program's participants. "We provide resources to the kids to get them an equal opportunity. If they had the proper education, they could be as successful as anyone, but our society lets them fall by the wayside."

The program consists of a combination of a five-subject curriculum in the classrooms of 10 local schools and field trip or camp activities, according to Twentieth Murray-Nolan, a four-year volunteer and last summer's camp director. The program is run by college students who live at the camp as well as teachers, she said.

Klausner pointed out that Notre Dame and Saint Mary's are the educational institutions with the greatest representation among participants, numbering 14 of 120 total students last year.

"The majority of the staff is seniors," she said, noting that future opportunities include the Holocaust, math, social studies, science, reading and Newark history. "The goal of the program is not for them to be way ahead, but just to maintain their skills ... it was so they would be up to par for the next grade."

Students on the trip visited Recruiting visit ND, SMC campuses

By RUTH SNELL

Democrats, Republicans, and-impeachment, oh my!

On the first Monday of fall break, a group of Saint Mary's students embarked on a unique educational tour of the nation's capital. The five-day visit to Washington D.C., coordinated by Claude Renshaw, a Saint Mary's business professor, was an opportunity many students chose not to pass up. "I had never been to Washington and always wanted to go," said Janet Horvath, a junior business major. "After my first trip, I can't imagine seeing the city any other way."

Students on the trip visited several popular landmarks, including the Holocaust Museum, Ford Theater and the Arlington National Cemetery. Because of contacts Renshaw has in D.C., many through Saint Mary's College graduates, the group was able to tour areas of many government buildings which are otherwise inaccessible to the general public.

In addition to the usual tourist stops, the group was able to view wings of the FBI building which are usually designated "off-limits" to visitors, and a member of Indiana Senator Ben Cat's staff personally guided the students through the Capitol Building.

Fall break capital visit enthuses SMC students

By DEREK BETCHER

A new parking lot adjacent to the D-6 lot on the south end of campus will open for student use as soon as contractors apply a final surface layer of asphalt and paint parking stripes. Once weather permits these tasks' completion, the D-6 extension will open, adding 480 parking spaces on the south end of campus to supplement the 800 existing spots.

South Quad juniors and sophomores who were forced to park in the D-2 lot on the northeast end of campus will be allowed to park in the new area, and no new parking stickers will be required, according to assistant director of Security/Police Phil Johnson. Students displaying D-2 stickers on their automobiles will be allowed to park in the D-6 extension for the remainder of this academic year.

"We don't want to have to require several hundred students to come back to the security building and re-register their cars," Johnson said. "It's going to be easier for students to do it this way."

The new arrangement will restore D-6 parking privileges to South Quad sophomores and juniors who have been forced to park in the...
Riddle Me This

Scenario: I was in NDH last night, contemplating my food choice as usual, when it struck me. I was pacing by the first little food sanctum, by the lunch meats and pretty lady with the hairnet, and I stepped up to the plate. I reviewed my choices. Some kind of strange beef, some kind of strange starch-by-plate; I reviewed my choices: some kind of saltwater fish, fries, and assorted heart-attacks we’re in freakin’ South Bend, Ind. The closest body of saltwater is exactly seven jillion miles away. You know, I’m sure the administration is willing to fork out thousands of dollars to ship gourmet seafood from the beautiful coast of California so I can enjoy a smorgasbord. So I’m looking at the fish, and I’m thinking to myself, where have I seen this before? And that, my friends, is when it actually struck me. I was pacing by the first little food sanctum, by the lunch meats and pretty lady with the hairnet, and I stepped up to the plate. I reviewed my choices. Some kind of saltwater fish, fries, and assorted heart-attacks

Syracuse, N.Y.
Syracuse Police on Saturday charged a Syracuse University Food Service employee with sexually assaulting female students while they slept in their rooms.

Cedric Holmes, 27, used his employee I.D. card early Saturday morning to enter the Brewster/Boland complex through the brookway Dining Center loading dock, SU spokesperson Kevin Morrow said. "He climbed into bed with several young women and reportedly molest­ed some young women," SU spokesperson Kevin Morrow said. "He knew that some young women left their doors unlocked." Holmes is charged with nine counts of second-degree burglary, four counts of first-degree sexual assault and five counts of first-degree attempted sexual abuse, Syracuse Police Sgt. Sam Galvagno said. "The intruder has a past of entering the dorm, specifically locked doors," Galvagno said.

Holmes allegedly entered the complex at about 1:30 a.m. with the intention of locating a female friend, Morrow said. His attempts to locate the friend were unsuccessful and Holmes proceeded to walk throughout Boland Hall breaking into unlocked dorm rooms, Morrow said. Holmes was intoxicated at the time of his illegal entries, Morrow added.

Outside the Dome

Food Services employee molestes sleeping students

Karen Chesley, an undecided freshman in the S.J. Quinney College of Law, said it was outrageous for University of Utah staff to be chargting a student for molesting young women.

sovethem of The Observer.

The Observer • INSIDE

Tuesday, October 27, 1998

The Observer • INSIDE

Tuesday, October 27, 1998

THE OBSERVER • 5901 KANSAS AVE., SUITE 201

A four-year University student underwent hospitalization Thursday night after binge drinking to celebrate his 21st birthday. The "Corner Crawl," a night of visiting corner bars and attempting to consume 21 shots of alcohol, is popular among University students to commemorate their 21st birthdays. Assistant dean of students Aaron Laushaw said the student consumed about 18 to 20 shots of alcohol and then passed out at the Biltmore Bar and Grill, located on Ellerwood Avenue. A rescue squad responded to the incident and pumped the student with a breathalyzer. University Hospital has since released the student in good condition, said WINA news reporter Bob Graham. The WINA news service reported the incident in a Friday morning broadcast based on information from an "anonymous source at the scene." WINA news director Susan McConnell said.

EVANSTON, Ill.
In the battle for equal pay for equal work, women may be their own worst enemies. According to a study conducted by John Jost, a professor of organizational behavior at Stanford University, women would pay themselves 18 percent less than men for the same amount of work. The results of the 1994 study were not significantly different from those obtained from similar studies done in the 1960s and '70s. The study was conducted at Yale University as part of Jost's doctoral dissertation in psychology. Just asked 123 undergraduates to write an essay on shopping by computer. An independent panel then read the essays and could not differentiate the essays written by men and women. "I do not think they would pay themselves for writing the essay. On average the women cited figures 18 percent lower than those by the men," Jost refers to this as "depressed entitlement effect."

SOUTH BEND, Ind.
Two incidents of anti-gay vandalism occurred on campus last week, bringing the total number of 1998 hate crimes at USG to six. Department of Public Safety officials said. Adam Law, an undeclared sophomore, discovered the word "gay" written in four-inch letters with blue marker on the wall outside his single apartment in Flumer Tower Friday morning. Law, an openly gay student, said he discovered the marking when he left his apartment at 5 a.m. Friday. Law said he did not notice the graffiti when he came home at 3 p.m. Friday. Law said the semester of the vandalism occurred during the night. Law reported the crime to DPS, which is now conducting an investigation of the incident. Three days earlier on October 20th, DPS received a report that a news article pertaining to gay and lesbian issues were removed from an office door in the Social Science Building between Oct. 15 and 19, said Bob Taylor, deputy chief of DPS.

NORTHERN IOWA UNIVERSITY
Women reinforce the glass ceiling

Baton Rouge, La.
A University traffic control officer was sent to the hospital after being hit by an intoxicated University staff member. Ernie Wright was charged with DWI, first-degree vehicular negligent injury and careless operation, according to LSUUPD Captain Ricky Adams. Wright was following another on a road adjacent to the football practice field, he said. "Police determined Wright made an attempt to pass the slower-moving vehicle in a curve in the road, " he said. Wright's vehicle strayed off the road and struck the officer, who was standing near the road preparing for the football game traffic. Adams said. The traffic controller was immediately transported to the hospital, where she was treated for moderate injuries, including damaged ribs, he said. Officers met with Wright and smelled an unknown alcohol beverage on him. "He was unable to perform a field sobriety test satisfactorily and was placed under arrest," Adams said.

NATIONAL WEATHER
The AccuWeather forecast for noon, Tuesday, Oct. 27

BOSTON 58 60 60

The AccuWeather® forecast for noon, Tuesday, Oct. 27.

