Game brings tragedy and triumph
Man collapses at game, dies at hospital

By MEGHAN MARTIN
Associate News Editor

A fan who was transported from the Stadium to the St. Joseph Regional Medical Center before Saturday's football game against Navy was pronounced dead at the hospital, University and hospital officials said.

Roger Bailey of Portola, Ill., was found collapsed on the floor inside the upper-level men's restroom near Section 123 of the stadium not long after the gates opened to fans.

President Emeritus Father Theodore Hesburgh.

Joyful fans cheer as Notre Dame broke its losing streak against Navy on Saturday. Though some were nervous before the game, the 27-24 victory renewed spirits among the crowd.

Victory warms cold hands, hearts in stands

By DAN O'BRIEN
News Writer

Students rejoiced Saturday in Notre Dame Stadium, thankful at a recent statement by Tyrone Willingham held true following the Irish win over the Midshipmen for the 40th consecutive year.

"At some point, Navy will play better than Notre Dame and win the football game, but you just tell your team it doesn't have to be this year," Willingham said Saturday.

Victory brought new life to a crowd that had witnessed two consecutive home losses. He also said he felt the family presence at the Navy game — a parent game — helped the atmosphere.

NASA official reflects on disaster

By ANDREW THAGARD
Associate News Editor

William Readdy, associate administrator of NASA's Office of Space Flight, offered an insider's perspective on the investigation of the space shuttle Columbia accident and reflected on his career Friday during the first installment of the Distinguished Engineering Lecture Series.

The Naval Academy graduate and former astronaut recalled a similar disaster that occurred at the start of his career with the space agency — the explosion of the shuttle Challenger in 1986.

"Every single day we commit ourselves to making sure that Challenger would not happen again," he said. "I learned on the morning of Feb. 1 (2003) that it could happen and it had happened again."

Space shuttle Columbia exploded while re-entering the atmosphere, killing all seven crew members aboard. Investigations conducted afterwards attributed the explosion to displaced foam insulation that ripped a hole in the shuttle's left wing.

Readdy said that on that day and other officials at NASA made a promise to the crew's family to find out what had happened, fix the problem and continue space flight.

"Nothing good is accomplished without great risk and tragedy," he said. "Our agency has been defined by great triumphs but also great tragedies. We'll redefine ourselves by getting the shuttle flying again probably by this time next year."

When it reentered the atmosphere, debris from Columbia were scattered within an area 200 miles long and four nautical miles wide.

Senate sponsors petition for outdoor Pass In Review

ROTC units stand vigil on Veterans' Day

By MAUREEN REYNOLDS
Associate News Editor

For one day each year, military members and Americans around the world pause to honor those who have served in the armed forces and remember the thousands who made the ultimate sacrifice.

"It's really simple, but it does a good job of bringing to life the sacrifices of those who served before us," said Kevin Conley, Tri-Military Commander and member of Navy ROTC.

"The vigil is four people, in half-hour shifts, standing watch for 24 hours," said Conley.

"When it reentered the atmosphere, debris from Columbia were scattered within an area 200 miles long and four nautical miles wide."

SMC welcomes candidates

By ANNELEISE WOOLFORD
Saint Mary's Editor

Throughout this week, Saint Mary's will welcome the last of four presidential candidates to campus, offering each an opportunity to meet with faculty, staff, students and to become acquainted with the College's atmosphere.

The first candidate visited campus Thursday and Friday and held the first student-candidate luncheon Friday afternoon.

According to students who attended, the candidate was helpful in answering questions about their past background and qualifications. Students will be granted equal time to meet with the other three candidates at scheduled luncheons throughout the week.

Also included in each candidate's visit is the Heritage Presentation, a campus tour, a tour of South Bend, dinner at an open meeting with faculty and staff, and meetings with the Congregation Leadership Team, Sister Joan Marie Steadman, chair of the board, administrators, hourly staff and the Administrative Council.

The last of four presidential candidates will arrive at Saint Mary's today and depart early Tuesday afternoon. Shortly after the second's departure, the third candidate will arrive on campus and stay until Wednesday afternoon.

The fourth and final candidate will arrive Wednesday evening and depart Friday evening.

Each candidate's visitation schedule is available to be viewed online at the Presidential Search Web site, a component of the Campus Weekly.

see COLLABORATE page 4

NASA official reflects on disaster

see NASA/page 6

Senate sponsors petition for outdoor Pass In Review

see ROTC/page 4

see VICTORY/page 4

see CANIDATE/page 4

see CANDIDATE/page 4

see COLLABORATE page 4

see CANDIDATE/page 4
 INSIDE COLUMN

For the love of the game

I love Notre Dame football. There are those of you reading this who can claim the same affection, I'm sure. I know people who have watched the games since they can remember and hold them in front of a TV, who have memorized individual scores, plays, players and coaches throughout the team's history, and who have sat through every game they could get to — beginning to end.

Unfortunately, I cannot boast an equal dedication. I had no real exposure to sports growing up until my mom remarried when I was 11. Without warning, I soon found myself part of a Notre Dame family with a long lineage of alums, including my stepdad and stepbrother, a freshman at the time. Football Saturdays were considered sacred, no questions asked. Weekend after weekend, month after month, year after year, I'd sit with my stepdad in our living room — eyes fixated on the TV screen, ears tuned to the radio in the kitchen.

When I wasn't watching the game at home, I was visiting my brother and in the Stadium every chance I got. I sat between my parents, squinting down at the field, trying to determine whether or not a run was long enough for a first down. I stood, face peeking over the railing, smiling on the walk back to my dorm.

I became a fan, and as much as I love the team, I don't think it can ever be the same for me. I have sat through 50 consecutive wins over the Midshipmen. For nothing else will I wake up five hours in advance, bundle up in three layers of clothing for 30-degree weather, fly through the air trusting the plane, and then drive home, I was visiting my brother and in the far north of the country and spent more than a month in prison.

The Notre Dame Navy ROTC color guard takes the field during pregame events before Saturday's football game. Notre Dame beat Navy, extending the record to 40 consecutive wins over the Midshipmen.

IN BRIEF

Stop by the Clarke Memorial and watch cadets and midshipmen perform a 24-hour vigil in honor of our great nation's fallen comrades. The vigil begins Monday at 4 p.m. and ends Tuesday at 4 p.m. A Veteran's Day Ceremony commences on Tuesday upon completion of the vigil. Fr. Hesburgh serves as the guest speaker.

"Why Jesus Throws Everything Off Balance: Flannery O'Connor and Catholic Culture," will be presented by Dr. Ralph Wood of Western University tonight from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in DeBartolo room 138. The presentation is part of a 6-week-long lecture series entitled "A Reason to Write: Two Catholic Novelist." Gather a group of friends to play drop-in hockey tonight from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. on Court 1 at Rolf's.

OFFBEAT

Naked Hiker Convicted of Breach of Peace LONDON A man attempting to walk the length of Britain naked to promote the right to go without clothes in public was convicted Friday of breaching the peace.

Stephen Gough, 44, was found guilty of walking naked in the presence of the public in circumstances likely to produce a road safety hazard. Gough set out on his 847-mile (1,363-kilometer) trek on June 16 wearing only a hat, knapsack, socks and walking boots, but was arrested immediately and charged with breach of the peace.

That charge was dropped, but Gough was arrested several more times along his route from Land's End in southwest England to John O'Groats in the far north of Scotland. He has appeared in courts across the country and spent more than a month in prison.

The American Spokesman-Chronicle, which first reported the story, has received an apology from the newspaper.

Information compiled from the Associated Press.

QUESTION OF THE DAY: WHAT DID YOU THINK OF SATURDAY'S FOOTBALL GAME?

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Player</th>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Quote</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Cole Barker</td>
<td>Junior O'Neill</td>
<td>&quot;If only Julius Jones could punt too, we'd be unstoppable!&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ian Anderson</td>
<td>Junior O'Neill</td>
<td>&quot;Two words: Julius and Jones.&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Keith Harwood</td>
<td>Junior O'Neill</td>
<td>&quot;We should play Navy every week.&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dan Doherty</td>
<td>Senior Off-Campus</td>
<td>&quot;It was great to see Notre Dame come out and win.&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Steve Carroll</td>
<td>Senior Off-Campus</td>
<td>&quot;I'm glad there was a marshmallow fight. Take that Cappu!&quot;</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tommy Gaeta</td>
<td>Senior Off-Campus</td>
<td>&quot;The freshman inside of me wanted to rush the field, but the senior realism was simply reined.&quot;</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

IN BRIEF

Stop by the Clarke Memorial and watch cadets and midshipmen perform a 24-hour vigil in honor of our great nation's fallen comrades. The vigil begins Monday at 4 p.m. and ends Tuesday at 4 p.m. A Veteran's Day Ceremony commences on Tuesday upon completion of the vigil. Fr. Hesburgh serves as the guest speaker.

"Why Jesus Throws Everything Off Balance: Flannery O'Connor and Catholic Culture," will be presented by Dr. Ralph Wood of Western University tonight from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in DeBartolo room 138. The presentation is part of a 6-week-long lecture series entitled "A Reason to Write: Two Catholic Novelist." Gather a group of friends to play drop-in hockey tonight from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. on Court 1 at Rolf's.

OFFBEAT

Naked Hiker Convicted of Breach of Peace LONDON A man attempting to walk the length of Britain naked to promote the right to go without clothes in public was convicted Friday of breaching the peace.

Stephen Gough, 44, was found guilty of walking naked in the presence of the public in circumstances likely to produce a road safety hazard. Gough set out on his 847-mile (1,363-kilometer) trek on June 16 wearing only a hat, knapsack, socks and walking boots, but was arrested immediately and charged with breach of the peace.

That charge was dropped, but Gough was arrested several more times along his route from Land's End in southwest England to John O'Groats in the far north of Scotland. He has appeared in courts across the country and spent more than a month in prison.

 Moscow Reportedly Considers Kissing Ban MOSCOW — Don't kiss and tell — and certainly don't tell the police in Moscow, where city authorities are reportedly considering levying fines for public displays of affection. As part of an effort to "improve morals" in the Russian capital, its government is working on a law that would prohibit kissing in subways and other public places, the newspaper Stolitschnaya Vechernyaya Gazeta reported on its Web site. It said the ban was being considered at the request of police and the city's education committee.

Information compiled from the Associated Press.

The Observer regrets it as a professional publication and strives for the highest standards of journalism at all times. We do, however, recognize that we will make mistakes. If we have made a mistake, please contact us at 611-411-260 so we can correct our error.

CONTACT ANNELESE WOOLFORD

The Observer regrets it as a professional publication and strives for the highest standards of journalism at all times. We do, however, recognize that we will make mistakes. If we have made a mistake, please contact us at 611-411-260 so we can correct our error.

LOCAL WEATHER

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Location</th>
<th>HIGH</th>
<th>LOW</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HIGH</td>
<td>51</td>
<td>48</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LOW</td>
<td>46</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Kroc leaves millions to NPR

WASHINGTON — Billionaire philanthropist Joan Kroc left more than $200 million in National Public Radio, a bequest more than double the network's annual budget.

NPR President Kevin Klose said Thursday it was the biggest event for the network since it broadcast its first show in May 1970.

"We are inspired and humbled by this tremendous gift," he said at a news conference. "Joan Kroc died of cancer Oct. 12 at the age of 75. The exact amount of her bequest will depend on the resolution of her estate and the value of her investments, Klose officials said.

Kroc, the widow of McDonald's founder Ray Kroc, was known for giving away hundreds of millions of dollars to promote world peace, education, health care and the arts. She was a longtime donor to her local NPR member station, KFPR in San Diego, and left an additional $5 million to the station.

"She wanted to make a difference in the biggest possible way," said KFPR assistant general manager Stephanie Bergsma, who knew Kroc for more than 20 years. Bergsma said Kroc typically woke up at 4:30 a.m. each day to catch up on international events on Internet news sites. She also followed NPR's coverage of the war in Iraq closely.

"She had the most voracious appetite for news," Bergsma said. "She'd read almost everything you can imagine."

"We are inspired and humbled by this tremendous gift," Kevin Klose, president of NPR, said.

"She had the most voracious appetite for news," said Kroc's friend Stephen Bergsma.

"She wanted to make a difference in the biggest possible way," said KFPR assistant general manager Susan Stamberg.

"We are inspired and humbled by this tremendous gift," said KFPR general manager Peter Klose.

"She had the most voracious appetite for news," Bergsma said. "She'd read almost everything you can imagine."

"She had the most voracious appetite for news," Bergsma said. "She'd read almost everything you can imagine."

"We are inspired and humbled by this tremendous gift," Kevin Klose, president of NPR, said.

"She had the most voracious appetite for news," Bergsma said. "She'd read almost everything you can imagine."

"We are inspired and humbled by this tremendous gift," Kevin Klose, president of NPR, said.

"She had the most voracious appetite for news," Bergsma said. "She'd read almost everything you can imagine."

"We are inspired and humbled by this tremendous gift," Kevin Klose, president of NPR, said.

"She had the most voracious appetite for news," Bergsma said. "She'd read almost everything you can imagine."

"We are inspired and humbled by this tremendous gift," Kevin Klose, president of NPR, said.

"She had the most voracious appetite for news," Bergsma said. "She'd read almost everything you can imagine."

"We are inspired and humbled by this tremendous gift," Kevin Klose, president of NPR, said.

"She had the most voracious appetite for news," Bergsma said. "She'd read almost everything you can imagine."

"We are inspired and humbled by this tremendous gift," Kevin Klose, president of NPR, said.

"She had the most voracious appetite for news," Bergsma said. "She'd read almost everything you can imagine."

"We are inspired and humbled by this tremendous gift," Kevin Klose, president of NPR, said.

"She had the most voracious appetite for news," Bergsma said. "She'd read almost everything you can imagine."

"We are inspired and humbled by this tremendous gift," Kevin Klose, president of NPR, said.

"She had the most voracious appetite for news," Bergsma said. "She'd read almost everything you can imagine."

"We are inspired and humbled by this tremendous gift," Kevin Klose, president of NPR, said.

"She had the most voracious appetite for news," Bergsma said. "She'd read almost everything you can imagine."

"We are inspired and humbled by this tremendous gift," Kevin Klose, president of NPR, said.

"She had the most voracious appetite for news," Bergsma said. "She'd read almost everything you can imagine."

Kroc leaves millions to NPR

The Box Factory shows work of SMC students

By EMILIE DESJARDINS

Fourteen Saint Mary's art students were recently invited to display their artwork at the Box Factory for the Arts in St. Joseph, Mich.

