Students Grab 'n' Go with mesh bags

By SARAH BAUM
News Writer

In an effort to make Notre Dame students more environmentally conscious, reusable mesh Grab 'n' Go bags are being sold for one dollar by the student government office.

Junior Kim Howe, who works for the Environmental Agency at Notre Dame, came up with the idea to avoid unnecessary waste from the use of paper bags last year.

Noticing how many people throw away their Grab 'n' Go bags everyday, she went to the Office of the President with the idea for reusable bags.

Student government officials then formed a committee to implement the idea, appointing Kim Walsh, a division head for Social ConcernsVision at the helm. Sophomore Erin Dwyer also worked hard on the project, which is being sponsored by Cavanaugh Hall, the junior and senior classes, the student government office and the environmental office.

In addition, Howe received a $500 grant to get the project going. The bags, which cost the committee two dollars, are being sold for one dollar to cover expenses and to allow the group to donate money to a worthwhile cause.

Walsh said the project has been successful because the bags are easy to use and the mesh can be taken anywhere and can be washed.

"They are convenient and help the environment as well," she said.

Senior Jon Alvarez bought a bag because of his concern for the amount of trash created by the paper bags.

"A lot of paper gets wasted unnecessarily," Alvarez said.

University employees who work in the two Grab 'n' Go locations on campus support the project because the mesh makes it easy for them to check the bags.

The employees also noted an added incentive — students using the bags can take an extra slice for meals with the rest of the pizza a transition year.

While some students cite inconvenience as a reason for not wanting to use the bags, the people involved in the project hope that they will find this to be an important cause.

"The more people do this, the more effective the cause will turn out to be," said Alvarez.

"Grab 'n' Go employee Edna Anspaugh also hopes the reusable bags will catch on.

"Hopefully they will replace them all," she said.

Contact Sarah Baum at Baum.40@nd.edu.

Student bikes across U.S. for justice

By JASON McFARLEY
New Editor

Senior Theresa Ferry this summer participated in a cross-country bike trip that took her and 24 other riders from San Francisco to Washington, D.C. The nine-week trip was part of Bike-Aid, a social education program sponsored by JustAct: Youth Action for Global Education.

By JASON McFARLEY
News Editor

More programming, less promises.

It may become a catch phrase for junior class council members who this year say students should expect more doing than talking from their class government.

"We really want to make junior year meaningful," said Smith, president of the class of 2003. "We want people to know that student government is doing something.

"It's allow ed us to open up a new realm of possibilities," Smith said.

They should expect more events than talk this year.

The council already has planned for campus events this fall.

In conjunction with the campus mass Sept. 21, the council's spiritual committee is organizing a bonfire and s'more roasting.

Now that University officials have signed off on installation of a grill near LaFortune Student Center, council members have planned a late-night barbecue Oct. 12.

On Nov. 8, a karaoke night is scheduled at the Alumni-Senior Club and an acoustic music and coffee house night will be at the Coleman-Morse Center Nov. 9.

The events are made possible by money from the Dollars for Innovative and Creative Entertainment Fund.

An expensive class ball last spring nearly depleted the junior class account and DICE Fund money will allow the council to sponsor the four upcoming events.

"It's allowed us to open up a new realm of possibilities," Smith said.

Council members submitted 10 grant proposals to DICE fund organizers. They received more than $3,000 from the new programming fund started this year by administrators in the Office of Student Affairs and the Student Activities Office.

While other programs aren't set yet, Smith said the council will organize class Masses and possibly a ski trip this year.

Contact Jason McFarley at McFarley.10@nd.edu.

Junior class council plans to act, not talk

Editor's Note: This is part two of a five-part series looking at student government at Notre Dame, including class council and executive offices. All articles will appear every day this week.

By JASON McFARLEY
News Editor

Student bikes across U.S. for justice

By JASON McFARLEY
New Editor

Senior Theresa Ferry this summer participated in a cross-country bike trip that took her and 24 other riders from San Francisco to Washington, D.C. The nine-week trip was part of Bike-Aid, a social education program sponsored by JustAct: Youth Action for Global Education.

The past week has probably been the most difficult so far, but it was meaningful. It's a transition year. The work is getting harder; half your friends are [studying abroad] in other countries," said Matt Smith, president of the class of 2003. "We want people to know that student government is doing something.

"It's allow ed us to open up a new realm of possibilities," Smith said.

They should expect more events than talk this year.

The council already has planned for campus events this fall.

In conjunction with the campus mass Sept. 21, the council's spiritual committee is organizing a bonfire and s'more roasting.

Now that University officials have signed off on installation of a grill near LaFortune Student Center, council members have planned a late-night barbecue Oct. 12.

On Nov. 8, a karaoke night is scheduled at the Alumni-Senior Club and an acoustic music and coffee house night will be at the Coleman-Morse Center Nov. 9.

The events are made possible by money from the Dollars for Innovative and Creative Entertainment Fund.

An expensive class ball last spring nearly depleted the junior class account and DICE Fund money will allow the council to sponsor the four upcoming events.

"It's allowed us to open up a new realm of possibilities," Smith said.

Council members submitted 10 grant proposals to DICE fund organizers. They received more than $3,000 from the new programming fund started this year by administrators in the Office of Student Affairs and the Student Activities Office.

While other programs aren't set yet, Smith said the council will organize class Masses and possibly a ski trip this year.

Contact Jason McFarley at McFarley.10@nd.edu.

Junior class council plans to act, not talk

Editor's Note: This is part two of a five-part series looking at student government at Notre Dame, including class council and executive offices. All articles will appear every day this week.

By JASON McFARLEY
News Editor

More programming, less promises.

It may become a catch phrase for junior class council members who this year say students should expect more doing than talking from their class government.

"We really want to make junior year meaningful," said Smith, president of the class of 2003. "We want people to know that student government is doing something.

"It's allow ed us to open up a new realm of possibilities," Smith said.

They should expect more events than talk this year.

The council already has planned for campus events this fall.

In conjunction with the campus mass Sept. 21, the council's spiritual committee is organizing a bonfire and s'more roasting.

Now that University officials have signed off on installation of a grill near LaFortune Student Center, council members have planned a late-night barbecue Oct. 12.

On Nov. 8, a karaoke night is scheduled at the Alumni-Senior Club and an acoustic music and coffee house night will be at the Coleman-Morse Center Nov. 9.

The events are made possible by money from the Dollars for Innovative and Creative Entertainment Fund.

An expensive class ball last spring nearly depleted the junior class account and DICE Fund money will allow the council to sponsor the four upcoming events.

"It's allowed us to open up a new realm of possibilities," Smith said.

Council members submitted 10 grant proposals to DICE fund organizers. They received more than $3,000 from the new programming fund started this year by administrators in the Office of Student Affairs and the Student Activities Office.

While other programs aren't set yet, Smith said the council will organize class Masses and possibly a ski trip this year.

Contact Jason McFarley at McFarley.10@nd.edu.

Junior class council plans to act, not talk

Editor's Note: This is part two of a five-part series looking at student government at Notre Dame, including class council and executive offices. All articles will appear every day this week.

By JASON McFARLEY
News Editor

More programming, less promises.

It may become a catch phrase for junior class council members who this year say students should expect more doing than talking from their class government.

"We really want to make junior year meaningful," said Smith, president of the class of 2003. "We want people to know that student government is doing something.

"It's allow ed us to open up a new realm of possibilities," Smith said.

They should expect more events than talk this year.

The council already has planned for campus events this fall.

In conjunction with the campus mass Sept. 21, the council's spiritual committee is organizing a bonfire and s'more roasting.

Now that University officials have signed off on installation of a grill near LaFortune Student Center, council members have planned a late-night barbecue Oct. 12.

On Nov. 8, a karaoke night is scheduled at the Alumni-Senior Club and an acoustic music and coffee house night will be at the Coleman-Morse Center Nov. 9.

The events are made possible by money from the Dollars for Innovative and Creative Entertainment Fund.

An expensive class ball last spring nearly depleted the junior class account and DICE Fund money will allow the council to sponsor the four upcoming events.

"It's allowed us to open up a new realm of possibilities," Smith said.

Council members submitted 10 grant proposals to DICE fund organizers. They received more than $3,000 from the new programming fund started this year by administrators in the Office of Student Affairs and the Student Activities Office.

While other programs aren't set yet, Smith said the council will organize class Masses and possibly a ski trip this year.

Contact Jason McFarley at McFarley.10@nd.edu.

Junior class council plans to act, not talk

Editor's Note: This is part two of a five-part series looking at student government at Notre Dame, including class council and executive offices. All articles will appear every day this week.

By JASON McFARLEY
News Editor

More programming, less promises. It may become a catch phrase for junior class council members who this year say students should expect more doing than talking from their class government.

"We really want to make junior year meaningful," said Smith, president of the class of 2003. "We want people to know that student government is doing something.

"It's allow ed us to open up a new realm of possibilities," Smith said.

They should expect more events than talk this year.

The council already has planned for campus events this fall.

In conjunction with the campus mass Sept. 21, the council's spiritual committee is organizing a bonfire and s'more roasting.

Now that University officials have signed off on installation of a grill near LaFortune Student Center, council members have planned a late-night barbecue Oct. 12.

On Nov. 8, a karaoke night is scheduled at the Alumni-Senior Club and an acoustic music and coffee house night will be at the Coleman-Morse Center Nov. 9.

The events are made possible by money from the Dollars for Innovative and Creative Entertainment Fund.

An expensive class ball last spring nearly depleted the junior class account and DICE Fund money will allow the council to sponsor the four upcoming events.

"It's allowed us to open up a new realm of possibilities," Smith said.

Council members submitted 10 grant proposals to DICE fund organizers. They received more than $3,000 from the new programming fund started this year by administrators in the Office of Student Affairs and the Student Activities Office.

While other programs aren't set yet, Smith said the council will organize class Masses and possibly a ski trip this year.

Contact Jason McFarley at McFarley.10@nd.edu.
INSIDE COLUMN

"Smurfing and The Green Horn"

This past weekend, I went to Meijer with two friends. As we were walking in, two of us fell a few steps behind the other. That’s when I noticed it — our friend in front was wearing loose-fitting gym shorts and suddenly I was transported back to middle school.

"Should we do it?" I asked my friend with a cheek to cheek smile.

"Do you want to?" I inquired.

"You mean smurf him?" she responded. "Pull his pants down!"

Although we both laughed at the thought of our friend with his pants down in the Meijer parking lot, all the sudden we were hit with a harsh reality — we were too old.

While the joke would’ve been funny in middle school, and even in high school, as 21-year-olds, it would simply be childish. And stupid. And immature.

I walked into Meijer and was struck with an epiphany — since we returned to school nearly two weeks ago, I’ve been lying to all of my best friends. The Green Horn, one of our most prized possessions since freshman year, was not lying on my floor in Kentucky because I “accidentally” left it there. It was lying on the floor at home because I had pulled it down.

Ok — hold up — let me explain.

The Green Horn is, well, bright green. It is a hollow pipe, that works somewhat like a megaphone. Once you blow into The Horn, a loud, almost indescribable sound comes out.

I would blow The Green Horn out of our windows at Badin and you could clearly hear it at Lakertown and possibly even Carroll.

If you ever heard the horn on campus, you would know. And it probably made you laugh.

One time, a friend from Morrissey Instant Messaged me and asked, “Are you blowing your freaking horn?” I can hear it over here.

Perhaps the time my friends and I laughed the hardest was when a senior, who we simply called “Biter,” knocked on our door: “I know you’re in there. And I know you’re blowing that damn horn.”

It was a prank no one could match. My friends and I loved it, and no matter what kind of mood we were in, it could make us smile.

I returned home at the end of the summer for four short days and had to pack several items for school. Each night I’d see The Green Horn lying beside my bed. “I can’t forget to pack that,” I thought over and over.

