Conference analyzes church sex scandal

Panelists speak on the controversy surrounding church sex abuse scandals. Speakers seated left to right are Father Mark Poorman, Margaret O'Brien Steinfels, Scott Applebee and Father Richard McBrien.

By LAURAN WILLIAMSON
News Writer

The Church Study Committee, appointed last spring by University President Father Edward Malloy in response to the sexual abuse scandal in the Catholic Church, a panel discussion Monday in McKenna Hall on "Dallas and Beyond: The Experience and the Future."

Steinfels and Applebee spoke at the June 14 meeting in Dallas, where the American Catholic Bishops imposed a one-size-fits-all system of permanent separation from ministry for even a single act of sexual abuse of a minor — past, present or future.

Steinfels was the first to speak. She described the conference in Dallas as "an awesome experience — in the archaic sense."

Her overriding feeling concerning the conference was one of dread. According to Steinfels, in the future, "we need to determine who they are as a Church. She concluded that the problems surrounding the Church now cannot be resolved from the top down. What is needed is a reorganization of relationships, she said. That is, the relationship between the bishops and priests, and among the bishops, other clergy and the people they serve."

"Great good may come," Steinfels said. "The Church has been wounded and it requires examination and repair."

Applebee began his speech using a psychological analogy in which he compared an inkblot test with five images taken from the traumatic ordeal of the Church. Applebee also touched upon the fact that while in Dallas he was warned not to touch the subject of the role of women in the Church because the bishops did not take well to this subject. However, he spoke on the issue anyway and raised it again. "Women should be empowered in leadership capacities (within the Church)," Applebee said. He also addressed the issue of married priests and women being ordained, as a possible solution to the sex-abuse scandal.

The final panelist speaker was McBrien. He immediately established the fact that the sex-abuse scandals are explicit to the Roman Catholic Church and they are not such a problem for other Catholic churches. His hypothesis as to why this is the fact that non-Roman Catholics allow married men into the priesthood. In his speech he addressed three specific questions: Whose trust needs to be restored? Trust in whom? How can this be accomplished? He also spoke about the "failure of pastoral leadership," claiming that the Church is too concerned with percentage of priests rather than the quality. He criticized bishops for reassigning known predatory priests to different parishes. He said that the "health of the Church sacramental life is at risk." We need to change the way bishops are selected and promoted from dioceses to another.

At the conclusion of the panel discussion, the floor was opened for the audience to ask questions.

Contact Lauran Williamson at lwil@nd.edu

BOG helps fund security devices for students

By SHANNON NELLIean
News Writer

Belinda Rathert, security investigator at Saint Mary's College, requested funds from the Board of Governance Monday that will allow for the partial funding of a safety alarm key chains for the Notre Dame, Saint Mary's and Holy Cross Communities.

The key chains are similar to safety alarms that are currently equipped in most automobiles. To activate the key chain, the victim simply pulls a pin and an alarm will sound.

"We want to provide these safety devices to make the students feel safer in their surroundings," Rathert said.

The key chains will be presented to the entire college community on Oct. 29 during a security presentation by Paul Ulrich, a current federal Drug Enforcement Agent.

Ulrich will also be presenting information promoting awareness on club drugs such as ecstasy.

"It is important for the student body to be aware of the drugs that are in their community and neighborhood... It is also good to be informed about the consequences of taking these drugs and know what's in them," Rathert said.

Rathert also asked the student body to work with security and come to them with any concerns about safety.

"We are trying to be a more friendly and approachable entity," she said.

Kristin Martha, student trustee, reiterated this point by stating that security is making great efforts this year, with the security forum and other programs that reach out to the students. After some debate, the BOG moved to grant funding to cover a portion of the funds needed to provide the safety key chains.

Contact Shannon Nelligan at tybult@nd.edu

Father Joyce continues recovery

By MATT BRAMANTI
News Writer

Father Edmund Joyce continues to recuperate at the St. Joseph Regional Medical Center in South Bend and shows signs of improvement, said Father William Seetich, CSL, religious superior.

Joyce, Notre Dame's executive vice president emeritus, suffered a stroke on Sept. 20 at the age of 85. He is currently located in the rehabilitation unit of the hospital and is undergoing physical therapy.

"He's regained some movement in his left side," said Seetich, having just returned from an assessment of Joyce's condition.

However, despite this improvement, a date has still not been set for his release from the hospital.

Joyce will likely remain hospitalized for several more weeks to a month at least.

For the present, visitors have been discouraged at Fr. Joyce's request, as he continues his slow but steady recovery.

Joyce remains in intensive therapy at St. Joseph Regional Medical Center.

Joyce retired in 1987, when the board of trustees voted to name the Athletic and Convocation Center after him.

Contact Matt Bramanti at bramanti.1@nd.edu
Don't be that guy

You'll see him biking around campus with an oversized helmet, spilling his tray all over the dining hall floor or at a party spending more time in the bathroom than the dance floor. Everyone refers to him as "that guy" and he is content to remain anonymously to save his dignity. "That guy" sure gets around campus, but nobody ever wants to be in his group. I guess climbing into the wrong bed, on the wrong dorm floor that is already occupied isn't cool anymore. Stories about "that guy" are the life blood of a college campus and you have to give him credit for being who he is. Without caring about embarrassment or disgust from others, he takes it upon himself to do something that will be remembered and retold by every bystander who witnesses the feat of uncouth bravery. For example, only "that guy" would show up as a senior to a freshman chemistry final and scream hysterically that he's tired of taking the same class for four years and proceed to light the test on fire. Or perhaps he made us laugh when he peed on my dorm room floor because he mistook my room for the bathroom. He finished his business, then casually washed his hands in my sink and went back to bed.

Treat him with justice because he gives us something better to talk about. The endless debate over why the dining hall calls chicken noodle soup "chickens in the pot" is beginning to lose its place in my heart. Furthermore, laughter is the key to living a worthwhile life and "that guy" gives us a plentiful dose of amusement each week to make up for the more trying moments of life. A good chuckle after hearing a story about "that guy"'s shenanigans last weekend can help brighten up even the more depressing days of the semester.

Yet, besides his popularity, nobody ever seems to want to be him but more rarely be the witness to his madness. Yet, we have all unwittingly assumed the role of "that guy" or "that girl" in one time or another and I guarantee that as long as you are breathing, you'll be it again and again.

Perhaps the role of that guy doesn't appeal to you, but everyone has to take a turn at the part or he will die out. In my opinion, life without "that guy" isn't a life worth living. The entertainment he provides more than makes up for the embarrassment "that guy" faces after one of his follies.

Although being "that guy" can entail some criticism and degradation, his stories can create a legend. So, the next time you see him wearing a black turndown jacket in 90-degree weather don't fret, but shake his hand for doing his duty for that day. Just remember that tomorrow might be yours and that you will be merely doing your part to make the world a more enjoyable place.

The views expressed in the Inside Column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.

Contact Justin Krivickas at jkrivick@nd.edu corrections

The Observer regards itself as a professional publica­tion and err on the highest standards of journal­ism at all times. We do, however, recognize that we will make mistakes. If you have made a mistake, please contact us at 631-4541 so we can correct our error.

What's Happening @ ND

- Cholesterol Screenings, 7 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Available to ND faculty only, in the Monogram Room at the Joyce Center

- Lecture: "Conceptualizing and Measuring Democracy and the Rule of Law," presented by Giovanni S. Falcioni, visiting fellow from the University of Illinois, Room C-104, Hesburgh Center

What's Happening @ SMC

- Multicultural Affairs Brown Bag Luncheon, 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the Stapletonon Lounge

- Minority and Women Business Development Council, 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m., Madeleva 247

- Senior Board Meeting, 9:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. at Holy Cross College, Room 304

What's Cooking

North Dining Hall

Today Lunch: Lamb Osso Buco, Roasted Corn and Black Beans, Mixed Greens, Apple Crisp, Caffe Latte, and Dinner rolls

South Dining Hall

Today Lunch: Manicotti, Cacciatore Sauce, Chicken Fajita Pizza, Mushroom and Spinach Casserole, Sautéed Zucchini and Yellow Squash, Meatloaf, Mississippi Fried Catfish, Baked Ham, Baked Red-Skin Mashed Potatoes, Gyros, Potato Skins, Onion Rings, Sweet & Sour Pork, Chicken Strips, Potato Skins and Onion Rings

Dining Hall menu not available today.

Saint Mary's Dining Hall

Today Lunch: Chicken Vesuvio, Cacciatore Sauce, Chicken Fajita Pizza, Veal Parmigiana, Spinach, Rice with Olives, Beef Stew, Roasted Pork Loin, Roasted Peppercorn Potatoes, Chicken Strips, Potato Skins and Onion Rings

Dining Hall menu not available today.

Motor vehicle theft pending

A theft at the O'Dell Parking Lot on Sept. 18 was investigated further, and because no suspect information was developed the case is still pending.

Assault being transferred to review board

The case was investigated further involving an assault on Oct. 1 at DeBartolo Hall and is being referred to an administrative review.

Suspicious person case closed

A case involving a suspicious person on Sept. 30 at the Stadium was investigated further and is being closed at this time.

What's going down

The Rolling Stones' new anniversary album entitled "40 Licks" traces the Stones' history, and Stone reviews the album, deciding whether it's a bust or a must buy.

Hilbold and punt team pin opponents deep

The punt team came through for the Irish while playing Pitt. Their punts helped to bury the Panthers deep inside their own territory.
Students protest Clinton vote, organize sit in

By LISA FLOISHER
Washington Square News

NEW YORK
Five New York University students sat inside Sen. Hillary Clinton's New York offices last Thursday and refused to leave for nine hours, asking that she vote against military action in Iraq.

The students made an appointment with Clinton's aides on the premise that they were delivering an anti-war petition with more than 1,000 signatures, which they circulated around the university the week before. However, they refused to leave the offices after Clinton's aides told them she would not sign a statement guaranteeing her vote against military action.

The group left at about 10 p.m., after it was evident Clinton would vote in favor of a resolution being debated in the U.S. Senate. The resolution gives President George W. Bush the power to use military force against Iraq if it does not comply with United Nations demands to get rid of its weapons of mass destruction.

Clinton's aides promised that the senator would meet with the students within the next 30 days, said Jason Rowe, one of the students inside the office. However, they were not given a specific appointment.

The House approved the resolution on Thursday, 296-133, followed by the Senate's approval, 77-23, on Friday.

"She was a coward, plain and simple," Rowe said of Clinton. "She didn't have the courage to vote against the resolution."

Outside the office building at 770 Third Ave., nearly 50 protesters chanted anti-war slogans and held signs, asking passing traffic to "honk for peace."

We want Hillary Clinton to vote with the people," said Jane Hirschman, an Upper West Side resident and protest organizer. Many of the protesters were members of the NYU Peace Coalition and Pax Christi, but the group included private citizens who said they had read about the event on the Internet that day.

"Money for peace, money for housing, money for jobs, not for war," they shouted.

The students inside Clinton's offices said the group was approached by the Secret Service, who asked for their names and social security numbers. However, the students refused to give out any information and resisted a search, Rowe said.

"They tried to trick us into consenting to be searched, though we were smart enough to explicitly, 'I do not consent to be searched.'" Rowe said. While they were in the office, the students received a conference call from several university officials, including Tom Elliot, executive director of housing and residence life, and Richard Kalb, associate dean for students.

Rowe said he thought that university officials and the Secret Service agents with the students' social security numbers and birth dates.

The officials contacted the students and asked them to call President James H. Beach at his office phone in the office. Rowe said the officials said they would call after 8 p.m., but they never did. Rowe said, "I have a 3.8 GPA. I said I understand you had language," Rowe said. "I said, 'There's no way that you can get me if you're going to get me in academic trouble.'"

Program targets student plagiarism

By ANDREW FRISTCH
The Daily Cougar

HOUSTON
Although academic dishonesty may never be eliminated from the education system, a common form — plagiarism — got one step closer to leaving the University of Houston's campus with the addition of new anti-plagiarism software.

UH faculty and staff can now use the services of Turnitin.com, the world's largest non-profit, anti-plagiarism service-providing organization, said Marshal Schott, UH's director of education outreach and technology.

UH purchased a campus-wide license for about $9,000 per year, said Betty Roberts, vice president of information technology.

"Faculty had indicated this [plagiarism] was a real issue," Schott said.

He said Turnitin.com was chosen because of its reputation, easy use and excellent online support. Roberts said university officials wanted a tool that wouldn't be used too much, that would be easily incorporate into classes and allow professors to work in a "conscientious" way.

"What I like about this program is it makes people think they might get caught," said Ethel Fishman-Boyd, an associate dean of undergraduate studies in the College of liberal arts and Social Sciences. She was also instrumental in bringing Turnitin.com to the university.

"It gives us a tool to use to dissuade students from going to other places for their work."