"Legoman and Gun" is an acrylic painting on canvas by Maria Fontenelle. "It presents a satirical look at the prevalence of guns and violence in America," Waterloo said.

Another student, Jennifer Trachy, has three paintings and a ceramics sculpture on display. One painting is a comparison between a blender and a palm pilot that contrasts the roles of women in the 1950s to 2003. Trachy said she simply enjoys the opportunity to display her work.

"It's a really good experience to have an exhibition outside the school," she said. "It is a nice venue and it's nice to see our work in a professional environment.

"The positive experience has underclassmen looking forward to future opportunities. "The students that are juniors this year are excited to participate next year," Tourtillotte said.

Contact Emilie Desjardins at adej4986@saintmarys.edu
ROTC continued from page 1

Conley said that ROTC has requested South Quad as the location for this year’s ceremony.

“It is a good location for it to be a more visible ceremony. Our cadets work really hard throughout the year, and it’s good to draw attention to the work they do,” he said.

The Student Senate recently sponsored a petition asking for student body support to relocate the Pass in Review from Lotus to a more prominent, outdoor location. The exact number of signatures gathered on the petition has not been reached, but the amount is considerable according to Pasquerilla West Senator Jana Lamplota.

“We have a large amount of student support. I was surprised ... at how many people were interested in this cause,” Lamplota said.

The final decision will be made by Bill Kirk, assistant vice president for Student Affairs.

Candidate Victory continued from page 1

The Saint Mary’s homepage.

Candidate’s names and resumes are also available online to those with on-campus Internet access. The information is posted 24 hours before each candidate’s arrival. Feedback forms are accessible for on-campus viewing following each visit.

In the interest of maintaining a fair search process, The Observer has chosen not to publish information from the student-candidate luncheons until all four candidates have concluded their visits to campus.

Contact Annaliese Woolford at wool8338@saintmarys.edu

Collapse continued from page 1

and transported Bailey to the Medical Center for treatment. He died later that day. Bailey was 49 years old.

“He collapsed in the restroom, they called for assistance and the medical people took him to St. Joseph Medical Center,” said Rex Rakow, director of the Notre Dame Security and Police Department. “He was pronounced dead at the hospital.”

Bailey, who officials say was attending the game with at least one brother, was assisted by medical staff from the upper-level first aid station, located just across the concourse from the men’s restroom.

“He was a usher who first spotted him also was able somehow to send another usher to get the family. It is very u n d e r - standing that it was done very quickly,” said Cappy Gagnon, director of stadium personnel.

Dr. Michael O’Connell, deputy coroner for St. Joseph County, said an autopsy will be performed today. That when is complete, O’Connell said, he should be able to determine the cause of Bailey’s death.

“Anything that sudden, as long as it is natural, is usually a heart attack,” he said.

Medical Center officials said Bailey was transported to St. Joseph Regional by the South Bend Fire Department’s ambulance service. They would not release any information regarding the cause of his death until later in the week.

“It will be a matter of public record once we’re sure everybody has been notified,” nursing supervisor Rita Goff said.

Contact Meghan Martin at mmartin@nd.edu

Candidate Victory continued from page 1

"I'm glad my parents saw a win at home," Jost said. "Even though they were cold, they saw the beauty of Notre Dame football.

"Junior Jenna Linder and Allison Vater were happy to see such a game Saturday, following the absurd outcomes of the past two games. "It was a good time for a win, especially at home," Linder said. "I was happy for D.J. Fitzpatrick and for the rest of the team."

Sophomore John Burkardt said he was most impressed by the conduct of Navy students at the game and the respect they showed for Notre Dame fans. "Navy fans are among the best in college football, rooting hard for their team without being disrespectful," he said.

"Our advice about your next career move: be bullish."

"We need to stick with our team and show our support for the remainder of the season."
INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Israel approves prisoner swap

JERUSALEM — Israel's Cabinet narrowly approved a prisoner swap with Hezbollah after a marathon Sunday debate, overriding warnings that the deal could signal weakness and encourage more kidnappings of Israelis.

Prime Minister Ariel Sharon lobbied hard for the swap, which exchanged six most wanted militants for a&B 17 Israeli teenagers in car crashes have Indiana road fatalities high, says McCormack and Auxiliary Bishop prompted calls for mandatory driver's education obtained by The Associated Press. A report of the documents sent to Rome and church law requires the resignations of Hampshire Catholics for Moral Leadership, a&n't reform group has petitioned the Vatican to remove New Hampshire Bishop John McCormack, calling him unfit to lead his diocese.

Guatemalan voting violence continued in long lines Sunday to vote in the second presidential election since peace accords were signed seven years ago, a tense poll that will decide the future of a former dictator accused of human rights abuses. Second round of voting was marred by violence.

Biden pushes for NATO in Iraq

WASHINGTON — Complaining that U.S. policy on Iraq is adrift, a senior Democrat on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said Sunday how many attack victims and博主 as well.

Group urges Bishop's removal

WARR, N.H. — A Roman Catholic, reform group has petitioned the Vatican to remove New Hampshire Bishop John McCormack, calling him unfit to fulfill his diocese.

The complaint, filed Oct. 28 by New Hampshire Catholics for Moral Leadership, says McCormack and Auxiliary Bishop Francis Christian lost their moral authority during the clergy sex abuse crisis and that church law requires the resignations of bishops unfit to serve, according to a draft copy of the documents sent to Rome and obtained by The Associated Press.

LOCAL NEWS

Indiana road fatalities high

INDIANAPOLIS — The recent deaths of several Indiana teenagers in car crashes have prompted mandatory driving education classes to the state's high fatality rate among teen drivers.

In 2001, 16 percent of all Indiana drivers involved in fatal automobile crashes were aged 16 or younger, compared with the national average of 14.6 percent. The state's teenage drivers also are over-represented in the percentage of accidents resulting in serious injuries, while the state is one of 17 states that do not require driver's education.

Associated Press

Saudis blame deaths on al-Qaida

JERUSALEM — Saudi Arabia's deputy defense minister blamed al-Qaida militants Sunday for the suicide bombing of a Riyadh housing complex that killed 17 people, including a proof of the terror network's willingness to shed Muslim blood in its zeal to topple the U.S.-linked Saudi monarchy.

The attack late Sunday at an upscale compound for foreign workers — where mostly Arabs lived, also wounded 122 people. The blast, not far from diplomatic quarters and the king's main palace, left piles of rubble, banks of twisted metal, broken glass and a large crater.

"It's no longer an issue of terrorism for them," said Dawood al-Shirian, a Saudi analyst. "It's become a war on the regime, a war to turn the country into a new Saudi-style Taliban." An Interior Ministry official told the official Saudi news agency late Sunday how many attack victims and博主 as well.

In comments published Sunday on the Web site of Saudi daily Okaz newspaper, Interior Minister Prince Nayef said he could not rule out a connection to suspected al-Qaida terrorist cells targeted in recent sweeps, as a number of suspects from those cells were still at large.

"Adding to the al-Qaida connection was the similarity of Saturday's bombing and attacks also blamed on the terror network — particularly the May 12 suicide-car bombings of other Riyadh compounds housing foreigners, which killed 26 bystanders. Nine attackers also died.

Led by Saudi-born dissident Osama bin Laden, al

Associated Press

World & Nation

Compiled from The Observer's wire services
Malvo fights against death row

Associated Press

CHESAPEAKE, Va. — A theory advanced by the prosecution against sniper suspect John Allen Muhammad is being embraced by attorneys for Lee Boyd Malvo in their efforts to keep the younger suspect off Virginia’s death row.

Malvo’s trial was to begin Monday in Chesapeake, and defense lawyers plan to argue the 18-year-old is innocent by reason of insanity.

Prosecutors in nearby Virginia Beach are trying to convince a jury that Muhammad, 42, exerted such control over Malvo that Muhammad should be held responsible for the shootings that killed 10 and wounded three in the Washington area last fall.

“Our strategy is their strategy,” Malvo lawyer Michael Arif said. “If you watch the prosecutors [in Muhammad’s case] carefully, they will never put on evidence that Lee was the shooter in any of the shootings in question.”

The defendants are being tried for different killings by prosecutors from two Virginia counties. Both face the possibility of the death penalty if convicted.

Prosecutors from Fairfax County say Malvo, who is charged with murder in the Oct. 14, 2002, death of FBI Analyst Linda Franklin, has admitted committing many of the shootings.

His lawyers argue that he confessed only to protect Muhammad, whom he called father, and that Muhammad was the mastermind of the sniper attacks. Even if that is true, the prosecutors argue, Malvo is equally responsible for the killings. They say he laughed and bragged about the shootings to interrogators and prison guards.

During the first three weeks of Muhammad’s trial, prosecutors from Prince William County combined emotional testimony from victims and victims’ relatives with forensic evidence, including DNA linking Muhammad to a rifle sight found in his car. Like Malvo, Muhammad is on trial only for one killing, but to get the death penalty, the prosecution needs to prove participation in multiple killings or terrorizing of the public.

For Malvo’s attorneys to succeed with an insanity defense, they must convince a jury that he was so brainwashed by Muhammad that he either did not know what he was doing or could not control himself.

It likely will be a tough sell — and risky.

In the string of sniper attacks last fall, it remains unclear who actually pulled the trigger in each shooting.
The Observer

Business

Monday, November 10, 2003

Market Recap

| Dow Jones | 9,809.79 | -4.78 |

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Company</th>
<th>%Change</th>
<th>Gain</th>
<th>Price</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>NASDAQ</td>
<td>197.02</td>
<td>3.63</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NYSE</td>
<td>3,929.17</td>
<td>4.93</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AMEX</td>
<td>1,066.70</td>
<td>1.50</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>S&amp;P 500</td>
<td>1,053.21</td>
<td>-4.84</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NIKKEI (Tokyo)</td>
<td>10,628.98</td>
<td>0.00</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FTSE 100 (London)</td>
<td>3,476.90</td>
<td>+32.70</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Company

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Component</th>
<th>%Change</th>
<th>Gain</th>
<th>Price</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>CISCO SYSTEMS (CSCO)</td>
<td>-2.45</td>
<td>-0.56</td>
<td>22.14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MICROSOFT CP (MSFT)</td>
<td>-0.50</td>
<td>-0.12</td>
<td>12.40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ORACLE CORP (ORCL)</td>
<td>+0.38</td>
<td>+0.02</td>
<td>12.14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>INTEL COMP (INTC)</td>
<td>-0.73</td>
<td>-0.25</td>
<td>33.87</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SUN MICROSYSTEMS (SUNW)</td>
<td>-0.14</td>
<td>-0.04</td>
<td>11.11</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Commodities

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Commodity</th>
<th>Price</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>LIP-CRUISE (SRK)</td>
<td>+0.59</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GOLD (E.PT)</td>
<td>+0.10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PORK BELLS (SRK)</td>
<td>+0.06</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Exchange Rates

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Currency</th>
<th>Rate</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>YEN</td>
<td>109.5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BAHT</td>
<td>109.5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>POUND</td>
<td>0.5795</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CANADIAN S</td>
<td>1.324</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

In Brief

Printing giants to merge CHICAGO — Commercial printer R.R. Donnelley & Sons Co. on Sunday agreed to acquire Canadian printer Moore Wallace Inc. in a deal the companies valued at $2.8 billion.

The merged printing giants will have approximately 100 U.S. locations worldwide, providing customers with products such as magazines, catalogs, telephone directories, books, financial documents, highly personalized direct mail and labels.

In the terms of the transaction, Moore Wallace shareholders will receive 0.63 share of R.R. Donnelley stock for each Moore Wallace share. The deal values Moore Wallace at $17.66 a share, about 16 percent above Monday's close.

The three business majors have made a company out of a phrase that started as an inside joke — icaynbstop.

The word, Tweedall explained, is a consolidated version of a phrase that started as a joke and can't be stopped.

Students at multiple colleges are sporting the logo they designed. The first, on the Notre Dame spirit signs fans wave during football games and pep rallies. They have created a successful website based around it. A new logo-based item goes on sale today, and more are coming soon.

Seniors Dan Tweedall, Pat Corcoran and Matt Korros think they're on to something — something that can't be stopped.

The three business majors have made a company out of a phrase that started as an inside joke — icaynbstop.

The word, Tweedall explained, is a consolidated version of the phrase "I can't be stopped." and started using it among friends during his sophomore year.

"Essentially, it was just a goofy inside joke," he said. "We just made it up.

The word, however, had staying power. Friends passed it on to others, and its popularity began to grow. The group started an informal club, but only a few members could name their position. Three hundred people signed up. Soon, the word spread to students at other schools.

"Overnight, this word exploded," Tweedall said. "It was getting emails from people I didn't know at other schools wanting to start a charter.

"It was after he received an invitation to an "icaynbstop" fraternity party at another school that Tweedall decided the word had marketing power. He teamed up with Corcoran, an accounting major, and Korros, an MIS major, to design a circular logo with two cutting waves that bears the word in the center.

"It's three guys at Notre Dame who just happen to have complimentary talents," Corcoran said.

They created two types of t-shirts and women's shorts that have the logo inscribed on the back. Shirts start at just under $12, and women's shorts retail at $14.

"We charge ultra-competitive because we want people to buy it and build this up," Tweedall said.

Today, the company will debut a baseball-style jersey shirt and in a few weeks Icaynbstop boxes will be available. The clothes are produced by the South Bend-based A.P. Image Team.

Sales have been excellent, the group said, though they declined to provide specific numbers until they complete registration for the Icaynbstop Notre Dame Business Plan Competition.

The business is also continuing to grow, though it is limited by time and money constraints, Corcoran said.

The trio formed an official company, Tweeds Inc., to protect their brand, and they registered the word as a trademark. A few weeks ago, Icaynbstop.com debuted, allowing customers to purchase merchandise online using their credit cards through the Pay Pal protected system. The company is also sponsoring a club rugby team at Ball State University.

Deep down, the three said the experience is also about having fun.

"Working with these guys and making this business work is fun," Korros said. "I don't even care about this.

After they graduate in May, the three plan to take jobs in the Midwest before continuing the Icaynbstop concept.

Contact Andrew Thagard at athagard@nd.edu

Cell number transfers approved

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Federal regulators are letting people keep their cell phone numbers when they switch wireless companies after Nov. 24 and probably will do the same for home phone customers opting for wireless-only service.

The government is responding to pleas by customers reluctant to make a change because doing so has meant the loss of phone numbers known by friends, relatives and business associates.

But people moving from one city to another — Los Angeles to New York, for example — cannot keep the same local number.

Also, industry officials say customers who want to switch cell carriers probably will have to buy cell phones because wireless companies use different technology, some companies are offering free phones to get customers to switch.