Honestly, I thought I did want it here for our final days in the lives of the Golden Dome. But walking into Meijer Saturday afternoon, I realized something — maybe I didn’t.

Now that we were all living off campus, it would not have the same effect as it did in the dorm. I can’t blow The Horn at our neighbors — they’re families, or 20-somethings, or old couples. They may not even react. Just like “smurfing,” The Green Horn doesn’t fit in the grown-up world.

But don’t worry girls — I also realized something else. I’m pretty sure I don’t fit in the grown-up world quite yet either. I have nine more months of school, and perhaps even high school, as a 21-year-old, with my pants down in the middle of a Meijer parking lot.

Laura Rompf
Associate News Editor

QUOTES OF THE WEEK

"Play like a champion that’s what Notre Dame’s all about. Win or lose, our fans act like people we want to represent us."

— Mike Costin, Alumnus on the rally towels

"This was the most ridiculous way I’ve ever picked up my tickets because it completely interrupted my orientation process."

— Jeff Eyerman, Sophomore on buying football tickets

"I love it here. The bathrooms are right across the hall, so having a sink isn’t a problem, but I kind of feel like I stole [study] space from the other students."

— Tim Kelly, transfer student on lack of housing

"It’s just a matter of slowing things down and knowing where everybody’s going to be in order to make sure you a better player."

— Matt LoVecchio, starting quarterback on this season

BEYOND CAMPUS

MIT sues Sony over digital TV licensing

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Massachusetts Institute of Technology has filed a lawsuit that it is suing Sony Electronics, Inc. for manufacturing and selling digital television that use components and technologies patented by the Institute.

In the lawsuit, MIT alleges that “Sony has directly infringed upon the patents in question by manufacturing, selling, and/or offering to sell the said digital systems and components.”

“MIT has a large part of patents related to digital television,” said Technology Licensing Office Director Lisa Nelsen.

According to the MIT Technology Licensing Office’s Web site, MIT owns 18 U.S. Patents relating to digital television. Four of these, which expire in 2006, are named in the lawsuit.

"We believe that a rather large number of companies that are making digital television or components of digital television will be or are operating under the claims of our patents," Nelsen said.

Mack Araki, a representative of Sony, said the corporation would not discuss the pending litigation.

“We have offered license for these patents to the companies... about five companies have signed up for licenses," Nelsen said, “and we are contacting others.”

Donald N. Kaiser, Associate Technology Licensing Officer, said that MIT has license agreements with such companies as Toshiba, Samsung and Sharp.

“We have been in correspondence with Sony for a long number of months— more than a year — and they have not yet indicated a willingness to negotiate for license to the patents, although we sincerely hope they will,” Nelsen said.

Laura Rompf
Associate News Editor

UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI

MU number one in gaining federal grants

COLUMBIA, Mo.

Growing by almost 57 percent in federal grants received during the years of 1996 to 1999, the University of Missouri-Marquardt itself 11 places in the American Association of Universities’ ranking, according to the National Science Foundation. Fiftyseven percent was the highest growth rate among the 61 AAU schools, more than doubling the 25 percent average. AAU, founded in 1990 by 14 universities offering doctoral degrees, consists of 61 American research universities and two Canadian universities. MU also had the top growth rate for a single year during the period. William Kurzt, professor of forestry and agricultural economics, is someone who benefited from federal funds. Kurtz said he is working with the University of Tennessee-Knoxville and Missouri University and two Canadian universities. MU also had the top growth rate for a single year during the period. Kurtz also was allotted for a research study about the preservation of the Central Hardwood Region.

Laura Rompf
Associate News Editor

LOCAL WEATHER

5 Day South Bend Forecast

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Forecast</th>
<th>Temp.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Wednesday</td>
<td>70-55</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thursday</td>
<td>78-58</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Friday</td>
<td>78-56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saturday</td>
<td>73-53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sunday</td>
<td>77-54</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The AccuWeather forecast for noon, Tuesday, Sept. 4.

NATIONAL WEATHER

The AccuWeather forecast for noon, Tuesday, Sept. 4. Links separate high temperature by the day.

Madison high in same sex couples

MADISON, Wis.

U.S. Census data reveals Dane County is sixth in the nation in the number of same-sex couples living together. The report suggests huge increases in same-sex couples around the country in the past 10 years, which does not surprise Madison’s gay community. Brian Juehne, director of the Lesbian Gay Bisexual Transgender Campus Center, said more people were encouraged to complete the census this time.

Statistics show 1.5 percent of all couples living together in Dane County are same-sex couples, which is one from every 67 households. As reported in The Capital Times, Dan Ross and Charlie Squires, same-sex partners for nine years, recognize that Madison is at the top of the list. "Gay and lesbian people are everywhere, but not just in the big cities," Ross said. "Why these numbers show how that is part of the American family," said David Smith, communications director for the Human Rights Campaign, a homose­xual civil-rights lobbying group.

Laura Rompf
Associate News Editor

Corrections/Clarifications

In the Sept. 3 edition of The Observer, a picture of the band Not Your Average была published incorrectly as the head Right Field Side.

Also in the Sept. 3, edition on page 18 the men’s soccer oppo­nent was Villanova, not Providence as the caption stated.

The Observer aims for accuracy at all times. If you have noticed a mistake, please call us at 631-4541.

The Observer reserves for accuracy at all times. If you have noticed a mistake, please call us at 631-4541.
BOG will address academic freedom with ACLU speaker

By MARY CAMPE
News Writer

As students were settling into class and learning their new schedules, one Saint Mary's student began her new semester trying to reach out to the Saint Mary's/Notre Dame campus community. She is attempting to reach others around the world who may be unaware of this concern. The petition will come to an end Sept. 30, and Pax Christi will present the total signatures and concerns to the United Nations in New York on United Nations Day in October.

Paulick first became aware of this issue and petition this summer when a friend sent her mother the petition and information about it. "It really interested me and something I knew about," said Paulick. "They (civilians) cannot buy anything nor sell anything outside of their country.

Paulick also said that citizens cannot get the proper medications or resources to function, causing deaths and illness.

Paulick first became aware of this issue and will present the petition this summer when a friend sent her mother the petition and information about it. "It really interested me and something I knew about," said Paulick. "They (civilians) cannot buy anything nor sell anything outside of their country."

"Imagine these sanctions being put as a freezing on their economy," said Paulick. "This is a simple act of faith for the civilians being targeted in Iraq."

Maria Pilar Paulick
senior

"This is a simple act of faith for the civilians being targeted in Iraq," said Paulick. Currently, Paulick has 45 signatures and hopes to get as many more people to sign before her Sept. 30 deadline. She has the petition hanging outside of her room in Holy Cross Hall and also brings it with her class.

Paulick wishes to include the rest of the Saint Mary's/Notre Dame community, but due to time, she finds it hard to reach out past Saint Mary's campus.

Contact Mary Campa at Camp9575@saintmarys.edu.

Sanctions spur petition

By SHANNON LYNNE NELLIGAN

"Imagine these sanctions being put as a freezing on their economy," said Paulick. "This is a simple act of faith for the civilians being targeted in Iraq."

"This is a simple act of faith for the civilians being targeted in Iraq," said Paulick. Currently, Paulick has 45 signatures and hopes to get as many more people to sign before her Sept. 30 deadline. She has the petition hanging outside of her room in Holy Cross Hall and also brings it with her class.

Paulick wishes to include the rest of the Saint Mary's/Notre Dame community, but due to time, she finds it hard to reach out past Saint Mary's campus.

Contact Mary Campa at Camp9575@saintmarys.edu.

Bed & Breakfast Rooms

3 clean, warmly decorated bedrooms with shared bath. Near Notre Dame (10 miles) in quiet family neighborhood. Full breakfast provided

219-674-8713
800-240-3336 (01)

ACUPULCO OR CANCUN FOR THE WEEKEND?

No problem if you study during the week but need to relax over the weekend. The Observer's "CAMPUS NEWS" now features "Notre Dame Tickets Seasons Wanted". Preferred Tickets

234-5650

Notre Dame Tickets Seasons Wanted

INDIVIDUAL GAMES Preferred Tickets

234-5650

BOG will address academic freedom with ACLU speaker

By SHANNON LYNNE NELLIGAN
News Writer

In response to last year's debate surrounding academic freedom, the Saint Mary's Board of Governance (BOG) discussed an upcoming center in which it feels clarification of academic freedom should be reached.

The symposium titled "Academic Freedom: Is There A Line?" will be held Sept. 19 in Carroll Auditorium. The keynote speaker will be American Civil Liberties Union attorney and Saint Mary's alumna, Barbara O'Toole. According to Student Body President, Michelle Nagle, this will allow for a clarification of what "right" belongs in the classroom.

The BOG will also be a panel contributing to discussion and responding to questions relating to O'Toole's address. This will include professors Gail Mantell, Tom Bonnell and Dorothy Feigl, along with Nagle representing the student body.

The Board also discussed the continued use of mass e-mails for purposes other than educational pursuit.

"Until last year we (SMC students) didn't know the right existed .... Students are now saying it's our right and we can't take it away," said Nagle. However, technology Commissioner, Elizabeth Cusick, and BOG want to move toward an e-mail policy limiting e-mail messages.

"This is the first observation of CP violation outside of the system of K mesons and it agrees with the expectations based on the Standard Model. These findings represent the largest direct evidence to date for nature favoring the existence of matter over antimatter. Future studies at these B factories are expected to shed further light on the underlying forces."

"This should encourage others to get involved in the high energy world. The billion year old mystery that had been created was not obliterated by the equal amount of antimatter also generated."

Two "B factories" — facilities that accelerate electrons and positrons, make them collide head-on and analyze the resulting production and decay of B and anti-B mesons — were built to study these phenomena. One is located at the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center (SLAC) in California and is operated by an international collaboration of scientists, including Lohsecke, known as the BaBar group. The other B factory is located at the Japanese National Laboratory for High Energy Accelerator Research (KEK) and is operated by a group known as BELLE.

In July, the BaBar collaboration submitted a paper for publication showing the observation of a large CP violation in the decays of neutral B mesons as predicted by Bigi, Sanda and Carter in 1981. Two weeks later the BELLE collaboration published very similar findings.

This is the first observation of CP violation outside the Standard Model of the fundamental forces of nature. In a paper published in 1981, Bigi, Anthony Ichiro Snda and Ashton Carter pointed out that certain decay modes for so-called B mesons, which are 10 times heavier than K mesons, would have to show large CP asymmetries, if the Standard Model was correct.

"This should encourage others to get involved in the high energy world. The billion year old mystery that had been created was not obliterated by the equal amount of antimatter also generated."

"This should encourage others to get involved in the high energy world. The billion year old mystery that had been created was not obliterated by the equal amount of antimatter also generated."

ACUPULCO OR CANCUN FOR THE WEEKEND?

No problem if you study during the week but need to relax over the weekend. Contact Shannon Lynne Nelligan at 219-674-8713.

ACUPULCO OR CANCUN FOR THE WEEKEND?

No problem if you study during the week but need to relax over the weekend. Contact Shannon Lynne Nelligan at 219-674-8713.
Bike Trip
continued from page 1
by the rolling hills here. The one aspect Bike-Aid has tried to learn the most about in Kansas is farming. We met with a few farmers in towns we've stayed at the past four nights and learned the farmers are making far less than the price they pay to grow and harvest their crops.

July 31: Effingham, Ill.
Last Tuesday Bike-Aid met up with a group of 10 men called Hate Busters in Kansas City, and we rode together across Missouri for five days to St. Louis. Hate Busters is a group of people from different religious, ethnic and economic backgrounds that respond to hate crimes around the United States by getting immediate media coverage on the oppressor. We are leaving Illinois and heading to Terre Haute, Indiana, tomorrow. Although I am going to be a ways south of campus, HELLO NOTRE DAME!

