Desperate for control

Counseling services at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's help for students with eating disorders.

By LAURA ROMPF
News Writer

The stress on Notre Dame students is overwhelming. Papers, tests and computer programs. Volunteering, sports and relationships. Having control over even one aspect of life is an accomplishment. Unfortunately, for approximately 10 percent of the student population, this "control" is causing harm and even permanent damage to their bodies.

On the national level more than 5 million Americans suffer from eating disorders — 5 percent of adolescent and adult women, and 1 percent of men have anorexia nervosa, bulimia nervosa, or binge-eating disorder.

Fifteen percent of young women have substantially disordered eating attitudes and behaviors, and an estimated 1,000 women die each year of anorexia nervosa.

"Western culture itself puts a focus on looks, body image, and being thin," said Chris Pendley, assistant director of Counseling and Career Development at St. Mary's. "In a college campus appearance is very important in attracting a mate, especially in the age group 18 to 24. Appearance is seen as a key to success."

Pendley added that many other aspects of college life add to the ideal environment for eating disorders.

"An aspect of college that causes eating disorders is students worry about gaining the "freshman 15,"" said Pendley. "This worry causes them in forget that their bodies are naturally maturing and changing, and the weight gain experienced is not always fat."

"Another factor is residence halls. I know at Saint Mary's and I assume it is true of Notre Dame, our students are very competitive. This competitiveness can carry over into appearance; they want to look the best," Pendley continued.

"Several other factors are also involved. Stress both academic and financial and being away from home for the first time all cause eating disorders," she said.

"Bulimia might develop because students have unlimited access to food in the dining hall. Where at home dinner would consist of what was served and once it was gone, it was gone. Because students can go back several times, binging may occur," she said.

Due to all these factors, the environment on college campuses cause for a greater concentrated source of the three main eating disorders. Saint Mary's offers help for students with eating disorders. Counseling and Career Development at St. Mary's is among Notre Dame, our students are very competitive. This competitiveness can carry over into appearance; they want to look the best," Pendley continued.

"Several other factors are also involved. Stress both academic and financial and being away from home for the first time all cause eating disorders," she said.

"Bulimia might develop because students have unlimited access to food in the dining hall. Where at home dinner would consist of what was served and once it was gone, it was gone. Because students can go back several times, binging may occur," she said.

Due to all these factors, the environment on college campuses cause for a greater concentrated source of the three main eating disorders.

About one in 10 Notre Dame students and 5 million Americans struggle with an eating disorder.

Let it snow!

Special to The Observer

Notre Dame has received a $400,000 challenge grant from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation to endow a fellowship in medieval studies.

The Mellon Foundation's challenge grant, which requires Notre Dame to raise an additional $500,000, is itself a response to a $450,000 challenge grant to the University from the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH). The NEH grant, made earlier this year, is contingent upon Notre Dame's raising $1.8 million for library collections and faculty fellowships in the Medieval Institute and the Keough Institute for Irish Studies.

"We are grateful to the Mellon Foundation both for this generous grant and for the recognition it conveys," said University president Father Edward Malloy. "The Medieval Institute is among Notre Dame's most celebrated academic entities, and these challenge grants will strengthen it yet further."

Father Philip Moore established Notre Dame's first medieval studies program in 1953 with the assistance of the French medievalist and philosopher Etienne Gilson. The University's Medieval Institute was established 14 years later and is today, under the direction of Patrick Geary, among the most prominent interdisciplinary programs of its kind in the nation.

The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation makes grants on a selective basis to institutions in higher education, in cultural affairs and the performing arts, in population, in conservation and the environment and in public affairs. It has provided support for Notre Dame's Medieval Institute, the Kellogg Institute for International Studies, the Institute for Scholarship in the Liberal Arts and, most recently, a research project on the effects of secondary education on students at selective colleges.

The grants are components of the University's $767 million Generations campaign.

Medieval studies endowed with $400,000 challenge grant

Students were welcomed back to school on Monday with November's first snow. Temperatures reached a high of 41F.

DMB blues
Scene reviews Dave Matthews Band's third live album in two years. A second studio album is due out in May.

Scene ♦ page 10

Mir ready for 2000?
After 13 years in space, Russian officials claim that the Mir Space Station is ready for New Year's.

World & Nation ♦ page 5

Tuesday
NOVEMBER 30, 1999

The Observer
The Independent Newspaper Serving Notre Dame and Saint Mary's

VOL XXXIII NO. 59

http://observer.nd.edu

LET IT SNOW!

Special to The Observer

Notre Dame has received a $400,000 challenge grant from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation to endow a fellowship in medieval studies.

The Mellon Foundation's challenge grant, which requires Notre Dame to raise an additional $500,000, is itself a response to a $450,000 challenge grant to the University from the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH). The NEH grant, made earlier this year, is contingent upon Notre Dame's raising $1.8 million for library collections and faculty fellowships in the Medieval Institute and the Keough Institute for Irish Studies.

"We are grateful to the Mellon Foundation both for this generous grant and for the recognition it conveys," said University president Father Edward Malloy. "The Medieval Institute is among Notre Dame's most celebrated academic entities, and these challenge grants will strengthen it yet further."

Father Philip Moore established Notre Dame's first medieval studies program in 1953 with the assistance of the French medievalist and philosopher Etienne Gilson. The University's Medieval Institute was established 14 years later and is today, under the direction of Patrick Geary, among the most prominent interdisciplinary programs of its kind in the nation.

The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation makes grants on a selective basis to institutions in higher education, in cultural affairs and the performing arts, in population, in conservation and the environment and in public affairs. It has provided support for Notre Dame's Medieval Institute, the Kellogg Institute for International Studies, the Institute for Scholarship in the Liberal Arts and, most recently, a research project on the effects of secondary education on students at selective colleges.

The grants are components of the University's $767 million Generations campaign.

Medieval studies endowed with $400,000 challenge grant
INSIDE COLUMN

‘I Want It That Way’

As I sit down to type this column, my ears can still hear a faint ringing from the weekend. No, not the jingling plane ride back after Thanksgiving break, rather from over 22,000 people singing the Backstreet Boys’ hit “I Want It That Way” for six minutes straight. You would never lower yourself to listen to those songs. Tell me when you went to their concert. I went to their concert. They sing along to the hits “I Want It That Way,” “As Long as You Love Me,” “All I Have,” “I Want It That Way,” and “Everybody ... Rock Your Body.”

In addition to this, one insisted I make a mix tape of boy bands music for him. You’d think I wouldn’t own both CDs as I do. Maybe they did put more on the poster than I even dreamed possible. Maybe they were trying to strip a student group of SOAR status. If successful, SOAR would lose University funding and membership in the Academic Health Center.

The complaint pointed to four specific violations. The University’s Student Conduct Code, infractions of state laws and school regulations.

Dick Blanco, associate vice president of the Academic Health Center, said that SOAR’s most recent attempt to strip a student group of SOAR status would break the law and threaten the group, “that’s too far.”

Dick Blanco
assistant vice president of the Academic Health Center

OUTSIDE THE DOME

Minnesota students debate animal rights

MINNEAPOLIS

Demonized and haunted by years, University of Minnesota animal researchers are taking the offensive against animal rights protectors by working to make their most strident on-campus criticism.

The Student Organization for Animal Rights was the subject of a Nov. 11 grievance filed on behalf of University researchers asking for a revocation of the activists’ student group status. If successful, SOAR would lose University funding and access to facilities.

The grievance makes the first attempt to strip a student group of its University standing.

The complaint pointed to four specific violations. The University’s Student Conduct Code, infractions of state laws and school regulations.

Dick Blanco, associate vice president of the Academic Health Center, said that SOAR’s most recent attempt to strip a student group of SOAR status would break the law and threaten the group, “that’s too far.”

Dick Blanco
assistant vice president of the Academic Health Center

MIT student stable after 96 foot fall

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.

An MIT student who fell 96 feet down a chimney onto a pile of soot was upgraded from serious to fair condition Monday after undergoing 10 hours of surgery on her wrist and back.

The 18-year-old woman, a first-year student from Pennsylvania whose name was not released, was breathing on her own, alert and communicative at Massachusetts General Hospital, Massachusetts Institute of Technology officials said. The woman did not appear to have suffered a head injury, damage to internal organs or significant spinal cord damage, MIT officials said.

The woman was with at least two male students about 3:30 a.m. Sunday when she fell down the six-story chimney at the Sloan School of Management. An investigation is planned, but authorities are uncertain whether foul play was involved. They had gone onto the roof to admire the view of the Boston skyline. MIT spokesman Robert Sales said there was no evidence the students had been drinking alcohol.

The views expressed in the Inside Column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.

TODAY’S NEWS

Maureen Smith
Laura McNally
Jenn Zarnick
Catherine Boyle
Mandi Powell
Kathleen O’Brien
Mia Nunnbaum
Kevan Dulun

Scene
Graphics
Sports
Production
Viewpoint
Lab Tech

The Observer (USPS 599 2-4000) is published Monday through Friday by the University of Minnesota's Student Organization for Animal Rights. The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

QUOTES OF THE WEEK

“It is absolutely imperative the university address the campus problem of binge drinking.”

Father Mark Poorman
vice president, Office of Student Affairs

“It was being part of the SOAR protest was a way of being faithful to our call as Christians to be people of peace and to stand with those who are suffering.”

Jane Pilarski
Peacemakers member

“Those workers are powerless; we are apathetic. This is just the reality of the society we live in.”