Cell phone users who have long-term contracts will have to pay early termination fees if they want to switch before their agreement expires.

With the upcoming deadline, companies are offering special incentives to lock in customers.

"This is potentially very significant to the wireless industry," Verizon Wireless spokesman Howard Waterman said. "Wireless carriers will have to compete even more fiercely in a very competitive environment.

For consumers switching cell phone companies, the new regulations from the Federal Communications Commission will first cover customers in the 100 most populous metropolitan areas, who account for about 60 percent of the nation's cell phone users. By May 24, the rules will apply to everyone else.

Consumer groups like the change.

"When we reduce the switching costs of going from one carrier to another, you're making the market more competitive," said Chris Murray, legislative counsel for Consumers Union, which publishes Consumer Reports magazine.

"There's both the economic cost of a new phone number — having to print new business cards, having to potentially contact everyone who might have your phone number — and massive inconvenience."
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — A 6-year-old boy suspected of shooting his grandfather to death with a .22-caliber rifle has a history of mental illness and attacking family members, authorities said.

James Zbinden, 59, was found dead at his home Friday after his grandson ran into the street and flagged down a neighbor, Cole County Sheriff John Hemeyer said. The boy, who has not been identified, is being evaluated at a mental-health facility.

"We believe, at this time, that he killed his grandfather intentionally," Hemeyer said. An autopsy Saturday showed Zbinden died from a single gunshot wound near his armpit.

Hemeyer said Zbinden and the boy were alone together Friday when the boy apparently found a gun that family members thought was no longer in the house. Hemeyer said it was unclear what led up to the attack.

Zbinden was a kid who has attacked family members before with no provocation," Hemeyer said. The boy had been released last Monday from a central Missouri mental-health facility where he was admitted after attacking another family member, Hemeyer said.

Past assaults have involved the boy's younger siblings and his parents, Hemeyer said. He also said the boy has used knives during previous attacks.

Before his legal counsel halted the interview, the boy indicated to authorities that he was responsible for Zbinden's death, Hemeyer said.

A juvenile court will handle the case.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — A 6-year-old boy suspected of shooting his grandfather to death with a .22-caliber rifle has a history of mental illness and attacking family members, authorities said.

James Zbinden, 59, was found dead at his home Friday after his grandson ran into the street and flagged down a neighbor, Cole County Sheriff John Hemeyer said. The boy, who has not been identified, is being evaluated at a mental-health facility.

"We believe, at this time, that he killed his grandfather intentionally," Hemeyer said. An autopsy Saturday showed Zbinden died from a single gunshot wound near his armpit.

Hemeyer said Zbinden and the boy were alone together Friday when the boy apparently found a gun that family members thought was no longer in the house. Hemeyer said it was unclear what led up to the attack.

Zbinden was a kid who has attacked family members before with no provocation," Hemeyer said. The boy had been released last Monday from a central Missouri mental-health facility where he was admitted after attacking another family member, Hemeyer said.

Past assaults have involved the boy's younger siblings and his parents, Hemeyer said. He also said the boy has used knives during previous attacks.

Before his legal counsel halted the interview, the boy indicated to authorities that he was responsible for Zbinden's death, Hemeyer said.

A juvenile court will handle the case.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — A 6-year-old boy suspected of shooting his grandfather to death with a .22-caliber rifle has a history of mental illness and attacking family members, authorities said.

James Zbinden, 59, was found dead at his home Friday after his grandson ran into the street and flagged down a neighbor, Cole County Sheriff John Hemeyer said. The boy, who has not been identified, is being evaluated at a mental-health facility.

"We believe, at this time, that he killed his grandfather intentionally," Hemeyer said. An autopsy Saturday showed Zbinden died from a single gunshot wound near his armpit.

Hemeyer said Zbinden and the boy were alone together Friday when the boy apparently found a gun that family members thought was no longer in the house. Hemeyer said it was unclear what led up to the attack.

Zbinden was a kid who has attacked family members before with no provocation," Hemeyer said. The boy had been released last Monday from a central Missouri mental-health facility where he was admitted after attacking another family member, Hemeyer said.

Past assaults have involved the boy's younger siblings and his parents, Hemeyer said. He also said the boy has used knives during previous attacks.

Before his legal counsel halted the interview, the boy indicated to authorities that he was responsible for Zbinden's death, Hemeyer said.

A juvenile court will handle the case.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — A 6-year-old boy suspected of shooting his grandfather to death with a .22-caliber rifle has a history of mental illness and attacking family members, authorities said.

James Zbinden, 59, was found dead at his home Friday after his grandson ran into the street and flagged down a neighbor, Cole County Sheriff John Hemeyer said. The boy, who has not been identified, is being evaluated at a mental-health facility.

"We believe, at this time, that he killed his grandfather intentionally," Hemeyer said. An autopsy Saturday showed Zbinden died from a single gunshot wound near his armpit.

Hemeyer said Zbinden and the boy were alone together Friday when the boy apparently found a gun that family members thought was no longer in the house. Hemeyer said it was unclear what led up to the attack.

Zbinden was a kid who has attacked family members before with no provocation," Hemeyer said. The boy had been released last Monday from a central Missouri mental-health facility where he was admitted after attacking another family member, Hemeyer said.

Past assaults have involved the boy's younger siblings and his parents, Hemeyer said. He also said the boy has used knives during previous attacks.

Before his legal counsel halted the interview, the boy indicated to authorities that he was responsible for Zbinden's death, Hemeyer said.

A juvenile court will handle the case.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — A 6-year-old boy suspected of shooting his grandfather to death with a .22-caliber rifle has a history of mental illness and attacking family members, authorities said.

James Zbinden, 59, was found dead at his home Friday after his grandson ran into the street and flagged down a neighbor, Cole County Sheriff John Hemeyer said. The boy, who has not been identified, is being evaluated at a mental-health facility.

"We believe, at this time, that he killed his grandfather intentionally," Hemeyer said. An autopsy Saturday showed Zbinden died from a single gunshot wound near his armpit.

Hemeyer said Zbinden and the boy were alone together Friday when the boy apparently found a gun that family members thought was no longer in the house. Hemeyer said it was unclear what led up to the attack.

Zbinden was a kid who has attacked family members before with no provocation," Hemeyer said. The boy had been released last Monday from a central Missouri mental-health facility where he was admitted after attacking another family member, Hemeyer said.

Past assaults have involved the boy's younger siblings and his parents, Hemeyer said. He also said the boy has used knives during previous attacks.

Before his legal counsel halted the interview, the boy indicated to authorities that he was responsible for Zbinden's death, Hemeyer said.

A juvenile court will handle the case.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — A 6-year-old boy suspected of shooting his grandfather to death with a .22-caliber rifle has a history of mental illness and attacking family members, authorities said.

James Zbinden, 59, was found dead at his home Friday after his grandson ran into the street and flagged down a neighbor, Cole County Sheriff John Hemeyer said. The boy, who has not been identified, is being evaluated at a mental-health facility.

"We believe, at this time, that he killed his grandfather intentionally," Hemeyer said. An autopsy Saturday showed Zbinden died from a single gunshot wound near his armpit.

Hemeyer said Zbinden and the boy were alone together Friday when the boy apparently found a gun that family members thought was no longer in the house. Hemeyer said it was unclear what led up to the attack.

Zbinden was a kid who has attacked family members before with no provocation," Hemeyer said. The boy had been released last Monday from a central Missouri mental-health facility where he was admitted after attacking another family member, Hemeyer said.

Past assaults have involved the boy's younger siblings and his parents, Hemeyer said. He also said the boy has used knives during previous attacks.

Before his legal counsel halted the interview, the boy indicated to authorities that he was responsible for Zbinden's death, Hemeyer said.

A juvenile court will handle the case.
Japanese elections keep Koizumi in power

Robinson welcomes outcasts

Associated Press

TOKYO — Prime Minister Junichiro Koizumi’s administration retained control of Japan’s more powerful legislature chamber in national elections Sunday but lost ground to the largest opposition party, whose leaders called their gains “historic.”

Robinson welcomes outcasts

Associated Press

PETERBOROUGH, N.H. — The Rev. V. Gene Robinson began his ministry as the Episcopal Church’s first openly gay bishop on Sunday by saying he wants to bring the message of God’s love to “those on the margins.”

He also said the church should speak out on issues of social justice, including the lack of access to health care for many Americans.

“How dare we in this country spend $87 billion on war when 44 million people have no health insurance?” he said in his sermon. “It’s up to the church to lead on some of these moral issues.”

After the service at All Saints Church, where he was married to his former wife, Robinson said he hopes that people who disagree with his confirmation will remain within the Episcopal Church, instead of breaking away.

“The church founded on unhealthiness and anger is not going to go very far,” he said.

New Hampshire’s Episcopalians elected Robinson as bishop in June, and his selection was approved at the convention of the Episcopal Church USA in August. But his consecration a week ago has threatened to divide the Episcopal Church, where he was married, the Episcopalians elected Robinson as bishop in June, and his selection was approved at the convention of the Episcopal Church USA in August. But his consecration a week ago has threatened to divide the Episcopal Church, where he was married.

Jesus “looked at the religious establishment of his day and realized they had closed their eyes to those on the margins,” he said.

At a reception for the bishop following the service, churchgoer Jack Jones said he was “all for” Robinson.

“He’s a real brave man and intelligent. And if people don’t want to come to church for him, let them go somewhere else,” said Jones, 64.

So... psychology, huh?

Way to go buddy. You finally worked up the nerve to talk to that girl from Psych 101, but you still sounded like a doofus with nothing intelligent to say. That’s where we come in.

Japanese elections keep Koizumi in power

State consider dropping primaries

Associated Press

Several states have moved to drop their presidential primaries next year, worried about costs in still-tight financial times and wondering if a political exercise would serve useful purposes.

Some say they can’t afford the millions of dollars it costs to put on a primary election. Others say trying to decide candidates and parties that could embolden anti-Koizumi forces within the ruling party would be expensive and difficult.

Others say they were in a quandary about candidates and parties within the opposition that could embolden anti-Koizumi forces within the ruling party. It would also force the prime minister to pause before making a move with an unpopular plan to send Japanese peacekeepers to Iraq.

So... psychology, huh?

Way to go buddy. You finally worked up the nerve to talk to that girl from Psych 101, but you still sounded like a doofus with nothing intelligent to say. That’s where we come in.

Visit our website and subscribe to the Email Edition. Call 259-1000 for more details.

JAPAN
One of our era's great scandals lies in the fact that an elite fraction of the world consumes the lion's share of its food, while millions starve. Another is that so-called developing countries are, in fact, not developing. Still another is that inequality, both within and between countries, has risen since NAFTA's enactment.

Yet there are still those that persist, unethically and illogically, in touting NAFTA as a triumph of free trade. Their favorite stat: The world has seen rapid economic growth over the past four decades. But this is what sets apart their peculiar, neoliberal brand of free trade. Because while there is indeed this recorded growth, inequality has increased, suggesting that most of this growth was confined to the portfolios of the upper class.

I'm not sure how many of you are aware, but NAFTA — signed by the then-President George H.W. Bush, then-Mexican President Carlos Salinas de Gortari and then-Canadian Prime Minister Jean Chrétien — was the most far-reaching treaty of its kind ever negotiated. It's a treaty that most of this growth was confined to the portfolios of the upper class.

But this was all a lie; big business stifles public dissent. It truly is big business versus the average worker. That makes talking about trade policy quite a turgid act; it also makes it hard to tell which version is true. But as dull as trade policy may sound, it is nevertheless enormously important to everyone — not just blue-collar workers, but just career politicians. The broad catastrophe of NAFTA is proof that this is so.

Not too long ago, a slew of politicians promised working families that NAFTA — which included the United States, Mexico and Canada — would bring a host of rewards: better conditions, better wages, more jobs and so on. But this was all a lie; big business was the big beneficiary. As always, the big business chased higher profits and cheaper labor, at any cost.

And what, exactly, was the cost? The casualties are so numerous that space limits my ability to detail them all here. They run the gambit from last­ing environmental damage to millions of lost jobs to lessered consumer pro­tection across the continent. Awful as this seems, the Free Trade Area of the Americas, or the FTAA, takes this all to an appalling new level.

Geographically, it dwarfs NAFTA; the FTAA envelopes the entire Western hemisphere, excepting Cuba. This adds up to 34 countries, includ­ing NAFTA's modest original three. And NAFTA was the most far-reaching treaty of its kind ever negotiated.

There's far more than geography here, of course. Foremost among NAFTA's wounded are working families. The treaty's vain, unenforceable labor protections were useless to workers seeking to organize. In fact, a Cornell study revealed that, since NAFTA began, most manufacturing and communication companies confronted with unionizing workers threatened to move their jobs abroad.

While NAFTA helped pave the way for workers 'race to the bottom,' the FTAA will accelerate it. With the closure of 350 of Mexico's infamous maquiladoras, 280,000 jobs have been lost — corporations found cheaper labor elsewhere. As big business struggles to keep costs down, the world's poorest nations — Haiti and Guatemala, for example — will be pit­ted against each other. In this "race to the bottom," the only winner is the corporation.

But jobs aren't the only victim. The neoliberal brand of free trade — NAFTA's foundation — has wrought widespread environmental devasta­tion. To pay down IMF/World Bank debt, countries in the Third World have divested their own lands and overfished their own waters. For instance, in the Mexican state of Guerrero, 40 percent of the forests have been wiped out in the last eight years, while widespread clear-cutting has led both to soil erosion and habi­tat destruction.

Big business cares as much for the environment as it does for its own consumers. Impossible, you say? NAFTA's obscure (but infamous) Chapter 11 provision allows corporations to sue for compensation if they think a government action threatened their bottom line. Enforcing public health and safety laws, in effect, becomes actionable. In fact, one of these corporate lawsuits seeks to keep MTBE, a gas additive poisoning groundwater in California, in use. This absurd provision is set to resurface in the FTAA.

Perhaps all of this is new to you, which would hardly be an accident. The FTAA talks have been held behind closed doors, despite clamor for open discussion and development of trade policy. By muffling citizen input — which, despite being accepted, lacks a process for integration — big business stifles public dissent. It truly is big business behind the FTAA. While citi­zens are left out of the talks, legions of corporate reps help write our trade pol­icy.

Such an obvious catastrophe should not be repeated, let alone expanded. Yet that is what is about to happen. The FTAA talks began about a decade ago; member countries plan to con­clude them by early 2005. This November, on the 20th and 21st, the Fifth Ministerial will take place in Miami, as countries will seek agree­ment on an advanced draft of the FTAA. Do your part — writing letters, driving down to protest, anything — to stop this panorama of injustice from becoming our reality.