... only about 450 miles away from Washington, D.C. I feel like we flew from St. Louis, through Illinois, southern Indiana and southern Ohio. On Aug. 19 we all arrive in Washington on the Capitol steps around noon for a celebration. The following day we meet with our state representatives for lobbying, and that Tuesday we all depart.

"The trip went very fast," Ferry said about a week after the finishing the ride. "Honestly, I didn't get bored or wish it was over. When it got down to the last two weeks, I just wanted things to stand still."

The trip took Ferry through 11 states and included a major service component. Riders helped prepare a community center in Virginia, built a deck at a Cincinnati art center and worked with environmental groups.

Bike-Aid participants were to raise $3,600. Ferry said she raised about $3,900.

While she said riding cross country made her more conscious of environmental issues such as air pollution, Ferry has also gained a fresh perspective on life.

"Take life slowly. Really absorb your surroundings," she said. "In school, we're all so busy with everything. That's just the stage we're at. "

"I want to learn to enjoy every day, enjoy people I'm around, enjoy the surrounding and just relax," she said.

Contact Jason McFarley at McFarley.1@nd.edu.

Above: Theresa Ferry biked with 24 other riders in support of global justice. Right: Ferry smiles during her cross country bike trip that lasted nine weeks.

SENIOR CLASS
CLASS DINNER $1
ALL YOU CAN EAT
TACO BELL!!!
OUTSIDE SENIOR ALUMNI CLUB
WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 5, 7:30 P.M.

ACUPULCO OR CANCEUN FOR THE WEEKEND?
No problem if you study during the week at Notre Dame's International Study Program in PUEBLA, MEXICO
INFORMATION SESSIONS
Wednesday, September 5, 2001
Thursday, September 20, 2001
5:00 PM
217 DeBartolo
APPLICATION DEADLINES: OCT. 1, 2001 FOR SPRING 2002
DEC. 1, 2001 FOR FAL 2002
APPLICATIONS AVAILABLE: www.nd.edu/~inisstu
Physics taught in the fall semester for Pre-Professional Students

THEY ANSWERED THE CALL

2002 Ordination Class
HOW ABOUT YOU?
www.nd.edu/~vocation
WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

Castro visits Brazil's capital: Fidel Castro made a surprise visit to the capital on Monday, stopping to discuss proposed cooperation agreements between Brazil and Cuba on his way home from a racism conference in South Africa. Castro met with President Fernando Henrique Cardoso's secretary general, Antonio Navarro Tomé, to discuss cooperation agreements in education, health, science and fighting poverty.

Jerusalem blasts kill 2: Four bombs exploded on the streets of Jerusalem early Monday, and Israel responded with a helicopter strike that sent missiles through the roof of a Palestinian security building in the West Bank. Two Palestinians were killed and at least 20 were wounded, while at least six Israelis were hurt.

NATIONAL NEWS BRIEFS

Battle of the Bulge vets honored: Fifty-seven years after helping stop Hitler's fierce attempt to push the Allies out of Europe, front-line troops who faced the brunt of the Nazi counterattack at the Battle of the Bulge were honored Monday for their bravery. Veterans of the 9th Armored Division's Combat Command A received the Presidential Unit Citation for stalling Hitler's all-or-nothing surprise attack through the frozen Ardennes forest.

Cuban immigrants come ashore: Fifty-two Cuban immigrants who said they each paid smugglers $8,000 came ashore in southern Florida over the holiday weekend and were taken into custody by U.S. Border Patrol agents. No smugglers or vessels were in custody from either group, the border patrol said.

SEYCHELLES

Seychelles' closest election declared winner: Scores of rival political supporters clashed Monday, hours after incumbent President France Albert Rene was declared winner of Seychelles' closest election since independence 25 years ago, police said. Supporters from Rene's ruling Seychelles People's Progressive Front and the opposition Seychelles National Party threw bottles at each other in at least two districts of Mahe, the main island of this Indian Ocean archipelago, while his closest challenger, Wavel Ramkalawan gained 45 percent. A third candidate, Philip Boullé, a lawyer, who ran as an independent, received the remaining votes.

Electoral Commissioner Hendrick Gappy announced the results early Monday, hours after three days of voting ended Sunday. Ramkalawan, a 40-year-old Anglican priest, disputed the result and accused Rene's ruling Seychelles People's Progressive Front of bribing and intimidating voters. Ramkalawan, leader of the Seychelles National Party, also said people under 18 had been allowed to vote.

Incumbent Rene wins new term

Researchers create human blood cells

For the first time, researchers have used embryonic stem cells to produce human blood cells, a step that could lead to a new source of cells for transfusion and other therapies.

Embryonic stem cells are the basic building blocks for the 260 or so cell types in the body. During development, stem cells transform into heart, muscle, brain, skin or other tissue.

Researchers hope that by guiding this transformation in the laboratory, they can coax stem cells to make new cells that could be used to treat diabetes, Parkinson's disease, heart disease or other disorders.

While development of these cells holds promise for the future, Kaufman stressed that it will take years before they can be developed to the point of use in people. "I don't want to raise any false hope," he said.

In addition, embryonic stem cells have become the focus of debate because they are derived from blastocysts, one of the earliest stages of human embryos before they become implanted. Opponents of the research argue that it destroys a human life.
NOTRE DAME

ACTIVITIES NIGHT
2001

TONIGHT!
7:00 PM - 9:00 PM
JOYCE CENTER FIELDHOUSE

ENTER THROUGH GATE 3

FOR A LISTING OF PARTICIPATING GROUPS,
VISIT www.nd.edu/~sao/am

FOR MORE INFORMATION, VISIT:
www.nd.edu/~sao/an/
Campground owner shot, killed by federal agent

SHOOTING ENDS
4-DAY STANDOFF IN NEARBY MICH. TOWN

A campground owner facing drug and weapons charges was fatally shot at by an FBI agent Monday night after a four-day standoff, authorities said.

Grover T. Crosslin, 47, was shot and killed after he walked out of a building with a rifle and pointed it at the agent. Cass County Sheriff Joseph Underwood Jr. said in a news release Monday night.

The FBI did not immediately return calls for comment.

Crosslin became agitated after authorities brought a phone to him in an attempt to begin negotiations. Underwood said. Crosslin asked to speak with a third party, and when authorities denied the request, he began making threatening remarks and gestures, the sheriff said.

Crosslin left the building with another man and began walking around outside the building with his weapon.

Crosslin "approached an area where an FBI observer had been stationed, and upon seeing the FBI observer, Crosslin immediately raised the weapon to shoulder height and pointed it directly at the agent," Underwood said.

The FBI agent shot Crosslin once, the sheriff said.

A judge had signed a warrant Monday charging Crosslin with attempted destruction of an aircraft and using a firearm in a felony, FBI Special Agent Dawn Glenney said.

Authorities alleged Crosslin, who owns the southwest Michigan campground called Rainbow Farm, shot a news helicopter from WNDU-TV in nearby South Bend, Ind., as it flew overhead Friday. Shots also were fired at an unmarked state police plane Saturday but missed, police said. Both aircraft landed safely without injuries.

The situation began Friday when deputies went to the farm after authorities brought a phone to him in an attempt to begin negotiations. Underwood said.

The FBI agent shot Crosslin once, the sheriff said.

A judge had signed a warrant Monday charging Crosslin with attempted destruction of an aircraft and using a firearm in a felony, FBI Special Agent Dawn Glenney said.

Authorities alleged Crosslin, who owns the southwest Michigan campground called Rainbow Farm, shot a news helicopter from WNDU-TV in nearby South Bend, Ind., as it flew overhead Friday. Shots also were fired at an unmarked state police plane Saturday but missed, police said. Both aircraft landed safely without injuries.

The situation began Friday when deputies went to the farm after authorities brought a phone to him in an attempt to begin negotiations. Underwood said.

Deputies said they believe Crosslin was upset about a bond revocation hearing scheduled for Friday. It was set because police believed he was violating the terms of his release on bond on previous drug and weapon charges. A bench warrant was issued for his arrest when he didn't show up at the hearing.

Authorities arrested Crosslin and five others in May after a two-year investigation into allegations of marijuana use at the 34-acre campground, Underwood said.

Crosslin was charged with felony possession of a firearm, growing marijuana and maintaining a drug house.

A court order issued in June prohibited Crosslin from having festival gatherings at the farm, whose Web site says it "supports the medical, spiritual and responsible recreational uses of marijuana for a more sane and compassionate America." Police allege he violated the order by holding a festival August 17-18, which prompted the bond hearing.

About a mile away from the campground, about a half-dozen people displayed placards in support of Crosslin and Rainbow Farm.

Crosslin's attorney, Dori Leo, said her client was upset because a child he helped raise has been taken from the home he shares with a friend.

The boy was placed in foster care about a month or two ago after Crosslin and the friend, Rolland Rohm, were charged with the drug counts. Leo told the South Bend Tribune.

Associated Press

Campground owner shot, killed by federal agent
Take a Break for Christian Fellowship, Music & Prayer

InterFaith Christian Night Prayer

Every Wednesday Night
10 p.m. • Morrissey Hall Chapel
featuring the Celebration Choir

807
BEGINS THIS FRIDAY, Sept. 7th
Fridays @ 8:00 pm
Student Lounge
Coleman-Morse Center

Meet up with Friends for Mass and stay afterward for popcorn and conversation.

...a great new way to kickoff the weekend.

— The Way
Catholic Bible Study
led by Fr. J. Steele, CSC

Beginning next Monday
8:30 p.m. • Rm 331, Coleman-Morse Center

— The Way

Interested in becoming Catholic?

RCIA Info Session for Candidates
Sunday, Sept. 9
1:00 p.m. – 2:00 p.m.
330 Coleman-Morse Center

Or sponsoring someone who does?

RCIA Info Session for Sponsors
Sunday, Sept. 9
2:00 p.m. – 3:00 p.m.
330 Coleman-Morse Center

For more info contact: Tami Schmitz
Schmitz.8@nd.edu or 1-3016

— The Way

with Father J.

HOW IS IT THAT CATHOLICS HAVE A PERSONAL RELATIONSHIP WITH CHRIST?

There is a common misperception that Catholicism, with its ritual and many formal prayers, has a mechanical or impersonal spirituality. Even many Catholics raised in the practices of their faith share this perception and have not yet crossed over into an adult Christian faith which can not be anything other than personal.

One way to understand how a ritual like the mass can become personal is to liken it to a mother’s Day card. Anyone who really loves their mother will try to get her a card on time. Almost all Mother’s day cards say the same things. Even the notes we add to make them more personal do not vary greatly. What makes the card personal is not so much what it says, but the personal relationship that it reflects and gives thanks for. In much the same way the mass becomes personal because it reflects and gives expression to the personal relationship which we already have with Christ.

When we are well prepared to pray the mass, we have reflected on the past week and the week to come. We bring before the Lord the anxieties, the hopes, and the situations of our lives, the joys, the difficulties. Then we allow the Lord to speak to the situation of our lives through the readings, the prayers, the silences, the music, and his presence in all these things and especially in the Eucharist. If we speak to the Lord of our lives, he will surely speak to us of his.

The foundation of our faith as adult Christians is our personal encounter with the Lord in prayer. As we begin the new year, take advantage of the many opportunities to get to know the Lord, whether at the Grotto, your dorm chapel, your room or a walk around the lake.

Welcome (or welcome back) to campus. May this be a year of grace and favor from the Lord.