5 Day South Bend Forecast

Baton Rouge 84 86

5 Day forecast for South Bend.

Los Angeles, Calif.
Employee drinks, drives, maims

Los Angeles, Calif.
Two incidents of anti-gay vandalism occurred on campus last week, bringing the total number of 1998 hate crimes at USG to six. Department of Public Safety officials said. Adam Law, an undeclared sophomore, discovered the word "gay" written in four-inch letters with blue marker on the wall outside his single apartment in Flumer Tower Friday morning. Law, an openly gay student, said he discovered the marking when he left his apartment at 5 a.m. Friday. Law said he did not notice the graffiti when he came home at 3 p.m. Friday. Law said the semester of the vandalism occurred during the night. Law reported the crime to DPS, which is now conducting an investigation of the incident. Three days earlier on October 20th, DPS received a report that a news article pertaining to gay and lesbian issues were removed from an office door in the Social Science Building between Oct. 15 and 19, said Bob Taylor, deputy chief of DPS.

SOUTH BEND WEATHER

60 62 62

The AccuWeather® forecast for noon, Tuesday, Oct. 27.

The Observer • INSIDE
A Free National Satellite Teleconference
Hosted By The University of Notre Dame
For Faculty and Staff

REACHING YOUR

FINANCIAL GOALS
TIPS FROM AMERICA’S EXPERTS

With the growing array of investment options and the recent changes in the tax laws, we can all use an update on personal finances.

Join best-selling author Jane Bryant Quinn, economist Peter Bernstein, and other top experts for a look at state-of-the-art investment products and strategies.

Whether you’re concerned about saving for retirement, your children’s college education or a new home, this program will make financial decision-making easier.

Date: October 28, 1998
Location: Center for Continuing Education, Room 100 (Across the street from the Morris Inn)
Time: 1:45 pm–3:30 pm

A TIAA-CREF representative will be available to answer questions following the broadcast. Space is available on a first come basis.
Students took tests provided by Corporation to ensure that the ones provided by Kids the Newark school system and being met, and noted that all of the children in her school showed improvement on the program tests by the end of the summer.

"Some people get frustrated, because there's only so much you can do," said Wejman. "You only have the kids from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m., and they're in another world from 3 p.m. until 8 a.m. the next day and on weekends." But Kids Corporation administrators strive to make the most of the time they share with the children, placing emphasis on out-of-classroom activities, as well as on making learning fun. Field trips to the nature camp, which Murray-Nolan likens to "a huge outdoor classroom," are rewards for attendance in school.

"If the kids attend school all nice days, on the 10th they go to camp," she explained. Nature camp activities, including physical challenges and a 35-station obstacle course, focus on building self-esteem, said Murray-Nolan.

"We have a 'you can do it' attitude," she said. The camp also includes a petting zoo with cows, horses, sheep and goats, as well as a swimming pool. Klausner noted that the kids reaction to the camp is unique. "Then get so engrossed in the littlest things because they have never been out of the city," he said.

Notre Dame senior Bridget McMahon, who worked as a camp counselor this past summer, expressed similar feelings. "The kids get excited about the little things we talk for granted. You can spend 15 minutes watching the ducks," she said. "My group found a turtle, and we spent all day making a terrarium for it and learning about turtles.

While Klausner estimates that 25 to 30 percent of the college workers are education majors, Wejman points out that anyone willing to work with the kids can be a teaching assistant.

"A lot of people in the program are interested in education, but a lot just wanted to help people," she said. McMahon believes that the program is very valuable, and a great opportunity for college students.

"It's such an awesome program, I would recommend it to anyone. Each day you help one person, and it makes you feel so good," she said. "When the kids come up to you and hug you and won't let go, you know they need your love and attention. They give you a different approach to life."

"Some people get frustrated, because there's only so much you can do," said Wejman. "You only have the kids from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m., and they're in another world from 3 p.m. until 8 a.m. the next day and on weekends."

But Kids Corporation administrators strive to make the most of the time they share with the children, placing emphasis on out-of-classroom activities, as well as on making learning fun. Field trips to the nature camp, which Murray-Nolan likens to "a huge outdoor classroom," are rewards for attendance in school.

"If the kids attend school all nice days, on the 10th they go to camp," she explained. Nature camp activities, including physical challenges and a 35-station obstacle course, focus on building self-esteem, said Murray-Nolan.

"We have a 'you can do it' attitude," she said. The camp also includes a petting zoo with cows, horses, sheep and goats, as well as a swimming pool. Klausner noted that the kids reaction to the camp is unique. "Then get so engrossed in the littlest things because they have never been out of the city," he said.

Notre Dame senior Bridget McMahon, who worked as a camp counselor this past summer, expressed similar feelings. "The kids get excited about the little things we talk for granted. You can spend 15 minutes watching the ducks," she said. "My group found a turtle, and we spent all day making a terrarium for it and learning about turtles.

While Klausner estimates that 25 to 30 percent of the college workers are education majors, Wejman points out that anyone willing to work with the kids can be a teaching assistant.

"A lot of people in the program are interested in education, but a lot just wanted to help people," she said. McMahon believes that the program is very valuable, and a great opportunity for college students.

"It's such an awesome program, I would recommend it to anyone. Each day you help one person, and it makes you feel so good," she said. "When the kids come up to you and hug you and won't let go, you know they need your love and attention. They give you a different approach to life."

Although the program has about a 50 percent acceptance rate overall, he noted that almost all Notre Dame and Saint Mary's applicants are accepted. Participants receive $125 per month and earn three credit hours in urban education at St. Vincent's College, which transfers as education or elective credits to Notre Dame or Saint Mary's. An informational session will be held at 5 p.m. tonight at the CSC for students interested in participating. Those who cannot attend may contact Kids Corporation at (973) 481-8805.
Drug dealers charge agents

LAYTON, UTAH

While digging for evidence in the home of two brothers arrested on drug charges, narcotics agents were accused of taking a break by ordering three pay-per-view adult movies. The home search is threatening since both the state and Davis County are investigating. "Everybody is passing the buck at this point," said Capt. Al Acosta of the Utah Criminal Investigations Bureau, which had agents on the best. "I'm not going to place blame. In my opinion, no one is beyond suspicion at this point." Agents of the state agency, and the Davis Metro Narcotics Strike Force raided Jim Passarelli's home on June 24 and arrested Passarelli and his brother Anthony.

Alaska to ban billboards

ANCHORAGE

From Alaska's highways, drivers can gaze at swirling peaks, massive glaciers, amberl colored moose — and no billboards whatsoever. One of just four states to ban the huge signs, Alaska has long allowed 1 1/2-feet-by-7 1/2 feet directional signs on public land next to roads. After much lobbying, business groups last year managed to get a law passed that allowed the directional signs to be placed on private land as well. But anti-billboard forces say the new law could be a foot in the door to the really big signs, and they've put a measure on next week's ballot to repeal it. The measure would also affirm that billboards are forever banned in Alaska.

Tremors threaten Dominica

SAN JUAN

Worried that a spate of tiny earthquakes may indicate volcanic activity, the Caribbean nation of Dominica is developing an emergency management plan, an official said Monday. Dominica, which is surrounded by the caraibes sea, has seen tremors since late September, most of them too small to be felt. But on Friday, there were about 200, including a cluster that caused small landslides, said Cecil Shillingford, assistant national disaster coordinator. The tremors relative shallowness — 1 to 3 miles below the Earth's surface — have scientists concerned they might signal an eruption of one of Dominica's dormant volcanoes. Lithomakers were to consider Tuesday a disaster plan for an eruption. Shillingford said Cabinet members ordered the plan be drafted during an emergency meeting Friday. "We are doing it as a precaution," he said. "We don't know what this means yet. It has happened in the past and nothing has happened. The cluster that hit shortly after 3 a.m. Friday sent bulldozers and dirt tumbling onto roads leading to Pointe Michel, Soufriere and Scott's Head on the southwest coast.

South American leaders pose after witnessing the signing of a treaty that ended a 50-year-long series of conflicts between Peru and Ecuador. The treaty negotiated a piece of Amazon jungle over which the nations have gone to war twice.

Treaty declares South American peace

Assoc. Press

BRASILIA

Peru and Ecuador ended a half-century dispute Monday by signing a peace treaty that settles ownership of a slice of Amazon jungle the neighboring countries fought two wars to control.

The presidents and foreign ministers of both countries signed the accord at a ceremony in Brazil's capital, where most of the peace talks took place.

The United States, Brazil, Argentina and Chile brokered the treaty, which delineates the border in a 48-mile section of the Andean foothills. Peru and Ecuador both claimed the area, which was left undefined after a 1941 border war. The two countries fought over the strip of land in 1981 and 1995.

Monday's agreement lays "the cement of peace," said Peruvian President Alberto Fujimori. "Now we should start to build the building, beautiful and inhabitable," he said at the signing ceremony. In a gesture of reconciliation, Ecuadoran President Jamil Mahuad gave Fujimori a cane used by Ecuadoran soldiers during the 1941 war.

The Amazon could have been destroyed by a war. Now we preserve it with a peace accord," Mahuad said.

In Washington, President Clinton, who had met with the Ecuadoran and Peruvian presidents at the White House on Oct. 9, offered his congratulations.