"I think the main reason students plagiarize is fear when they don't have any other [options], but instead of getting a C they end up with an F and possibly harsher consequences," Fishman-Boyd said. According to the Student handbook's policy on Academic honesty, the punishment for academic dishonesty such as plagiarism can be as mild as a lower grade on the project or as harsh as expulsion from the University, depending on the nature of the act and the record of the student.

"I think the main reason students plagiarize is fear when they don't have any other [options], but instead of getting a C they end up with an F and possibly harsher consequences," Fishman-Boyd said. According to the Student Handbook's policy on Academic honesty, the punishment for academic dishonesty such as plagiarism can be as mild as a lower grade on the project or as harsh as expulsion from the University, depending on the nature of the act and the record of the student. Catching students is not how the program succeeds, Fishman-Boyd said. She said success comes from people stealing cheating and reducing suspicion, which will allow professors to concentrate on students more. Fishman-Boyd said she hasn't caught anyone plagiarizing using the program. She did say that matches for book and school were helpful in providing information did come back for some papers, but those instances were trivial.

"I think the main reason students plagiarize is fear when they don't have any other [options], but instead of getting a C they end up with an F and possibly harsher consequences," Fishman-Boyd said. According to the Student Handbook's policy on Academic honesty, the punishment for academic dishonesty such as plagiarism can be as mild as a lower grade on the project or as harsh as expulsion from the University, depending on the nature of the act and the record of the student. Catching students is not how the program succeeds, Fishman-Boyd said. She said success comes from people stealing cheating and reducing suspicion, which will allow professors to concentrate on students more. Fishman-Boyd said she hasn't caught anyone plagiarizing using the program. She did say that matches for book and school were helpful in providing information did come back for some papers, but those instances were trivial.

Brian McKinney, the director of academic programming and support in the Office of the Provost, said the idea for campus-wide use of Turnitin.com was brought before graduate council in Spring 2002.

THE HELEN KELLOGG INSTITUTE FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDIES AND THE INSTITUTE FOR LATINO STUDIES PROUDLY PRESENT

PROFUNDO CARMESI TUESDAY, OCTOBER 15 AT 7 PM A UDIORIUM OF THE HESBURGH CENTER FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDIES

THE FILM IS PART OF THE "LOOKING OUT, LOOKING IN" FILM SERIES. 1 HOUR, 54 MINUTES SPANISH, WITH SUBTITLES IN ENGLISH

THIS IS THE SECOND FILM ON THE MONTH'S THEME VIOLENCE IN MEXAMERICA

user ID and password Turnitin.com Roberts said the program then goes online and works like a search engine to check for plagiarism. Turnitin.com first appeared at UI in Fall 2001 when the Department of History purchased a license for the product.

"What I like about this program is it makes people think they might get caught," said Ethel Fishman-Boyd, an associate dean of undergraduate studies in the College of liberal arts and Social Sciences. She was also instrumental in bringing Turnitin.com to the university.

"It gives us a tool to use to dissuade students from going to other places for their work."

Fishman-Boyd said the history department was using the product because much of the coursework involves writing. She said the department was afraid that students were using Turnitin.com to search online instead of presenting their own ideas.

"I think the main reason students plagiarize is fear when they don't have any other [options], but instead of getting a C they end up with an F and possibly harsher consequences," Fishman-Boyd said. According to the Student Handbook's policy on Academic honesty, the punishment for academic dishonesty such as plagiarism can be as mild as a lower grade on the project or as harsh as expulsion from the University, depending on the nature of the act and the record of the student. Catching students is not how the program succeeds, Fishman-Boyd said. She said success comes from people stealing cheating and reducing suspicion, which will allow professors to concentrate on students more. Fishman-Boyd said she hasn't caught anyone plagiarizing using the program. She did say that matches for book and school were helpful in providing information did come back for some papers, but those instances were trivial.

Brian McKinney, the director of academic programming and support in the Office of the Provost, said the idea for campus-wide use of Turnitin.com was brought before graduate council in Spring 2002.

Program targets student plagiarism

By ANDREW FRISTCH
The Daily Cougar

HOUSTON
Although academic dishonesty may never be eliminated from the education system, a common form — plagiarism — got one step closer to leaving the University of Houston's campus with the addition of new anti-plagiarism software.

UH faculty and staff can now use the services of Turnitin.com, the world's largest non-profit, anti-plagiarism service-providing organization, said Marshal Schott, UH's director of education outreach and technology.

UH purchased a campus-wide license for about $9,000 per year, said Betty Roberts, vice president of information technology.

"Faculty had indicated this [plagiarism] was a real issue," Schott said.

He said Turnitin.com was chosen because of its reputation, easy use and excellent online support. Roberts said university officials wanted a tool that wouldn't be used too much, that would be easily incorporate into classes and allow professors to work in a "conscientious" way.

"What I like about this program is it makes people think they might get caught," said Ethel Fishman-Boyd, an associate dean of undergraduate studies in the College of liberal arts and Social Sciences. She was also instrumental in bringing Turnitin.com to the university.

"It gives us a tool to use to dissuade students from going to other places for their work."

Fishman-Boyd said the history department was using the product because much of the coursework involves writing. She said the department was afraid that students were using Turnitin.com to search online instead of presenting their own ideas.

"I think the main reason students plagiarize is fear when they don't have any other [options], but instead of getting a C they end up with an F and possibly harsher consequences," Fishman-Boyd said. According to the Student Handbook's policy on Academic honesty, the punishment for academic dishonesty such as plagiarism can be as mild as a lower grade on the project or as harsh as expulsion from the University, depending on the nature of the act and the record of the student. Catching students is not how the program succeeds, Fishman-Boyd said. She said success comes from people stealing cheating and reducing suspicion, which will allow professors to concentrate on students more. Fishman-Boyd said she hasn't caught anyone plagiarizing using the program. She did say that matches for book and school were helpful in providing information did come back for some papers, but those instances were trivial.

Brian McKinney, the director of academic programming and support in the Office of the Provost, said the idea for campus-wide use of Turnitin.com was brought before graduate council in Spring 2002.
Private colleges ban fraternities, sororities

By LEANA DONOFRIO Daily News Writer

The numbers are staggering.

Greeks claim a large number of the most powerful people in the United States: 75 percent of the U.S. Congress is Greek. More than 85 percent of student leaders in 720 college campuses are Greek members. Eighty percent of Fortune 500 executives are Greek, according to Kent State University's Greek Life Web site "10 Fast Greek Facts."

But a "fast fact" that is not listed on the site is that only three of the top 10 most prestigious liberal arts schools have Greek systems, according to U.S. News and World Report's 2002 report on U.S. colleges and universities.

By enrolling college Greek members and the movement away from community service has left some schools with the choice of removing fraternities and sororities from their campuses.

This decision to do away with the Greek system has already happened at schools like Williams College, Bowdoin College, Colby College, Alfred University and Alfred University in New York.

Alfred faced a nightmare situation that contributed to the demise of its Greek system when a student was found dead behind a fraternity house in February.

Benjamin Klein, 21, was allegedly beaten by members of his fraternity, Zeta Beta Tau. Alfred spokesman Joe Goetcheus said the student's death was not found to be a direct result of the beating, and charges have not been brought against the fraternity brothers who beat him.

"What we heard is that they [Klein and some fraternity brothers] divulged secrets about the fraternity at a chapter meeting in Syracuse," Goetcheus said.

Although she warned that details of the incident are not clear, she said his fraternity brothers beat him on the way home from the meeting in Syracuse on a Saturday.

"We could get a lot of leadership opportunities out there," Harris said.

The president requested a total of $5.9 billion for bioterrorism preparedness in next year's budget, Killen said. NIH's bioterrorism research program is slated to receive $1.75 billion, up from less than $275 million this year, he said.

Killed explained that NIH's research will focus on ways to deal with "Category A" biological agents — a list of the most dangerous known diseases. These agents are both lethal and easy to spread, he said, and they include such age-old human scourges as smallpox and the plague, along with anthrax.

One goal of the new research will be to screen existing medicines for effectiveness against bioterrorism agents, to get away from a "one bug, one drug" strategy that requires the use of special treatments in response to a particular type of bioterror attack, Killen said.

Using existing drugs, when possible, is easier than deploying special treatments during an emergency, he said.

Nevertheless, Killen said that the main effect of last year's anthrax mailings was to cause a great deal of fear and panic, disrupt and fear — not death. The attacks produced just 23 cases of anthrax of which five were fatal, he said. "If you step back from the last year, the threat we need to be worried about is terms of infection is the natural threat," he said.

He pointed to the reemergence of AIDS, West Nile, Lyme disease and drug-resistant forms of tuberculosis and malaria as major areas of concern. Using disease as a weapon is not a new idea, noted Stephen Morse, director of the Center for Public Health Preparedness at Columbia University's school of public health. It has been successfully used not only recently, but throughout history, he said.

In 1346, Mongol warriors threw plague-infested corpses over the walls of the city of Cafta, triggering a pandemic the next year. And during the colonization of America, Lord Jeffery Amherst gave blankets laced with smallpox to Native Americans, he said.

Summarizing the day's events, molecular biology professor Lee Silver said biological weapons are easily accessible.
Sniper suspected in Virginia murder investigation

Associated Press

FAIRFAX, Va. — A woman was shot in the head and killed Monday night as she and her husband loaded packages into their car outside a Home Depot in suburban Washington. Police were investigating whether it was the latest shooting by a sniper already blamed for eight deaths in the past 12 days.

Police swiftly closed down highways in the area, about 10 miles west of the nation's capital, creating massive gridlock as they searched for a van from which the shooter might have fired.

Fairfax County Police Chief Tom Manger said authorities were on the lookout for a cream-colored Chevy Astro van that was leaving a rear tail light and had a silver roof ladder. Virginia State Police said the van was last seen traveling east on Route 50 from Falls Church. Interstates 66 and I-95 are nearby.

Witnesses at some of the earlier shootings also reported seeing a white or cream-colored van or truck.

The woman was killed by a single shot after about 9:15 p.m., authorities said. All the other deaths in the sniper spree were also caused by one shot, and two people also were wounded by a single bullet.

The Maryland task force investigating the sniper attacks was conferring with Fairfax County authorities to see if Monday's victim was the sniper's ninth.

"It's too early to tell at this time [if the shooting is linked], however we are working on it and investigating it with that potential in mind," Manger said.

The woman was shot in the head as she and her husband loaded packages into their car's trunk, said Ellen Qualls, a spokeswoman for Virginia Gov. Mark R. Warner. Someone fired the fatal shot from a van, she said.

"There's some pretty decent eyewitness information that maybe we haven't had in some of the previous shootings," Qualls said.

Immediately after the shooting, the victim's body lay under a sheet 30 yards in front of the store entrance.

Police were still scouring the parking lot for evidence and interviewing witnesses early Tuesday. There were a number of people in the parking lot when the shooting occurred, Manger said.

"More than anything else, I wished I was outside so I could identify this guy," one woman who had been stuck inside the Home Depot as authorities closed it told CNN. "I am used to seeing blood, but this amount of blood shocked me.

The Home Depot is located in the Seven Corners Shopping Center, a 450,000-square-foot strip shopping center with a parking garage.

Monday's killing occurred at one of northern Virginia's busiest intersections, where major arteries come together to form seven corners. Clint Van Zandt, a former FBI profiler who lives in Frederickburg, Va., said the location set the stage for the slaying.
Largest-ever U.S. meat recall made

Poultry processor Pilgrim's Pride is recalling 27.4 million pounds of cooked sandwich meat after warnings of possible contamination from listeria — the largest meat recall in U.S. history.

The company pulled 295,000 pounds of turkey and chicken products Wednesday but expanded the recall over the weekend after tests came back positive for a strain of the potentially fatal bacteria, the company said Sunday.

The nationwide recall covers processed meat at the company’s plant in suburban Franconia from May 1 through Oct. 11. The recall covers deli meat primarily sold under the company’s Wampler Foods brand, though it is also sold under brands including Block & Barrel, Bienes, Golden Acre, Reliance and a variety of private labels. The products include turkey and poultry sold freshly sliced or made into sandwiches or counters and in packages of sliced deli meats.

Because consumers might not have access to the meat’s original packaging, the best way is to return a product to the store under the recall is to ask if it comes from a package that bears the plant number P-1351 inside the U.S. Department of Agriculture’s mark of inspection, said company spokesman Ray Atkinson. Production dates also can be found on that part of the label.

The deli products were sold in retail groceries, in delis and by food service distributors. Pilgrim’s Pride, based in Pittsburg, Texas, is the nation’s second-largest poultry company behind Tyson Foods. Its stock price plunged 24.7 percent, down $1.73, to close Monday at $5.28, on the New York Stock Exchange.

Consumers were urged by the company to return any affected meat to the store or deli where it was purchased for a full refund.

