Arias: Military rules budget

By ERICA THESING
Assistant News Editor

The amount of money dedicated to militarism and the arms trade is immoral, and the U.S. is one of the worst offenders, Oscar Arias, former president of Costa Rica and 1987 Nobel Peace Prize laureate said Friday.

Arias explained in a lecture that the U.S. will soon be spending $300 billion on its defense budget.

"The United States ... stands as an extreme example of moral irresponsibility," Arias said. "By maintaining a massive military industrial budget, this country sends the wrong message to other countries."

He explained that the U.S. sells these weapons indiscriminately, not just to democracies or countries fighting for democracy as some politicians may claim.

"It's a matter of making money from the sale of weapons and that's not proper. That's immoral," he said.

Arias pointed out that one of every five American children grows up in poverty, and over 140 million Americans lack health insurance. He said those facts, compared to military spending and the notion that military leaders can receive increased funding whenever a conflict arises, are ironic.

"You could do much more with even a small portion of that money if it's re-directed," said Arias.

Part of the problem is the American culture and its acceptance of this behavior, Arias said.

"The American public needs to be educated about peace because, as I pointed out, you've been involved in wars all your history, but you tell me you are a peace-loving country, a peace-loving people," he said.

Former president of Costa Rica Oscar Arias discussed the impact of the United States' international arms sales at a lecture Friday.

Arias to investigate Dunbar's gifts to Irish

By ERICA THESING
Assistant News Editor

The NCAA Committee on Infractions will ask Notre Dame to appear at a hearing in connection with the case of Notre Dame football players receiving gifts from Kimberly Dunbar, who pleaded guilty to using embezzled funds to purchase the gifts.

The University received preliminary notice of the hearing and expects to receive official notice Wednesday. No date for the hearing has been set, and the University is uncertain about the outcome, according to Dennis Moore, director of Notre Dame Public Relations.

"Nothing has been determined on that yet," Moore said.

The NCAA enforcement staff has recommended that the matter be considered a secondary rules violation, as opposed to a major violation. Moore stressed that this is merely a recommendation and the committee may still go either way.

"We haven't seen those documents, so we don't know what their reasoning was, but obviously based on their reviewing the case, they decided it was a secondary matter," Moore said.

If the committee does opt for the secondary rules violation, sanctions could range from probation without penalties to a minor loss of scholarships. The eligibility of current players is not an issue.

A major violation could carry harsher penalties, such as losing scholarships or television contracts. It could also include restrictions on recruiting and post-season honors.

Dunbar is now serving a four-year prison term for embezzling more than $1.4 million from her former employer, Dominick Mechanical Inc. She used the money to cover travel expenses, jewelry and other gifts for up to a dozen Irish players.

The NCAA investigation only involves Dunbar's actions after June 1995, when she joined the Quarterback Club. According to the NCAA, membership in the Quarterback Club made Dunbar a representative of the University. The Quarterback Club is now disbanded.

The University self-reported the case to the NCAA.

see NCAA / page 4

A FAST response

From football games to the Keenan Reue, the First Aid Services Team is on hand to provide

A FAST response

By LAURA PETELLE
Assistant Managing Editor

"Control, we have a black tag two major injuries, two minor." An episode of ERT? No, just a multiple casualty incident — a minor disaster — staged Sunday for training purposes by Notre Dame's First Aid Services Team (FAST).

FAST provides first-response first aid for a variety of University events, from football games to RecSports events to the Keenan Reue. FAST's 55 student members are First Aid certified in First Aid and CPR for the Professional rescuer. Most of them are not pre-med.

At Sunday's mock disaster, FAST members practiced responding to the types of incidents that could occur in Notre Dame Stadium. When full to capacity, the arena holds over 80,000 people, the population of a small city.

"A lot of potentially really bad things happen at the football games," said Nikki Johnson, FAST's 1998-99 football coordinator for FAST. "We get one hour attack per game and one death per year at football games."

"We have more resources here at the stadium than many towns have," said Brother Lou Hurck.

He explained that at each game there are 9 doctors, 6 nurses and 3 paramedic teams available, but FAST is the first to respond when someone is hurt, according to Hurck. Volunteers see everything from cut fingers to head lacerations, from heat stroke to hypothermia, from sprained ankles to unconscious drumkards.

Sunday's mock disaster featured a variety of accidents often found at football games, including a bee sting with allergic reaction, an "unwalkable bone injury," on the stairs, an unconscious drink in the bathroom who became belligerent upon waking and a variety of people passing out from a variety of causes.

The training session culminated with a scenario where five people were injured while rushing the field. The first FAST team on the scene radiated for back-up and began triage — an assessment of the extent of the injuries — and first aid.

see FAST / page 4

NATO escalates airstrikes

By ERICA THESING
Assistant News Editor

NATO escalated airstrikes Monday, April 19, 1999.

As refugees continue to flee Kosovo, NATO vows to continue its bombing campaign against Serbia.

see NCAA / page 4

Drew goes back to school

Drew Barrymore's latest movie, "Never Been Kissed," is in theaters now.

see NCAA / page 4
The Amazing Spider-Man

In American society today, there are so many pop culture icons in television, music, movies, books, comics, sports and even politics. I have become jaded with not just the mere number of such icons but the quality of pop icons today. Yet, what I see one such pop culture icon that I have remained true to since my childhood. Though I know it is impossible to accurately imitate the pop culture icon from my youth, I still try my best to emulate my favorite comic book superhero: the Amazing Spider-Man.

To understand Spider-Man, you must first understand the author. Peter Parker, originally a mild-mannered, geeky high school student who has a love for science, especially special at the time. He was always bullied at school. He didn't come from an affluent family. In fact, he was an orphan being raised by his elderly lower middle-class Aunt Ben and Aunt May. Compared to other superheros, he was a loser.

The last son of Krypton only pretended to be a somewhat goofy Clark Kent while still retaining his image of Superman. Bruce Wayne was a winning millionaire brat that could afford anything from his knowledgeable to incompetent police contacts. Parker had to work as a freelance photographer for a tyrannical newspaper publisher. Before Parker was bitten by that fateful radioactive spider, he was just a kid like the rest of us. In some cases, he still is. Spider-Man helped teach me to be myself.

As Spider-Man, Parker didn't have the same awesome powers as the other superheros, so his resourcefulness, wits, agility and strength and most importantly his energy beams, superhuman strength, superhuman speed and state of the art technology. He relied on his wits more than anything else in order to defeat his vast number of impressive enemies. Spider-Man helped teach me that brains beat brawn.

This brings me to my next point. The quality of superheros that Spider-Man taught is to face single-handedly. His enemies make most other regular folks look good. Spider-Man tangled with the Kingpin, Dr. Doom, the Juggernaut, the Punisher, the Hulk and even Wolverine. Parker had to use his resourcefulness and his famous spider sense. Based on his powers only, he usually ranks very low among the other superheros like Superman, Batman, the X-Men, the Avengers and Spidey. Yet Spider-Man relied on his wits more than anything else in order to defeat his vast number of formidable enemies. Spider-Man helped teach me that brains beat brawn.

The views expressed in the Inside Column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.

Law enforcement officials set up fake ID crackdown

The Observer • INSIDE

outside the Dome

Compiled from U-Wire reports

Law enforcement officials set up fake ID crackdown

The Amazing Spider-Man

City and state law enforcement officials have announced a plan to conduct large-scale sting operations to capture bar patrons identified in a recent crackdown initiated in February is only the latest in a series of stings.

On Feb. 12, 120 officers worked in conjunction with doormen at every bar on Union Ave. People felt they're being targeted for engaging in civil disobedience do understand and should understand that a part of the philosophy of civil disobedience is to call attention to your cause by suffering the consequences of your actions," said Berdahl. Five of the 46 officers arrested were taken to Berkeley City Jail for trespassing and disrupting the business. Those five demonstrators arrested, Berkeley police Capt. Bill Cooper. Of the five protesters who were taken to jail, one faces an additional charge of battery after he allegedly assaulted a cop. Negotiations that had been initiated between protesters and Vice Chancellor and Provost Carol Christian Wednesday afternoon were terminated.

University of California-Berkley

Chancellor to uphold charges

University of California-Berkley Chancellor Robert Berdahl declined Thursday night he would not waive charges against the demonstrators arrested during a 64-hour student protest. "I believe in the philosophy of civil disobedience is to call attention to your cause by suffering the consequences of your actions," said Berdahl. Five of the 46 officers arrested were taken to Berkeley City Jail for trespassing and disrupting the business. Those five demonstrators arrested, Berkeley police Capt. Bill Cooper. Of the five protesters who were taken to jail, one faces an additional charge of battery after he allegedly assaulted a cop. Negotiations that had been initiated between protesters and Vice Chancellor and Provost Carol Christian Wednesday afternoon were terminated.

University of Florida

Bill calls for tax-free prepaid tuition

GAINESVILLE, Fla.

If a congressional bill proposed by Sen. Bob Graham, D-Fla., becomes law this year, the more than 5,000 University of Florida students who pay for their tuition through the Florida Prepaid College Program will have reason to be a little happier on tax day next year. The College Savings Act of 1999 would make money invested in any of the 43 state prepaid college programs tax-free when used. "The tax-free status would be beneficial because people are very familiar with the program and are saving money already," said criminology senior Driscoll Liggett. Currently, the telephone inquires between the prepaid plan is bought and when it is redeemed is considered a taxable part of a student's income. "Before, they were paying taxes twice," said Lewis Washington, a spokeswoman in Graham's office. "Money is tax-exempted when the prepaid plan is bought but it is taxed when you take it out."

NATIONAL WEATHER

The AcornWeather forecast for Monday, April 19. Low pressure replaces high temperature zones for the day.

H L

Monday 54 36
Tuesday 58 38
Wednesday 63 45
Thursday 65 48
Friday 67 51

LOW PRESSURE: January 2000

500 M T H

CHANGAMPAK, III.

The prosecution rested its case Thursday against two Gypsy bouncers accused of murdering university student Ernest Berz, calling as its final witness his fiancee, who described the night they met just before they died, said she and the second defendant, Robert Jurkacz told Seri he could not go upstairs because he "didn't like the police." Seri insisted that he should be allowed to go upstairs, and then Jurkacz "got angry and started chasing Ernest and he started punching him," said Dahiya when the fight left Gypsy and moved out to the middle of North Market Street, the other defendant, Ruben Vasquez, joined in.

University of Illinois

Student testifies in murder case

When Princeton student Kenna Hooper went home for winter break her sophomore year, her boyfriend at the time asked her to "help me with a book to a child." Her response — that she would translate the book into a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hooper's English thesis outlines plans for the creation of a theme-park ride — marked the beginning of an enterprise that would lead to a patented thesis and a job offer from CNN. Hoop
Correction

In an article in Friday's Observer, a source incorrectly identified security officer Jami Thibodeaux, who was injured in the cooling tower explosion Thursday morning as a man. Thibodeaux is a woman.

The Observer regrets the error.

---

"Give me your best shot.
ANSWER THE CALL—today!

-Fr. Tom Gaughan, C.S.C., ND '80, '86, Reector, Stanford Hall

---

For more information on Holy Cross' one-year Candidate Program contact:

Fr. Jim King, C.S.C. or
Fr. Bill Wack, C.S.C.
1-6385

vocation.i@nd.edu

---

WHY NOT...?

---

FOLLOW HIM....?

---

MOLLY MCGUIRE'S COFFEE HOUSE

SECRETARY'S WEEK IS APRIL 19 - 23rd.

Be sure to remember the most important person in the office. LUNCH at Molly's, a CAFE MOCHA and MUFFINS, a CAPPUCINO with a fresh CROSSANT, or perhaps a GIFT CERTIFICATE, will make every secretary smile! We will feature stuffed cantaloupe or stuffed tomato with crab, tuna or chicken salad; a Caesar salad with grilled chicken breast & our apple walnut salad.

MOLLY'S opens at 7am Mon.- Fri. and we are a treasure in your back yard. Filled with beautiful antiques and friendly smiles, we are just minutes away at the corner of Eddy Street and South Bend Avenue. Carryouts available.

Hope to see you soon!
Molly

---

Campus Habitat chapter dedicates its fifth house

Special to The Observer

Notre Dame's chapter of Habitat for Humanity dedicated its fifth house Sunday at 1902 Fremont Avenue on South Bend's northwest side. Under the direction of faculty advisor David Kirkner, associate professor civil engineering and geological sciences, the Notre Dame group funded and built this year's house.

Father Richard Warner, director of Campus Ministry, presided at the dedication of the house, which will be owned by Mr. and Mrs. Blue Casey of South Bend. Mr. Casey is an employee of the University.

---

Symposium to honor deceased professor

Special to The Observer

A symposium in honor and memory of Catherine-Mowry LaCugna, who was invests in the Nancy Reeves Dreux Professor of Theology in the fall of 1996, will be held on Tuesday.

This academic event posthumously marks the inauguration of the Nancy Reeves Dreux Chair.

Speakers at the symposium include professor Mary Ann O'Donovan of the Jesuit School of Theology at Berkeley and past president of the Catholic Theological Society of America. O'Donovan will speak on "Catherine, The Trinity and Pastoral Theology: the Trajectory of a Friendship."

Professor Mary Catherine Hilker of the department of theology at Notre Dame will speak on "The Vocation of the Theologian."

Elizabeth Grue, a doctoral student of professor LaCugna, will address the topic "From 'God For Us' to 'Living in the Spirit of God, the Spirit of Christ': Catherine's Trinitarian Theology as a Foundation for her Theology of the Holy Spirit."

LaCugna was a systematic theologian whose teaching and writing focused on Trinitarian theology. Her book "God For Us: The Trinity and Christian Life" emphasized the practical implications of the doctrine of the Trinity for spirituality, ethics, sexuality and the life of the Church. In 1992, "Catherine, The Trinity and Pastoral Theology: the Trajectory of a Friendship." Eric F. Miller, professor of religious studies at Earlham College, will speak on "The Implications for Ecumenical Dialogue of Catherine LaCugna's Trinitarian Theology."

Professor Mary Catherine Hilker of the department of theology at Notre Dame will speak on "The Vocation of the Theologian."

