Cabinet optimistic on tailgating policies

By MATTHEW BRAMANTI
New Writer

Improved communication between Notre Dame officials and students will be vital to the success of the new alcohol and tailgating policies, said members of the Executive Cabinet, an advisory board to the student body president.

The group used its first meeting of the year Monday to focus on changes to the alcohol policy introduced in the spring.

Libby Bishop, student body president, said revisions have left many questions unanswered in the minds of students. The revised alcohol policy, outlined in du Lac, the student handbook, forbids hard alcohol and expands the definition of "abusive drinking."

The revamped definition outlaw laws 40-ounce bottles of beer, beer bongs and the practice of "shotgunning" beers.

Class and student body officers are still assessing the potential impact of the new regulations, but they don't anticipate much real change from last year, Executive Cabinet members said. "[Despite the new inclusions] the policy really hasn't changed that much," Bishop said.

The more drastic changes relate to the tailgating policy. The new system for tailgates requires students to register and receive approval for their pre-game gatherings in advance. An online registration system already is in place for students to register tailgates for Saturday's home football game versus Purdue.

Student tailgates will be restricted to a portion of Blue Field, south of Notre Dame Stadium. Uniformed officers from Notre Dame Security/Police as well as plain clothes members of the Indiana State Police will be on hand to enforce University policy and Indiana law.

This year, all tailgates must end by 1 to 3 p.m. in Cushwa-Leighton to celebrate the building's anniversary. Scheduled activities include a cake-cutting, exhibit of photographs, card signing for Sister Bernice and a gift presentation to the library by College President Marilou Eldred.

Contact Anneliese Woolford at wooll838@saintmarys.edu

RAs react to diversity seminars

By KELLY HRADSKY and SARAH NESTOR
New Writers

The Saint Mary's Diversity seminars led by Frances Kendall, Ph.D., were controversial from the start.

"I was expecting her to be more of a motivational speaker, in retrospect I feel like she targeted the Resident Advisors," Mary Brown, Saint Mary's senior and RA said. "Overall I think many of us [RA's] came out with the same negative outlook."

Kendall sparked debate with her analysis of the power of mascots and how they can affect a community.

"I feel like she targeted the Resident Advisors," Brown said. "I wouldn't want my family or friends to live in or visit this city."

Kendall told The Observer she came to Saint Mary's to become an Indian, but "I wouldn't want my family or friends to live in or visit this city." Kendall also said Executive Cabinet members appeared cautiously optimistic about the new tailgating policy, but some still had doubts.

"Is this just a reason to get more people in trouble?" said Amy O'Connor, Club Coordination Council coordinator.

Contact Anneliese Woolford at wooll838@saintmarys.edu
Secrets hurt freedoms

A federal appeals court in Cincinnati last week ruled that the Bush administration unlawfully held over 1,200 deportation hearings in secret since the terrorist attacks of last September. That means that more than 750 people were dele gated - their lives were brutally interrupted - in hearings that excluded family, friends and the press, in violation of the basic rights guaranteed by our Constitu­tion.

The current administration has made a policy of keeping its actions free from public scrutiny, assuring the American peo­

dle that Bush knows best - and that anyone questioning executive actions is a traitor or unpatri­

otic. In fact, Mrs. Cheney personally and publicly has kept a black list of pubclic dissenters since the early stages of the war on terrorism.

Why hide so much from the American people?

Uncensored news footage of the war in Afghanistan was virtually invisible in the United States, while foreign journalists knew more. The war in Afghanistan was not only a military conflict, it was a crusade. It was a crusade against terrorism, against al Qaeda, against those who had been there.

In another alarming move, hundreds of people disappeared here at home after Sept. 11, a style of justice that reminds one of Communist China, Nazi Germany and Soviet Russia, not democratic America. In response to court demands for oversight, Attorney General John Ashcroft ordered that detention facilities not release any information about who was imprisoned within their walls, on what charges and how long they had been there.

But the secrecy in this administration extends beyond the war on terrorism to domestic issues. Dick Cheney does not want anyone asking how much influence Enron executives had in formulating energy policy. In fact, he is fighting tooth and nail to keep that information secret. That is what would otherwise seem a surprising move, the Bush administra­

ion is fighting a court battle to keep information about Clinton’s pardon of former business partner Marc Rich a preidential secret. They hope to establish a precedent.

"Democracies die behind closed doors," declared the judges in Cincinnati in their unanimous ruling against the secret meeting out of justice. It’s true, just think. Without the pressure of an informed public, Watergate would never have come to light, and the Vietnam War might have ended years later.

Perhaps the biggest long-term danger of the current Bush policy is that the executive will shield itself, through secrecy, from the checks and balances provided by informed legislative and judicial branches.

The view s expressed in the Inside Column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer. Contact Pat McElwee at pmcelwee@nd.edu.

CORRECTIONS

The Observer regards itself as a professional publication and strives for the highest standards of journalism at all times. We do, however, recognize that we will make mistakes. If we have made a mistake, please contact us at 631-4541 so we can correct our error.

INSIDE COLUMN

Secrets hurt freedoms

A federal appeals court in Cincinnati last week ruled that the Bush administration unlawfully held over 1,200 deportation hearings in secret since the terrorist attacks of last September. That means that more than 750 people were dele gated - their lives were brutally interrupted - in hearings that excluded family, friends and the press, in violation of the basic rights guaranteed by our Constitu­tion.

The current administration has made a policy of keeping its actions free from public scrutiny, assuring the American peo­
dle that Bush knows best - and that anyone questioning executive actions is a traitor or unpatri­

otic. In fact, Mrs. Cheney personally and publicly has kept a black list of pubclic dissenters since the early stages of the war on terrorism.

Why hide so much from the American people?

Uncensored news footage of the war in Afghanistan was virtually invisible in the United States, while foreign journalists knew more. The war in Afghanistan was not only a military conflict, it was a crusade. It was a crusade against terrorism, against al Qaeda, against those who had been there.

In another alarming move, hundreds of people disappeared here at home after Sept. 11, a style of justice that reminds one of Communist China, Nazi Germany and Soviet Russia, not democratic America. In response to court demands for oversight, Attorney General John Ashcroft ordered that detention facilities not release any information about who was imprisoned within their walls, on what charges and how long they had been there.

But the secrecy in this administration extends beyond the war on terrorism to domestic issues. Dick Cheney does not want anyone asking how much influence Enron executives had in formulating energy policy. In fact, he is fighting tooth and nail to keep that information secret. That is what would otherwise seem a surprising move, the Bush administra­

ion is fighting a court battle to keep information about Clinton’s pardon of former business partner Marc Rich a preidential secret. They hope to establish a precedent.

"Democracies die behind closed doors," declared the judges in Cincinnati in their unanimous ruling against the secret meeting out of justice. It’s true, just think. Without the pressure of an informed public, Watergate would never have come to light, and the Vietnam War might have ended years later.

Perhaps the biggest long-term danger of the current Bush policy is that the executive will shield itself, through secrecy, from the checks and balances provided by informed legislative and judicial branches.

The view s expressed in the Inside Column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer. Contact Pat McElwee at pmcelwee@nd.edu.

INSIDE COLUMN

Secrets hurt freedoms

A federal appeals court in Cincinnati last week ruled that the Bush administration unlawfully held over 1,200 deportation hearings in secret since the terrorist attacks of last September. That means that more than 750 people were dele gated - their lives were brutally inter­rupted - in hearings that excluded family, friends and the press, in violation of the basic rights guaranteed by our Constitu­tion.

The current administration has made a policy of keeping its actions free from public scrutiny, assuring the American peo­
dle that Bush knows best - and that anyone questioning executive actions is a traitor or unpatri­

otic. In fact, Mrs. Cheney personally and publicly has kept a black list of pubclic dissenters since the early stages of the war on terrorism.

Why hide so much from the American people?

Uncensored news footage of the war in Afghanistan was virtually invisible in the United States, while foreign journalists knew more. The war in Afghanistan was not only a military conflict, it was a crusade. It was a crusade against terrorism, against al Qaeda, against those who had been there.

In another alarming move, hundreds of people disappeared here at home after Sept. 11, a style of justice that reminds one of Communist China, Nazi Germany and Soviet Russia, not democratic America. In response to court demands for oversight, Attorney General John Ashcroft ordered that detention facilities not release any information about who was imprisoned within their walls, on what charges and how long they had been there.

But the secrecy in this administration extends beyond the war on terrorism to domestic issues. Dick Cheney does not want anyone asking how much influence Enron executives had in formulating energy policy. In fact, he is fighting tooth and nail to keep that information secret. That is what would otherwise seem a surprising move, the Bush administra­

ion is fighting a court battle to keep information about Clinton’s pardon of former business partner Marc Rich a preidential secret. They hope to establish a precedent.

"Democracies die behind closed doors," declared the judges in Cincinnati in their unanimous ruling against the secret meeting out of justice. It’s true, just think. Without the pressure of an informed public, Watergate would never have come to light, and the Vietnam War might have ended years later.

Perhaps the biggest long-term danger of the current Bush policy is that the executive will shield itself, through secrecy, from the checks and balances provided by informed legislative and judicial branches.

The view s expressed in the Inside Column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer. Contact Pat McElwee at pmcelwee@nd.edu.

CORRECTIONS

The Observer regards itself as a professional publication and strives for the highest standards of journalism at all times. We do, however, recognize that we will make mistakes. If we have made a mistake, please contact us at 631-4541 so we can correct our error.

Board prioritizes expanding dialogue with faculty

By SHANNON NELLIGAN

Saint Mary's Board of Governance this year plans to establish an active dialogue with faculty and a working relationship with campus security, board members decided Monday.

The move expands upon last year's policy of co-sponsorship with the administration and student organizations by building bridges with all members of the college community.

"This year we are looking forward to working with security," said Kim Jensen, student body president. "Elizabeth Jablonski-Diehl, student body vice-president, and I feel like security has not been used to their full capacity."

BOG and security will co-host an event on Wednesday in O'Laughlin Auditorium. The event will be used to increase awareness of safety by handing out angel sticks, an indicator to see if a beverage has been tampered with, and designated driver bracelets.

The bracelets will be available at the front desk of any residence hall and at the security office.

Those students who participate in wearing the designated driver bracelets may receive nonalcoholic drinks and free cover into participating local bars.

Security and BOG will also be sponsoring a raffle for those students who turn in the bracelets to security or to a hall front desk at the completion of the night. One possible prize may be a weekend trip to Chicago.

"The bracelets came at the request of the students," said Jensen.

Diversity

continued from page 1

either."

The seminar became chaotic when Kendall brought up the discussion about whether or not a confederate flag should be allowed to hang in a Resident Advisor's room.

Participants became so engrossed in stating their opinions that they just shouted out their opinions and a few even booed the speaker when they did not agree with what was being said.

"I did not like how she seemed to single out people and make assumptions about them," an RA who wished to remain anonymous said. "She assumed that we are all upper-middle class white females born to privilege."

Even though Resident Advisors were encouraged to attend the three workshops, many chose not to return because of the way Kendall presented her arguments.

"I did enjoy her, but not because I liked what she had to say. She challenged my previous thoughts and made me defend myself by considering what was personal," DeCleene said.

Kendall began the second seminar with an explanation that left several students feeling insulted.

Kendall explained that she came into the first seminar, "assuming that you students knew about institutional racism, but there has been an apparent disservice to your education.

There were students who agreed with the speaker and came away with a positive experience from the seminars. I grew up in Nigeria so I didn't experience discrimination because everyone is the same, so I didn't think about diversity until I got here," Patricia Mobolade, Saint Mary's sophomore said. "Hearing her speak about all these issues and seeing she didn't come from a minority was encouraging."

Contact Kelly Headley at Hrd@smu.edu

Contact Sarah Nestor at Nestor9877@saintmarys.edu

Volunteers Needed

The Early Childhood Development Center located at Saint Mary's College and the University of Notre Dame is looking for volunteers who enjoy young children. If you would be interested in spending 2 hours per week reading and playing with children, please call:

Running at ECDC-ND 284-4693 or ECDC-SMC 334-8411.

(Elizabeth office.

Contact Shannon Nelligan at nell2040@saintmarys.edu
A powerful typhoon that lashed South Korea over the weekend killed at least 113 people and the toll will likely rise as officials check reports of others missing in floods and landslides, the government said Tuesday.

Rusa was the deadliest typhoon to hit South Korea since 1959, when Typhoon Sara left more than 840 people dead or missing.

On Tuesday, the government's anti-disaster center said that 113 people were confirmed killed and 71 others missing after Rusa swept through eastern and southern parts of South Korea. All-news station YTN put the death toll at 138 killed and 77 missing.

Earlier, officials said 88 had been killed.

Park Chung-ho, a center official, said the death toll could rise as communications with remote, isolated areas were restored.

Rusa, the Malaysian word for deer, destroyed many sections of railways and roads, wiped out bridges, knocked out electricity and submerged thousands of homes. Property damage was tentatively put at $750 million.

One of the hardest was Gangwon province on the country's east coast where 128 people were killed or missing. Its seat, Gangneung, was swamped by waist-high floods after two steady days of torrential rains.

"Nothing is more miserable than this," said Kim Bun-hee, a 61-year-old housewife, standing in a long line to get a ration of drinking water brought by firetrucks. Kim said the basement of her home was still filled with water.