BJ Stew is a junior English major. His column appears every other Monday. Contact him at wstrew@nd.edu.

The views expressed in this column are those of the author and not neces­sarily those of The Observer.

NAFTA, FTAA propel race to the bottom

One of our era's great scandals lies in the fact that an elite fraction of the world consumes the lion's share of its food, while millions starve. Another is that so-called developing countries are, in fact, not developing. Still another is that inequality, both within and between countries, has risen since NAFTA's enactment.

Yet there are still those that persist, unethically and illogically, in touting NAFTA as a triumph of free trade. Their favorite stat: The world has seen rapid economic growth over the past four decades. But this is what sets apart their peculiar, neoliberal brand of free trade. Because while there is indeed this recorded growth, inequality has increased, suggesting that most of this growth was confined to the portfolios of the upper class.

I'm not sure how many of you are aware, but NAFTA — signed by the then-President George H.W. Bush, then-Mexican President Carlos Salinas de Gortari and then-Canadian Prime Minister Jean Chrétien — was the most far-reaching treaty of its kind ever negotiated. It's a treaty that most of this growth was confined to the portfolios of the upper class.

But this was all a lie; big business stifles public dissent. It truly is big business versus the average worker. That makes talking about trade policy quite a turgid act; it also makes it hard to tell which version is true. But as dull as trade policy may sound, it is nevertheless enormously important to everyone — not just blue-collar workers, but just career politicians. The broad catastrophe of NAFTA is proof that this is so.

Not too long ago, a slew of politicians promised working families that NAFTA — which included the United States, Mexico and Canada — would bring a host of rewards: better conditions, better wages, more jobs and so on. But this was all a lie; big business was the big beneficiary. As always, the big business chased higher profits and cheaper labor, at any cost.

And what, exactly, was the cost? The casualties are so numerous that space limits my ability to detail them all here. They run the gambit from last­ing environmental damage to millions of lost jobs to lessered consumer pro­tection across the continent. Awful as this seems, the Free Trade Area of the Americas, or the FTAA, takes this all to an appalling new level.

Geographically, it dwarfs NAFTA; the FTAA envelopes the entire Western hemisphere, excepting Cuba. This adds up to 34 countries, includ­ing NAFTA's modest original three. And NAFTA was the most far-reaching treaty of its kind ever negotiated.

There's far more than geography here, of course. Foremost among NAFTA's wounded are working families. The treaty's vain, unenforceable labor protections were useless to workers seeking to organize. In fact, a Cornell study revealed that, since NAFTA began, most manufacturing and communication companies confronted with unionizing workers threatened to move their jobs abroad.

While NAFTA helped pave the way for workers 'race to the bottom,' the FTAA will accelerate it. With the closure of 350 of Mexico's infamous maquiladoras, 280,000 jobs have been lost — corporations found cheaper labor elsewhere. As big business struggles to keep costs down, the world's poorest nations — Haiti and Guatemala, for example — will be pit­ted against each other. In this "race to the bottom," the only winner is the corporation.

But jobs aren't the only victim. The neoliberal brand of free trade — NAFTA's foundation — has wrought widespread environmental devasta­tion. To pay down IMF/World Bank debt, countries in the Third World have divested their own lands and overfished their own waters. For instance, in the Mexican state of Guerrero, 40 percent of the forests have been wiped out in the last eight years, while widespread clear-cutting has led both to soil erosion and habi­tat destruction.

Big business cares as much for the environment as it does for its own consumers. Impossible, you say? NAFTA's obscure (but infamous) Chapter 11 provision allows corporations to sue for compensation if they think a government action threatened their bottom line. Enforcing public health and safety laws, in effect, becomes actionable. In fact, one of these corporate lawsuits seeks to keep MTBE, a gas additive poisoning groundwater in California, in use. This absurd provision is set to resurface in the FTAA.

Perhaps all of this is new to you, which would hardly be an accident. The FTAA talks have been held behind closed doors, despite clamor for open discussion and development of trade policy. By muffling citizen input — which, despite being accepted, lacks a process for integration — big business stifles public dissent. It truly is big business behind the FTAA. While citi­zens are left out of the talks, legions of corporate reps help write our trade pol­icy.

Such an obvious catastrophe should not be repeated, let alone expanded. Yet that is what is about to happen. The FTAA talks began about a decade ago; member countries plan to con­clude them by early 2005. This November, on the 20th and 21st, the Fifth Ministerial will take place in Miami, as countries will seek agree­ment on an advanced draft of the FTAA. Do your part — writing letters, driving down to protest, anything — to stop this panorama of injustice from becoming our reality.

BJ Stew is a junior English major. His column appears every other Monday. Contact him at wstrew@nd.edu.

The views expressed in this column are those of the author and not neces­sarily those of The Observer.
LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Students, faculty concerned with University education

Professors and administrators have been complaining that there is not enough interest among undergraduates in research, going to graduate school, and otherwise becoming part of academia. Particularly notice the repetition of the phrase "among Notre Dame's peer schools" in the articles "covering" this issue.

Since when was being different bad? Anecdotal evidence suggests that the student body in general is not as engaged in research as it once was. What other schools are on this list, and are they committed to a Division I sports program as well? As much as the administration would like to forget about sports, they are there.

Also, on limiting the business majors, it's obviously more of a monetary problem when a Vice President and Provost, John Atkin-Graven, is talking about whether this program fits the mission statement and overall goals. No one would dare to attack the Engineering or Architecture school for not contributing to a liberal arts education.

The truth of the matter is that in the eyes of the administration, the business school lets students off easily and does not put up adequate prestige and national reputation for research to a University that is too much seen as a football powerhouse. They would much rather put the money that is somehow not ours than contribute to a liberal arts education.

It is our opinion that this engagement in more academia-minded subjects studied, or how the professors appear to rank in the eyes of the students, is not enough interest among undergraduates and faculty to work with the students. They need to be represented on the curriculum committees and similar venues.

Working together, faculty and students could develop creative solutions to encourage intellectual engagement. For example, faculty teaching upper-division courses could offer extra "research tutorials" which would add one or two credits to normal three-credit courses, allowing interested students to take four, rather than five, courses in a semester. Or students could be encouraged to form groups and work with a professor or grad student to develop a course that would both interest them and fulfill a University requirement. Developing the syllabus could be part of the coursework.

Notre Dame culture can change. Academic engagement can become the norm. Professors need to look to themselves for answers.
hat we wear

by Becca Saunders

It is hard to imagine a Notre Dame student wearing the name "Bono." It is, in fact, difficult to imagine many people who do not know who Bono is. Nearly everyone in the world knows the name and knows the band, but few really know the man himself. Bono is a man who has used his name and his music to make a difference in the world.

Bono was born in 1960 in Dublin, Ireland. His real name is Paul David Hewson. Bono was born to a Protestant mother and a Catholic father, although he was raised Catholic. His parents did not allow him to attend church as a child, but Bono says that this only served to make him want to go even more. Bono was raised in a household that was very unique for that time in Ireland. He says that this is a sign of unity. We have other things to concern ourselves with outside of fall's newest trends. Although the article in the magazine might not be our first choice as front man and, consequently, lead singer. The internationally acclaimed band has been talking a lot about its success and making a name for itself.

Although the album lacks fashion diversity, the mix appears to work for most students. No one is truly out of place, and it appears as though most students understood what they were getting into when they arrived on Notre Dame's campus.

There is so much pride and such an aura of closeness among the students that the whole idea of dressing the same is not something to be ashamed of, but something to be proud of. So we are, big deal.

We are still students of the University of Notre Dame, in my eyes, this is a great place to be. We are a fashion forward, diverse, and backwards. We actually have it better than those schools considered to be fashion forward.

Childhood was not necessarily easy for Bono. With a still ailing rivalry and the style of his beloved mother during high school, Bono became a rebel of his own accord.

Bono attended one of the first and only non-denominational high schools in the time in Dublin with the other future members of the band U2. The band started almost by chance when drummer Larry Mullen Jr. pointed a note on the high school bulletin board calling any potential band members to a meeting at his house. The band that is today U2 is who showed.

Adam Clayton, the band's bassist, is now known universally as "The Edge," were probably initially the most talented, along with his bandmate Bono. Mullins Jr. Overall, U2 "did not exhibit particular characteristics in standing musical talent, despite harboring ambitions to become the band's lead guitarist. The very name Bono is a short version of the Latin "Bono videlicet," which means good omen. This nickname was more of a joke when first given to him, according to Bono himself.

The band's tendency to write songs that are thematically Christian has caused increasing debate about whether or not U2 is a Christian band. The band members themselves are self-proclaimed believers, and one need not look far to find strong Christian ideas on any of their albums. Rono has consistently been very vocal about his beliefs, at one time coming out against the "commercialization of religious faith." He says that "it is taming something really powerful."

One should not get the impression, however, that Bono is trying to evangelize his crowds. Jackson explains.

"I used to always go to the mall — I suppose I still do, but Inspire Me has nice, preppy clothes that are also stylish and fun," said junior Erin Anderson. "It's not a Seconds after D.J. Fitzpatrick's game-winning field goal knuckled through the uprights, Notre Dame players and fans celebrated as if the Irish had just been a top-10 team.

They hadn't, but getting a win at home against Navy seemed just as important in this tough season for the Irish.

Julius Jones had 221 yards rushing and two touchdowns and backup kicker Fitzpatrick hit the deciding field goal with no time on the clock to lift Notre Dame to a 27-24 victory over Navy, its 406th straight. The win also snapped a three-game home losing streak for the Irish.

"We needed to get back into the winner's circle and have that winning feeling again after a game," Notre Dame coach Tyrone Willingham said. "It is not a feeling of relief, but it feels very good to get a victory.

Fitzpatrick's heroics were set up by the Irish defense which played well despite facing an option attack for the first time this season. The unit contained Navy quarterback Craig Candeto to only 47 pass yards and 46 rushing yards. Candeto entered the contest averaging 285 yards of offense a game, Navy gained only 238 rushing yards, nearly 70 less than its average this season.

After Fitzpatrick hit a 30-yard field goal with 5:10 remaining, Navy got the ball and moved it to its own 47 yard-line, but was forced to punt on fourth-and-5. Defensive back Vontez Duff returned the punt to Notre Dame's 15 with 1:54 and three timeouts.

Jones dominated the drive for the Irish, breaking off runs of 11 and 18 yards and catching two passes for 15 more yards. But the key play of the drive came with 42 seconds left. Notre Dame quarterback Brady Quinn found receiver Rhema McKnight on a slant pattern that picked up 18 yards and put the Irish on Navy's 30. Four plays later, Fitzpatrick drilled the winning kick. Navy safety Josh Smith said he got three fingers on the kick enough to have it miss.

"I hit it great off my foot, but I heard a thud that didn't alter the kick enough to have it miss. "I just thanked God it went over, " Fitzpatrick said.

Willingham said he had total confidence that Fitzpatrick would make the field goal.

"We felt confident in his abilities and that he could make the kick," Willingham said. "I did not tell him anything and stay patient. The Irish had 417 total yards and moved the ball effectively for much of the game. Jones led the running attack with 33 carries as the Irish gained 280 on the ground. Quinn finished the game 14-27 for 138 yards and a two-yard touchdown pass.

There were seven lead changes in the game, with neither team leading by more than seven points at any point. Notre Dame used a late first-half touchdown pass from Quinn to McKnight to lead 14-10 at intermission, only to see Navy charge ahead 17-14 on fullback Kyle Ekeke's five-yard touchdown run with 2:40 left in the third quarter.

Jones started the Irish scoring in the first quarter when he ran to the right of his line-man, broke a tackle and reversed direction to scamper 48 yards to the end zone and give Notre Dame a 7-0 lead. Tony Lane, who led the Midshipmen with 92 yards on eight carries, answered Jones rush with a 65-yard burst 12 seconds later to tie the game at 7-7.

"Quinn to McKnight to lead 14-10 at intermission, only to see Navy charge ahead 17-14 on

"It feels very good to get a victory," Tyrone Willingham

Irish head coach

"The celebration is just getting started."

Rhema McKnight on a slant found receiver seconds later to tie the game at 7-7.

"With everyone running up and the noise of the crowd, it was unbelievable."
The Observer

Irish linebarker Derek Curry, left, and defensive end Justin Tuck, right, celebrate a successful play on defense during Notre Dame’s 27-24 victory over Navy Saturday. The win was only Notre Dame’s third of the season and second at home, and set off a large celebration after a last second field goal sealed the victory.

Something to smile about

College students need alcohol about as much as Notre Dame needed a win.

That’s why you’ll excuse the Notre Dame sideline for erupting onto the field when D.J. Fitzpatrick’s kick floated its way through the uprights in the north end zone, giving 3-4 Notre Dame a 27-24 victory against Navy.

The way the Irish celebrated, you would have thought it was 1993 and the Irish had just beat top-ranked Florida State. But “pandemonium on the field” doesn’t have the same ring when Notre Dame got its third win of the season in November against lowly Navy — and it needed a field goal with time running out to do so.

Still, in a season so devoid of memorable moments, please excuse the players and coaches for grabbing hold of one when it finally occurs.

There stood Tyrone Willingham, his scowl for post-game NBC interviews of the past three home-games replaced by a broad grin. There jumped the players, prancing around the field in levels of excitement normally reserved for visiting teams who tear chunks of turf out of Notre Dame Stadium. There roared the fans, who would have missed a thrilling ending had they left this game early.

Someone listening to the roars outside the stadium might have thought the Irish were playing for a BCS bowl instead of a BS bowl.

But if an ecstatic celebration after beating a team for the 40th straight time helps the Irish back on track, then so be it.

“We had to issue a statement,” Willingham said, “that we are here to stay, that we aren’t going away and we aren’t going to fade.”

That declaration was provided by senior running back Julius Jones, who, for the second time this season, broke the 200-yard barrier in a game. In fact, without Jones — who carried the Irish through wins against Washington State, Pittsburgh and now Navy — Notre Dame could easily be 0-9.

The proclamation was also made by a defense whose failure to shut down the option in the second half nearly sent the 2003 Notre Dame team into the land of infamous teams. But with the game on the line and Navy driving, the defense discovered its courage and forced the Midshipmen to punt. It still took a walk-on kicker to provide the exclamation point.

Sure, D.J. Fitzpatrick had jogged onto the field one before with the game on the line and a handful of ticks left on the clock. But he was a freshman kicker at Marian High School in Mishawaka, kicking for the win in a homecoming game against Washington, “I’ve been here before, just not at this magnitude,” he said.