Elizabeth Grue, a doctoral student of professor LaCugna, will address the topic "From 'God For Us' to 'Living in the Spirit of God, the Spirit of Christ': Catherine's Trinitarian Theology as a Foundation for her Theology of the Holy Spirit." LaCugna died of cancer on May 3, 1997. LaCugna was a systematic theologian whose teaching and writing focused on Trinitarian theology. Her book "God For Us: The Trinity and Christian Life" emphasized the practical implications of the doctrine of the Trinity for spirituality, ethics, sexuality and the life of the Church. In 1992, "Catherine, The Trinity and Pastoral Theology: the Trajectory of a Friendship." Eric F. Miller, professor of religious studies at Earlham College, will speak on "The Implications for Ecumenical Dialogue of Catherine LaCugna's Trinitarian Theology."

Professor Mary Catherine Hilker of the department of theology at Notre Dame will speak on "The Vocation of the Theologian."

Elizabeth Grue, a doctoral student of professor LaCugna, will address the topic "From 'God For Us' to 'Living in the Spirit of God, the Spirit of Christ': Catherine's Trinitarian Theology as a Foundation for her Theology of the Holy Spirit."
said. "There is a contradiction there."

This mentality may stem from the American image of the word "war." Arias pointed out that there is an association with constructive U.S. projects, such as the War on Poverty and the War on Drugs. He also said that Americans hide their military involvement behind notions of helping democracies, when in fact it is not always the case.

"If one kills a person, it's called murder. If in the United States you kill 5,000 people, it's called foreign policy," said Arias. "I don't think we can solve all the problems through military means."

Arias was also critical of the motives behind NATO's involvement in Kosovo. He called NATO an elitist group that is undermining the role of the U.N. He argued that NATO's actions in Kosovo are entirely pure, suggesting that the situation in Yugoslavia only displays on CNN American arms for potential weapons buyers.

"Certainly you are the leading force in NATO. But you are not here to bring democracy to Yugoslavia, for heaven's sake."

Taxpayers support the "immoral" weapons trade, Arias said. He explained that in 1995, the American weapons industry received $7.6 billion in federal subsidies.

"We must allow our public policy to grow out of our ethical convictions," Arias said.

"War and the preparation for war is one of the greatest obstacles to human progress."

Arias also criticized Third World countries who try to keep up in the arms race, devoting large portions of their budgets to defense. He said these countries spend $2 billion on arms and defense.

"It is completely irrational," Arias said.

"It is immoral. It is criminal for Third World countries to be spending that kind of money instead of trying to satisfy the basic needs of [the people]."

He noted that half of the world's governments spend more on defense than on health. Arias also discussed the current role of globalization, explaining that the decisions of American businesses and American consumers have international impact.

In the past 50 years, U.S. corporations have expanded and with assistance of the State Department have opened offices around the world,

Arias said. "The challenge of the current generation is to embrace this global citizenship."

Arias pointed to the accumulation of wealth into fewer and fewer hands, and said that the demonstrated spiritual, moral, and leadership crises. He called on Americans to recognize their global citizenship and stop the cycles of materialism and militarism.

"In this democracy, there is no room for compassion," Arias said. "There is no place for resignation but only determination. There is no stopping at simple charity."

Instead, Arias called for solidarity and for the end to unjust labor conditions, such as sweatshops. He emphasized that each person should take a leadership role in ending such practices.

"My friends, I tell you today that human advances do not come when we wait to see if others will act. Instead, progress begins when each of us starts to think globally," Arias said. "We can live with compassion, we can be more humane and we can indeed live in peace.

Arias is the author of an International Code of Conduct on Arms Transfers called "The Arias Plan. "The Code of Conduct, which Arias is working on, is to have ratified by governments around the globe, calls for an end of arms exports to unstable regions, human rights abusers, dictators and military aggressors. Arias also used the Nobel Prize money to found the Arias Foundation for Peace and Human Progress.

He received the Nobel Prize for his efforts toward peace in Central America.

Arias said. "We can live with compassion, we can grow more humane and we can indeed live in peace.

Arias was also critical of the "immoral" foreign policy. He received the Nobel Prize for his efforts toward peace in Central America.

Arias is the author of an International Code of Conduct on Arms Transfers called "The Arias Plan. "The Code of Conduct, which Arias is working on, is to have ratified by governments around the globe, calls for an end of arms exports to unstable regions, human rights abusers, dictators and military aggressors. Arias also used the Nobel Prize money to found the Arias Foundation for Peace and Human Progress.

He received the Nobel Prize for his efforts toward peace in Central America.

Arias is the author of an International Code of Conduct on Arms Transfers called "The Arias Plan. "The Code of Conduct, which Arias is working on, is to have ratified by governments around the globe, calls for an end of arms exports to unstable regions, human rights abusers, dictators and military aggressors. Arias also used the Nobel Prize money to found the Arias Foundation for Peace and Human Progress.

He received the Nobel Prize for his efforts toward peace in Central America.

Arias was also critical of the "immoral" foreign policy. He received the Nobel Prize for his efforts toward peace in Central America.

Arias is the author of an International Code of Conduct on Arms Transfers called "The Arias Plan. "The Code of Conduct, which Arias is working on, is to have ratified by governments around the globe, calls for an end of arms exports to unstable regions, human rights abusers, dictators and military aggressors. Arias also used the Nobel Prize money to found the Arias Foundation for Peace and Human Progress.

He received the Nobel Prize for his efforts toward peace in Central America.

Arias was also critical of the "immoral" foreign policy. He received the Nobel Prize for his efforts toward peace in Central America.

Arias is the author of an International Code of Conduct on Arms Transfers called "The Arias Plan. "The Code of Conduct, which Arias is working on, is to have ratified by governments around the globe, calls for an end of arms exports to unstable regions, human rights abusers, dictators and military aggressors. Arias also used the Nobel Prize money to found the Arias Foundation for Peace and Human Progress.

He received the Nobel Prize for his efforts toward peace in Central America.

Arias was also critical of the "immoral" foreign policy. He received the Nobel Prize for his efforts toward peace in Central America.

Arias is the author of an International Code of Conduct on Arms Transfers called "The Arias Plan. "The Code of Conduct, which Arias is working on, is to have ratified by governments around the globe, calls for an end of arms exports to unstable regions, human rights abusers, dictators and military aggressors. Arias also used the Nobel Prize money to found the Arias Foundation for Peace and Human Progress.

He received the Nobel Prize for his efforts toward peace in Central America.

Arias was also critical of the "immoral" foreign policy. He received the Nobel Prize for his efforts toward peace in Central America.

Arias is the author of an International Code of Conduct on Arms Transfers called "The Arias Plan. "The Code of Conduct, which Arias is working on, is to have ratified by governments around the globe, calls for an end of arms exports to unstable regions, human rights abusers, dictators and military aggressors. Arias also used the Nobel Prize money to found the Arias Foundation for Peace and Human Progress.

He received the Nobel Prize for his efforts toward peace in Central America.

Arias was also critical of the "immoral" foreign policy. He received the Nobel Prize for his efforts toward peace in Central America.

Arias is the author of an International Code of Conduct on Arms Transfers called "The Arias Plan. "The Code of Conduct, which Arias is working on, is to have ratified by governments around the globe, calls for an end of arms exports to unstable regions, human rights abusers, dictators and military aggressors. Arias also used the Nobel Prize money to found the Arias Foundation for Peace and Human Progress.

He received the Nobel Prize for his efforts toward peace in Central America.

Arias was also critical of the "immoral" foreign policy. He received the Nobel Prize for his efforts toward peace in Central America.

Arias is the author of an International Code of Conduct on Arms Transfers called "The Arias Plan. "The Code of Conduct, which Arias is working on, is to have ratified by governments around the globe, calls for an end of arms exports to unstable regions, human rights abusers, dictators and military aggressors. Arias also used the Nobel Prize money to found the Arias Foundation for Peace and Human Progress.

He received the Nobel Prize for his efforts toward peace in Central America.

Arias was also critical of the "immoral" foreign policy. He received the Nobel Prize for his efforts toward peace in Central America.

Arias is the author of an International Code of Conduct on Arms Transfers called "The Arias Plan. "The Code of Conduct, which Arias is working on, is to have ratified by governments around the globe, calls for an end of arms exports to unstable regions, human rights abusers, dictators and military aggressors. Arias also used the Nobel Prize money to found the Arias Foundation for Peace and Human Progress.

He received the Nobel Prize for his efforts toward peace in Central America.

Arias was also critical of the "immoral" foreign policy. He received the Nobel Prize for his efforts toward peace in Central America.

Arias is the author of an International Code of Conduct on Arms Transfers called "The Arias Plan. "The Code of Conduct, which Arias is working on, is to have ratified by governments around the globe, calls for an end of arms exports to unstable regions, human rights abusers, dictators and military aggressors. Arias also used the Nobel Prize money to found the Arias Foundation for Peace and Human Progress.

He received the Nobel Prize for his efforts toward peace in Central America.

Arias was also critical of the "immoral" foreign policy. He received the Nobel Prize for his efforts toward peace in Central America.

Arias is the author of an International Code of Conduct on Arms Transfers called "The Arias Plan. "The Code of Conduct, which Arias is working on, is to have ratified by governments around the globe, calls for an end of arms exports to unstable regions, human rights abusers, dictators and military aggressors. Arias also used the Nobel Prize money to found the Arias Foundation for Peace and Human Progress.

He received the Nobel Prize for his efforts toward peace in Central America.
Dayton, Ohio

The eldest of four children allegedly hog tied for refusing to leave their home has told investigators of other harsh treatment by their parents, including being deprived of food and water. The children, ages 4, 8, 11 and 17 — were removed in late January from the family's home in suburban Harrison Township after the teen, Eddie Sizemore Jr., mailed a better to his nearby aunt, pleading for help. The young children were found to speak to each other in a broken, guttural form of English. All are not the by the care of another. Their pare,

Edward and Lucinda Sizemore, serious gathered after police, began attending last week to four counts of non-support of a dependent, a misdemeanor.

Jury convicts father of murder

KENT, Wash.

A man who shot his daughter seven times last year after she gave him a dirty look was convicted of first-degree murder. A King County Superior Court jury on Friday convic ted Harimond Singh Virk, 54, of killing his 18-year-old daughter, Ranjit, on May 13. Virk faces a minimum of 25 years in prison when he is sentenced next month. During his trial, Virk testified he retrieved a handgun when he saw his daughter sleeping at the kitchen his trial, Virk Instilled he became angry when his 18-year-old daughter, Ranjit, on May 13. Virk testified he retrieved a handgun when he saw his daughter sleeping at the kitchen

Teen accuses parents of depriving food

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia

Belgrade officials told state television that pollution risks were limited, but the Tanjung news agency advised residents to protect them selves with gas masks.

Tanjung news agency advised residents to protect them selves with gas masks.

Despite growing calls for NATO to interfere, Belgrade officials to state television that pollution risks were limited, but the Tanjung news agency advised residents to protect them selves with gas masks.

NATO strikes increase, refugees flee

Port Lauderdal, Fla.

A fire by rapidly shifting wind burned out of control in the Everglades on Sunday, consuming 70,000 acres of dry marsh grass and consuming 70,000 acres of dry marsh grass and faster smoke that darkened the Miami area.

The fire began on the Everglades, western edge, Saturday, possibly ignited by hunt from a vehicle's catalytic converter. It quickly became the largest fire in years, more than 2,450 blazes that have burned 130,000 acres in the last two months. Firefighters from Texas and Arizona were called in to help.

With rainfall 90 percent below normal during Florida's dry season, offici

Florid fıre burns 70,000 acres

Market Watch: 4/16

Dow Jones

NYSE

S&P 500

VOLUME LEADERS

Dow

S&P 500

Composite

NASDAQ

14,039.49

1,319.00

1,319.00

1,937,370,000

14,039.49

1,319.00

1,319.00

1,937,370,000

6,931,400

3,724,400

3,724,400
Gandhi could take helm as new prime minister

NEW DELHI

For years, Sonia Gandhi disdained politics and hit from public view.

When her mother-in-law, Indira Gandhi, was assassinated in 1984, she pleaded with her husband, Rajiv, against taking his mother’s place as prime minister. When her husband was killed in 1991, she went into seclusion, shaming the politicians who begged her to lead them.

Yet she reluctantly emerged from the shadows to accept the inheritance of her father, Jawaharlal Nehru, and India’s top law enforcement was under guard after his arrest, saying he was the son of India’s prime minister.

Although Gandhi did not initiate the government’s downfall, she engineered the final blow. Indian newspapers said her personal lobbying on the telephone Friday night turned key votes against the government.

For the enigmatic Gandhi, it was a rare fancy beyond her immediate circle. She is considered a strategist who lets her tenants carry out decisions.

For the enigmatic, it was a rare fancy beyond her immediate circle. She is considered a strategist who lets her tenants carry out decisions.

Former Chilean dictator Gen. Augusto Pinochet faces months of detention after ruling that he tortured his opponents until April 30 to allow Pinochet’s attorneys time to study the decision to determine grounds for an appeal.

Legal experts said they expect prosecutors to prepare a fresh arrest warrant in the meantime, which probably will include some of the allegations Spanish Judge Baltasar Garzon has highlighted in recent months to butt his case.

But enough charges were upheld — including allegations that he tortured his opponents — to keep the extradition request alive.

Sonia Gandhi’s release was not fit to stand trial. He operated from back surgery, spanning the fast-declining, century-old party from oblivion.

But when the Congress Party turned to Rajiv, then a pilot for Indian Airlines, to take helm as new prime minister, he begged him not to accept.

“I pleaded with him, with others around him. He would be killed as well,” she wrote in a book dedicated to her late husband. “He held my hands, hugged me, tried to soothe my desperation. He had no choice, he said. He would be killed anyway.”

Rajiv Gandhi served a full five-year term, but lost the 1989 election when his name was linked to a payoff scandal in a huge arms deal.

He was killed during a campaign appearance in south India by a woman who detonated explosives attached to her body.

In Chile, the government lamented the ruling and said it will continue to enforce “all the judicial and political alternatives still available” to seek Pinochet’s arrest.

But Chilean Foreign Minister Ricardo Lagos said there will be no reprisals. The government has sought Pinochet’s release since he crossed sides to vote for the government. But when the Congress Party turned to Rajiv, then a pilot for Indian Airlines, to take helm as new prime minister, he begged him not to accept.