Christine Hinze
Marquette professor on workshoip labor

“People in the University are the biggest consumers. We affect other countries without even knowing it.”

Christie VanKuene
Saint Mary’s senior on “Buy Nothing” day

LOCAL WEATHER

5 Day South Bend Forecast

AccuWeather forecast for dynamic conditions and high temperatures.

The AccuWeather forecast for noon, Tuesday, Nov. 30.

LOW PRESSURE

Atlanta 52 64
Boston 36 52
Chicago 36 52
Dallas 70 83
Houston 76 86

HIGH PRESSURE

Cleveland 24 37
Cincinnati 36 50
Columbus 24 37
Dayton 70 83

MONDAY

Tuesday 37 21
Wednesday 37 21
Thursday 51 36
Friday 52 39
Saturday 57 38

NATIONAL WEATHER

The AccuWeather forecast for noon, Tuesday, Nov. 30.

LOW PRESSURE

Atlanta 52 64
Boston 36 52
Chicago 36 52
Dallas 70 83
Houston 76 86

HIGH PRESSURE

Cleveland 24 37
Cincinnati 36 50
Columbus 24 37
Dayton 70 83

MONDAY

Tuesday 37 21
Wednesday 37 21
Thursday 51 36
Friday 52 39
Saturday 57 38

The Observer (USPS 599 2-4000) is published Monday through Friday by the University of Minnesota's Student Organization for Animal Rights. The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.
History professor to discuss new book

James Turner, professor of history at the Erasmus Institute at Notre Dame, will lead a discussion and sign copies of his new book, "The Liberal Education of Charles Eliot Norton," today at 7 p.m. in the Hammes Notre Dame Bookstore on campus.

Turner, who joined the Notre Dame faculty in 1995, received a doctorial degree from Harvard in 1975. He taught at the College of Charleston, the University of Massachusetts in Boston and the University of Michigan before coming to Notre Dame.

His scholarship concerns U.S. and British intellectual history and trans-Atlantic intellectual exchange, the intellectual history of higher education, and philology as a model of knowledge in the nineteenth century.

He has written two other books, "Reckoning with the Beast: Animals, Pain, and Humanity in the Victorian Mind" and "Without God, Without Creed: The Origins of Unbelief in America."

The Erasmus Institute, which Turner has directed since its establishment in 1997, is committed to supporting research grounded in the Catholic intellectual tradition and focused on significant issues in contemporary scholarship.

March For Life

IN DC

Washington

Join ND/SMC Right to Life on January 24th in DC to protest the Roe vs. Wade Decision

Sign up in the Dining Halls 11/30 - 12/2
www.nd.edu/~prolife/trip/trip/rtldc.htm

Irish Fighting for Life

DO YOU LIKE SPORTS?
DO YOU LOVE KIDS?
DO YOU WANT TO GET PAID
AND EARN COLLEGE CREDIT?

National Youth Sports Program

Needs You!

Come and learn how you can be a part of

NYSP 2000

Wednesday, December 1st 7:00 PM or Thursday, December 2nd 8:PM
at Center for Social Concerns Classroom

(for additional information call 876-8394)

Benefits include:
- Living in residence hall on campus
- Three meals per day
- Tuition credit of $1,200
- Academic Credit
Eating disorders: anorexia nervosa, bulimia, and compulsive overeating. Anorexic individuals deliberately starve for weight loss, have an intense and persistent fear of gaining weight, refuse to eat except in tiny portions, continuously diet, deny hunger and exercise compulsively. In some cases they have excessive facial and body hair, have a distorted body image, abnormal weight loss, are sensitive to cold, have absent or irregular menstrual periods, and experience hair loss. Bulimic individuals have a preoccupation with food, binge usually in secret, vomit after binging, abuse of laxatives, diuretics, diet pills or meths, compulsively exercise, have swollen salivary glands and broken blood vessels in their eyes.

Compulsive overeaters also eat unusually large amounts of food within a certain period of time while feeling out of control. However, they have no episodic purging behaviors such as vomiting, diuretics, laxative use, fasting or excessive exercise. Anorexic individuals do not eat anything but lose weight. Bulimic individuals have an intense and persistent feeling of not being able to be in control of what they are doing. In some cases they have excessive facial and body hair, have a distorted body image, abnormal weight loss, are sensitive to cold, have absent or irregular menstrual periods, and experience hair loss.

All three disorders cause physical problems including depression, shame, mood swings, low self-esteem, withdrawal, impaired family and social relationships, "all-or-nothing" diet, and finally perfectionism. At Notre Dame, about one in 10 students suffers from eating disorders. McCann said Patrick Utz, director of the Counseling Center at Notre Dame. "Overall, given the nature of our student body, maybe 10 percent have some type of eating problem."

A formal study of this number is in the works. "We had a study conducted last year ago and we will be starting another one in January," Utz said. "However, the problem with eating disorders is that by their nature, they are meant to be secretive. Those suffering want to maintain a sense that they are hiding the disorder."

Saint Mary's also lacks exact numbers. "We do not have any statistics on the exact percentage of students with eating disorders, whether or not it is greater or less than the general population. However, it is an issue we deal with and since we are an all-women's college, most likely the percentage is greater here on our campus." Both Notre Dame and Saint Mary's offer help to students suffering from eating disorders. Utz explained the counseling center's three-fold process. "Our first role at the counseling center is to meet with the student and determine the nature of their problem," he said. "We have a nutritionist, physician, and psychiatrist on board.

"Our second role is education. We go to residence halls at every college, 120 pounds and wear a size 2. The average American woman in a size 14 is interested in sharing their work with fellow ND students of the literary festival should come and sign up. Present with 15-20 minutes of poetry or fiction to present at audition.

"We had to sketch self-portraits for art class sophomore year. The professor asked why I added 10 pounds to myself in every picture."

"I don't believe the problem is just a 'binge' when I was stressed. My athletics became worse because I was stressed. I stopped eating and purging."

"I have to sketch self-portraits for art class sophomore year. The professor asked why I added 10 pounds to myself in every picture.

"I don't believe the problem is just a 'binge' when I was stressed. My athletics became worse because I was stressed. I stopped eating and purging."

Kathleen McCann senior

"I have to sketch self-portraits for art class sophomore year. The professor asked why I added 10 pounds to myself in every picture.

"I don't believe the problem is just a 'binge' when I was stressed. My athletics became worse because I was stressed. I stopped eating and purging."

Kathleen McCann senior
Chile cuts warplane budget

SANTIAGO

The government said Monday it was ordering the air force to cut its budget for buying warplanes in half to $300 million, and to control what it spent on the planes in the future.

Before financial turmoil spread through Latin America and plunged Chile's economy into a yearlong depression, the government had agreed to let the air force spend up to $600 million to renew its fleet of combat fighters. But Defense Minister Eduardo Perez said Monday the air force would have to limit future airplane purchases to its share of earnings from the nation's copper exports. Each year, the armed forces receive an average of $210 million, which is split between the army, the navy and the air force. The government costs could be cut by purchasing used aircraft, but its commander, Gen. Patrick Bo, has said he prefers to buy a smaller number of planes rather than secondhand models.

Crimes against kids go underreported

WASHINGTON

Only 28 percent of violent crimes against children that police are told about, the Justice Department's Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, said Monday.

Until now, the department has had no clear indication of how many violent crimes might be going unreported. It does, however, track other crimes, including murder and rape, and for those crimes the reporting rate is 75 to 90 percent.

Justice Secretary Janet Reno said the government is in the process of developing national standards for collecting crime statistics from police departments nationwide.

"We're sending a message to the police that they need to report crimes, that they're important," she said. "And we're sending a message to the police and the public that this is a high priority for the administration."
This Week in Campus Ministry

Countdown to J2K@ND: 31 days

This Sunday at the 11:45 a.m. mass in the Basilica of the Sacred Heart we will recognize those members of the Notre Dame community who are seeking to become fully initiated into the Catholic faith community in the Rite of Welcome. These men and women have been gathering together the past several months to explore their faith and the Catholic Church more deeply through the RCIA process. Those who are Catechumens are seeking full initiation through the sacraments of Baptism, Communion, and Confirmation. Those who are Candidates have already been baptized and will be received into Full Communion through the sacraments of Communion and Confirmation.

RCIA – Rite of Welcome

On the Journey...

This Sunday at the 11:45 a.m. mass in the Basilica of the Sacred Heart we will recognize those members of the Notre Dame community who are seeking to become fully initiated into the Catholic faith community in the Rite of Welcome. These men and women have been gathering together the past several months to explore their faith and the Catholic Church more deeply through the RCIA process. Those who are Catechumens are seeking full initiation through the sacraments of Baptism, Communion, and Confirmation. Those who are Candidates have already been baptized and will be received into Full Communion through the sacraments of Communion and Confirmation.

Catechumens

Jim Cochran
Everett Dittman
Kevin Fuller
Stephanie Hochsteter
Lufei Jia
James Krueger
Ashlee Logan
Brian Mink
Abe Moore
Susan Roth
Kyle Shaw
Mari Shiraishi
Kelly Singer
Kimberly Springer

Candidates

Conrad Englehardt
Morgan Farmer
Leslie Farris
Tyson Fraser
Rachelle-Marie Gentner
Christa Guerrero
Emily Hallinan
Robyn Harridge
Risa Hartley-Werner
Tara Langman
Matt Mamak
Michael Mancuso
Katie Meierotto
Cory Neal
Stephanie Newcom
Alexis Nussbaum
James O'Connell
Andrea Odicino
Kari O'Neil
Gina Pierson
Dylan Reed
Renita Riley
William Roth
Bill Westberry
Melissa Yeazel

Good Stuff to Know

Eucharistic Adoration

During the academic year, Campus Ministry sponsors a 24-hour period of Eucharistic Adoration beginning with Mass at 11:30 pm on Monday nights and ending at 10:00 pm on Tuesday nights, in Fisher Hall Chapel.
A Futon Built Just the Way You Want It!
- 500+ futon cover fabrics
- 20+ futon frame styles
- 8 grades of futon mattresses
Fits Any Space and Every Budget!