In high school, Fitzpatrick buried the kick. But how would he do with a 39-yarder on the line? “I don’t want to hear you!” an inebriated fan screamed as Notre Dame started driving down the field to set up Fitzpatrick.

 Twice, Navy called timeout to ice a kicker who had already missed two field goals and went kickoffs out of bounds. But each time, Fitzpatrick jogged over to the Notre Dame side of the field, stayed by himself and tried to maintain his focus.

When he ran onto the field for the third time, he lined up behind high school teammate Matt Krueger, got a perfect snap, a perfect hold — and watched the ball wobble 40 yards toward the uprights.

Navy’s Josh Smith said later that he got the tips of three fingers on the ball and if he got four, Notre Dame probably would have slid back into the pot and found itself in hot water.

“It hit it great, but the rotation off the ball told me it had to be blocked,” Fitzpatrick said. “I didn’t know if it was going in or not. Those were probably the longest two to three seconds in my life.”

Fitzpatrick waited. And waited. And waited. And as flashbulbs popped across the Stadium, he vaguely saw two officials extend their arms vertically — something Fitzpatrick didn’t have time to do because his teammates mobbed him.

“It went in,” he grinned. “I don’t know by how much, but it went in.”

So Fitzpatrick celebrated, his teammates celebrated, his fans celebrated, his coach celebrated. And when the celebration died down, Saturday’s win showed there may be hope for salvaging this season — a season that began with Notre Dame running through a buzz saw of ranked teams and a season that ends against teams Notre Dame should be able to beat.

“He’s a good kid,” NBC sideline reporter Lewis Johnson told Jones and Fitzpatrick as they waited for a post-game interview. “You can smile now.”

Finally.

The opinions expressed in this column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer. Contact Andrew Soukup at asoukup@nd.edu

Andrew Soukup
Sports Writer

The Observer – IRISH INSIDER
Monday, November 10, 2003
Irish defense stymies Navy’s offense

Observer Staff Report

Notre Dame had only three practices to figure out how to shut down Navy’s potent triple option attack. After holding the Academy to 70 rushing yards less than its average this season, the Irish defense felt good about themselves.

"I thought we did some good things in some critical situations," Irish defensive coordinator Kent Barr said.

"We made some adjustments early in the game and we kept halftime and a lot in the second half. Our kids did a good job."

Notre Dame only forced one turnover but still managed assignments and held Navy to only 238 rushing yards for the game. Irish linebacker Ben Burrell and cornerback Andy Watson each had 10 tackles each.

"I thought we played well, but I don’t think we played as well as we could have," Tuck said. "The effort was great, we made plays and luckily we came out with a win today."

The Midshipmen averaged 4.5 yards per carry, but that number is a bit skewed thanks to Tony Lane’s 63-yard touchdown run in the first quarter. Besides that big play, Notre Dame’s defense stymied the Navy ground game in check.

"If you take away the long run, there’s pretty much got the goal that we set before the game," Baur said.

Opinion reports

Irish defensive coordinator Bill Diedrick thought his unit would need to respond to Navy’s scoring threat. They did just that Saturday.

The Midshipmen took the lead three times but couldn’t hold it as Notre Dame’s offense found ways to score at critical times throughout the game.

"The thing we preached all week long was that they are going to go down and put points on the board, and we have to respond," Diedrick said. "Overall, with the balanced attack, I was very proud of our guys and thought they stepped up and made plays when they had to."

Notre Dame strung together three drives with at least 10 plays to produce points. Diedrick said that was precisely what the offense wanted to accomplish.

"We were trying to take them off the field and help our defense out and, other than the times we were pinned up deep and couldn’t get the ball out of there, that was the only real disappointment of the game."

Campbell happy about win

No one had a bigger smile after Notre Dame’s win than defensive lineman Darrell Campbell.

We won. That’s why I’m smiling," Campbell said. Campbell said the key for the defense was to listen to their coaches during the practice week and hold their assignments Saturday.

"Today was all about being disciplined and being aggressive. This is what the coaches have been preaching all week. We had our share of mistakes, too, but we respect those guys because they play hard and don’t quit, just like we don’t," Campbell said.

Campbell thinks that Notre Dame has had the ability to win more games this season but haven’t put all the different pieces together.

"It’s kind of hard when you’re not winning: People always want to look at the minutes of things when, in actually, the stuff that we do have well has been all the time. We just have to show it on Saturday."

Game captains

Notre Dame’s captains were Julius Jones, Jim Molinaro, Cedric Hilliard and Campbell.
It might have come down to the last play, but by the time the fans stopped roaring, D.J. Fitzpatrick’s 40-yard field goal gave Notre Dame its 40th straight victory over Navy — an NCAA record. Keyed by Julius Jones’ 6th-best rushing performance in Notre Dame history, the Irish snapped a three-game homes losing streak. On Saturday, Notre Dame will finally play a team that doesn’t have a winning record.

The Streak Continues

Rhema McKnight catches a touchdown pass (top left). Linebacker Derek Curry, left, corner back Vontez Duff, center, and free safety Quentin Burrell celebrate a defensive stop (top right). Backup quarterback Carlyle Holiday takes advantage of a rare opportunity to carry the ball (left center). Head coach Tyrone Willingham is focused on his team’s performance (bottom left). Running back Julius Jones runs for Notre Dame’s first touchdown (bottom right).
Eleemosynary explores generations of women

By JENNIFER BELLIVEAU and JOHN KLEIN

Eleemosynary, E-L-E-E-M-O-NARY, is a one-act play combining the part comic narrative, playwright Lee Blessing's Eleemosynary played Friday to a full house in Washington Hall's lab theatre. The one-act play combines the emotional effect of an abandoned child and a scorned mother with the humor of an eccentric old woman and an over-achieving spelling bee champion to form one compelling narrative about three distinctive women.

The play centers on the story of three generations of women. Dorothea (Ellen Kennedy) is an unconventional woman who gives her daughter, Artie (Cheryl Turski), a most unusual upbringing. Dorothea's dissatisfaction with her sheltered life led her to seek solace in spiritualism and idiosyncrasy. Eventually, Dorothea's odd habits and drive to succeed push Artie away. The audience is able to sympathize with the audience sympathizes with Dorothea, trapped in a stifling controlling culmination, which had many audience members in tears. Director Megan Ryan realized the full potential of every scene with the remarkable ability to send the audience from laughter to anger to tears from scene to scene.

Technically, the show is flawless. Stage manager Theresa Sendt forces the audience to do a double-take, subconsciously assuming there is little to be said about a set composed entirely of black boxes, the lack of any substantial set only aids further in the audience's attention on what really matters: the incredible perform­ance by the three leading ladies. Props were limited to the list of Echo's spelling words included on the program or the wings that showed up throughout the play, further heightened the show's ability to touch the audience. The performance can be summed up in one word: B-R-I-L-L-I-A-N-T.

Contact Jennifer Belliveau at jbellive@nd.edu and John Klein at jklein@nd.edu

The direction and technical aspects of the show perfectly accentuated the characters' situation and story to tell a timeless tale of family love. The play was limited only in the overabun­dance of audience asides by the characters. The women are forced to talk to the audience frequently, while the play works best while showcasing the inter­action of three members of a family. Overall, Eleemosynary was an outstanding performance by three very talented actresses. The direction and technical aspects of the show perfectly

SCENE

Eleemosynary resonated with the audience. Everyone can appreciate the pain involved in familial relationships.

As Dorothea, Ellen Kennedy captured woman's quickness need to excel intellectually, while Devon Candura plays Echo as both endearing and irritating. With the remarkable ability to help the audience to place themselves in the overabundance of audience asides by the characters. The women are forced to talk to the audience frequently, while the play works best while showcasing the inter­action of three members of a family. Overall, Eleemosynary was an outstanding performance by three very talented actresses. The direction and technical aspects of the show perfectly

As Dorothea, Ellen Kennedy captured woman's quickness need to excel intellectually, while Devon Candura plays Echo as both endearing and irritating.

Cheryl Turski depicts Artie's seeming aloofness and emotional vulnerability with ease. As Artie the adolescent, she is sulking and rebellious.

---

Photo courtesy of Meg Ryan
Cowboys struggle, still manage to knock off Bills

Andersen’s 29-yard field goal, That’s literally what I’m thinking,” said Crocker. “Somehow I

Kansas City (9-0) the NFL’s

paving the way for a 41-20 vic-

Sunday, keeping the NFL’s

in the second half.

The Cowboys had to overcome their third straight losses to win.

Chiefs 41, Browns 20

Sometimes only a big play stop great players.

Crocker avoided a dislocated ankle tackle of Danie Hall on

Sunday, keeping the NFL’s

most resilient running back:

Crocker was only 30 yards away from his second

100-yard game.

Hall’s return ended up going

77 yards and set up Morton

Anderson’s 29-yard field goal,

paving the way for a 41-20 vic-

ory over Cleveland that kept

Kansas City’s high-scoring offense in check.

"I’m thinking ‘Oh, my God.’

That’s literally what I’m thinking,” said Crocker. "Somehow I managed to get him on the ground.

I said Hall, ‘You’ve got to take your hat off to him. He played it well.”

Panthers 27, Bucs 24

The Carolina Panthers

refused to talk any trash before their game against

Tampa Bay. After beating the Super Bowl champions for the second time this season, they wouldn’t shut up.

Jake Delhomme’s 5-yard touchdown pass to Steve Smith with 1:06 remaining overcame Tampa Bay’s fifth field goal and lifted the Panthers to a 27-24 victory in the matchup of two suddenly bitter rivals.

The victory silenced the Bucs

(4-3) and dropped them three games behind the Panthers (7-1-2). Kris Jenkins.

Sunday, beating the Buffalo

Bills. The Cowboys defeated the Bills 10-6.

Running back Adrian Murrell of the Dallas Cowboys is tackled by London Fletcher of the Buffalo Bills. The Cowboys defeated the Bills 36-10.

The Observer accepts classifieds every business day from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Notre Dame office, 624 South Dining Hall. Deadline for next-day classifieds is 3 p.m. All classifieds must be prepaid.

The Observer reserves the right to edit all classifieds for content without incurring refunds.
SMC SOCcER

Belles spoil Calvin’s chances for playoffs

By DAN TAPETILLO
Sports Writer

The Saint Mary’s soccer team finished in a 4-4 double overtime tie to crush Calvin College’s hopes for a playoff birth.

“We were hoping to spoil Calvin’s season,” Belles captain Jen Concannon said.

Calvin was tied with Hope College in the MIAA standings and could not afford a tie or loss against Saint Mary’s last Saturday afternoon if they expected to see life in the playoffs.

Saint Mary’s began the rivalry with an impressive 3-0 lead in the first half.

Freshman Colleen Courtney contributed the first two goals, followed by a goal from classmate Ashley Hinton.

“By starting with a 3-0 lead against the top team in the conference, we should have been one of the top teams,” Belles sophomore Katie Noble said.

“We usually come out strong, but it is always the last 10 minutes of the half or the game that we slow down.”

Unfortunately for Saint Mary’s, Calvin was able to capitalize and tie the score 3-3 to end the half.

In the second half, both teams could only respond with a goal to make the final score in regulation 4-4 and send the game into overtime.

Saint Mary’s was unable to score in overtime and had to settle for the 4-4 tie against the first place team.

The forwards are what helped the team,” Concannon said.

Contact Dan Tapetillo at jtapetil@nd.edu

ND WOMEN’S SOCcER

Two selected as Hermann finalists

Two Notre Dame women’s soccer players have been selected as final candidates for the Missouri Athletic Club’s Hermann Trophy, the official National Soccer Coaches Association of America Player of the Year award for Division I players. The 15 candidates were selected by a nominating committee of Division I college coaches.

Top-ranked North Carolina is the only other team with multiple players on the list — senior defender Cat Reddick and sophomore midfielders Lori Chalupny and Lindsay Tarpley.

The other candidates include:

- Senior forwards Chrissie Abbott (West Virginia) and Veronica Zepeda (Santa Clara); senior midfielders Joanna Lohman (Penn State) and Aleshia Rose (BYU); UCLA senior defender Nandi Pryce; Texas junior forward Kelly Wilson; Tennessee junior defender Keely Dowling; Stanford junior goalkeeper Nicole Barnhardt; and sophomore forwards Caroline Smith (Kansas) and Tiffany Weimer (Penn State).

Tancredi — who can apply for a fifth year of eligibility — would be considered one of the favorites for the 2004 award.

The winners will be announced in December at the men’s College Cup.

The men’s and women’s winners will be honored at an awards banquet at the Missouri Athletic Club in St. Louis on Friday, Jan. 9, and presented with the prestigious crystal soccer ball trophy.

Notre Dame has played against three of the candidates this season, defeating Zepeda’s Santa Clara squad and Abbott’s West Virginia team while playing to a tie against Barnhardt and Stanford.

Tancredi — the 2003 Big East Conference Defensive Player of the Year — and four-time all-Big East selection Warner have played central roles for the 2003 team that is ranked third in the nation while standing one win shy of the program’s eighth 20-win season (19-2-1).

The Irish rank near the top of the national leaders in scoring.