Fr. J. Steele, CSC welcomes your questions and comments for future The Way columns. Email him at ministry.1@nd.edu

— The Way

This Week in Campus Ministry

9/04 today
Activities Night
7:00 p.m. - 10:00 p.m.
Joyce Center

9/05 Wednesday
Catechist Info Session
5:00-6:00 p.m.
330 Coleman-Morse Center

Interfaith Christian Night Prayer
10:00 p.m.
Morrissey Hall Chapel

9/06 Thursday
Pachanga '01
6:30 p.m.
LaFortune Ballroom

9/07 Friday
Freshmen Intro "The Plunge" Retreat
Fatima Retreat Center

807 Mass
8:00 p.m.
Lounge, Coleman-Morse Center

9/09 Sunday
RCIA Information Session
for Candidates
1:00 p.m.
for Sponsors
2:00 p.m.
330 Coleman-Morse Center

Eucharistic Ministry Workshop #1
2:00 pm
Basilica of the Sacred Heart

Lector Workshop #1
8:15 pm
Basilica of the Sacred Heart

Signups

Freshman Retreat #36
(September 28-29)
Tuesday, August 28
through September 24
114 Coleman Morse Center

Notre Dame Encounter Retreat #67
(September 28-30)
Monday-Friday, September 3, 7
114 Coleman Morse Center

Campus Ministry
631-7800
email: ministry.1@nd.edu
web: www.nd.edu/~ministry
Congo

Annan meets with Congo rebels to discuss peace plans

Associated Press

Annan met Monday with rebels who control this strategic river port, later expressing optimism about a peace process aimed at ending the country's three-year civil war.

"I think we've had a very constructive discussion," he said following a meeting with Adolphe Ona Nabuma, head of the Rwandan-backed Congolese Rally for Democracy, or RCD, at a U.N. peacekeeper base.

The U.N. mission in this vast Central African nation was created to monitor a cease-fire between the government and civilians to begin Oct. 15 in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

Annan was in the capital, Kinshasa, on Saturday, where he spoke with President Joseph Kabila. From here, he was to travel to Kisangani, the capital of neighboring Rwanda.

Rwandans and Ugandans have repeatedly called for explicit apologies in one form or another. Two paragraphs calling for such reparations have been made to better the racial climate, nothing as been done to compensate those who were deprived of their liberty and property, including the United States, "has historically been deplorable, and while steps have been taken to compensate those who have been wronged we are not there yet." said Mike Estrada, a spokesman for Nellis Air Force Base, where the jet took off.

The crash occurred in a scenic but remote area near Interstate 15. Several motorists traveling on the highway said they witnessed at least three fighter jets flying around the contours of a canyon where the jet crashed.

Neither the pilot nor the downed jet are based at Nellis. Estrada said the pilot was participating in a training exercise, but he did not immediately know where the jet was based or where he was headed.

Civilian firefighters responded to the crash site, where about 10 acres were burning.

Air Force fighter jet crashes, pilot escapes

Associated Press

LAS VEGAS

A fighter jet crashed during a training exercise Monday, about 100 miles northeast of Las Vegas.

The pilot of the A-10 Warthog Thunderbolt II ejected just before the jet crashed into a mountain in the Arizona's Virgin River Gorge, said Mike Estrada, a spokesman for Nellis Air Force Base, where the jet took off.

The crash occurred in a scenic but remote area near Interstate 15. Several motorists traveling on the highway said they witnessed at least three fighter jets flying around the contours of a canyon before spotting smoke and flames coming from the crash site.

Neither the pilot nor the downed jet are based at Nellis. Estrada said the pilot was participating in a training exercise, but he did not immediately know where the pilot was based or where he was headed.

Civilian firefighters responded to the crash site, where about 10 acres were burning.

Fellowship Office in room 99 O'Shaughnessy

Attention Fulbright Applicants:

Students applying for the 2002-2003 Fulbright Scholarship competition should attend a meeting to learn the process for applying through the campus committee.

Thursday, September 6th

4:00 pm

room 117, Haggar Hall

If you are unable to attend this meeting, information may be obtained at the Fellowship Office in room 99 O'Shaughnessy.

OFF-CAMPUS SENATOR VACANCY!

If anyone is interested in running for this position, please email the Student Government Vice-president for Elections at McCarty.112@nd.edu by Wednesday, September 5, at 5p.m.

No additional candidates will be accepted after this time.

*Any undergraduate students interested in the position must reside off-campus for the entire 2001-2002 academic year.

Congo

Annan

UN Secretary-General Kofi Annan meets with Congo rebels to discuss peace plans

Associated Press

KISANGANI

Annan met Monday with rebels who control this strategic river port, later expressing optimism about a peace process aimed at ending the country's three-year civil war.

"I think we've had a very constructive discussion," he said following a meeting with Adolphe Ona Nabuma, head of the Rwandan-backed Congolese Rally for Democracy, or RCD, at a U.N. peacekeeper base.

The U.N. mission in this vast Central African nation was created to monitor a cease-fire between the government and civilians to begin Oct. 15 in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

Annan was in the capital, Kinshasa, on Saturday, where he spoke with President Joseph Kabila. From here, he was to travel to Kisangani, the capital of neighboring Rwanda.

Rwandans and Ugandans have repeatedly called for explicit apologies in one form or another. Two paragraphs calling for such reparations have been made to better the racial climate, nothing as been done to compensate those who were deprived of their liberty and property, including the United States, "has historically been deplorable, and while steps have been taken to compensate those who have been wronged we are not there yet." said Mike Estrada, a spokesman for Nellis Air Force Base, where the jet took off.

The crash occurred in a scenic but remote area near Interstate 15. Several motorists traveling on the highway said they witnessed at least three fighter jets flying around the contours of a canyon where the jet crashed.

Neither the pilot nor the downed jet are based at Nellis. Estrada said the pilot was participating in a training exercise, but he did not immediately know where the pilot was based or where he was headed.

Civilian firefighters responded to the crash site, where about 10 acres were burning.

Fellowship Office in room 99 O'Shaughnessy

Attention Fulbright Applicants:

Students applying for the 2002-2003 Fulbright Scholarship competition should attend a meeting to learn the process for applying through the campus committee.

Thursday, September 6th

4:00 pm

room 117, Haggar Hall

If you are unable to attend this meeting, information may be obtained at the Fellowship Office in room 99 O'Shaughnessy.

OFF-CAMPUS SENATOR VACANCY!

If anyone is interested in running for this position, please email the Student Government Vice-president for Elections at McCarty.112@nd.edu by Wednesday, September 5, at 5p.m.

No additional candidates will be accepted after this time.

*Any undergraduate students interested in the position must reside off-campus for the entire 2001-2002 academic year.

Congo

Annan

UN Secretary-General Kofi Annan meets with Congo rebels to discuss peace plans

Associated Press

KISANGANI

Annan met Monday with rebels who control this strategic river port, later expressing optimism about a peace process aimed at ending the country's three-year civil war.

"I think we've had a very constructive discussion," he said following a meeting with Adolphe Ona Nabuma, head of the Rwandan-backed Congolese Rally for Democracy, or RCD, at a U.N. peacekeeper base.

The U.N. mission in this vast Central African nation was created to monitor a cease-fire between the government and civilians to begin Oct. 15 in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

Annan was in the capital, Kinshasa, on Saturday, where he spoke with President Joseph Kabila. From here, he was to travel to Kisangani, the capital of neighboring Rwanda.

Rwandans and Ugandans have repeatedly called for explicit apologies in one form or another. Two paragraphs calling for such reparations have been made to better the racial climate, nothing as been done to compensate those who were deprived of their liberty and property, including the United States, "has historically been deplorable, and while steps have been taken to compensate those who have been wronged we are not there yet." said Mike Estrada, a spokesman for Nellis Air Force Base, where the jet took off.

The crash occurred in a scenic but remote area near Interstate 15. Several motorists traveling on the highway said they witnessed at least three fighter jets flying around the contours of a canyon where the jet crashed.

Neither the pilot nor the downed jet are based at Nellis. Estrada said the pilot was participating in a training exercise, but he did not immediately know where the pilot was based or where he was headed.

Civilian firefighters responded to the crash site, where about 10 acres were burning.

Fellowship Office in room 99 O'Shaughnessy

Attention Fulbright Applicants:

Students applying for the 2002-2003 Fulbright Scholarship competition should attend a meeting to learn the process for applying through the campus committee.

Thursday, September 6th

4:00 pm

room 117, Haggar Hall

If you are unable to attend this meeting, information may be obtained at the Fellowship Office in room 99 O'Shaughnessy.

OFF-CAMPUS SENATOR VACANCY!

If anyone is interested in running for this position, please email the Student Government Vice-president for Elections at McCarty.112@nd.edu by Wednesday, September 5, at 5p.m.

No additional candidates will be accepted after this time.

*Any undergraduate students interested in the position must reside off-campus for the entire 2001-2002 academic year.
I believe it was Ricky Martin who said it best when he sang, 'If lady luck is on my side, we will rock this town alive.' Just a wild shot in the dark but people still keep going back to her.

I try to read my horoscope as often as I can because, although I never know when that little piece of advice could save you from catastrophe in your relationships or put you on the scent to some much-deserved money.

My horoscope recently said, "Involvement in organizational functions will lead to potential love connections," and buddy, you can believe this is the kind of advice that persuades one to go anywhere. Wherever she is sure to find an organization. And it is unanswerable how similar I am to my zodiac sign. I am original and intelligent and witty and come to think of it, no, I do not like to waste time.

I cannot explain how I am pinpointed this well, but this is not the job for Darwinian logic. There are no proofs or formular available in the area of miracles, or love fortune or for superstitions. Huey Lewis even said the power of love is a curious thing. And come to think of it, no, I do not like to waste time.

I cannot explain how I am pinpointed this well, but this is not the job for Darwinian logic. There are no proofs or formular available in the area of miracles, or love fortune or for superstitions. Huey Lewis even said the power of love is a curious thing. And come to think of it, no, I do not like to waste time.

I cannot explain how I am pinpointed this well, but this is not the job for Darwinian logic. There are no proofs or formular available in the area of miracles, or love fortune or for superstitions. Huey Lewis even said the power of love is a curious thing. And come to think of it, no, I do not like to waste time.
"Purtant montes, nascetur ridiculus mus." The mountains will be in labor, and will bring forth a ridiculous little mouse.

That line from the Roman poet Horace was brought to mind by the 4.9 percent increase, room and board increase for 2001-02, to $30,530. It was the lowest percentage increase since 1959 when there was no increase over the previous year.

The increase satisfies the Trustees' mandate that tuition increases be held to about 5 percent. And the administration, especially through the excellent financial aid office, does make commendable efforts to increase scholarships and to reduce student dependence on loans.

Unfortunately, this primary form of financial aid remains the student loan. Given the good intentions of our leaders, why does the increase remind one of Horace's little mouse? Because the administration had an opportunity for leadership here and blew it.

Other institutions acknowledge that the decades-long rise in tuition beyond the inflation rate must be curbed. Williams College, with only 2,000 students, had frozen its tuition for 2000-01. Williams was the first exclusive private college or university to decide in advance to hold tuition increases below the inflation rate, would there be no increase over the previous year.

The administration had an opportunity for leadership here and blew it.

Other institutions acknowledge that the decades-long rise in tuition beyond the inflation rate must be curbed. Williams College, with only 2,000 students, had frozen its tuition for 2000-01. Williams was the first exclusive private college or university to decide in advance to hold tuition increases below the inflation rate.

To freeze tuition, or at least hold its increase within the inflation rate, conveys a symbolic message of openness to non-wealthy students. Williams' freeze of tuition, however, did not start a stampede among major colleges and universities.

For 2001-02 Williams had to increase its tuition, room and board, but only by 3 percent, to $32,282. In addition to increasing existing scholarships, Williams has created new aid programs to reduce: loans for all aided students by an average of $1,000 per year, reduce interest charges for students with the highest need by an additional $500; allow all aided students an additional $500 for books and personal expenses, and reduce by $300 the amount all aided students are expected to earn during the academic year.

Williams President Morton Schapiro described this as the best way to use Williams' "recent increase in wealth to assist the students and families who are making the greatest sacrifices to obtain a Williams education." Princeton has held its 2001-02 tuition, room and board increase to 3 percent. For any financial need beyond what the student and his family can be expected to pay (calculated under new rules favorable to lower and middle income families), Princeton will provide grants, rather than loans, to make up any shortfall in meeting the student's needs.