Simmons Futon

A Futon Built Just the Way You Want It!

Timberline Loveseat
Midwest Lounger
The Brunswick
The Lexus

COVER ME with a NEW FUTON COVER!
Prices start at just $29!

FUTON FACTORY
SOFA BY DAY BED BY NIGHT
5632 Grape Road, Mishawaka 219-273-2660

Got news? Call 631-5323.

CAMPUS BRIEFS

- Blood drive:
Arnold Air Society, the service group of the Air Force ROTC, is sponsoring a blood drive today from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Notre Dame Room of the LaFortune Student Center.
The blood drive benefits a 10-year-old girl suffering from a rare form of liver cancer. The girl's parents are both Notre Dame graduates and hope to raise 1000 pints of blood through this drive.

- New employees relations director:
Sarah Misner has been named director of employee relations and development in the human resources department at Notre Dame.
She joined the University in 1996 as manager for training and development in human resources. Her responsibilities have included the research, design and facilitation of training and development programs for managerial and staff employees and faculty.

- New chaired professorship:
A chaired professorship in business ethics will be created at Notre Dame by a bequest in the names of John and Mary Ryan. Ryan was a founding trustee of Notre Dame from 1947 until his death in 1995.

Asian American Association presents:
Asian Allure 99
Saturday, December 4th
Washington Hall
7:30pm
Tickets will be on sale at the door.

Where will YOU be this summer?

Dozens of Internships and Teaching Positions are available in countries including:
Ireland, England, Germany, Chile, Russia, and Estonia with companies including:
Bank of Ireland, First Financial, Honeywell, and Waterford Crystal Limited

Summer 2000 Internships/Schools Information Night

Wednesday, December 1st
7:00PM
Room L050 College of Business Administration

NDSCIBD
Notre Dame Student Council on International Business Development
A student organization promoting "Peace through Commerce"
Football is choreographed savagery

AUSTIN, Texas — Knowing the origins of football explains a lot about its karma. A millennium ago, when camp dogs fought over the ragged edges of an ancient hunterman’s kill, children thrilled by the vicious spectacle would ape the wrestling beasts. As technology progressed, men fashioned balls from the stomachs of pigs and goats, stuffed them with straw or fur and developed games of tune and tumble with them. The most popular games involved fighting for control of the ball and attempting to take it to some goal. Brutality and death were encouraged. This is the pedigree of modern football.

For the most part, however, American football dates to 1906 when rules civilized “killed” the sport. The disastrous college season of 1905 witnessed 18 deaths and 159 crucial injuries on the gridiron. A public uproar ensued and President Theodore Roosevelt himself stepped in to save the game. His defense came as no surprise, since he was elected for his famed soldiering, guano-mining and prowess as a hunter. Despite changes, though, football has always remained — at heart — a blood sport.

According to the National Center for Catastrophic Sports Injury Research, 155 deaths resulted from injuries received playing football in American high schools between 1982 and 1998. That’s about 10 a year. Colleges, being fewer in number, scored 24 field kills during the same time. No single sport save boxing even comes close — not skiing, not motor sports, not even hockey.

If its destruction were limited to the field, arguing football’s relative safety might be a moot point: Let those who play bear the consequences. But, just as the prehistoric children aped wild dogs, inevitably football fans aped the players. We need look no further than this year’s biggest news stories to see how the violence too often goes out of bounds.

Two months ago in Illinois, several “average” boys, probably egged on by the destruction on the field, took it to the stands. Their resulting two-year suspension from school for fighting and “mob action” left millions wondering: Why the double standard? Football not only legitimizes public violence but monopolizes it as well.

When two boys walked into a high school in Columbine, Colo., on a killing bound, how the violence too often goes out of bounds. Didn’t Moses have a low opinion of humanity, that horrid spectacle of the human animal? When two boys walked into a high school in Columbine, Colo., on a killing bound, how the violence too often goes out of bounds. Didn’t Moses have a low opinion of humanity, that horrid spectacle of the human animal? When two boys walked into a high school in Columbine, Colo., on a killing bound, how the violence too often goes out of bounds. Didn’t Moses have a low opinion of humanity, that horrid spectacle of the human animal?
Irish Guard does what it can

We do not seek to shame small fiancées, in fact, we do not wish to yell or push anyone at all. That is why there are four security guards and numerous band assistants who instruct the fans to move. We do not want to risk your safety as well as ours.

By the time the Irish Guard reaches any particular fan, time is running out and that fan must move. It is not a matter of safety for the band. I wish that Mr. Speaker had listened to his Irish Guard member who told her to move before the Irish Guard arrived... but she didn't. I find it very irresponsible of the Irish Guard, because we were simply doing our jobs. By the time the Irish Guard reaches any particular fan, time is running out and that fan must move.

Rick Saxon
Observer
November 26, 1999

Gay alum calls for true human rights

The Catholic Church has often demonstrated the compassion and forgiveness represented by its individuals and its associations. I have no doubt that this is true, but to describe a few: forgiveness and support of priests who sexually abused children, do not agree with or reject the democratic process, and from the Church coffers (the Nov. 23, 1999, edition of The Observer shows them to be prime example of the last).

However, if you are outside of the employ of the Catholic Church or do not agree with or conform to its rules and beliefs you are not afforded the same understanding and acceptance. Worse yet, the Church ignores your views and attempts to suppress your voice.

I finally reached a point in my career when I was a substantial contribution to Notre Dame’s annual fund drive. I had just written the check and only needed a stamp before mailing. That is, until I learned about a recent University controversy.

It appears that Notre Dame’s administration has decided to cancel an ad submitted to The Observer in good conscience. I had just written the check and only needed a stamp before mailing. That is, until I learned about a recent University controversy.

I had just written the check and only needed a stamp before mailing. That is, until I learned about a recent University controversy.

"I finally reached a point in my career when I was a substantial contributor to Notre Dame’s annual fund drive. I had just written the check and only needed a stamp before mailing. That is, until I learned about a recent University controversy."
Most bands try to put out albums once every two years or so. Some bands take even longer, trying to incorporate new sounds and styles into their music. Well, take even longer, trying to incorporate new sounds and styles into their music. Since 1997, the Dave Matthews Band has released four full-length albums. 1996’s Before These Crowded Streets was an excellent studio album, while all the rest were live. By releasing all of these products, it is safe to say the band has now amassed the wealth to buy a few small countries in Europe. But it also shows that the boys have a pretty big commitment to their hardcore fans. The fourth album released in two years is a double-disc, live show from East Rutherford, N.J., entitled Listener Supported.

The first disc is marred by either long renditions of standard DMB songs or under-temped tracks that lose their promise. It starts off with a long, drawn out musical intro. Don’t be fooled though. This intro is merely the two opening chords of “Pantala Naga Pampa.”

The track is great to listen to while on a date — if you wanted your lovely date to know you were the most boring person on earth. Seriously, it is basically a wasted track that begs to be skipped over.

However, it introduces the listener to the guest keyboard player of the show, Butch Taylor. Taylor flexes his musical muscles all over the CD, but his playing only serves as elevator music on the “Intro.”

This leads into the combos of “Pantala Naga Pampa” and “Rapunzel.” By the middle of “Rapunzel” it would not be unusual to find oneself falling asleep. This is such a shame because the song is unique for the band. However, the tempo drops through the entire track. The rare “436” also seems way too slow for its own good.

The band moves on to ostensibly long renditions. This is usually a staple of DMB shows, and, for the most part, is very exciting. However, the jam on “Jimi Thing,” a song hailed by DMB enthusiasts as “epic” and “awesome,” is really neither of these. DMB fanatics also love the song “436,” which is usually passed over by the band at shows. They should keep passing up on it.

Nothing really goes on in this song, the riff repeats over and over and nothing exciting ever really happens. But an obsessive DMB fan will say it is his or her favorite song. Why? Probably because it is thought of as an obscure DMB song and they want to impress people with their knowledge of all the obscure songs.

The first disc is not entirely horrible. “441” is very long, but it is also very good. The band members seem to capture the emotion of the song with their respective instruments. “The Stone” is a driving number that is wicked and beautiful at the same time. Although overplayed to death, “Crash Into Me” is actually a refreshing break from the monotony going on with the rest of the disc. Thank goodness for second chances.

The second disc of “Listener Supported” tries to make up for the sub-par first disc, and almost pulls it off. Mixed on this half of the album are unique versions of standards, three unreleased concert favorites and some covers.

“I too Much” kicks off the disc, and although the song is usually not great, Butch Taylor adds some cool funk keyboard that makes the track worthwhile. He also shows great skill on the 14-minute long “Two Step.” This track also shows the greatness of drummer Carter Beauford, attacking his snare with a vengeance.

“Don’t Drink the Water” and “Stay” are pretty forgettable however. Dave kicks off the encore with a brief tease of the amazing original “441.” The short track is a blessing to obsessive fans. But it will also anger people because it is only played for a minute. Hopefully a full version will make its way to the public soon enough.