Law & . . .
An Interdisciplinary Colloquium Series

November 12, 2003
4:00 p.m., Law School Courtroom

“Acting as If: Suspicions of Semblance In Early Modern Critiques of Virtue”

Presenter
Jennifer Herdt
Associate Professor Department of Theology

Commentator
John Coughlin, OFM
Professor
Law School
Associated Press Top 25

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Record</th>
<th>Points</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Oklahoma (88)</td>
<td>10-0</td>
<td>1,596</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>USC</td>
<td>7-1</td>
<td>1,569</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LSU</td>
<td>8-1</td>
<td>1,495</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ohio State</td>
<td>8-1</td>
<td>1,427</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Michigan</td>
<td>9-2</td>
<td>1,382</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Texas</td>
<td>10-0</td>
<td>1,362</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Georgia</td>
<td>9-2</td>
<td>1,196</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Washington State</td>
<td>8-3</td>
<td>1,156</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tennessee</td>
<td>7-5</td>
<td>1,090</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Iowa</td>
<td>7-2</td>
<td>797</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LSU</td>
<td>8-1</td>
<td>1,469</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Texas (8-2)</td>
<td>1,139</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Michigan State</td>
<td>8-2</td>
<td>1,286</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oklahoma (63)</td>
<td>10-0</td>
<td>1,575</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boise State</td>
<td>8-1</td>
<td>1,392</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Florida State</td>
<td>8-2</td>
<td>851</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Miami</td>
<td>8-2</td>
<td>1,166</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Indiana</td>
<td>9-1</td>
<td>1,208</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Miami (Ohio)</td>
<td>7-2</td>
<td>1,014</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nebraska</td>
<td>9-3</td>
<td>913</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Michigan</td>
<td>8-2</td>
<td>899</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TCU</td>
<td>9-0</td>
<td>814</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Michigan State</td>
<td>8-1</td>
<td>910</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Texas (8-2)</td>
<td>1,008</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TCU</td>
<td>8-1</td>
<td>967</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Connecticut</td>
<td>8-2</td>
<td>926</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kansas State</td>
<td>7-3</td>
<td>747</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Temple</td>
<td>6-4</td>
<td>690</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wake Forest</td>
<td>6-5</td>
<td>686</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Maryland</td>
<td>6-6</td>
<td>594</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TCU</td>
<td>8-2</td>
<td>611</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kansas</td>
<td>8-2</td>
<td>530</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Maryland</td>
<td>6-6</td>
<td>498</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Memphis</td>
<td>6-6</td>
<td>549</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Michigan State</td>
<td>8-2</td>
<td>516</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Iowa</td>
<td>7-2</td>
<td>529</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Minnesota</td>
<td>8-2</td>
<td>448</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Illinois</td>
<td>6-6</td>
<td>406</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nebraska</td>
<td>8-2</td>
<td>413</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Notre Dame</td>
<td>8-2</td>
<td>432</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>North Carolina</td>
<td>8-3</td>
<td>420</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kansas</td>
<td>7-2</td>
<td>319</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Northwestern</td>
<td>7-3</td>
<td>316</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Virginia</td>
<td>5-1</td>
<td>204</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boise State</td>
<td>8-1</td>
<td>197</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bowling Green</td>
<td>7-2</td>
<td>60</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ESPN/USA Today poll

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Record</th>
<th>Points</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>UCLA</td>
<td>10-0</td>
<td>1,576</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LSU</td>
<td>8-1</td>
<td>1,482</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ohio State</td>
<td>8-1</td>
<td>1,391</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Georgia</td>
<td>8-1</td>
<td>1,154</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wisconsin</td>
<td>8-1</td>
<td>1,090</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Washington State</td>
<td>8-0</td>
<td>1,049</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Texas</td>
<td>7-2</td>
<td>988</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Purdue</td>
<td>8-0</td>
<td>976</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kansas</td>
<td>6-4</td>
<td>973</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nebraska</td>
<td>6-6</td>
<td>870</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Texas Tech</td>
<td>7-2</td>
<td>848</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tennessee</td>
<td>7-2</td>
<td>846</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Miami</td>
<td>7-3</td>
<td>846</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Baylor</td>
<td>6-6</td>
<td>640</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pittsburgh</td>
<td>7-2</td>
<td>635</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Minnesota</td>
<td>8-2</td>
<td>632</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Florida</td>
<td>8-3</td>
<td>540</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Michigan State</td>
<td>7-2</td>
<td>468</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Iowa</td>
<td>7-2</td>
<td>430</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Missouri</td>
<td>6-1</td>
<td>298</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Purdue (7-3)</td>
<td>7-2</td>
<td>298</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boise State</td>
<td>8-1</td>
<td>298</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Michigan</td>
<td>8-1</td>
<td>193</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kansas</td>
<td>8-1</td>
<td>193</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Eye on Irish Opponents

Snapday:

BYU (4-6) at Arizona State (2-8)

Arkansas State at Washington State (2-2)

Northwestern at Michigan (8-5)

Michigan State (7-3) at Wisconsin

Purdue (8-3) at Ohio State

Pittsburgh (7-2) at West Virginia

USC (7-1) at Arizona

Boston College (6-4) at Rutgers

NC State at Florida State (8-2)

Stanford (3-4) at Oregon State

Syracuse (5-3) at Miami

Navy (4-6)

Boxing

Roy Jones Jr. escapes to fight another day

Roy Jones Jr. and Antonio Tarver trade punches in the eighth round of their WBC/WBA light heavyweight bout at the Mandalay Center in Las Vegas, Nevada on Saturday. Jones won the fight by majority decision.

Associated Press

LAS VEGAS — Roy Jones Jr. likes to lay claim to being the greatest boxer of his time. For one fight, at least, he certainly wasn’t the smartest.

A decision to drop down in weight to fight a grudge match against Antonio Tarver very nearly cost Jones the first real defeat of his brilliant career.

He escaped to fight another day — possibly against Mike Tyson — but Jones was slow, sluggish and a shell of his former self.

Entering the ring Saturday night as the unquestioned master of his art, Jones left with one big question not answered. Did he look so bad because he had to lose so much weight, or is he suddenly an old fighter at the age of 34?

Not surprisingly, Jones blames the weight.

"It was a tough task to come down from 200 pounds to 175, tougher than I thought it would be," Jones said.

"With everything out of me, though, you still saw the heart of a champion out there."

That heart came out in the final two rounds, when Jones finally started throwing punches in combinations and got the best of a tiring Tarver.

But for much of the fight he was beaten to the punch, pummeled on the ropes and treated — somewhat Shockingly — like just another ordinary fighter.

He still won by comfortable margins on two scorecards and was even on a third, but it might have been his reputation more than his performance that saved the night for Jones.

The Associated Press scored the fight even, 114-114.

"They took the decision, but I’ll be back," Tarver said. "I didn’t feel like a loser. He didn’t look like one, either."

At the press conference after the fight, in fact, it was hard to tell who won and who lost.

Jones, his face puffy and marked, talked softly about weight problems and how he gutted this one out.

Tarver, meanwhile, was unmarked and almost giddy as he basked in the knowledge he came closer than any of Jones’ previous 49 opponents to actually beating him fair and square.

\[ \text{Note: The text continues with various boxing-related articles and news.} \]

In Brief

Panthers fire coach Keenan; Dudley takes over

SUNRISE, Fla. — Mike Keenan was supposed to change the Florida Panthers’ fortunes. When he couldn’t, they changed coaches.

Keenan’s two-year coaching stint with the Panthers ended Sunday, one day after general manager Rick Dudley told owner Alan Cohen that the move was necessary. Dudley will take over as coach on an interim basis, and said he has already contacted candidates for the permanent job.

"It was done simply because we felt the potential of this team was such that we wanted to play at a maximum or optimal level," Dudley said Sunday. "We did not feel we were doing that at this time."

Mauresome spoils all-Belgian final

LOS ANGELES — Kim Clisteros railed from a set down and a 3-2 deficit in the third to beat an injured Jennifer Capriati 4-6, 6-3, 6-0 in Sunday’s semifinals of the WTA Championships.

Clisteros won the final 10 games in advancing to Monday’s night final for the second straight year. The winner receives $1,000,000, the biggest paycheck in women’s tennis. The extra $30 represents the WTA Tour’s 30th anniversary.

Clisteros will play fourth-seeded Amelie Mauresmo, who upset No. 2 Justine Henin-Hardenne 7-6 (2), 3-6, 6-3. Mauresmo spoiled an all-Belgian final between Clisteros, the outing No. 1 player, and Henin-Hardenne, who will succeed her countrywoman when the year’s final rankings are released Tuesday.

Mauresmo needed help reaching the semifinals. Elena Dementieva upset No. 2 Justine Henin-Hardenne 7-6 (2), 3-6, 6-3. Mauresmo spoiled an all-Belgian final between Clisteros, the outing No. 1 player, and Henin-Hardenne, who will succeed her countrywoman when the year’s final rankings are released Tuesday.

Mauresmo needed help reaching the semifinals. Elena Dementieva upset No. 2 Justine Henin-Hardenne 7-6 (2), 3-6, 6-3. Mauresmo spoiled an all-Belgian final between Clisteros, the outing No. 1 player, and Henin-Hardenne, who will succeed her countrywoman when the year’s final rankings are released Tuesday.

Campbell, Singh, Woods all come away winners

HOUSTON — The PGA Tour player of the year race is still up in the air.

Chad Campbell made sure the Tour Championship was no contest.

Campbell blew away his challengers with a flawless nine hole to build a five-shot lead, then cruised to his first victory in the PGA Tour’s version of the All-Star game.

"I think you get a little bit more respect once you get your first win, especially coming at a tournament like this," Campbell said after closing with a 3-under 68 for a three-shot victory at The Greenbrier Classic.

Campbell, whose 16-under 268 broke the tournament scoring record in relation to par, became the first player to make the Tour Championship his first victory.

Tiger Woods and Vijay Singh couldn’t settle the PGA Tour player of the year race at Champions Golf Club, so now they hit the campaign trail.

Around the Dial

NFL

Philadelphia at Green Bay 9 p.m., ABC

NBA

Denver at Chicago 8 p.m., FOXCH

New York at Cleveland 7 p.m., FOXCH

Utah at San Antonio 8 p.m., FOXCH
Sweep continued from page 24

Big East) squeaked by the Hokies on Friday after falling behind 2-1. The Irish took the Hokies to five games (30-22, 25-30, 29-31, 30-24, 15-13), before pulling out the victory with a Lauren Brewster kill to end game five. "We knew that we needed to play well (this week-end), and on Friday, we were really pleased with game four and five," Irish coach Debbie Brown said.

The Irish were able to come away from the match with some of their most consistent hitting numbers of the season—a 291 attack percentage for the match. Setter Kristen Kinder ran the offense with her career high 12 assists, leading the team to a blazing .406 hitting percentage for the match.

"I think that we’ve had the capability sometimes to pull away at the end of a match."

Deb Brown
Irish coach

Although Friday’s victory came as a sigh of relief, Sunday was a new day and a new story against Miami (21-8, 8-3). The Irish swept the Hurricanes on College Sports Television, 3-0 (30-26, 30-24, 30-22). The Irish came out strong, posting a 209 hitting percentage in the first game, and holding the Hurricanes to only 190 hitting. The game was tied at 23 when the Irish went on a 7-3 run to finish the game on Keibley’s kill. "I think that we’ve had the capability sometimes to pull away at the end of a match," Brown said. "I think that we got in a better rhythm, and we just started getting better timing on the block, and we finished better offensively at the end of the first game."

The second game saw the Irish fall behind early, but they fought back after Loomis and Kelbley kills brought them back to 15-15. Katie Neff’s solo block put them ahead for good, 18-15. Kristen Kinder once again led the offense with 44 assists on the match.

However, the first two games saw the Irish make nine service errors, an unusual statistic for a consistent-serving team. "It killed the coaches," Brown said with a smile. "We wanted to serve tough, but we were trying to get aces instead of just trying to serve tough in the court."

But in the end, the Irish were just too much for the Hurricanes. Game three saw Notre Dame pull ahead for good, as they got ahead 3-2 and never trailed. "By the end of the match, we had a really good feel for what they were doing, and we could respond a little bit better," Brown said.

The team victory could be attributed to the passing of the Irish defense. Libero Meg Henican led the way with 15 digs, and Emily Loomis added 10.

They were the key to the .326 hitting percentage of the Irish, who had four players with nine kills or more. Kelbley led the way with 15, followed by Loomis with 12. Jessica Kinder and Neff, both playing their last regular season games in the Joyce Center, added nine each.

"We played three really solid games today," Brown said. "It’s exactly where we want to be."

NOTRE DAME 3, MIAMI 0

NOTRE DAME —Kills 83 (Lauren Kelbley 22, Lauren Brewster 22, Ashley Neff 21, Meg Henican 15, Ashley Kinder 9, Emily Loomis 16, Blocks 11 (Lauren Brown 5, Katie Neff 5), Hitting percentage .326 (Karla Johnson .294). Aces 0

MIAMI —Kills 44 (Annie Spicer 10, Linda West 9, Jeanine Snyder 7), Blocks 2 (Lauren Brown 1, Ashley Kinder 1), Hitting percentage .215 (Karla Johnson 7), Assists 42 (Jill Robinson 38), Digs 44 (Emily Loomis 15, Blocks 11 (Lauren Brown 5, Katie Neff 5), Hitting percentage .239 (Kate Ebrooks .355),21), Assists 76 (Melissa Markowski), Blocks 20, Blocks 11 (Katie Ebrooks 8), Hitting percentage .215 (Katie Ebrooks 9),7). Digs 69 (Emily Loomis 15, Blocks 11 (Lauren Brown 5, Katie Neff 5), Hitting percentage .239 (Lauren Brown 9), Assits 8 (D'iselle Bernard)

NOTRE DAME —Kills 79 (Annie Speyer 21), Assists 76 (Melissa Markowski), Blocks 20, Blocks 11 (Katie Ebrooks 8), Hitting percentage .215 (Katie Ebrooks 9),7). Digs 69 (Emily Loomis 15, Blocks 11 (Lauren Brown 5, Katie Neff 5), Hitting percentage .239 (Lauren Brown 9), Assits 8 (D'iselle Bernard)

Contact Heather Van Hoegarden at hvnheorg@nd.edu

*7 Bedrooms, 2.5 Baths
*Fenced-in Parking
* Washer, Dryers and Dishwashers
All Units Are Like New

Please recycle The Observer

CONDOMINIUMS
FOR LEASE
FOR THE
2004-2005 SCHOOL YEAR

109 Hill St.
Across from Boat Club

*3 Bedrooms, 2.5 Baths
*Living and Family Rooms
*Fenced-in Parking
* Washers, Dryers and Dishwashers

All Units Are Like New

Contact Kramer at DOMUS PROPERTIES:
Office 234-2436 or Call 315-5032

Visit Our Website at www.domuskramer.com

www.thegeorgetownindependent.com/scholarships

DON’T BE LEFT IN THE DARK
WHEN YOU PAY FOR COLLEGE.

There are 250,000 ways to pay for college with our Scholarship Channel.

Search over 250,000 scholarships in our free database
Receive relevant scholarship updates through email
Increase your success rate through articles and advice

anthem.com

Outdoors to indoors. Outdoor to people.

Cares with impact.

Dedicated to diversity. Dedicated to people.

This is one assignment you can look forward to.

Office 234-2436 or All 315-5032

*3 Bedrooms, 2.5 Baths
*Living and Family Rooms
*Fenced-in Parking
* Washers, Dryers and Dishwashers

All Units Are Like New

Please recycle The Observer

CONDOMINIUMS
FOR LEASE
FOR THE
2004-2005 SCHOOL YEAR

109 Hill St.
Across from Boat Club

*3 Bedrooms, 2.5 Baths
*Living and Family Rooms
*Fenced-in Parking
* Washers, Dryers and Dishwashers

All Units Are Like New

Contact Kramer at DOMUS PROPERTIES:
Office 234-2436 or Call 315-5032

Visit Our Website at www.domuskramer.com

www.thegeorgetownindependent.com/scholarships

DON’T BE LEFT IN THE DARK
WHEN YOU PAY FOR COLLEGE.