The Princeton move "primary form of financial aid remains the student loan. Given the good intentions of our leaders, why does the increase remind one of Horace's little mouse? Because the administration had an opportunity for leadership here and blew it."

The results of last week's poll are in.

To freeze tuition, or at least hold its increase within the inflation rate, conveys a symbolic message of openness to non-wealthy students. Williams' freeze of tuition, however, did not start a stampede among major colleges and universities. For 2001-02 Williams had to increase its tuition, room and board, but
The resurgence of 'Rock 'n' roll: fights its way back as summer releases go strong.

By SAM DERHEIMER
Assistant Scene Editor

It was a nice run, it really was. After completely dominating the latter part of the '90s and the beginning of the new millennium, pop music proved to be a much worthier adversary than any rocker ever imagined.

But, be serious now, just how far did you really think pop’s “plastic love and promo” could really go? With A.J. out for the count, and bands with names like Disturbed and Drowning Pool getting prime time play on MTV, it’s only a matter of time before rock shaken off pop’s stranglehold, and gets right back into the mix.

That’s right ladies and gentlemen, rock might have been down, but it was never out.

In case you fell down a hole in Siberia and stayed there for the entire summer, here’s a quick look back at some of the bigger rock albums that debuted this past summer:

Stone Temple Pilots — Shangri-La Dee Da
To no one’s surprise, the story of the Stone Temple Pilots is little more than the story of lead singer Scott Weiland. When Weiland left the band in 1997, STP quickly found they had few options without its eccentric vocalist and all but disappeared completely. Now that Weiland is back in the band, and seer, STP has reclaimed their reigns as rock ‘n’ roll giants. Tainted as grunge-wannabes when they first hit the scene, the members of STP have taken the rocky path of their musical existence and transformed it into another solid, pure rock record.

Shagri-La Dee Da grooves with melodic twists and turns, and is elevated by a strong vocal performance by Weiland. Years of turmoil and uncertainty bloom into passionate rock hymns warning against unchecked bravado and overly destructive abuse.

Tool — Lateralus
Tool has never been a band to take prisoners. Tool’s harsh contrast of emotionally-clad music and glowing sensuality lends to leave most fans utterly lost amid their dark roar of power cords and thudding howls of vocalist Maynard James Keenan. For its part, Lateralus only enhances the blistering confusion begun in Undertow and Aenima. “I’m still right here/Giving blood and keeping faith...” Keenan illustrates in “Eon Blue Apocalypse.

Rolling Stone says Lateralus will “drown you in sensation,” and that may be the best way to describe this onslaught of fractured religious imagery (“Seulnum”), raw emotionalism and thunderous melodies.

Depeche Mode — Exciter
In one of the most anticipated albums of the summer, the New Wave/synth punk wonder boys of the ’80s and early ’90s, Depeche Mode, made a surprisingly strong attempt to regain at least a small corner of the music scene they were such an integral part of in the past. However, blending the band’s traditional New Wave with the current pop/rock styles of the early millenium seemed to prove a more daunting task than Depeche Mode had expected. The soft, slow, electronic bop of most of the tracks are a hard fit in today’s mainstream rock. But fans willing to explore a little deeper will soon find themselves immersed in a very unique sound comprised of eloquent arrangements and the gentle, haunting whispers of lead vocalist Dave Gahan.

Craig David’s Born To Do It leads pop music.

By LAURA ROMPF
Scene Music Reviewer

Pop music seems to be making a sharp turn and newcomer Craig David just might be leading the way. While top 40 stations used to have bubble gum hits from Britney Spears, Backstreet Boys and ‘N Sync in high rotation, now hip hop and R & B hits from Jagged Edge, Alicia Keys and Blu Cantrell are played over and over.

Lucky for Craig David, his is timing is perfect and his debut album’s title, Born To Do It, seems right on the mark. With his innovative R&B/hip hop combination, David’s voice echoes the soulful voices of Keith Sweat and Brian McKnight.

But David’s talent is not limited to his voice — every song on the album was either written or co-written by David, not to mention that he had a band in produc- ing several of the tracks.

Could we have another Kenneth “Babface” Edmonds on our hands? David first release off the album, “Fill Me In” is a strong track, with an upbeat tempo and catchy chorus. It describes every teenager’s worst nightmare: getting busted by your significant other’s parents while hooking up. And David, who is only 20 years old, seems to be speaking from experience. The track is produced beautifully, and David’s voice is completely smooth as he flows over several of the tracks.

“Could we have another Kenneth “Babface” Edmonds on our hands? David first release off the album, “Fill Me In” is a strong track, with an upbeat tempo and catchy chorus. It describes every teenager’s worst nightmare: getting busted by your significant other’s parents while hooking up. And David, who is only 20 years old, seems to be speaking from experience. The track is produced beautifully, and David’s voice is completely smooth as he flows over several of the tracks.

This same talent is evident on “Rendezvous” and “Last Night.” Completely effortlessly, David blends the beats with his voice. Another strong song off the album that’s destined to be a single is “Key to My Heart” which starts with David almost rapping over a slower beat. David gives the impression that he recorded the track only once — like he is almost improvising as he goes along. This freshness ties the album together, as each track compliments the next.

The largest problem with the album is the repetitiveness of songs. Although it creates a flow from track to track, hopefully with more experience David will create more variety on his next album. The album also has some songs that aren’t as strong, like “Time to Party” which seems like a bad version of Montell Jordan’s “This is How We Do It.”

Overall, the album is strong, and for a debut CD, it is even more incredible. David is already huge success in his native country of Britain as well as around the world, and it seems he could find that success in America. With an incredible voice, song-writing talent and the ability to produce, Craig David is just what pop music needs.

Contact Laura Rompf at rompf2@nd.edu

Radiohead — Amnesiac

Originally slated as the second of a double-disk set with Kid A, Amnesiac marks a slight return to more traditional song writing for Radiohead. Don’t get too excited though.

Radiohead is not nearly as experimental and numbingly peculiar as Kid A, but it still hovers far above anything else that is currently available. Though slightly more present than in Kid A, guitars again take a backseat in Amnesiac to pained, haunting vocals, electronic waves of harmonies and disorienting string arrangements.

With Kid A and Amnesiac (one really can not be discussed without the other) Radiohead have staked their claim as rock’s most innovative and independent band. “Think about the good times/And never look back” Thom Yorke (lead vocalist) quietly cries out in “Paranoid.” Everything fans thought they knew about Radiohead has been altered, and Radiohead are making no appologies... just amazing music.

Staind — Break the Cycle

Good hard-rock — we have missed you. Since their debut album, Dysfunction, Staind has raised the bar for misery rock’s elite. Break the Cycle’s humble sincerity and powerful rock punch only furthers cement A n Lewis and the rest of Staind as hard rock’s most promising (relatively) new kids on the block. The album as a whole is extremely strong — in fact, it might be wrong. “Everytime fans thought they knew about Radiohead has been altered, and Radiohead are making no appologies... just amazing music.

Staind — Break the Cycle

Good hard-rock — we have missed you. Since their debut album, Dysfunction, Staind has raised the bar for misery rock’s elite. Break the Cycle’s humble sincerity and powerful rock punch only furthers cement Aaron Lewis and the rest of Staind as hard rock’s most promising (relatively) new kids on the block. The album as a whole is extremely strong — in fact, it might be wrong. “Everytime fans thought they knew about Radiohead has been altered, and Radiohead are making no appologies... just amazing music.

Staind — Break the Cycle

Good hard-rock — we have missed you. Since their debut album, Dysfunction, Staind has raised the bar for misery rock’s elite. Break the Cycle’s humble sincerity and powerful rock punch only furthers cement Aaron Lewis and the rest of Staind as hard rock’s most promising (relatively) new kids on the block. The album as a whole is extremely strong — in fact, it might be wrong. “Everytime fans thought they knew about Radiohead has been altered, and Radiohead are making no appologies... just amazing music.
Twenty-year-old Craig David is already a household name in his native home, Britain, and with the release of his debut album he will soon be a star in America.

Weezer — Weezer
Some things never change. With the release of their third album, aptly given the exact same title as the band's original debut from 1994, (not to mention the name of the band itself) Weezer — the new album — takes fans back to a time when just a little teen angst mixed with a heavy guitar crunch was all you needed for a hit record.

Weezer's grunge-punk sound has survived well over the years since the band first came onto the scene, and the band's die-hard, fist-pumping attitude has endeared them to legions of disenfranchised American youth.

Weezer truly is the god of nerd rock, and Weezer — their most recent previous album. The Man Who. The Man Who made The Man Who such an amazing album.

The songs are catchy, inoffensive and well crafted — fans of the band will find very few departures from the band's original formula. The songs on their third album, aptly given the exact same title as their third album, aptly given the exact same title as their debut album, feature the same blend of melodic, acoustically driven folk/rock, this go-to sound will not remain invisible for long.

Fans of the band will find very few departures from their most recent previous album, The Man Who. The Invisible Band is pieced together with the same warm melodies, soft vocal harmonies and complete sincerity that made The Man Who such an amazing album.

The songs are catchy, inoffensive and well crafted — and yet, even the hardest of punks can't deny Travis as a secret indulgence.

and yet, even the hardest of punks can't deny Travis as a secret indulgence.

Travis — The Invisible Band
Possibly the biggest thing to come out of Scotland since William Wallace, Travis has begun their slow but steady siege of the American pop rock scene. Touring their brand of melodic, acoustically driven folk/rock, this ego-less band will not remain invisible for long.

The majority of the eager crowd had been waiting since early that morning, and had been huddled down three times throughout the day to combat the sweltering heat of a Midwestern August. Stepping out underneath a full moon, and before a backdrop of the lit-up Chicago skyline, Radiohead, possibly the most uncompromising and unflinching band in all of rock 'n' roll, began its siege on the nearly 26,000 fans that laid out like a human sea before them.

In typical fashion, the band opened the show with the spiky pop of "National Anthem." Strengthened by the added muscle of live guitar, "National Anthem" tore its way through the warm Chicago night, as Yorke swayed violently on stage, completely surrendering to the heavy emotions embedded deep within the song.

There was something different about this time around though. Something barely present on the recent Kid A tour, and completely vacant from Radiohead's 1997 Ok Computer tour. Yorke has always had the fortune (or misfortune) of carrying a haunting charisma. His ability to affect the environment around him is nothing less than astonishing. And now, after two critically acclaimed albums that stretched the boundaries of art and music, for the Amnesiac tour, Yorke was finally able to wear something few fans had ever seen on him before — a smile.

Well, it was more of a smirk really, but for the first time in years, the "proud to be sullen" Yorke seemed to actually be enjoying himself on stage. It did not take long for Yorke's enthusiasm to catch on. Yorke and company (Jonny Greenwood, Colin Greenwood, Phil Selway and Ed O'Brien) blitzed their way through song after song of crowd favorites and rarities with a passion and energy found in few other major acts. Songs like "Idioteque" and "Dollars and Cents" bloomed as they were played with a force and fervor that gave them completely new meaning from their studio-counterparts.

Yorke got so into it that "Idioteque," as the crowd chanted every word in the trance-rock song along with him, his movements resembled more of a violent sier than any known form of dancing. Jonny attacked his guitar with such intensity, that at one point, it gave out in the middle of a song, forcing him to run off stage quickly to retrieve another. For its part, the crowd quickly picked up on the electric atmosphere, and responded in the only way fitting, with complete divulgence into the music.

Besides the heavier tracks, the crowd was also treated to a few of Radiohead's slower, more melodic songs. "Talk Show Host," "Pyramid Song" (which Yorke dedicated to the full moon), and "You and Your Army" were played with a somber beauty that could only be captured when Radiohead plays live. Playing piano with his back to the audience, Yorke fell out every word, as he passionately sang into the night.

"Come on! You think you'll drive me crazy! Come on! You and whose army is it anyway?" Yorke pointed over his shoulder to the audience behind his back.