Power outages that had crippled the city of 220,000 for two days were eased as officials began repairing damaged power lines. But residents had difficulty getting drinking water.

Hundreds of graves were washed away in a landslide that destroyed a large part of a public cemetery outside Gangneung. Television clips showed people shoveling the leveled ground to try to locate the missing tombs of their loved ones.

Thousands of soldiers were helping residents clear mounds of broken furniture and damaged household goods that filled streets.

In other Executive Cabinet news:

♦ Bishop discussed the sell of The Shirt in both dining halls, as well as other locations on campus, possibly including residence halls.

"The project has lost some popularity in the last few years," Bishop said. Cabinet members expect that broader visibility of The Shirt will bring increased sales, ensuring the security of a major source of student activities funding.

---

Executive continued from page 1

---

HUNGRY?

free pizza from papa John's and snowcones

Thursday 9/5

4:7 pm

Fieldhouse mall

---

Meggie, Is your halo hiding underneath your towel?

Love, The Girls

---

STUDY IN BRAZIL

INFORMATION SESSIONS

THURS. SEPT. 5, 2002

6:00-7:15 PM &

THUR. SEPT. 19, 2002

5:00-6:15 PM

ROOM 129 HAYES-HEALY

Dec. 1, 2002 for Fall 2003

Applications available on-line: www.nd.edu/~intlstud/
Neville Island, Pa. President Bush, hoping to drive a wedge between Democrats and their big labor base, pledged Monday to fight recession and terrorism on behalf of American workers. "Congress needs to get moving," Bush said during a Labor Day address, urging lawmakers to stop blocking his efforts.

Referring to his terrorism insurance, energy, retirement protection and tax-cutting policies, says Americans are hurting more than economic indicators suggest. "I know the statistics and all the numbers, but what I worry about is when I hear stories about people who can't find work," Bush said.

Since the 2000 campaign, the president and his aides have tried to siphon money and votes from organized labor, the cornerstone of the Democratic Party's base.

The president has not made huge gains overall, Bush has managed to cultivate relationships with two labor leaders: James P. Hoffa of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and Douglas J. McCarron of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners.

Both labor leaders are rivals of AFL-CIO president John Sweeney, who leads the federation of 66 international union affiliates.

"When you look at rank-and-file union workers, there is increased support for President George W. Bush," White House spokesman Ari Fleischer said. "They are not in lockstep with some of these older-line liberal labor leaders. There's splits in the labor movement.

Introducing Bush at a picnic outside a union hall, McCarron said he won't agree with the president on every issue, but that those disagreements would be over principle, not personalities, "because I believe in the integrity of this man.

Trying to show empathy with the working man, Bush helped several carpenters-in-training practice building a house. He grabbed hold of a power miter saw and quickly cut four blocks away from two-by-fours. Chuckling, the president held his hand down toward the floor, his fingers gripped in his fist, and pretended to be missing all 10 of his digits.

Playfully offering reporters instructions, Bush said, "Never put your hands near the saw while it's cutting." But the workers' labor was for naught.

Bush and unions have worked together to push his energy plan, which includes opening Alaska's Arctic National Wildlife Refuge to oil drilling, and imposing new tariffs to help protect the alluring U.S. steel industry.

Still, some Bush policies ran- kle even Teamsters leaders, including the killing of ergonomics workplace rules, the opening of the U.S. border to Mexican trucks and the renewal of fast-track legislation that did not include labor-backed wage and safety provisions.

President Bush greets supporters after speaking to the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners to celebrate the Labor Day holiday at the Joint Apprenticeship Center in Pittsburgh, Penn.

Supreme Court nominee appeals to labor

Douglas J. McCarron of the United Brotherhood of Teamsters and Joiners to celebrate the Labor Day holiday at the Joint Apprenticeship Center in Pittsburgh, Penn.

The 10-day conference, which started a week ago and ends Wednesday, aims to shape an agreement to turn promises made at the 1992 Earth Summit in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, into reality.

U.N. Secretary-General Kofi Annan urged the more than 100 world leaders in Johannesburg to commit to firm action to solve problems identified a decade ago at Rio.

"The model of development we are accustomed to has been fruitful for the few, but flawed for the many," Annan said. "A path to prosperity that ravages the environment and leaves a majority of humankind behind in squalor will soon prove to be a dead-end road for everyone."

"Here in Johannesburg we must do more."

The agreed text includes a commitment to "urgently" increase the use of renewable energy sources, but sets no deadlines. Developing countries had sided with the United States and Japan against the two U.N. targets that the European Union sought.

The United States and oil-producing countries had resisted targets, arguing that concrete projects were more important than paper agreements.

JOHANNESBURG

With world leaders pushing for action, negotiators at the World Summit agreed Monday on a plan geared to help the globe's poorest people while reversing environmental declines.

Agreement came as participants resolved the last main sticking points in a 70-page action blueprint that seeks solutions to a range of issues — energy, clean water, health and sanitation.

The plan urged using a variety of energy sources that included both wind and solar power as well as fossil fuels — a victory for the United States and other oil-producing countries.

"Humanity has a rendezvous with destiny," French President Jacques Chirac declared. Alarms are sounding across all the continents. We cannot say that we did not know!

"The persistence of mass poverty is outrageous and an aberration," Chirac said. The world, he said, "is suffering from poor development, in both the North and South, and we stand indifferent.

The world leaders agreed to promote human rights, public health, gender relations, the environment, water resources, biodiversity and desertification.

The United States and oil-producing countries had resisted targets, arguing that concrete projects were more important than paper agreements.
Gas explosion kills worker

Associated Press

SNOW HILL, Md. A house explosion rocked a neighborhood on Maryland's Eastern Shore, killing a gas utility worker and injuring four residents and 13 fire fighters.

The explosion blew fire fighters off their feet and left nothing but a pile of rubble where the house in the working-class neighborhood stood.

The small Cape Cod-style home was lifted off its foundation, and glass and metal debris were strewn 50 yards away. A door lay on a sidewalk nearby.

"All of a sudden it was 'Boom!' and that was it," said Sonny Larson, Snow Hill's fire chief.

The cause of the explosion is under investigation, but authorities believe it is related to a reported gas leak in the area. Water on the ground, after 12 hours of heavy rain, may have disrupted underground gas lines and caused a leak, said Snow Hill Police Chief Michael McDermott.

Eastern Shore Natural Gas Company General Manager Steve Ashcraft referred questions to the company's attorney Mark Cropper, who did not immediately return calls seeking comment.

The fire fighters were investigating a gas leak at about 5:30 p.m. Sunday when the blast occurred. The gas was turned off at the meter, but gas apparently still leaked from the line, Larson said.

McDermott said fire fighters were so overcome by the explosion that police officers had to pick up fire hoses and extinguish the blaze.

"I was directing traffic and the next thing I knew I was lying on the ground," said Scott Brown, a volunteer firefighter who was nearby when the house blew up.

Most of the fire fighters were hurt by flames from the explosion and by flying glass, said Larson, who suffered cuts to his face and arms.

Firefighter Jay Bare said most of the men were outside the house when it exploded. "I think they had been on the scene for several minutes, enough to gather more people there before the explosion," Larson said.

Utility worker Ignatius Daniel Saienni, 38, of Stockton, who was responding to the gas leak, died in the explosion. Two people were in satisfactory condition at Peninsula Regional Medical Center in Salisbury.

Four were in critical condition Monday at Bayview Medical Center, one was in serious condition and one was in guarded condition.

Eight others were treated at Peninsula Regional and released, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Without you, Campus Ministry doesn't have a prayer

Attention: Students, Faculty, and Staff!

You are invited to compose a personal prayer for the new edition of the Notre Dame Student Prayer Book. Please visit our new website today for information about how to compose and submit a prayer.

http://www.nd.edu/~prayers/
Brazilian President Fernando Henrique Cardoso is greeted by South African President Thabo Mbeki and United Nations Secretary General Kofi Annan.

Oil producers look for options

- Industry searches for cleaner choices

Associated Press

RIO DE JANEIRO

The world's top oil producers tried to clean up their image as enemies of the environment Monday with delegates to an industry summit calling for companies to look for cleaner ways to do business.

The possibility of war in Iraq and the impact on world oil prices shadowed the World Petroleum Congress, which drew more than 3,000 delegates from 59 oil producing or consuming nations, and top oil executives.

For the first time, environmental defenders such as Greenpeace, Conservation International and the World Wildlife Fund were invited to the meetings and delegates pledged to seek cleaner-burning fuels and reduce the gases blamed for global warming.

"Oil companies have to continuously seek out new, alternative ways of doing business which will have the least impact on the environment," India's oil minister, Ram Naik, told the convention.

Naik said India, with a market of nearly 1 billion people, has followed Brazil's lead in mixing gasoline with ethanol to reduce emissions of greenhouse gases.

"They talk about environment, but from the point of view of accidents, you have to be a little skeptical," an oil official said.

Oil officials urged governments and oil companies to share "clean" technologies and reduceable efforts to protect the environment.

"It is no longer possible for any of us to carry out oil or gas exploitation activities without proper regard to the broader issues of environmental protection," said Lew Watts, group managing director of Shell Sustainable Development and Latin America.

He told delegates that the energy industry is at least "partially responsible" for the damage inflicted on the environment this past century.

Norwegian oil minister Einar Steenknnes said not enough has been done to implement the promises to protect the environment issued at the Earth Summit in Rio in 1992. A follow up summit, in Johannesburg, South Africa, ends Wednesday.

"Fossil fuels, at least for the next 20 or 30 years, will constitute the main source of energy in meeting increased global demand," Steenknnes said. "Coal, oil and natural gas all contribute in varying degrees to ... increasing the level of greenhouse gases."

Several companies announced Monday they will work closely with delegates to develop hybrid gas-electric cars.

Toyota Motor Corp. and Nissan Motor Co. announced Monday they will work closely together to develop hybrid gas-electric cars.

Under the deal unveiled Monday, Toyota will supply components for Nissan models sold in the U.S. and Japan beginning in 2006.

Toyota and Nissan, which together control 35 percent of the world's hybrid car market, have been racing to develop hybrid technology because they run on regular gas and don't burn any gasoline with ethanol to reduce emissions of greenhouse gases.

"Women are increasing their role in the home and car," said Frank Guggenheim, executive director of Shell Environmental Foundation. "Women are participating so they can say we're against dialogue, but I don't think the people at the conference are serious about protecting the environment...They talk about environment, but from the point of view of accidents, you have to be a little skeptical."

Oil officials urged governments and oil companies to share "clean" technologies and reduceable efforts to protect the environment.

"It is no longer possible for any of us to carry out oil or gas exploitation activities without proper regard to the broader issues of environmental protection," said Lew Watts, group managing director of Shell Sustainable Development and Latin America.

He told delegates that the energy industry is at least "partially responsible" for the damage inflicted on the environment this past century.

Norwegian oil minister Einar Steenknnes said not enough has been done to implement the promises to protect the environment issued at the Earth Summit in Rio in 1992. A follow up summit, in Johannesburg, South Africa, ends Wednesday.

"Fossil fuels, at least for the next 20 or 30 years, will constitute the main source of energy in meeting increased global demand," Steenknnes said. "Coal, oil and natural gas all contribute in varying degrees to ... increasing the level of greenhouse gases."

TOP 5 VOLUME LEADERS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>COMPANY</th>
<th>% CHANGE</th>
<th>$ GAIN</th>
<th>PRICE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SUN MICROSYSTEM (SUN)</td>
<td>-3.66</td>
<td>-0.14</td>
<td>3.69</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NASDAQ-100 INDEX (QQQ)</td>
<td>-1.16</td>
<td>-0.30</td>
<td>23.49</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>INTEL CORP (INTC)</td>
<td>-2.74</td>
<td>-0.47</td>
<td>16.67</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CRUDE CORP (ORCL)</td>
<td>-3.71</td>
<td>-0.37</td>
<td>9.69</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CISCO SYSTEMS (CSCO)</td>
<td>-2.68</td>
<td>-0.38</td>
<td>13.82</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

IN BRIEF

Venezuela expects economic growth

Venezuela's economy should grow by almost four percent in the second half of the year-after shrinking seven percent in the first half, the planning minister said.

Felipe Perez acknowledged that the economy's nine percent contraction in the second quarter was larger than expected, but insisted the government wasn't revising its 2002 growth predictions.

The government maintains its prediction of a 3.5 percent contraction this year—which implies 3.8 to 3.9 percent growth in the second half of the year, Perez said in an interview published Monday in El Universal newspaper.

Companies to develop electric cars

Toyota Motor Corp. and Nissan Motor Co. announced Monday they will work closely together to develop hybrid gas-electric cars.

Under the deal unveiled Monday, Toyota will supply components for Nissan models sold in the U.S. and Japan beginning in 2006.

Toyota and Nissan, which together control 35 percent of the world's hybrid car market, have been racing to develop hybrid technology because they run on regular gas and don't burn any gasoline with ethanol to reduce emissions of greenhouse gases.

"Women are increasing their role in the home and car," said Frank Guggenheim, executive director of Shell Environmental Foundation. "Women are participating so they can say we're against dialogue, but I don't think the people at the conference are serious about protecting the environment...They talk about environment, but from the point of view of accidents, you have to be a little skeptical."

Oil officials urged governments and oil companies to share "clean" technologies and reduceable efforts to protect the environment.