"This signing marks the end of the longest-running source of armed international conflict in the Western Hemisphere," Clinton said in a written statement.

Mahuad and Fujimori also signed a separate agreement dealing with cooperation on security, energy, tourism and trade.

The peace treaty draws the border along the heights of the Cordillera del Condor mountain range, as Peru wanted.

But it grants a hill within Peru's territory to Ecuador's government. The 250-acre hill area, known as Tiwintza, is of symbolic importance to Ecuador because its soldiers successfully defended it against Peruvian forces during the 1995 war.

In northern Peru on Saturday, protesters angry about losing possession of the hill set fire to government trucks and offices.

Three people were trampled to death when police dispersed the crowd of 2,000 with tear gas bombs in the jungle city of Iquitos, 600 miles northeast of Lima.

Ecuador and Peru began peace talks in 1995. After years of slow progress, the presidents of the two nations met in August to work out the final details.

Student loan default rate drops

Assoc. Press

WASHINGTON

The default rate on student loans fell into single digits for the first time, the Education Department reported Monday, citing an agency and congressional crackdown as well as an improved economy.

The drop to a 9.6 percent default rate for fiscal year 1996 was the sixth annual decline since rates peaked at 22.3 percent in 1990.

Congress passed legislation in 1990 and 1992 to crack down on borrowers and trade schools such as beauty colleges and truck-driving schools that promised more job training than they delivered. And the country began to pull out of a recession in early 1991.

"The student loan program is now a shining example of government providing opportunity with accountability," President Clinton said in a statement.

Stricter government controls have eliminated more than 1,000 schools from the program, while a better economy means "there are jobs for those who finish college, so they can pay off their loans," Clinton said.

The department noted that the default rate has declined even though the volume of loans has risen dramatically, from about $14 billion in 1992 to $38 billion in the 1998 fiscal year. Because of the volume, actual dollar savings aren't as dramatic as they could have been.

In 1991, for example, the department had to repay $3.6 billion in default claims to lenders. In fiscal 1998, the department had to repay $8.6 billion.

The department was still compiling information on how much money it was able to collect from students who had defaulted, but preliminary estimates show an increase from $700 million last year to $900 million this year.

A new higher education bill approved by Congress will further streamline the program and make it more accountable, said Rep. Bill Goodling, R-Pa., chairman of the Education and Workforce Committee. "Less time and money spent on delinquent loans means more time and money to help needy students receive financial assistance," Goodling said.

Education Secretary Richard Riley said current borrowers can lessen the chance of default by consolidating loans under a new rate of 7.46 percent, made possible under the newly enacted Higher Education Amendments of 1998. The deadlines for doing so is Jan. 31, 1999.

In its report Monday, the department said 197,000 borrowers at 7,580 schools had defaulted on their loans. The highest default rates were at the trade schools, with an average of 18.2 percent.
where they were privileged to
continued from page 1

were

co

continued from page 1

mote distant D-2 lot on the campus northeast side. Following the 1996-97 construction of Keough, O'Neill, Welch Family and McGlin Halls, the D-6 lot became overcrowded and its usage had to be rationed.

'IT'S GOING TO BE EASIER
FOR STUDENTS TO DO IT
THIS WAY.'

PHIL JOHNSON
ASSISTANT DIRECTOR
NOTRE DAME SECURITY/PRO

Late this summer, contractors shortened and relocated the third hole of the Notre Dame golf course to create room for the extension. Earth covers leveled the area, and then contractors laid an aggregate base and covered it with several layers of asphalt.
Lighting and concrete curbing were also added as part of the undertaking. It was a simple, straightforward project,
according to facilities engineering.

The contractor Walsh &
Kelly, completed its work one month ahead of schedule.
Original projections had called for the new lot to open next week or the Thanksgiving holiday.

Help a friend celebrate their birthday
by putting an ad in The Observer.
Call 1-6900 for rates.

ND fills new chair for MBA donors

The Observer • CAMPUS NEWS
Tuesday, October 27, 1998

Capital

Parking

Trick or Treat with

CAMPUS NEWS
Tuesday, October 27, 1998

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

M.D. or Ph.D.

You're source for the best in theological and philosophical books—
we can special order any book you need!

Great Books, Great Deals!
20% OFF EVERY TITLE
OCTOBER 26-30.

LASSALLE BOOKSTORE
234-0003
237 N. Michigan St. (at LaSalle), downtown S.B.
Open 10-5, Mon - Fri., lassalle@michiana.org
Always discounts for NDSMC faculty & students!

MD store
271-1177
Drive-In and Delivery
Visa/Mastercard Accepted

Saint Mary's/ North Village Mall
271-PAPA
Student Affairs announces new appointments

Special to The Observer

Three new appointments have been made to the office of Student Affairs, according to Patricia O’Hara, vice president for Student Affairs. In her new position, she will supervise the University Counseling Center, University Health Services and the office of Career and Placement Services.

Gude also will serve as the principal liaison on projects designed to better integrate the academic and residential mission of the University. A member of the Notre Dame community since 1987, Gude has served as rector of Farley Hall, assistant to the chair of the department of romance languages and literature and advisor to Notre Dame’s standing committee on lesbian and gay student needs.

Father Randall Renter has been appointed assistant to the vice president for Student Affairs and also will serve as director of the candidate selection program at Moreau Seminary. In his new position, Father Renter will co-supervise the office of Student Activities with Sister Jean Lenz and the office of Alcohol and Drug Education with Ann Firth.

Father Renter received a bachelor’s degree in English from Notre Dame in 1984 and earned a master’s in education at Loyola University of Chicago. He previously served at Notre Dame as associate director of Zahm Hall.

G. David Moss has been named special assistant to the vice president for Student Affairs. He will work on a variety of projects in the areas of diversity, alcohol and drug education and community outreach.

A Unique Perspective on the Justice System

Have you ever been affected by breast cancer? Would you like to share your story?

St. Mary’s RHA is planning a breast cancer event on Wednesday, October 28th, and we need your help.

The Diversity Program of the College of Business Administration Presents a Panel Discussion

Women in Law:
A Unique Perspective on the Justice System

Panelists
- Kathleen Brickley, Barnes & Thornburg
- Aladean Derose, Deputy City Attorney
- Patricia Hackett, Barnes & Thornburg
- Greta Roemer Lewis, Roemer & Mintz

Facilitator: Margot O’Brien, Instructor of Business Law

Astronaut Glenn Prepares for liftoff

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — With John Glenn and his co-pilots on hand and the countdown going smoothly, Florida’s unpredictable weather posed no threat to Thursday’s launch.

Forecasters said there was only a 60 percent chance of favorable weather for Thursday’s launch, and they were keeping a close eye on Hurricane Mitch churning through the Caribbean.

The storm posed no threat to Florida, but forecasters said that even from a distance it could generate high winds at the seaside launch pad. Winds of 72 miles an hour at launch time could force a postponement.

Glenn and his crew mates had three rare leisure hours today at the crew quarters, a short drive from the launch pad.

They were to review their flight plans, check equipment, including their spacesuits and undergo brief medical exams. In the afternoon, they were given five hours of free time to spend with adult family members. As a guard against catching infections, mission rules bar children and teenagers from the crew quarters.

Nearby, preparations by spectators and journalists were reaching a pace that rivaled the frenzy of the Apollo moon shot days of 30 years ago.

Moteis in nearby Titusville said Beach were filled. Traffic jams were common. Along highways that afford cross-water views of the launch pad, workers erected giant television trucks filled with portable toilets for the thousands of tourists expected to watch Glenn’s return to space.

By launch day, the highways are expected to be lined with cars and recreational vehicles filled with spectators awaiting the shuttle, as 2,500 journalists have registered to cover the mission. More than two dozen television trucks jammed the media field area.

President Clinton and a large congressional delegation are scheduled to attend, along with sports and show business celebrities.

The crew was about an hour late arriving at the space center Monday morning. One of the five T-38 jets carrying the crew members passed a battery problem when the astronauts stopped for refueling at Tyndall Air Force Base in Florida. This was brought to the attention of the other astronauts.

By launchoff day, the high-ways are expected to be lined with cars and recreational vehicles filled with spectators awaiting the shuttle, as 2,500 journalists have registered to cover the mission. More than two dozen television trucks jammed the media field area.

President Clinton and a large congressional delegation are scheduled to attend, along with sports and show business celebrities.

The crew was about an hour late arriving at the space center Monday morning. One of the five T-38 jets carrying the crew members passed a battery problem when the astronauts stopped for refueling at Tyndall Air Force Base in Florida. This was brought to the attention of the other astronauts.

By launchoff day, the high-ways are expected to be lined with cars and recreational vehicles filled with spectators awaiting the shuttle, as 2,500 journalists have registered to cover the mission. More than two dozen television trucks jammed the media field area.