Only after three encore — the final of which includ ed the unreleased "True Love Waits," an Ok Computer throw-off that the band had only ever played live three times previously — did Radiohead finally end the show with the quietly tor- tured poetry and sober beauty of "Street Spirit."

The band had somehow managed to turn the disorienting chaos of their past few albums into something beautiful and succinct. Though they may well remain an enigma to the rock community, to their fans, it all
Larry Coker has more than just his first coaching victory at Miami. He has the No. 1 team in the nation.

For the first time in nine years, the Hurricanes replaced the Florida Gators at No. 1 in The Associated Press poll on Monday. In this week’s USA Today/ESPN coaches’ poll, released Sunday, the Hurricanes replaced the Florida Gators at No. 1 in the top spot in polls for second, 23 for third and down to point totals for 25th place.

That’s OK,” he said Monday.

“God, now wonder I ended up with 90210-ver, for almost two years. I’m so glad my friends think so highly of me,” she said.

Larry Coker has more than just his first coaching victory at Miami. He has the No. 1 team in the nation.

For the first time in nine years, the Hurricanes replaced the Florida Gators at No. 1 in The Associated Press poll on Monday. In this week’s USA Today/ESPN coaches’ poll, released Sunday, the Hurricanes replaced the Florida Gators at No. 1 in the top spot in polls for second, 23 for third and down to point totals for 25th place.

That’s OK,” he said Monday.

“God, now wonder I ended up with 90210-ver, for almost two years. I’m so glad my friends think so highly of me,” she said.

Larry Coker has more than just his first coaching victory at Miami. He has the No. 1 team in the nation.

For the first time in nine years, the Hurricanes replaced the Florida Gators at No. 1 in The Associated Press poll on Monday. In this week’s USA Today/ESPN coaches’ poll, released Sunday, the Hurricanes replaced the Florida Gators at No. 1 in the top spot in polls for second, 23 for third and down to point totals for 25th place.

That’s OK,” he said Monday.

“God, now wonder I ended up with 90210-ver, for almost two years. I’m so glad my friends think so highly of me,” she said.

Larry Coker has more than just his first coaching victory at Miami. He has the No. 1 team in the nation.

For the first time in nine years, the Hurricanes replaced the Florida Gators at No. 1 in The Associated Press poll on Monday. In this week’s USA Today/ESPN coaches’ poll, released Sunday, the Hurricanes replaced the Florida Gators at No. 1 in the top spot in polls for second, 23 for third and down to point totals for 25th place.

That’s OK,” he said Monday.

“God, now wonder I ended up with 90210-ver, for almost two years. I’m so glad my friends think so highly of me,” she said.

Larry Coker has more than just his first coaching victory at Miami. He has the No. 1 team in the nation.

For the first time in nine years, the Hurricanes replaced the Florida Gators at No. 1 in The Associated Press poll on Monday. In this week’s USA Today/ESPN coaches’ poll, released Sunday, the Hurricanes replaced the Florida Gators at No. 1 in the top spot in polls for second, 23 for third and down to point totals for 25th place.

That’s OK,” he said Monday.

“God, now wonder I ended up with 90210-ver, for almost two years. I’m so glad my friends think so highly of me,” she said.

Larry Coker has more than just his first coaching victory at Miami. He has the No. 1 team in the nation.

For the first time in nine years, the Hurricanes replaced the Florida Gators at No. 1 in The Associated Press poll on Monday. In this week’s USA Today/ESPN coaches’ poll, released Sunday, the Hurricanes replaced the Florida Gators at No. 1 in the top spot in polls for second, 23 for third and down to point totals for 25th place.

That’s OK,” he said Monday.

“God, now wonder I ended up with 90210-ver, for almost two years. I’m so glad my friends think so highly of me,” she said.

Larry Coker has more than just his first coaching victory at Miami. He has the No. 1 team in the nation.

For the first time in nine years, the Hurricanes replaced the Florida Gators at No. 1 in The Associated Press poll on Monday. In this week’s USA Today/ESPN coaches’ poll, released Sunday, the Hurricanes replaced the Florida Gators at No. 1 in the top spot in polls for second, 23 for third and down to point totals for 25th place.

That’s OK,” he said Monday.

“God, now wonder I ended up with 90210-ver, for almost two years. I’m so glad my friends think so highly of me,” she said.
Bonds blasts 58th home run

Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO

Barry Bonds hit his 58th homer on a rare mistake by rookie Jason Jennings, who pitched seven innings of three-hit ball for his third straight victory as the Colorado Rockies beat the Giants 4-1 Monday.

Bonds hit a 1-0 pitch over the right-center field wall to open the fourth inning for his 26th homer as Bonds' home run leader rounded the bases to a standing ovation for his second homer in six at-bats, but the drive was San Francisco's only success against Jennings.

Juan Uribe homered and drove in three runs as the Rockies salvaged a split of their four-game series at Pacific Bell Park with just their third victory in 22 games in San Francisco this season. Tucker also added a two-run hit in the fifth. It was his fourth three-hit game of the season. Ojeda also had a triple, and Tucker capped the Rockies' day by hitting a solo homer off Boro in the sixth.

Jason Bore (10-8) gave up two runs and four hits in six innings. He walked three and struck out five.

San Francisco's only success against Jennings began in the second with Bonds' 19th homer of the season. Ojeda also had a double, a triple, and Tucker capped the Rockies' day by hitting a solo homer off Boro in the sixth.

Have you thought about teaching Religion and becoming a Catechist?

Do you enjoy working with children or adolescents?
* Can you give one-two hours of your time each week?
* Would you like to be a valuable asset to a local parish?
* Would you like to work towards catechist certification?

If you can answer YES to any or all of these questions, come find out more about being a Religion Teacher in a local parish.

Important Information Meeting:
Wednesday, September 5, 5:00-6:00 p.m.
330 Coleman-Morse Center

For more info, call John or Sylvia Dillon at 631-7163

U.S. OPEN
Sampras wins, faces Agassi next

Associated Press

NEW YORK

Pete Sampras rediscovered his great form on center court, defeating a dangerous opponent with nearly flawless tennis that was punctuated by a brilliant sequence of shots on the final point.

Disproving detractors who contend he's washed up, Sampras won a rare fourth round showdown of former champions at the U.S. Open, beating Pat Rafter 6-3, 6-7(5), 6-4.

Sampras won't have long to savor his sweet victory since winning his last tournament a year ago slowed by the groin injury. White also missed more than two weeks because of the injury beginning in late June.

Sammy Sosa went 1-for-5 with a single and a walk. He hit a loop fly ball in the fifth — and started his trademark home run trot to first — but Cliff Floyd made a leaping catch just a few feet from the left-field wall.

San Francisco's only success was Bonds' 19th homer of the season. Ojeda also had a double, a triple, and Tucker capped the Rockies' day by hitting a solo homer off Boro in the sixth.

U.S. OPEN
Sampras wins, faces Agassi next

Associated Press

NEW YORK

Pete Sampras rediscovered his great form on center court, defeating a dangerous opponent with nearly flawless tennis that was punctuated by a brilliant sequence of shots on the final point.

Disproving detractors who contend he's washed up, Sampras won a rare fourth round showdown of former champions at the U.S. Open, beating Pat Rafter 6-3, 6-7(5), 6-4.

Sampras won't have long to savor his sweet victory since winning his last tournament a year ago slowed by the groin injury. White also missed more than two weeks because of the injury beginning in late June.

Sammy Sosa went 1-for-5 with a single and a walk. He hit a loop fly ball in the fifth — and started his trademark home run trot to first — but Cliff Floyd made a leaping catch just a few feet from the left-field wall.

San Francisco's only success was Bonds' 19th homer of the season. Ojeda also had a double, a triple, and Tucker capped the Rockies' day by hitting a solo homer off Boro in the sixth.

U.S. OPEN
Sampras wins, faces Agassi next

Associated Press

NEW YORK

Pete Sampras rediscovered his great form on center court, defeating a dangerous opponent with nearly flawless tennis that was punctuated by a brilliant sequence of shots on the final point.

Disproving detractors who contend he's washed up, Sampras won a rare fourth round showdown of former champions at the U.S. Open, beating Pat Rafter 6-3, 6-7(5), 6-4.

Sampras won't have long to savor his sweet victory since winning his last tournament a year ago slowed by the groin injury. White also missed more than two weeks because of the injury beginning in late June.

Sammy Sosa went 1-for-5 with a single and a walk. He hit a loop fly ball in the fifth — and started his trademark home run trot to first — but Cliff Floyd made a leaping catch just a few feet from the left-field wall.

San Francisco's only success was Bonds' 19th homer of the season. Ojeda also had a double, a triple, and Tucker capped the Rockies' day by hitting a solo homer off Boro in the sixth.

U.S. OPEN
Sampras wins, faces Agassi next

Associated Press

NEW YORK

Pete Sampras rediscovered his great form on center court, defeating a dangerous opponent with nearly flawless tennis that was punctuated by a brilliant sequence of shots on the final point.

Disproving detractors who contend he's washed up, Sampras won a rare fourth round showdown of former champions at the U.S. Open, beating Pat Rafter 6-3, 6-7(5), 6-4.

Sampras won't have long to savor his sweet victory since winning his last tournament a year ago slowed by the groin injury. White also missed more than two weeks because of the injury beginning in late June.

Sammy Sosa went 1-for-5 with a single and a walk. He hit a loop fly ball in the fifth — and started his trademark home run trot to first — but Cliff Floyd made a leaping catch just a few feet from the left-field wall.

San Francisco's only success was Bonds' 19th homer of the season. Ojeda also had a double, a triple, and Tucker capped the Rockies' day by hitting a solo homer off Boro in the sixth.

U.S. OPEN
Sampras wins, faces Agassi next

Associated Press

NEW YORK

Pete Sampras rediscovered his great form on center court, defeating a dangerous opponent with nearly flawless tennis that was punctuated by a brilliant sequence of shots on the final point.

Disproving detractors who contend he's washed up, Sampras won a rare fourth round showdown of former champions at the U.S. Open, beating Pat Rafter 6-3, 6-7(5), 6-4.

Sampras won't have long to savor his sweet victory since winning his last tournament a year ago slowed by the groin injury. White also missed more than two weeks because of the injury beginning in late June.

Sammy Sosa went 1-for-5 with a single and a walk. He hit a loop fly ball in the fifth — and started his trademark home run trot to first — but Cliff Floyd made a leaping catch just a few feet from the left-field wall.

San Francisco's only success was Bonds' 19th homer of the season. Ojeda also had a double, a triple, and Tucker capped the Rockies' day by hitting a solo homer off Boro in the sixth.
The deans in the College of Arts & Letters Undergraduate Studies Office are excited to invite you to join them for informal conversation during lunch in the North / South Dining Halls on the following days:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>North Dining Hall</th>
<th>South Dining Hall</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>September 19</td>
<td>September 6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>September 30</td>
<td>October 9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>November 26</td>
<td>November 12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>December 4</td>
<td>December 4</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Dean Preacher, Dean Nemecek, and Dean Pratt, along with special guests, will be at the table decorated with balloons.

Get to know your deans in a casual social atmosphere!

Win a free t-shirt!
Sign-up for Service

"...to act justly, to love tenderly and to walk humbly with your God."
Micah 6:8

Come to Activities Night at the JACC tonight to learn about service opportunities in the South Bend Community.