"It is no longer possible for any of us to carry out oil or gas exploitation activities without proper regard to the broader issues of environmental protection," said Lew Watts, group managing director of Shell Sustainable Development and Latin America.

He told delegates that the energy industry is at least "partially responsible" for the damage inflicted on the environment this past century.

Norwegian oil minister Einar Steenknnes said not enough has been done to implement the promises to protect the environment issued at the Earth Summit in Rio in 1992. A follow up summit, in Johannesburg, South Africa, ends Wednesday.

"Fossil fuels, at least for the next 20 or 30 years, will constitute the main source of energy in meeting increased global demand," Steenknnes said. "Coal, oil and natural gas all contribute in varying degrees to ... increasing the level of greenhouse gases."

"Ten years after the Earth Summit in Rio de Janeiro, we once again need to address the links between energy and the environment," he said.

Oil officials fear a conflict in the Middle East could disrupt supplies from the oil-rich region. Last week, oil prices rose to around $30 a barrel amid fears of a U.S. attack on Iraq.

Other oil producers could raise output to cover the shortfall.

All Rodriguez, the president of Petroleos de Venezuela, said Monday that Venezuela has the capacity to greatly increase its current oil output.

United names Tilton new CEO

CHICAGO

United Airlines named veteran oil executive Glenn Tilton its new chairman and CEO on Monday, reaching outside the airline industry in its effort to keep theailing carrier out of bankruptcy.

Tilton, 54, vice chairman of Chevron Texaco Corp. and acting chairman of energy marketer Dynegy Inc., was selected by unanimous vote of the board of United parent UAL Corp. during a special Labor Day conference call, the company said.

He replaces interim CEO Jack Creighton, who turned 70 on Sunday and had signaled his wish last May to retire.

As part of the switch, United announced that president Bono Dutta and chief operating officer Andy Studdert are stepping down.

Both had been under fire from the company's unions for more than a year.

The company said its responsibilities will be assumed by other executives. Tilton also was given the title of president; United did not elaborate on other shifts.

Tilton arrives with United needing to take swift, urgent actions to stave it out of danger. The nation's No. 2 carrier has posted losses of nearly $5 billion in the past 18 months and has threatened to file for Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection this fall if it can't cut costs dramatically and win a government loan guarantee.

Neither the company nor its new CEO addressed the possibility of bankruptcy in a four-page news release announcing his appointment.

Tilton stressed the need for a "green line and its unions and employees at the 55 percent worker-owned company.

"Our highest priorities must be to restore employee trust and revise investor and customer confidence," he said.
MEXICO

Fox faces criticism on unfulfilled campaign promises

Associated Press

MEXICO CITY

Two years after topping Mexico's powerful ruling party with brash promises of change, President Vicente Fox acknowledged that he still has work to do — and turned to an often hostile Congress for help.

Giving his second state-of-the-nation address to an increasingly impatient electorate, Fox said late Sunday that he wasn't content with the work he had done.

"In spite of the fact that we have moved forward, we aren't satisfied," Fox said. "We would betray Mexicans' hopes for change if we felt satisfied with what we've accomplished so far. I'm the first person to admit that not all our goals have been achieved."

In a speech interrupted by boos and protest banners, Fox urged lawmakers to help him build the Mexico he promised voters on July 2, 2000, when he ended the Institutional Revolutionary Party's 71-year hold on the presidency.

He thanked Congress for its "invaluable contribution to the process of change," part of his new strategy to build a better relationship with a legislative body that has often blocked his major proposals.

On Saturday, he met with leaders of Mexico's three main parties and urged them to help him change Mexico for the better.

Opposition party members didn't seem ready to work with Fox. They preceded his speech with sometimes harsh attacks, criticizing the president's failure to fulfill promises to reform everything from migration to the tax system.

Sen. Jesus Ortega of the opposition Democratic Revolution Party said changes promised by the Fox administration never materialized.

"Those who before claimed the need to criticize power, today look to hide and protect it," he said.

Later, lawmakers interrupted Fox's speech several times with shouts of protest and banners that read: "Where are the millions of jobs?" and "From lie to lie."

Sometimes stumbling over his words, Fox appeared visibly uncomfortable with the reminder of his earlier promises.

He took office Dec. 1, 2000, with the bluster of a braggart, promising to create 1 million jobs a year, increase gross domestic product by 7 percent annually and end a simmering rebel conflict in 15 minutes.

Instead, Mexico has lost hundreds of thousands of jobs. And Fox has been forced to scale back his growth pledge — first calling 7 percent a goal to be reached by the end of his term, then conditioning even that on the approval of all his reforms by Congress. GDP itself has been generally flat. The rebel conflict remains at an impasse.

Fox acknowledged that many people wanted more.

His government, he said, "is conscious of the many expectations that it has been charged with. I know that Mexico demands better results. I know that there is still a lot to do."

Still, he cited the smooth transition of his presidency and said he has helped strengthen democratic institutions, including the increasingly independent legislature and courts.

But the legislature's independence has also been the downfall of most of Fox's major proposals. Until the last few weeks, Fox has flippantly ignored Congress — which in turn has largely rejected his proposals.

Fox said Sunday that must change.

"It is time to restore an environment of understanding ... to strengthen dialogue with a genuine attitude to come to agreement and create reforms," he said. Only members of his own party applauded.

Right now, he is trying to get lawmakers to agree to his proposals allowing more private investment in the state-run electricity sector.

But Congress, where no party has a majority, remains divided.

The major parties couldn't even agree on who would give the official response to Fox's speech Sunday. Before PRI congressmanwoman Beatriz Paredes took the podium, lawmaker Petra Santos placed a funeral wreath in front of her, then walked out with members of her Democratic Revolution Party.

Writers Wanted

SHARE YOUR NOTRE DAME EXPERIENCE!

- The Office of Undergraduate Admissions is hiring several writers for its electronic newsletter targeted at high school students. Check out the latest edition at http://admissions.nd.edu/eirish.

- Articles will address student life at ND and run approximately 500 words in length.

- Writers will be paid per published article.

- Applicants should have strong writing skills and voice, as well as the ability to submit articles on a deadline.

If you are interested, please submit your name, hometown, year, dorm, major, list of principle activities at Notre Dame, and a short writing sample (something you've already written that reflects your writing style) to Leah Ashe, Admissions Counselor, at Ashe.2@nd.edu.

Have you though about teaching Religion and becoming a Catechist?

- Do you enjoy working with children or adolescents?
- Can you give one-two hours of your time each week?
- Do you welcome the challenge to articulate and share your faith?
- Would you like to be a valuable asset to a local parish?
- Would you like to work towards catechist certification?

If you can answer YES to any or all of these questions, come find out more about being a Religion Teacher.

Important Informational Meeting: Thursday, September 5 5:00-6:00 P.M.
Room 330 Coleman-Morse Center
Call John or Sylvia Dillon at 631-7163
Wisconsin tornado injures dozens

Associated Press

LADYSMITH, Wis. — A tornado ripped apart a northwestern Wisconsin town Monday, leveling a Baptist church and a gas station and injuring dozens of people, witnesses and officials said.

The tornado struck downtown Ladysmith at 4:30 p.m., the National Weather Service said. There was virtually nothing left of several downtown businesses shown on television footage.

"Most of the town is a disaster. There's buildings missing, down, torn apart — everything," said Christine Wright, an employee at the Holiday Station Store, a gas station in town. "They're shutting the town down."

Gov. Scott McCallum declared Ladysmith a disaster area and planned to visit the site Tuesday, spokesman Tim Roby said.

McCallum verbally gave the go-ahead for rescue workers to start working under the declaration Monday night and the state emergency management team was on its way to assess the damage, Roby said.

Thirty people were treated at Rock Memorial Hospital, with 18 dismissed and the other 12 with non-life threatening injuries, said administrator Mike Shaw. He said he spoke with sheriff's deputies late Monday and was informed there had been no reports of deaths.

Ladysmith Police Chief Norm Rozak said the storm swept through two small neighborhoods and the business district in the center of the town, damaging as many as 60 homes and businesses.

He said everyone was accounted for, and it appeared most of the injuries were bruises and cuts.

"It surprises me right now, looking at this devastation, that nobody to our knowledge is deceased," Rozak said late Monday, "it's not good for us, but there's a lot of great people up here. We'll have so many volunteers tomorrow that we won't know what to do with all of them."

Sandy Zajec, who owns a Ladymith radio station, told KARE-TV in Minneapolis that the Baptist church and an Amoco gas station were leveled and the top floors of a motel and the fire department were ripped off.

"There was like no warning," she said. "It was just there ... right in the center of downtown Ladysmith."

Arriving in Ladysmith on the heels of emergency workers, Mike Mier told the Milwaukee Journal Sentinel he was grief-stricken by the sight of the town.

"The water tower blew down, homes are gone, folks home's wrecked, main street devastated. Terrible. Everything is just twisted metal," Mier, a member of the Bruce town board, told the newspaper.

Local dispatcher Kathy Nelson in nearby Eau Claire County said a four-block area of Ladysmith was destroyed, and the Red Cross was sending numerous response teams to set up emergency shelters for people who were left homeless.

An aid station was set up at a school in Bruce, about 10 miles west of Ladysmith. American Red Cross spokeswoman Jodi Oman said, "Right now, we're still picking people up. We're still checking houses for people that we don't know if they got out yet."

Oman said the sheriff's department said numerous trees were down and several vehicles were damaged. Power was out and crews were sent to Ladysmith to assess the damage. Xcel Energy spokesman Brian Elwood said, "There's power lines down, there's properties broken," said Elwood of the company's Eau Claire office.

The storm moved out of the area by early evening, said meteorologist Tony Zaleski of the National Weather Service Minneapolis office. A second tornado hit north of Wausau on Monday evening, said Roy Eckberg, a meteorologist in the weather service's Green Bay office.

"It surprises me right now, looking at this devastation, that nobody to our knowledge is deceased," Rozak said late Monday, "it's not good for us, but there's a lot of great people up here. We'll have so many volunteers tomorrow that we won't know what to do with all of them."

Welcome to Notre Dame. Your life just went from 0 to 90.

Your life just went from 0 to 90.

Whatever twists and turns college throws at you, you can deal. And Nextel can help. We've got the newest phones, coolest features and sweetest rate plans you need for the ride of your life. You're ready. Bring it.

Now's a great time to get Nextel: all Notre Dame students and parents get a 10% discount on any rate plan and 1000 off any phone.

To buy:
  • get your NextelID/click student
  • call toll-free 1-877-506-2926
  • visit JDM Communications at 1039 Ironwood Drive, South Bend
  574-243-3818
  [Nextel will call you back if this is not an emergency phone number.]

Offer is valid for Notre Dame students and parents and expires December 31, 2002. While supplies last. Requires new activation; one year Service Agreement and credit approval. 1999 early termination fee applies. Must be 18 years of age to purchase. In store purchases require at least 2 forms of valid identification. Account set up fee of $25 per phone, maximum $100 per account. From May 31 to June 30, 98% defect rate is 20% of the Popular Retail Price and will be applied at time of sale. 10% off normally priced or clearance phones only. Call to verify phone availability. 2-21-02

LADYSMITH tornado injured dozens of people, trees, buildings.

Gov. Scott McCallum declared Ladysmith a disaster area and planned to visit the site Tuesday, spokesman Tim Roby said.

McCallum verbally gave the go-ahead for rescue workers to start working under the declaration Monday night and the state emergency management team was on its way to assess the damage, Roby said.

Thirty people were treated at Rock Memorial Hospital, with 18 dismissed and the other 12 with non-life threatening injuries, said administrator Mike Shaw. He said he spoke with sheriff's deputies late Monday and was informed there had been no reports of deaths.

Ladysmith Police Chief Norm Rozak said the storm swept through two small neighborhoods and the business district in the center of the town, damaging as many as 60 homes and businesses.

He said everyone was accounted for, and it appeared most of the injuries were bruises and cuts.

"It surprises me right now, looking at this devastation, that nobody to our knowledge is deceased," Rozak said late Monday, "it's not good for us, but there's a lot of great people up here. We'll have so many volunteers tomorrow that we won't know what to do with all of them."

Sandy Zajec, who owns a Ladymith radio station, told KARE-TV in Minneapolis that the Baptist church and an Amoco gas station were leveled and the top floors of a motel and the fire department were ripped off.

"There was like no warning," she said. "It was just there ... right in the center of downtown Ladysmith."

Arriving in Ladysmith on the heels of emergency workers, Mike Mier told the Milwaukee Journal Sentinel he was grief-stricken by the sight of the town.

"The water tower blew down, homes are gone, folks home's wrecked, main street devastated. Terrible. Everything is just twisted metal," Mier, a member of the Bruce town board, told the newspaper.

Local dispatcher Kathy Nelson in nearby Eau Claire County said a four-block area of Ladysmith was destroyed, and the Red Cross was sending numerous response teams to set up emergency shelters for people who were left homeless.

An aid station was set up at a school in Bruce, about 10 miles west of Ladysmith. American Red Cross spokeswoman Jodi Oman said, "Right now, we're still picking people up. We're still checking houses for people that we don't know if they got out yet."

Oman said the sheriff's department said numerous trees were down and several vehicles were damaged. Power was out and crews were sent to Ladysmith to assess the damage. Xcel Energy spokesman Brian Elwood said, "There's power lines down, there's properties broken," said Elwood of the company's Eau Claire office.