President Clinton and a large congressional delegation are scheduled to attend, along with sports and show business celebrities.

The crew was about an hour late arriving at the space center Monday morning. One of the five T-38 jets carrying the crew members passed a battery problem when the astronauts stopped for refueling at Tyndall Air Force Base in Florida. This was brought to the attention of the other astronauts.

By launchoff day, the high-ways are expected to be lined with cars and recreational vehicles filled with spectators awaiting the shuttle, as 2,500 journalists have registered to cover the mission. More than two dozen television trucks jammed the media field area.

President Clinton and a large congressional delegation are scheduled to attend, along with sports and show business celebrities.

The crew was about an hour late arriving at the space center Monday morning. One of the five T-38 jets carrying the crew members passed a battery problem when the astronauts stopped for refueling at Tyndall Air Force Base in Florida. This was brought to the attention of the other astronauts.

By launchoff day, the high-ways are expected to be lined with cars and recreational vehicles filled with spectators awaiting the shuttle, as 2,500 journalists have registered to cover the mission. More than two dozen television trucks jammed the media field area.

President Clinton and a large congressional delegation are scheduled to attend, along with sports and show business celebrities.

The crew was about an hour late arriving at the space center Monday morning. One of the five T-38 jets carrying the crew members passed a battery problem when the astronauts stopped for refueling at Tyndall Air Force Base in Florida. This was brought to the attention of the other astronauts.

By launchoff day, the high-ways are expected to be lined with cars and recreational vehicles filled with spectators awaiting the shuttle, as 2,500 journalists have registered to cover the mission. More than two dozen television trucks jammed the media field area.

President Clinton and a large congressional delegation are scheduled to attend, along with sports and show business celebrities.

The crew was about an hour late arriving at the space center Monday morning. One of the five T-38 jets carrying the crew members passed a battery problem when the astronauts stopped for refueling at Tyndall Air Force Base in Florida. This was brought to the attention of the other astronauts.

By launchoff day, the high-ways are expected to be lined with cars and recreational vehicles filled with spectators awaiting the shuttle, as 2,500 journalists have registered to cover the mission. More than two dozen television trucks jammed the media field area.

President Clinton and a large congressional delegation are scheduled to attend, along with sports and show business celebrities.

The crew was about an hour late arriving at the space center Monday morning. One of the five T-38 jets carrying the crew members passed a battery problem when the astronauts stopped for refueling at Tyndall Air Force Base in Florida. This was brought to the attention of the other astronauts.
GM recalls cars for emissions

WASHINGTON

General Motors is recalling about 400,000 cars that exceeded federal health standards for emissions of carbon monoxide exhaust, the government said Monday.

The affected cars are 1993 Chevrolet Lumina, Oldsmobile Cutlass Supreme, Cutlass Supreme convertibles, Pontiac Grand Prix and Buick Regals — all with six-cylinder, 3.1-liter engines.

The Environmental Protection Agency, announcing the recall, said routine emissions tests identified the higher levels of carbon monoxide and GM agreed to notify owners by mail and fix the problem for free.

GM will replace a defective part of the emissions control system called the evaporative purge solenoid. In addition, the automaker will reprogram a computer memory chip in the Cutlass Supreme convertibles to bring down emissions further.

The convertible had higher emissions than other models in the recall, due to its greater weight.

Carbon monoxide is a highly poisonous and odorless gas that inhibits the blood’s ability to carry oxygen to vital organs and tissue. Infants and people with heart disease or respiratory problems are especially sensitive to excessive levels.

The EPA advised owners to schedule appointments with their dealers when they get the recall notices.

KIDS CORPORATION

SUMMER PROGRAM

Each year K ids Corporation, a nonprofit organization which operates educational programs for the children of Newark, NJ, recruits students from all across the nation to help run its summer program. Last summer 120 students from 51 different colleges worked in our program, with 15 coming from N.D./SMC. Students are needed as teacher assistants and camp counselors.

The program runs for 8 weeks beginning in late June. Students gross $125 per week, room and board, and 3 college credits in Urban Education from St. Vincent’s College. THIS IS NOT A JOB, ITS AN EXPERIENCE. The work is hard but the children are incredible. For more information please see Colleen and Brian at the student center Tues. the 27th at the CSC at 5 PM, or call (973) 481-8805.

Avistar Information Session

The program runs for 3 weeks beginning in late June. Students gross $125 per week, room and board, and 3 college credits in Urban Education from St. Vincent’s College. THIS IS NOT A JOB, ITS AN EXPERIENCE. The work is hard but the children are incredible. For more information please see Colleen and Brian at the student center Tues. the 27th at the CSC at 5 PM, or call (973) 481-8805.

Get In The Drivers

And steer yourself toward success. Navistar operates one of the world’s largest facilities dedicated to the design, development and testing of trucks and truck components. And we can provide you with the challenges you’re looking for in a post-graduate career. If you’ll be receiving a BSME, MSME, BSEE or MSEE degree, meet us on campus at the:

Navistar Information Session
Center For Continuing Education
Room #112
Wednesday, October 28
6:00pm

On campus representatives will be there to tell you all about the 200 Design Engineering positions available at our leading edge company. Along with the opportunity to apply the very latest technologies, we offer attractive starting salaries, comprehensive benefit plans and outstanding advancement potential. Come for the information and stay for the refreshments.

Can't attend? Send your resume or letter of interest to: Navistar International Transportation Corp., Attn: Human Resources, Dept. DNF-1004, P.O. Box 1100, Ft. Wayne, IN 46801, Fax: (219) 461-1453. Email: azt Navistar. Visit our web site at: www.navistar.net/mtcd. An equal opportunity/affirmative action employer m/f/d/v.

Questions Or More Information
Call 1-888-347-3647 or (219) 461-7528.

Navistar
Palestinians shoot Israeli guard

The Associated Press

HERBON

As Israeli security guard was shot three times and his body dumped in downtown Hebron today in an apparent attack by Palestinian militiamen.

There was no immediate claim of responsibility for the slaying. The dead man was found sprawled face down on the pavement, a pool of blood flowing from his head.

Hours later, police found the body of a Palestinian man near the Jewish settlement of Emek Hebron in the West Bank. The body was found after police received an anonymous phone call from a man speaking in Hebrew who said a Palestinian had been killed and his body left near Emek to avenge the Hebron slaying.

Several Israelis have been killed in Hebron in the past by militant groups.

Cows in for peace

S. Korean man shows goodwill to North Korea

The Associated Press

PANMUNJOM

Forgoing more traditional tools of diplomacy, the founder of South Korea's largest conglomerate drove 501 more cattle across the world's most heavily armed border Tuesday in a move hoped to thaw relations with North Korea.

Chung Hyung, honorary chairman of the Hyundai group, walked across the border at the neutral zone village of Panmunjom shortly after a convoy of 51 trucks carrying 5,000 cattle moved into North Korea.

Wearing a hat and a trench coat, the 84-year-old Chung smiled and waved as he walked into the North, accompanied by four family members and Hyundai officials. Chung's second trip bearing cattle to his native North Korea was less than a month.

"It's the greatest pleasure in my life that I can do something that will help all of our people live together in prosperity," Chung said in a statement read before crossing the border.

Chung visited the reclusive North in June, bringing with him 500 cattle. Chung's gift of 20 Hyundai passenger cars and was valued at $1.5 million. "This time, Mr. Chung will finalize a tourism project being pursued by Hyundai, which will certainly have a positive effect on the overall inter-Korea relations," said Lee Hw, the chief analysts at the Seoul government's Unification Ministry.

Relations between the rival Koreas are key because of continuing military and political tensions. The two Koreas are technically at war, with no peace treaty signed at the end of 1950-53 Korean War.

With no government of President Kim Dae Jung is actively pushing non-governmental exchanges with North Korea under its "sunshine policy" aimed at opening up the North's closed society.

The Notre Dame Federal Credit Union VISA Check Card

A smart way to keep your Christmas spending in Check this Holiday Season

FASTER

No checkout to carry. No check to win. No waiting for check approval.

EASIER

Just present your card at the time of purchase, and sign your name. The amount will automatically be deducted from your checking account. No checkbook to carry. No check to write. No waiting for check approval.

MORE CONVENIENT

Your Notre Dame Federal Credit Union VISA Check Card is accepted everywhere VISA is accepted. It's the smart way to keep your Christmas spending in Check this Holiday Season.

HONDURAS

Residents flee as Mitch approaches

The Associated Press

LA CEIBA

People fled their coastal homes and the Honduran government ordered air force planes to pluck residents off remote Caribbean islands before the face of the most powerful hurricane in a decade threatened Central America.