Service/Social Action Clubs and Local Agencies

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>CSC – General Information 101</th>
<th>Humane Society of St. Joseph County 212</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>21st Century Scholars 114</td>
<td>Indiana Legal Services, Inc. 213</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AIDS Awareness/SWAT 117</td>
<td>Knights of Columbus 215</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AIDS Ministries/AIDS Assist 118</td>
<td>La Casa de Amistad, Inc. 216</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>American Cancer Society 120</td>
<td>Notre Dame Lifewater 217</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Amnesty International 121</td>
<td>Best Buddies 218</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arnold Air Society 122</td>
<td>Logan Center 219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Big Brothers/Big Sisters of ND/SMC 123</td>
<td>Super Sibs 220</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Big Brothers/Big Sisters of St. Joseph County 124</td>
<td>Logan Recreation Club 221</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boys and Girls Club of St. Joseph 125</td>
<td>Life Treatment Centers 222</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C.A.R.E. – Campus Alliance for Rape Elimination 126</td>
<td>Lunch P.A.C.K. 223</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Campus Girl Scouts 127</td>
<td>Ms. Wizard Day 224</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Center for Basic Learning Skills 128</td>
<td>Neighborhood Study Help 225</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Center for Homeless Children’s Group 129</td>
<td>Pax Christi 226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Center for the Homeless 130</td>
<td>Progressive Student Alliance 227</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CASH – Community Alliance to Serve Hispanics 131</td>
<td>Refugee and Immigration Services 229</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Children’s Dispensary 132</td>
<td>Reins of Life 230</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Robinson Community Learning Center 133</td>
<td>ND Right To Life 231</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Experiential Learning Council 134</td>
<td>St. Joseph’s Clinic 232</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CSC – Social Concerns Seminars 135</td>
<td>St. Joseph Regional Medical Center – Chapin Street Clinic Community Outreach 233</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CSC – Urban Plunge 136</td>
<td>St. Vincent De Paul Society 234</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CSC – Summer Service Program 137</td>
<td>Sex Offense Services 235</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CSC – Senior Transitions Program 138</td>
<td>South Bend Community School Corporation 236</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CSC – Lead Tutors Program 139</td>
<td>South Bend Dream Center 237</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CSC – International SSP 140</td>
<td>Special Friends 238</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CSC – Appalachia Break Seminar 141</td>
<td>SEA – Students for Environmental Action 239</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Circle K 201</td>
<td>Teamwork for Tomorrow 241</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Community Resource Center 202</td>
<td>Trident Naval Society 301</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Council for Fun and Learn 203</td>
<td>United Religious Community 302</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dismas of Michiana 204</td>
<td>Univ. Young Life 303</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>East Timor Action Network @ ND 205</td>
<td>Women’s Resource Center 305</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Foodshare 206</td>
<td>Women’s Care Center 306</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Global Health Initiative 207</td>
<td>Workforce Development Services 307</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Habitat for Humanity 208</td>
<td>World Hunger Coalition 308</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Health Works! Kids’ Museum 209</td>
<td>Operation Smile Student Organization 313</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Healthy Communities Initiative 210</td>
<td>Hugh O’Brian Youth Foundation Alumni Association 211</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Jones

continued from page 24

have missed some practice time because of injury, and we just try to pick up from there and go forward."

The Notre Dame backfield, rated seventh in the nation by The Sporting News, is not only diverse, but talented too. Fisher, who rushed for 607 yards last season, is a 2001 Doak Walker Award candidate. Jones, Notre Dame's leading rusher last year, is an All-American candidate. But since Fisher and Jones were held out of spring practice and have been injured this fall, Robinson said Howard would be the starter for Saturday's season opener, a testament to just how close the three tailbacks are in terms of talent. No matter who starts Saturday, Davie has said that all three tailbacks will end up with the same number of carries.

There still seems, however, to be a special focus on Jones. His older brother, Thomas, who was the sixth overall pick in the 2000 NFL draft, has called Julius the better running back of the two. He's been named to Athlon's NFL All-Decade team for 2000-2009, joining the Colts' Edgerrin James in the backfield. He's listed as Notre Dame's No. 1 kick returner, and since special teams were such an integral part of Notre Dame's 9-3 campaign in 2000, Robinson was glad to have him back on the practice field.

"For the first day back, he did some things well," he said. "He didn't try to push it too far because we don't know if he's 100 percent, but he worked pretty hard out there today."

But while Jones confidently claims he will be ready for Saturday's game against No. 4 Nebraska, Davie is not so sure.

"At least he's out there in pads, and he's able to return punts and kickoffs for us," Davie said. "But he didn't cut it loose and go full speed. It's good to have him out there, but we'll know a little more as the week goes on."

Monday's practice was not full contact, and Jones said that he looks forward to the all-out practices against the first-team defense that will come later in the week. For now, Irish coaches are limiting what he does in practice.

"I don't foresee him doing a whole lot because of his condition," said Robinson. "I don't know what kind of shape he's in. He'll play, and we'll take that play by play. I wouldn't want to put a number on the number of plays." Regardless of how many carries Jones gets on Saturday, he is glad to be back out on the practice field.

"For the first day back, he did some things well," he said. "He didn't try to push it too far because we don't know if he's 100 percent, but he worked pretty hard out there today."

GET A LIFE, (AND A CAREER.)

To learn more about the Undergraduate Career Opportunities at PricewaterhouseCoopers please join us at the following:

• Mix and Mingle Presentation on September 5 at the Morris Inn from 6-8PM
• Business Career Forum on September 13 and 14 in the Mendoza College of Business
• Full-Time Interviews on Monday, October 1 in Flanner Hall
• Summer Internship Interviews on Thursday, December 6

Please fill out an on-line career profile at www.pwcglobal.com/ocp

© 2001 PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP. PricewaterhouseCoopers refers to the U.S. firm of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP and other members of the worldwide PricewaterhouseCoopers organization. PricewaterhouseCoopers is proud to be an Affirmative Action and Equal Opportunity Employer.
Renovation of the Hesburgh Library’s lower level has begun and will continue for many months. During that time, you can expect to encounter noise, dust, moves of staff and services, reduced seating, crowded conditions, and general inconvenience. For example:

- The Reserve Book Room (formerly on the second floor) has been relocated to 113 Hesburgh Library, on the west side of the first floor adjacent to Current Periodicals/Microtext.

- The Bill and Fine Office (formerly on the second floor) has been relocated to 110 Hesburgh Library, on the west side of the first floor opposite the new Reserve Book Room.

- The ISRC (International Studies Resource Center), formerly in 213 Hesburgh, has closed.

- In September, the vending machines and attendant public lounge area in the Hesburgh basement (known as “the Pit”) will be moved to Hesburgh 105, off the east end of the main concourse adjacent to the William J. Carey Auditorium. Restrooms will continue to be located off the second floor lobby.

- Readers’ space has had to be redistributed within the library (your favorite study space may not be there any more.)

The staff of the Hesburgh Library are committed to making your library experience as “normal” as possible. For up-to-date information about our renovation, please go to:

HTTP://WWW.ND.EDU/~RENOVATE/
Torello threw the relay into the son.

Home run by Brian Stavisky tied the game in the top of the ninth. Scoring O'Toole to tie the game.

"When I was a freshman in high school the exact same situation came up," Stanley said. "One of my best friends was sitting outside and said, 'Man, aren't you nervous?' I said, 'I live for times like this.' I wanted to be that person up there in that situation."

Then in the 10th Stavisky launched his second home run of the game well over the right field fence.

"It was a really good pitch, a slider, down and in," Stanley said. "I had just been swinging the bat really well and lucky I stayed on it and just launched it out there. It felt really good."

Sophomore Matt Laid pitched 2 2/3 solid innings of relief to collect the win.

Regional Game 4

Danny Tamayo fought adversity to reach his status as Notre Dame's solid No. 2 starter. The Panthers didn't shut him down in the ninth inning and put up the nine-spot, I started sending down a little and getting a little more confident," Heilman said. "I knew that our defense was great all day, so I just stopped trying to be so fine." Irish head coach Paul Mainieri said of his team's comeback in Los Angeles. "What he couldn't fight off during game 7 of the NCAA regional in May. Below, center fielder Steve Stanley makes a highlight-reel catch in game 7.

Regional Game 2

Four-time All-American Aaron Heilman collected his 15th win in 15 starts, and his 12th complete game, as the Irish cruised to a 12-4 victory over the Panthers of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

"Not in my wildest imagination did I think he was going to go another complete game tonight," Irish coach Paul Mainieri said of his ace. "When you give him the ball, it's so hard to take it away from him."

Heilman allowed one run in the third inning, but held the Panthers scoreless again until Scott Gillitzer pounded a three-run homer over the right field fence in the eighth. By that time those runs meant little, as the Irish built a 10-1 lead with a nine-run fourth inning.

"Once they got the runs and put up the nine-spot, I started getting down a little and getting a little more confident," Heilman said. "I knew that our defense was great all day, so I just stopped trying to be so fine." The Irish jumped on Panthers starter Quintin Oldenburg early. Junior center fielder Steve Stanley led off the game with a bunt single, which freshman second baseman Steve Sollmann quickly followed with a bunt single of his own. After Alec Porzel grounded into a double play and Stanley advanced to third, right fielder Brian Stavisky plated Stanley with a single to left.

Stanley, the Big East co-player of the year, was 5-5 on the evening with three runs batted in and one RBI. That RBI came on a ground-rule double in the ninth inning victory against UCSB.

Steve Stanley, the Big East co­player of the year, stroked James Garcia's 2-2 offering into center field with two outs in the ninth, scoring O'Toole to tie the game.

"When I was a freshman in high school the exact same situation came up," Stanley said. "One of my best friends was sitting outside and said, 'Man, aren't you nervous?" I said, 'I live for times like this.' I wanted to be that person up there in that situation."

Then in the 10th Stavisky launched his second home run of the game well over the right field fence.

"It was a really good pitch, a slider, down and in," Stanley said. "I had just been swinging the bat really well and lucky I stayed on it and just launched it out there. It felt really good."

Sophomore Matt Laid pitched 2 2/3 solid innings of relief to collect the win.

Notre Dame Center
for Ethics and Religious Values in Business

Prudently Presents

Jorge Zabala

Chief editorial writer at The Wall Street Journal

Tuesday, September 11
7:00 P.M., Jordan Auditorium, Mendoza College of Business

Roger W. Sant

Chairman of the Board of the AGC Corporation, which is a leading global power company that provides electricity worldwide.

Tuesday, September 18
7:00 P.M., Jordan Auditorium, Mendoza College of Business

Bill McGurn

Final editorial editor at The Wall Street Journal

Thursday, October 12
4:30 p.m., Jordan Auditorium, Mendoza College of Business

Notre Dame Spirit Soldiers

Thursday, October 19
7:00 P.M., Jordan Auditorium, Mendoza College of Business

Contact Noah Amstadter at namstad@nd.edu.

For more information on these Notre Dame Spirit Soldiers events, please contact us at namstad@nd.edu.
Irish looking for justice in crazy football world

Is there any justice out there in the world we call college football? Just imagine for a second that you’re Troy State. You’re entering the 2001 season as a provisional 1-A, team, hoping to earn your permanent 1-A status. So who do you draw in week one? None other than the Nebraska Cornhuskers, and the game’s in Lincoln to boot.

And the rest of the world asks: Where’s the fairness in that?

It turns out that justice came down in the form of a 7-0 lead, a 28-14 halftime deficit and being only 20 yards away from pulling within a touchdown in the third quarter.

Any other game, and those accomplishments would earn a “big deal” at best. But when you’re a team called the Trojans, not from Southern California but Troy, Alabama, it’s nothing to look past.

Now imagine you’re a Notre Dame player. You’ve most likely included daily selections from this diet of questions: What’s it going to take for you to win at Nebraska? Can you compete at their level? Would this be the biggest upset you’ve been involved in during your football career?

Not wanting to miss out on the fun, I asked sophomore quarterback Matt LoVecchio how different it will be going to the same page to execute. “It’s a football game,” he said. “I think like Coach Davie before you, know, it’s just our guys blocking their guys, and... no matter where we play them, it’s just a football game.”

You mean it’s not the scariest thing you’ve ever had to do, and you don’t lie awake late at night, asking the football gods why they gave you such a harsh scheduling fate?

