University celebrates Founder's Day

Mass, reception commemorate feast of Fr. Edward Sorin's namesake, St. Edward

By TESS CIVANTOS
News Writer

Even though the University of Notre Dame did not cancel classes for Founder's Day as it did in the past, the Oct. 13 celebration of the feast of St. Edward, king and confessor, was still a festive occasion on campus Tuesday.

The University celebrated Founder's Day with a Mass in the Basilica of the Sacred Heart and a reception in the Coleman-Morse Center.

The feast day of St. Edward does not refer to Fr. Edward Sorin, founder of the University of Notre Dame, but to his namesake, an English king.

"Fr. Sorin had a great devotion to St. Edward, after whom he was named," Fr. Richard Warner, director of Campus Ministry, said. "When the students wanted to celebrate Fr. Sorin's birthday, he said no, but he agreed to celebrate St. Edward's feast day."

Sorin's devotion to St. Edward was legendary, Warner said.

When the University wanted to name a dorm after Sorin, he insisted that it be named after St. Edward instead. After St. Edward's Hall was built, the University eventually named another dorm after its founder.

University President Fr. John Jenkins chats with attendees of the Founder's Day reception in the Coleman-Morse Center Tuesday. (SUZANNA PRATT/The Observer)

ND doctors explain danger of concussions

By JOSEPH McMAHON
Associate News Editor

Football players at both the college and professional levels have the reputation for being some of the toughest people in the world, able to endure pain that would reduce most people to tears while still performing at a high level.

For years, when a football player was shaken up after a hard hit, he was sent right back into the game. Dallas Cowboys quarterback Troy Aikman was renowned for continually playing with post-concussion symptoms.

"In Troy Aikman's category, he had very well diagnosed concussions with memory loss, difficulty regaining memory and 'things like that, yet he continued to play.'" Head University physician and President of the American College of Sports Medicine Dr. James Moriarty said. "It was estimated he was playing every game with some concussive symptoms."

However, recently sports medicine has begun to focus more on the devastating effects repeat concussions can have on all athletes.

"That's where sports medicine comes into play ... I think that would reduce most people to tears while still performing at a high level."

Despite the economic downturn of the past year, Saint Mary's College is seeing its highest enrollment since 1991.

"In Troy Aikman's category, he had very well diagnosed concussions with memory loss, difficulty regaining memory and 'things like that, yet he continued to play.'"

The College currently has 1,664 students enrolled, up from 1,527 in 2006.

"For the past four years, we have had more than 425 students in each of the first-year classes," Meyer said. "Secondly, this year we had higher than expected retention of first-year students." (Photo courtesy of Thomas Streit)

Marking its 100th anniversary, the Wild Women of Walsh Hall hosted events including a hospitality tent, dinner and a Mass that were attended by more than 100 alumni as well as a number of present students.

"Our celebration is not only this weekend, but the entire year will be a celebration," senior Meg Mirshak said. "This is not only about remembering the history of Walsh Hall, but celebrating the men and women who lived here."

Sophomore Kelsey Burke said Walsh began the weekend by gathering everyone in a hospitality tent for pizza Friday.

"After the pep rally on Friday all the girls in the dorm, alumni, family and friends were invited to enjoy pizza in the hospitality tent," she said.

Burke said she has helped with planning of the festivities, which started last spring, and has continued throughout this year.

"We sent out e-mails to alumni," she said. (Photo courtesy of Thomas Streit)

COUNCIL OF REPRESENTATIVES
Official discusses financial aid status

By ANN-MARIE WOODS
News Writer

Marking its 100th anniversary, the Wild Women of Walsh Hall hosted events including a hospitality tent, dinner and a Mass that were attended by more than 100 alumni as well as a number of present students.

"Our celebration is not only this weekend, but the entire year will be a celebration," senior Meg Mirshak said. "This is not only about remembering the history of Walsh Hall, but celebrating the men and women who lived here."

Sophomore Kelsey Burke said Walsh began the weekend by gathering everyone in a hospitality tent for pizza Friday.