The full band has never released two live albums in two years. This is one of the greatest songs ever performed by the band. Tinsley takes over the lead vocal job with his deep soulful voice that highly contrasts with Matthews’ range. The backup singers also do a fine job.

“Long Black Veil,” a song made famous by Johnny Cash, is played near the end of the second disc and might be one of the best covers ever chosen by the band. The mix of reflective music and heart-wrenching lyrics makes the song a winner.

The show ends as the band way too frequently closes shows — with Dylan’s “All Along the Watchtower.” The song is good, but enough already. Do not play this song ever again! DMB is such a great group. They write great shows, make great albums, and put on great shows. But all great groups slip up every now and again, right? This isn’t a horrible CD, but looking at the set-list it could have been a lot better. Some of the jamming on the first disc could have been substituted for an extra song. We don’t always get what we want however.

Album Review

Another DMB live album is just ‘too much’

By GEOFFREY RALIEH

Scene Music Critic

Having released its third live album in two years, Boyd Tinsley (left) and Dave Matthews (right) are planning a May release for the band’s next studio album.

___

Upcoming Concerts

South Bend

- Doc Brown/Transoms
  - Senior Bar: Dec. 1
  - Benchwarmer: Dec. 3
  - The Factory: Dec. 11
  - Madison Oyster: Dec. 17
  - Heartland: Dec. 29

- Umphrey’s McGee
  - Murat Theatre: Dec. 7
  - The Patio: Dec. 10
  - Conseco: Dec. 31

- Ted Nugent
  - Murat Theatre: Dec. 7
  - The Patio: Dec. 10
  - Conseco: Dec. 31

Indianapolis

- Indigo Girls
  - Murat Theatre: Dec. 7

- Umphrey’s McGee
  - The Patio: Dec. 10

- Billy Joel
  - Conseco: Dec. 31

- John Mellencamp
  - Conseco: Dec. 31

Chicago

- Gregg Allman

- Sting
  - Chicago Theatre: Dec. 3-4

- Umphrey’s McGee
  - Father Jimmy’s: Dec. 4

- Collective Soul
  - House of Blues: Dec. 31

- Freddy Jones Band
  - Vic Theatre: Dec. 31

New Releases

Today

- Goodie Mob - World Party
- Guns N’ Roses - Live Era 1987-93
- J-Shin - My Soul, My Life
- Paul McCartney - Working Classical
- Q-Tip - Amplified
- Rakim - The Master
- Sisqou - Unleash the Dragon

December 7

- Sheryl Crow - Live
- Cypress Hill - Los Grandes Exitos En Espanol
- Juvenile - Tha G-Code
- Mandy Moore - So Real
- Marilyn Manson - Marilyn Manson Gift Set
- Methods of Mayhem - Methods of Mayhem
- The Notorious B.I.G. - Born Again
Cardinal stump Irish, 40-37

By BRIAN KESSLER
Sports Editor

PALO ALTO, Calif.
Notre Dame had absolutely nothing to play for Saturday and it showed in the first 88 seconds.

With its bowl hopes dashed and a winning record out of the question, Notre Dame watched Stanford jump to a 14-point lead with a 62-yard bomb to Trojan Walters and a 37-yard fumble return for a touchdown by Aaron Fucht in the opening minute and a half.

It was the culmination of a season in which everything seemed to go wrong. But the Irish put the fight back in their name and played their way back into the game with the Rose Bowl bound Cardinal, only to watch in disappointment as Miki Bisselli's fourth field goal of the game — a 22-yarder — sailed through the uprights as time expired.

"I'm proud of this football team," head coach Bob Davie said following the loss. "To be down 17-0 with the circumstances the way they were and come back shows a tremendous amount of character and that's something we can build on.

The Irish will have to do a lot of building in the offseason after a 5-7 season. It was Notre Dame's first losing season since 1986 and its first seven-loss season since 1963.

The Cardinal were able to throw against the Irish all evening. Todd Husak completed 24-of-34 throws for 334 yards and two touchdowns, including a 38-yarder to Walters.

Walters set the Pac-10 record with 1,456 receiving yards this season, breaking the mark of 1,373 set by USC's Johnny Morton in 1993.

Stanford backup Joe Borcherd was 4-for-4 for 51 yards and also rushed for a score.

The Irish were unable to get pressure on the Cardinal quarterbacks, but that was just one of the problems.

"When you can't cover them, it's hard," Davie said.

Real hard.

Walters had eight catches for 183 yards and DeRonnie Pitts grabbed six for 85 yards.

Still the Irish were able to make a game of it. Tony Fisher had a big day, rushing and receiving. He scored on touchdown runs of one and nine yards and caught a 42-yard pass for a third score.

"Basically once I knew I had the line-backers on me, I knew Jarious was going to throw it to me," Fisher said of the touchdown catch. "Fortunately, I was wide open. No one was covering me and I had an open way to the touchdown.

The sophomore tailback finished with 107 yards rushing on 19 carries and also had a team high three receptions for 68 yards.

Julius Jones had 66 yards on the ground on nine carries and his 24-yard touchdown run gave the Irish a 29-23 lead late in the third quarter. Notre Dame threatened to put more points on the board on its next offensive series, but Jim Sanson's 42-yard field goal was blocked.

"He kicked the ball this high (about three feet off the ground)," Davie said. "But the two plays before that we ran the boot and the tight end Jabari Halloway was wide open in the flat, so one was within 15 yards of him.

We came back on third down and overthrow the curl that's wide open. So we shouldn't have even had to kick the field goal."

Stanford took a 37-29 lead midway through fourth quarter after Walters' second touchdown of the game and Burchard's two-yard scoring run.

With time running out on the Irish, Rocky Boiman recovered a fumble and the Cardinal were back in business.

"I just saw it there," Boiman said. "We were happy to get that fumble recovery. It was big for the team. It helped change the game, but unfortunately we couldn't get a little bit more." Seven plays and 32 yards later, Halloway knelt in the end zone after a five-yard touchdown reception. Joey Getherall scored the two-point conversion on a reverse, but Stanford prevailed after a 1:32 drive that ended with Biselli's game winner.

"I'm encouraged," Davie said. "Down here at the end of the game, down eight and Stanford has the ball, we comeback and we have a chance to win. So there's a lot of positives things." Arnez Battle split time with Jarious Jackson at quarterback.

Jackson completed 9-of-19 passes for 167 yards and two touchdowns in his final game in a Notre Dame uniform. He finished the season with school records in completions (184), attempts (316) and yards passing (2,753).

Battle rushed the ball six times for 21 yards and was 2-for-3 passing for 35 yards.

"I felt comfortable and was just trying to go out there have fun and try to make something happen," he said. "We kind of struggled. I went out there and got the offense going. We were able to score and then Jarious came back in and made some big plays and did a good job."

"I thought he played pretty well," Davie said. "He led us on a touchdown drive and did some good things. That's going to be the huge point for this football team next year."
B- 4

B+ 88

C 3

B+ 27,520

B- 16

C 7

C 1963

2.48

adding up the numbers field goals by Stanford's Mike Biselli, including a game-winning 22-yarder 4 seconds it took Stanford to score 14 points 88

Irish turnovers in the first 7 minutes, 26 seconds of the game 3 empty seats at Stanford Stadium for the game 27,520 losses under Bob Davie — the second most for a third-year Irish head coach 16 consecutive road losses for the Irish 7

last time Notre Dame lost seven games in a season 1963 number of season ending victories for Notre Dame in the past six seasons 0

Stanford kicker Mike Biselli drills the game winning 22-yard field goal as time expires. Biselli made four field goals on the evening and had one blocked.

Irish need to maintain standards

PALO ALTO, Calif. — As Stanford head coach Tyrone Willingham headed off the field after ending his team’s regular season on a positive note, a renowned former Cardinal came up to congratulate him — professional golfer Tiger Woods.

It was an impressive, but it managed to beat Notre Dame.

The regular season schedule included eight bowl teams, including Rose Bowl-bound Stanford and probable Orange Bowl pick Michigan.

Throughout the regular season, the Irish struggled with numerous injuries that weakened positions that were already shallow and experienced. Those injuries became even more serious with losses due to conflicts off the field.

This season also displayed the consistent threat of NCAA sanctions and probation from the Humar incident, which hung over the team like a dark cloud and remains unresolved even after the season ended.

Between all these factors, it seemed like the fabled “Luck of the Irish” disappeared. Eight times this season, Notre Dame played a game down to the wire. Six of those times, things didn’t go its way.

“The one thing I’ve seen from this season,” Davie recollected. “When you turn the ball over, and can’t cover, and give up passes … it doesn’t matter how good you are, you can’t win.”

But the greatest problem that the Irish faced this year, as it has been the case for many years, is the conflict between keeping a football powerhouse intact while maintaining the academic and ethical standards of Notre Dame.

By holding to these standards since the 1930s, the Irish have not only made themselves a household name both on and off the field, but also possibly saved collegiate sports as we know it.

During the scandalous past few years when basketball fixing and football cheating were rampant, the ideal that Notre Dame presented kept big-time college sports intact.

But in today’s overcommercialized collegiate world, where the defending national football champions have a 27 percent graduation rate, some may question whether these objectives are conflicting, but being the head coach under the Golden Dome isn’t the most pressure-filled job in collegiate football for nothing.