Hurricane Mitch became a Category 5 Hurricane -- the strongest category there is -- on Monday with winds of 180 mph. At 10 p.m. EST, Mitch's center was just west of Honduras' Swan Island and was moving northwest at 8 mph.

"I have six children, and we live in a riverbed. If it gets real bad, we'll go to the church and see what the architect of the world has in store for us," said Maria Gonzalez who needed the gas to cook with in the tiny, leaky shacks that she and her husband built on a beach in northern Honduras.

The president ordered all air traffic suspended and helicopters to evacuate people from the Bay Islands, a string of small islands off the central coast.

Swiss Jacobsson, a fisherman from Utila, 20 miles north of La Ceiba, said he had tied up his boats and was planning to take his family to stay with a relative on a high-ground speaking by telephone with Utila's Mayor Uli, 20 miles north of La Ceiba, said most tourists had left the island Sunday but that some were stranded and that hotels were prepared to house them to keep the mountains.

Heavy rains began to fall along the Honduran coast Sunday night, and the hurricane's outer winds were expected to lash the area on Monday and Tuesday.

Forecasters said they expected Mitch to be a Category 5 hurricane by the time it makes landfall Monday night and Tuesday morning.

"We do forecast it to decrease in strength over the next 48 hours," said Larry Pennington a meteorologist at the National Hurricane Center.

That didn't stop Flores Facun from ordering the closing of all public offices on the Caribbean coast by noon Monday.

Just present your card at the time of purchase, and sign your name. The amount will automatically be deducted from your checking account. No checkbook to carry. No check to write. No waiting for check approval.
The problem with the Johnson Space Center is that it is located in Houston. Now, I spend nine months out of the year attending college in South Bend, Ind., cultural capital of the Corn Belt, where, as previously discussed in this space, live professional wrestling matches are the primary form of intellectually enriching entertainment.

And I grew up in Cincinatti, the city that spawned not only Marge Schott, but also Jerry Springer. Therefore, I have developed a certain immunity to municipal hokum.

Yet I was wholly unprepared for Houston, where billboards advertise not car dealerships and restaurants, but such establishments as "The Hot House: A Store for Lovers," and "The Caddy Shack-U" ("Frisbee Entertainment for Gentlemen; Reservations Not Required.") the entire concept a hearty "A-OK." The Hot House is a man whom I have regarded as a high school guidance counselor. The Caddy Shack-U is a boy who was Khrushchev demanding of God how the United States ever won the space race.

I consulted an economic officer who said, "One point about being a Certified Idiot and personal tormentor of the Johnson Space Center, where a tram tour comprised with people whose average age was at least my years on Earth cubed took us on an exciting tour of the various parking lots surrounding Mission Control. A major news center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration — this is one area of the nation where one might expect the cars parked in the "Reserved for Government Employees" space to command respect. But this was Houston, and the tram instead crawled past a Cadillac with a SWIM NAKED bumper sticker.

That rumbling sound you just heard was Khruchev demanding of God how the United States ever won the space race.

The gift shop of the Johnson Space Center was one of the greatest things I have ever seen, and I include in this statement the time in third grade when Certified Idiot and personal tormentor Bryan Conley fell off his chair in the middle of Reading Hour. The gift shop is a place where NASA sells, for $9.99, the Hot Wheels John Glenn Action Pack. In addition to a teeny tiny "Friendship 7" Project Mercury capsule and a teeny tiny space shuttle Discovery, the Action Pack included two teeny tiny Astronaut Glenns in both early 60s and late 60s space suits.

But that was Friday; this is now. And now involves some serious concerns.

Last week I had the opportunity to visit the Johnson Space Center, which is a mecca to NASA dorks such as myself who enjoy watching the cinematic masterpiece "Space Camp" for the sole purpose of calling attention to not the sublime acting of mecca to NASA dorks such as myself who conduct an exceptionally technologically rate empty refrigerator cartons with heroes since the days when I used to decorate my bedroom ceiling with NASA photos, but the people who tell us that "Senator Glenn," unlike his fellow "Astronaut Glenn," comes in mode of transportation, intergalactic or otherwise.

I'm sure his timing is sold separately.

I'd really like to see an entire line of Action Figures featuring various politicians. There is tremendous marketing potential in a President Clinton Action Figure (cosmetic not included), complete with removable kneecaps. And imagine a child's eyes lighting up on Christmas morning after unboxing a Ted Kennedy Action Figure packaged with his own wet bar and SWIM NAKED bumper sticker; a Deluxe voice-chip version would hit on every-teeny-tiny Congressional pages. Or imagine the Ken Starr Action Figure: "Now with unadulterated SUPREME POWER!"

"Spiritual Al Gore, of course, by virtue of his inanimate state, will be patently indistinguishable from the actual Al Gore."

Mary Beth Ellis is a constituent of John Glenn's, a senior at Saint Mary's College majoring in English writing and political science with a minor in U.S. History. Her action figure, to be made available from Mattel in time for the holiday season, will come complete with staggering student-loan debt. She will award a Mary Beth Ellis Student Debt Action Figure TM to the first non-political science or government major who can define the word "consistent." Insignificant. The views expressed in this column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.

"The truly important things in life — love, beauty and one's own uniqueness — are constantly being overlooked."

— Pau Casals
Genocide in Rwanda

What are You Doing About it?

Brian Monberg

I will never forget discussing "Night" in Core class sophomore year. In it, Elie Wiesel presents a graphic account of life within Nazi concentration camps. Yet, what disturbed me most is that, while many were aware of the Holocaust, few did anything. What should have appeared clear to everyone was that those European countries knew and supported Germany's attempt to eradicate the Jews. As the news reached America, The New York Times relegated it to its back pages. Even the Jews of Wiesel's own town would not believe others that they were being sent to die. I kept asking myself: How could they possibly let this happen? Why didn't anyone do anything? What are the previous generations for their failure to act, is it much harder to accept that similar tragedies occur right now in our own time.

In the spring of 1994 more than one million Rwandans were murdered in the first genocide officially recognized by the United Nations since the Holocaust. Nearly 5 million others were forced to flee to other African countries. This mass slaughter has continued to affect the people of Rwanda, most noticeably through the government's mistaken attempts to control the raging civil war.

Since December 1997, hundreds of possibly thousands of people have "disappeared" throughout Rwanda. Thousands of others have been killed by members of the Rwandan Patriotic Army and by armed opposition groups. Many of these groups deliberately targeted civilians, especially women, children, and non-combatants, often without discrimination. These "disappearances" have become so common that family members no longer make an effort to notify authorities, either out of fear for their own lives or the knowledge that little will be done.

The Rwandese government targets these civilians in an attempt to control the armed conflict in the country. While the government has the right to protect itself against armed groups, it does not have the right to deliberately kill unarmed civilians. Such actions will never lead to peace. In addition, it is easy to criticise has committed numerous human rights violations in the aftermath of the genocide, including arbitrary arrests, prolonged detention without trial in horrible conditions, beatings and unfair trials. In April, the government carried out the first executions against those it labelled as "genocide accomplices." Amnesty International believes these executions and any further executions constitute another major step backwards for human rights and will seriously harm the prospects of reconciliation and respect for human rights in Rwanda.

Mass murder on such a scale has a numbing effect. Joseph Stalin once said that a single death is a tragedy, but a million deaths is a statistic. The initial response, especially in the comfortable bubble of our campus, is to ignore that such things happen and feel powerless to stop them. Yet those are the feelings we must resist. We are obligated to work for tragedy of such situations.

Authors, others. Discuss the events and possible solutions. Finally, write to the government of Rwanda, letting them know you are aware and want change. One person and one letter does make a difference, and you will join millions of others who are doing the same.

Embassy of the Republic of Rwanda
1714 New Hampshire Avenue, NW
Washington D.C. 20009
United States
It must never happen again.
We are the lead tomorrow, let's act.

Brian Monberg is the President of the American University Notre Dame. Amnesty International is sponsoring an Awareness Night Wednesday from 9-11 p.m. We plan on having about three acoustic sets play. In addition, Father Patrick Gaffney, chair of the Anthropology department, and Gerd Meinies, Associate Director of the Center for Civil and Human Rights, will speak.

The stress expressed in this column are those of the author and not necessarily those of the PSA or The Observer.
It don't mean a thing...

Swing dancing is enjoyed by a new generation

By JENELLE WILLIAMS
Scene Writer

Jivin' music with a snappy tune and a quick beat. Zoot suits and two-toned, wing tip shoes. Twirls and aerials. Oh yes, Swing is back. This reborn fad has infiltrated American culture. The craze that swept the nation and invigorated young people in the 1930s and 40s is making a comeback... in some form.

But, how did it all begin?