"After the pep rally on Friday all the girls in the dorm, alumni, family and friends were invited to enjoy pizza in the hospitality tent," she said.

Burke said she has helped with planning of the festivities, which started last spring, and has continued throughout this year.

"We sent out e-mails to alumni," she said. (Photo courtesy of Thomas Streit) Quiz Question: What do you think the score for Saturday’s game will be?

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Player</th>
<th>Score</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Jade Rice</td>
<td>USC 33, ND 14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Malda Kobaslija</td>
<td>USC 44, ND 7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stacey Sams</td>
<td>USC 26, ND 24, 17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Katie Urbanski</td>
<td>USC 27, ND 24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Megan Hester</td>
<td>USC 21, ND 18</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Have an idea for Question of the Day? E-mail observer.questions@gmail.com

In Brief

An exhibit titled "Fritz Scholder: Contemporary American Indian Art" will be held at the Milly and Fritz Kaeser Modern Studio Gallery in the Reitler Museum of Art today. The exhibit will open at 10 a.m.

A workshop entitled "The Carpenter in the Union Hall," Teaching Labor & Religion," will be held today from 12 p.m. to 1 p.m. The new location is at the coffee house in Geddes Hall.

Viewpoint

Spice up your life, I'd pack my bags and transfer to another college, not in grammar school. If I wanted to be a journalist at all times. We do, however, recognize that we will make mistakes. If we have made a mistake, we will correct our error.

...no one will ever get Buddie status again, but we can at least strive for greatness.

...But let's get back to the matter at hand. People submitting views out there need to step their game up. I know you have to let the whole world know you are completely right.

...Because if you don't that's at least five points of your life I'm not getting back.

...that we will make mistakes. If we have made a mistake, we will correct our error.

...to change people's opinions in a paragraph. So do us all a favor and save the theological debates for the classroom.

...But it's not a real hookup. Second, people don't really care.

...that we will make mistakes. If we have made a mistake, we will correct our error.

...We do, however, recognize that we will make mistakes. If we have made a mistake, we will correct our error.

...that we will make mistakes. If we have made a mistake, we will correct our error.

...But let's get back to the matter at hand. People submitting views out there need to step their game up. I know you have to let the whole world know you are completely right.

...Because if you don't that's at least five points of your life I'm not getting back.

...that we will make mistakes. If we have made a mistake, we will correct our error.

...But let's get back to the matter at hand. People submitting views out there need to step their game up. I know you have to let the whole world know you are completely right.

...Because if you don't that's at least five points of your life I'm not getting back.
College to host Parents Council

By MEGAN LONEY
News Writer

Saint Mary's College will be hosting members of the Parents Council this weekend for the organization's semi-annual fall meeting.

The Parents Council is a focus group made up of parents of Saint Mary's students that meets twice a year—fall and early spring.

Parents Council members will tour the recently renovated Madeleva Hall, listen to a presentation given by Saint Mary's new vice president of Mission Sister Mary Louise Gude and hear about the new Cross Currents Advising Program.

Each member will attend one committee meeting of Student Affairs, Enrollment Management or College Relations. After sitting in on the meeting, they will report back to the group with their observations.

The group was established in 1966 to promote the College, spread the word about Saint Mary's to potential parents and assist with fundraising. Executive Assistant to the President Susan Dampeer said, "These purposes really haven't changed since the beginning," Dampeer said. "It is very helpful to the College in areas like admission and student affairs. We often use them as a focus group to help us understand from their point of view what it is that parents want for their daughters."

The impact of the Parents Council is a broad one, Dampeer said, although students may not realize it.

The Council has aided the College and students through their fund raising. The money that they raised has helped to pay for improved lighting and part of the construction of Dullaway's Cafe.

Some funds have also been added to the scholarship fund endowment.

Other outlets for the funds include the purchasing of exercise equipment for the Angola Athletic Facility, new patio furniture for the Dinning Hall and a car used by students who volunteer in the community.