The storm moved out of the area by early evening, said meteorologist Tony Zaleski of the National Weather Service Minneapolis office. A second tornado hit north of Wausau on Monday evening, said Roy Eckberg, a meteorologist in the weather service's Green Bay office.
Final Week

Clinique free 8-pc. gift Yours with any $19.50 Clinique purchase

Free gift includes Long-Last Shine Lipstick, Total Turnaround Visible Skin Renewer, Dramatically Different Moisturizing Lotion, High Impact Eye Shadow Duo/Sheer Powder Blusher, Compact Mirror, Clarifying Lotion 2, Moisture Surge Eye Gel and Cosmetics Bag.

Gifts are one per guest, please, while quantities last. Cosmetics. Also at Lake Forest.

FREE clear signature bag with purchase of a complete 3-step skincare system.

Clinique 3-Step Skincare System includes Soap in a Dish, 12-oz. Clarifying Lotion in 1, 2, or 3, and 4-oz. Dramatically Different Moisturizing Lotion. $49.

Marshall Field's
the sheer joy of shopping®
Experts aim to ease W. Nile worries

Associated Press

ATLANTA

Public health officials sought Monday to assure Americans that the blood supply was safe despite concerns that an organ donor who received a transfusion may have transmitted West Nile virus to four transplant recipients.

One of the four died of brain swelling that can be caused by the virus, which until now has not been blamed solely on mosquito bites.

The three others were hospitalized with symptoms associated with West Nile, although doctors aren't sure they have the virus or whether they got it from a medical procedure.

The organ donor, a Georgia woman, died in a car crash last month. She may already have been infected or may have gotten West Nile through blood transfusions in the emergency room after the crash, the CDC said.

Samples from the four transplant recipients were sent to the CDC's lab in Fort Collins, Colo. Test results are expected within the week. The organ recipient who died was in the Atlanta area. The others are at hospitals in the Atlanta area, in Miami and Jacksonville, Fla., health officials said.

Public health officials spent the weekend assuring people about the national blood supply, despite the lack of a West Nile screening process in donated blood and organs. Any potential blood donor showing symptoms of the virus would be turned away, they said.

"The blood supply is no safer than it’s ever been," Trudy Sullivan, an American Red Cross spokeswoman in Washington, said Monday.

The Food and Drug Administration issued an alert to blood banks two weeks ago to exercise extra caution when screening donors.

"We've known for some time that there is a theoretical possibility that people can get this through blood or organ transplants," said Tom Skinner, a Centers for Disease Control and Prevention spokesman, said Sunday.

So far this year, 638 people in 27 states and the District of Columbia have tested positive for West Nile virus, and 31 have died, according to the CDC.

ND Freshman Ladies

Cheerleading Tryout

- Two positions available - Fall semester
- Cheer & Tumbling Experience Needed
- Joyce Center, Gym 2, September 4 at 6:30 pm
- Pick up forms to complete before tryout at Joyce Center - Above Gate 3 - See Beverly Visit table 130 at Activities Night for a chance to win "The Shirt"

DO YOU WANT TO...

- SHARE YOUR MUSIC TASTES?
- BROADCAST AROUND THE WORLD?
- BE PART OF THE COOLEST CREW ON CAMPUS?

BE A DJ FOR WVFI!

(NOTRE DAME'S ONLY STUDENT-RUN RADIO STATION)

LOOK FOR OUR TABLE TONIGHT AT THE JACC

South Africa

Mandela criticizes U.S. policy

Nobel Prize winner objects to attacking Iraq

JOHANNESBURG

Nelson Mandela said Monday that he is "appalled" by U.S. threats to attack Iraq and warned that Washington is "injecting chaos in international affairs." He said he had spoken with President Bush's father and Secretary of State Colin Powell.

As several world leaders at a summit here urged restraint by the United States, South Africa's revered former president issued a stinging rebuke to the Bush administration.

"We are really appalled by any country, whether a superpower or a small country, that goes outside the U.N. and attacks independent countries," Mandela said before going into a meeting with French President Jacques Chirac.

"No country should be allowed to be able to command the law in their own hands."

The United States has made toppling Saddam Hussein a priority, accusing the Iraqi leader of developing weapons of mass destruction despite U.N. resolutions that prohibit him from doing so. Vice President Cheney has argued in favor of preemptive military action to remove Saddam from power.

"What they are saying is introducing chaos in international affairs, and we condemn that in the strongest terms," Mandela said.

The 1993 Nobel Peace Prize winner said he tried to call Bush to discuss the matter but that the president was not available. Mandela said he instead spoke with Powell and former President George Bush. He also planned to speak by telephone with Condoleezza Rice, Bush's assistant for national security.

A number of top figures from the previous Bush administration have spoken out recently against unilateral military action — raising speculation that the elder Bush shares some of their doubts. The former president, however, has kept silent on his son's Iraq policy.

Chirac, who is in South Africa to attend the World Summit on Sustainable Development, said he shared a "common position on the assessment and application of these issues" with Mandela.

South Africa's current president, Thabo Mbeki, and German Chancellor Gerhard Schroeder also urged America to exercise restraint.

The two leaders met on the fringes of the summit and agreed they were not comfortable with any military action being taken against Iraq," said Essop Pahad, a Cabinet minister in Mbeki's office.

Peer Advocacy

Applications available at Activities Night or 203 Lafortune Before Wednesday

One Step closer to a...
Bishops’ plan fails to resolve Catholic Church’s sex-abuse scandal

One flippant proof for the divine origin of the Catholic Church is that, in 2,000 years, the priests and bishops have been unable to kill it. Whatever the Vatican decides on the norms for diocesan priests adopted by the bishops, the sex abuse scandal is no cause for discouragement as to the Church or clergies in general. The religious orders have adopted less rigorous rules for their priests. The bishops at Dallas, however, gave us a virtual manual on how not to handle a crisis. We can note only a few points here.

First, the bishops refused even to authorize a study of the relevance of dissent and clerical homosexuality to the abuse problem. Michael Novak, a former dissenter, described the reaction to Paul VI’s Humanae Vitae in 1968: "Immediately, a host of theologians, clergy and lay people publicly disseminated. Then, more afraid of being called ‘conservative’ than of being faithful to Catholic teaching, the bishops... refused to exercise their teaching authority... ‘Dissent-as-rebellion spread from one aspect of the Church’s sexual teaching to others. It grew and grew. Soon enough, homosexual rings were operating freely in several important seminaries. Over the years, scores of seminarians were seduced and corrupted.’ As Father Richard John Neuhaus noted, ‘The overwhelming majority of the clerical sexual abuse cases involve adult men having sex with teenage boys and young men, and by ordinary English usage we call that a homosexual relationship.” This subject is worthy of the bishops’ attention.

Second, the bishops imposed sanctions on their priests while they insulated themselves from any personal and financial accountability for their own involvement. Nor did they put their own jobs on the line. Why did they not oblige every bishop who has knowingly authorized the continued ministry of a priest guilty of sexual abuse to submit his resignation to the pope? The pope would decide whether to accept that resignation. The bishops who caused this crisis should at least volunteer to get out of the way.

Third, the bishops imposed a one-size-fits-all system of permanent separation from ministry “for even a single act of sexual abuse... of a minor — past, present or future,” even if the bishop had thereby assumed a duty to avoid the vaguely defined “sexual abuse.” An “alleged offender” will be relieved of his “function” merely on the bishops’ finding that the allegation is “credible.” Evidently, after he is so relieved will an “investigation in harmony with canon law” begin. Good priests, subjected to this regime, may now be inclined to act with a caution inconsistent with the energetic performance of their ministry.

Fifth, the bishops created uncertainty as to the terms “minor” and “child.” They generally describe the problem as “sexual abuse of minors.” As amended in 2001, Canon 1395, § 2, cited by the bishops, authorizes punishment of a cleric who has sex with a “minor” below the age of 18. But the bishops define “sexual abuse” as activity between “a child and an adult.” At common law, a “person below 14” is a person above the legal age of consent to a “child.” Is the bishop’s emphasis on the “child” an implicit green light for sex between homosexual priests and males who are post-pubescent or above the legal age of consent? In its civil law implications, the bishops’ work product at Dallas is replete with ambiguities and invitations to litigation.

Neuhaus made the basic point: “If bishops and priests had been faithful to the Church’s teaching and their sacred vows, there would be no crisis. That is the fact quite totally evaded at Dallas.” However, as John Paul II said in his homily at World Youth Day in Toronto: “Do not be discouraged by the sins and failings of some of the (Church’s) members... Think of the vast majority of dedicated and generous priests and religious whose only wish is to serve and do good.”

Charles Rice is a professor emeritus on the Law School faculty. His column appears every other Tuesday. He can be reached at placekiki1@nd.edu. The views expressed in this column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.
Despite sleaze, trash TV boosts self-esteem

Amy Schill
Dazed and Amused

There is more to living off-campus than having "free- dom" in the sense we would wish away from parental and roommates. Notre Dame students living off-campus in the Northeast Neighborhood (the area directly south of campus) should recognize how fortunate they are to live in such an active and richly diverse neighborhood.

Much attention has been drawn to the unfortunate increase in crime that occurred last Saturday. Three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robbed near a Corby Street party. While that incident that occurred last Saturday when three students were robber...
Wilco

Yankee Hotel Foxtrot

The brainchild of former Uncle Tupelo member Jeff Tweedy, Wilco has run the genre gamut from early alt-country to indie pop in three previous efforts. On the band's fourth outing, Yankee Hotel Foxtrot, Tweedy & Co. disregard genre restrictions on an album that offers everything from upbeat jangle pop to cerebral ballads that take the listener through an aching canvas of despair and frustration.

Tweedy's prodigal poetics and the band's experimentation and growth (including a lineup change) makes Yankee move like a well-oiled Tin Man walking fine, but with the scars of an afflicted past. The soundscape sweeps from ethereal to stolid, the orchestration from cosmic to comic. But the bolder aspects of the songs are encased in a plaster cast of vulnerable, naked and shockingly powerful lyrics.

Tweedy's voice can sound like a child's who gets caught looking up a mannequin's dress, but then explode on the next track. The opener, "I Am Trying To Break Your Heart," moves like a drunken confession, slurring nonsense over a playground of a piano played by a ceilin' fan. "I'm the Man Who Loves You," is a frenetic and engaging track, showing a conviction and energy that Tweedy leaves out of other songs. When he muses on "Reservations," "The truth / proves its beautiful to lie," you involuntarily cringe, somewhat embarrassed that on some level, you can sympathize.

That's exactly what this album makes you do: regardless of whether or not Yankee is exactly your type, it nests in your head. The songs are accessible enough to get inside of to brood over, but retain an inherent simplicity that allow you to listen without thinking. No other band today could execute this marriage of disparate sounds into the aural masterpiece that Yankee Hotel Foxtrot is.

Counting Crows

Hanging Around

The Counting Crows are timeless. Theirs is the music for the night before, the morning after, and the tumultuous in between, and with the release of their fourth studio album, Hard Candy, they have perfected their craft. Boasting a slew of accomplished musicians, the backing vocals of Sheryl Crow, Matthew Sweet, and Ryan Adams, they have never been more refined. Lyrically, the product of Tweedy's voice can sound like a child's who gets caught looking up a mannequin's dress, but then explode on the next track. The opener, "I Am Trying To Break Your Heart," moves like a drunken confession, slurring nonsense over a playground of a piano played by a ceilin' fan. "I'm the Man Who Loves You," is a frenetic and engaging track, showing a conviction and energy that Tweedy leaves out of other songs. When he muses on "Reservations," "The truth / proves its beautiful to lie," you involuntarily cringe, somewhat embarrassed that on some level, you can sympathize.

That's exactly what this album makes you do: regardless of whether or not Yankee is exactly your type, it nests in your head. The songs are accessible enough to get inside of to brood over, but retain an inherent simplicity that allow you to listen without thinking. No other band today could execute this marriage of disparate sounds into the aural masterpiece that Yankee Hotel Foxtrot is.

Counting Crows

Hanging Around

The Counting Crows are timeless. Theirs is the music for the night before, the morning after, and the tumultuous in between, and with the release of their fourth studio album, Hard Candy, they have perfected their craft. Boasting a slew of accomplished musicians, the backing vocals of Sheryl Crow, Matthew Sweet, and Ryan Adams, they have never been more refined. Lyrically, the product of Tweedy's voice can sound like a child's who gets caught looking up a mannequin's dress, but then explode on the next track. The opener, "I Am Trying To Break Your Heart," moves like a drunken confession, slurring nonsense over a playground of a piano played by a ceilin' fan. "I'm the Man Who Loves You," is a frenetic and engaging track, showing a conviction and energy that Tweedy leaves out of other songs. When he muses on "Reservations," "The truth / proves its beautiful to lie," you involuntarily cringe, somewhat embarrassed that on some level, you can sympathize.

That's exactly what this album makes you do: regardless of whether or not Yankee is exactly your type, it nests in your head. The songs are accessible enough to get inside of to brood over, but retain an inherent simplicity that allow you to listen without thinking. No other band today could execute this marriage of disparate sounds into the aural masterpiece that Yankee Hotel Foxtrot is.