The discovery followed an investigation of a listeria outbreak in eight Northeast states since early summer that caused at least 120 illnesses and 20 deaths, the USDA’s Food Safety and Inspection Service said.

"We want consumers to be aware of the recall because of the potential for foodborne illness," said Dr. Gary L. McKee, the inspection service's administrator.

No products have been linked to that outbreak, said David Van Houwe, Wampler’s chief executive officer. The general belief is that caused the outbreak is different from the strain found at the plant, officials said.

"We don't have any scientific evidence at this point that there is a connection, but our analysis of sampling and testing in that plant is not complete," said the USDA’s Dr. Jeff Reinecke.

"We don't have any scientific evidence at this point that there is a connection, but our analysis of sampling and testing in that plant is not complete," said the USDA’s Dr. Jeff Reinecke.

"We don't have any scientific evidence at this point that there is a connection, but our analysis of sampling and testing in that plant is not complete," said the USDA’s Dr. Jeff Reinecke.
Airbus spokesman said.

the European Union.

M uentefering and is flirting with an annual deficit of 3 percent — with past losses. In borrowing m ore, Germany

This suggests a deep discount to the roughly

120 planes from European aircraft maker

the merger.

EasyJet to buy 120 Airbus planes

EasyJet PLC has agreed in principle to buy planes than it paid for Boeing 737s alm ost

However, the deal may be an expen­

EasyJet is only the second low-cost carrier, planes. However, the deal could be an expensive one for Airbus. Britain's budget said it will pay about 30 percent less for the airplanes than it paid for Boeing 737s almost

T he inquiry is loo k in g

Germany backs off budget restraints

German leaders wrapped up budget talks

Monday saying they had agreed to borrow more heavily to help plug a $10 billion budget shortfall, which will save $4.2 billion, and through

$2.6 billion in the

Kuhn insisted the country was still on track to to increase profits.

Hughes, whose proposed merger with EchoStar satellite television service continues to increase profits.

Kozlowski, Tyco's former chief executive, and

Mark Swartz, its former chief financial officer, have been charged with enterprise corruption and grand larceny for allegedly stealing $600 million from the company. They face up to 25 years in prison on each charge if convicted.

Former Tyco International CEO Dennis Kozlowski leaves Manhattan Supreme

Court following his bail hearing Sept. 27 in New York City. Kozlowski is charged with looting $600 million from Tyco International.

Hughes Electronics narrows loss

Hughes Electronics Corp. said

Monday it would aggressively pursue its merger with EchoStar

Communications Corp. as its DirecTV

satellite television service continues to increase profits.

Hughes, whose proposed merger with EchoStar was rejected last week by Federal regulators, said Monday that its third-quarter net loss narrowed from a year earlier.

The company posted a net loss of $13.6 million, compared with a loss of $22.1 million a year earlier. The company doesn't issue per-share figures because it is a tracking stock of

Hughes' DirecTV Latin America operation and its broadband Internet unit.

Results at DirecTV have apparently not been hurt by uncertainty over the merger.

Hughes estimate on more than one television.

Gains at DirecTV, however, were offset by continuing losses at the Hughes' DirecTV Latin America operation and its broadband Internet unit.

The latest quarter's results included a pretax gain of $158 million from the sale of a stake in Thomson Multimedia, a $32 million write-down of two equity investments; a pretax loss of $25 million from the sale of

SkyPerfecTV stock and increased net losses. In borrowing more, Germany is flirring with an annual deficit of 3 percent — a ceiling agreed upon by the 12 nations using the euro currency. Still, Muensterfering and

Kuhn insisted the country was still on track to having a budget deficit in the years, also mandated by the European Union.

JAPAN

Five kidnapped Japanese return home

Associated Press

TOKYO

Five Japanese kidnapped quite the same way by North Korean spies returned to Japan on Wednesday, as the nation's most embarrassing episode in postwar history comes to an end.

The abductees' charter jet touched down at Tokyo's Haneda airport after picking them up earlier in the day from the North Korean capital, Pyongyang.

They are the only known survivors among the five returned to Japan Wednesday.

"Today I'm going to be very cheerful to welcome her and forget the past just for now," said Yuko Hamamoto, brother of returnee Fukie Hamamoto.

She and her then-fiancée Yasushi Chimura were grabbed from behind, wrapped in burlap and whisked away in North Korean boats as they strolled along a secluded Japanese beach in 1978, when both were just 23 years old.

Now married, they are among the five returnees who are the only known survivors of at least 13 people abducted by the North in the 1970s and early 80s to train in spies in the Japanese military and culture.

"Today I'm going to be very cheerful to welcome her and forget the past just for now," she said.

The abductees, their families have requested such reunions be low-key, private affairs, and Koizumi has no plans to meet the visitors while they stay in Tokyo for two days before returning to their hometowns.

"It's not a revered national builder like Mao Zedong, or a pragmatic visionary like Deng Xiaoping. But his island, consensus-oriented style of leadership may have been exactly what was needed by a country weary of decades of political persecutions and failed economic nationalism.

"Deng had a broader vision. But Jiang's weakness is his strength. He relied on think tanks. He talks to other people.

Deng, the peasant who became a revolutionary installed Jiang, the university-educated electrical engineer, as successor at a difficult time — after the 1989 suppression of democracy protestors on Tiananmen Square. The cautious, pliable Jiang, mayor and then party boss of Shanghai, was apparently picked because he was insensitive to Beijing's political calculations.

China under Jiang saw rising incomes and soaring skyscrapers, and an unprecedented level of foreign investment. The country's rise was special crafted to the Chinese people. But he also leaves behind corruption, massive unemployment, a banking system ridden with bad debts, and a growing income gap.

China's Jiang faces uncertainty

Associated Press

SHANGHAI

Down the quiet tree-lined alley, past the four-story Art Deco apartments, an officer of the People's Armed Police steps out of the shadows, crisis "Haiti" and turns away cars and pedestrians.

Even many longtime Shanghai residents have never heard of Dechang Road, turfed in one of the city's smartest neighborhoods. But word has it that this is where Chairman P R China's Prime Minister Junichiro Koizumi helped broker the homecoming through his unprecedented Sept. 17 summit with North Korean leader Kim Jong II. But he has since faced widespread Japanese anger over the North's explanation of the others' fate.

China's Jiang faces uncertainty
World Food Day is a worldwide event designed to increase awareness, understanding and informed, year-around action to alleviate hunger. It is observed each October 16th in recognition of the founding of the UN Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) in 1945. The first World Food Day was in 1981. In the United States the endeavor is sponsored by 450 national, private voluntary organizations. – Taken from http://www.worldfooddayusa.org/

We encourage you to participate in the following events leading up to this day:

TONIGHT!, Tuesday, October 15th, “Hungry Farmworkers”
The Coalition of Immokalee Workers will speak regarding the Taco Bell boycott and other issues related to migrant farming. Held in 155 DeBartolo at 7 p.m.

Wednesday, October 16th, World Food Day
12 – 3 p.m. World Food Day Teleconference. Tentatively scheduled for the Hesburgh Conference Center in the Hesburgh Center for International Studies:

First Hour: Professor Michael Lipton, international authority on rural poverty in developing countries is the featured guest. Ray Suarez, senior correspondent for the PBS Jim Lehrer News Hour will host the conversation. There will be cameo appearances with former Ambassador George McGovern, and Dr. Louise Fresco, Asst. Director General of the Agriculture Department of the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) in Rome.

Second Hour: Prepared questions and a video, Hear Our Voices: The Poor on Poverty

Third Hour: Call in session for people from around the world (including ND)

---

Internships (SSI)!
The First Service Internship Information session will be held October 16th (Wednesday) in the CSC’s Classroom 6:30 - 7:00 PM

Come hear from others who have participated!

Find out about this 3 credit service-learning experience-right weeks during the summer months, $2000.00 scholarship, with room and board provided. Plus, the added incentive of getting an extra $1000.00 AmeriCorps award!

---

Elderly:
Students are needed to sit with an elderly woman while she undergoes her kidney dialysis treatment. She is treated on T/Th/Sat from 12-3. Differently volunteers for each day would be fine. Transportation would be needed. Contact Kathy Fodness @ 220-1182.

Tutors/Mentors:
Tutor needed for a 12-year old in reading and math comprehension. A female student in math or education would be ideal. Student can come to Hesburgh Library or dorm on Tuesdays from 4-5. Contact Julie Dawson @ 243-7950, cell @ 329-9756, home @ 654-8741.

A male mentor is needed for a seven-year old boy who does not have a dad in his life. There would be no cost to the student and the commitment would be about two times a month. Contact Delores @ 631-4115.

The Juvenile Justice Center needs tutors for 14-17 year olds in Math and English. Tutors could come from 5:30-6:30 Mon - Fri to the Juvenile Justice Center. There is a small screening process. Contact Anthony Castellino @ 235-5457.

Volunteers are needed to be one-to-one mentors with teenagers from the Juvenile Justice Center. Single sex pairing; there is a screening process. Contact Anthony Castellino @ 235-5457.

Tutors are needed for a 17-year old senior in math and a ten-year old in reading. Wed/Th evening or Mon afternoon. Can bring children to Hesburgh Library. Contact Diane Braisher at work, 8-4:30, @ 284-3510, or home @ 232-3412.

If you have any questions about these volunteer projects, please email cscvols@nd.edu.

---

Current Volunteer Opportunities

---

TEACH FOR AMERICA

APPLICATION PARTY

TOMORROW! Wed, Oct 16
7:00 - 8:00 p.m.
Cavanaugh Hall Basement

Teach For America is the national corps of outstanding recent college graduates of all academic majors who commit two years to teach in urban and rural public schools and become lifelong leaders in the effort to expand opportunity for children.

Seeking all majors. No previous education experience or course work necessary. Full salary plus $9,450 education award and loan forgiveness.

Application deadlines are: October 25, 2002 and February 21, 2003.

Join the force of leaders committed to change.
www.teachforamerica.org
A modest proposal to end poverty

By: Amy Schill

The Observer

If Saddam Hussein and the Iraq situation weren’t dominating national discussion (and sidewalk space), we would be hearing a lot more about welfare reform right now. The 1996 Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act, also known as The Most Politically Correctly Named Act, is ever up for reauthorization. Debate on this issue has been postponed at present but, as soon as the president has finished relaying everything on his pre-existing agenda to the war on terrorism, Congress can once again discuss poverty, which of course has absolutely nothing to do with terrorism. The debate will go on for weeks and result in little actual reform. Republican want stricter work requirements, Democrats want more money allocated for childcare. Eventually, the 2003 Still More Opportunity, Effective Child-Rearing, Enduring Freedom Reconciliation Act will be born.

I fail to see why we would waste our time in endless political debate and big government when the answer to America’s poverty problem is right under our noses: the death penalty.

No, I’m not suggesting we round up the non-poor have to serve any time at all, but if we spared them punishment, the invisible hand that pushes the less fortunate to a lower class, would be hearing a lot more about welfare reform than about executions.

There are those who equate capitalism and criminal justice system with the invisible hand that pushes the less fortunate to a lower class. Economics teaches us that we all have equal opportunity to improve our lot in life, and whoever is poor is poor because they simply choose not to work hard enough. These people contribute nothing to our way of life, but luckily they can be eliminated. You see, when the poor are accused of gruesome crimes, they obviously can’t afford an attorney of their choosing.

This is good, of course, because they didn’t work hard enough to get a good attorney, so they don’t deserve a good one. Unfortunately, public defenders interfere with the market, but luckily they are underpaid, overworked and occasionally asleep during the trial. With such inadequate representation, poor defendants don’t stand much of a chance of avoiding a death sentence for their crimes.

Non-poverty murderers and rapists, however, can usually gain a prison sentence and hopefully return to the labor market eventually. It’s unfortunate that the non-poor have to serve any time at all, but if we spared them punishment, the invisible hand that pushes the less fortunate to a lower class would be hearing a lot more about welfare reform than about executions.

I fail to see why we would waste our time in endless political debate and big government when the answer to America’s poverty problem is right under our noses: the death penalty.

No, I’m not suggesting we round up poor people and summarily kill them like animals. But if we just let our economy and criminal justice system work as they have for years, we can get rid of poor people as successfully as we were eliminating the mentally retarded before the Supreme Court made us stop.

Okay, think about it. Capital punishment has an almost perfect efficiency record in eliminating the poor. Ninety-eight percent of convicted criminals sentenced to death could not afford their own attorney. This is the result of the beautiful system I like to call the Capital and Criminal Justice Cooperation Act. It’s genius.

Economics teaches us that we all have equal opportunity to improve our lot in life, and whoever is poor is poor because they simply choose not to work hard enough. These people contribute nothing to our way of life, but luckily they can be eliminated. You see, when the poor are accused of gruesome crimes, they obviously can’t afford an attorney of their choosing.