The Council is made up of about four or five couples, junior and senior classes. The group of parents represents geographic and career diversity, Dampeer said.

"The geographic diversity aspect is important because it helps with enrollment management work," Dampeer said.

The responsibilities of the Parents Council members are not reserved to their semi-annual meetings at the College. Members also attend receptions in their homes and call parents of accepted students from their area.

Several of the current members are Saint Mary's alumnae, but it is not a requirement. All members have students currently enrolled in Saint Mary's.

Current Council chairs are Jim and Mary Beth Theis, who have had two daughters attend Saint Mary's. Being a member of the council has its perks.

Members spend time with College President Carol Ann Mooney at each semi-annual meeting and are kept well-informed of what is happening at the college. They are entitled to priority seating, parking and attendance of the brunch for the honorary degree recipients at Commencement, Dampeer said.

Many council members continue to participate in Saint Mary's through other means. Some go on to become members of the Board of Trustees.

In Dampeer's opinion, the Parents Council effectively achieves its purpose to "enrich student life," as stated on their Web site.

"I believe that they enrich student life by their work on the Student Affairs Committee to advise on issues that affect parents, by assisting us with our admission efforts, and by their fundraising efforts which always focus on something that a student wants," Dampeer said.

Contact Megan Loney at mloney01@saintmarys.edu

Dooley Society provides medical network, lectures

By MEGAN HEMLER
News Writer

For students considering a career as a medical professional, the Dr. Tom Dooley Society provides a broad range of resources for education, networking and mentoring, founder and Notre Dame graduate Dr. Matthew Hubbard said.

The organization was formed to bring Notre Dame alumni who have entered the medical and health professions and current students together, according to the Society's Web site. The Society works to promote continuing education, their mentoring program and service to others across the globe.

In addition to the alumni network, Hubbard said the group features a lecture series, sponsoring medical experts from a variety of practices every home football Saturday at 11 a.m. in Jordan Hall of Science.

"The lectures cover a range of issues, from service opportunities to medical school to medical ethics," Hubbard said. "The society is about 80 percent alumni, and the rest are students or professors who work here now who didn't graduate from Notre Dame themselves."

The Dooley Society runs a mentoring program, which allows students to shadow Notre Dame alumni in the medical field during their holiday breaks at home when students typically have fewer responsibilities and interruptions.

"Since the Dooley Society has members in all 50 states and over 1,000 physicians as members, a student who wants to learn more about medical practice can contact physicians in their hometown to learn more about what they do," Hubbard said.

And students do not have to be on medical school to contact the Society.

"That student doesn't have to be going to medical school in their future. Perhaps they're interested in research, so they can contact a physician who might then be able to point them to someone they know who does medical research," Hubbard said. "They can talk to the student and they might learn about someone who would be a mentor to them."

This week's lecture is entitled "Challenges in Medical Education — Professionalism and Accountability," featuring the CEO of the Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education, Dr. Thomas Nasca.

"For medical students, this is like being a varsity athlete and being mentored by the President of the NCAA," said Dr. Hubbard. "This is huge."

Students can register to become a member online at the Dooley Society Web site, www.dooleysociety.com. Students can also receive information regarding service opportunities with the Society.

Contact Megan Hemler at mhemler@nd.edu

A Prime Campus Housing Community
Deluxe Walk-to-Campus Student Apartments

State of the Art Brand New High Line Fitness Center and Community Club House
Free Tanning Beds
Private Balconies and Free Parking
Swimming Pool, Sun Deck, Hot Tub and Basketball Court
On Site Management and 24/7 Maintenance
On Site Security Officer

2 Bedroom Apartments & Townhouses
1 Bedroom Furnished Studios

574.272.8124
1710 Turtle Creek Drive
South Bend, IN
www.clovervillageapartments.com

574.272.1441
1801 Irish Way
South Bend, IN
www.cloverridgeapartments.com Founder
continued from page 1
Sorin College. Sorin’s devotion is evident in the name he gave to the other university he founded in addition to Notre Dame: St. Edward’s University in Austin, Texas. St. Edward’s University also celebrates St. Edward’s feast day on Oct. 13, although for them it is a patronal feast feast day on Oct. 13, although it is often referred to as Founder’s Day.