“I pleaded with him, with others around him. He would be killed as well,” she wrote in a book dedicated to her late husband. “He held my hands, hugged me, tried to soothe my desperation. He had no choice, he said. He would be killed anyway.”

Rajiv Gandhi served a full five-year term, but lost the 1989 election when his name was linked to a payoff scandal in a huge arms deal.

He was killed during a campaign appearance in south India by a woman who detonated explosives attached to her body.

In Chile, the government lamented the ruling and said it will continue to enforce “all the judicial and political alternatives still available” to seek Pinochet’s arrest.

But Chilean Foreign Minister Ricardo Lagos said there will be no reprisals. The government has sought Pinochet’s release since he crossed sides to vote for the government. But when the Congress Party turned to Rajiv, then a pilot for Indian Airlines, to take helm as new prime minister, he begged him not to accept.

“I pleaded with him, with others around him. He would be killed as well,” she wrote in a book dedicated to her late husband. “He held my hands, hugged me, tried to soothe my desperation. He had no choice, he said. He would be killed anyway.”

Rajiv Gandhi served a full five-year term, but lost the 1989 election when his name was linked to a payoff scandal in a huge arms deal.

He was killed during a campaign appearance in south India by a woman who detonated explosives attached to her body.

In Chile, the government lamented the ruling and said it will continue to enforce “all the judicial and political alternatives still available” to seek Pinochet’s arrest.

But Chilean Foreign Minister Ricardo Lagos said there will be no reprisals. The government has sought Pinochet’s release since he crossed sides to vote for the government. But when the Congress Party turned to Rajiv, then a pilot for Indian Airlines, to take helm as new prime minister, he begged him not to accept.

“I pleaded with him, with others around him. He would be killed as well,” she wrote in a book dedicated to her late husband. “He held my hands, hugged me, tried to soothe my desperation. He had no choice, he said. He would be killed anyway.”

Rajiv Gandhi served a full five-year term, but lost the 1989 election when his name was linked to a payoff scandal in a huge arms deal.

He was killed during a campaign appearance in south India by a woman who detonated explosives attached to her body.

In Chile, the government lamented the ruling and said it will continue to enforce “all the judicial and political alternatives still available” to seek Pinochet’s arrest.

But Chilean Foreign Minister Ricardo Lagos said there will be no reprisals. The government has sought Pinochet’s release since he crossed sides to vote for the government. But when the Congress Party turned to Rajiv, then a pilot for Indian Airlines, to take helm as new prime minister, he begged him not to accept.

“I pleaded with him, with others around him. He would be killed as well,” she wrote in a book dedicated to her late husband. “He held my hands, hugged me, tried to soothe my desperation. He had no choice, he said. He would be killed anyway.”

Rajiv Gandhi served a full five-year term, but lost the 1989 election when his name was linked to a payoff scandal in a huge arms deal.

He was killed during a campaign appearance in south India by a woman who detonated explosives attached to her body.

In Chile, the government lamented the ruling and said it will continue to enforce “all the judicial and political alternatives still available” to seek Pinochet’s arrest.

But Chilean Foreign Minister Ricardo Lagos said there will be no reprisals. The government has sought Pinochet’s release since he crossed sides to vote for the government. But when the Congress Party turned to Rajiv, then a pilot for Indian Airlines, to take helm as new prime minister, he begged him not to accept.

“I pleaded with him, with others around him. He would be killed as well,” she wrote in a book dedicated to her late husband. “He held my hands, hugged me, tried to soothe my desperation. He had no choice, he said. He would be killed anyway.”

Rajiv Gandhi served a full five-year term, but lost the 1989 election when his name was linked to a payoff scandal in a huge arms deal.

He was killed during a campaign appearance in south India by a woman who detonated explosives attached to her body.

In Chile, the government lamented the ruling and said it will continue to enforce “all the judicial and political alternatives still available” to seek Pinochet’s arrest.

But Chilean Foreign Minister Ricardo Lagos said there will be no reprisals. The government has sought Pinochet’s release since he crossed sides to vote for the government. But when the Congress Party turned to Rajiv, then a pilot for Indian Airlines, to take helm as new prime minister, he begged him not to accept.

“I pleaded with him, with others around him. He would be killed as well,” she wrote in a book dedicated to her late husband. “He held my hands, hugged me, tried to soothe my desperation. He had no choice, he said. He would be killed anyway.”

Rajiv Gandhi served a full five-year term, but lost the 1989 election when his name was linked to a payoff scandal in a huge arms deal.

He was killed during a campaign appearance in south India by a woman who detonated explosives attached to her body.

In Chile, the government lamented the ruling and said it will continue to enforce “all the judicial and political alternatives still available” to seek Pinochet’s arrest.

But Chilean Foreign Minister Ricardo Lagos said there will be no reprisals. The government has sought Pinochet’s release since he crossed sides to vote for the government. But when the Congress Party turned to Rajiv, then a pilot for Indian Airlines, to take helm as new prime minister, he begged him not to accept.

“I pleaded with him, with others around him. He would be killed as well,” she wrote in a book dedicated to her late husband. “He held my hands, hugged me, tried to soothe my desperation. He had no choice, he said. He would be killed anyway.”

Rajiv Gandhi served a full five-year term, but lost the 1989 election when his name was linked to a payoff scandal in a huge arms deal.

He was killed during a campaign appearance in south India by a woman who detonated explosives attached to her body.

In Chile, the government lamented the ruling and said it will continue to enforce “all the judicial and political alternatives still available” to seek Pinochet’s arrest.

But Chilean Foreign Minister Ricardo Lagos said there will be no reprisals. The government has sought Pinochet’s release since he crossed sides to vote for the government. But when the Congress Party turned to Rajiv, then a pilot for Indian Airlines, to take helm as new prime minister, he begged him not to accept.

“I pleaded with him, with others around him. He would be killed as well,” she wrote in a book dedicated to her late husband. “He held my hands, hugged me, tried to soothe my desperation. He had no choice, he said. He would be killed anyway.”

Rajiv Gandhi served a full five-year term, but lost the 1989 election when his name was linked to a payoff scandal in a huge arms deal.

He was killed during a campaign appearance in south India by a woman who detonated explosives attached to her body.

In Chile, the government lamented the ruling and said it will continue to enforce “all the judicial and political alternatives still available” to seek Pinochet’s arrest.

But Chilean Foreign Minister Ricardo Lagos said there will be no reprisals. The government has sought Pinochet’s release since he crossed sides to vote for the government. But when the Congress Party turned to Rajiv, then a pilot for Indian Airlines, to take helm as new prime minister, he begged him not to accept.

“I pleaded with him, with others around him. He would be killed as well,” she wrote in a book dedicated to her late husband. “He held my hands, hugged me, tried to soothe my desperation. He had no choice, he said. He would be killed anyway.”

Rajiv Gandhi served a full five-year term, but lost the 1989 election when his name was linked to a payoff scandal in a huge arms deal.

He was killed during a campaign appearance in south India by a woman who detonated explosives attached to her body.

In Chile, the government lamented the ruling and said it will continue to enforce “all the judicial and political alternatives still available” to seek Pinochet’s arrest.

But Chilean Foreign Minister Ricardo Lagos said there will be no reprisals. The government has sought Pinochet’s release since he crossed sides to vote for the government. But when the Congress Party turned to Rajiv, then a pilot for Indian Airlines, to take helm as new prime minister, he begged him not to accept.

“I pleaded with him, with others around him. He would be killed as well,” she wrote in a book dedicated to her late husband. “He held my hands, hugged me, tried to soothe my desperation. He had no choice, he said. He would be killed anyway.”

Rajiv Gandhi served a full five-year term, but lost the 1989 election when his name was linked to a payoff scandal in a huge arms deal.

He was killed during a campaign appearance in south India by a woman who detonated explosives attached to her body.
US reports on Kosovo death toll

Associated Press

WASHINGTON

Tens of thousands of young ethnic Albanian men — possibly as many as 100,000 — may have been killed by Serb ethnic cleansing of Kosovo, the U.S. ambassador for war crimes said Sunday.

David Scheffer also said Yugoslav President Slobodan Milosevic certainly list a prime target for investigation as a war criminal. Milosevic has been advised of that in a letter from prosecutor Louise Arbour of the U.N. war crimes tribunal in the Netherlands.

Scheffer, appearing on "Fox News Sunday," brought side-by-side photographs of the western Kosovo ethnic Albanian town of Izbica that he said proved mass killings by Serbs.

The photos, released Saturday by NATO, depicted an area taken at different times. In one photo, up to 150 graves had appeared where nothing existed before.

Scheffer called it "a classic example of ethnic cleansing ... an act against humanity that is a crime punishable by international law ... that's a false hope."

Scheffer said: "That's a very low estimate."

Refugees have spoken of ethnic Albanian men, largely those of fighting age, being separated from relatives before the families were forced to flee.

"We have no idea where those men are now," Scheffer said.

Scheffer, the United States' first ambassador-at-large for war crimes, said the United States will provide prosecutor Arbour with "as much information as possible ... to support her investigation."

He said Serbia is providing sanctuary to war crimes suspects already indicted for alleged atrocities during the Bosnian war of the early 1990s.

"The pressure is going to remain on Slobodan Milosevic until ... anyone indicted on his territory is in fact transferred," Scheffer said.

"There is any thought that Serbia will somehow join the new Europe or the international community until that is done," he said.

Scheffer admitted with dozens of wars under way, prosecuting all war criminals will be a huge task.

But, he said, "One of the great challenges, I think, of the 21st century is to ensure that there is individual accountability for the commission of these crimes." It's going to take a lot of hard work over the coming years to get a grip on this and to establish a principle of deterrence that, hopefully, 30, 40, 50 years from now will begin to sink in."

Albania

Kosovo emigres returning to fight

Associated Press

DURRES

They arrive from Germany, France and the United States by the dozen, young Kosovar Albanian emigres fired up by images of Serb atrocities and determined to fight for Kosovo for ethnic Albanians.

In a matter of days, they will be getting their first military experience in the northern Albanian mountains before crossing the border into the rebellious Kosovo province in a fervent guerrilla battle for an independent homeland.

"This is our last chance to win Kosovo. If it doesn't happen now, shame on all Albanians," said 24-year-old Guzemned Malikaj, among those arriving from Germany.

Two KLA soldiers armed with automatic weapons and wearing fatigue, combat shoes, black sunglassses and black scarves stand guard at the gate. Though deep inside Albania, the mood is tense and security is a top concern.

Only those with KLA authorization are allowed in. Even inside, KLA officials are on the lookout for Yugoslavs spies among the recruits.

Recruit officer Fikrim Krasniqi, 27, arrested last Tuesday, was being held by the KLA in northern Albania.

As he screens newcomers, Krasniqi spots a young man taking pictures with an amateur camera, and sends him to the KLA guards to check his papers.

In the back yard, the arriving recruits fill out questionnaires with key information: their names, ages, and a family contact phone number.

A short while later, they are loaded into buses, handed rifles and鼬 racks, told to win Kosovo, or die."

Like the recruits, Kosovo emigres are motivated by a chance to win Kosovo for ethnic Albanians. They are joining a rag-tag band of guerrilla fighters running by commandos in their 30s with very few resources and few guns. They have been do reported battles where they made a significant defense.

By the end of the month, KLA officials expect 15,000 more recruits — motivated by scenes of ethnic Albanians being driven from their homes, to neighboring countries, their houses burned, documents destroyed. Many volunteers have relatives in Kosovo who either are dead or missing.

"The worse the situation gets in Kosovo the more people get outraged and want to join the KLA," said Avni Mustafaj, 24, president of the National Albanian American Association in New York.

It's not the American soldiers who should risk their lives," Mustafaj said before leaving to NATO forces pounding Serb targets in Yugoslavia.

"Albanians can do it themselves, but they don't have weapons."

Within the tight-knit Albanian emigre communities, the call to service spread over the Internet and Albanian-language broadcasts — is considered obligatory for all Albanians, no matter who are sick or who can contribute financially to the KLA or considered exempt.

Though many have been living abroad for years, the recruits have no experience in warfare and conditions and many said there was no question about how they would respond.

"I am a member of the KLA council in the Albanianbiversary, and immediately signed on," said 24-year-old Guzemned Malikaj, among those arriving from Germany.

In a matter of days, they will be getting their first military experience in the northern Albanian mountains before crossing the border into the rebellious Kosovo province in a fervent guerrilla battle for an independent homeland.

"This is our last chance to win Kosovo. If it doesn't happen now, shame on all Albanians," said 24-year-old Guzemned Malikaj, among those arriving from Germany.

Two KLA soldiers armed with automatic weapons and wearing fatigue, combat shoes, black sunglassses and black scarves stand guard at the gate. Though deep inside Albania, the mood is tense and security is a top concern.

Only those with KLA authorization are allowed in. Even inside, KLA officials are on the lookout for Yugoslavs spies among the recruits.

Recruit officer Fikrim Krasniqi, 27, arrested last Tuesday, was being held by the KLA in northern Albania.

As he screens newcomers, Krasniqi spots a young man taking pictures with an amateur camera, and sends him to the KLA guards to check his papers.

In the back yard, the arriving recruits fill out questionnaires with key information: their names, ages, and a family contact phone number.

A short while later, they are loaded into buses, handed rifles and racks, told to win Kosovo, or die."
Abortion, euthanasia and capital punishment demean the lives of countless individuals in our society.

Gather with us in Eucharistic Adoration to pray for an end to the culture of death.

Jesus is here with us in the Eucharist to give us answers—answers that will lead us to truth, happiness and peace. In this culture of death, it is easy for people to become weary and indifferent to God and His gift of life. People often fail short of their obligation to care for and nurture the spiritual and physical lives of themselves and others. Eucharistic Adoration gives a person the opportunity to nurture his own spiritual life, as well as the spiritual lives of others (through prayer for them.) Prayer also protects the physical lives of those endangered by abortion, euthanasia and other forms of violence. It is only through the grace which comes from prayer that others’ hearts can be changed from seeking death to loving life. Christ gives us the strength to press on in our battle for life. In order to be Christ-like in our service to preserve life, we must be filled with His life through prayer.

We ask you to join us in prayer for life at Eucharistic Adoration.

"I make a holy hour each day in the presence of Jesus in the Blessed Sacrament. All my sisters of the Missionaries of Charity make a daily holy hour as well, because we find that through our daily holy hour our love for Jesus becomes more intimate, our love for each other more understanding, and our love for the poor more compassionate..."—Mother Teresa

What is Eucharistic Adoration?