Counting Crows

Hanging Around

The Counting Crows are timeless. Theirs is the music for the night before, the morning after, and the tumultuous in between, and with the release of their fourth studio album, Hard Candy, they have perfected their craft. Boasting a slew of accomplished musicians, the backing vocals of Sheryl Crow, Matthew Sweet, and Ryan Adams, they have never been more refined. Lyrically, the product of Tweedy's voice can sound like a child's who gets caught looking up a mannequin's dress, but then explode on the next track. The opener, "I Am Trying To Break Your Heart," moves like a drunken confession, slurring nonsense over a playground of a piano played by a ceilin' fan. "I'm the Man Who Loves You," is a frenetic and engaging track, showing a conviction and energy that Tweedy leaves out of other songs. When he muses on "Reservations," "The truth / proves its beautiful to lie," you involuntarily cringe, somewhat embarrassed that on some level, you can sympathize.

That's exactly what this album makes you do: regardless of whether or not Yankee is exactly your type, it nests in your head. The songs are accessible enough to get inside of to brood over, but retain an inherent simplicity that allow you to listen without thinking. No other band today could execute this marriage of disparate sounds into the aural masterpiece that Yankee Hotel Foxtrot is.

Counting Crows

Hanging Around

The Counting Crows are timeless. Theirs is the music for the night before, the morning after, and the tumultuous in between, and with the release of their fourth studio album, Hard Candy, they have perfected their craft. Boasting a slew of accomplished musicians, the backing vocals of Sheryl Crow, Matthew Sweet, and Ryan Adams, they have never been more refined. Lyrically, the product of Tweedy's voice can sound like a child's who gets caught looking up a mannequin's dress, but then explode on the next track. The opener, "I Am Trying To Break Your Heart," moves like a drunken confession, slurring nonsense over a playground of a piano played by a ceilin' fan. "I'm the Man Who Loves You," is a frenetic and engaging track, showing a conviction and energy that Tweedy leaves out of other songs. When he muses on "Reservations," "The truth / proves its beautiful to lie," you involuntarily cringe, somewhat embarrassed that on some level, you can sympathize.

That's exactly what this album makes you do: regardless of whether or not Yankee is exactly your type, it nests in your head. The songs are accessible enough to get inside of to brood over, but retain an inherent simplicity that allow you to listen without thinking. No other band today could execute this marriage of disparate sounds into the aural masterpiece that Yankee Hotel Foxtrot is.

Counting Crows

Hanging Around

The Counting Crows are timeless. Theirs is the music for the night before, the morning after, and the tumultuous in between, and with the release of their fourth studio album, Hard Candy, they have perfected their craft. Boasting a slew of accomplished musicians, the backing vocals of Sheryl Crow, Matthew Sweet, and Ryan Adams, they have never been more refined. Lyrically, the product of Tweedy's voice can sound like a child's who gets caught looking up a mannequin's dress, but then explode on the next track. The opener, "I Am Trying To Break Your Heart," moves like a drunken confession, slurring nonsense over a playground of a piano played by a ceilin' fan. "I'm the Man Who Loves You," is a frenetic and engaging track, showing a conviction and energy that Tweedy leaves out of other songs. When he muses on "Reservations," "The truth / proves its beautiful to lie," you involuntarily cringe, somewhat embarrassed that on some level, you can sympathize.

That's exactly what this album makes you do: regardless of whether or not Yankee is exactly your type, it nests in your head. The songs are accessible enough to get inside of to brood over, but retain an inherent simplicity that allow you to listen without thinking. No other band today could execute this marriage of disparate sounds into the aural masterpiece that Yankee Hotel Foxtrot is.
Summer Music

s summer's best albums

Sweep the Leg Johnny

Going Down Swingin'

"Sweep the Leg Johnny" is a five-piece band that could be somewhat accurately described as blistering math rock with a saxophone.

Math rock is a predominantly instrumental genre marked by intricate and interlocking layered guitar parts, dissonance, and start-stop-start-stop dynamics. Unless you have the myriad of subtleties and time changes memorized, it's basically impossible to dance to, due to the nature of the complex, bizarre, and frequently changing time signatures.

Sweep the Leg Johnny, who got their name from the movie Karate Kid, features Notre Dame graduates and former WVFI DJs Steve Sostak on saxophone and Chris Daly on guitar. With the addition of Mitch Cheney, formerly of San Francisco-based math rock outfit Rumah Sakit, no second guitar this album is even more elaborate and intense than their previous efforts. The song structures barre no resemblance whatsoever to the conventional song writing of most rock bands. There is very little melody in the sparse vocal lines and really no chords either. Despite this, the music definitely contains melodic passages full of hooks.

Going Down Swingin', released last summer, is their fourth and final album. The stellar opening track is a gripping 14-minute epic full of sweeping crescendos and intricately woven guitar, bass, drum, and sax parts. Other standout tracks include "Only In a Rerun," "J. Daly's Message to Jacob and Sylvia," and "Transit Must Suffer." Although I prefer their earlier material, this album is still phenomenal and definitely worthy of a listen. If you're into progressive rock, jazz, noise, or just complex music then check out Sweep the Leg Johnny.

Review by Tim Bradley

Red Hot Chili Peppers

By The Way

With the release of their ninth album, By The Way, The Red Hot Chili Peppers show that they have continued to improve their sound since the release of their first album in 1984.

In By The Way, The Peppers, who almost single-handedly started the rock-rap style, have continued in their more melodic mode evident in recent singles like "Sear Tissue" off of 1999's Californication. Though fans may be a bit taken aback by lead singer Anthony Kiedis' mel­ lowed tone, the change is nothing new. The Peppers have been slowly changing their style for almost 10 years. Ever since the ballad "Under the Bridge" from 1991's Blood Sugar Sex Magik, each Peppers album has successfully backed away from their recognizable (and often imitated) adrenaline soaked style.

But By the Way isn't a watered down Peppers album by any stretch of the imagination. The Peppers sound comes off in its best form yet. Gone is the uncontrollable, phrenetic mosh-pit album of the early '90s; in its place is a controlled and elegant composition. The Peppers' old sound is 'gone.' It's just grown up.

The album might take a few go rounds to appreciate, but it is undoubtedly the group's best work to date.

Review by C. Spencer Beggs

Weezer

Maladroit

"Trying to resuscitate the ailing body of rock, not to mention resurrect the heavy metal core, Weezer had their work cut out for themselves on this, their aptly (or not) titled fourth effort. Rivers Cuomo, Weezer's often dismissive, sometimes cracked front man, seems infused with a divine right to rock passed directly from the gods of metal themselves. The rhythm section is reminiscent of the polished glory days of Genesis. Back-up guitarist Brian Bell sounds more like Rivers' own version of L.A. Cold Heart."

"Jones shows her ability to transcend musical genres and morph a country twang into a jazz line, while capitalizing on her lovingly regretful vocals. Perhaps the strongest song on the album is Jones' own "Come Away With Me." Like a song-writing veteran, Jones fills this song with gorgeous piano strokes and a deep, sensual voice carrying a tune that is something reminiscent of a Carol King song. With an album of such beauty released only as a debut, Jones makes it easy to plug in and come away with her.

Review by Julie Bender

Blackalicous

Blazing Arrow

If popular rap about gator boots, Gucci suits and chromed out Escalades starts to annoy you after awhile, picking up a Blackalicous album will change your perceptions on the hip hop genre.

Rapping, rhyming and singing over intricately simple beats and rapping about social issues and everyday life, Blackalicous have created a near masterpiece with their newest album, Blazing Arrow.

"Weezer invites their fans to sing along and rock out a little on the reason that their "Blue" album became an anemic hit for drunken air-guitar wielding college guys everywhere. "Keep Pishin'!", the second single, and easily Weezer's best since their debut, brings out old friends melody and harmony to display their honed skills as both songwriters and musicians, and comes out solid and spellbinding.

But despite all the throwback goodies, Weezer winds up a little short on their lyrical credibility. Rivers puts more emotion into this album than the last, but still doesn't sell it like he did Pinkerton. And Maladroit, a blend of unfortunate pop disasters. But with the drive to keep rock alive, Weezer files their metal flag proudly, and in the process, made a wickedly enjoyable album.

Review by Mike Schmall

Norah Jones

Come Away With Me

"Wha't would a summer be without soft, cool jazz breezing through curtained windows? That's exactly what Norah Jones offers on her debut album, Come Away With Me. Released in February, this album has been getting more and more publicity with every month. Perhaps this is due to Jones' voice, which at times seems to tiptoe lightly on the music while other times guides soothingly through it. Or maybe it's the genre-defying piano Jones can roll out while being backed by the smooth bass of Lee Alexander, the guitar workings of Jesse Harris, and the complementary drumming of Dan Berger.

The album opens with the catchy number "Don't Know Why," a song with a sly feel to it as Jones vocally weaves in and out of the piano and bass back­ ing. On her cover of Hank Wess' "Cold, Cold Heart," Jones shows her ability to transcend musical genres and morph a country twang into a jazz line.

Review by Daniel McSwain

Norah Jones

Maladroit

By the Way

"With no "bling bling" to brag about, all the artists of Blackalicous have created a near masterpiece with their newest album, Blazing Arrow.

Offering a refreshing departure from the fabricated pop sound of the Green album, Weezer invokes bands like Rush, Iron Maiden, and even a little Grateful Dead to craft their new melodic metal pop. "Dope Nose," the first single, is a blend of pure rock goodness and sardonic hair metal nostalgia. Reminding listeners that there is life after emo, Weezer invites their fans to sing along and rock out a little on the reason that their "Blue" album became an anemic hit for drunken air-guitar wielding college guys everywhere.

"Keep Pishin'!", the second single, and easily Weezer's best since their debut, brings out old friends melody and harmony to display their honed skills as both songwriters and musicians, and comes out solid and spellbinding.

All in all, Blazing Arrow is certainly the best hip hop album of the summer and one of the definitive hip hop albums to date.

Review by Tim Bradley

Blackalicous

Norah Jones

Weezer

Sweep the Leg Johnny

Sweep the Leg Johnny

"Red Hot Chili Peppers"

"Maladroit"

"Blazing Arrow"
FOOTBALL

Students create their own football rankings

Notre Dame, meet the Sendwich Index. "Sendwich what?" you ask. The Sendwich Index is an objective, performance-based, automated system for ranking the collective relative performances of all Division IA college football teams. Try saying that ten times fast.

In contrast to the A.P. and Coaches' polls, the Sendwich Index does not rely on a popular vote or human judgment. Rather, it uses a computerized system to evaluate the relative quality of teams based on who, where, when and how they perform.

The Sendwich Index was conceived and developed by Eric Chanowich and Eric Sendelbach, both senior computer science majors at Notre Dame. For those scoring at home, that's us.

The Sendwich Index as a final project for our Data Structures class taught by Jesus Dame. For all classifieds for content without issuing refunds. The charge is 3 cents per character per day, including all spaces. The Observer reserves the right to edit all classifieds for content without issuing refunds.

We originally created the Sendwich Index as a final project for our Data Structures class taught by Jesus Izaguirre. Much to our surprise, the results were quite accurate.

Over the past five years, the Sendwich Index has correctly selected the national champion. We were not alone in our effort. Eric Chanowich and Eric Sendelbach, both senior computer science majors at Notre Dame. For those scoring at home, that's us.

The Sendwich Index as a final project for our Data Structures class taught by Jesus Izaguirre. Much to our surprise, the results were quite accurate.

Over the past five years, the Sendwich Index has correctly selected the national champion. We were not alone in our effort. Eric Chanowich and Eric Sendelbach, both senior computer science majors at Notre Dame. For those scoring at home, that's us.

The Sendwich Index as a final project for our Data Structures class taught by Jesus Izaguirre. Much to our surprise, the results were quite accurate.

Over the past five years, the Sendwich Index has correctly selected the national champion. We were not alone in our effort. Eric Chanowich and Eric Sendelbach, both senior computer science majors at Notre Dame. For those scoring at home, that's us.

The Sendwich Index as a final project for our Data Structures class taught by Jesus Izaguirre. Much to our surprise, the results were quite accurate.

Over the past five years, the Sendwich Index has correctly selected the national champion. We were not alone in our effort. Eric Chanowich and Eric Sendelbach, both senior computer science majors at Notre Dame. For those scoring at home, that's us.

The Sendwich Index as a final project for our Data Structures class taught by Jesus Izaguirre. Much to our surprise, the results were quite accurate.

Over the past five years, the Sendwich Index has correctly selected the national champion. We were not alone in our effort. Eric Chanowich and Eric Sendelbach, both senior computer science majors at Notre Dame. For those scoring at home, that's us.

The Sendwich Index as a final project for our Data Structures class taught by Jesus Izaguirre. Much to our surprise, the results were quite accurate.

Over the past five years, the Sendwich Index has correctly selected the national champion. We were not alone in our effort. Eric Chanowich and Eric Sendelbach, both senior computer science majors at Notre Dame. For those scoring at home, that's us.

The Sendwich Index as a final project for our Data Structures class taught by Jesus Izaguirre. Much to our surprise, the results were quite accurate.

Over the past five years, the Sendwich Index has correctly selected the national champion. We were not alone in our effort. Eric Chanowich and Eric Sendelbach, both senior computer science majors at Notre Dame. For those scoring at home, that's us.