This is good, of course, because they didn’t work hard enough to get a good attorney, so they don’t deserve a good one. Unfortunately, public defenders interfere with the market, but luckily they are underpaid, overworked and occasionally asleep during the trial. With such inadequate representation, poor defendants don’t stand much of a chance of avoiding a death sentence for their crimes.

Non-poverty murderers and rapists, however, can usually gain a prison sentence and hopefully return to the labor market eventually. It’s unfortunate that the non-poor have to serve any time at all, but if we spared them punishment, the invisible hand that pushes the less fortunate to a lower class would be hearing a lot more about welfare reform than about executions.

I fail to see why we would waste our time in endless political debate and big government when the answer to America’s poverty problem is right under our noses: the death penalty.

No, I’m not suggesting we round up poor people and summarily kill them like animals. But if we just let our economy and criminal justice system work as they have for years, we can get rid of poor people as successfully as we were eliminating the mentally retarded before the Supreme Court made us stop.

Okay, think about it. Capital punishment has an almost perfect efficiency record in eliminating the poor. Ninety-eight percent of convicted criminals sentenced to death could not afford their own attorney. This is the result of the beautiful system I like to call the Capital and Criminal Justice Cooperation Act. It’s genius.

Economics teaches us that we all have equal opportunity to improve our lot in life, and whoever is poor is poor because they simply choose not to work hard enough. These people contribute nothing to our way of life, but luckily they can be eliminated. You see, when the poor are accused of gruesome crimes, they obviously can’t afford an attorney of their choosing.

This is good, of course, because they didn’t work hard enough to get a good attorney, so they don’t deserve a good one. Unfortunately, public defenders interfere with the market, but luckily they are underpaid, overworked and occasionally asleep during the trial. With such inadequate representation, poor defendants don’t stand much of a chance of avoiding a death sentence for their crimes.

Non-poverty murderers and rapists, however, can usually gain a prison sentence and hopefully return to the labor market eventually. It’s unfortunate that the non-poor have to serve any time at all, but if we spared them punishment, the invisible hand that pushes the less fortunate to a lower class would be hearing a lot more about welfare reform than about executions.

I fail to see why we would waste our time in endless political debate and big government when the answer to America’s poverty problem is right under our noses: the death penalty.

No, I’m not suggesting we round up poor people and summarily kill them like animals. But if we just let our economy and criminal justice system work as they have for years, we can get rid of poor people as successfully as we were eliminating the mentally retarded before the Supreme Court made us stop.

Okay, think about it. Capital punishment has an almost perfect efficiency record in eliminating the poor. Ninety-eight percent of convicted criminals sentenced to death could not afford their own attorney. This is the result of the beautiful system I like to call the Capital and Criminal Justice Cooperation Act. It’s genius.

Economics teaches us that we all have equal opportunity to improve our lot in life, and whoever is poor is poor because they simply choose not to work hard enough. These people contribute nothing to our way of life, but luckily they can be eliminated. You see, when the poor are accused of gruesome crimes, they obviously can’t afford an attorney of their choosing.

This is good, of course, because they didn’t work hard enough to get a good attorney, so they don’t deserve a good one. Unfortunately, public defenders interfere with the market, but luckily they are underpaid, overworked and occasionally asleep during the trial. With such inadequate representation, poor defendants don’t stand much of a chance of avoiding a death sentence for their crimes.

Non-poverty murderers and rapists, however, can usually gain a prison sentence and hopefully return to the labor market eventually. It’s unfortunate that the non-poor have to serve any time at all, but if we spared them punishment, the invisible hand that pushes the less fortunate to a lower class would be hearing a lot more about welfare reform than about executions.

I fail to see why we would waste our time in endless political debate and big government when the answer to America’s poverty problem is right under our noses: the death penalty.

No, I’m not suggesting we round up poor people and summarily kill them like animals. But if we just let our economy and criminal justice system work as they have for years, we can get rid of poor people as successfully as we were eliminating the mentally retarded before the Supreme Court made us stop.

Okay, think about it. Capital punishment has an almost perfect efficiency record in eliminating the poor. Ninety-eight percent of convicted criminals sentenced to death could not afford their own attorney. This is the result of the beautiful system I like to call the Capital and Criminal Justice Cooperation Act. It’s genius.

Economics teaches us that we all have equal opportunity to improve our lot in life, and whoever is poor is poor because they simply choose not to work hard enough. These people contribute nothing to our way of life, but luckily they can be eliminated. You see, when the poor are accused of gruesome crimes, they obviously can’t afford an attorney of their choosing.

This is good, of course, because they didn’t work hard enough to get a good attorney, so they don’t deserve a good one. Unfortunately, public defenders interfere with the market, but luckily they are underpaid, overworked and occasionally asleep during the trial. With such inadequate representation, poor defendants don’t stand much of a chance of avoiding a death sentence for their crimes.

Non-poverty murderers and rapists, however, can usually gain a prison sentence and hopefully return to the labor market eventually. It’s unfortunate that the non-poor have to serve any time at all, but if we spared them punishment, the invisible hand that pushes the less fortunate to a lower class would be hearing a lot more about welfare reform than about executions. Tuesday, October 15, 2002
After the attacks of Sept. 11 last year, we as a country have experienced the unspeakable pain of terrorism. When President Bush addressed The Citadel in South Carolina last year, he stated: "We cannot accept — and we will not accept — states that harbor, finance, train or equip the agents of terror. Those nations that provide safe haven to the worst of the worst will be regarded as hostile regimes. They have been warned, they are being watched and they will be held to account." Sounds like justice, right?

While the United States goes stumping about the globe on this new crusade, perhaps Bush and company should do some soul-searching here at home, particularly in regard to the kind of training the U.S. Army gives at Fort Benning's School of the Americas. The Western Hemisphere Institute for Security Cooperation (SOA) has trained Latin American military personnel at the School of the Americas (SOA) for the past decade which in large part has contributed to the corruption, death and destruction. We waste our time in talk instead of action. The greatest generation has been discarded. Instead, we waste our breath praying for peace in Iraq and suggesting that more than two-thirds of the more than 60 officers cited in the worst atrocities in the SOA's history for complicity in human rights abuses and terrorist attacks carried out by SOA graduates continue today, espe-ially as an opposition to non-liberal ecodom policies by Latin America's marginalized people grows. Atrocities committed by SOA graduates in Colombia in recent years are too numerous to count. Colonel Jesus Maria Clavijo, a graduate of SOA, is currently under investigation for collusion with paramili-dary forces in 1991 to 1998 in Colombia. SOA graduate Igorigner General Jaime Ernesto Canal Albán was involved in helping to establish a paramilitary group known as the "Calima Front." Canal's brigade was found to have supplied the front with weapons, training and intelligence. In addition to his involvement with the Calima Front, Canal was in command of soldiers who entered a home and killed five civilians during the birthday party of a 16-year-old child in 1998. Last year the Bolivian government sold the public water system of Cochamba to a private corporation, resulting in skyrockteing water rates for the people of Bolivia. As thousands took to the streets, Bolivian president, former military dictator in 1990, Hugo Banzer went out the armed forces to attack civilians. In April 2000, after four days of antipri dictator protests, Banzer declared a "state of siege," sending soldiers into the street with live bullets. Seventeen-year-old Victor Hugo Daza was killed by a shot through his face and at least seven others were killed. The number of injuries resulting from military violence totaled over 100. Given the SOA's horrific track record and involvement in state-sponsored violence and terrorism, the only viable solution is to shut it down. This is the only way to stop the war in South America, and to keep this nation from being in part of a new and different "Calima" between elites here and others in other parts of the world. We join the group of states that, in President Bush's own words, "harbor, finance, train or equip the agents of ter-or," and as a patriotic American, an American who loves this country, I cannot accept this.

If you truly love this country, we would do more good to rise up in opposition against injustice rather than furrying our heads to the flag and accepting it as something essential to our security.

Robert Adams
Notre Dame, Indiana
Oct. 10

Revive patriotism on this too-liberal campus

Bedwettingamoim tic liberals are undermining the traditional values of American society and our campus, our University of Notre Dame. It has become a breeding ground for these ideas. It started last year on Sept. 12, when students were poisoned with the idea that Sept. 11 was "our fault" and "we brought this upon ourselves." Last time we checked, two of our buildings full of American civilians fell and over 3,000 American citizens were murdered.

It appeared again last year when South Quad was inundated with yellow shirt-wearing, Frisbee-throwing, tree-hugging children who believed they could understand the plight of Afghan refugees. Most recently, signs calling for "No War In Iraq" and "Pray for Peace" have further degraded the already decrepit American society and our campus, our University of Notre Dame, has become a too-liberal campus.

I write in response to John Michael Vore's Oct. 7 letter, "Investigate hidden scandals at Notre Dame." I currently serve as counsel to the Priests of Holy Cross, Indiana, Inc. Father Malloy and a large number of Holy Cross priests at Notre Dame are members of the Province. I do not represent them as individuals nor do I represent the University. This response will hopefully allay any fears someone may have that there is a "conspiracy of silence" on the part of the Holy Cross order to cover up allegations of abuse by members of the Province.

I do not minimize the pain Vore continsues to suffer as a result of his experience. I once served as a Deputy Prosecuting Attorney and specialized in a time for Sexual Abuse cases. The longstanding pain and suffering of victims of sexual abuse should never be underestimated. However, it is unfair for victims to blame those who are not responsible and in fact have taken aggregate and appropriate action to not only prevent abuse but to act decisively on the infrequent occasions when it does occur.

The Holy Cross Order has been operating under a sexual abuse policy protocol for the past decade where a separate party was adopted by the American Bishops at the conference this summer in Dallas. School of Notre Dame has helped contribute to this conference by providing the Bishops with a "White Paper" on the subject.

Recently cases which are alleged to have occurred many years ago have resurfaced because of the media reports of abuse by clerics throughout the country. The Holy Cross Order has cooperated fully with civil authorities and met with victims to help provide support and comfort. Father Malloy has been a full supporter of these efforts and works openly with the Order to provide us with the information necessary for the Order to follow its policies and to make sure that we further our mission of helping those in need and not ever harming anyone.

These efforts and policies have evolved over the years. Could we have done things better and differently in the past? There is no doubt we could have. Just like in society as a whole, the protocols of dealing with sexual abuse have improved dramatically in recent years. We acknowledge that sexual abuse occurs in every social hierarchy and profession. With this acknowledgement comes the responsibility to deal with the issue so that those we serve will be able to trust their Church in the same way their parents did. I have every confidence that the President of the Holy Cross will meet this challenge and am glad to have Father Cross as an ally in that effort.

Richard A. Nunnbaum II
Notre Dame, Indiana
Oct. 10
By EMILY TUMBRINK  Scene Music Critic

Ben Folds’ third solo release and his first attempt at a live album successfully conveys his genuine talent as a singer/songwriter/performer. Featuring 17 career-spanning tracks from his sold out solo tour, Ben Folds Live contains both unreleased solo songs as well as classic Ben Folds Five hits. However, don’t think of this as a greatest hits collection. Some songs that received only a decent amount of airplay, such as “Song for the Dumped” and “Battle Who Could Care Less,” are not a part of this album, absent from this collection.

But no matter, the songs that have been included create a well-rounded and accurate portrayal of the music that Folds tends to write and enjoy playing. He has obviously matured as an artist over the years, and in continuation of this trend Ben Folds Live mostly contains ballads from his more recent albums.

Unlike most other live releases, which are a continuous recording of one show, Ben Folds Live is a collection of both songs from several stops on the tour that were then seamlessly edited in the studio to create the flow that is so crucial to a live release.

A live album is always a daunting enterprise and the white elephant of a critical process. Live performances have a way of sabotaging an artist’s best efforts. But Folds manages to perform a very similar manner to the studio versions, there are certain differences that make this album a stand-out. Because he has been left with only his piano and a microphone, Folds is forced to improvise on certain songs that require more resources than he has on stage with him. During “Army,” he splits the audience down the middle, having one side perform the trumpet part while the other half sings the part of the saxophones. The result is an unusually accurate sound that makes the listener want to sing along.

The audience also successfully provides haunting background vocals on “Not the Same,” a song originally from ’97’s The Classic. Ben Folds’ previous solo release. The live version of this song should definitely win the Most Improved award, for it is far superior to the original version included on the studio album.

The lyrics of “Not the Same” get lost in the dense musical composition of the studio version on which Folds plays not only piano, but also guitar and drums. Luckily, on Ben Folds Live, the melody is greatly simplified due to the fact Ben is only able to play one instrument, giving us a chance to focus not only on the lyrics but also on Folds’ talent as a pianist. Just in case we had any doubts about his mad midi-playing skills, “Philosophy” includes an extensive jam session that reiterates Folds’ raw talent as a musician. Another talented musician, John McCrea of Doves, kitcchines in to provide vocals on “Fred Jones Part 2.” Just as he does on the original recording from Rockin’ the Suburbs. Also included on Ben Folds Live is a cover of Elvis’ “Jailhouse Rock.”