God is present to us in many ways in our world, but He is especially present to us in the Eucharist. As Roman Catholics, we believe that Jesus Christ, who lived 2000 years ago, is truly present in the Eucharist. In Eucharistic Adoration, the Host is placed in a monstrance, in order for us to be able to come and pray. Jesus is always hidden in the tabernacle, but in adoration He is exposed so that we can come and kneel before Him, face to face, and speak with God. When Jesus is exposed like this, He can never be left alone. Thus, people sign up to be responsible to come and pray with Him for a certain amount of time (usually 1/2-1 hour) every week.

Why should I go?

If Jesus were to come to the JACC, wouldn’t you come and stand in line for hours just to talk to Him for a minute? Even if you weren’t Christian, wouldn’t you be at least interested in this God so many people talk about? Well, Jesus is truly present here on campus—in the Eucharis. IN ADORATION YOU HAVE THE OPPORTUNITY TO GO AND SPEAK WITH GOD FACE TO FACE. You can confide in Him, plead with Him, question Him. And if you sit quietly enough, He will inspire you with answers.

What do I do when I am there?

When you enter the chapel, you should genuflect as a sign of reverence to Jesus. It is common practice during Adoration to genuflect on two knees, instead of just one (like you do whenever you enter a chapel.) You can stand, sit, or kneel—whatever helps you pray. And then you pray. There are many ways to pray: you can do spiritual reading; you can pray a rosary; you can sit in silence; you can even just talk to Jesus—like you would to a friend. The most important thing is that you love Him and allow Him to love and strengthen you.

What does the Church think?

"Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament, whether in a pyx or a monstrance, is a recognition of the wondrous Presence of Christ in the sacrament and stimulates us to unite ourselves to Him in a spiritual communion. It is, accordingly, eminent in harmony with the worship which we owe Him in spirit and truth..."—Past-Council (Pascendi Dei) Document, S.C.D.W.

Eucharistic Adoration on Campus:

FRIDAY:

Lady Chapel in the Basilica: 12:00pm (following 11:30am Mass) – 5:00pm with a Rosary beginning at 4:15pm. (Ends with Benediction at 4:45pm)

MONDAY beginning at 11:30pm (following 11:00pm Mass) through TUESDAY at 10:00pm (Ending with Benediction at 9:45-10:00pm) In Fisher Hall Chapel.
Researchers show television is a major culprit for kids, mesmerizing children who otherwise might burn calories while playing.

\textbf{TVcycles help kids to shed fat}

David Allison of St. Luke's-Boroswell Hospital in New York knows parents are not going to race to retrieve TV sets and he cautions that his findings are preliminary.

But he says his small study of a few overweight New York children is important because it suggests tinkering with the technology that makes life more comfortable — but also more sedentary and fattening — could help trim America's expanding waistlines.

\textbf{I AM NOT NAIVE ENOUGH TO THINK WE'RE GOING TO SOLVE THE WORLD'S OBESITY PROBLEMS WITH TV'S HOOKED TO BICYCLES. BUT THERE ARE OTHER THINGS WE COULD DO ... THAT ARE LIMITED ONLY BY OUR IMAGinations.}'

\textbf{WASHINGTON}

Parents may have a way to hedge their chip-chomping, TV-watching kids from the family set. A bicycle hooked up electrically to the set. To see their favorite shows, couch potatoes have to pedal.

An obesity researcher who came up with the "TVcycle" says early irruptions helped young subjects shed fat and discouraged TV viewing.

David Allison of St. Luke's-Boroswell Hospital in New York knows parents are not going to race to retrieve TV sets and he cautions that his findings are preliminary.

But he says his small study of a few overweight New York children is important because it suggests tinkering with the technology that makes life more comfortable — but also more sedentary and fattening — could help trim America's expanding waistlines.

\textbf{I AM NOT NAIVE ENOUGH TO THINK WE'RE GOING TO SOLVE THE WORLD'S OBESITY PROBLEMS WITH TV'S HOOKED TO BICYCLES. BUT THERE ARE OTHER THINGS WE COULD DO ... THAT ARE LIMITED ONLY BY OUR IMAGinations.}'

\textbf{WASHINGTON}

Parents may have a way to hedge their chip-chomping, TV-watching kids from the family set. A bicycle hooked up electrically to the set. To see their favorite shows, couch potatoes have to pedal.

An obesity researcher who came up with the "TVcycle" says early irruptions helped young subjects shed fat and discouraged TV viewing.

David Allison of St. Luke's-Boroswell Hospital in New York knows parents are not going to race to retrieve TV sets and he cautions that his findings are preliminary.

But he says his small study of a few overweight New York children is important because it suggests tinkering with the technology that makes life more comfortable — but also more sedentary and fattening — could help trim America's expanding waistlines.
McDonald’s, Mickey Mouse and Quiet Desperation

At least one good thing may come out of the war in Kosovo. The Serbs are tearing down their McDonald’s restaurants to show nasty Americans how they have anything against the McDonald’s Big Macs. I say this is good not because I have anything against the McDonald’s corporation as such; I just find this an interesting commentary on American culture. Most of us will answer that American culture as a whole. The archbishop noted this fact with some disappointment. The “Mickey Mouse” of America is a sign of a culture too wrapped up in superficialities; it points to the fact that America seems to be abandoning many of the great cultural and intellectual traditions of Western Civilization. Speaking of Mickey Mouse, I am reminded of the comment often given by visitors to the Notre Dame campus: “Hey, this place is just like a Catholic Disneyland.” I mean, when was the last time you read the Britannica? (And even if you had, this knowledge would not necessarily make you wise.) Behind the superficial facade, according to Mickey Mouse’s home Thereau, most of us “lead lives of quiet desperation.” We are satiated with flashy advertising labels, 32-second movie trailers, video games, MTV, cheap beer and hooking-up at college parties. We are plugged in and surrounded by noise as we hop to our walkman’s and surf the ‘net, flashing phantasms pour into our senses from screens that never seem to be turned off. We are fascinated by superficial, surface slogans. Our key to happiness is “kick back, relax.” Our key to success is “just do it.” Shallowness is all the rage. When one can sum up the wisdom of one’s outlook on life with a bumper sticker that simply says “Lounge.”

We are fascinated by advances in technology, but we rarely ask what we are advancing toward. Everything is becoming faster, bigger, more efficient; but for what? We hear about the latest computer widget that can fit 100 Encyclopaedia Britannicas on it, and we somehow think we have become smarter. I mean, when was the last time you read the Britannica? (And even if you had, this knowledge would not necessarily make you wise.) Behind the superficial facade, according to Mickey Mouse’s home Thereau, most of us “lead lives of quiet desperation.” Underneath our satiated surface is an interior life which longs for real friendship, for purpose, for meaning and for noble ideals worth living and dying for. How to recover? Unplug. Tune out. Call a friend. Write that letter. Read a book. Go to the Grotto. Above all, if we are to recover from our status as “ants marching,” we need to cultivate a genuine sense of wonder, an awe about ourselves and about the world. We need that childlike ability to see infinity in a grain of sand.

Since it seems that I have once again naively tackled the thorny subject of the meaning of life, in closing, I will resist the graduation-senior urge to wax nautical about my time at college. I would, however, like to thank those professors who taught me how to stand on the shoulders of giants (though I am still trying to climb up), and to thank the friends who taught me more than any textbook ever could. It’s been one heck of an educational experience. God bless you, and God bless Notre Dame.

Aaron Kheriaty

I’ve always wondered why Americans — with all the lip-service we pay to diversity and multiculturalism — will usually opt for the old familiar Chicken McNuggets over say, trying a new ethnic cuisine at a local family-owned operation. Most of us will answer that Mickey Mouse is cheap, and we lack knowing exactly what we’re gonna get. That’s right. It’s so cheap that one needs to buy three hamburgers to get a decent meal, and it’s so predictable the same every time that you always know the food is going to be boring.

However, this column is not a diatribe against bad fast-food or a lament about the lack of any spirit of adventure or originality in the dining habits of Americans. The Serbs’ opinion of McDonald’s does lead us into the topic of American culture as a whole.

Last Thursday at Notre Dame, Josef Zycinski, Archbishop of Lublin, Poland, delivered a lecture on the new encyclical Western Civilization. (Speaking of American culture as a whole. The archbishop noted this fact with some disappointment. The “Mickey Mouse” of America is a sign of a culture too wrapped up in superficialities; it points to the fact that America seems to be abandoning many of the great cultural and intellectual traditions of Western Civilization. Speaking of Mickey Mouse, I am reminded of the comment often given by visitors to the Notre Dame campus: “Hey, this place is just like a Catholic Disneyland.” I mean, when was the last time you read the Britannica? (And even if you had, this knowledge would not necessarily make you wise.) Behind the superficial facade, according to Mickey Mouse’s home Thereau, most of us “lead lives of quiet desperation.” Underneath our satiated surface is an interior life which longs for real friendship, for purpose, for meaning and for noble ideals worth living and dying for. How to recover? Unplug. Tune out. Call a friend. Write that letter. Read a book. Go to the Grotto. Above all, if we are to recover from our status as “ants marching,” we need to cultivate a genuine sense of wonder, an awe about ourselves and about the world. We need that childlike ability to see infinity in a grain of sand.

Since it seems that I have once again naively tackled the thorny subject of the meaning of life, in closing, I will resist the graduation-senior urge to wax nautical about my time at college. I would, however, like to thank those professors who taught me how to stand on the shoulders of giants (though I am still trying to climb up), and to thank the friends who taught me more than any textbook ever could. It’s been one heck of an educational experience. God bless you, and God bless Notre Dame.

Aaron Kheriaty is a senior who hopes to eventually emerge from Plane’s care and see infinity in a grain of sand. If you have any advice, please e-mail aaron.d.kherialy.1@nd.edu. He also loves his fiancé, Jennifer, and can’t wait to get married.

The views expressed in this column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.
Structure and Content of Amorosa's Argument Bunk

I am writing in response to Judy Amorosa's letter to the editor entitled "Women Have Divine Right to Choose." Personally, normally I would not feel the need to respond to such letters, as I believe that everyone has their own opinion and are rightly entitled to have it, whether they agree with me or not is not my problem. But when they make such asinine and errant declarative statements as Amorosa has, I cannot help but feel the need to respond.

From reading her letter, it is apparent that she has no clue of what in the name of God she is speaking. She begins by arguing that "men have no part in the creation of life other than a rightly-timed ejaculation," and says that this is almost meaningless! Is she aware that one could will a pregnancy away? The simple fact is, women can destroy it? How? I wasn't aware of what the child being irrelevant in this part of human life. Yes, they can help create it, but the ultimate gift, but she has no understanding of her own words; she calls letting it live a natural and beautiful act, but this estranged idea assumes, AGAIN, that ALL men have little or no regard for their children. I suppose, AGAIN, that ALL men have little to no understanding of sox and sperm, and are rightly entitled to it; but this estranged idea places it occurs.

It is our duty, Ms. Amorosa, as people who recognize the destructiveness of objectifying lives, to make that vision a reality through our laws and through our actions. Abortion, euthanasia and the death penalty do not recognize that women and men are distinctly created beings. These societal ills are the products of a society that chooses to objectify women as sex objects or "mere receptacles" of the male. Is she unaware of the highly commodified world, is she not a earthling? Is she not a common consumer, in fact? I say that she would then be fit for the refuse heap.

The roles of the sexes are equal in child bearing. While men may not have to deal with the physical strife that women must undergo land I highly empathize with women in that. As a loving male husband, he will treat her emotionally with her. After this original, confined remark, she makes an astral statement about abuse and abusive fathers. What the heck does that have to do with her argument? Because a small percentage of men are idiots who do not understand that women they wield; we all are put to down as similar? The whole argument, from structure to content, is ban. She tries to overgeneralize and desacify the role of men in childbirth to suit her own feeble purposes. Further, it is apparent that she has little to no understanding of sex and the creation of life. She contradicts herself throughout the remainder of her argument.

First, she tries to lift women above men or degrade men in below women. (Note: I am not presenting a chauvinistic view that men SHOULD be above women or anything as foolish as that, as I said, I believe they are equal.)

Her contention is ridiculous. She assumes, AGAIN, that ALL men have little or no regard for their children. There is only this intense bond between mother and child. From where does this estranged idea come? It is from this relationship between mother and child that her contradiction stems; her lack of understanding of her own words becomes boldly obvious. She is correct in stating that there is definitely a intense bond between mother and child — the bond between father and child being irrelevant in this part of our response.

Control plays a large role in her case against life. Women have control over life. Yes, they can help create it, a natural and beautiful act, but women can destroy it? How? I wasn't aware that they had this power. Sure, a machine inserted into that uterus can destroy it; a coat hanger will do an equally destructive job. But she says that a woman has the power to choose to abbreviate her ability to bring life into the world. How? I don't even know that one could will a pregnancy away. The simple fact is, women DO NOT have that power. It was NOT granted to them.

When I read Ms. Amorosa's letter, "Women Have Divine Right to Choose," (April 15, 1999), I was offended that she stated that I have "no part in the creation of human life" beyond "ejaculation in the right place at the right time." Ms. Amorosa's use of objectification in reference to men might well be simply mean and spiteful, however, I found it useful because it brought forth feelings of anger and frustration that, as a male in society, I rarely encountered.

While I praise Ms. Amorosa for raising my consciousness about the objectification of women, I take issue with her for not applying the value of respect for the individual consistently in her article. Yes, the special role that women play in the miracle of creation demands respect and admiration. However, this special role, exemplified by the Mother of God's affirmative co-operation in God's plan for our salvation, demands not only a respect for women but also respect for all human life. The miracle of life does not demand a pro-choice stance as Ms. Amorosa suggests. Instead, respecting the dignity of life demands a pro-life stance that goes much further than the contemporary social and political understanding of the term. To truly recognize the miracle that is life and to recognize our special roles, both male and female, in that miracle, one must not merely be against abortion, euthanasia and the death penalty. One must also act affirmatively for personal charity and government policies that recognize the humanity of the poor. One must recognize the infinite value of each human life and work to incorporate that belief in the fundamental building blocks of our health care system. One must also demand respect for the dignity of each human life, even those individuals who have no respect for that life.