The Sendwich Index as a final project for our Data Structures class taught by Jesus Izaguirre. Much to our surprise, the results were quite accurate.

Over the past five years, the Sendwich Index has correctly selected the national champion. We were not alone in our effort. Eric Chanowich and Eric Sendelbach, both senior computer science majors at Notre Dame. For those scoring at home, that's us.

The Sendwich Index as a final project for our Data Structures class taught by Jesus Izaguirre. Much to our surprise, the results were quite accurate.

Over the past five years, the Sendwich Index has correctly selected the national champion. We were not alone in our effort. Eric Chanowich and Eric Sendelbach, both senior computer science majors at Notre Dame. For those scoring at home, that's us.

The Sendwich Index as a final project for our Data Structures class taught by Jesus Izaguirre. Much to our surprise, the results were quite accurate.

Over the past five years, the Sendwich Index has correctly selected the national champion. We were not alone in our effort. Eric Chanowich and Eric Sendelbach, both senior computer science majors at Notre Dame. For those scoring at home, that's us.

The Sendwich Index as a final project for our Data Structures class taught by Jesus Izaguirre. Much to our surprise, the results were quite accurate.

Over the past five years, the Sendwich Index has correctly selected the national champion. We were not alone in our effort. Eric Chanowich and Eric Sendelbach, both senior computer science majors at Notre Dame. For those scoring at home, that's us.

The Sendwich Index as a final project for our Data Structures class taught by Jesus Izaguirre. Much to our surprise, the results were quite accurate.

Over the past five years, the Sendwich Index has correctly selected the national champion. We were not alone in our effort. Eric Chanowich and Eric Sendelbach, both senior computer science majors at Notre Dame. For those scoring at home, that's us.

The Sendwich Index as a final project for our Data Structures class taught by Jesus Izaguirre. Much to our surprise, the results were quite accurate.

Over the past five years, the Sendwich Index has correctly selected the national champion. We were not alone in our effort. Eric Chanowich and Eric Sendelbach, both senior computer science majors at Notre Dame. For those scoring at home, that's us.
Davenport, Capriati advance to quarterfinals

Associated Press

NEW YORK

Lindsay Davenport spent the better part of Monday sitting by a window at the National Tennis Center while rain fell. Once play started, she rose to the occasion.

Playing just her fifth tournament since knee surgery, Davenport moved into the U.S. Open quarterfinals by beating 13th-seeded Silvia Farina Elia of Italy 6-3, 6-1 in a match that started more than 7 hours late because of downpours.

"It was hard for me to get going. I really didn't have a lot of time to prepare," Davenport said. "I'm so relieved it's over with, but I don't remember going out there too many times with no warmup, not a lot of notice."

Third-seeded Jennifer Capriati followed Davenport in Arthur Ashe Stadium and also eased into the round of eight, beating fellow American Amy Frazier 6-1, 6-3 despite eight double faults.

Rain that fell through the night continued into Monday, and organizers postponed 60 doubles and junior tournament matches. They were still hoping to be able to fit in a big schedule of main draw singles action, though by 8:45 p.m., only Davenport and Capriati had completed their matches.

"The bad news is: We're behind in matches, doing the best to make them up," tournament referee Brian Earley said. "We're certainly hopeful to get where we need to be. We know it's a hardship."

Davenport only had a hard time right at the start against Farina Elia, dropping the first two games. Then she turned it on, winning four straight games and 12 of the remaining 14. Davenport won eight of the last nine points in each set, closing the match by breaking Farina Elia's serve at love.

"Once I got back on serve pretty much I think we felt a lot better out there," Davenport said.

The American finished 2001 atop the rankings, but she was out of New Haven until last month because of her knee injury. With Davenport and another former No.1 player recovering from surgery, Martina Hingis, were sidelined, Serena and Venus Williams met in the last two Grand Slam finals and climbed to 1-2 in the world.

In Davenport's comeback, she reached the semifinals in the first two and the finals in the last two. Two losses came against Venus Williams, including the title match Saturday in New Haven, Conn.

She spent nine weeks on crutches after her operation in January, then endured months of rehabilitation that included eight hours a day using a machine that repeatedly bent her right knee.

Davenport also changed her diet and has appeared fit in her four victories here.

The worst potential backlog was in the lower half of the men's draw, which includes four-time U.S. Open champion Pete Sampras, 1997 finalist Greg Rusedski, third-seeded Tommy Haas, and three-time French Open winner Gustavo Kuerten.

Their third-round matches got under way Sunday, but they were halted in progress, with Sampras serving down 4-4 to Rusedski, Haas up a set against Thomas Enqvist, and Kuerten a set ahead of Nicolas Massu.

Even if all were finished Monday, it meant one man's finalist probably would have to play five matches in seven days. The worst-case scenario is that five matches (first round, quarterfinal, semifinal, final of the tournament at home on TV)

It certainly wouldn't make things any easier for the 31-year-old Sampras, who has been struggling with his game of late. He hasn't won a tournament since July 2000, when at Wimbledon he claimed his record 13th Grand Slam title.

Haas has had pain in his right arm — though his coach, Todd Ayme, said Monday it's "not a factor when he gets on the court" — and another player in that half of the draw, fifth-seeded Tim Henman, has been fighting right shoulder problems.

"We're not even thinking that far ahead," Ayme said, referring to the chance that there could be a jammed schedule. "If we lose one, Tommy's on a plane, and he watches the rest of the tournament at home on TV."

While pushing the men's final back a day to Sept. 9 could happen, Earley shared that there are some limits to what his options are as he tries to figure out a way to get all the matches in. No day's action will start before 11 a.m., for example, and players won't have to play more than one singles match in a day, unlike at some lesser tournaments where weather interrupts action.
"...to act justly, to love tenderly and to walk humbly with your God."

Micah 6:8

Sign-up for Service

Come to Activities Night at the JACC tonight (from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m.) to learn about service opportunities in the South Bend Community.

Service/Social Action Clubs and Local Agencies

420 CSC- General information
421 Experiential Learning
422 CSC- Social Concerns Seminars
423 CSC- Urban Plunge
424 CSC- Summer Service Program Internships
425 CSC- Senior Transitions Program
426 CSC- National Youth Sports Program (NYSP)
427 CSC- International Summer Service Learning Programs
428 CSC- Appalachia Break Seminar
429 American Cancer Society Club
430 American Cancer Society
431 Amnesty International Notre Dame
432 Best Buddies
433 Super Sibs
434 Logan Recreation Club
435 Logan Center
436 Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Notre Dame/Saint Mary's
437 Big Brothers/Big Sisters
438 Boys & Girls Clubs of St. Joseph County
439 Broadway Christian Parish
440 Campus Alliance for Rape Elimination
441 Campus Girl Scouts
501 Catholic Charities
502 Center for Basic Learning Skill
503 Center for the Homeless
504 Charles Martin Youth Center
505 Children's Dispensary
506 Circle K, Notre Dame
507 La Casa De Amistad Inc.
508 Clay Fire Territory- Student Firefighters
509 College Football Hall of Fame
510 Community Alliance to Serve Hispanics
511 Community Resource Center
512 Dismas of Michiana (Dismas House)
513 Dream Center
514 East Timor Action Network@ND
515 Educational Talent Search
516 Foodshare
518 Habitat for Humanity
519 Harbor Light Hospice
520 Helpful Undergraduate Students
521 HIV-AIDS Awareness / Students with AIDS Training
522 Hugh Ol' Brian Youth Foundation Alumni Association
523 Humane Society of St. Joseph County
524 Knights of Columbus
525 Life Treatment Centers
526 Lunch P.A.C.K., ND/SMC
527 Memorial Hospital
528 Memorial Hospital/Community Health Enhancement
529 Ms. Wizard Day Program Team
530 ND for Animals
531 Neighborhood Study Help Program
532 Oasis
533 Operation Smile Student Organization
534 Pax Christi-U.S.A., Notre Dame
535 Progressive Student Alliance
536 Reins of Life
537 Right to Life, Notre Dame
538 Robinson Community Learning Center
539 Saint Joseph's Chapin Street Health Center Volunteers
540 Silver Wings
541 S-O-S
601 South Bend Area Schools
602 South Bend Housing Authority
603 South Bend Juvenile Correctional 604 Special Friends Club
605 St. Joseph County Police
606 St. Vincent de Paul Society
607 Students for Environmental Action
608 Teach for America
609 Teamwork for Tomorrow
610 Trident Naval Society
611 Twenty-First Century Scholars
612 United Religious Community
613 University Young Life
614 Urban League of South Bend & St. Joseph County
615 Woman's Care Center
616 Women's Resource Center
617 World Hunger Coalition
618 Youth Services Bureau- Safe Station
904 First Aid Services Team

*For more information regarding these groups, please visit the CSC's website at http://centerforsocialconcerns.nd.edu/Irish
continued from page 28
Terrapins to just 16 rushing yards. "That was the most fun I’ve ever had playing ball," said Goolsby, who tied Hoyte for the team lead with eight tackles and one sack. "After the first quarter and getting accustomed to things, I just went out there and was my normal self. I had a blast out there..." Taking out the ACC champ like that, that was pretty impressive," he added.

The start was particularly special for Hoyte, who lives about 30 minutes south of Giants Stadium. A large contin-gent of family, friends and coaches made the trek from Hoyte’s Parlin, N.J., home to watch the linebacker start his first collegiate game. Whenever Hoyte came off the field, he sought out Watson on the sideline for advice. But once Hoyte got on the field, he didn’t have to worry about where he had to be on defense — he just let instinct take over.

"I think personally I just understood my material a lot better than in the spring," Hoyte said. "The fact I didn’t have to do every time I lined up on the field and could just play, that helped tremendously.

Baer admitted he was slightly worried about starting three untested linebackers at what is essentially the quarterback position on defense. Linebackers are responsible for getting the coverage schemes from coaches, relaying them to the players and then making sure players line up correctly. But the fact that the Irish often try to simulate game conditions in practice made the transition easier for the trio of first-time starters.

"It’s not like they haven’t done anything before," Baer said. "They play against our offense in practice, which is a pretty good offense. Anytime you play against our offense, it prepares you for a game like this.”

The strong debut of Hoyte, Goolsby and Curry allowed Baer and the Irish to breathe a sigh of relief. Still, they’re not dwelling on Saturday’s victory; they know the Irish have 11 more games to play.

"I think it gives me a great amount of confidence, but the fact is that we have one mission, one goal on this football team," Hoyte said. "That is to win football games."
Nicholas Boyle, University of Cambridge
Author of Goethe: the Poet and the Age,
Vol. 1: The Poetry of Desire (1749-1790)
Vol. 2: Revolution and Renunciation (1790-1803)
Co-Editor of Goethe and the English-Speaking World:
Essays from the Cambridge Symposium for his 250th Anniversary
Co-editor of Realism in European Literature: Essays in Honour of J. P. Stern
Author of Who Are We Now?:
Christian Humanism and the Global Market from Hegel to Heaney
Winner of the Goethe Medal in 2000; Fellow of the British Academy

The Third Annual Notre Dame Erasmus Lectures
Nicholas Boyle
Sacred and Secular Scriptures: a catholic approach to literature

Bible as Literature
September 3, 2002 Literature and Theology
September 5, 2002 History and Hermeneutics*
September 10, 2002 Revelation and Realism*
September 12, 2002 Beyond Bibliolatry*

Literature as Bible
April 1, 3, 8, and 10, 2003

All lectures are held on consecutive Tuesdays and Thursdays in the auditorium of the Hesburgh Center for International Studies and begin at 4 p.m.

*The lectures on September 5, 10, and 12 will be two-hours in length with a refreshment break.

Funding for the Erasmus Institute comes from the generosity of our donors. The Pew Charitable Trusts, the William J. Carey Endowment, and the University of Notre Dame.
Volleyball

Belles bring home first win of the season

Saint Mary's brought home victory No. 1, defeating Tri-State at the Alma Invitational this weekend.

The Belles played four games over the course of the weekend, finishing with a 1-3 record. Tri-State, which is aiming to join the MIAA next season, was an important victory for the Belles.

Although recorded conference play does not begin until Wednesday, Saint Mary's did face off against conference opponent Alma. The Belles dropped the match. The Scots, who finished were MIAA conference champions, were the Belles' only opponent who defeated them in three games (30-12, 30-18, 30-20).

Saint Mary's also fell to Aquinas 5-2 (30-24, 30-23, 30-24, 29-31, 15-11) and Carthage 4-1 (30-24, 30-21, 23-30, 30-15).

Allison Shevik had 36 kills for the Belles, Elise Rupright added 34 and Elizabeth Albert rounded things off with 24 kills. Freshman Bridget Waksarz had a team high 102 assists.

The Belles will kick off recorded conference play on Wednesday against the Kalamazoo Hornets. Last season the Horneys finished 9-5 in conference play. The Belles lost both matches against the Hornets. The game begins at 6:30 p.m. at Saint Mary's.

In Brief

Soccer

The Belles dropped both of their matches in New York this weekend, but both by close scores.

Freshman Carrie Orr scored a goal on an assist from Emily Wagoner to send Sunday's game into overtime against Hartwick College. Hartwick scored in overtime to defeat the Belles 2-1.

On Saturday, Saint Mary's dropped its first game of the season to Rowan University 2-0.