Long ago, before the Cherry Poppin' Daddies, before Disco or the Beatles, even before World War II, a new style of music was growing in popularity. Originating from Irish and African-American music forms, early jazz sounds served as a major influence to social dance. In 1912, Harry Fox fashioned the fox trot which lead to the development of the Charleston during the roaring 20s.

A dance that came with the thrill of the flight and joy of dancing, described his movements to society due to their black origins and influences. In 1927, however, Charles "Lindy" Lindbergh's historic solo flight to Paris marked a difference in this segregationist and racist ritual. Supposedly, a young man at the Savoy Ballroom in Harlem, overcame with the thrill of the flight and joy of dancing, described his movements by stating, "I'm flying like Lindy." The dance became known as the Lindy-Hop. When white society discovered the Lindy Hop, the name Jitterbug was often used to describe the dance.

Perhaps the most influential dancers were those that composed a professional troupe from the Savoy known as Whitey's Lindy-Hoppers, after Herbert "Whitey" White. It was a member of this famous group, Frankie Manning, who took the Lindy to the next level.

In 1935, this lead dancer and choreographer for the troupe astounded audiences with the invention of the aerial lift. That same year, Benny Goodman's band made a triumphant tour cross-country, taking the nation by storm.

The Swing Era had begun. No longer was the dance, whether called the Lindy or the Jitterbug, limited to one racial group or another. It became a craze which permanently altered American dance.

Swing was more than just big bands and large dance halls. It added new twists to the evolution in human physicality/sexuality which began in the 1920s. Such moves as the man pulling the woman through his legs or spinning her around and causing her skirt to fly up were considered transgressions against morality. Swing dancing became a way for kids to cut loose and rebel against convention.

Most likely, participants in the new generation swing don't represent such a noble cause. Perhaps they're simply rebelling against the grunge-alternative rock chaos of the 90s. Or maybe they're finding new methods of socializing through the latest (or oldest) trend.

The rebirth of Swing originated with the movie "Swing Kids," a film centered around a group of anti-Nazi hipcats in Germany during World War II, it features scenes pumping with emotionally charged swing dancing. Other cinematic influences include "Malcolm X," featuring dance scenes choreographed by Frankie Manning, "The Mask" and "Swingers.

The music industry has also played a key role in the rebirth of Swing. Groups such as Cherry Poppin' Daddies, Big Bad Voodoo Daddy and the Squirrel Nut Zippers helped to bring the genre into the mainstream. Amongst the groups, however, there are discrepancies and debate over the exact definition of Swing.

This leads some to feel that when bands who grew up on rock music attempt the smooth and assured rhythm of early groups, the result feels forced. And in Swing, the feel is everything. It's a music of implication — what's left out is as important as what's put in and patience is crucial.

But all technicality aside, the dance itself is loads of fun and easy enough to learn. Perhaps this is the greatest allure to learn the sixty year old moves. Those interested in learning can find dance studios and seminars nation-wide or here at the Rock and/or Stepan Center on Wednesday nights.

The Internet also possesses a vast assortment of information for those wanting to walk the walk and talk the talk of Swing. But knowing the lingo is not necessary for having fun. And since zoot suits are pretty hard to come by, proper attire might just be a nice pair of khakis from the Gap.
if it ain't got that swing'

The roots of swing...

Swing Dancing at ND
What: Beginning, intermediate and advanced classes in swing dancing
When: Wednesday nights
Where: Rockne Memorial
Cost: $2 per lesson

Classes are taught by students with swing experience and are open to all. Call Gregg Barlin at 634-4110 if you have any questions.

Swing Dance
Wednesday, October 28th
8:30-11 p.m.
Stepan Center
Open to all
$1

There will be intermediate lessons in Swing for the first 45 minutes.

Open dance for the rest of the night.
In the semifinal match, both of us were playing well. It was very competitive. We fought hard and won the point. We scored with shots from most of those points down the stretch. Against Blake, I wasn’t playing as well. I got a little bit lost. He is the second seed and plays a great game. He came down to point here and a point there, and he won. I was pleased with my performance, and I’m really excited about the rest of the upcoming year and helping the team as much as possible.

The Canfield, Ohio, native and senior has led the Notre Dame High School team to a state championship. He reached the quarterfinals of the tournament last year as a sophomore.

Sachire finished with a 5-1 record in the tournament and posted straight-set wins over Texas A&M’s Shawn Madden, Florida’s 64th-ranked Doug Bobahay, Miami’s 46th-ranked Ivan Rodrigo and Texas A&M’s 30th-ranked Kim Toh to reach the semifinals.

He is now 7-2 in singles this season.

In the semifinal, advantage in any statistic except goals. The Irish had a 29-15 edge in shots, a 7-1 advantage in corners. And they just kept on going, just kept on going, just kept on going.

I think we pretty much dominated that game,” Makinen said. “Notre Dame did have a couple of all-out efforts, but they have been that much better than us this year.

The problem of missed chances came to the forefront when the Irish and Fighting Irish met in this year’s Big East game. Seton Hall had scored on its third goal attempt.

The Fighting Irish scored its first goal of the season 20 minutes into the game when she volleyed in a corner kick from Seton Hall’s 13th-ranked player. The Irish continued to play well, as they were able to get in front of the team and force the issues as they pleased. Wood worked through the afternoon to give the Irish the lead and kept Seton Hall out of the game.

“I don’t know what went wrong,” Makinen said. “I think we were the better team; we just didn’t play like we know we can.

“It was definitely unexpected,” Brown added. “We need to work through the afternoon and find unity within the team.”

The 3-2 loss marked the Irish’s first defeat to an unranked opponent since 1996. It didn’t get much easier against No. 21 Michigan, as the Irish did not rebound with wins over the Wolverines and St. John’s.

Last Friday, Notre Dame and Michigan found themselves deadlocked at zero at the end of regulation. The Irish were victorious in overtime and found the upset victory. It did not go much easier.

“It is definitely unexpected. We needed to work through the afternoon and find unity within the team,” said the Fighting Irish.

The Irish now stand at 14-2-1 in the championship, more than $2.6 million annually.

The problem of missed chances came to the forefront when the Irish and Fighting Irish met in this year’s Big East game. Seton Hall had scored on its third goal attempt.

The problem of missed chances came to the forefront when the Irish and Fighting Irish met in this year’s Big East game. Seton Hall had scored on its third goal attempt.

The problem of missed chances came to the forefront when the Irish and Fighting Irish met in this year’s Big East game. Seton Hall had scored on its third goal attempt.

The problem of missed chances came to the forefront when the Irish and Fighting Irish met in this year’s Big East game. Seton Hall had scored on its third goal attempt.
Former Senator Bill Bradley of New Jersey

will lecture on

Meaning in American Politics

Wednesday, October 28,
7 p.m.
Hesburgh Library Auditorium

Senator Bradley’s address is the fourth of five public policy addresses he will deliver on campus this fall. Live on the web at: http://www.nd.edu/~webcast
Klein leads Irish golfers in fall finale

Special to the Observer

Notre Dame sophomore Mary Klein (Kokomo, Ind.) used one of the best rounds of the 76-player tournament to finish tied for sixth with a 152 total, following the second and final round of action Saturday at the second annual Notre Dame Invitational, held at the par-72, 5,930-yard Bonita Springs Cypress Golf Course.

Notre Dame entered the day tied with Minnesota and Illinois State for sixth place in the 13-team field but dropped to an eighth-place finish, just one shot behind Michigan, two back of Kent and Iowa and five behind Northwestern. The Irish concluded their fall season by improving by four shots from the previous day (318-314).

Irish junior captain Andrea Klee — who led the squad in the first three fall tournaments — faltered with a second-round 82 to finish tied for 28th. Freshman Kristin McMurtie posted her best round with the Irish, carding a final-round 78 to finish tied for 20th at 158.

Klein's final-round 74 is the best by an Irish women's golfer this fall and tied with three other golfers in the tournament field for the third-best round of the Invitational, trailing only the first-round 71 by medalist Patty Frohna of Wisconsin and the second-round 73 by runner-up Irena Harris of Cincinnati. Iowa's M.C. Mullen and Michigan State's Emily Bastel both shot second-round 74s en route to tying for third at 151.

Klein came up one shot shy of besting her career-high finish, as she tied for fifth last spring at the 83-player Indiana Invitational (71-80-79). Wisconsin held on for the team title, edging Michigan State by four shots. Minnesota jumped from its share of sixth to a third-place finish, thanks to a strong final-round 306.

Notre Dame junior Beth Cooper and Irish sophomore Becca Schloss, an individual entrant, each tied for 42nd while another Notre Dame sophomore individual entrant, sophomore Danielle Villarosa, tied for 48th. Sophomore Shane Smith and junior Bridgid Fisher rounded out the Irish contingent.