“The name he gave to the other university he founded in Austin, Texas, St. Edward’s University in Austin, Texas, St. Edward’s University also celebrates St. Edward’s feast day on Oct. 13, although for them it is a patronal feast feast day on Oct. 13, although it is often referred to as Founder’s Day.”

Carter
continued from page 1
many countries around the world, Streit said. The Center has a special interest in the eradication of lymphatic filariasis and malaria on the island of Hispaniola, which also includes Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

“We’re a worm parasite carried by mosquitoes,” Streit said. One and a half million Haitians affected by lymphatic filariasis, the disease that Streit is trying to eradicate, are infected with the disease in As straight.

“Who was this St. Edward?” Streit pondered. “He is the patron saint of the United States, the patron saint of the University of Notre Dame in Austin, Texas, the patron saint of the University of Notre Dame in Austin, Texas, the patron saint of the University of Notre Dame in Austin, Texas.”

In his homily, Haag emphasized the lessons that can be taken from the life of St. Edward, King and Confessor.

“We’ve kept some traditions and not others,” he said, drawing laughter from the crowd. Although the celebration has been scaled back over time, what has remained is the intention behind it remains the same.

“We hope to recapture the old spirit of Founder’s Day as a celebration with the University community, especially the students,” he said. “We’re glad we have this occasion to come together and celebrate.”

Contact Tess Civantos at tcvantos@nd.edu

START THINKING AHEAD.

START PLANNING YOUR FUTURE.

START FEELING INSPIRED.

START EXPANDING YOUR HORIZONS.

START STRONG.

There’s strong. There’s Army Strong. Enroll in the ROTC—Leader’s Training Course and be ready for life after Notre Dame. You’ll take on new challenges and learn valuable leadership skills. When you complete this 4-week summer experience, you could even receive a two-year scholarship. And after you graduate, you’ll be an officer in the U.S. Army.

To get started, contact Captain Joe Kosek at 574-631-4565 or jkosek1@nd.edu.

START TAKING ON CHALLENGES.

APPLICATIONS ARE STILL BEING ACCEPTED FOR THE 2010 SUMMER LEADER’S TRAINING COURSE.

YOU ATTEND A PAID LEADERSHIP INTERNSHIP AND MAY QUALIFY FOR A FULL TUTION SCHOLARSHIP!

START STRONG WITH NOTRE DAME ARMY ROTC.

The Observer ● CAMPUS NEWS

Wednesday, October 14, 2009

START STRONG.

There’s strong. There’s Army Strong. Enroll in the ROTC—Leader’s Training Course and be ready for life after Notre Dame. You’ll take on new challenges and learn valuable leadership skills. When you complete this 4-week summer experience, you could even receive a two-year scholarship. And after you graduate, you’ll be an officer in the U.S. Army.

To get started, contact Captain Joe Kosek at 574-631-4565 or jkosek1@nd.edu.

START TAKING ON CHALLENGES.

APPLICATIONS ARE STILL BEING ACCEPTED FOR THE 2010 SUMMER LEADER’S TRAINING COURSE.

YOU ATTEND A PAID LEADERSHIP INTERNSHIP AND MAY QUALIFY FOR A FULL TUTION SCHOLARSHIP!

START STRONG WITH NOTRE DAME ARMY ROTC.

The Observer ● CAMPUS NEWS

Wednesday, October 14, 2009

START STRONG.

There’s strong. There’s Army Strong. Enroll in the ROTC—Leader’s Training Course and be ready for life after Notre Dame. You’ll take on new challenges and learn valuable leadership skills. When you complete this 4-week summer experience, you could even receive a two-year scholarship. And after you graduate, you’ll be an officer in the U.S. Army.

To get started, contact Captain Joe Kosek at 574-631-4565 or jkosek1@nd.edu.