Golf

The Belles opened their season with a bang, taking home an eight place finish in a field of 18 Division I and II teams this weekend, breaking a school record for single round play. During the two-round Ferris State Invitational, sophomore Stefanie Simmerman led the Belles with a team-low 167 strokes. Julio Adams, Chrissy Dunham and Megan Mattia added to the team total, with 170, 178 and 183 strokes respectively.

Ferris State won the tournament but the Belles managed to tie conference opponent Albion, who finished just ahead of Saint Mary's last season in the final standings.

ATTENTION STUDENTS!!!

Students who will be driving any University vehicle are required to attend a mandatory training/orientation session sponsored by transportation services!

If you are going to operate rental vehicles from the new motor pool or drive a departmental vehicle, you must attend one of the training/orientation sessions!

Students who have not attended a session as of October 1, 2002 will not be eligible to drive University vehicles!

Students only need attend the training/orientation session once during their four years at Notre Dame.

Training/orientation sessions are required for any type of vehicle being operated (sedans, mini-vans, etc.)!

Sessions will be held in DeBartolo Hall, Room 102 each Sunday evening in September (1st, 8th, 15th, 22nd, 29th)

Sessions will start at 6:45 and last no longer than one hour!

PLEASE BRING A PEN & YOUR DRIVER'S LICENSE!
NOTRE DAME

ACTIVITIES NIGHT

2002

TONIGHT!

7:00 PM - 9:00 PM

JOYCE CENTER FIELDHOUSE

ENTER THROUGH GATE 3

FOR A LISTING OF PARTICIPATING GROUPS, VISIT www.nd.edu/~sao/an

FOR MORE INFORMATION, VISIT: www.nd.edu/~sao/an/
One Credit Class
Eight Sessions, 4:35 pm - 6:30 pm
One Wednesday per Month beginning in September, concluding in April

ROSP 460A/560A; HIST 460M; MI 560A
(Strong reading knowledge of Spanish required)

Bartolomé de las Casas:
Texts, Historical Contexts, and Contemporary Resonances

Professor Sabine MacCormack, Carey Senior Faculty Fellow, Erasmus Institute meets Wednesdays 9/11; 10/9; 11/6; 12/4; 1/22; 2/19; 3/19; 4/16
4:35-6:30 pm, 1125 Planner

The Spanish conquest of Central and South America generated a crisis of conscience in Spanish universities and in Spain at large. People wanted to know: was the conquest justified, and if not, seeing that it could not be undone, what were the invaders to do? In this prolonged and often bitter debate, Bartolomé de las Casas (1474-1566), Dominican friar and bishop of Chiapas in Mexico, formulated what still are among the most moving and intellectually incisive arguments for the equality of all human beings. He also wrote one of the earliest comparative histories of civilization. The task of the course is to understand the thought of Las Casas and his followers in its sixteenth century context, and then to enquire into the connections between the ideas of Las Casas and contemporary theologians of liberation, in particular Gustavo Gutierrez.

Questions: send e-mail to Erasmus@nd.edu or call 1-3441

If you would like to attend, please send an e-mail to Erasmus@nd.edu so we can send you a copy of the paper prior to the seminar

The Observer • SPORTS

MENS SOCCER
Irish tie No. 19
Creighton 1-1

Notre Dame wins tournament on tie breaker

The No. 23 ranked Notre Dame soccer team tied No. 19 ranked Creighton 1-1 in a double overtime thriller Sunday in their second game at the Diadora Challenge Sunday. Rafael Garcia put the Irish in front at the 7:12 mark by scoring off an assist from Justin Better. The Blue Jays tied the game by Damien Westfield in the 55th minute.

The tie, accompanied by Notre Dame's 3-2 win Saturday against Southwest Missouri State, gave the Irish the tournament trophy. Both Creighton and Notre Dame had 1-0-1 records, however the Irish won the tie-breaker, most goals scored 4-2 over the Blue Jays.

The Irish also placed four players on the All-Tournament Team and had the tournament MVP in forward Erich Baun.

In their first game of the season, Baun scored two goals to give the Irish the brief lead and eventual win. Baun connected on Notre Dame's first goal just 17 seconds into the game off assists from Rafael Garcia and Kevin Goldthwaite. Baun scored the game-winning goal off a penalty-kick in the 68th minute as Notre Dame goalkeeper Chris Sawyer shut out Southwest Missouri State the rest of the game.

Both Southwest Missouri State's goals came from Kai Harris, who tied the game in the ninth minute from an assist by Jed Holhbein and then again in the 60th minute.

With the win, Notre Dame improved its streak of season-opening wins to eight and improved to 17-7-2 in season openers overall.

Reycle the Observer

The Helen Kellogg Institute for International Studies and the Institute for Latino Studies proudly present the first film in the “Looking Out, Looking In” film series:

NOVIA QUE TE VEA
TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 3
7 PM
HESBURGH CENTER FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDIES AUDITORIUM

This month's theme is Cruzando Fronteras/Crossing Borders

El Norte will be shown
Tuesday, September 17

Work for Sports!
AROUND THE NATION

SPORTS TOP 25

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Record</th>
<th>Points</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1. Miami (FL)</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1,332</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Tennessee (TN)</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1,249</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. Ohio State</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1,230</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. Nebraska</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1,189</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5. Georgia</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1,177</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6. Michigan State</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1,117</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7. Florida State</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1,051</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8. Colorado State</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1,032</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9. South Carolina</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1,024</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ESPN/USA Today poll

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Record</th>
<th>Points</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1. Miami (FL)</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1,350</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Tennessee (TN)</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1,278</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. Ohio State</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1,276</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. Florida State</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1,249</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5. Oklahoma</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1,230</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6. Nebraska</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1,187</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7. Colorado State</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1,187</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8. Ohio State</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>1,184</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9. Virginia Tech</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>915</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10. Georgia</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>800</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11. Louisiana</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>762</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12. Michigan State</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>661</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>13. USC</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>633</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>14. Florida State</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>627</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15. Kentucky</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>598</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>16. Washington</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>585</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>17. Missouri</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>514</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>18. Vanderbilt</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>502</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>19. Duke</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>494</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>20. Georgia Tech</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>471</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>21. LSU</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>430</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>22. North Carolina</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>423</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>23. South Carolina</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>427</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>24. Wisconsin</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>403</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25. Iowa State</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>358</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>26. Baylor</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>350</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>27. Marshall</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>342</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>28. South Carolina</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>327</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>29. Wisconsin</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>304</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>30. Missouri State</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>298</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>31. USC</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>286</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>32. LSU</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>265</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>33. Boston College</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>256</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>34. North Carolina</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>248</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>35. West Texas</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>246</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>36. Mississippi</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>240</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>37. Kansas State</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>212</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>38. Texas Tech</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>198</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>39. Oklahoma State</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>195</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>40. South Carolina</td>
<td>1-0</td>
<td>192</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

Coral Gables, Fla. Miami reclaimed sole possession of the top spot in The Associated Press Top 25 poll Monday, two days after a lopsided victory over Division I-AA Florida A&M.

The Hurricanes received 34 first-place votes, seven more than last week, when they were tied at No. 1 with Oklahoma. The Sooners were second with 21 first-place votes and 1,744 points, 39 less than Miami.

Texas remained third, followed by Tennessee, Florida State and Florida.

Florida State and Florida. The Hurricanes beat Florida A&M 63-17 Saturday night, scoring touchdowns on six of their first eight possessions and then resting their starters for the game this week at Florida.

"The polls don't mean too much right now," Miami defensive end Matt Walters said. "It's nice to be No. 1, but we aren't worried about that. We just want to win all of our games. We know that if we win all of our games, then we're going to be in the national championship game."

In Brief

Official cites lack of evidence for closing probe

PARIS

An exhaustive doping probe into Lance Armstrong's cycling team was closed last week because of a lack of evidence, a French judicial official said.

After 21 months of inquiries, investigators found no proof that the U.S. Postal Service team used banned substances during the 2000 Tour de France, the official told The Associated Press, speaking on customary condition of anonymity.

Armstrong won his second consecutive Tour title in 2000. He won 1999's Tour for the first time again.

"It's a relief that it's officially over," U.S. Postal's director of operations Don Simpson told the AP in a phone interview. "We've expressed our innocence time and time again.

"All along, we felt this conclusion would be found. It's taken a lot longer than anyone expected." The judicial official said that none of the tests carried out on blood and urine samples taken from Armstrong and his teammates two years ago showed evidence the cyclists used banned drugs or underwent banned medical procedures.

Investigating judge Sophie Helene Chateau closed the inquiry late last week, following the recommendation of the Paris prosecutor's office.

Prior would win, prior to pitch again this season

CHICAGO

After all the concern about Mark Prior's innings and workload, the right-hander's rookie season is over because of a hamstring.

The Chicago Cubs placed Prior on the disabled list Monday with a strained hamstring, an injury that will take at least three or four weeks to heal.

"It makes no sense thinking about getting him back for the last week of the season," general manager Jim Hendry said. "He did a terrific job, obviously, but he's the cornerstone of our future and we're not going to take any chances with him."

To replace Prior, the Cubs recalled left-hander Steve Smyth from Triple-A Iowa. Smyth was scheduled to pitch the first game of Monday's doubleheader against the Milwaukee Brewers.

Prior was injured Saturday in the first game of a day-night double-header against the St. Louis Cardinals. Batting in the bottom of the fifth, he ran to first base after a third-strike wild pitch by Cardinals starter Luther Hackman. He then slid hard into second on a fielder's choice.

Prior came out to start the sixth, but was unable to deliver a pitch, his hamstring being injured.

---

Eye on Irish Opponents

Saturday, Sept. 7, 2002

Notre Dame vs. Purdue

Michigan vs. Western Michigan

Michigan State vs. Rice

Stanford at Arkansas

Pittsburgh vs. Texas A&M

Air Force vs. New Mexico

Navy vs. North Carolina State

Off

Florida State

USC

TCU

Texas Tech

LSU

LSU

LSU

Notre Dame

Penn State

Tuesday, September 3, 2002

University of Miami running back Jason Geathers goes through a huge hole en route to an 11-yard gain against Florida A & M. The Hurricanes recaptured the No. 1 spot this weekend.

Canes regain No. 1 rank in polls

Associated Press

Coral Gables, Fla. Miami reclaimed sole possession of the top spot in The Associated Press Top 25 poll Monday, two days after a lopsided victory over Division I-AA Florida A&M.

The Hurricanes received 34 first-place votes, seven more than last week, when they were tied at No. 1 with Oklahoma. The Sooners were second with 21 first-place votes and 1,744 points, 39 less than Miami.

Texas remained third, followed by Tennessee, Florida State and Florida.

"The polls don't mean too much right now," Miami defensive end Matt Walters said. "It's nice to be No. 1, but we aren't worried about that. We just want to win all of our games. We know that if we win all of our games, then we're going to be in the national championship game."

Even if we win next week by one point and fall to No. 4, we could care less because if we win them all, everything will work out and we'll be in the big show — the Fiesta Bowl.

The Sooners opened the season with an unimpressive first half against Tulsa on Friday. They finished with 509 yards and a 37-0 victory, but three turnovers and several dropped passes overshadowed the outcome.

Michigan made the biggest strides, moving up six spots from No. 13 to No. 7, following a last-second victory over Washington. The Huskies fell from No. 11 to No. 14.

Ohio State, Nebraska and Georgia rounded out the top 10.

Colorado and Louisiana State had the biggest drops, falling 10 spots each. The Buffaloes slipped to No. 17 after a 19-14 loss Saturday to in-state rival Colorado State. The Tigers slid to No. 24 following the 26-8 defeat Sunday at Virginia Tech.

Washington State was No. 11, followed by Virginia Tech, Oregon, Washington and Michigan State.

---

AROUND THE DIAL

MLB Brewers at Cubs 7 p.m., FoxSports

Pirates at Braves 6:30 p.m., WTBS

TENNIS

U.S. Open 6 p.m., USA
Fox makes change to improve anemic offense

Associated Press

CHARLOTTE, N.C. - The Carolina Panthers believe Chris Weinke is still their quarterback of the future, even though they've benched him.

Carolina coach John Fox said Monday that 14-year veteran Rodney Peete will start the opener Sunday because Weinke has yet to grasp the offense and Peete will give the Panthers a better chance to beat the Baltimore Ravens.

"Chris is still a big part of our plans," Fox said. "We brought in Rodney to help on and off the field, and this, in my opinion, is a move to help our football team and help Chris."

The decision did not sit well with Weinke, who started last season as a rookie when Carolina went 1-15. He was expected to be the starter this season, but struggled in the preseason under the new offense installed when he was hired in January.

He completed 35 of 59 passes for 279 yards with one touchdown and two interceptions in four preseason games. He was particularly ineffective in the final Friday night contest testing your knowledge of trivia!

Don't miss this open contest testing your knowledge of trivia!

Free Refreshments

Wednesday, Sept. 4
10:00 p.m. - 1:00 a.m.
LaFortune Student Center Ballroom
Sponsored by the Student Activities Office

Recycle The Observer.

The Ultimate Trivia Challenge

N.F.L.

Weinke benched in favor of Peete

"In my opinion, my days as a starting quarterback for the Carolina Panthers are not done."

Chris Weinke quarterback

Associated Press

CHARLOTTE, N.C. - The Carolina Panthers believe Chris Weinke is still their quarterback of the future, even though they've benched him.