Photo courtesy of rollingstone.com

By LIAM FARRELL  Scene Music Critic

For many people, the image of Elvis is not a brash young teenager walking into Sun Studio to record revolutionary music. The image they see is a tired old man who sialed as a musician.

That’s not to say Elvis’ music hasn’t been respected. Artists such as Bruce Springsteen celebrate his work religiously, and rarely will there be a worldwide musician who doesn’t give a damn about Elvis at some point or another. But for a lot of people, Elvis was simply the beginning of something that got a lot better as people expanded on what he did.

30 #1 Hits is a must-have album for any Elvis-doubters out there. From the opening lines of “Heartbreak Hotel” to the backup singers in “Suspicious Minds,” this album has 30 tracks (plus a JXL bonus track of “A Little Less Conversation”) that prove undeniably that Elvis rocks. This was an artist that could inject more soul, rhythm, and feeling into a single note than most artists possess in an entire career. Elvis never sang a song that he wrote, and he never contributed lyrics or melodies; his artistic achievements were not in the realm of song creation, but in his talents in song performance more than make up for any lack of composition. Elvis is not his best album, but it is undeniably Elvis’ own, regardless of whose name appears after “written by.”

Like the similar release by the Beatles a few years ago, this Elvis album is a compilation of No. 1 hits on the pop, country, R&B and U.K. charts. It also is a great introduction to his music as not a single facet of his career is left out, from his early days with Sam Philips to his years spent singing in Las Vegas.

The last few tracks come from the period when Elvis had become the reason most artists wanted to burn out rather than fade away, as he began to hit a rather painful artistic slump. “ Burning Love” is definitely not his best album and it works almost like self-parody. "In the Ghetto" shows how Elvis’ strong point was never political statements. But in the middle of this period Elvis recorded what is arguably his finest song, "Suspicious Minds." The production is incredible, something that would make Phil Spector proud.

One of the marks of a great artist is leaving something worthwhile even amongst his poorest work. If Elvis got a little too sick near the end of his musical career, the opening tracks from Elvis’ earlier session have enough power, energy and old fashioned rock and roll to sustain any music fan. From the driving “Jailhouse Rock” to the beautiful ballad “Love Me Tender,” Elvis’ early music remains a high watermark for achievement in rock and roll.

There is a quote inside the CD case that says, “Before anyone did anything, Elvis did everything.” How true that quote is. The importance of Elvis is within his music, not in his movies or clothes. It is easy to write him off as overemphasized or quaint when listening to bands that pride themselves on independent success, artistic credibili­ty, and the ever-present disdain for people who “sell out” to commercialism.

For fans of such music, Elvis could appear to be the quintessential sellout, the figurehead of all that can go wrong when musical talent and drive is taken over by record labels and other interests. But those concerns should evaporate when Elvis breaks out his voice and backing band. This is rock and roll at its finest and purest. No one is like Elvis, and no one ever will be like Elvis. He once said that he didn’t sound like any other singer and that is tremendously accurate because no one else could be as powerful, as meaning­ful or as necessary as the King of Rock and Roll, Elvis Presley.

Contact Liam Farrell at farrell.50@nd.edu

Contact Emily Tumbrink at tumbrink.1@nd.edu
Jurassic 5 show power on the test album

The two-disc, 40-song album traces the Stones' entire career, from the time they were skinny, British kids messing around with a few killer guitar riffs up to their present status as the savvy and experienced kings of rock with a few more wrinkles. The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.

The album starts off on a punch with that ever-familiar coarse strum of "Street-Wrinkles." The Rolling Stones are living proof. With the J5 deliveries powerful performance.
Hawks take over Humanities, Irish at No. 3

Miami established a new Associated Press Poll record with this week’s 19th straight No. 1 ranking. The Canes remained at No. 2 in the Sandwick Index for the second straight week.

Dukeبداً متصدراً 43- 37 30

Duke was behind new No. 1 Florida Tech, who gained some steam with a road win over Boston College. Notre Dame, Ohio State and Georgia finish out the top five. Florida State dropped from No. 3 to No. 6 with the loss.

Horns Get Hooked

It seems as if each college football season ush­ ers in the claims that this year's season will be the year for Texas. With an 11-point lead in the second quarter, Oklahoma looks like this just might be "the year."

Enter Longhorn-killer Quentin Griffin, who ran wild for 203 yards and added two touchdowns against a Texas team that hadn't allowed a 100-yard running back in 2000 and led the Sooners to a 35-24 victory. We think it's safe to say that Griffin is not the prodigal son of Austin, after this performance and his six-touchdown day against Texas in 2000.

Texas quarterback and former all-universe receiver Chris Simms completed only 12 passes for 156 yards and threw three interceptions. Not to be outdone, Oklahoma's Nate Hybl also completed only 2 passes and tossed four picks of his own. Hybl, however, was able to connect for two touchdown passes while Simms was shut out.

Considering the best team that Texas has beaten this year in No. 58 Tulane, it's not surprising the Longhorns took a major plunge from No. 3 to No. 16 in the Sendwick Index. Oklahoma moved up three spots to No. 7.

The Contenders

Miami and Oklahoma both escaped this week-end undefeated by Virginia Tech, Notre Dame, Ohio State, Georgia, Oregon, North Carolina State, Air Force and Bowling Green all still own perfect records as well. Of course, an undefeated season isn’t a prerequisite for a national championship, but let’s take a look at the chances of these teams finishing the regular season with a perfect record.

Horse Racing

The biggest remaining game of the year will occur Dec. 7 when Virginia Tech travels to Miami. Miami’s run defense definitely showed holes against Florida State, as Greg Jones ran for 194 yards. It should be interesting to see what the Hokies elite ground tandem of Lee Sturga and Kevin Jones can do against the Hurricanes.

Ohio State squares off against Air Force this weekend in Colorado Springs, so only one team will exit with a goose egg in the loss column. Air Force's only remaining obstacle is a home game with No. 14 Colorado State. Notre Dame, however, must also play at No. 6 Florida State and No. 13 USC.

Georgia, Ohio State, and Ohio State still must win their remaining anything-can-happen in-conference games in the SEC. Big 12, Pac-10 and Big 10 respectively. Going undefeated in any of these conferences is an accomplishment of its own, but Georgia and Oklahoma must also excel in their play in their conference championship games.

To avoid the agony next time to think about taking a knee against the Hurricanes since Horns Get Hooked No. 16 to No. 33 in the Sendwick Index.

Smart: Nate Hybl also against a Texas team that hadn’t allowed a 100-...
Equestrian team wins first title in four years

Special to the Observer

The Notre Dame and Saint Mary's equestrian teams opened the season by capturing team Highpoint honors at the IUPUI show. Under the guidance of new coach Kathryn Wells, the club claimed its first title in four years.

Only 10 riders were able to make the trip and an ankle injury to Callie Willis further reduced a squad that was competing against schools with more than twice the number of riders. The team entered 16 classes and was able to place in the top four in 12 events.

Meg Hoffman captured first place in the Open Flat and third in the Open Fences to pace the team. The team dominated the Intermediate Fences events as Notre Dame and Saint Mary's finished fourth and seventh. Molly Kopacz also tied for second in the Intermediate Flat and finished fourth in Open Fences.

The squad's was also evident in the Novice events as Rebecca Lindrew garnered first in Fences and second in Flat, with Katie Shoults taking sixth and third respectively. Marta Aczadl and Heather Dzedric rounded out the team scoring.

Ultimate frisbee

Nashville, Tenn., was the venue for Vanderbilt's highest Invitational this weekend as both the men's and women's squads advanced through the early rounds. Veterans Julie Schutte and Naomi Cordell teamed with Junior Shannon Heuer to lead the women as they came out of the blocks strong, easily beating Tulane 7-3 and Tennessee, 13-4.

The club then defeated Towson 13-0, but lost the services of Junior Jill Scarborough and Katie Twidwell, to injuries. With only seven players remaining, the undermanned club fell to the blocks strong, easily beating Tulane 7-3 and Tennessee, 13-4.

The Irish used this game to work out the kinks in the offense and defense, setting up a showdown with top-seeded Tennessee. The Irish battled back to claim their final lead at 12-11, before a rush at the end enabled the Volunteers to prevail 14-12. The Irish claimed third place among the eighteen competing teams.

Mens water polo

The mens water polo club will host next weekend's a Great Lakes Conference Championship, with a berth in the Nationals on the line.

In the final conference round-robin this past weekend, the Irish first scheduled opponent, Ball State, forfeited the match. In the second round, play Notre Dame had little difficulty with Toledo and Danny Wiederkar and Rory Clear leading the scoring onslaught. Jay Deimel and Dan Robinson finished fifth with a time of 18 minutes. 95 seconds, followed by Brad Voller and Rich Mciver (19:00.38) tenth and Steve Kettler and Dan Robinson (19:00.74) in eleventh.

In mens pairs, the Irish entered three boats, as Brendan Rayenbuehler's five goals paced the Irish attack, while Rory Clear and Brendan Doherty frustrated shooters all day long.

In the anticipiticial final, the Irish overpowered Lewis, 16-3. The Irish used this game to work on their 6 on 5 offensive sets as Lewis had a player ejection and played the match shorthanded. John Becher and Ryan Downey scored their first collegiate goals, while Deimel and Devlin McCormick split duties in goal.

Mens rowing

The Notre Dame mens crew club opened its season at the Head of the Rock in Rockford, Ill. The club finished sevenths in the mens point standings with 53 points.

In mens pairs, the Irish entered three boats, as Brendan Rayenbuehler's five goals paced the Irish attack, while Rory Clear and Brendan Doherty frustrated shooters all day long.

In the anticipiticial final, the Irish overpowered Lewis, 16-3. The Irish used this game to work on their 6 on 5 offensive sets as Lewis had a player ejection and played the match shorthanded. John Becher and Ryan Downey scored their first collegiate goals, while Deimel and Devlin McCormick split duties in goal.

56% of IRA members move into a TIAA-CREF managed plan in less than 2 years. TIAA-CREF.org or call (800) 842-2776

Managing money for people with other things to think about.
Knee injury puts Peete on sideline

Associated Press

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Carolina Panthers quarterback Rodney Peete will miss the rest of the season after dislocating his knee and will be sidelined at least three weeks, putting Chris Weinke back in the starting lineup.

Carolina coach John Fox said that Peete has been playing with a torn meniscus in his right knee all season and will have to undergo surgery to repair it.

"It's been a lingering thing since camp and it became a little more problematic when we started the regular season," Fox said. "Playing football on a meniscus tear is not really good treatment for it."

Peete wasn't the only injured Carolina player following Sunday's loss to Dallas — special teams ace Jarrod Cooper is out for the season with a torn anterior or cruciate ligament in his left knee, linebacker Dan Morgan strained his groin and receiver Steve Smith bruised his ribs.

Cooper will be placed on the injured list. Morgan is doubtful for Sunday's game against the Atlanta Falcons and Smith is questionable.

But Peete's status was the biggest shocker. He was knocked out of the game with a concussion, but that was lost in the news about his knee.

"There wasn't a lot of discussion about his concussion," Fox said. "My impression was it wasn't going to affect his status for this week."

Peete took over the starting job when Fox benched Weinke at the beginning of the season. He led Carolina to a 3-0 start, but the Panthers have lost three straight since then and Peete has struggled to get the offense moving efficiently.

There were rumblings he could have been benched at any time for Weinke, but the injury made the move official.

"My knee didn't allow me to run when I needed to run, to burst when I needed to burst," Peete said. "It was either continue to hobble around or get it fixed." Peete will be out about a month, targeting Nov. 10 as his return date.

Fox, in his first season as a head coach, said he has no set policy about starters reclaiming their jobs when they return to the lineup.

"That was the pressure on Weinke, who played the entire second half against Dallas and completed 7 of 14 passes for 114 yards.

"I thought for coming off the bench his performance was good enough to win," Fox said. "It is what it is, seldom to 100 percent."

"I think Chris made the statement the last couple of weeks that he has had his best couple of weeks of practice. He's prepared hard and I think that was evident Sunday."

Associated Press

Major League Baseball

Piniella to leave Mariners

Associated Press

SEATTLE — Lou Piniella won’t be back with the Seattle Mariners next season.

The Mariners agreed to release Piniella from the final year of his contract, allowing him to leave Seattle after a 10-year span during which he elevated the team to baseball’s upper tier.

Mariners chief executive Howard Lincoln said the club will allow other teams to interview him, provided that “adequate compensation” can be arranged. Both the New York Mets and the Tampa Bay Devil Rays may be interested in Piniella, also a former manager and GM of the New York Yankees.

Lincoln and team president Chuck Armstrong spoke to Piniella.