The views expressed in this column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.
By KATHLEEN O'BRIEN
Assistant Sports Editor

Just a typical game for the 1999 Fighting Irish football team. Notre Dame headed to the kick-off at Stanford short on numbers, then saw Stanford fall to the 17-10 advantage byturning the ball over and allowing big plays by the opposition.

The Irish then staged a major comeback, leaving the victory hanging in the balance until a last-second field goal by the Cardinal dropped the Irish to 5-7, on the losing end of another close game.

"To be down 17-nothing and come back, I think shows a tremendous amount of character," head coach Bob Davie said. "That's the challenge that I've seen all year long from this football team.

"The other thing I've seen all year is that when you turn the football over," Davie added. "When you can't recover, when you give up big gains and you self-destruct, that's a little bit of a penalty. It doesn't matter how much effort you give, you can't win if you don't win.

Stanford bled the contest wide open in the first two minutes of the first quarter. Stanford scored on the second play of the game with a 62-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Todd Husak to receiver Troy Walters, followed by a 37-yard fumble recovery for a touchdown by Aaron Forch.

The Irish used a depleted roster against the Cardinal. Defensive end Grant Crow, tackle Terrance Howard, left tackle Jordan Black, right tackle John Teasdale and left guard Jim Jones were among the players out with injuries.

Tailback Tony Driver and cornerback Troy Watters, followed by a secondary that makes an appearance in the game. "We came out to this football game, we had nine starters not even on this trip," Davie said. "We've got a lot of injuries. We've got some players that aren't here that should be for different reasons. It's the team's responsibility and obligation that all of our members of the team go through this next season.

Despite the missing players, the Irish clawed their way back to within two at downs in the comeback, highlighting the importance of young players on this year's inexperienced Irish squad.

"A lot of teams would have given up, running out being seventeen down," sophomore quarterback Arnaud Battle said. "But we kept fighting and we came back and had a chance to win the game, but that's the way our luck has gone this season.

The Irish come-from-behind attempt against the Cardinal was one of many this season.

Last week, they were down 31-17 against the Boston College Eagles before fighting back to a 31-29 Irish victory.

A Jim Sanson field goal attempt was blocked in the third quarter, and penalties hurt the Irish late in the contest, echoing the team's season-long woes.

"As players, we've got to do is each individual has got to concentrate on making himself better and whatever is that and however much that takes, that's what needs to happen," sophomore outside linebacker rocky Boiman said.

Stanford linebacker Sharcus Steen drags down Julius Jones during Saturday's 40-37 loss to the Cardinal. Jones rushed 12 times for 100 yards and scored a touchdown for the Fighting Irish, the 3rd best rushing attack in the country.

ESPN/USA Today poll

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Record</th>
<th>Points</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Florida St. (26)</td>
<td>11-0</td>
<td>1,472</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Virginia Tech (3)</td>
<td>10-1</td>
<td>1,384</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nebraska</td>
<td>10-1</td>
<td>1,294</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Michigan</td>
<td>10-2</td>
<td>1,274</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Florida</td>
<td>9-3</td>
<td>1,190</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Texas</td>
<td>8-4</td>
<td>1,186</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Notre Dame</td>
<td>7-4</td>
<td>1,186</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kansas St.</td>
<td>10-1</td>
<td>1,115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alabama</td>
<td>9-2</td>
<td>1,076</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mississippi St.</td>
<td>11-0</td>
<td>1,043</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>UCLA</td>
<td>9-5</td>
<td>1,015</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stanford</td>
<td>9-3</td>
<td>937</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Texas A&amp;M</td>
<td>9-3</td>
<td>879</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Virginia</td>
<td>10-2</td>
<td>832</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Michigan State</td>
<td>8-4</td>
<td>824</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Georgia Tech</td>
<td>9-3</td>
<td>798</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tennessee</td>
<td>9-2</td>
<td>788</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Minnesota</td>
<td>8-4</td>
<td>788</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Missouri</td>
<td>8-6</td>
<td>780</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arizona St.</td>
<td>9-3</td>
<td>633</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penn St.</td>
<td>8-4</td>
<td>633</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penn State</td>
<td>8-4</td>
<td>624</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mississippi St.</td>
<td>8-5</td>
<td>609</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Virginia Tech (5-6)</td>
<td>11-0</td>
<td>1,416</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Florida St. (3)</td>
<td>11-0</td>
<td>1,416</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tennessee</td>
<td>9-2</td>
<td>1,076</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Missouri St.</td>
<td>8-4</td>
<td>1,076</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oregon</td>
<td>11-2</td>
<td>1,043</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Washington</td>
<td>10-2</td>
<td>1,015</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oklahoma</td>
<td>11-0</td>
<td>1,472</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TCU</td>
<td>10-2</td>
<td>1,115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oregon St.</td>
<td>10-2</td>
<td>1,115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>21 Georgia Tech</td>
<td>9-3</td>
<td>798</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>22 Kansas St.</td>
<td>10-1</td>
<td>1,115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>23 Missouri</td>
<td>9-3</td>
<td>824</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>24 Oklahoma</td>
<td>10-2</td>
<td>1,076</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25 BYU</td>
<td>9-2</td>
<td>879</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Season to forget

Notre Dame’s second winless November in the program’s 111-year history closed out the team’s worst season in 26 years. The Irish now have the offseason to reflect on what went wrong and get the team back on track. In the meantime, Notre Dame will await possible punishment for its NCAA violations.
ALBUM REVIEW

Third time is the charm for Rage’s new album

By ROBERT CALLEROS
Scene Music Critic

Rage Against the Machine is back and without a doubt still “calm like a bomb.” Battle of Los Angeles, just its third album in seven years, is the band’s most ambitious and well-produced album yet, and it definitely leaves a deep impact.

Although at times it is not nearly as explosive or fierce as its two previous releases, Rage’s mixture of hip-hop beats and hard metal guitar brings a style and sophistication not seen before. Rage’s latest album is not only music for the ears, but a masterpiece for the mind, body and soul.

Tom Morello and his guitar are one of the most interesting highlights of Battle of Los Angeles. Whether it’s using the guitar as a set of turntables for hip-hop record scratching or conjuring up sounds of a group of bagpipes, Morello’s skill in the instrument and extraordinary creativity produce a sound so fresh he can only be called a genius.

Not to be forgotten or overlooked is Zack de la Rocha, the “anti-west coast rhythm rock-shocker,” who still delivers the aggressive and powerful vocals that have always characterized Rage Against the Machine. His lyrics are at times a bit apocalyptic, as he uses his style of fire and brimstone rapping to call for rebellion and change.

On Battle of Los Angeles, Rage returns with a political agenda more visible and ambitious than on either of the two preceding albums. Pick any song on the album and it is not hard to find a political injustice or see why Rage feels that they are the “Voice of the Voiceless.” It uses the power of music and its position in the music scene to create and use “the weapon of sound above ground,” in hopes of creating public awareness of political injustices.

The “political injustices” of Mumia Abu-Jamal and the EZLN are the most frequent themes, but Rage also makes sure to mention the political wrongdoings of the elite, the system and capitalism. Battle of Los Angeles produces more than a number of calls for rebellion and uprising in hopes of creating change.

“It has to start somewhere. It has to start somehow. What better place than here. What better time than now.”

Overall, this album is a must-have. It delivers all the ferocity and power of an old Rage Against the Machine album, while also coming at the listener with a fresh and unique style. Songs such as “Mic Check,” or “Guerrilla Radio” only begin to exemplify the power of Battle of Los Angeles.

ALBUM REVIEWS

Beck’s new album is a joyride for the senses

By JAMES SCHUYLER
Scene Music Critic

There have been few albums that can be called revolutionary in the ’90s. Sometimes sounds are marketed as new even though they do nothing but rehash old trends.

Beck’s Odelay, however, was a truly revolutionary album. It fused sounds of the ’70s, not merely a throw back to it. Tom Morello’s skill at the instrument and sticks to it, even though that theme has always characterized Rage Against the Machine. His lyrics are at times a bit apocalyptic, as he uses his style of fire and brimstone rapping to call for rebellion and change.

On Battle of Los Angeles, Rage returns with a political agenda more visible and ambitious than on either of the two preceding albums. Pick any song on the album and it is not hard to find a political injustice or see why Rage feels that they are the “Voice of the Voiceless.” It uses the power of music and its position in the music scene to create and use “the weapon of sound above ground,” in hopes of creating public awareness of political injustices.

The “political injustices” of Mumia Abu-Jamal and the EZLN are the most frequent themes, but Rage also makes sure to mention the political wrongdoings of the elite, the system and capitalism. Battle of Los Angeles produces more than a number of calls for rebellion and uprising in hopes of creating change.

“It has to start somewhere. It has to start somehow. What better place than here. What better time than now.”

Overall, this album is a must-have. It delivers all the ferocity and power of an old Rage Against the Machine album, while also coming at the listener with a fresh and unique style. Songs such as “Mic Check,” or “Guerrilla Radio” only begin to exemplify the power of Battle of Los Angeles.

With Midnite Vultures, Beck delivers a party album complete with a ’70s theme and even a falsetto voice reminiscent of Prince.

With Midnite Vultures, Beck delivers a party album complete with a ’70s theme and even a falsetto voice reminiscent of Prince.

Rage Against The Machine comblines political messages with a mixture of hip-hop beats and hard metal guitar on their latest release, Battle of Los Angeles.

By ROBERT CALLEROS
Scene Music Critic

Although at times it is not nearly as explosive or fierce as its two previous releases, Rage’s mixture of hip-hop beats and hard metal guitar brings a style and sophistication not seen before. Rage’s latest album is not only music for the ears, but a masterpiece for the mind, body and soul.