There are 250,000 ways to pay for college with our Scholarship Channel.

Search over 250,000 scholarships in our free database
Receive relevant scholarship updates through email
Increase your success rate through articles and advice

anthem.com

Outdoors to indoors. Outdoor to people.

Cares with impact.

Dedicated to diversity. Dedicated to people.

This is one assignment you can
look forward to.

Office 234-2436 or All 315-5032

*3 Bedrooms, 2.5 Baths
*Living and Family Rooms
*Fenced-in Parking
* Washers, Dryers and Dishwashers

All Units Are Like New

Please recycle The Observer

CONDOMINIUMS
FOR LEASE
FOR THE
2004-2005 SCHOOL YEAR

109 Hill St.
Across from Boat Club

*3 Bedrooms, 2.5 Baths
*Living and Family Rooms
*Fenced-in Parking
* Washers, Dryers and Dishwashers

All Units Are Like New

Contact Kramer at DOMUS PROPERTIES:
Office 234-2436 or Call 315-5032

Visit Our Website at www.domuskramer.com

www.thegeorgetownindependent.com/scholarships

DON’T BE LEFT IN THE DARK
WHEN YOU PAY FOR COLLEGE.

There are 250,000 ways to pay for college with our Scholarship Channel.

Search over 250,000 scholarships in our free database
Receive relevant scholarship updates through email
Increase your success rate through articles and advice

anthem.com

Outdoors to indoors. Outdoor to people.

Cares with impact.

Dedicated to diversity. Dedicated to people.

This is one assignment you can
look forward to.

Office 234-2436 or All 315-5032

*3 Bedrooms, 2.5 Baths
*Living and Family Rooms
*Fenced-in Parking
* Washers, Dryers and Dishwashers

All Units Are Like New

Please recycle The Observer

CONDOMINIUMS
FOR LEASE
FOR THE
2004-2005 SCHOOL YEAR

109 Hill St.
Across from Boat Club

*3 Bedrooms, 2.5 Baths
*Living and Family Rooms
*Fenced-in Parking
* Washers, Dryers and Dishwashers

All Units Are Like New

Contact Kramer at DOMUS PROPERTIES:
Office 234-2436 or Call 315-5032

Visit Our Website at www.domuskramer.com

www.thegeorgetownindependent.com/scholarships

DON’T BE LEFT IN THE DARK
WHEN YOU PAY FOR COLLEGE.

There are 250,000 ways to pay for college with our Scholarship Channel.

Search over 250,000 scholarships in our free database
Receive relevant scholarship updates through email
Increase your success rate through articles and advice

anthem.com

Outdoors to indoors. Outdoor to people.

Cares with impact.

Dedicated to diversity. Dedicated to people.

This is one assignment you can
look forward to.
Adam Nightingale, however, all critical point of the game, "Irish the mistake 31 seconds later, as game with a power play about but killed the potential Irish Morgan Cey's left shoulder for a 17-year-old freshman, one-period. 41 seconds left in the second on the scoreboard first with just before Michigan State jumped 3-0 in the CCHA.
Now sits at 5-3-0 overall and 4-the Irish. Notre Dame currently Spartans Saturday. To salvage a 3-3 tie against the Friday, but the team came back to give themselves a chance to win and then have the goal waved off tough.
"I thought we played well the total game, but the third period really stood out. They owe it to each other to play that way night."

Dave Poulin
Irish coach

With Irish defensemen Wes
O'Neil off for high-sticking, defenseman Tom Galvin took a long saucer pass to Globke, who then slapped a shot from the right-wing circle past Michigan State goaltender Matt Migliaccio for the apparent game-winner.
Referees con-

vented and ruled that Globke had closed his hand around the puck as he tried to knock down Galvin's puck, and the goal was disal-

owed.
"That call was very disappointing," Poulin said. "To come back the way we did to give themselves a chance to win and then have the goal waved off was tough.
"They owe it to each other to play that way every night."

After Slater's early goal that snapped Brown's shutout streak, the Spartans capitalized on a Notre Dame turnover with three power play goals by Slater.
MSU — Slater, Jim (3), 1st, 7:12
(Matt O'Neill off for high-sticking, and forward Aaron Gill before Globke's disallowed goal. Gill, the Irish captain, also assisted on the two other Notre Dame goals for a three-point night.
Brown made 25 saves for the Irish, and Migliaccio made 30 for the Spartans. Notre Dame now returns home to face the United States National Developmental Program's
Under-18 team on Friday. Game time for this exhibition is 7:35 p.m.

NOTRE DAME 3,
MICHIGAN STATE 3,
at Munn Ice Arena, Saturday
1st 2nd 3rd Total
NOTRE DAME 0 1 2  1 2
MICHIGAN STATE 1 0 2  3
Scoring Summary
MSU — Slater, Jim (3), 1st, 7:12
MSU — Radunske, Brock (3), 1st, 19:00
MIGLIACCIO 30), Shots 28 (Jim Slater 6),
M ansfield, Ethan Graham)

Contact Justin Schuver at jschuver@nd.edu

Warm hats gloves
largest selection

M ICHE LIAN ST ATE 3.323w
NOTRE DAME 1,
at Munn Ice Arena, Friday

Monday, November 10, 2003

Sports

The Observer

© 2003 by University of Notre Dame
All Rights Reserved

Dolcetto, 800 Washington, April 12
Free admission. I heard to these brandenburg concertos, no. 3

Telemann
aventure in d'orth of three oboes and strings plus renaissance and 20th century motets for chorus

Wednesday, November 12, 2003
8:00 p.m. basilica of the sacred heart free and open to the public

"Genius is the ability to put into effect what is in your mind."

-F. Scott Fitzgerald
Irish

continued from page 24

stopped. He could not control the rebound however, and Martin sent a short pass to Prescod, who drilled it in the net of the back of the net.

Martin would help the Irish score a big insurance goal 14 minutes later.

The senior midfielder sent in a high arching cross from the right side, and Better managed to time his run to the left post perfectly, catch­ing the cross with a header that beat Schuerman.

"We call Justin 'the lighthouse' because he has a huge wide head," Martin joked. "We tell him whenever the ball's on the wing to get to the box. I don't typically play out on the wing, but I found myself out there several times."

"I had my head up and saw him running toward the post, and I knew if I could float it over the first defender he could clearly beat the goalie."

Schuerman made three saves in the loss, while Sawyer needed to make only two for his 11th shutout of the season.

The Irish now advance to play Providence in the next round. The No. 7 seed Friars shocked No. 2 Virginia Tech with a 4-2 advantage on the next round. The No. 7 seed Friars shocked Virginia Tech even took it a step further with the two teams battled to a penalty kicks by No. 7 Providence. No. 4 Scarlet Knights needed a 11th shutout of the season.

The Irish finished the season with a 12-5-3 overall record, including a 7-3-1 mark in the Big East Conference. The Irish went 2-0 in overtime, had a 1-0-1 mark in overtime, and went 2-2 in overtime.

The Irish defeated the Friars on the road 2-0 on Oct. 22.

NOTRE DAME 2, CONNECTICUT 0

Scoring Summary
ND — Prescod, Devon (11), 61:53 (Greg Martin, Kevin Goldthwaite)
ND — Prescod, Devon (11), 63:13 (Greg Martin, Kevin Goldthwaite)
CT — Villanova, No. 8 (score of 1-2-1)
CT — Rutgers, No. 4 (score of 2-1)

Result: Notre Dame, 2-0

Men's Soccer

Chemistry proves the key for Irish

Come on, Irish. Just try it. Everyday's doing it.

It's the trend in the quarterly finals of the men's soccer Big East conference tournament — games stay close, regardless of seed and venue, and the outcome is decided by individual effort at the end.

St. John's is doing it. The top-seeded Red Storm nicked No. 8 Villanova by a score of 1-2-1. Rutgers is doing it. The No. 4 Scarlet Knights needed 94 minutes before they could put away No. 2 Seton Hall, 1-0, with an overtime goal from a freshman defender.

Virginia Tech even took it a step further. The No. 2 Hokies were upset in penalty kicks by No. 7 Providence. So why isn't Notre Dame Following the trend? Why did the Irish, depleted in the midfield by injury, find it necessary to control play for the majority of the Connecticut game Sunday in a convincing, 2-0 win?

The answer is team chemistry.

While coaches and players on any given team will talk about it, the cooperation of 11 men on a soccer field often does not click the way it should. On Sunday, that happened for Irish coach Bobby Clark and the Notre Dame squad. The Irish eliminated the Huskies from the tournament that day. Better managed to hold the advantage for the majority of the game.

"This was as complete a performance as we've had this year," Clark said. "We had a lot of good performances, but I just thought we really got a hold of the game."

They sure did.

Notre Dame outshot Connecticut 15-8 and had 11 corner kicks to the Huskies' one. The offense and defense both pushed up as part of a more aggressive game plan.

"In a lot of the games when we've lost, we've scored and gone ahead and kind of fallen back into our own half," Clark said. "That was our plan. We wanted to play in the game in their half, and I think the players performed well.

Save a few careless turnovers and one free kick in which freshman midfielder Nace Norman could not find his spot in the set play, Notre Dame never appeared unfazed, confused or hesitant.

And it has been that way all season. They play with a confidence that comes with constant practice and knowledge of teammatess' strengths and tendencies.

"We play a lot of shadow in prac­tice," Clark said. "We split up the team and play without opposition. They should have an idea of what runs they should be making all the time."

Saying it and doing it are two different things, especially when using a 15-man rotation. But the Irish have done it.

Due to injuries to senior midfielders Filippo Chillemi and Chad Riley, Notre Dame outshot Connecticut 15-8 and had 11 corner kicks to the Huskies' one. The offense and defense both pushed up as part of a more aggressive game plan.

"The thing with soccer is it's not that you're calling plays," Clark said. "It's just all happening, you have to be thinking all the time."

"At one point today we had three forwards Justin Detter, Devon Prescod and Tony Megaia or defensive­ man Jack Stewart, Kevin Richards and Kevin Goldthwaite cancels out the inexperience of some of the younger players.

Or maybe a team ranked No. 5 in the nation has such luck sometimes. Regardless, Notre Dame has 11 shutouts on the season. It avenged its previous loss to Connecticut in the regular season (1-0 OT) and the Irish now travel east.

If Notre Dame plays smart against Providence Friday afternoon, they have a good shot at reaching the final round. But the players must have that same instinctive awareness they dis­played Sunday.

"The thing with soccer is it's not that you're calling plays," Clark said. "It's just all happening, you have to be thinking all the time."

"Right now, it seems the rest of the Big East is thinking while the Irish are doing. They are not following the same instinctive awareness they dis­played Sunday."

"The thing with soccer is it's not that you're calling plays," Clark said. "It's just all happening, you have to be thinking all the time."

The opinions of this column are those of the author and not necessari­ly The Observer. Contact Pat Leonard at plseuador@nd.edu.
The Observer • SPORTS

Monday, November 10, 2003

SWIMMING AND DIVING
Woman soar, men sink again in third dual meet
By MATT PUGLISI
Sports Writer

While the season is still young, the Irish men's and women's squads continue to head in opposite directions.

Behind 12 event victories, the women's squad thumped visiting Pittsburgh 184-116 Friday, improving to 0-1 in dual meets.

"We know that Pitt was after us since they're one of our main competitors in the Big East," freshman Katie Carroll said. "We just went in there focused and did what we had to do."

Senior Danielle Stuck led the way for the No. 19 Irish, winning the 100-yard backstroke (57.67) and diving program that the Irish men's and women's squads continue to head in opposite directions.

Nevertheless, the Irish don't appear to be fazed by the slow start and are using the dual meets as an opportunity to define different individual roles.

"I feel like we aren't as tough as we need to be," McGraw said.

McGraw said her team needs to improve its toughness.

"I feel like we aren't as tough as we need to be," McGraw said.

"That was a much more physical game then it needed to be. It was a great test for our mental, because we got hit a lot, and I didn't think we responded well."

The Irish played solid defense and held Team Concept to only 23.3 percent shooting in the first half and 28.3 percent for the game. Notre Dame had 18 steals, led by Jacqueline Batteast's four, and forced 29 turnovers.

"Con sistency was our problem all last year," McGraw said.

"I think you've already seen that. We've had two games and had different people play well and you want to know (who's going to play well)."

Contact Matt Puglisi at mpuglisi@nd.edu

ND WOMEN'S BASKETBALL
Irish win, coach still not pleased
By JOE HETTLER
Sports Writer

Irish coach Muffet McGraw wasn't satisfied with her team's play against Team Concept Sunday afternoon, despite Notre Dame's 74-63 victory.

"Overall I was not as pleased as I was last game," McGraw said.

McGraw said her team needs to improve its toughness.

"I think we see a lot of things we need to work on, and that's what you really want to get out of a game like this," McGraw said.

Team Concept was made up of predominantly Hungarian players and played a physical game against Notre Dame. The Irish play strong inside, but McGraw said her team needs to improve its toughness.

"I feel like we aren't as tough as we need to be," McGraw said. "I think you've already seen that. We've had two games and had different people play well and you want to know (who's going to play well)."

Contact Joe Hettler at hettler@nd.edu

Patagonia exclusively at

Call 259-1000 for more details

Sponsored by the Notre Dame Center for Ethics & Culture
For more information, please visit our website at www.nd.edu/ndethics.

"I feel that if I were not a Catholic, I would have no reason to write, no reason to see, no reason ever to feel horrified or even to enjoy anything."

-Flannery O'Connor

A Reason to Write: Two Catholic Novelists

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 10:
"I'll Be Jesus Throws Everything Off Balance: Flannery O'Connor and Catholic Culture"
Ralph Wood, Baylor University

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 11:
"Just Another Wednesday Afternoon: Walker Percy and the Faith"
Benjamin Alexander
Franciscan University of Steubenville

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 12:
"Flannery O'Connor: Fiction as Theology"
Lawrence Cunningham, University of Notre Dame

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 13:
"Strangers and Pilgrims: Spiritual Travels with Flannery O'Connor and Walker Percy" Robert Ellsberg, Orbis Books

All talks will take place at 7:30 p.m. in 138 DeBartolo.

"I feel that if I were not a Catholic, I would have no reason to write, no reason to see, no reason ever to feel horrified or even to enjoy anything."

-Flannery O'Connor

Sponsored by the Notre Dame Center for Ethics & Culture
Upset continued from page 24

ing a free kick with about two minutes to go, the Irish were unable to find the net again. "The strategy didn't really work as well as we'd have liked," Irish coach Randy Waldrum said. "We got the first goal with plenty of time left, but we really weren't able to push the ball forward enough after that. We have to figure out whether that was our tactics or personnel."