"We reiterated our mutual friendship and respect, that we were disappointed he wasn’t coming back, that based on what we told him in Tampa Bay there was a pressing and real need to live and work closer to his family in Tampa Bay. We understood and we were sympathetic," Lincoln said.

He declined to elaborate on what compensation the Mariners would seek, but it probably would be money or players.

At least one suitor already is waiting, Lincoln said. He planned to return a telephone call to Mets owner Fred Wilpon after speaking with Seattle reporters.

If any club wants to interview Piniella, the Mariners will seek compensation "in exchange for releasing Lou from his employment contract," the team said.

Lincoln also spoke sentimentally about losing Piniella.

"He was better in this position than any other," Lincoln said. "He was more successful. His presence was so important in saving major league baseball for Seattle and the Pacific Northwest.

"His salary didn’t return several messages left at his home in Tampa, Fla. Mariners officials "understand what I’m trying to do," Piniella told The Tampa Tribune. "It’s just too far to be in Seattle. It’s a burden on me, on my family. It’s just too far from home."

Piniella met with Lincoln, general manager Pat Gillick and team president Armstrong on Friday. He told them that "for personal and family reasons," he had decided not to return to Seattle for the 2003 season.

"The meeting in Tampa Bay on Friday was very emotional," Piniella said. "It ended with a hug. It’s fair to say we have parted as good and warm friends."

Piniella managed the Mariners for the past 10 seasons, directing a perennial no-name team to three straight playoff appearances and a record-tying 116 victories in 2001. Seattle won 93 games this season, but finished third in the AL West behind Oakland and Anaheim.

The final year of Piniella’s $6.8 million contract is worth $2.5 million.

Associated Press

NFL

Injury to thumb keeps Fiedler out

Associated Press

DAVIE, Fla. — Miami Dolphins quarterback Jay Fiedler will miss at least four weeks because of a broken right thumb, forcing Mike Holmgren to start a first-year player for the first time in his career.

Fiedler had surgery to repair the joint, team trainer Kevin O’Neill said. His throwing hand will be placed in a cast for several weeks before beginning rehabilitation.

It could be a significant loss for a team that is 5-1, has a two-game lead in the AFC East and high hopes of reaching the Super Bowl for the first time since 1983.

"We just need to piece this thing together and figure out what we need to do as a staff and a team to win this football game," said coach Dave Wannstedt, whose Dolphins play Buffalo on Sunday.

Wannstedt sustained the injury late in Sunday night’s 24-22 victory over the Denver Broncos. He was hit with a 3:30 remaining in the game, hitting his throwing hand on a helmet while completing a 5-yard pass to Ricky Williams.

It happened in a play that remained in the game and played the final series, setting up Olindo Mare’s 35-yard winning field goal with two critical completions totaling 39 yards in the final seconds.

"If anybody needed additional information to reaffirm the type of winner Jay Fiedler is and what he’s willing to sacrifice and do to give this team a chance to win, you don’t have another example of that," Wannstedt said. "He didn’t want to come out. He wanted to see this thing through.

"Many of the things he’s shown before, we’ve seen," Wannstedt said of his dominance. "X-rays after the game revealed a broken bone.

Fiedler is 25-11 as a starter for the Dolphins and has missed just one start since signing with the team in 2000.

"It will be somewhat frustrating just because I’m a competitor and want to be out on the field and helping the team," Fiedler said. "But I’ll help in the best way that I know how. I plan on being on a couch for however many weeks this keeps me out."

Wannstedt said nothing will change with Lucas under center.

Lucas posted a 6-3 record as a starter with the New York Jets in 1999, when he filled in for an injured Vinny Testa­veder.

He completed 59 percent of his passes and threw 14 touchdowns and six interceptions that season. He has played sparingly since but looked sharp this pre­season, getting the majority of the work while Fiedler recov­ered from hip surgery.

Fiedler, who signed a four-year, $15 million contract with the Miami Dolphins early this year, had surgery to repair a torn rotator cuff and wants to be out on the field with his team as soon as possible.

"For personal and family reasons, he had decided not to return to Seattle for the 2003 season."

Gillick said he had no timetable for Fiedler’s return.

The last time Seattle went looking for a new manager was in 1992, needing a replacement for Bill Plummer. Reports in the Seattle area have focused on Dusty Baker, who is managing the San Francisco Giants in the NCLS. Other possibilities include Marlins bench coach John McLaren or pitching coach Bryan Price. Lincoln said Gillick would oversee the search for a new manager, but he declined to say much about what kind of candidate the Mariners want.

He said there is no timetable, but the team expects to have a new manager before the winter meetings.

"We want to get the best per­son for this particular job, this baseball team, this ball park," Lincoln said. "Pat Gillick is not focusing on a person who can handle the players we have now, the strengths and weak­nesses of our team as it exists."

"For the Mets or Tampa Bay, Devil Rays are mentioned as the most likely candidates to lure the 59-year-old Piniella, who lives in the Tampa area during the offseason. His parents and grandchildren also live there.

"We just became aware of this statement tonight and we are going to reserve further comment until we have time to digest it," Mets spokesman Jay Horwitz said.

The Devil Rays also said they need some time to decide whether to pursue Piniella.

"We will discuss it internally tomorrow and then make a decision on our course of action," Tampa Bay spokesman Rick Vaughn said.

Last time Seattle went looking for a new manager was in 1992, needing a replacement for Bill Plummer. Reports in the Seattle area have focused on Dusty Baker, who is managing the San Francisco Giants in the NCLS. Other possibilities include Marlins bench coach John McLaren or pitching coach Bryan Price.
NFL

49ers improve to 4-1 with 28-21 win over the Seahawks

Associated Press

SEATTLE

Terrell Owens had some fun at Shawn Springs’ expense — twice.

Not only did the All-Pro receiver catch a 37-yard touchdown pass over the Seattle corner to give San Francisco a 28-21 win over the Seahawks, but he added an extra flourish by pulling out a pen and autographing the ball for a mutual friend sitting in Springs’ suite.

Seattle (4-4) led 21-20 and was driving for another score when Ahmad Plummer intercepted an ill-advised pass by Trent Dilfer at the San Francisco 33 with 10 minutes left. The 49ers moved to the Seattle 37, where Jeff Garcia found Owens down the left side, where he caught the ball over Springs.

Owens then took a pen from his sock and signed the ball.

“I just tried to be creative,” Owens said. “I was just trying to have fun. It was a situation where I knew we would be going to the end zone in the fourth quarter.”

Garcia then hit Garrison Hearst for a 2-point conversion.

“Tie was talking the most trash, how he was going to do this and do that,” said San Francisco running back Kevan Barlow, also a friend of Springs. “Our big-time player showed him. Terrell’s a beast.”

The win kept the 49ers (4-1-1) one game ahead of Arizona in the NFC West. The 49ers won the division 14 times between 1991 and 1997.

The Seahawks, who moved this year from the AFC West to the NFC West, took little consolation from the loss despite playing well.

“I don’t think you can take any satisfaction from losing whatsoever,” said Dilfer, who lost the third time in four starts this season after 12 straight victories, most of them with Super Bowl-winning Baltimore two years ago. “In this league you continue to try to get better.”

Garcia also starred for the 49ers, throwing for 202 yards and two TDs and running seven times for 48 yards.

San Francisco wide receiver Tai Streets breaks the tackle of Seattle defensive back Ken Lucas.

The 49ers went on to win 28-21, and take command of the NFC West.

NHL

Lemieux scores two in Pens’ win

Associated Press

TORONTO

Mario Lemieux wasn’t about to let the Toronto Maple Leafs humiliate his team again.

Lemieux scored twice and assisted on Alexey Morozov’s two power-play goals as the Pittsburgh Penguins recovered from their worst opening-game loss ever with a 5-4 victory over the Maple Leafs.

Morozov also had two assists for the Penguins, who have won two straight following Thursday’s 6-0 home loss to Toronto.

“It’s not revenge, but we were embarrassed in the first game,” Lemieux said. “All hockey players have pride. You have to come back and play better and that’s what we did.”

Lemieux, who also had two goals in Saturday’s 6-0 victory over the New York Rangers, scored the game-winner on the power play with 2:18 left when his shot from the behind the net deflected off Trevor Kidd’s pads.

“They came in our house and abused us in the first game,” goalie Johan Hedberg said. “We really wanted to come here and beat them.”

Tie Domi, Mats Sundin, Darcy Tucker and Alexander Mogilny scored power-play goals for the Maple Leafs, who have lost two straight.

Mogilny appeared to score the tying goal with 24 seconds remaining, but it was taken away after it was ruled that Toronto’s Shayne Corson knocked the net off its moorings before the puck went in.

“I thought it was a goal for sure,” Corson said. “The puck was in before it came off.”

After Domi gave Toronto a 1-0 lead early in the first, Lemieux tied it with his third goal of the season and the 657th of his career.

He fired a slap shot past Kidd at 10:01.

Sundin gave Toronto the lead back twice on the star at midfield after scoring against the Penguins.

“Everybody’s always saying I’m being disrespectful,” he said. “But I’m just trying to have fun.”

University of Notre Dame International Study Program

Angers, France

“Numbers and Courses”

INFORMATION

MEETING

With Prof. Paul McDowell

and returnees of the program

Please join us whether it is your first or second meeting with us!

Tuesday, October 15, 2002

7:15 PM

209 DeBartolo

Application Deadline: Dec. 1, 2002

Academic Year 2003-2004

Fall 2003- Spring 2004

Applications available: www.nd.edu/~intlstud
Around the Nation

NFL

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>AFC East</th>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Record</th>
<th>Pct.</th>
<th>PF/G</th>
<th>PA/G</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Miami</td>
<td>10-5</td>
<td>.688</td>
<td>31.3</td>
<td>22.3</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New England</td>
<td>8-7</td>
<td>.533</td>
<td>32.3</td>
<td>24.0</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Buffalo</td>
<td>7-9</td>
<td>.439</td>
<td>22.3</td>
<td>24.0</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NY Jets</td>
<td>5-11</td>
<td>.319</td>
<td>35.0</td>
<td>23.6</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>AFC North</th>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Record</th>
<th>Pct.</th>
<th>PF/G</th>
<th>PA/G</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Baltimore</td>
<td>5-2</td>
<td>.714</td>
<td>22.0</td>
<td>22.4</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pittsburgh</td>
<td>3-5</td>
<td>.375</td>
<td>22.0</td>
<td>22.4</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cleveland</td>
<td>3-7</td>
<td>.313</td>
<td>25.0</td>
<td>25.0</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cincinnati</td>
<td>2-7</td>
<td>.250</td>
<td>30.0</td>
<td>30.0</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>AFC South</th>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Record</th>
<th>Pct.</th>
<th>PF/G</th>
<th>PA/G</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Indianapolis</td>
<td>5-2</td>
<td>.750</td>
<td>22.0</td>
<td>15.0</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jacksonville</td>
<td>3-5</td>
<td>.375</td>
<td>22.0</td>
<td>22.0</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tennessee</td>
<td>3-5</td>
<td>.375</td>
<td>27.0</td>
<td>27.0</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Houston</td>
<td>4-4</td>
<td>.500</td>
<td>32.6</td>
<td>32.6</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>AFC West</th>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Record</th>
<th>Pct.</th>
<th>PF/G</th>
<th>PA/G</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>San Diego</td>
<td>5-1</td>
<td>.833</td>
<td>24.3</td>
<td>9.3</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oakland</td>
<td>4-2</td>
<td>.667</td>
<td>22.4</td>
<td>26.4</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Denver</td>
<td>4-3</td>
<td>.571</td>
<td>22.4</td>
<td>26.4</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kansas City</td>
<td>5-1</td>
<td>.833</td>
<td>30.2</td>
<td>28.0</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>NFC East</th>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Record</th>
<th>Pct.</th>
<th>PF/G</th>
<th>PA/G</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Philadelphia</td>
<td>3-3</td>
<td>.433</td>
<td>33.0</td>
<td>33.0</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NY Giants</td>
<td>5-3</td>
<td>.625</td>
<td>19.0</td>
<td>19.0</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dallas</td>
<td>3-5</td>
<td>.375</td>
<td>14.7</td>
<td>20.0</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Washington</td>
<td>3-7</td>
<td>.319</td>
<td>21.2</td>
<td>21.2</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>NFC South</th>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Record</th>
<th>Pct.</th>
<th>PF/G</th>
<th>PA/G</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Green Bay</td>
<td>1-5</td>
<td>.185</td>
<td>28.8</td>
<td>24.0</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Atlanta</td>
<td>5-1</td>
<td>.833</td>
<td>22.4</td>
<td>22.4</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Minnesota</td>
<td>1-2</td>
<td>.333</td>
<td>24.6</td>
<td>24.6</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Detroit</td>
<td>3-1</td>
<td>.750</td>
<td>21.0</td>
<td>19.0</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>NFC West</th>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Record</th>
<th>Pct.</th>
<th>PF/G</th>
<th>PA/G</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>San Francisco</td>
<td>3-1</td>
<td>.750</td>
<td>21.0</td>
<td>15.0</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arizona</td>
<td>3-3</td>
<td>.500</td>
<td>19.0</td>
<td>17.4</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Seattle</td>
<td>1-7</td>
<td>.143</td>
<td>25.8</td>
<td>24.6</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>St. Louis</td>
<td>1-8</td>
<td>.125</td>
<td>32.0</td>
<td>22.0</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Major League Baseball

Giants win pennant, head to World Series

Giants win pennant, head to World Series

Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO

At long last, Barry Bonds will get his chance. Kenny Lofton hit an RBI single with two outs in the ninth inning that sent Bonds to his first World Series as the San Francisco Giants beat the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1 Monday night to win the NL championship series.