Tom Morello and his guitar are one of the most interesting highlights of Battle of Los Angeles. Whether it’s using the guitar as a set of turntables for hip-hop record scratching or conjuring up sounds of a group of bagpipes, Morello’s skill in the instrument and extraordinary creativity produce a sound so fresh he can only be called a genius.

Not to be forgotten or overlooked is Zack de la Rocha, the “anti-west coast rhythm rock-shocker,” who still delivers the aggressive and powerful vocals that have always characterized Rage Against the Machine. His lyrics are at times a bit apocalyptic, as he uses his style of fire and brimstone rapping to call for rebellion and change.

On Battle of Los Angeles, Rage returns with a political agenda more visible and ambitious than on either of the two preceding albums. Pick any song on the album and it is not hard to find a political injustice or see why Rage feels that they are the “Voice of the Voiceless.” It uses the power of music and its position in the music scene to create and use “the weapon of sound above ground,” in hopes of creating public awareness of political injustices.

The “political injustices” of Mumia Abu-Jamal and the EZLN are the most frequent themes, but Rage also makes sure to mention the political wrongdoings of the elite, the system and capitalism. Battle of Los Angeles produces more than a number of calls for rebellion and uprising in hopes of creating change.

“It has to start somewhere. It has to start somehow. What better place than here. What better time than now.”

Overall, this album is a must-have. It delivers all the ferocity and power of an old Rage Against the Machine album, while also coming at the listener with a fresh and unique style. Songs such as “Mic Check,” or “Guerrilla Radio” only begin to exemplify the power of Battle of Los Angeles.

With Midnite Vultures, Beck delivers a party album complete with a ’70s theme and even a falsetto voice reminiscent of Prince.
MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL

Rose rallies support to earn right to return to baseball

Associated Press

CINCINNATI—Ohio Peter Rose is launching an Internet petition and may sue baseball to end his lifetime ban.

“You can’t keep a guy from making a living,” he said Monday in an interview with The Associated Press. “It’s not the American way.”

Following an investigation of his gambling, baseball’s career hit leader agreed in August 1989 to a lifetime ban from the sport.

He applied for reinstatement in September 1997 and while commissioner Bud Selig has said several times that he has seen no evidence that would make him change the ban, he hasn’t formally responded to Rose.

“If you find in your heart you didn’t want to give me reinstatement, just write back and say ‘No, Rose.’ I know he has stated three times that he has no gambling, baseball’s career may end his lifetime ban. I write back, reinstat.

“Commissioner Bud Selig has said. ‘I haven’t formally responded to Rose, but if you do that, I know the mail is delivered in Milwaukee.’”

Peter Rose
former baseball player

“If you find in your heart you didn’t want to give me reinstatement, just write back and say ‘No, Rose.’ I know he has stated three times that he has no gambling, baseball’s career may end his lifetime ban. I write back, reinstat.

The document Rose signed says, ‘Nothing in this agreement shall be deemed either an admission or a denial by Peter Edward Rose of the allegation that be but on any major league baseball game’ but it also says “Peter Edward Rose acknowledges that the commissioner has a factual basis to impose the penalty provided herein, and by this acceptance he agrees and agrees to forgo that penalty in court or otherwise.”

Selig said he personally had concluded that Rose bet on the Cincinnati Reds, the team he was managing, to win. Rose repeatedly has denied betting on baseball.

Rose said baseball originally proposed he wait 22 years to apply to reinstatement, then cut it to 11 and then to one – the period specified in the Major League Rules.

“Some time ago there was a talk of a specific time period, but it wasn’t 22 years,” according to Vincent.

Rose’s election to baseball’s All-Star Game over the weekend — front and center at Turner Field in Atlanta, was introduced with mention of Commissioner Selig’s decision.

“I announced the commissioner convinced him to do the interview by saying he had ‘inside information’ that would ‘help your case.’”

Gray repeatedly pressed Rose on the possibility of him ever betting on baseball.

“Here was a guy that was looking for a feather in his cap,” Rose said. “She said, ‘The timing was perfect. We’re going to question the reaction was. It was the timing. Said Gray’s NBC on-field partner, Craig Sager, apologized.”

Selig said it was ‘time to announce the Rose investigation.’

Selig said Gray said he is not 22 years,” according to Vincent.

Rose repeatedly has denied betting on baseball.

Rose had died.”

Gray repeatedly pressed Rose on the possibility of him ever betting on baseball.

“Here was a guy that was looking for a feather in his cap,” Rose said. “She said, ‘The timing was perfect. We’re going to question the reaction was. It was the timing. Said Gray’s NBC on-field partner, Craig Sager, apologized.”

Selig said it was ‘time to announce the Rose investigation.’

Selig said Gray said he is not 22 years,” according to Vincent.

Rose repeatedly has denied betting on baseball.

Rose had died.”

Gray repeatedly pressed Rose on the possibility of him ever betting on baseball.

“Here was a guy that was looking for a feather in his cap,” Rose said. “She said, ‘The timing was perfect. We’re going to question the reaction was. It was the timing. Said Gray’s NBC on-field partner, Craig Sager, apologized.”

Selig said it was ‘time to announce the Rose investigation.’
Join your dorm for one night and day in a campus-wide vigil!

Venite Adoremus
O come let us adore Him, Christ the Lord.

Each Advent we invite Jesus to come again into our hearts and into our world.
O come, o come, Emmanuel, God with us...
Let us not be too busy to welcome Him!

Did you ever once wish, maybe as a child, that you could have been there in Bethlehem that night? To welcome Mary and Joseph out of the cold? To adore the newborn King with shepherds and magi?

YOU CAN ADORE THE INFANT JESUS! In Eucharistic Adoration, Jesus is truly present, Body, Blood, Soul, and Divinity in the consecrated Host exposed on the altar. He is present just as He was that night in Bethlehem, only now in even more humble form.

JESUS WAITS FOR YOU. Come and kneel before Him, and spend half an hour with God, who became Man to die for you, and who became Bread to give you life. What an incredible gift, a life filled with the love and Spirit of God himself! During this season of Advent, let us thank the Lord for life, and pray that all life might be cherished and protected. We invite you to pray with us, that all hearts may be transformed.

JOIN YOUR DORM IN KEEPING WATCH ONE NIGHT WITH THE NEWBORN KING!

As a special preparation for Christmas and the Jubilee Year, you are invited to take place in a special campus-wide vigil before the Lord, on the last full day of Eucharistic Adoration this millennium at Notre Dame. Each dorm will be responsible for sending one representative every half hour, beginning MONDAY, NOVEMBER 6 at 11:30pm and ending TUESDAY NOVEMBER 7 at 10:00pm. What an awesome prayer we will lift to the Lord! See your dorm liturgical commissioners to sign up.
Cowher not ready to resign as Steelers head coach

Associated Press

Bill Cowher insists that much like the Pittsburgh Steelers' offense, he isn't going anywhere. But as he dismissed questions about his own status Monday, saying, "I'm planning to be here," Cowher looked over his shoulder as questions about an impending coaching change surrounded him.

Cowher said 37-year-old Mike Tomczak probably will be the starting quarterback of the rest of the season, beginning Thursday in Jacksonville, and hinted that second-year pro Pete Gonzalez, not Stewart, will be the backup.

"To say it's a one-week thing for Mike would be unfair," Cowher said.

Asked of Gonzalez, a Former Pitt star who has played only once in two seasons, is ready to play, Cowher said, "We'll find out." By default, Stewart becomes the highly paid wide receiver the Steelers have sought for years, reprising the "Slash" role of part-time receiver and quarterback he played before becoming a full-time quarterback in 1997.

Injuries to Will Blackwell (sprained foot) and Courtney Hawkins (sprained ankle) left the Steelers with only four receivers, and Cowher said, created the perfect opportunity for Stewart to play, instead of sitting and fretting about his benching.

"With Kordell, there's indecision and a lack of confidence," Cowher said.

"Now, he'll get a chance to run around and release some of that anguish and frustration." Stewart made four touchdown catches in 1995 and 1996, plus another in an AFC championship game, and Cowher said he could have been an excellent receiver if he stayed there full time.

But can Stewart, who has thrown only six touchdowns passes in his last 15 starts, ever regain the confidence at quarterback that helped him lead the Steelers to the AFC title game in 1997?

"I don't know," Cowher said.

"I want to win games. What we're talking about is an individual and I'm looking at the team. Too many guys here have paid the price and worked and sacrificed to worry about one individual," Cowher also said, for the first time. Stewart's $27 million contract will not influence whether he plays, this year or beyond. The Steelers would take a huge hit under the salary cap if they get rid of Stewart.

"I don't look at what a guy makes; when you do that you're not coaching, you're managing, and I want to coach," Cowher said.

Stewart was benched after throwing two costly interceptions, one for a touchdown, as Cincinnati (12-10) quickly opened a 24-3 lead in upsetting the Steelers 27-20 Sunday.

Tomczak replaced him and passed for 264 yards and two touchdowns, albeit against one of the NFL's worst defenses.

Tomczak will go up against a much better defense Thursday at Jacksonville (10-1). The Jaguars can complete their first season series sweep of Pittsburgh.

"But based on what Mike did, it would be foolish from any­body's standpoint to think you should go back to Stewart," Cowher said. "You can't lose sight of salaries and the salary cap, but you also can't lose sight of the accountability you have to your team.