It is our duty, Ms. Amorosa, as people who recognize the destructiveness of objectifying lives, to make this vision a reality through our laws and through our actions. Abortion, euthanasia and the death penalty do not recognize that women and men are distinctly created beings. These societal ills are the products of a society that chooses to objectify women as sex objects or "mere receptacles" of the male. Is she unaware of the highly commodified world, is she not a earthling? Is she not a common consumer, in fact? I say that she would then be fit for the refuse heap.
"EDtv"

Director: Ron Howard
Starring: Matthew McConaughey, Jenna Elfman, Ellen DeGeneres, Woody Harrelson and Dennis Hopper

(Out of five shamrocks)

By JOE LARSON
Scene Magazine

Boo. Hiss. What a bad movie. "EDtv" stars Matthew McConaughey as Ed, a normal guy who gets picked from millions of people to have his life turned into a live television show. At first, the audience thinks Ed enjoys his new show, he becomes an overnight celebrity across the nation. Everyone benefits from Ed's jump into superstar stardom, gives him a new parking spot at the video store, and everyone is really excited to see him and the camera crew walking through the streets.

His brother, played by Woody Harrelson, even uses the free airtime to advertise his new gym. Everything is working out great, but then comes the conflict. Ed and the camera crew catch his brother cheat on his girlfriend, Shari, played by Jenna Elfman, all on live TV, Ed's brother knows he's in trouble because the show is live, and he knows his girlfriend is going to find out. So he tells old Ed to go talk to Shari and convince her that he's sorry. Ed, being the good younger brother he is, goes over to Shari's house and ends up kissing her on live TV, with everyone watching. This may sound really interesting and put an audience on the edge of its seats, but those huts wouldn't be on their seats like the Grab 'n Go ladies are on people for taking a bagel and a sandwich at the same time. The sad thing — this is the most exciting part of the movie.

Anyway, Ed's brother is pretty upset, he knows about the kiss and he watched it on live TV of course. Ed and Shari don't care because they are in love. Smell that fresh air? All is well for our friend Ed, again.

With all these things happening on live TV, Ed gets himself a huge following and astronomical ratings. Ed is a bona fide superstar. People all over the world just can't stop wondering about what will happen to this normal guy. Ed. Will his new love last? Is she even right for him? Will Ed make up with his brother? Will this movie ever end?

Well, with all this attention going to his new girlfriend, Shari tells a little hair of her shoulder. She doesn't want to live her live on TV, and she realizes this whole live show is just a public exploitation of her poor, unassuming boyfriend. So, Shari venezia this opinion, really doesn't want her in Ed's life anymore. They are now making fun of her on other TV shows and in the newspapers. Because Shari doesn't have any self-confidence, her looks Ed is free to live the life of the superstar. What happens from here is extremely predictable.

Ed experiences the limelight for a while, then decides that being a superstar isn't all it's cracked up to be. He just wants to go back to his old life as a video store clerk and he with Shari. How's that going to work out?

"EDtv" is a bad movie. It's predictable, unoriginal, unfunny and basically just stupid. Director Ron Howard, who can usually be counted upon to take at least interesting entertaining movies, fails miserably here. It's amaz ing he made this movie in the first place. It takes shots at television and the media because of their relentless exploitation of people — stars and regular people alike. It also wants to tell us how twisted the American public is by showing these fans as mindless, lunatics waiting on the edge of their seats for the next time Ed scrathces himself at home. It makes Americans see their folly in following too closely and caring too much about show business and the lives of celebrities. It wants the audience to see that only the people close to them matter and that they really don't want to be stars.

In the end, all "EDtv" really teaches its audience is to pay more attention to the movies they decide to see.

---

"Never Been Kissed"

Director: Regina Gossell
Starring: Drew Barrymore, Molly Shannon, David Arquette, Michael Vartan and John Reilly

(Out of five shamrocks)

By CASEY McCLEUSKEY
Scene Magazine

Not many people ever get the opportunity to go back and experience high school all over again. Not many people want this opportunity, but Josie Gellar, played by Drew Barrymore, jumps at the chance in "Never Been Kissed." Josie has always been an overachiever who believes she is forever exiled to be a nerd. At 25, she is the "Josie Grossie" persona and joins the cool high school, sheds her old "Josie Grossie" persona and joins the cool high school.

The first day of high school for Josie is full of the same embarrassing moments that she experienced throughout her first year. Josie learns that she really has not reconciled herself with her "Josie Grossie" image. Her few more years of experience have not helped her become any more cool, and Josie does not have any tables. Most importantly, the coolest guy in school asks her to prom. He is the one who brings to life a guy who never really lived past his high school graduation. At times, Drew Barrymore's performance was very enjoyable and believable, but at other times it was too annoying. It seems that no one could ever be as big a loser as Josie. Barrymore is most enjoyable when she's just being cool, rather than playing the nerd trying to be cool. Michael Vartan is great as the cool English teacher that everyone wants. The chemistry between them was very believable, and in the end, the entire audience wants the two of them to get together. One of the greatest performances is given by David Arquette, Josie's older brother, who brings to life a guy who never really lived past his high school graduation.

"Never Been Kissed" will never be nominated for an Academy Award, but it is still enjoyable to watch. Save a couple of dollars, though, and wait for it to come out on video.
Welcome to "Dark City," a place that at first glance reminds the viewer of Tim Burton's Gotham City from the first two "Batman" movies. It is a magical, mystical area where the sun never seems to shine and the good people of the city are outnumbered by the bad ones. "Dark City" is not just a town without sunlight, and it's certainly not one of those action films based on Mother Nature's destructive elements like tornadoes, earthquakes, or God-sent floods. It is a film about what makes humans so special; what makes them magical, mystical, a place that everyone shines. Newcomer Rufus Sewell ("Carrington") plays the hero, John Murdoch, an average guy who wakes up in someone else's shoes and wonders if his entire life has been a lie. The luminous Jennifer Connelly ("Labyrinth" and "Higher Learning") plays John's supposed wife who tries to fall back in love with the man she believes to be her husband. William Hurt ("The Big Chill" and "Children of a Lesser God") portrays police inspector Frank Bumstead, who is driven to uncover the secrets that the Strangers hold over the city. Kiernan Sutherland ("Young Guns," "Flashdance," and "A Few Good Men") is Dr. Danil Schreber, the disfigured psychiatrist who sells out his own people and aids the Strangers in their research.

Ian Richardson is the king Stranger as Mr. Book, and together with another Stranger known as Mr. Hand, represents the chief adversaries of John. The real wonders and awe-inspiring aspects of "Dark City" are the city itself and the Strangers who control it. The nightly transformation of the city is some of the most exciting footage in the film. The Strangers themselves are also visually marvelous. They remind viewers of how scary hairy adolescent zombies with British accents garbed in black leather overcoats and fedoras that float in the air and brandishing virgin daggers can be.

Though one might be confused in the final sequences of the film, it becomes clear that there is a method to director Alex Proyas' madness. While Paul Verhoeven took a different tactic in his science-fiction/action movie, "Total Recall," and Arnold Schwarzenegger, the two have the same basic plot, and both sport a week love story. Both include genius action scenes which make up for the turgid and along with the recollections of his past, John Murdoch gets a 'life' at box-office

Top Ten Weekend at the Box Office

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Movie Title</th>
<th>Gross Sales</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Life</td>
<td>$20.7 million</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Matrix</td>
<td>$18.1 million</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Never Been Kissed</td>
<td>$8.7 million</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Analyze This</td>
<td>$4.0 million</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>About You</td>
<td>$3.7 million</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Out-of-Towners</td>
<td>$3.2 million</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Go</td>
<td>$3.0 million</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Forces of Nature</td>
<td>$2.6 million</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Shakespeare in Love</td>
<td>$1.9 million</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cookie's Fortune</td>
<td>$1.0 million</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Source: Associated Press

---

Top Ten Last Week's Video Rentals

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Movie Title</th>
<th>Gross Sales</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>There's Something About Mary</td>
<td>$10.4 million</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Waterboy</td>
<td>$7.8 million</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ronin</td>
<td>$7.6 million</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bulworth</td>
<td>$6.5 million</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pleasantville</td>
<td>$4.2 million</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>What Dreams May Come</td>
<td>$3.6 million</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Truman Show</td>
<td>$3.0 million</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Snake Eyes</td>
<td>$2.3 million</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Antz</td>
<td>$1.9 million</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rush Hour</td>
<td>$1.0 million</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Source: Billboard Online

---

Coming Soon

To a theater near you

April 23:

* Anywhere But Here*, starring Susan Sarandon and Natalie Portman
* Pushing Tin, starring John Cusack, Billy Bob Thornton and Cate Blanchett

April 30:

* Idle Hands, starring Vivica A. Fox and Seth Green
Notre Dame NFL Draft Picks By Round

Luke Petitgout
Giants
1, pick 19

Jerry Wisne
Bears
5, pick 10

Mike Rosenthal
Giants
5, pick 16

Malcolm Johnson
Steelers
7, pick 4

Hunter Smith
Colts
7, pick 27

Autry Denson
Buccaneers
7, pick 28

Draft
continued from page 24

by opposition. His biggest asset is his versatility.

Joining Petitgout on the Giants team will be Rosenthal, selected in the fifth round.

Rosenthal said he is excited to start his pro career with Petitgout.

"I was definitely happy to be selected to play on the same team as Luke," he said. "He is a good friend of mine.

Wisne was also chosen in the fifth round by the Chicago Bears along with the fifth Irish player on the Bears roster, joining Tomasonry, Andy Heck, Paul Grasmasi and Jim Flanagan.

The late-round choice of Denson was perhaps the biggest surprise for Irish fans. After taking the record for career rushing yards, he was selected by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in the second round.

"People were saying anywhere from late first to third at the worst," Denson said. "I thought I was going to go on the first round. Instead, Denson had to wait until the 27th pick in the seventh round be selected by the Buccaneers.

And Champs said he is not worried about his low pick however and is looking forward to the tough competition of fighting for a roster spot and a chance to move into the lineup with the seasoned veterans.

"It wouldn't be right if we were just given to me," he said. "Adversity has always been in my corner, and I have always used it as a positive for me.

Considering his physical skills and talents, Denson could not have been selected by a better draft team. Denson is considered small-by NFL standards, but the Bears have succeeded with Warrick Dunn — another small back. Denson will also get to return to his home state of Florida.

"It's like a double bonus," Denson said. "I get to go home, and I get the opportunity to play the game that I love."

Smith also slipped further down the draft board than most expected, lie has been rated the No. 1 punter by Kiper and Pro Football Weekly. He was expected to be the first punter taken in the draft.

Instead, Josh Bidwell from Oregon State was selected ahead of Smith in the fourth round by the Green Bay Packers — a team that had shown interest in Smith.

Smith, however, was said not concerned with where he was drafted or was drafted ahead of himself.

"I wasn't really surprised by where I went because I was more happy just to be drafted," he said.

The chance to play for the young Indianapolis Colts — a team with a bright future in Peyton Manning and 1999 No. 1 draft pick Edgerrin James — has Smith excited.

"I think that the Colts are a team on the rise, and I am very proud to be a part of it," he said.

Johnson, a fifth-year senior wide receiver from Washington, D.C., was drafted by the Steeler.

The Steelers have lost two last receivers in the past two years

Malcolm Johnson was one of two wide receivers taken in the draft by the Pittsburgh Steelers.

to free agency — Yancy Thigpen and Charles Johnson. Johnson should have a chance to contribute right away.

"I think I am fortunate to go and play for a coach like Bill Cowher who gives guys like me an opportunity to play," he said. "I think I can be one of those guys. I think I can bring a physical presence to the Steelers. They can play me in the slot, and I feel I will be able to overpower the smaller defensive backs in the NFL. I feel I can help lead this team to an AFC crown and ultimately a Super Bowl championship."

Minor, like Johnson, found himself drafted by one of the NFL's better teams. The San Francisco 49ers called him in the seventh round.

Minor said he was very happy to be drafted by a top organiza­

"You never know with the draft — you could go here, you could go there. You never know," he said. "I am just happy to get picked up and have the chance to play with a team like Sad Francis.

The Irish players know that they are in for a tougher game next year.

"The NFL is a totally different ball game," Minor said. "It's a lot faster, a lot quicker. I just hope that I can make it to that level.

Nevertheless, the Notre Dame experience has well prepared the draftsmen for the rigors ahead of them, Johnson said.

"I think the opponents bowl game. By not being in a conference, we get to play nationwide, similar to what happens in the NFL. We plan to use our­ come as classmen. I am very

the way I want to. I am tired

I don't want to listen to sayings. I am tired of

you. You new power for extending va ca­

the way I want to. I am tired

you. You new power for extending va ca­

"You never know with the draft — you could go here, you could go there. You never know," he said. "I am just happy to get picked up and have the chance to play with a team like Sad Francis.

The Irish players know that they are in for a tougher game next year.

"The NFL is a totally different ball game," Minor said. "It's a lot faster, a lot quicker. I just hope that I can make it to that level.

Nevertheless, the Notre Dame experience has well prepared the draftsmen for the rigors ahead of them, Johnson said.

"I think the opponents bowl game. By not being in a conference, we get to play nationwide, similar to what happens in the NFL. We plan to use our­

come as classmen. I am very learned how to be a man and how to carry myself from my encountered at Notre Dame."

Football

continued from page 24

a role in the passing game, with Isaiah Holloway and John Owens, in particular, making some catches. There was also an emphasis on third-and-long situations; Davie wanted to test his young offensive line as well as his quarterbacks.

Davie said he is pleased with his team's spring performance and said they are in good shape at this juncture of the season. "If we keep the attitude we have right now, then I think we can get to where we need to be. It's going to take every second — we're going to squeeze every ounce out of them," said Davie. "A week from now, spring football is over but we've got a week left and we're going to squeeze every ounce out of them."