The loss was especially tough because the Irish still felt they were the better team. "Boston College is a good team, but we felt like we've still felt they were a good team, but we felt like we've played better teams over the course of the season," Waldrum said.

Now the Irish must wait to see where they will play in the NCAA Tournament. While the Irish likely have fallen behind UCLA and Portland into at least fourth place in the upcoming NCAA seedings, they could still get that fourth overall seed because of a rash of upsets in the conference tournament that have sent top 10 teams Penn State, Texas, West Virginia and Colorado out.

The only top-10 team ranked immediately behind the Irish that has not stumbled at the end of the year is Santa Clara, a team that the Irish beat head-to-head earlier in the season.

Regardless of seeding, the Irish know they must play better to advance far enough in the NCAA Tournament to make their seeding an issue. "I'm not sure whether it's a matter of losing our confidence or being overconfident," Waldrum said. "We've got to figure that out this week."

Waldrum said. "We've got to get the win."

BOSTON COLLEGE 2, NOTRE DAME 1

NOTRE DAME 0 1 1

Boston College — Goals 1 (Katie Bolin 1), Shots 6 (Erika Bohn 1), Corner kicks 1, Fouls 17.

NOTRE DAME — Goals 1 (Amy Warner 1), Shots 6 (Beth Totman 3), Corner kicks 1, Fouls 17.

Irish coach Randy Waldrum said. "We've got to figure out what has changed for a team that now has lost two out of three to teams they expected to beat. After giving up only five goals during their first 19 games, the Irish have allowed six in their last three games.

And with the NCAA Tournament opening next week, there is not much time for the Irish to right the ship. The Irish, who seemed a lock for the No. 2 seed in the upcoming NCAA Tournament only two weeks ago, now will likely be placed somewhere between Nos. 4 and No. 7. After top seeds North Carolina, UCLA and Portland, the pool for those next four seeds should come from Notre Dame, Penn State, Virginia, Santa Clara, Colorado and West Virginia. Ironically, only Santa Clara — an early season victim of the Irish — did not lose in that week, and none of those other six teams even made the final four of their respective conference tournaments.

The Irish have always fared well in the postseason, as one of the premier women's soccer programs in the country is a program to be feared as the season nears its end. Regardless of past history, the Irish now enter the time of the year when one loss ends a season. The Irish have one final chance to regroup and move on to another and toward a National Championship. Yet something suggests that this group will make the most of it.

The opinions of this column are those of the author and not necessarily The Observer. Contact Andy Troeger at atroeger@nd.edu

ND WOMEN'S SOCCER

Irish left searching for answers after loss

PISCATAWAY, N.J. — Two weeks ago, the Irish traveled home from New Jersey having completed an impressive run through the Big East where they did not lose a single game. They shut out 10 teams in a row and 14 of the 19 teams they had played to that point.

What a difference two weeks make.

Coming back from the Big East Tournament, the Irish are trying to figure out what has changed for a team that now has lost two out of three to teams they expected to beat. After giving up only five goals during their first 19 games, the Irish have allowed six in their last three games.

And with the NCAA Tournament opening next week, there is not much time for the Irish to right the ship. The Irish, who seemed a lock for the No. 2 seed in the upcoming NCAA Tournament only two weeks ago, now will likely be placed somewhere between Nos. 4 and No. 7. After top seeds North Carolina, UCLA and Portland, the pool for those next four seeds should come from Notre Dame, Penn State, Virginia, Santa Clara, Colorado and West Virginia. Ironically, only Santa Clara — an early season victim of the Irish — did not lose in that week, and none of those other six teams even made the final four of their respective conference tournaments.

More urgent, however, are the problems that have cropped up in the last few games. The defense that led the nation in goals against average through 19 games has given up more goals in the last three games (six) than in the first 19 combined (five). The offense that has looked so good all season has sputtered, mustering only four shots on goal against Boston College.

Injuries have played a role, with Mary Boland, Melissa Tancredi and Amy Warner all missing games recently. Those three players were Notre Dame's three representatives on the All-Big East first team and are possibly Notre Dame's three most irreplaceable players. Boland and Tancredi have returned to the lineup, but the timing of Warner's return is still uncertain.

The Irish now have the next five days to prepare for their next opponent, who will be announced today. Almost assuredly, the Irish will be better than their first two opponents in the tournament, but they also were better than Michigan and Boston College.

The Irish have always fared well in the postseason, as one of the premier women's soccer programs in the country is a program to be feared as the season nears its end. Regardless of past history, the Irish now enter the time of the year when one loss ends a season. The Irish have one final chance to regroup and move on to another and toward a National Championship. Yet something suggests that this group will make the most of it.

The opinions of this column are those of the author and not necessarily The Observer. Contact Andy Troeger at atroeger@nd.edu

Notre Dame Tickets

Buy - Sell - Trade

All Games - All Locations

Preferred Tickets

234-5650

For Rent

Oakhill Condominium

Spring & Summer 2004

Available 1/1/2004 - 8/15/2004

2 BR 2 Baths

Furnished!!

Washer/Dryer - Fireplace

Central A/C - Fully Carpeted

$850/Mo Plus Utilities

(717) 576-8232

Keough Institute Summer Internships

In Ireland

The Keough Internship includes:
1. Seven weeks' internship (10 June-1 August)
2. Round trip airfare from the United States to Ireland
3. Room and board
4. Stipend

All Notre Dame JUNIORS with a demonstrated interest in Irish Studies/Ireland are encouraged to apply.

INFORMATION MEETING ABOUT THE INTERNSHIP
12 NOVEMBER 2003 @ 5:15 P.M.
210 DEBARTOLO HALL

Meet Katie (Associate Director, Keough-Notre Dame Centre, Dublin) and the interns who went to Dublin last summer. Ask questions and find out how nice it really is. This year we have 5 internships.
you come home late at night in need of a snack. you discover a slice of cake in the fridge. it’s not yours. what do you do? answer the question, compare your opinions with others. explore what matters at pwc.com/lookhere.
Dear Lord, I know this has been a rough year, but we are a good team.

Please send us one win to help us regain our confidence.

Amen.

Mary's Community.

people and events in the Notre Dame and Saint Mary's two campuses. Please complete the accompanying form and mail it today to receive The Observer in your home.

FIVES

BRETT CAMPBELL & DAN ZYCZINSKI

CROSSWORD

ACROSS

1 Knife wound
2 Mission Control Center
3 Letter after Base in a society's name
4 Broadway musical set in ancient Egypt
5 "fair in love and war"
6 Oak starter
7 Light from a hobo
8 Mirrors
9 Like many bathroom floors
10 Continuum
11 Tomato
12 Group to attack
13 In addition
14 Silent film vamp
15 The hunted
16 In addition
17 N.I.R.S. precursor
18 Special potion of a witch's output
19 Houston player
20 Clinch
21 Peuer's comment
22 Terrier's cry
23 Acacia, today
24 Group to attack
25 Authors Farber and O'Brien
26 Vibrant
27 Harvest
28 "Good going"
29 Be almost out
30 Stem's place: ABB
31 Tiranian monk
32 Group to attack
33 Letter before C:
34 Parts of mins.
35 Hits in TV comedy since 1975
36 Common place for a tattoo
37 Actor O'Brien
38 Continuously
39 Be almost out
40 Stem's place: ABB
41 Tiranian monk
42 Choose
43 Letter before B in a society's name
44 Always, poetically
45 The "O" of CBS: Abb
46 Pool member
47 PC key
48 Continuously
49 It often follows a pun
50 Shade of blue
51 Preadult
52 Pool member
53 Letter before C:
54 Parts of mins.
55 Not be
56 Continue
57 Disturb
58 Summer
59 Indian
60 Rooster
61 "Thank you"
62 It often follows a pun
63 Inhabitants: Suff
64 Loads and loads
65 Vibrant
66 Harvest
67 "Good going"
68 Shoe bottoms
69 Pretentious
70 Thieves'
71 Accumulation
72 Flow
73 Peaceful
74 Road
75 Shade of blue
76 Away from the wind
77 Humiliations are situated between them
78 Out for the night
79 Summer chippers
80 Clue and others
81 Silent film vamp: Nagy
82 Fugitive
83 Prime Minister
84 Gandhi Gandhi
85 Kind of norm
86 Italian wine
87 Catch sight of 88 Rooster
89 1967 song
90 "Trick" body part
91 In a society's name
92 Summer phenomenon
93 Three Stooges
94 N.I.R.S. precursor
95 Special potion of a witch's output
96 Houston player
97 Clinch
98 Peuer's comment
99 Terrier's cry
100 Acacia, today
101 Group to attack
102 Authors Farber and O'Brien

DOWN

1 Story that goes on and on
2 Flow
3 Peacful
4 Road
5 Shade of blue
5 Away from the wind
5 Humiliations are situated between them
7 Out for the night
8 Summer chippers
9 Clue and others
10 Silent film vamp Nagy
11 The hunted
12 In addition
13 N.I.R.S. precursor
14 Special potion of a witch's output
15 Houston player
16 Clinch
17 Peuer's comment
18 Terrier's cry
19 Acacia, today
20 Group to attack
21 Authors Farber and O'Brien

For answers: 1-800-280-5556, $1.20 a minute, or, with a credit card: 1-850-814-5554.

Crosswords for young solvers: The Learning Network, Online subscriptions: Today's puzzle and more than 2,000 credit card, 1-800-814-5554.

NICEW

Henri Arnold & Mike Argirion

JUMBLE

Scrambled Word Game

HOROSCOPE

Sharing this birthday: Roy Scheider, Sinbad, Mackenzie Phillips, Richard Burton, Donna Fargo

Happy Birthday: Brace yourself; you are up for a fast paced, explosive year. You aren't likely to handle this year, and therefore will find yourself following some extraordinary pathways that will lead you into some wonderful adventures. You are in the driver's seat this year, so don't waste time. Your numbers are: 4, 15, 23, 26, 35, 44.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Get down to business. You will be able to get along well with colleagues. Your discipline will enable you to complete some of those unfinished projects. ****

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Social events will open up doors to new and exciting acquaintances. Don't turn down any opportunities to travel. You need some adventure in your life. Be receptive to unusual entertainment. **

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Conflicts will arise if you haven't paid proper attention to your lover. Pass the time at the theater or any event that does not interest you anymore. ***

CANCER (June 21-July 22): New love connections will be made through friends. The relationship will move quickly, so hold on tight and be prepared to accept the changes this individual will bring into your life. ***

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You'll have intuitive instincts when it comes to making investments. You must be careful that you don't abuse yourself through overdrafting while celebrating. ****

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Don't let your emotions run wild. Get on the facts before you take action. You will do well in events that need stamina and drive. Go after your business goals and stay out of trouble. **

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Limitations will be greater than you thought if you get involved with a client unnecessarily or, even worse, your boss. You need to cut down on personnel writing when you see.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22): Don't be too quick to lend your cash to a friend. You can bet that the money will not be returned or put to good use. You must look out for your own best interests. **

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21): Someone you work with will offer you new opportunities. You must not exaggerate. You cannot easily hurt others. Be open to new and unusual possibilities. **

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Find out additional information if you wish to continue in the professional direction that you chose. You can get people in high places to help you out, but you better know your stuff. ***

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You must take some time out to rest. You've overloaded your plate, and there just aren't enough hours in a day. Focus on the most important issues. ****

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Don't say no, you owe it to your partner to help him or her out. You'll miss your work if you don't face the situation honestly and openly. You can have some fun if you can sort out your differences. **

Need advice? Try Eugenia's Web site at www.eugenialast.com

Visit The Observer on the Web at www.ndsmcobserver.com

Make checks payable to:
and mail to:

Enclosed is $100 for one academic year

Enclosed is $55 for one semester

THE OBSERVER

Published Monday through Friday, The Observer is a vital source of information on people and events in the Notre Dame and Saint Mary's Community.

Join the more than 13,000 readers who have found The Observer an indispensable link to the two campuses. Please complete the accompanying form and mail it today to receive The Observer in your home.
ND Women's Soccer

Edged out

Notre Dame upset by Boston College 2-1 in Big East Tournament quarterfinal

By ANDY TROEGER
Sports Writer

PISCATAWAY, N.J. — After missing out on the Big East Tournament last season, the Notre Dame women's soccer team wanted to regain their championship form of years past. But it didn't happen as the Irish fell 2-1 to Boston College in the tournament semifinals.

The Irish registered a season-low four shots on goal in falling for only the second time this season, but the second time in their last three games.

The teams played a fairly even game, with both sides attempting six shots, with five shots on goal for Notre Dame to three for Boston College.

The Irish struggled out of the gate and the Eagles cashed in on a failed Irish clearance. The ball ended up at the feet of Boston College midfielder Heather Farron, who scored from the right side of the box 10 yards out.

The Irish outshot the Eagles 5-3 in the first half, but were unable to get many serious threats at the Boston College goal, as the Irish midfield was able to control play.

Boston College got its key second goal early in the second half. As All-Big East midfielder Sarah Rakko played the ball to Beth Totman near the top of the box, Totman turned and scored past Irish goalkeeper Erika Rohn for the crucial two-goal lead.

At that point, the Irish made a key shift in formation by bringing senior Melissa Tancredi forward from her normal spot at center defense. The move paid off, as Tancredi scored off a header to pull the Irish within a goal at 2-1 with 26 minutes left in the game as Eagle goalkeeper Kate Taylor came out of the goal. Vanessa Pruzinsky assisted on the goal. Despite having a few chances, including a see UPSET/page 21

Irish midfielder Kim Carpenter fights a Boston College defender for the ball Friday in Notre Dame's 2-1 loss to the Eagles in the Big East Tournament.

Hockey

Icers earn only 1 point in weekend series

By JUSTIN SCHUVER
Associate Sports Editor

Although the Irish might have only come away with one point in their weekend road series against Michigan State, they might have discovered a new offensive threat for their team.

Sophomore forward Mike Walsh, who missed nearly all of his freshman season last year with an injury and immuno­deficiency, scored a goal in each of the team's games. Walsh now has four goals on the season, tying him for second on the team with Devon Prescod.

ND Volleyball

Irish make best of tough home weekend

By HEATHER VAN HOEGARDEN
Sports Writer

Ten thousand people flocked to the Joyce Center this weekend, and it wasn't to see the basketball team — it was to see the volleyball team. A record crowd of 8,643 saw the No. 12 Irish defeat Virginia Tech Friday, and a crowd of 2,175 witnessed a 3-0 sweep of Miami Sunday night.

The Irish 121-2, 10-6 in the