And there are Steelers aplenty for Cowher to blame for a three-game losing streak that is beginning to resemble last year's five-game season-ending slide. Cowher singled out Stewart, the sec­ondary and the offensive line for playing poorly, but said the blame extends directly into his office, too.

"I'm getting paid to coach the players we have and I have to do a better job of it," Cowher said. "We've judged on wins and losses and, right now, we're not getting it done."

Still, Cowher dropped hints he's not comfortable with the current mix of players, suggesting many might spend the rest of the sea­son playing for their jobs.

He repeatedly made references "to the players who are here now."

"We've lost the edge," he said.

"Look at the close games we've played. For six or seven years here, we've won those games, now, for some reason, we've lost.

"But I'm going to turn this thing around. I don't know long it's going to take, but that's what I'm here to do."
HOCKEY

Icers take early 4-0 lead, defeat Vermont

Special to The Observer

The Notre Dame hockey team shook off its first-period struggles by scoring four early goals while sophomore Jeremiah Kimento had a strong outing in his first start in more than a month, as Notre Dame defeated Vermont, 5-1, in Sunday afternoon action at the Conference Classic, held at the University of New Hampshire’s Tsongas Rink.

Notre Dame (5-7-2) — which had managed just four first-period goals in the first 13 games this season — equaled that total in the first 12 minutes versus the Catamounts, with the Irish jumping ahead 3-0 after just seven minutes of play.

Five different Irish players scored goals while 10 had a goal or an assist in the comfortable win. Kimento made 18 saves in his first action since giving up three first-period goals in the 4-2 loss to Ferris State on Oct. 24.

Notre Dame senior center Ben Simon led the way with one goal and two assists while sophomore left wing David Inman and senior defenseman Sean Seyferth each chipped in a goal and an assist. Senior right wing Joe Dusbabek and junior left wing Dan Carlson had the other Irish goals, giving Notre Dame a 2-0 lead just five minutes into the game.

Dusbabek opened the scoring at the 3 minute, 37 second mark. Dusbabek was positioned at the far right side of the crease and slugged the puck by sophomore Tim Peters for his third goal of the season and a quick 1-0 lead.

Carlson struck 70 seconds later, after taking a transition pass near the right boards from freshman right wing John Wrobleski. Carlson then slid a Vermont defenseman with a nifty move before surprising Peters with a rising shot from the top of the right circle for his third goal of the season (4:47).

Seyferth added to the Irish cushion with his fifth career goal and his first since scoring in the 5-2 win at Northern Michigan on Feb. 28, 1998.

Vermont cut the lead to 3-1 with a power-play goal midway through the period.

Just moments later, a pass from Seyferth set up a 2-on-2 rush, with Simon sliding a pass into the slot and Inman quickly beating Peters for his team-leading seventh goal of the season (11:50).

Freshman Shawn Conschafter took over in the Vermont net at the start of the second period, after Peters had allowed four goals in the opening period.

The Irish converted on a 5-on-3 chance midway through the second period, with junior right wing Ryan Dolder making the puck to defenseman Sean Molina. Molina fired a shot towards the left side of the goal and Simon tipped the puck by Conschafter for his third goal of the season, restoring the four-goal cushion (9:37).

Right now, there has never been a better time to be part of Arthur Andersen. Creativity and innovation. Enduring personal and professional relationships. The freedom to build and grow. Credentials that are admired and sought out worldwide. Commitment. And great rewards.

Whether you’re interested in Assurance and Business Advisory Services, Business Consulting, Global Corporate Finance, or Tax and Business Advisory Services, Arthur Andersen offers countless opportunities for making our world a part of yours.

Summer 2000 Internship Informational Session

Wednesday, December 1, 1999

7:00 - 9:00 PM

Center for Continuing Education, Auditorium

Casual Dress

Please bring a current copy of your resume, listing location preference, GPA, & abroad dates.

If you are unable to attend, resumes may be faxed to 312-462-4369

Arthur Andersen LLP is an equal opportunity employer.
Basketball

continued from page 20

scored a game high 25 points and the Irish converted five straight three pointers during one stretch to keep the Irish in the game. Maryland proved to be too much for Notre Dame, however, and finally won the game 72-67. Matt Carroll and Martin Ingelsby each scored 11 points and Jimmy Dillon dished out nine assists, but the Terps’ Juan Dixon and Danny Miller made some clutch free throws to seal the victory.

All five Maryland players scored in double figures, including Lenny Baxter who dominated under the boards. Baxter scored 17 points on 8-of-10 shooting and pulled down 14 rebounds to pace the Terapins.

Notre Dame (3-2) looks to return to its winning ways tonight when they take on intrastate rival Indiana in Bloomington at 8 p.m. Indiana leads the series 43-19.
Irish

continued from page 20
double digits this season. Guards Danielle Green and Niele Ivey each added eight for double digits this season. Unable to make up for its cripple the Irish.

continued from page 20
ting 28 points to lead her from the Irish defense, tallying seven rebounds and
four steals on the game.
The contest marked the first time in 17 years that the squads had met on the court.
Our Dame is back in action
on Wednesday when it takes on Butler in its first regular-season home game of the year.

She scored a lot of her points on transition and we didn't stop her effectively.

Curtain also contributed much to the Illinois' defense, tallying seven rebounds and
four steals on the game.

The contest marked the first
time in 17 years that the squads had met on the court.
Our Dame is back in action
on Wednesday when it takes on Butler in its first regular-season home game of the year.

NCAA BASKETBALL
Second-half run leads
Ohio State to victory

ASSOCIATED PRESS

COLUMBUS, Ohio
Vermont found itself trailing
No. 15 Ohio State by just four with 15 minutes remaining

The Buckeyes hit 26-of-53 shots from the field during Sunday night.

On Wednesday night,
then-Michael Redd finally started to assert himself.

With Redd scoring nine of his 19 points in a 17-2 second-half run, the Buckeyes rolled to a 74-51 victory.

"In the second half when we put our game together, Redd really took over the game," Vermont coach Tom Brennan said. "At that point, they remembered they were Ohio State. And we remembered we were Vermont."

Redd scored the final six of his 24 points from the field in Ohio State's opening loss to Notre Dame and the first half against the Catamounts.

"We needed a win," Redd said. "It didn't matter who it was. It could have been a high school or elementary school team.

Vermont 40-41 hit seven of its first nine shots of the second half to pull within four.

Tony Orciari scoring 10 of the points in the 18-9 surge.

However, Redd scored the next seven points for the Buckeyes, starting the streak with a 3-pointer from the left wing.

"Except for a couple of breakdowns and lapses, we played pretty good defense," Ohio State coach Jim O'Brien said. "I was happy to see Michael break out and be a little more assertive defensively.

The pressure defense by Ohio
State (1-1), playing its first game offensively." Ohio State

assistant coach Lawrence Cunningham will discuss and sign his newly released book
The Liberal Education of Charles Eliot Norton.

Wednesday, December 1
7:00 pm
James Turner will sign copies of his book
The Liberal Education of Charles Eliot Norton.

Wednesday, December 1
7:00 pm
Notre Dame Theology Professor Lawrence

Tuesday, November 30
4:00 - 7:00 pm
Acclaimed Niles artist Nancy Drew will sign copies of her new book
The Artful Spirit: Crafty Hobbies to Gift Wrap Your Life!!

Wednesday, December 1
3:30 - 5:00 pm
Father Hesburgh presents an updated edition of
The Liberal Education of Charles Eliot Norton.

Wednesday, December 1
2:30 pm
Award-winning children's author and illustrator David Small and Sarah Stewart join us to discuss children's books and to sign David's newly released book
The Absecon Spire: Crusty Hobkins in Gift Wrap Your Life!!

Saturday, December 11
2:00 pm
Children's author Sarah Kieran Black joins us for a discussion and book signing of her popular "all ages" titles: An Irish Night Before Christmas, A Leprechaun's
St. Patrick's Day and An Irish Halloween.
Irish win thriller over Nebraska to advance to final four

Lindsey aims in winning kick, Beene makes final save

Observer Staff Report

One hundred fifty minutes of action could not determine a winner. Five penalty kicks could not determine a winner. Only after junior captain Kelly Lindsey scored on the sixth Notre Dame penalty kick of the overtime shootout and senior goalkeeper Lakeysia Beene saved Nebraska's sixth penalty kick could the Irish make their reservations for San Jose and the women's soccer final four.

Lindsey directed most of the credit for the win to Beene.

"Nebraska is a great team and probably deserves to be there just as much as we do but it came down to that last shot and Lakeysia made a great save," Lindsey said. "If it wouldn't have been for me, Coach asked who wanted to take the sixth penalty kick and I threw my hand up without even thinking so I definitely wasn't nervous. I was just glad about it.'"

The 1-1 tie after regulation could not be broken by four sudden death overtime periods of five rounds of penalty kicks.

Even after Lindsey's goal, the Cornhuskers could still continue the longest game in Irish women's soccer history with a goal of their own. But Beene, who made seven saves on the day, stuffed Husker senior Amy Walsh's shot to the lower right corner and the celebration began.

"I saw my team jumping up and down and I thought 'Man, I got to save this."

Lakeysia Beene
Irish goalkeeper

...gave the Irish a 3-2 lead but Benson tied the score of the Huskers on her shot. With the first round of five kicks ending in a draw, the shootout moved to one-shot rounds to determine a winner.

Lindsey scored on the first Irish attempt; Beene stuffed the Huskers and the Irish got ready for the sunny skies of San Jose, Calif., next weekend.