Notes:
• Junior tailback Darcy Levy provided an offensive surprise Saturday. He played sparingly in the first scrimmage and as of Saturday looked to be the fourth running back behind Fisher, Driver and Terrance Howard. However, the speedy Levy, who ran the second-fastest 40-yard dash behind cornerbacks Brock Williams in the off-season, had several nice runs.
• Defensively, Shane Walton showed he will have a tough decision to make in the fall. Walton, the leading scorer on the Irish sophomore team as a freshman, played with the first team defense Saturday. With exceptional speed and an aggressive nature, he has caught the attention of coaches and teammates. "He's got the respect of his teammates," said Davie. "He's not bashful and he'll come up there and hit you. He's taking advantage of his opportunities and he's made some positive impressions with us."
• On the first play of the day, defensive end Jason Ching injured his thumb. Offensive tackle Casey Robin suffered an ankle injury.
• Cornerbacks senior Lee Lafayatte (sprained ankle) and junior Brock Williams (hip flexor), who returned to the team last week after breaking an undisclosed team rule, also missed Saturday's practice.
• Offensive guard Mike Gandy did not play. Senior Matt Brennan replaced Gandy on the first team offensive line unit.

Tony Onver has successfully made the transition back to tailback and is battling Tony Fisher and Darcy Levy for the starting job. Onver has moved from defensive tackle to offensive guard since Saturday, he worked with the second unit alongside P.J. Scott, who was moved from defense to offense over the winter.
• The scrimmage once again began with an emphasis on special teams. Senior Jim Sasso struggled kicking field goals, going two-for-four, not including a fumbled snap on the first attempt after which holder James Caputo picked up the ball and attempted a throw.
• Sophomore David Miller went a perfect three-for-three on his field goal attempts.
• Davie said that this week players will begin with scrimmaging of kickoffs. This should help determine the full returners.
• Davie also spoke of the NCAA Committee on Infractions which will soon inform the Irish of their fate following the Kimberly Dunbar incident. "It's not something I've put a whole lot of thought into. I really don't see it as much of a change," said Davie. "Until we've got the final response back and all the mechanics are completed from the NCAA, I'm going to hold comment."
Dusseau paces Irish past Cadets, 15-7

By MIKE CONNOLLY

Senior Chris Dusseau scored a career-high five goals Saturday in Notre Dame’s 15-7 win over Army.

When the Army rolled into Moose Krause Stadium Saturday, Notre Dame’s lacrosse big-man, senior attackman Chris Dusseau pounded the Cadets with a career-high five goals. Dusseau’s five goals paced the Notre Dame offense which exploded for 15 goals on the day.

“We did a much, much better job on offense today,” head coach Kevin Corrigan said. “With the exception of a few mental mistakes, this was our best 60-minute effort of the year.”

The Irish went into the game needing nothing less than their best effort against the 19th-ranked Cadets. Losses of three straight, the Irish are in danger of not qualifying for the NCAA tournament. Saturday’s win put the team on the right track, earning them its first of the three wins necessary to qualify.

“It was an important win for us,” Dusseau said. “We had to show that we knew how to win again. We had to play like the team that almost beat the No. 1 team in the country (Loyola).”

The key to the game for the Irish was the offense. They controlled the ball for most of the game and made few mental errors. By getting quality shots every time down the field, the Irish put themselves in a situation where they set the tempo.

“We played well on offense today,” Corrigan said. “We almost always got quality shots. We didn’t settle for average shots—we were always looking for the best shot. Even when we shot quickly, we didn’t shoot quickly because we felt rushed. We shot because a great scoring chance opened up early.”

Dusseau’s five goals on the game paced the Irish offense which also had sophomore Tom Glatzel and Todd Ulrich score multiple goals with four and three, respectively.

Dusseau opened the scoring for the Irish with a goal one minute, 18 seconds into the game. After being knocked to the ground in front of the net by an Army defender, Dusseau held onto the ball — and his composure — as he calmly flipped the ball over the shoulder of Cadet goalie Jeff Brooks.

Glatzel followed Dusseau with a goal less than one minute later. The sophomore attackman, who is tied with Dusseau for the team lead in goals at 23, criss-crossed with fellow sophomore attackman David Ulrich behind the net. The Army defender followed Ulrich, leaving Glatzel free to break around the right side of the crease and fire a shot past Brooks.

Glatzel answered and Alex Fye Army goal on an assist by Steve Bishko. The man-up goal was the first of three on the afternoon for the Irish as they converted 60 percent of their man-up situations, on which the Irish have been working on hard in practice, according to Corrigan.

“We went 0-6 against Ohio State on Tuesday in the man-up,” he said. “So it was nice to see us play well on man-up but we still need to be more consistent when we have a man advantage.”

Army scored again with four minutes left in the first quarter on a goal by Ryan Hanrahan. Todd Ulrich pushed the Irish lead back to two on a great individual effort to lose his defender and beat Brooks.

Ulrich’s goal triggered an offensive explosion for the Irish as they scored the next three goals and four of the last five first-half goals. Glatzel got two more goals while Todd and David Ulrich each got one.

The third quarter belonged to Dusseau. Dusseau talked to second goal of the game six minutes into the second half off of an assist by Berver La Nune. Lee Bingeman answered to bring the Cadets within five, 9-4. Dusseau earned a hat-trick when he converted Ned Webster’s pass into a 10-4 lead for the Irish. Dusseau’s third-quarter domination did not end with that goal, however. He struck for the fourth with less than one minute left in the third quarter to extend the Irish lead to seven.

Despite his amazing day, Dusseau deflected all praise to his teammates.

“I am only as good as everyone else on the field,” he said. “The other attackman and the midfielders kept setting me up in good positions and I got a few goals. The defense also played great today. They shut down the Army attack and gave us the ball so that we could do the things we needed to do on offense.”

Corrigan understands the value of his senior co-captain.

“ Persistence is the way to describe Chris’ game today,” he said. “He missed four lay-ups early in the game because their goalie made some great saves but he kept at it and he got some goals.

“Starting making spectacular goals after missing some easy ones in the beginning. But that is the type of player Chris is, he will keep up the intensity and keep coming after you,” Corrigan said.

The two teams traded early fourth-quarter goals before Dusseau tossed the ball through the pipes for the fifth time. Midfielder Dakota and Ben Savage added a late goal to answer two fourth-quarter Cadet goals. With the 15-7 victory, the Irish have put themselves back on track for a possible NCAA bid.

Attention First Year Students

Looking for a Great Conversation?

THE PROGRAM
OF LIBERAL
STUDIES

We have it all!

Accepting applications in 215 O’Shaughnessy

WEB SURFING

GRAND OPENING

Monday April 19 4pm

P-ZaQNE

GRAND OPENING

Monday April 19 4pm

PLAYSTATIONS

sound effects

THE PROGRAM
OF LIBERAL
STUDIES

We have it all!

Accepting applications in 215 O’Shaughnessy
Bookstore continued from page 24

ended the first half 11-1. Absolut Kurlies settled down in the second half, managing to score five baskets before Malicious Prosecution put the game away 21-6.

Inside shooting proved to be the deadly weapon, as Cole ended the game with seven points and Coury added five from the paint. High, Vanhandel and Nemeth each added three for the win.

Malicious Prosecution has advanced in each round with ease, but expects to face some tough competition in the Round of 64. The team has been focusing on improving its offensive strategy in preparation for closer games.

"It's been fairly smooth so far, but that will probably change with the next round," Cole said. "We're focusing more on getting our offense together and not so much on what the other squads are doing. We are going to check out some teams before we play again, though."

At the No. 29 spot, Jumbalaya came out strong in their game on Saturday. Captain Nick Burns, Ben Beshalske, Tim Kress, Mark Ewald and Jay DeAngelis relied on steals and fast breaks to catapult themselves into the Round of 64.

Burns took the ball to the hoop scoring a team-high six baskets, while DeAngelis kept the team on the offensive coming up with seven rebounds.

"Overall we played well as a team today," said DeAngelis. "We controlled the boards and hit our shots."

Jumbalaya led 11-2 at the half and never looked back, ending the game with a 21-6 win.

Jumbalaya swept past the opening round of the tournament without a struggle, but had to work for its second-round win.

"We saw some good competition in our second-round game," said DeAngelis. "It was a little rough — the other team played well and the weather was horrible. We haven't seen anything too tough yet."

In other Round-of-128 action, No. 19 Mue-Tang Clan squared off against Fine Fingers of Funk at Stipan Sunday.

Paul Raih, Pete Ryan, Pat Healy, Brian Dierckman and Tim Murthing of Mue-Tang Clan had early trouble on the offensive, throwing up several off-target shots.

Domination on the boards kept the team in the game until the players got their offensive play back on track. Murthing led the team with eight rebounds.

Mue-Tang Clan led at the half 11-5 and fended off Fine Fingers of Funk with a 21-11 final score.

Ryan led the No. 19 team to victory with seven baskets and six rebounds.

All teams still in the tournament hit the courts at Stipan today in the Round of 64.

The intense second round concluded this weekend. After the third round today, the Round of 64 will be set.
1999 NFL DRAFT Recap

Arizona
1. David Boston, wr, Ohio State
2. David Terrell, db, Georgia
3. J. D. Drew, db, Western Illinois
4. Darrell Jackson, wr, Florida State
5. A. J. Green, db, Miami (Fla.)
6. Rashad Ross, db, Northwestern
7. Darnell McDonald, db, Oklahoma

Arkansas
1. Dave Young, de, Alabama
2. Randy Barnes, db, Florida
3. Terrell Davis, db, Georgia Tech
4. Marquis Bowden, db, Arizona State
5. Brian Cushing, lb, California
6. Martellus Bennett, wr, Texas A&M
7. Ryan McMillan, db, Tennessee

North Carolina State
1. Michael Oher, ot, Memphis
2. Tony Gonzalez, lb, Kansas State
3. Deion Sanders, db, Florida State
4. Brian Russell, db, Miami
5. Jeremy Shockey, ep, Pittsburgh
6. Darius Heyward-Bey, wr, California
7. Darnell Dockett, db, Florida State

Cincinnati
1. Andre Simpson, lb, Temple
2. Billy Brown, db, Colorado State
3. Tom制动, lb, Maryland
4. Mike Vrabel, dt, Tennessee
5. Vincent Smith, rb, Georgia Tech
6. Taimoor Fair, lb, Florida State
7. Matt Elam, db, Florida State

Florida
1. Greg Wrona, qb, Arizona State
2. Chad Kittle, wr, Oklahoma
3. John Brantley, qb, Tennessee
4. Taylor Mays, db, Miami
5. DeAngelo Hall, db, Virginia Tech
6. Michael Hoomanawanui, ot, Arizona State
7. Fred Davis, wr, Stanford

Georgia
1. Barrett Green, lb, Arkansas
2. Studs Muncie, db, Boston College
3. Steven Jackson, rb, Southern Mississippi
4. Barry Sanders, db, Oklahoma
5. Tavon Austin, db, Tulane
6. Jarrett Lee, wr, Mississippi State
7. David Gibbs, db, Ohio State

Georgia Tech
1. Roddy White, wr, Georgia Tech
2. Roddy White, wr, Georgia Tech
3. Roddy White, wr, Georgia Tech
4. Roddy White, wr, Georgia Tech
5. Roddy White, wr, Georgia Tech
6. Roddy White, wr, Georgia Tech
7. Roddy White, wr, Georgia Tech

Indiana
1. Tom Brackett, rb, Indiana
2. John Beason, lb, North Carolina
3. Eric Whittington, db, Oklahoma
4. Jamar Chaney, lb, Tennessee
5. Cortez Coleman, db, Michigan State
6. Jay Feely, k, Notre Dame
7. Matias Kiilholm, lb, Southern California

Iowa
1. Anthony Thomas, lb, Iowa State
2. Dwayne Students, lb, Nebraska
3. Matt Roth, lb, Penn State
4. Tyler Evertt, lb, Virginia Tech
5. Kevin Osborn, db, Ohio State
6. Pat White, wr, West Virginia
7. Matt Dansby, db, Boston College

Kansas
1. Tony Atherton, lb, Kansas State
2. Deion Sanders, db, Florida State
3. Brian Dawkins, db, Nebraska
4. Demetress Bell, lb, Arkansas
5. John Sowinski, wr, Oregon
6. Tramain Thomas, db, Georgia Tech
7. Mike Minter, lb, Florida State

Kentucky
1. Martin Mayhew, lb, Michigan State
2. Quinton Paschal, lb, Georgia Tech
3. Akeem Spence, lb, Tennessee
4. Pat Tillman, lb, Arizona State
5. David Pollack, lb, Georgia
6. Andrew Luckett, db, Miami
7. Kyle Wilson, wr, Tennessee

Louisiana State
1. Mike Iupati, lb, Louisiana State
2. clearfix
3. Kyle Wilson, db, Stanford
4. Armandilyne Danjuma, lb, Howard
5. Russell Bodine, lb, Duke
6. Drew Coleman, lb, Florida
7. Mike Jenkins, wr, Georgia

Los Angeles Rams
1. Terrell Owens, wr, Texas A&M
2. Terrell Owens, wr, Texas A&M
3. Terrell Owens, wr, Texas A&M
4. Terrell Owens, wr, Texas A&M
5. Terrell Owens, wr, Texas A&M
6. Terrell Owens, wr, Texas A&M
7. Terrell Owens, wr, Texas A&M

Miami
1. Bob Sanders, db, Oklahoma State
2. Spencer Ware, rb, Missouri
3. Mike Jenkins, wr, Georgia
4. Dan Fouts, qb, San Diego State
5. David Boston, rb, Ohio State
6. Brian Finneran, lb, Notre Dame
7. Tony Gonzalez, db, Arizona State

Minnesota
1. Chad Greenway, db, Iowa
2. Micah Kohn, db, Iowa State
3. Chad Greenway, db, Iowa
4. Chad Greenway, db, Iowa
5. Chad Greenway, db, Iowa
6. Chad Greenway, db, Iowa
7. Chad Greenway, db, Iowa

Mississippi State
1. Fred Davis, db, Mississippi State
2. Fred Davis, db, Mississippi State
3. Fred Davis, db, Mississippi State
4. Fred Davis, db, Mississippi State
5. Fred Davis, db, Mississippi State
6. Fred Davis, db, Mississippi State
7. Fred Davis, db, Mississippi State

Missouri
1. Christian Ponder, qb, Florida State
2. Christian Ponder, qb, Florida State
3. Christian Ponder, qb, Florida State
4. Christian Ponder, qb, Florida State
5. Christian Ponder, qb, Florida State
6. Christian Ponder, qb, Florida State
7. Christian Ponder, qb, Florida State