Carolina coach John Fox said Monday that 14-year veteran Rodney Peete will start the opener Sunday because Weinke has yet to grasp the offense and Peete will give the Panthers a better chance to beat the Baltimore Ravens.

"Chris is still a big part of our plans," Fox said. "We brought in Rodney to help on and off the field, and this, in my opinion, is a move to help our football team and help Chris."

The decision did not sit well with Weinke, who started last season as a rookie when Carolina went 1-15. He was expected to be the starter this season, but struggled in the preseason under the new offense installed when he was hired in January.

He completed 35 of 59 passes for 279 yards with one touchdown and two interceptions in four preseason games. He was particularly ineffective in the final Friday night contest testing your knowledge of trivia!

Don't miss this open contest testing your knowledge of trivia!

Free Refreshments

Wednesday, Sept. 4
10:00 p.m. - 1:00 a.m.
LaFortune Student Center Ballroom
Sponsored by the Student Activities Office

Recycle The Observer.
FOOTBALL

Grant knows he can improve

By ANDREW SOUKUP
Sports Writer

Ryan Grant was less than pleased with his rushing effort in Notre Dame's 23-0 victory over Maryland Saturday, and he promised not to let that happen again.

Grant rushed for 66 yards on 23 carries, a meager 2.9 yards-per-carry, far below the 3.8 average he recorded in five games last year.

"Par. Maybe sub-par," Grant said when asked to rate his performance. "I've got high standards for myself."

Grant's primary backup, Marcus Wilson, only carried twice for 4 yards before leaving before halftime with a shoulder injury. Rashon Powers-Neal added 34 yards on eight carries.

In all, the Irish rushed for 130 yards, but 42 of those yards came on Notre Dame's final drive of the game, when the Irish ran the ball on 10 consecutive plays to kill the clock.

"Other than the last drive, we didn't put together a good time-consuming drive that I like," Irish offensive coordinator Bill Diedrick said. "It gives people an opportunity to get involved, providing they keep making plays."

Considering eight players each caught passes, Notre Dame showed it can spread the ball around the field. Irish quarterback Carlyle Holiday, who through a career-high 27 passes, said fans shouldn't be surprised if he throws even more passes.

"I think it is low [throwing 26 passes]," Holiday said. "You expect to throw maybe 36 balls a game. As long as you execute, that number can keep rising or keep falling."

Red in the red zone

Diedrick was most upset at the end of Saturday's game over Notre Dame's inability to punch the ball into the end zone.

Three times, the Irish got inside the Maryland 20-yard line, and three times, the Irish had to settle for a Nicholas Setta field goal.

The closest the Irish came to scoring was in the second quarter when, on third-and-goal from the Maryland 15, Holiday scrambled for the end zone before getting stopped on the one-yard line.

"We had a lot of penalties when we're not supposed to and a lot of breakdowns sometimes in the offense and we really have to work on that," Holiday said. "In order to be a better ball club, we have to score in the red zone."

Respect earned

Notre Dame's stellar debut Saturday made a big impression in the minds of national voters.

The Irish, who were previously unranked in both major college football polls, jumped up to 23rd in the AP poll and 24th in the coaches poll. Maryland, who entered Saturday's game ranked 20th and 21st, respectively, failed to receive a single vote.

"This was a great opportunity to show the nation what we can do and earn that respect that is so much needed at this university," linebacker Brandon Hoyte said after Saturday's victory.

Contact Andrew Soukup at asoukup@nd.edu

FOOTBALL

The Knights of Columbus

Council 1477, Notre Dame

Notre Dame's Fraternal Catholic Organization

Invites prospective members to visit us at Activities Night, Tuesday, September 3rd from 7 - 10 pm at the JACC

And at our Open House, Wednesday, September 4th from 5-7 pm at the Knights Building on South Quad next to the Coleman-Morse Center.

The Knights of Columbus is an international organization focusing on charity and fraternal events.

Membership is open to any Catholic Man of 18 years of age.

Statistics

The following statistics are being reprinted due to production errors in Monday's issue. The Observer regrets the error.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>total yards</th>
<th>MARYLAND</th>
<th>133</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>rushing</td>
<td>NOTRE DAME</td>
<td>356</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>rushing</td>
<td>MARYLAND</td>
<td>130</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>passing</td>
<td>NOTRE DAME</td>
<td>226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>passing</td>
<td>MARYLAND</td>
<td>117</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>return</td>
<td>NOTRE DAME</td>
<td>126</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>return</td>
<td>MARYLAND</td>
<td>111</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>time of possession</td>
<td>NOTRE DAME</td>
<td>41:04</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>time of possession</td>
<td>MARYLAND</td>
<td>16:56</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Holiday plays</th>
<th>Mlkro 3-22-2</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>rushing</td>
<td>Grant 23-30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>rushing</td>
<td>Powers-Neal 8-30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>rushing</td>
<td>Holiday 9-15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>passing</td>
<td>Lopienksi 3-8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>passing</td>
<td>Wilson 2-4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>return</td>
<td>Jenkins 5-87</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>return</td>
<td>Campbell 2-17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>receiving</td>
<td>McKnight 2-9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>receiving</td>
<td>Clark 1-9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>receiving</td>
<td>Stovall 1-16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>rushing</td>
<td>Hoyte 8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>rushing</td>
<td>Eiel 8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>rushing</td>
<td>Jackson 14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>rushing</td>
<td>Henderson 11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>rushing</td>
<td>Cudran 11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>rushing</td>
<td>Jackson 14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>rushing</td>
<td>Henderson 11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>rushing</td>
<td>Cudran 11</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

CORRECTIONS

Maryland 117 Notre Dame 226

The Observer regrets the error.
HAPPY TOWN

Just be sure to enjoy the season while it lasts.

least effective pop rallying speakers

I do not know this word in English, but...

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Jack Monahan

SCHOOL DAZE

So... we have an 11½ft.

room, a built-in sink, 2 beds, 2 desks, a closet.

AND YOUR STUFFED CHAIR AND MY PARENTS' TOWNHOMES.

WELCOME TO SPACE CONSERVATION
101!!

McCall

Director of Information Technology

George O'Leary

Math Department TA

Dining Hall Manager Guy

CLARE O'BRIEN

JUMBLE

Unscramble these four Jumbles, one letter to each square, to form four ordinary words.

Answer: HE

Yesterday Jumbles:

BISON MINUS SUPERNUMERARY ANKERS

Answer: LEAPS AND BOUNDS

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ACROSS

1. Couch

6. Fail to act

11. Desert a confederate

16. Think the world

21. Grad

26. Bill Gates, to

31. Captain's hook

36. Some

41. Couch

46. Room at San

51. Auction buy

56. Variation

61. Aviation pioneer

66. Captain's hook

71. Request before

76. Captain's hook

81. Couch

CROSSWORDS FOR YOUNG SOLVERS: THE LEARNING NETWORK, ONLINE SUBSCRIPTIONS: TODAY'S PUZZLE AND MORE THAN 2,000 PUZZLES, AVAILABLE TO SUBSCRIBERS AT NYTIMES.COM/DIVERSIONS ($19.95 A YEAR). ONLINE SUBSCRIPTIONS AVAILABLE 24 HOURS A DAY, 7 DAYS A WEEK.

HOROSCOPE

EUGENIA LAST

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DAY: Valerie Perrine, Charlie Sheen, Matt Damon, Al Pacino

Happy Birthday! You will have more opportunity than you know what to do with this year. Don't be afraid to take on a little more work, your time and effort will pay off. Long hours are approved; however, the results you get will be worth the effort. Try and get some relaxation in your life too; after all everything does eventually come full circle.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Someone from your past may reappear. Don't forget the mistakes why this person became familiar to you to begin with. This year will be great for career success.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Conflicts in the workplace will lead to an intense atmosphere. Accept that you overreact and try to change things in a very positive manner.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Your efforts, hard work and diligence that gets you where you want to go.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): If you haven't been careful about budgeting, you may suddenly find yourself in a tight spot financially.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): If you are true to yourself, you won't be able to slip through your fingers. Children may be the greedy, so don't spoil them.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): If you work and diligence that gets you where you want to go, you will have the stamina and fortitude to plow through life.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You may feel like being generous, but don't expect something in return. Don't wonder if you do too much; your loved ones will return the favor.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Your work may feel like play, don't feel guilty. If you are in a creative field it's now your time to rise! You'll need to make the most of your success.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You'll need to stand and be noticed to gain the attention and knowledge that you need.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You may feel like being generous, but don't expect something in return. Today is your time to rise and be noticed.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): It can be a fun-filled day as you are on the verge of loving the change in your life, today they're

Puzzle by Robert J. Hartman

19. Thank You singer, 2001

38. Public square

52. "Great white"

9. Leave in a hurry

16. Steen Bochco series

28. "Doesn't skimp"

38. "Window"

50. Actors Bagley

78. Classical

3. "Pam"

24. "Punpun"

24. "Takes five"

6. "Skimmer"

12. "Fool"

22. "Biology"

68. "Biology"

88. "Punpun"

Answers to clues in this puzzle are available by touch-tone phone: 1-800-285-9556, $1.20 per minute. Annual subscriptions are available for the best of Sunday crosswords from the past 50 years: 1-888-JACROSS. Online subscriptions. Today's puzzle and more than 2,000 past puzzles. nytimes.com/diversions ($19.95 a year).

UNIVERSAL PRESS SYNDICATE Copyright 2002

WORK FOR THE NOTRE DAME SPORTS PROMOTIONS DEPARTMENT

INTERESTED IN A CAREER IN SPORTS?

The Notre Dame Sports Promotions Department is looking for Notre Dame students to help with:

ADVERTISING

GAME MANAGEMENT

PROMOTIONAL ACTIVITIES

Learn more at the informational meeting.

Wednesday, Sept. 4 - 7 pm Joyce Center Football Auditorium

If interested, but unable to attend meeting, contact Kristin or Jeff at 631-8393.

COPYRIGHT 2002 UNIVERSAL PRESS SYNDICATE

HENRI ARNOLDS

MIKE ARGIRION
Linebackers learn on the job

FOOTBALL

♦ Untested core plays like veterans in 22-0 victory

By ANDREW SOUKUP
Sports Writer

Brandon Hoyte tried to stay calm. He really did.

But as soon as the sophomore linebacker learned he was starting his first college game less than 30 minutes from his hometown, he couldn't contain his enthusiasm. Neither could Irish coaches after Hoyte's impressive debut Saturday.

Despite finding out he was starting in place of a sickened Courtney Watson less than 48 hours before kickoff, Hoyte finished with a team-leading eight tackles and one sack in Notre Dame's 22-0 shutout of Maryland.

"I'm so proud of that kid and so happy for him," Irish defensive coordinator Kent Baer said Saturday. "When he got on that airplane, he never expected to start tonight. But he did a lot of things in the fall, and he deserved it. He's worked hard, and everything played out."

Coaches couldn't stop raving about Hoyte in the fall, a relative unknown in the spring who made tremendous strides during two-a-day practices with his keen understanding of the Irish system.

Before the game, Baer promised Hoyte would see significant playing time, but he didn't expect Hoyte to sneak his way into the starting lineup.

At some point between the time Notre Dame boarded the plane to New Jersey Thursday morning and when Baer told Hoyte he was starting Friday afternoon, Watson got so sick he vomited uncontrollably. His viral infection left one of the primary leaders on defense in a windsuit for Notre Dame's season opener.

While Watson, who is listed as probable for Saturday's home opener against Purdue on defense. All the trio did in its first game was combine for 19 tackles and two sacks in the 22-0 victory.

"I want him to watch from the sidelines, the way we want to do with any injury," Baer said Saturday. "But as soon as the sophomore Stefanie Simmerman, who had never played a down for Notre Dame's first game was combine for 19 tackles and two sacks in the 22-0 victory.

SMC GOLF

Golfers break record at Ferris Invitational

♦ Team shoots a 342 to start year on right foot

By KATIE McVOY
Associate Sports Editor

Teams often use youth to explain why their season hasn't gotten off on the right foot. When asked why her team made so many mistakes a coach might say, "They're young and they need to get used to playing at a new level."

But youth was not an acceptable excuse for the Belles on Saturday. A team that is half freshmen and under the leadership of a first-year coach made quite sure that everyone knew just because they were young didn't mean they weren't dangerous. They sent that message home with a new school record.

On Sunday at the Ferris State Invitational, the Saint Mary's golf team shot a 342, breaking the previous record and starting off on the right foot — even with a young team.

"It's great to see that young potential that could ultimately lead to a bid for the NCAA," said sophomore Stefanie Simmerman, who finished first for the Belles at Ferris State.

Saint Mary's ended the fall season last year in third place in the MIAA. The Belles knew they would improve before this season began. They headed into the two-round tournament with expectations didn't include breaking a school record.

"We didn't expect to break the record as a team," Simmerman said. "Basically, we wanted to go in and play to the best of our ability."

"And if you ask them now, they'll say they didn't play to the best of their ability. Following the tournament they talked about how they could have shaved some strokes off their final score. They said they had to focus on some areas of improvement before beginning NCAA play this weekend. They discussed how they could be better."

"And they had just broken a record."

"If we can break the school record in the first two-round of the year when we're not playing well, what are we going to be doing at the end of the season?" Simmerman said.

Contact Katie McVoy at mcvo569@ saintmarys.edu