START TAKING ON CHALLENGES.

APPLICATIONS ARE STILL BEING ACCEPTED FOR THE 2010 SUMMER LEADER’S TRAINING COURSE.

YOU ATTEND A PAID LEADERSHIP INTERNSHIP AND MAY QUALIFY FOR A FULL TUTION SCHOLARSHIP!

START STRONG WITH NOTRE DAME ARMY ROTC.

The Observer ● CAMPUS NEWS

Wednesday, October 14, 2009

START STRONG.

There’s strong. There’s Army Strong. Enroll in the ROTC—Leader’s Training Course and be ready for life after Notre Dame. You’ll take on new challenges and learn valuable leadership skills. When you complete this 4-week summer experience, you could even receive a two-year scholarship. And after you graduate, you’ll be an officer in the U.S. Army.

To get started, contact Captain Joe Kosek at 574-631-4565 or jkosek1@nd.edu.

START TAKING ON CHALLENGES.

APPLICATIONS ARE STILL BEING ACCEPTED FOR THE 2010 SUMMER LEADER’S TRAINING COURSE.

YOU ATTEND A PAID LEADERSHIP INTERNSHIP AND MAY QUALIFY FOR A FULL TUTION SCHOLARSHIP!

START STRONG WITH NOTRE DAME ARMY ROTC.
INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Factions still can’t agree on president

TEGUCIGALPA — Honduras’ opposing factions will nearly even the odds of a pact to end the political crisis except the central issue: ousted President Manuel Zelaya’s return to office.

Negotiators said Zelaya’s camp has promised that if he returns to power, he will drop his efforts to change the Honduran constitution, an initiative that led to his June 28 ouster.

Juan Barahona, a Zelaya supporter who has led street protests against the coup, walked out of the talks Tuesday in protest of the agreement on the constitution. He vowed to continue fighting on his own even if Zelaya is restored to office.

Shootout with al-Qaida kills three HIYADH — A shootout Tuesday between Saudi security forces and al-Qaida militants — left two of the militants and a soldier dead, the Interior Ministry said.

Another soldier was lightly injured in the clash at a checkpoint in the south of the country, near the border with Yemen, said ministry spokesman Brig. Gen. Mansour al-Turki.

The shootout was the first known confrontation between authorities and al-Qaida since a suicide bomber injured Assistant Interior Minister Prince Mohammed bin Nafey in the western seaport of Jiddah on Aug. 27. The attacker was a member of the Yemen-based al-Qaida in the Arabian Peninsula.

NATIONAL NEWS

Miners heckle environmentalists

PIKEVILLE, Ky. — Thousands of coal minersfearing the loss of jobs if a bill to expand U.S. mining laws is curtailed shouted down a handful of environmentalists at a crowded public hearing Tuesday on the much-debated practice.

Many in Kentucky and West Virginia were hardhats and T-shirts and waved signs proclaiming the merit of coal. Environmentalists who have fought for decades to end the destructive form of mining that blasts away peaks to unearth coal showed up in small numbers.

Mining supporters in West Virginia heckled the witnesses outside the hearing room who testified in favor of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers proposal to eliminate or at least suspend a streamlined permitting process that allows surface mines in six Appalachian states. Hearings were also being held in Tennessee and are set for later this week in West Virginia and Virginia.

UCLA student charged in stabbing

LOS ANGELES — A UCLA student charged with stabbing a classmate’s neck during a chemistry lab brought a concealed, six-inch kitchen knife to the class and stabbed the woman five times, police said Tuesday.

Dunton Thompson, 20, pleaded not guilty to premeditated murder for the unprovoked attack on a female student standing next to him.

Los Angeles police Detective Alan Bebake said authorities were unable to determine a motive or whether the victim had been chosen at random. The woman, whose name was not released, was in good condition after spending time in intensive care.

LOCAL NEWS

Veteran kills self in move theater

MUNCIE, Ind. — The father of an Indiana student who shot himself inside a movie theater said Tuesday that the family of service members returning home from war is working to ease them for signs of stress.