Klee's 160 lowered her team-best season stroke average to 80.50, followed by Klein (81.70). Klee counted to the team score in all 10 fall rounds, followed by Klein (9), Fisher (7) and Smith (5). McMurtie has counted to the team score in five of her seven rounds as a member of the starting six while Cooper has counted in four of seven rounds as a starter.

Notre Dame concludes the fall with a 327.60 average for the count-four team score, nearly eight shots higher than the 1997-98 average of 319.88. The average score counted to the team total in the fall was 81.90.
Freshman Retreat #19 (November 13-14) Sign-Up
Starts October 26 to November 9
103 Hesburgh Library, 112 Badin Hall, or see your Rector
Target Dorms: Farley, Fisher, Howard, Keenan, Keough, O'Neill, Pasquerilla West, St. Edward's and Walsh

Tuesday, October 27, 7:00-8:30 pm, Badin Hall Chapel
Campus Bible Study

Wednesday, October 28, 7:00 pm, Log Chapel
Part 4 of a Seven-Part Series on the Gifts of the Holy Spirit:
Fortitude by Fr. Mike Baxter, CSC

Thursday, October 29, 7:00-9:00 pm, LaFortune Ballroom
Emmaus Kick-Off. All are Welcome.

Thursday, October 29, 8:00 pm, ND Room at LaFortune
Africentric Spirituality: Freshmen Intro Reception

Friday, October 30, 8:15 pm, Basilica of the Sacred Heart
Liturgical Choir Concert of Sacred Music
25th Year Reunion

Saturday, October 31, 8:30 pm, Basilica of the Sacred Heart
Folk Choir Concert for Missions to benefit the Santiago Orphanages

Saturday, October 31, 10:00 am-6:00 pm, Lindenwood
Africentric Spirituality: Sophomore Intro

Sunday, November 1, 12:00 noon-8:00 pm, St. Joe Hall
Freshman Retreat #19 Team Retreat

Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament
Monday, 11:30 pm until Tuesday, 10:00 pm.
St. Paul's Chapel, Fisher Hall
Fridays, 12:00 noon until 4:45 pm.
Lady Chapel, Basilica of the Sacred Heart

NDE #53 (Dec. 4-6) Sign-up
Monday-Friday, Nov. 2-6, 103 Hesburgh Library
Irish
continued from page 22

season. Notre Dame played a closely contested game against the undefeated Huskies.

Connecticut took advantage of an 8-5 shot differential in the first half to get its first and game-winning goal. Samardzic Parks came off the bench for the Huskies to put a shot on goal that keeper Greg Velho in the left corner from six yards out at 36:14. The Huskies also replaced Park on a Mauricio Rocha cross from wide right.

Rocha finished off the scoring with a goal from a right wing attack on assists from John Simon and Irish co-captain MATT Johnson, who was held scoreless for the first time in his career.

The key factor in the game was Connecticut's ability to shut down the Irish attack, which was held scoreless for the first time in 13 games this season.

Gaelic Boys, the Pancakes faced just four shots on goal in the first half, as they pushed up the field, wide midfielder ANDREW to three shots apiece.

The Irish did not score in the first half; however, the Huskies were held scoreless in the second half, as they were held scoreless for the first time in their career.

The Irish relied on a strong defense that resulted in a scramble in front of Velho's goal. Velho stopped five shots in the second half while Providence defense showed the Irish around a corner.

The Irish were unable to defend the Providence style of play, which favors a long passing game and a fight for the loose ball. The Irish fell short in the second half.

"We like to knock the ball out of their possession and keep control of the ball," said Johnson.

We let them play their style of play that was extremely similar to the style used by Samardzic Parks in the first half. Velho and Velho had a great game, as they beat the Huskies with a hard shot from the 3-00 mark.

The added pressure was in the back of the Irish attack, and we came out and told ourselves we need to win this game and put the loss behind us," said Pridmore.

They did just that, despite a slow start. The Eagles outshot the Irish and dominated play until the Irish returned to their style of play.

Steve Main came off the bench for the Irish in midfield to provide the spark that lit the Irish flame. The co-captain of the team was the game winner in a 3-00 assist from Johnson and Brian Buskman, who scored his second goal in the second half, as the Irish clinched their third victory of the season.

Greg is always a major part of our defense, and he clearly dominated the game both times," said Murphy. "When your goalie is hot, it's always an asset, especially for a team in the playoffs." Notre Dame hopes the momentum of the past week will give them the necessary push in the Big East showdown.

MINISTRY ENJOY AN EVENING OF FAITH, FUN, AND FRIENDSHIP.

The Observer • SPORTS
Tuesday, October 27, 1998

Environmental Law Society
Notre Dame Law School

The Environmental Law Society & the Federalist Society are proud to welcome Gordon K. Durnil to the Notre Dame Law School on Wednesday, October 28, 1998, at 12:15 p.m. in the Courtroom.

Mr. Durnil served as United States Chairman of the International Joint Commission for four and one-half years. As Chairman, he achieved international recognition for leadership in shared water resources. Mr. Durnil has also served as the Indiana Republican State Chairman, and on the Executive Committee of the Republican National Committee. Mr. Durnil is the author of The Making of a Conservative Environmentalist and Is America Beyond Reform? The title of his presentation is "Reflections of a Conservative Environmentalist." Mr. Durnil's books will be available for sale at the event and he will be happy to sign a copy. This presentation is also possible due to the support of the Law School.

The CANDAX McNair Program Announces the 1998-99 FINAL RECUITMENT MEETING WITH PROF. MARIO BORELLI (Deadline for Application: November 6)

FOR STUDENTS WHO ARE INTERESTED IN GRADUATE STUDIES AND WHO ARE EITHER FIRST GENERATION COLLEGE STUDENTS FROM LOW INCOME FAMILIES (ALL ETHNIC BACKGROUNDS)
OR AFRICAN AMERICAN, HISPANIC NATIVE AMERICAN

ON WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 28 1998
AT 6:00 PM (TO 7:00 PM)
IN ROOM 116 O'SHAUGHNESSY

ALL ELIGIBLE STUDENTS ARE WELCOME

Refreshments after the Meeting

It's Finally Here!!!

Thursday, Oct. 29 7-9pm
LaFortune Ballroom

COMMUNITIES OF FAITH SHARING AND SCRIPTURE STUDY

CAMPUS MINISTRY

Have fun while you share your faith & make new friends.

...and you're invited!

Come get your Emmaus small group started.
Receive your small group candle & materials.

Enjoy an evening of FAITH, FUN, and FRIENDSHIP.

CAMPUS MINISTRY
Hockey
continued from page 24
of their five CCHA games in which they did not score a goal on the power play.

"Believe it or not," said coach Poulin afterwards, "it's actually encouraging that we didn't score on the power play tonight, because we have to learn to win without the power play goal."

One of the reasons why
Notre Dame failed to score on the power play was the sensational play of Ohio State goalie
Jeff Maund.

As a freshman last season, Maund led his team to a thrilling overtime win over top-ranked Michigan State in the NCAA Tournament, putting Ohio State in the Final.
Maund ended up finishing a close second to Notre Dame's Mark
Eaton for the CCHA's Rookie of the Year honors.

On Friday, Maund proved to be his team's best penalty killer, especially in the third period when he made a great save after the Irish had broken
in three-on-one into the offensive zone.

The Irish outshot the Buckeyes 33-16 on the night. Maund only let in two goals, however, and Ohio State was very much in the game until Ben Simon scored on the empty net with under a minute to play.

The Irish had scored a power play goal in each of their first four CCHA games. Going into the game against Ohio State, the Irish had scored six
power play goals in their last two games.

They scored twice with the man advantage in a
3-2 win over
Ferris State, and they scored an amazing four power play goals against Lake Superior State the next night en route to a 4-3
win.

Also of note last weekend,
freshmen Sam Cornelius and Brett Henning each scored their first career goals for the Irish in the third period against Ferris State. Cornelius's goal was the game winner, while Henning's goal 32 seconds
later sealed the game for Notre Dame.

The first disappointment, however, came on Saturday in the wake of their victory over Ohio State, when Notre Dame lost at Lawson Ice Arena to the Western Michigan Broncos
by a score of 2-1.

The Irish went scoreless on the power play again, going 0-for-4 with the man advantage.
In their previous meeting this season, Notre Dame notched four power play goals in a 7-1 win over the Broncos.

After the loss Saturday,
Crick said of the team's power play unit, "Maybe we got a bit rocky. We stood around a bit, we weren't moving and geting open for each other.
When we got opportunities, we didn't finish them. Not scoring on the power play cost us the game.

An effective power play is always an asset for a hockey team, but especially this season, given the rash of penalties called in CCHA games
thus far.

In the game versus Ohio State alone, there were 14 power-play situations. Notre Dame went 0-for-8 and the Buckeyes went 0-for-6.