Irish win thriller over Nebraska to advance to final four
FOURTH AND INCHES

TOM KEELLEY

A DEPRAVED NEW WORLD

JEFF BEAM

---

Crossword

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Across</th>
<th>Down</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1. Post Khayyam</td>
<td>1. Wide of the mark</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Naughty you!</td>
<td>2. Accessory</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10. Went for the cup</td>
<td>3. Fox Trot</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15. Place for croissants</td>
<td>6. 20 Tafari (Haile Sellassie)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>16. Mafia bigwig</td>
<td>7. Fox Trot</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>17. Unnatural wear</td>
<td>8. Maybe</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>20. Talk (Heal Sesame)</td>
<td>10. Burglar's accessory</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>22. City on the Arno</td>
<td>12. Fox Trot</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| 23. Burglar's sign | 13. NBC debut of |}

Horoscope

Celebrities born on this day

- Bill Gates to Gordon Liddy
- Mandel, Fanchon; Ted Croll, Bbosco

Happy Birthday: You come up with a concept and make it happen. That's what the year ahead will be like. Avoided discoveries will help you develop your goals to new heights. And your imagination is tuning and turning your ideas into a thing of the past. It's a strongly competitive and a great time to show some mobility.

- Aries (March 21-April 19) | 1. Move it! |
- Taurus (April 20-May 20) | 2. Move it! |
- Gemini (May 21-June 21) | 3. Move it! |
- Cancer (June 22-July 22) | 4. Move it! |
- Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) | 5. Move it! |
- Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) | 6. Move it! |
- Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) | 7. Move it! |
- Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) | 8. Move it! |
- Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) | 9. Move it! |
- Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) | 10. Move it! |
- Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) | 11. Move it! |
- Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) | 12. Move it! |

Birthday Bonus: You can't get enough of anything. You have too much to enjoy and you can teach others in turn as well. You are outgoing and a true original when it comes to helping the underdog. (Read article: Check out Eugenia's Web sites at astroadvice.com, eugenialast.com.)

---

FOOTBALL OR FALL OUT?

HORROR MOVIE

- The Ghost of Losing Seasons Past.

---

Visit The Observer on the web at: http://observer.nd.edu/
SPORTS

MEN’S BASKETBALL

Doherty suffers first two career losses in NIT

By BRIAN KESSLER
Assistant Sports Editor

After leading Notre Dame to its first 3-0 start since 1988, Matt Doherty suffered his first loss as a head coach.

And it hurt. But he wanted it that way.

"It hurts. You can’t go undefeated for your coaching career, but it hurts," he said following Notre Dame’s 76-60 loss to eventual champion Arizona in the semifinals of the Preseason NIT at Madison Square Garden. "I want our guys to hurt a little bit, because I don’t want them to accept this."

While Doherty doesn’t believe in moral victories, it was an accomplishment that the Irish even reached the semifinals. Notre Dame upset then-No. 4 Ohio State and knocked off Siena – two NCAA Tournament teams from a year ago – to advance to the Final Four of the NIT held on Nov. 24-26.

In the semifinals, No. 8 Arizona used its athletic ability and quickness to create turnovers and contest shots.

"I thought the key for us was definitely the ability to challenge shots and keep them off the foul line," Arizona coach Lute Olson said. "He’s been outstanding."

The Irish only got to the line six times and made just three. The Wildcats, on the other hand, were 13-of-19 from the charity stripe.

"One of our goals every game is to get to the foul line and make more shots than they take," Doherty said. "Obviously we didn’t do that and I think that was a factor."

The Irish also struggled from the field. Arizona held Notre Dame to just under 40 percent shooting for the game and a dismal 7-of-27 from beyond the arc.

Arizona’s Loren Woods had a lot to do with that. The junior center was a force in the middle, blocking a school record seven shots and pulling down 10 rebounds.

"Anytime anyone was taking a shot, they had one eye on Loren and one eye on the basket," Doherty said.

"That hurts your shooting percentage." Woods also had 13 points for the Wildcats.

"I thought it was Loren Woods’ best game for us," Olson said. "He’s been out of action for a year and a half, so it’s going to take a little time, but I thought it was far away his best game. You can see how critical he is for us, not only defensively, but also offensively.

Three other Wildcats starters scored in double figures, including Michael Wright who scored a game-high 22 points and had 11 rebounds.

"Michael Wright’s a bull," Doherty said. "It’s a unique mix of toughness and the ability to take a pounding, but also touch to go with it. He’s a big time basketball player."

Freshman Gilbert Arenas had 15 points and Richard Jefferson added 13.

Trey Murphy and David Graves were the lone bright spots for the Irish. Murphy scored 22 points and grabbed 10 rebounds, while Graves added 17 points. The two combined for 40 of the Irish’s 63 field goal attempts and kept the Irish in the game.

"We definitely didn’t play as well as we were capable of," said junior forward Kelley Siemon. "We had some mental lapses on defense and we weren’t scoring in the places we’re usually strong in scoring. We knew we can play better than we did."

Riley started the game off strong, scoring 10 of the first 12 Irish points, giving Notre Dame an early three-point lead.

Coming up with 16 points in 16 minutes, Riley looked as if she was going to dominate on the court. But foul trouble put a stop to her run at the basket.

Riley picked up two quick fouls in the first seven minutes and after earning a third, spent most of the remainder of the first half on the bench.

With Riley sidelined, the Fighting Illini took control of the court and quickly took a 12-point lead, ending the half at 40-28. The Illini never let the Irish back into the game, finishing with a 10-point cushion.

Riley came back into the game during the second half, but fouled out before the end of the game.

"It being early in the season, refs usually tend to call more picky fouls," Siemon said. "As it gets later into the season refs will be easier on Ruth. But we need to be smarter than that and realize the importance of staying in the game."

Riley’s foul trouble is not a new problem for the Irish — in the team’s opening contest against Toledo, the junior spent most of the game on the bench after committing two fouls in the first two minutes. Other Irish players had to step up their game in order to compensate for Riley’s absence and produce a win.

"The team looks to [Ruth] for so much — leadership and scoring — that when she is out of the game we get a little worried," Siemon said.

This time around no Irish players were able to fill the void left by Riley.

Guard Alicia Ratay, who led the squad in scoring in both of the team’s exhibition outings but as well as in the season opener, only came up with nine. This marked the first time the freshman has failed to score in

WOMEN’S BASKETBALL

Riley leads Irish in loss to No. 15 Fighting Illini

By KERRY SMITH
Assistant Sports Editor

Irish center Ruth Riley was the only Notre Dame player that scored in double figures when the No. 15 Fighting Illini upended the seventh-ranked Irish 77-67 on Saturday.

The loss even out Notre Dame’s record at 1-1.

"We definitely didn’t play as well as we were capable of," said junior forward Kelley Siemon. "We had some mental lapses on defense and we weren’t scoring in the places we’re usually strong in scoring. We knew we can play bet-

It gets later into the season refs will be easier on Ruth. But we need to be smarter than that and realize the importance of staying in the game.

The Irish returned to action on Nov. 26 to take on No. 24 Maryland in the consolation game of the Preseason NIT.

The Terps raced out to a 13-2 lead in the first two and half minutes of the game and threatened to blow out the Irish in second half, leading by as many as 18 at one point. Notre Dame, however, battled back and cut the lead to one late in the game, thanks to the strong play of Murphy and sharp clutch three point shooting. Murphy added 17 points. The two combined for 40 of the Irish’s 63 field goal attempts and kept the Irish in the game.

"We definitely didn’t play as well as we were capable of," said junior forward Kelley Siemon. "We had some mental lapses on defense and we weren’t scoring in the places we’re usually strong in scoring. We knew we can play better than we did."

Riley started the game off strong, scoring 10 of the first 12 Irish points, giving Notre Dame an early three-point lead.

Coming up with 16 points in 16 minutes, Riley looked as if she was going to dominate on the court. But foul trouble put a stop to her run at the basket.

Riley picked up two quick fouls in the first seven minutes and after earning a third, spent most of the remainder of the first half on the bench.

With Riley sidelined, the Fighting Illini took control of the court and quickly took a 12-point lead, ending the half at 40-28. The Illini never let the Irish back into the game, finishing with a 10-point cushion.

Riley came back into the game during the second half, but fouled out before the end of the game.

"It being early in the season, refs usually tend to call more picky fouls," Siemon said. "As it gets later into the season refs will be easier on Ruth. But we need to be smarter than that and realize the importance of staying in the game."

Riley’s foul trouble is not a new problem for the Irish — in the team’s opening contest against Toledo, the junior spent most of the game on the bench after committing two fouls in the first two minutes. Other Irish players had to step up their game in order to com-

"The team looks to [Ruth] for so much — leadership and scoring — that when she is out of the game we get a little worried," Siemon said.

This time around no Irish players were able to fill the void left by Riley.

Guard Alicia Ratay, who led the squad in scoring in both of the team’s exhibition outings but as well as in the season opener, only came up with nine. This marked the first time the freshman has failed to score in

SPORTS AT A GLANCE

at Indiana
Today, 7 p.m.

USA Swimming
NCAA Invitational
Thursday, 10 a.m.

vs. Butler
Tomorrow, 7 p.m.

San Jose, Calif.,

vs. Santa Clara
NCAA semifinals
Friday, 6:30 p.m.

Cruising to California
The Notre Dame women's soccer team beat Nebraska Sunday in a shootout. The Irish advanced to the Final Four of the NCAA tournament.

page 18

Tuesday, November 30, 1999