I guess that’s up to you — the media and the fans.

But after this past weekend, someone finally said something new about Sept. 14th, even if only in one place and in one short blurb in a game recap on espn.com.

If you’re Nebraska,” Rod Gilmore wrote, “you know you’re not anywhere near where you need to be when you face Notre Dame next week.”

Instead of an idolization of the Blackshirts defense or quarterback Eric Crouch as a Heisman candidate, we get reminded of something different. These guys from Notre Dame can play a little.

Senior quarterback-turned-flanker Arnaz Battle probably provided the most objective view of what it’ll take to win this game, whether you’re wearing red or gold.

“It’s two tough teams going in and battling it out,” Battle said. “I think the team that controls the ball, limits the turnovers, and has the big plays will be the team that will come out on top. So we plan on going out there, making some big plays on offense, and just having a tremendous game and just control the ball, take care of it.”

That sounds pretty double for a team that tied an NCAA record last year when it committed just eight turnovers for the entire season. It certainly doesn’t border on the divine intervention that some might feel is necessary for the Irish to prevail.

Is anything more than a long-winded, hometown prediction that Notre Dame will indeed beat Nebraska on Saturday? Maybe not.

I’ll be the first one to admit that I’ve been mystified by Notre Dame football since I was five and, because of that, my opinions are sometimes dubbed in blue and gold.

But regardless of whether the Irish win or lose on Saturday, it’s important, whether you’re a student, staff member, professor or alumnus, to remember Battle’s assessment.

This game will feature two tough teams, not one. There won’t be a miracle upset or a devastating blowout.

There will be a good football game whose winner will be decided by which team executes better.

It is true that Nebraska will have an edge playing at home, even if players or coaches don’t always like to admit it. And the Huskers most likely don’t need to worry about their supporters selling off their tickets to opposing fans as some Notre Dame “faithful” did a year ago.

But, as LoVecchio pointed out, to win, you just take care of what you can.

“We’ve got a lot of work to do... We’ve just got to get on offense all 11 guys working on the same page to execute.”

Matt LoVecchio Irish quarterback

Ted Fox Fox Sports... Almost!
SMC SOCCER

Belles drop 2 close matches in Tennessee

By KATIE McVOY

The Belles couldn’t quite shake the mud off of their shoes this weekend at the Rhodes College tournament in Tennessee, dropping the first two games of the season.

An all-night storm on Friday that lasted through Saturday morning made the field resemble a swamp. "Pretty good this season so far," coach Maureen McDonald said. "Some deep enough to cover the cleats of the women playing."

The tournament, which was a chance for the team’s many freshmen to take the field, ended in a sudden death overtime loss on Sunday.

Sunday’s game against Millsaps looked like it was going to be a Saint Mary’s victory. After dominating the first half with a 1-0 lead, junior defender Jessica Klink said, "It was just a breakdown of the team in general." Simmerman finished a goal, putting the Belles up 1-0.

With only five minutes left in the game, Millsaps tied the game at 1-1, forcing the game into sudden death overtime. "I think it was just a breakdown of the team in general," senior defender Jessica Klink said. "It was just a breakdown of the team in general." Simmerman finished a goal, putting the Belles up 1-0.

Despite the loss, the game proved that the young team was finally getting into a rhythm that was missing in a 4-1 loss to Rhodes on Saturday.

"It's a very young team, so we finally calmed down and the passing became quicker," Klink said. "Mentally they were in to the game, very focused on talking and working together as a team."

The loss to Rhodes on Saturday could be contributed to a number of causes, including the youth of the Saint Mary's team. But the most prominent player on the field was the weather. "It was ugly," Klink said.

The wet field put a total stop to the passing game the Belles had been working on in pre-season play, forcing them into a game based on kicking the long ball.

We are a team that likes to play the passing game," Klink said. "We've been working really hard on making those quick precise passes."

Where the Belles fell short, the Lynx of Rhodes College excelled. Freshman goalkeeper Maureen McDonald couldn’t prevent the four Rhodes goals from passing into the net as her teammates tried to work around the muddy field.

"I think (Rhodes) picked it up a little better," Klink said.

SMC GOLF

Belles swing into 9th place

By KATIE McVOY

The Belles golf team started its season off with somewhere to go. Finishing this weekend’s Ferris State Tournament in 9th place among a strong field of Division I and II schools, the Belles are looking for a good season.

"We look pretty good, I’m pleased with how we did," said head coach Theresa Pekarek. "But we have the potential to be a lot better." The 17-team field provided stiff competition, which landed Saint Mary’s in the middle of the pack with a team total of 723 strokes, 58 behind tournament-winner Northern Kentucky, which wrapped up a team total of 660.

"I think we faced very well against most of the schools," senior Mary Claire Hathaway said. "Most of the girls we played against had (scholarship)ships to play. I think this team is going to do well this season."

It was young talent that provided Saint Mary’s with its strongest scores. Freshmen Stefanie Simmerman and Julia Adams took home the lowest scores. Simmerman finished Saturday’s competition with a score of 82 and finished with 86 strokes on Sunday, while Adams came home with scores of 89 and 72. Simmerman finished in 11th place overall in the tournament.

"I think in coming in as a freshman it is important to show them that you have experience from high school," Simmerman said. "We came in looking for-ward to taking the team to the next level, to put Saint Mary’s name out there and say that we’re a golf team, look out for us." Joining in the scoring Saturday were junior Molly Lee and senior Megan Keleher, scoring 96 and 89 respectively. Keleher also claimed a top 20 finish on Sunday with a score of 94, as did sophomore Liz Hanlon.

"It’s going to be tight competition this year and we have a really good chance with the new members of the team," Hathaway said.

"Team wise, there is no reason we can’t take the conference championship." Theresa Pekarek head coach

"I think that we are looking at the Division Championship this year and we have a really good chance with the new members of the team," Hathaway said.

"Team wise, there is no reason we can’t take the conference championship."

Contact Katie McVoy at mcvo5695@ saintmarys.edu.
Don't worry, folks. These are planted brainwashing outfits.

Sorry, Sir, but I'm going to have to take that. Only the first hundred oranges are free.

MISSELLING PAPERS, WHY DON'T YOU TRY CLOSING IT AND OPENING IT AGAIN?

We're I have French talking after lunch, academics, can't I nap, then.

...CALM DOWN, I THINK IT MIGHT BE ABOUT THE CLOWN.

CLEVERIES BORN ON THIS DAY:
Tom Watson, Mitzi McCall, Boatwright, Tom, Ryan

JUANITAS (March 21—April 19): This is a day that you should value your time on trivial matters. You will be held worthy of the professional will count....

YOU WANT TO SAVE THOSE—DON'T TRY CLOSING IT AND OPENING IT AGAIN. DON'T WORRY, FOLKS. THESE ARE PLANTED BRAINWASHING OUTFITS.

LEO (July 23—Aug. 22): Take care of personal business. It's time to turn your attention to personal issues.

GEMINI (May 21—June 20): This will be a day of creative thinking and problem-solving. You will attract attention if you become involved in the personal issues of others.

CANCER (June 21—July 22): Your partner will be looking for a sense of stability and reassurance. You need to put some time aside for personal matters.

LION (July 23—Aug. 22): Be on the lookout for new business opportunities. You need to be receptive to the ideas of others.

VIRGO (Aug. 23—Sept. 22): Be honest about the way you feel. Your partner will be looking for a sense of reassurance. You need to put some time aside for personal matters.

LIBRA (Sept. 23—Oct. 22): Be on the lookout for new business opportunities. You need to be receptive to the ideas of others.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Take care of personal business. It's time to turn your attention to personal issues.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22—Dec. 21): You should follow your heart and make changes to your personal papers as needed.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22—Jan. 19): You need to put some time aside for personal business. It's time to turn your attention to personal issues.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20—Feb. 18): You will need to put some time aside for personal business. It's time to turn your attention to personal issues.

PISCES (Feb. 19—March 20): You need to put some time aside for personal business. It's time to turn your attention to personal issues.

BIRTH DAY TIP: You have a creative mind and you certainly know how to entertain a crowd. Your ability to dazzle, mesmerize and captivate will always be a valuable asset and lead to success.

Check out Eugenia's Web sites at eugeniaadvice.com, eugeniaadvice.com, eugenialast.com
Irish upset at the Eck

No. 4 FIU tops Notre Dame 5-4 in decisive game 7

Irish leadoff hitter and centerfielder Steve Stanley lays down a bunt in Notre Dame's loss to Florida International in the NCAA baseball regional. Stanley was the MVP.

Irish upset at the Eck

By NOAH AMSTADTER
Sports Editor

Following the 1994 season, Pat Murphy resigned as Notre Dame's baseball coach to take the same position at Arizona State.

"To college baseball this [job] is Notre Dame football," Murphy said back in 1994. "I don't think I could go to a more established program than Arizona State."

So when highly-ranked Mississippi State called current Irish head coach Paul Mainieri four times this summer about its coaching vacancy, members of the Irish athletic department began thinking it was déjà vu all over again. But Mainieri — who led the Irish to their first ever No. 1 national ranking last season — remained loyal, electing to sign a multi-year contract extension rather than leave South Bend for Starkville, Miss.

"I was flattered that they called," Mainieri said. "It's one of the premier jobs in college baseball. But there was no way I could make that move. To me, the best days for Notre Dame baseball are ahead." Mainieri also cited family concerns in making his decision to stay.

"I have three children in high school, including my son [Nicholas]"

Irish upset at the Eck

By ANDREW SOKUP
Assistant Sports Editor

It was a familiar sight, almost.

In the throng of players coming from the football practice fields behind Moose Krause Stadium to the locker rooms inside Notre Dame Stadium, running back Julius Jones walked slowly by himself. He clutched his helmet in both hands and stared at the practice fields behind Moose Krause Stadium to the locker rooms inside Notre Dame Stadium.

"It felt great," he said. "I've been out for about a week now, and so I was just resting it."

Julius Jones
Irish running back

The junior running back's return to practice yesterday was just the latest bit of good news for an Irish tailback corps that has been decimated by preseason injuries. In addition to Jones, both Terrance Howard and Tony Fisher have missed practice time this fall because of various injuries. Jones and Fisher had pulled groins, and Howard a pulled hamstring. In fact, during the first week of practice, so many tailbacks were injured that at one point, sixth string freshman Marcus Wilson was handling all the rushing duties — until he was injured as well.

"All those guys [Jones, Howard, and Fisher] have been hurt during this preseason," running backs coach Desmond Robinson said. "Each one of those guys

Irish upset at the Eck

By NOAH AMSTADTER
Sports Editor

Following the 1994 season, Pat Murphy resigned as Notre Dame's baseball coach to take the same position at Arizona State.

"To college baseball this [job] is Notre Dame football," Murphy said back in 1994. "I don't think I could go to a more established program than Arizona State."

So when highly-ranked Mississippi State called current Irish head coach Paul Mainieri four times this summer about its coaching vacancy, members of the Irish athletic department began thinking it was déjà vu all over again. But Mainieri — who led the Irish to their first ever No. 1 national ranking last season — remained loyal, electing to sign a multi-year contract extension rather than leave South Bend for Starkville, Miss.

"I was flattered that they called," Mainieri said. "It's one of the premier jobs in college baseball. But there was no way I could make that move. To me, the best days for Notre Dame baseball are ahead." Mainieri also cited family concerns in making his decision to stay.

"I have three children in high school, including my son [Nicholas]"

Irish upset at the Eck

By ANDREW SOKUP
Assistant Sports Editor

It was a familiar sight, almost.

In the throng of players coming from the football practice fields behind Moose Krause Stadium to the locker rooms inside Notre Dame Stadium, running back Julius Jones walked slowly by himself. He clutched his helmet in both hands and stared at the practice fields behind Moose Krause Stadium to the locker rooms inside Notre Dame Stadium.

"It felt great," he said. "I've been out for about a week now, and so I was just resting it."