Montana
1. Javoroe Kurtz, lb, Montana
2. Javoroe Kurtz, lb, Montana
3. Javoroe Kurtz, lb, Montana
4. Javoroe Kurtz, lb, Montana
5. Javoroe Kurtz, lb, Montana
6. Javoroe Kurtz, lb, Montana
7. Javoroe Kurtz, lb, Montana

Oregon
1. RyanLeaf, qb, Oregon State
2. RyanLeaf, qb, Oregon State
3. RyanLeaf, qb, Oregon State
4. RyanLeaf, qb, Oregon State
5. RyanLeaf, qb, Oregon State
6. RyanLeaf, qb, Oregon State
7. RyanLeaf, qb, Oregon State

Penn State
1. Evan Royster, rb, Penn State
2. Evan Royster, rb, Penn State
3. Evan Royster, rb, Penn State
4. Evan Royster, rb, Penn State
5. Evan Royster, rb, Penn State
6. Evan Royster, rb, Penn State
7. Evan Royster, rb, Penn State

Pittsburgh
1. Antwan Barnes, lb, Colorado State
2. Antwan Barnes, lb, Colorado State
3. Antwan Barnes, lb, Colorado State
4. Antwan Barnes, lb, Colorado State
5. Antwan Barnes, lb, Colorado State
6. Antwan Barnes, lb, Colorado State
7. Antwan Barnes, lb, Colorado State

San Francisco
1. Akeem Ayers, lb, Tennessee
2. Akeem Ayers, lb, Tennessee
3. Akeem Ayers, lb, Tennessee
4. Akeem Ayers, lb, Tennessee
5. Akeem Ayers, lb, Tennessee
6. Akeem Ayers, lb, Tennessee
7. Akeem Ayers, lb, Tennessee

St. Louis
1. Anthony Wooton, lb, Louisiana State
2. Anthony Wooton, lb, Louisiana State
3. Anthony Wooton, lb, Louisiana State
4. Anthony Wooton, lb, Louisiana State
5. Anthony Wooton, lb, Louisiana State
6. Anthony Wooton, lb, Louisiana State
7. Anthony Wooton, lb, Louisiana State

Tennessee
1. Akeem Ayers, lb, Tennessee
2. Akeem Ayers, lb, Tennessee
3. Akeem Ayers, lb, Tennessee
4. Akeem Ayers, lb, Tennessee
5. Akeem Ayers, lb, Tennessee
6. Akeem Ayers, lb, Tennessee
7. Akeem Ayers, lb, Tennessee

Texas
1. J.D. Allen, lb, Texas
2. J.D. Allen, lb, Texas
3. J.D. Allen, lb, Texas
4. J.D. Allen, lb, Texas
5. J.D. Allen, lb, Texas
6. J.D. Allen, lb, Texas
7. J.D. Allen, lb, Texas

Texas A&M
1. Bernard Pollard, db, Tennessee
2. Bernard Pollard, db, Tennessee
3. Bernard Pollard, db, Tennessee
4. Bernard Pollard, db, Tennessee
5. Bernard Pollard, db, Tennessee
6. Bernard Pollard, db, Tennessee
7. Bernard Pollard, db, Tennessee

Texas Tech
1. Martin Gramatica, p, Georgia
2. Martin Gramatica, p, Georgia
3. Martin Gramatica, p, Georgia
4. Martin Gramatica, p, Georgia
5. Martin Gramatica, p, Georgia
6. Martin Gramatica, p, Georgia
7. Martin Gramatica, p, Georgia

Tulsa
1. Donnell Woolford, db, West Virginia
2. Donnell Woolford, db, West Virginia
3. Donnell Woolford, db, West Virginia
4. Donnell Woolford, db, West Virginia
5. Donnell Woolford, db, West Virginia
6. Donnell Woolford, db, West Virginia
7. Donnell Woolford, db, West Virginia

UCLA
1. Ryan Mallett, qb, Georgia
2. Ryan Mallett, qb, Georgia
3. Ryan Mallett, qb, Georgia
4. Ryan Mallett, qb, Georgia
5. Ryan Mallett, qb, Georgia
6. Ryan Mallett, qb, Georgia
7. Ryan Mallett, qb, Georgia

Utah
1. Garrett Gilbert, qb, California
2. Garrett Gilbert, qb, California
3. Garrett Gilbert, qb, California
4. Garrett Gilbert, qb, California
5. Garrett Gilbert, qb, California
6. Garrett Gilbert, qb, California
7. Garrett Gilbert, qb, California

Virginia
1. Mike Lynaugh, db, Virginia
2. Mike Lynaugh, db, Virginia
3. Mike Lynaugh, db, Virginia
4. Mike Lynaugh, db, Virginia
5. Mike Lynaugh, db, Virginia
6. Mike Lynaugh, db, Virginia
7. Mike Lynaugh, db, Virginia

Washington
1. Brandon Mebane, db, Oregon State
2. Brandon Mebane, db, Oregon State
3. Brandon Mebane, db, Oregon State
4. Brandon Mebane, db, Oregon State
5. Brandon Mebane, db, Oregon State
6. Brandon Mebane, db, Oregon State
7. Brandon Mebane, db, Oregon State

Wolfe
1. Matt Nelson, lb, Washington State
5. Matt Nelson, lb, Washington State
7. Matt Nelson, lb, Washington State

Wyoming
1. Ernie Sims, lb, Texas A&M
2. Ernie Sims, lb, Texas A&M
3. Ernie Sims, lb, Texas A&M
4. Ernie Sims, lb, Texas A&M
5. Ernie Sims, lb, Texas A&M
6. Ernie Sims, lb, Texas A&M
7. Ernie Sims, lb, Texas A&M

Lou Holtz will be visiting the College of Business Administration Building on April 20, 1999 to lecture on:

“What I wish I knew about Leadership twenty-five years ago”

This Lecture series will start at 12:30 p.m. and is being held in the Jordan Auditorium.

Lou Holtz will offer a perspective useful to current students looking ahead to careers who are wondering what characteristics and skills make a great leader. In reflecting on his experience, Lou Holtz will share what he has found to be indispensable leadership skills.

This is the second lecture of the “Leadership for Competitive Advantage and Personal Success” Series.
Notre Dame takes two of three from Boston College

By BILL HART
Associate Sports Editor

Notre Dame kept up its trend of come-from-behind victories this weekend, rallying to take two of three games from visiting Boston College.

The victories keep the Irish in first place in the Big East.

"Truly, I feel like this was a great series," head coach Paul Mainieri said. "We didn't take it for granted that we would win the games. They just came out there and did a great job. It turned out to be a tremendously competitive series for our guys."

The first game of Saturday's doubleheader started off promisingly when the Irish got a 7-0 lead. Junior shortstop Brant Ust opened up scoring by singling home freshman Steve Stanley.

In the top of the second, however, the Eagles opened up the floodgates on pitcher Aaron Heilman with six runs, two of which earned. The visitors were poised to strike again with the bases loaded and two outs before junior Eric Olson hit a ground ball to the shortstop to end the inning.

The Irish earned one run in the top of the third, when sophomore Alex Perez scored on a fielder's choice by first baseman Mike Quirk.

While Heilman got back in a pitching groove, the home team kept getting big hits. In the fourth inning, the Eagles scored three runs on a double by Ben Cook.

But the wind was blowing to the left field, which helped the Eagles to put the game away early. In the fifth inning, the Irish took a 7-0 lead, followed by a double off a sac fly by second baseman Sean McGowan for his 15th home run of the season.

Third baseman Eric Olson hit two home runs in the fourth and sixth innings, while Mike Perez got his third hit of the game.

In the top of the ninth, right-hander John Corbin allowed two hits before striking out Stephen Langone and giving Mike Perez his second home run of the game, 9-6. Corbin earned the save while freshman Drew Duff got the win.

O'Toole hit a three-run homer; his fourth on the year, to give his team the first lead of the day.

The Eagles scored one run in the top of the seventh, but the Irish forced the game into extra innings with a sacrifice bunt by junior center fielder Chris Heilmann.

In the bottom of the eighth, Ust started off with a double and later scored off a triple by senior Jeff Wagner. After Wagner scored off a single by catcher Paul O'Toole, the dynamo infield put a second run on the board. O'Toole hit a three-run home run in the fourth inning, giving the Irish a 9-6 lead.

The Eagles scored one run in the top of the ninth, after first baseman Sean McGowan scored on a hit up the gut by freshman Ed Golem.

The first game of Saturday's doubleheader started off promisingly when the Irish got a quick 1-0 lead. Junior shortstop Brant Ust opened up scoring by singling home freshman Steve Stanley.

In the top of the second, however, the Eagles opened up the floodgates on pitcher Aaron Heilman with six runs, two of which earned. The visitors were poised to strike again with the bases loaded and two outs before junior Eric Olson hit a ground ball to the shortstop to end the inning.

The Irish earned one run in the top of the third, when sophomore Alex Perez scored on a fielder's choice by first baseman Mike Quirk.

While Heilman got back in a pitching groove, the home team kept getting big hits. In the fourth inning, the Eagles scored three runs on a double by Ben Cook.

But the wind was blowing to the left field, which helped the Eagles to put the game away early. In the fifth inning, the Irish took a 7-0 lead, followed by a double off a sac fly by second baseman Sean McGowan for his 15th home run of the season.

Third baseman Eric Olson hit two home runs in the fourth and sixth innings, while Mike Perez got his third hit of the game.

In the top of the ninth, right-hander John Corbin allowed two hits before striking out Stephen Langone and giving Mike Perez his second home run of the game, 9-6. Corbin earned the save while freshman Drew Duff got the win.

O'Toole hit a three-run homer; his fourth on the year, to give his team the first lead of the day.

The Eagles scored one run in the top of the seventh, but the Irish forced the game into extra innings with a sacrifice bunt by junior center fielder Chris Heilmann.

In the bottom of the eighth, Ust started off with a double and later scored off a triple by senior Jeff Wagner. After Wagner scored off a single by catcher Paul O'Toole, the dynamo infield put a second run on the board. O'Toole hit a three-run home run in the fourth inning, giving the Irish a 9-6 lead.

The Eagles scored one run in the top of the ninth, after first baseman Sean McGowan scored on a hit up the gut by freshman Ed Golem.

The second game of Saturday's doubleheader started off promisingly when the Irish got a quick 1-0 lead. Junior shortstop Brant Ust opened up scoring by singling home freshman Steve Stanley.

In the top of the second, however, the Eagles opened up the floodgates on pitcher Aaron Heilman with six runs, two of which earned. The visitors were poised to strike again with the bases loaded and two outs before junior Eric Olson hit a ground ball to the shortstop to end the inning.

The Irish earned one run in the top of the third, when sophomore Alex Perez scored on a fielder's choice by first baseman Mike Quirk.

While Heilman got back in a pitching groove, the home team kept getting big hits. In the fourth inning, the Eagles scored three runs on a double by Ben Cook.

But the wind was blowing to the left field, which helped the Eagles to put the game away early. In the fifth inning, the Irish took a 7-0 lead, followed by a double off a sac fly by second baseman Sean McGowan for his 15th home run of the season.

Third baseman Eric Olson hit two home runs in the fourth and sixth innings, while Mike Perez got his third hit of the game.

In the top of the ninth, right-hander John Corbin allowed two hits before striking out Stephen Langone and giving Mike Perez his second home run of the game, 9-6. Corbin earned the save while freshman Drew Duff got the win.

O'Toole hit a three-run homer; his fourth on the year, to give his team the first lead of the day.

The Eagles scored one run in the top of the seventh, but the Irish forced the game into extra innings with a sacrifice bunt by junior center fielder Chris Heilmann.

In the bottom of the eighth, Ust started off with a double and later scored off a triple by senior Jeff Wagner. After Wagner scored off a single by catcher Paul O'Toole, the dynamo infield put a second run on the board. O'Toole hit a three-run home run in the fourth inning, giving the Irish a 9-6 lead.

The Eagles scored one run in the top of the ninth, after first baseman Sean McGowan scored on a hit up the gut by freshman Ed Golem.

The second game of Saturday's doubleheader started off promisingly when the Irish got a quick 1-0 lead. Junior shortstop Brant Ust opened up scoring by singling home freshman Steve Stanley.

In the top of the second, however, the Eagles opened up the floodgates on pitcher Aaron Heilman with six runs, two of which earned. The visitors were poised to strike again with the bases loaded and two outs before junior Eric Olson hit a ground ball to the shortstop to end the inning.

The Irish earned one run in the top of the third, when sophomore Alex Perez scored on a fielder's choice by first baseman Mike Quirk.

While Heilman got back in a pitching groove, the home team kept getting big hits. In the fourth inning, the Eagles scored three runs on a double by Ben Cook.

But the wind was blowing to the left field, which helped the Eagles to put the game away early. In the fifth inning, the Irish took a 7-0 lead, followed by a double off a sac fly by second baseman Sean McGowan for his 15th home run of the season.

Third baseman Eric Olson hit two home runs in the fourth and sixth innings, while Mike Perez got his third hit of the game.

In the top of the ninth, right-hander John Corbin allowed two hits before striking out Stephen Langone and giving Mike Perez his second home run of the game, 9-6. Corbin earned the save while freshman Drew Duff got the win.

O'Toole hit a three-run homer; his fourth on the year, to give his team the first lead of the day.

The Eagles scored one run in the top of the seventh, but the Irish forced the game into extra innings with a sacrifice bunt by junior center fielder Chris Heilmann.

In the bottom of the eighth, Ust started off with a double and later scored off a triple by senior Jeff Wagner. After Wagner scored off a single by catcher Paul O'Toole, the dynamo infield put a second run on the board. O'Toole hit a three-run home run in the fourth inning, giving the Irish a 9-6 lead.

The Eagles scored one run in the top of the ninth, after first baseman Sean McGowan scored on a hit up the gut by freshman Ed Golem.

COMMENCEMENT TICKET REQUEST RESULTS

As of April 15, students who will participate in the May 1999 Commencement Ceremony, and who have indicated the number of tickets requested (up to a maximum of four) on the Commencement Ticket Request form, will have those requests honored. Because of the high demand for the maximum number of tickets, any requests turned in after April 15 cannot be guaranteed.

Tickets will be distributed in the Hesburgh Library Auditorium on Thursday and Friday, May 13 and 14, 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. You MUST bring your cap and gown receipt and your ID with you to pick up your tickets.