Bonds did his part in Game 5, hitting a tying sacrifice fly in the eighth off a determined Matt Morris. And now, in his 17th season, baseball’s biggest star will finally get a chance to play on baseball’s biggest stage.

Bonds, often criticized for being selfish and not interacting with his teammates, led the sprint from the Giants’ dugout to congratulate Lofton. The four-time MVP was the first player off the bench to reach him.

“We played great,” Bonds said. “We’ve got a tough series ahead of us. The Angels have been playing great in the clutch. It’s going to be down to the wire with them.

“We’ve got some guys out here, just like the Angels,” he said. “What would’ve thought two Wildcard teams would make it? That’s just amazing.”

The Cardinals, playing on emotion since the death of Darryl Kile in June, once again could not get a big hit when it counted.

And the Giants took advantage, breaking through against Morris to tie it in the eighth. In the ninth, Morris retired the first two batters before David Bell and Shawn Dunston singled. At that point, Steve Kline relieved and Lofton pulled the first pitch into right field. Bell scored easily, sending the Giants to their first World Series since 1989 as the solvent crowd of 42,673 erupted at Pacific Bell Park.

Lofton especially enjoyed the party, having been booted at Busch Stadium last week when his objection to an inside pitch triggered a bench-clearing skirmish.

“It’s an awesome feeling at this point,” Lofton said. “Bonds, at 38, jumped up and down with the NLCS MVP, 37-year-old catcher Benito Santiago.

Bonds got the chance of a lifetime in the eighth, coming up with the bases loaded, one out and the Giants down 1-0. The home-run king and first-time batting champion delivered — sort of — with a fly ball that eluded it.
Fisher 9, St. Edward's 0  Going into the second half of Sunday's game, it looked as though the only points would be courtesy of a 32-yard Fisher field goal that overcame a strong wind. However, Fisher running back Kameron Chappell had other ideas.

Chappell took over the game after a Neil Vargas interception and 25-yard return to put them in Steds territory. The Green Wave (3-1) proceeded to score four plays later. Quarter-back Jimmy Costanzo set up the touchdown with a 15-yard play action completion to Chappell, who wrestled the ball away from two defenders. From the 5, Chappell then ran it in on a loss play, giving Fisher the only touchdown of the game and a comfortable nine point lead. "After the first half we got into the game mentally," Chappell said. "We were then on the same page as a team in the second half, and that made the difference, allowing us to pull out the victory."

Meanwhile, St. Ed's (0-3) continued to struggle on offense. Their last chance to score was spoiled by a Tom Giron interception. St. Ed's has not scored thus far this season in their three losses. On a day when the offense struggled once again, the defense held its own against the high powered Fisher offense.

On Fisher's longest drive, where they converted two fourth and short situations, St. Ed's stopped Fisher at the 20-yard line, as the defensive line stuffed the Fisher plunge. They also blocked the Fisher extra point attempt.

While St. Ed's tries to rebuild, Fisher will take their second straight loss as they head into the postseason looking to unravel for the Juggs after an inexperienced Carroll team.

Siegfried 12, Knot 3

Knott got on the board first Sunday, but still came up short against Siegfried. The Juggs lost 12-3 to their Mod Quad rivals and any hopes of a play off berth were vanquished.

The Juggs (1-3) intercepted Rambler quarterback Bill Bingle in the second quarter. The resulting offensive drive ended in a field goal, their only score of the game; only surrendering three points the first half, but things began to unravel for the Juggs after halftime. They had trouble sustaining a drive against the hard-hitting Rambler defense. Unfortunately, the Juggs had to head into the postseason looking for an off year.

The Siegfried defense has only surrendered three points this season. Coupled with a talented offense led by Bingle, Kaup and running back Tim Breinbach, the Rams will be tough to beat.

"Their defense won that game," said Chappell. "We just want to win, play in the Stadium and then win," Chappell said. "We will take it one game at a time and play every game like it is our last."

Contact Justin Schuer at jschuver@nd.edu, Lisa Reijula at lreijula@nd.edu, and Heather Van Hoegarden at hvhvanhoeg@nd.edu VOTED NUMBER ONE IDEAL EMPLOYER.

PricewaterhouseCoopers was voted the number one ideal employer in the 2002 Universum Undergraduate Survey of more than 4,000 business students and the number one recruiter in our profession in the 2002 Emerson Company Campus Recruiting Survey.

www.pwcglobal.com/lookhere.

Look beyond the numbers.
HOCKEY

Irish start year with win and tie in Minnesota

Special to the Observer

Rob Globoe notched his first career hat trick and John Wroblewski scored twice to lead Notre Dame to a 5-3 win over the Minnesota-Duluth Bulldogs Saturday at the Duluth Entertainment and Convention Center.

Senior goaltender Tony Zasowski, making his first start since Dec. 1, 2001, shook off some early rust to make 39 saves to backstop the Irish to the win.

Globoe scored all three goals in the third period using his speed and skill to beat the Bulldog defense. His first goal of the night, at 3 minutes, 13 seconds of the third period gave Notre Dame its first lead of the weekend. Connor Dunlop wrapped the puck around the boards to freshman Tim Wallace. Wallace hit Globoe in stride at center ice and the junior snapper a wrist shot past Bulldog goaltender Isaac Reichmuth for his first goal of the night.

UMD tied the game at 13:28 when Tyler Bronz redirected Drew Otten's shot from the left wing boards past Zasowski to give Minnesota its first goal of the game. Reichmuth was the rebound over the Zasowski for the 2-0 lead at 15:39.

The Irish were able to cut the lead to 2-1 with a power-play goal of their own at 17:17. Rob Globoe found John Wroblewski all alone in front with a great pass from the top of the left circle. Wroblewski outwaited goaltender Isaac Reichmuth and fired the puck from the top of the crease under the crossbar for his first goal of the season.

Wroblewski wasn't finished with just the power-play goal. He tied the game for Notre Dame with a shorthanded tally in the second.

With T.J. Mathiesen off for interference call, the special-teams unit stepped in front of a Minnesota-Duluth pass at the Notre Dame blue line and it was off to the races.

The senior went in on Reichmuth all alone, deked the freshman goaltender to the ice and drilled a wrist shot from between the hashmarks at 11:09 to knot the score at 2-2. The shorthanded goal was the first of Wroblewski's career.

Zasowski turned in one of the best nights of his career with 39 saves on the night, just one off his career-high of 40 saves. The senior was especially sharp after the first period as he made 30 of his saves in those two periods, giving up just one goal.

Notes:

* The Irish got late game heroes from sophomore left wing Van Stastny and goaltender Morgan Cey turned in another brilliant performance in goal as the Irish rallied for a 2-2 tie versus the Bulldogs. The season-opening tie was played in front of 3,321 fans at the Duluth Entertainment and Convention Center Friday night.

* With the Irish trailing and time running out, Notre Dame got an icing call with 1:07 left in the game. Coach Dave Poulin called timeout and pulled Cey in favor of a sixth attacker. Connor Dunlop won the faceoff to the left of UMD goaltender Rob Anderson. The draw went to Evan Nielsen who's pass to Brett Lebda going to the net was behind him. Lebda tracked the puck down in the right wing corner and slid it in front to Stastny who slid the puck under Anderson for the 2-2 tie.

MENS SOCCER

Boughen, Riley collect awards

Special to the Observer

Senior Greg Tail who registered four saves in Notre Dame's 1-0 overtime victory at Boston College on Saturday has been named the Big East Conference Goalkeeper of the Week. He earns the honors for the second time in his career and becomes the third Irish player to earn one of the conference's weekly awards this season.

Tail has started the last two games in goal for Notre Dame, filling in for sophomore Chris Sawyer who was injured in the game against Pittsburgh. Tail also posted a shutout in the Irish's 1-0 road win at Akron and came up with five saves in the contest.

Tail played the final 47 minutes, 48 seconds of the 1-0 overtime loss to the Panthers and was in goal when the Pittsburgh tallied the game-winning score. Tail has played in four contests overall and has allowed two goals in 256:32 of action. He owns a 0.70 goals against average and .875 save percentage.

Sophomore Luke Boughen has been named to College Soccer News' Team of the Week after leading the Irish in victory over the Golden Eagles. Boughen netted the game-winner at the 93:36 mark of the contest. He scored the first two goals of his career in the squad's 5-1 victory over Providence College earlier in the season.

The Irish midfielder has played in all 12 of Notre Dame's games this season and has scored three goals. He scored the first two goals of his career in the squad's 5-1 victory over Providence College earlier in the season. His score against Boston College marked the first game-winning goal of his career. Boughen stands fifth on the team in scoring with six points.
VOLLEYBALL

Irish continue to roll in Big East, beat Hoyas

By MATT LOZAR
Sports Writer

The last time Notre Dame played Georgetown, the Irish were taken to five games by the Hoyas in a tightly-contested match. This time around, the Irish had it much easier.

Continuing its strong conference play, the Notre Dame volleyball team defeated Georgetown 30-26, 28-30, 30-28, 30-27, 13-30. On Sunday, the Irish beat Villanova 30-25, 28-30, 30-28, 30-17.

"I feel that last year's game was that it was really exciting, a heated match, a huge rivalry," outside hitter Emily Loomis said. "(On Saturday) we played well, came out strong and beat them handily."

Despite hitting under .200 in games one and two, the Irish were able to pull out those two games and they cruised in game three with a .429 hitting percentage. The difference in the two games was simple.

"We finally just came out and executed," Loomis said. Outside hitter Lauren Kelbly led Notre Dame (15-3, 6-0 in the Big East) with 13 kills against Georgetown (12-7, 3-2). The freshman recorded a .611 hitting percentage — the highest hitting percentage for an Irish player this season. For her efforts over the weekend, Kelbly was named co-Big East Rookie of the Year on Monday.

"Lauren has been big for us all year," Loomis said. "She really came out and played awesome in the first tournament and she has the capability to do that in every game. She played awesome this weekend." Loomis had 11 kills and middle blocker Katie Neff had 13. Keara Coughlin led Notre Dame defensively with 11 digs.

Georgetown had a difficult time hitting against Notre Dame as the Hoyas hit .044 and .074 in games two and three. For the match, Georgetown had a .078 hitting percentage.

Notre Dame coach Debbie Brown was able to play all 15 of her players in Sunday's four-game win over Villanova (10-13, 1-5). Four players recorded double-digit kills for the Irish. Middle blocker Lauren Brewster and Neff each had 12. Brewster led Notre Dame with a .440 hitting percentage; Kelbly killed 13 and had a team-best seven blocks. Loomis played well again, leading the Irish with 16 kills and 15 digs.

Despite the filled-out stat sheet, Loomis wasn't happy with dropping a game to the Wildcats. "I think we did a terrible job with our serving — we missed 17 serves," she said. "That gave them a lot of points and left us without the opportunity to score."

The Irish are currently on a seven-game winning streak and they have won 12 of their last 14 matches.

Contact Matt Lozar at mlozar@nd.edu

---

SMC VOLLEYBALL

Despite strong start, Belles unable to get victory

By CHRIS FEDERICO
Sports Editor

Saint Mary's remained winless in MIAA play Friday night with a hard-fought home loss to a strong Adrian College squad 30-26, 30-27, 13-30, 20-30, 15-12.

The Belles jumped out to a strong start over the fourth-place Bulldogs, but were unable to put them away in the opening game. "We played well as a team, very well," Saint Mary's coach Julie Schroeder-Biek said. "We led most of these games within the match. We played well, but we unfortunately have those little lapses, and just didn't finish the match as hard as we started. We'd start very strong and play hard through the first 20-25 points, but then we'd get relaxed."

The close match was an improvement for the Belles after the outcome of the last meeting between these two teams, when Adrian outscored Saint Mary's 90-20 in three games.

"They played much better than us," Schroeder-Biek said. "I've really seen improvement, and it's nice to see that my freshmen and sophomores are getting such a very good experience."

Defensively, the Belles had a strong showing. Sophomore defensive specialist Michelle Wilkins also had 17 and 15 digs, respectively.