"In this game, especially in this conference, there is going to be some physical play," said Poulin.

"So much special teams takes the flow out of the game. Tonight there were constant penalties even though there was no real extracurricular activity [physical play after the whistle] on either side."

Another story for the Irish so far has been their depth.
The Irish put four lines on the desk every night which are capable of scoring. Coach Poulin has shown great confidence in his third and fourth units, giving them considerable playing time, even on special teams.

In the third period against the ninth-ranked Buckeyes, the Bague-Bolder-Chipchase line played a large portion of the third period, including penalty-killing situations.

"We have a very deep bench, they're killing penalties for us and everything," said Poulin. "They are certainly earning their ice time by playing very well right now."
COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY'S
BIOSPHERE 2 CENTER

STUDY ABROAD . . . IN ARIZONA

FIND OUT ABOUT:
Earth Semester (fall and spring semesters)
Earth Systems Field School (summer sessions)
Programs in Earth and Environmental Science and Environmental Policy

CONTACT: Chuck Kulpa 219-631-8376
E-MAIL: kulpa.1@nd.edu

or

CONTACT: Michael Omiecinski 1-800-992-4603 (choose option 1)
E-MAIL: momiecini@bio2.edu
BIOSPHERE 2 WEBSITE: www.bio2.edu
Swimmers improve their times

By WES RICHARDSON

The women's swim team improved its record to 2-2 Friday with wins over Army and Air Force, following a loss to Miami (Fla) the week before. The men split the weekend by beating Army and falling to Air Force.

Freshman Kelly Hecking and junior co-captain Liz Barger captured the only individual wins for the Irish against Miami. Hecking won in a 2.89 in the 100-yard backstroke while Barger won the 100-yard butterfly in 58.32.

Freshman Heather Mattingly kept a powerful Miami diving squad from sweeping the three-meter event by placing third in 58.32.

A difficult week of mid-terms and early-morning traveling were factors that kept the women from swimming to their potential against Miami, according to Hecking.

"We had to wake up at four in the morning the day of the meet, so we were not as rested as we wanted to be," said Freshman Heather Mattingly. "We definely could have beat them, and it depends on which team takes advantage of that chance, and we didn't do it," senior co-captain Chris Fugate said.

Despite the loss, the Irish had many strong points, particularly in the distance freestyle events. Sophomore James Scott-Browne scored wins in the 200, 500, and 1000 freestyles. Freshman Joseph Pored Scatt-Browne first in the 1,000, and then placed second in the 500.

Jennifer O'Connell also turned in a first place finish with a season best 1:54.44 in the 200 individual medley.

Unlike the women, fall break turned the Irish on an upswing, with 19 and sophomore Adrienne Shimel earned 16 digs. Treadwell led the team with 17 digs and 10 blocks as Senior Michelle Graham put up 22 kills for the Irish.

Earlier in the break, the Irish were swept by the Florida Gators 15-2, 15-9, and 15-5. The Gators moved to 18-2 on the season with the victory.

"I think the weekend in Connecticut was a wake up call, a reality check for me," said Girton. "I realized what a big role I need to play. I think the season's on an upswing. Everybody seems a lot happier. It's nice to be the one that's going to succeed."

Girton's play against the Eagles pushed her to become the second Irish player this season, along with senior co-captain Lindsay Treadwell, to be named Big East Player of the Week. Girton shared the honor with Georgetown's Kansas Gill. Also coming in big for the Irish were senior middle blocker Mary Leffers, junior opposite Emily Schiebout, and senior outside hitter Martin Bomback. All three players hit over .400, played in every game of the match, and are hitting at least .600, seven kills respectively.

Sophomore Michelle Graham filled in at setter for the injured Denise Boylan, and Graham put up 31 assists in the match. Future+brighter. The Providence Friars 14-16, 15-2, 15-9, and 17-15 on the strength of Boylan's canvas and career highs for Bomback in kills and hitting percentage, along with freshmen Kristy Kreher's career highs in kills and digs. Girton and Treadwell also played tough matches.

Bomback had 22 kills and led the team in hitting at .432, with Kreher adding 14 kills and 15 digs. Treadwell led the team with 17 digs and 10 block assists. Girton put up 22 kills for the Irish.

Boylan

continued from page 24

Senior captain Lindsay Treadwell played with Graham in high school in Austin, Texas. "One of her greatest attributes is that she always hustles," said Treadwell. "What she doesn't have physically, she makes up for with hustle." Graham transferred to Notre Dame from the University of Oregon, where she played in 21 matches last season.

"Everybody's kind of fell into place here, and it just seemed like the right place for me," said Graham. "Academically, it's a very strong school, and I liked Debbie [Frowen] a lot and trusted Lindsay Treadwell's opinion.

The Irish are lucky to have a back-up setter, as two years ago, they had only one setter and were forced to shift top players like Jennifer Lee in the setter position when Carey May went down with an injury.

Volleyball

continued from page 24

Management Systems at Lincoln Electric: A Century of Agility

Tuesday, October 27 at 7:30PM

JORDAN AUDITORIUM, COLLEGE OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Sponsored by:

- Notre Dame Center
- For Ethics and Responsibility
- Values in Business
- CARGILL

SPRINT Students for Responsible Business
The men's soccer team went 2-2 over vacation, beating Seton Hall and Boston College but falling to Providence and No. 1 UConn.

By ANTHONY BIANCO
Assistant Sports Editor

The mid-semester break was anything but relaxing for an Irish squad that faced four Big East teams in eight days, starting with the matchup against No. 1 Connecticut on October 16.

The Irish set out on a roller coaster ride that saw them literally dip, then peak, and then dip and peak once again.

A potential nightmare was avoided, as coach Mike Berticelli's squad coasted to a finish that keeps them in the Big East playoff picture.

Now at 4-4-2 with 10 points in the Big East, the seventh-place Irish are in position to make their third-straight conference tournament appearance. After a 2-0 loss to the Huskies, the Irish beat Seton Hall on the 18th, but fell on the road to Providence mid-week before rebounding against the Eagles of Boston College on Sunday.

"After the [first] weekend, we felt pretty good," said co-captain Phil Murphy. "We knew that we could compete with anybody in the country. After this Sunday's win, we got back on track."

The stretch began with the Irish at 2-2-2 in the conference and up against not only the best team in the Big East, but also the country.

Despite being shut out for the first time at home this season, the Irish earned a valuable draw against the top-ranked team in the country.

As a participant, you will join a 30 year tradition which has gained national attention and served as a model of experiential learning that has been adopted by a number of colleges and universities nationally.

There will be an information session TONIGHT at 7:00 at the CSC and LeMans Hesburgh Library Auditorium

FOR ADDITIONAL INFORMATION, Contact the Center for Social Concerns @ 631-5293 or visit our website: http://www.nd.edu/~ck/urbanplunge

APPLICATION DEADLINE-- FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 6

Tears to Triumph: Abortion Aftermath in Women's Lives

Director: American Victims of Abortion

Olivia Gans

Hesburgh Library Auditorium
8:00 pm, Tuesday, October 27, 1998
ND / SMC Right to Life
WANTED: Reporters, photographers and editors. Join the Observer staff.

YOGA

Mondays 11:2 - 12/7 5:20-6:30

RELAXATION TRAINING

FRIDAYS 11/6, 13, 20 4:00-5:00

RSRC CLASSROOM

SIGN UPS ARE 7:45AM, 10/29, RSRC

Fitness classes are 1/2 price after October break. Space is still available in many classes. Register for these classes today!
Netters win three over break but lose Boylan

By KATHLEEN O'BRIEN
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame volleyball team went 2-1 against ranked teams this weekend, but saw its Big East hopes fade as it fell to Seton Hall in overtime on Saturday.

Saturday, the Irish went up against the Seton Hall Pirates in a battle of ranked teams. The Irish had been on a tear, winning four straight games, but Saturday's three-overtime loss snapped that streak.

The Irish fell behind early, losing the first set 30-27. The second set was much closer, with the Irish winning 30-27. However, the third set was another blowout, with the Pirates winning 30-23.

The fourth set was much different, with the Irish winning 30-27 to take the lead. Unfortunately, the fifth set was another heartbreaker, with the Pirates winning 30-27 and the Irish running out of gas.

The loss was particularly devastating for Irish setter Denise Boylan, who was forced to sit out the entire weekend due to an injury sustained last week.

Boylan, a sophomore, is the primary setter for the Irish, and her absence was felt in this match. Head coach Dave Poulin was disappointed with the team's performance without her, but noted that the team will have to adjust to her absence in future matches.

The Irish will have to regroup quickly as they prepare for three more matches over the next week, two of which are against ranked teams. Poulin hopes to see improved performances from the Irish in the upcoming matches as they continue their quest for a Big East championship.