COMMENCEMENT INFORMATION ON THE WORLD WIDE WEB

Please note that graduation information, including ticket request results, is available on the World Wide Web at http://www.nd.edu/~ndreg/commencement_graduation.html

UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME
OFFICE OF THE REGISTRAR
COMMENCEMENT TICKET COMMITTEE
DON'T GET BIT BY THE MILLENNIUM BUG

Pick up your FREE copy of Symantec’s Norton 2000 for the PC at the OIT Solutions Center or any OIT computer cluster, or download from the web at www.nd.edu/~y2k starting April 19.

DON'T GET CAUGHT IN THE WEB OF CONFUSION

Come and see a brief demonstration of the software at 7 PM, Wednesday, April 21, in 129 DeBartolo. A Q&A session with the experts from OIT will follow. Bring your Y2K questions.

BEAT THE FALL RUSH

Sponsored by The Office for Year 2000 Compliance
Fox Sports...Almost

Insomnia, Tecmo Bowl and The Great One

By TED FOX  Sunday Columnist

I might as well be honest with you. Of the "Big Four" sports in the U.S. right now — baseball, basketball, football and hockey — I know, by far, the least about the game played on ice. That being said, I can't get around writing about hockey this week for one important reason: One of the best to ever play the game, Wayne Gretzky, retired after his New York Rangers concluded the regular season on Sunday with a 2-1 win over the Chicago Blackhawks. As a fan, I am not only saddened by the departure of the game's best player, but I am also saddened by the fact that Gretzky's number retired in the special way — as if having your number retired isn't enough — you would figure that Gretzky had to be pretty amazing on a pair of skates. And, in the course of his 20 year NHL career, he was. Gretzky's name appears before 61 different individual marks in the NHL record book. The Great One also won four Stanley Cups with the Edmonton Oilers back in the 1980s. Like I said, I don't really follow hockey that much, and that was no different before my 10th birthday when I started watching hockey games "Blades of Steel," I always used Edmonton. Even though that game, like most of pre-Tecmo Bowl era Nintendo, was not based on the real teams. You know his teams were good if they were influencing video game battles for bragging rights in your neighborhood. My favorite stat, however, is one that was given before this last game by the folks at Fox (who, by the way, appear to have finally given up on that whole misguid­ed 'Fox Trax' puck tracking thing). When young Wayne Gretzky was just a 10 year old, he played in some league that had a 65-game season. His goal total for that season? 368. Yeah, you're right. That's more than five goals a game for the entire season — when he was still just six years from driving. When most kids were struggling to stay on their feet on double-laced skates, when he was still just Wayne and not "The Great One," he was turning the light on over five times a game. I think when I was 10, I was in 4 ball and hit a triple once. I was pretty stoked for the next month. I think if I had been a 10-year-old Wayne Gretzky, I don't think I would have slept for a year. And given what he's done in the last 24 years, against the best players in the world, not the kid from down the street, I think I'd be suffering from almost 30 years of sleep deprivation. Maybe that's why he decided to retire. Maybe he just wanted to catch up on all that sleep he hasn't put­ten all these years of bringing on that hockey high. Maybe he's just finally letting all the accolades, sink in. So now, at the age of 38, Gretzky excited in a fitting scenario: Against the Pens, he recorded an assist on his team's only goal. But in overtime, Pittsburgh's Jaromir Jagr, whom many say is the game's best player — and now, its dominant figure — took the torch from his predecessor and ended the game with the sudden death goal.

In the end, it was a game of begin­nings. It was the beginning of a new era for the NHL, and the beginning of "The Great One" at last catching his breath. I guess everyone won on Sunday.: The views expressed in this column are not necessarily those of The Observer.

ATTENTION SOPHOMORES!

ORDERS MAY NOW BE PLACED FOR YOUR CLASS RINGS

Orders may be placed for your class ring beginning Monday, April 19th from 9:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m.

*The Hammes
Notre Dame Bookstore*
*"in the Eck Center"
Open Monday through Saturday 9 am - 10 pm
Sunday 11 am - 10 pm*

10 Easy Ways to Burn a Few Extra Calories

1. Take the stairs, not the elevator.
2. Park farther away in the parking lot.
3. Exercise with your pet.
4. Do floor exercises while watching tv.
5. Deliver your messages by hand instead of by phone and email.
6. Scrub the floors on your hands and knees instead of using a mop.
7. Walk the golf course.
8. Use a push mower to mow the lawn.
9. Ride your bike to work on a nice day.
10. Start strength training.

For More Info: Contact:RecSports - 1-6100
www.nd.edu/~recsport

---

10 Easy Ways to Burn a Few Extra Calories

1. Take the stairs, not the elevator.
2. Park farther away in the parking lot.
3. Exercise with your pet.
4. Do floor exercises while watching tv.
5. Deliver your messages by hand instead of by phone and email.
6. Scrub the floors on your hands and knees instead of using a mop.
7. Walk the golf course.
8. Use a push mower to mow the lawn.
9. Ride your bike to work on a nice day.
10. Start strength training.

For More Info: Contact:RecSports - 1-6100
www.nd.edu/~recsport
Wondermutts tame Doherty in second round, 21-17

By KERRY SMITH

Matt Doherty and his Bookstore Basketball team Lebo’s Legends stepped onto the Stephans courts this weekend in front of two of the largest crowds in this year’s tournament. Despite the rain, fans poured out to see the former NCAA champion in the second and third rounds.

Lebo’s Legends team captain Jed D’Ercole and Rich Stasica wrote Doherty a letter asking him to be a member of their team the day he was hired as the new men’s basketball head coach.

“I’d heard a lot about Bookstore Basketball,” said Doherty. “And then my first day on the job I got a letter from Jed and Rich that was really touching, so I called them and said ‘I’d love to play with them.’”

In Friday’s second-round matchup with Ducks II, “The Next Generation, Doherty, along with D’Ercole, Stasica, Ted Romaine, Jesse Bolder and Tom Kilroy, did not disappoint. Playing tight defense, Doherty led his team on the offensive and defensive. Passing with precision, he was unselfish and moved the ball outside shooting with strong play at the post for five points and 12 rebounds.

Coach was huge on the boards,” said Bolder. “He was like a titan down low.”

Romaine, at point guard, was a scrappy player and made five steals to keep the team on the offensive. Stasica added five points to the final score.

Lebo’s Legends led Ducks II, with players J.P. Cooney, Kevin Leonard, Billy Irvine, Bear Brannan and Pat McDermott, at the half 11-5.

Ducks II, named in honor of Cooney’s father’s championship bookstore basketball III team, the Ducks, refused to be intimidated by Lebo’s Legends and never let down.

Cooney turned on the heat in the second half, sinking three unanswered baskets, but it was not enough as Lebo’s Legends earned the 21-11 win.

“It was a hard fought battle,” said Stasica after the game. “But in the end we went ducking-hunting and got five of them.”

Ducks II was disappointed with the second-round loss, but had fun on the court.

“Lebo’s Legends has a great atmosphere,” said Cooney. “I think what makes them so fun is that they’ve got a little bit of everything.”

“Hopefully we’ll come back stronger on Sunday,” said Doherty.

Sunday’s third-round game brought different conditions, a different opponent and a different outcome for Lebo’s Legends. Pouring rain flooded the basketball court, making clean play difficult for Lebo’s Legends and Seth Greene and the Wondermutts, with players Shannon Stephens, Gennaro Barca, John Minne, Anthony Romaine and Pat McDermott.

In a close match-up where the lead never turned beyond four points, the two teams battled it out for control of the game.

Competitive from the outset, a couple of controversial calls intensified the rivalry between the two teams.

“The students are great — they’re real competitive,” said Doherty. “I was really getting into it with the other team. I hope Doherty’s form some enemies.”

The Wondermutts double-teamed Doherty to try to contain his dominance on the court and combined slow play and precision to earn them a 21-17 win.

“We tried to push the ball up the court and get it in to the hands of Minne,” said Barca. “And we stayed tough defensively.”

Doherty led the offense with six points.

Stevens’ potent outside shot, giving him four points, earned Lebo’s Legends trouble in the second half.

Doherty finished the game with five points and nine rebounds.

Regardless of Lebo’s Legends loss, Doherty proved to be a winner in the eyes of his teammates and the crowd.

“I think it was a great coach to come out here and play with,” said Minne. “It shows the students just what kind of coach he’s going to be,” said Stasica. “He’s really down to earth and wants to get to know the students. It’s going to be fun time here during his coaching career.”

“I hope we get invited back next year, because we’re really playing with these guys,” said Doherty.

“Notre Dame’s a fun place to be a student and to work, with the enthusiasm and the creativity of the students. It’s great.”

While Doherty’s playing time Monday, April 19, 1999

SPORTS

When the hottest interactive entertainment company is looking for an on-campus rep to live and breathe EA SPORTS™

Do you live sports? Are you a gamer? Will you allow yourself to have fun and make money? If you comprise all three of these skills you may be selected to be the one and only EA SPORTS™ Rep on your campus!

Equal Opportunity Employer

EA SPORTS and the EA SPORTS logos are trademarks or registered trademarks of Electronic Arts in the United States and/or other countries.
By TIM CASEY
Sports Writer

As the spring season enters its final stage, the Irish team has depth and parity at several positions.

On offense, all the skill positions except quarterback are still up for grabs. The starting spots at tailback (Tony Driver and Tony Fisher), fullback (Tony Goodspeed and Tom Lapinski) and receiver (Bobby Brown, Tony Gerhartz, Raki Nelson, Justin Hunter, David Owens and the injured Jay Johnson) most likely will not be determined until late August.

Defensively, the young line-backing corps and especially the cornerback slots have several players still fighting for playing time.

Bob Davie said the depth and composition for playing time has had a positive effect on his football team.

"There's competition at a lot of positions. You've got to pay a price to set foot on this field," said Davie after Saturday's scrimmage. "I think there's some young guys that are pushing the older guys right now. There's more competition than we've had for a few years and I think this will help this football team.

The stars of Saturday's second scrimmage was the defensive line. Led by returning starters Brad Williams, Lance Legree, Lamon Bryant and Anthony Weaver as well as an improved Grant Irons at defensive end, this year's line looks like the strong point of the defensive unit.

All five players are taller than 6-foot-3, at least 250 pounds and had no trouble putting pressure on the quarterback. While the offensive line is young, the defensive front displayed its strength.

With the switch to the 4-man front this year, Greg Mattison is taking advantage of his defensive line. "I don't think there's any question that are defensive front has the ability to make plays, and that's something we've been lacking, particularly in the last couple years," said Davie. "I'd like in think we're making some progress there. I know they've bought into more of an attack mode. I like the productivity of our front."

This scrimmage focused on the passing game last Saturday's, which emphasized the running and option attack.

With good conditions, Jarius Jackson and Arnaz Battle both had one or more comfortable throwing the ball, even with constant defensive pressure. The tight end played more of a

By KE R R Y  S M I T H
Sports Writer

In a tournament free of upsets, No. 12 Still Crackers became the first seeded team to fall as they lost in the third round of play Sunday.

Crippled by the loss of key player Mike Rosenthal, Still Crackers, with team captain Scott Panichelli, Brian Dillon, Kori Erickson and Tim Bidder, fell to unranked License to Thrill (Did I Do That?).

Still Crackers played with only four players in the first half but managed to keep the score close, leading 11-10 at the break. Bookstore commissioners inducted the team at the start of the second half that they could pull in a full player, so the team solicited Joe Malichio from the sidelines to fill Rosenthal's spot.

"The score was back and forth in the second half," said Panichelli. "But the other team pulled it together at the end for the win."

License to Thrill, with players Lewis Dawson, Randy Collins, Carl Jackson, Justin Johnson and O'Neil Ghisholm, took advantage of Still Crackers' weakness and used tough defense to gain the win. "They didn't have Rosenthal and that hurt them, but we played hot," said Dawson. "Our defense was working best for us. It was the key to victory.

LEWIS DAWSON LICENSE TO THRILL

The win didn't come as a shock to License to Thrill. "We weren't surprised by the win," said Dawson. "We figure if we can play as a team then we can play with anyone. We didn't come to play with a losing attitude."

Other top seeds to the court last weekend and quickly disposed of their challengers. Malicious Prosecution took to the court Saturday and proved why it's ranked at the No. 3 spot.

Combining quick transitions with no-look passes, Malicious Prosecution was too much for the team of Kieran Houenisky, Dave Martin, Tony McCanta, John Wynee and Brian Engler. "We got off to a good start," said Coll. "During the second half, we tried to push the ball up the floor and so we were able to score some baskets before the other team had its defense set up."

Malicious Prosecution, with its strong defense, caused several turnovers in the first minutes of the game and quickly

The 1998 Irish offensive line produced three draft picks, including first rounder Luke Petitgout, who was selected by the New York Giants. Petitgout had a solid season for the Giants and was selected by the team in the first round of the 1999 NFL Draft.

The Cowboys selected backup cornerback, David Brown, in the third round of the draft. Brown had a successful season for the Cowboys and was selected by the team in the third round of the 1999 NFL Draft.

The Bears selected defensive end, Joey Goodspeed, in the fourth round of the draft. Goodspeed had a successful season for the Bears and was selected by the team in the fourth round of the 1999 NFL Draft.

The 1998 Irish offensive line produced three draft picks, including first rounder Luke Petitgout, who was selected by the New York Giants. Petitgout had a solid season for the Giants and was selected by the team in the first round of the 1999 NFL Draft.

The Cowboys selected backup cornerback, David Brown, in the third round of the draft. Brown had a successful season for the Cowboys and was selected by the team in the third round of the 1999 NFL Draft.

The Bears selected defensive end, Joey Goodspeed, in the fourth round of the draft. Goodspeed had a successful season for the Bears and was selected by the team in the fourth round of the 1999 NFL Draft.

The 1998 Irish offensive line produced three draft picks, including first rounder Luke Petitgout, who was selected by the New York Giants. Petitgout had a solid season for the Giants and was selected by the team in the first round of the 1999 NFL Draft.

The Cowboys selected backup cornerback, David Brown, in the third round of the draft. Brown had a successful season for the Cowboys and was selected by the team in the third round of the 1999 NFL Draft.

The Bears selected defensive end, Joey Goodspeed, in the fourth round of the draft. Goodspeed had a successful season for the Bears and was selected by the team in the fourth round of the 1999 NFL Draft.