Setter Bridget Wakaruk again paced the team with 15 assists, while Shevik was the Belles leader in kills, with 10.

The Belles have one of their best chances of the season to get an MIAA victory Wednesday with a home match against Olivet College. Saint Mary's actually outscored Olivet earlier this season, but couldn't put all the points together at the right time in suffering a five-game loss 30-20, 30-27, 13-30, 20-30, 15-12.

"One of our goals this season is to have that big win," Schroeder-Biek said. The Comets are 4-18 on the season, 1-8 in MIAA play. Meanwhile, Saint Mary's is 5-15 and 0-9 in conference action. The two teams face off at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday at Angela Athletic Facility.

Contact Chris Federico at cfederico@nd.edu

---

Appalachian folk-singer, Jean Ritchie

JEAN RITCHIE

Friday October 18 2002
7:30 P.M.
Moreau Center for the Arts
Little Theatre

For tickets, call Saint Mary's College Box Office 574/284-4626

Without you, Campus Ministry doesn't have a prayer

Attention: Students, Faculty, and Staff!

You are invited to compose a personal prayer for the new edition of the Notre Dame Student Prayer Book. Please visit our new website today for information about how to compose and submit a prayer.

http://www.nd.edu/~prayers/
YOU MIGHT WANT TO WRITE THIS PAGE TO YOUR FRIENDS.

THE SCHOOL DAZE

CLARE O'BRIEN

THE JUMBLE

HENDI ARNOLD

MICHAEL ARGIRIOU

HAPPY TOWN

JACK MONAHAN

Crossword

CROSSWORD BY DENISE M. NEUENDORF

The Observer

HAPPY TOWN

We have had the Judaism Seminary building housing of the

In the hundred yard dash no man will ever know that you started.

Dude, I don't get it either.

Well that should settle things.

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

THE OBSERVER

Published Monday through Friday, The Observer is a vital source of information on people and events in the Notre Dame and Saint Mary's Community.

Join the more than 13,000 readers who have found the Observer an indispensable link to the two campuses. Please complete the accompanying form and mail it today to receive The Observer in your home.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DAY: Sarah Ferguson, Penny Marshall, Gabrielle Lagrange, Jim Pither

Happy Birthday! Should you choose to jump in with both feet, this can be an exciting day. You know that hard work you have put in will pay off and you're ready to unfold your ability to finish with thoroughness what you start. Prosperity will be a given, but the presence of a much better personal life will be the biggest reward of all. Your numbers are 4, 12, 15, 28, 31.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Today will be rather hectic on the domestic scene. Expected interruptions from family members. Organize your day well if you wish to accomplish all put on your plate. * * *

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Travel and family gatherings should be on your radar. Plan in turning your put on a visit to relatives in another city. You will pick up valuable knowledge through conversations with experienced individuals. * * *

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Go out to visit friends or participate in groups. Get involved in physical activities that will introduce you and me to those of common interest. * * *

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Emotional sent may pressurize your day. Focus on physical activities or occasions with your family. In this way you should be able to avoid problems. * * *

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Knows genes of fashionism are likely today. Be careful what you say to others. Past a few emotions rather than dwelling in family problems. "Listen to your gut.* * *

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You may not be that popular at home, but you should be able to make the best use of your time. Deal with the dynamics of family matters as you see fit. That time to realize your opportunities, making physical improvements. * * *

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Don't think twice about telling someone you live out your point of view. Put your efforts into influencing or involving friends. The determination of the day could be your ally. * * *

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A little extra time spent on preparation now will save you time down the road. You can find out rewarding information if you get a chance to talk to people you respect. * * *

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You will have the ability to make changes today. Your health may have suffered due to neglect or abuse. It's time to pay attention and listen to your body and health needs. * * *

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You may find that your emotional partner will not be in the mood to be in your company. Keep the lines of communication open and be there for each other. Don't make promises that you can't possibly keep. * * *

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19): You may have the idea that you are being overlooked. Your deprived mood won't be found in us. OK, take in time to solve the problem with you. * * *

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Get out and socialize with people in high positions if it all possible. There is an opportunity for you to obtain some very good information that could be helpful. You can make excellent investments if you are in the right place at the right time. * * *

Birthday Party: You will be an individual who will attract attention and popularity throughout this year. You will be interesting, intelligent and in tune with all that you do and therefore should be able to accomplish what you set out to do.

Copyright 2002 UNIVERSAL PRESS SYNDICATE

More Jumbles

CLARE O'BRIEN

UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME

Published by the Student Body Council

© 2002

SOUTH BEND, IN

The New York Times Crossword

Edited by Will Shortz

No. 0827

Across

1. From which plot, a fairy tale?
2. Amenities on the
3. Smooth-talking
4. Drum council
5. Late bloomer
6. Engine
7. In what town? ("Leave you"
8. Younger sex?
9. Southeastern
10. Name of the
11. Bar order, with "the"
12. Do you hear that?
14. Traveler's tag
15. Put in tooth fillings
16. Library resources
17. Furniture

Answer to Clues in this Puzzle are available by touch-tone phone: 1-900-259-5095. $1.20 per minute. Annual subscriptions are available for the best of Sunday crosswords from the last 50 years: 1-888-7-ACROSS.

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/

Visit The Observer on the web at http://observer.nd.edu/
Hildbold and punt team pin opponents deep

By CHRIS FEDERICO
Sports Editor

Irish punter Joey Hildbold came into the game more times than most everyone associated with the Irish would have liked. But as the Notre Dame offense failed to move the ball most of the day, it constantly turned to Hildbold and the punt team to bury the Panthers deep in their own territory.

Saturday, they came through.

"Our punt team is great," Hildbold said after the game Saturday. "We have great coverage and great protection. We work on it every week, two to three times a week.

Hildbold had nine punts Saturday, averaging 39.0 yards per punt. But the important stats were that Pittsburgh only got 4.6 yards per return due to Hildbold's kicking and the punt team's solid coverage.

Pittsburgh's average field position Saturday was at its own 23-yard line. Giving the Panthers a long field to work with enabled the Notre Dame defense to be largely successful in keeping Pittsburgh off the scoreboard.

"You always enjoy being the factor in the game," Hildbold said. "I think a lot of times field position is a big part of the game, so we always going to be a factor.

Three of Hildbold's punts put the Panthers inside their 20-yard line, while another barely snuck into the end zone for a touchback.

The biggest of these plays could have been Hildbold's punt with roughly 9 minutes, 30 seconds left in the game that sailed out at Pittsburgh's 7-yard line.

On the Panthers' second play from deep in their territory, Irish safety Glenn Earl hit quarterback Red Rutherford to force a fumble, recovering the ball for the Irish.

The Notre Dame offense then only had 12 yards to go for its eventual touchdown.

"Downing a punt near the goal line is critical, because what it does in most cases is that it changes the offensive scheme that they bring to you," Irish coach Tyrone Willingham said. "So if we can force them to back up, then they have to be conscious of the fact that a mistake down there leads to an easy score. So they change their call, and maybe get a little more conservative. It allows us to pack things in and hopefully get to three and out, then all of a sudden you're starting to get control of the football game.

On the other hand, Pittsburgh punter Andy Lee failed to take advantage of his opportunities to pin the Irish offense deep in its own territory. Lee's first four punt attempts came from within Notre Dame's 42-yard line, and all sailed into the end zone for touchbacks. Only one of his nine punts on the day landed inside Notre Dame's 20-yard line.

"If the team has to go 80 yards, that's not as bad as the team having to go 95 yards," Hildbold said. "Getting the ball in there, down inside the 5 and 10, like coach said before, changes their whole offense."

Contact Chris Federico at cfederico@nd.edu

Notre Dame punter Joey Hildbold kicks during Saturday's win over Pittsburgh. Hildbold pinned the Panthers inside their own 10-yard line twice.

Stanford takes out Morrissey in hard-fought game

By JUSTIN SCHUYER, LISA REJULA, and HEATHER VAN HOEGARDEN
Sports Writers

Wide receiver Adam Oyst er and the rest of the Stanford Griffins found a pearl Sunday as they handed Morrissey its first loss this season with a come-from-behind 12-7 win.

The win guarantees the Griffins (3-1) a playoff spot in this year's postseason.

"We needed this win to make sure we were going to make it," said Oyster, who also serves as team captain.

His team was not sharp early in the game, when a high snap on a punt gave Morrissey (2-1) excellent field position.

The Masses were able to take advantage of the short field and scored on a 5-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Rich Whitney to tight end David Purcell.

The extra point kick was good, to give Morrissey a 7-0 lead in the first quarter.

The Griffins' next punt included another mistake, but this one was in the team's favor, as the Morrie returner muffled the punt and Stanford recovered it.

The Griffins were able to drive 44 yards on the ensuing drive, culminating with a 3-yard quarterback keeper by quarterback Rich Whitney to put Stanford on the board.

Stanford, who was without a kicker, failed its two-point conversion attempt, making the score 12-7.

"That catch felt really great for our team," Oyster said. "We played hard the whole game and I was just happy our team came away with the win."

The Griffin sideline celebrated and cheered, but there was still time for the Minotaur to engineer an answer. This drive was extinguished when a Griffin defensive back intercepted Ysasi, leaving only a kneel by Whitney to make the game official.

Oyster credited his team's defensive coach Matt Solititto for putting together an excellent defense - see INTERHALL/page 19

SENDWICH INDEX

This week's computer index generated by two Notre Dame students had Virginia Tech at the top. The Irish move up to No. 3.

MENS INTERHALL FOOTBALL

Stanford takes out Morrissey in hard-fought game

By JUSTIN SCHUYER, LISA REJULA, and HEATHER VAN HOEGARDEN
Sports Writers

Wide receiver Adam Oyst er and the rest of the Stanford Griffins found a pearl Sunday as they handed Morrissey its first loss this season with a come-from-behind 12-7 win.

The win guarantees the Griffins (3-1) a playoff spot in this year's postseason.

"We needed this win to make sure we were going to make it," said Oyster, who also serves as team captain.

His team was not sharp early in the game, when a high snap on a punt gave Morrissey (2-1) excellent field position.

The Masses were able to take advantage of the short field and scored on a 5-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Rich Whitney to tight end David Purcell.

The extra point kick was good, to give Morrissey a 7-0 lead in the first quarter.

The Griffins' next punt included another mistake, but this one was in the team's favor, as the Morrie returner muffled the punt and Stanford recovered it.

The Griffins were able to drive 44 yards on the ensuing drive, culminating with a 3-yard quarterback keeper by quarterback Rich Whitney to put Stanford on the board.

Stanford, who was without a kicker, failed its two-point conversion attempt, making the score 12-7.

"That catch felt really great for our team," Oyster said. "We played hard the whole game and I was just happy our team came away with the win."

The Griffin sideline celebrated and cheered, but there was still time for the Minotaur to engineer an answer. This drive was extinguished when a Griffin defensive back intercepted Ysasi, leaving only a kneel by Whitney to make the game official.

Oyster credited his team's defensive coach Matt Solititto for putting together an excellent defense - see INTERHALL/page 19

SENDWICH INDEX

This week's computer index generated by two Notre Dame students had Virginia Tech at the top. The Irish move up to No. 3.

MENS INTERHALL FOOTBALL

Stanford takes out Morrissey in hard-fought game

By JUSTIN SCHUYER, LISA REJULA, and HEATHER VAN HOEGARDEN
Sports Writers

Wide receiver Adam Oyst er and the rest of the Stanford Griffins found a pearl Sunday as they handed Morrissey its first loss this season with a come-from-behind 12-7 win.

The win guarantees the Griffins (3-1) a playoff spot in this year's postseason.

"We needed this win to make sure we were going to make it," said Oyster, who also serves as team captain.

His team was not sharp early in the game, when a high snap on a punt gave Morrissey (2-1) excellent field position.

The Masses were able to take advantage of the short field and scored on a 5-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Rich Whitney to tight end David Purcell.

The extra point kick was good, to give Morrissey a 7-0 lead in the first quarter.

The Griffins' next punt included another mistake, but this one was in the team's favor, as the Morrie returner muffled the punt and Stanford recovered it.

The Griffins were able to drive 44 yards on the ensuing drive, culminating with a 3-yard quarterback keeper by quarterback Rich Whitney to put Stanford on the board.

Stanford, who was without a kicker, failed its two-point conversion attempt, making the score 12-7.

"That catch felt really great for our team," Oyster said. "We played hard the whole game and I was just happy our team came away with the win."

The Griffin sideline celebrated and cheered, but there was still time for the Minotaur to engineer an answer. This drive was extinguished when a Griffin defensive back intercepted Ysasi, leaving only a kneel by Whitney to make the game official.

Oyster credited his team's defensive coach Matt Solititto for putting together an excellent defense - see INTERHALL/page 19

SENDWICH INDEX

This week's computer index generated by two Notre Dame students had Virginia Tech at the top. The Irish move up to No. 3.