Sergeant Jacob Sexton, 21, showed no signs of being suicidal before shooting himself in the head, the guardian’s father, Jeffrey Sexton of Farmstead, said.

“We just need to watch these boys and the girls coming back home. Something’s just not right. Too much is happening,” Jeffrey Sexton said.

The Associated Press in a telephone interview.

Congo

More than 1,000 killed since January

JOHANNESBURG More than 1,000 civilians have been killed and nearly 900,000 displaced in eastern Congo after a confrontation between Congolese government forces and a non-state militia, according to the United Nations.

A report released Tuesday by a coalition of 84 organizations said that many of the military clashes were carried out by Rwandan Hutu militias. Congolese government soldiers also have targeted civilians, the report said.

A Congolese military operation has been aimed at pushing out the Rwandan Hutu militias of many of whom sought refuge in neighboring Congo after participating in Rwanda’s 1994 genocide that killed more than 1 million Tutsi and moderate Hutu.

But the groups said Tuesday that the military operation, which is backed by a United Nations peacekeeping force, is not doing enough to protect civilians in the region.

“The human rights and humanitarian consequences of the current military operation are simply disastrous,” said Marcel Stoesssel of Oxfam.

The U.N. peacekeeping mission in Congo, known as MONUC, has backed the Congolese army in eastern Congo since March following a joint offensive with Rwandan troops against the Rwandan Hutu militia.

Health care bill clears committee

Obama calls vote a ‘critical milestone’ in battle for reform, praises Snowe, Baucus

WASHINGTON — Historic legislation to expand U.S. health care coverage and cut costs won its first Republican supporter Tuesday and cleared a key Senate hurdle, a double-barreled blow that will propel President Barack Obama’s signature issue toward votes this fall in both houses of Congress.

“Today history calls, history calls,” said Maine Republican Olympia Snowe, whose declaration of support ended weeks of suspense and provided the only drama of a 14-9 vote in the Senate Finance Committee. With her decision, the 62-year-old lawmaker bucked her own leadership on the most-high-profile issue of the year in Congress, and gave the drive to remake health care at least a hint of the bipartisanship that Obama seeks.

At the White House, Obama called the events “a critical milestone” toward remaking the nation’s health care system. He praised Snowe as well as Sen. Max Baucus, D-Mont., chairman of the committee, and declared, “We are going to get this done.”

There were fresh challenges. With a majority of the vote, labor unions and large business organizations both demanded changes in the bill, which was a result of a months-long, behind-the-scenes effort.

Still, nearly nine months after the president pledged in his Inaugural Address to tackle health care, legislation to expand coverage to millions who lack it has now advanced past a critical milestone.

President Bill Clinton’s ill-fated effort more than a decade ago — or any other of the many efforts that have targeted civilians, the report said.

Congo after participating in Rwanda’s 1994 genocide that killed more than 1 million Tutsi and moderate Hutu.

But the groups said Tuesday that the military operation, which is backed by a United Nations peacekeeping force, is not doing enough to protect civilians in the region.

“The human rights and humanitarian consequences of the current military operation are simply disastrous,” said Marcel Stoesssel of Oxfam.

The U.N. peacekeeping mission in Congo, known as MONUC, has backed the Congolese army in eastern Congo since March following a joint offensive with Rwandan troops against the Rwandan Hutu militia.

President Barack Obama speaks in the White House Rose Garden Tuesday after the Senate Finance Committee voted to approve a health care bill.

President Barack Obama speaks in the White House Rose Garden Tuesday after the Senate Finance Committee voted to approve a health care bill.
Doctors

continued from page 1

good thing that we are more sensitive to head injuries now than we were 20 or 20 years ago," University physician Dr. Rich Jacobs said. "Certainly there is a recognition that certain sports put you at a higher risk for dramatic brain injuries, now and in the past." Jacobs said concussions are common in high school sports played by many Notre Dame athletes, including soccer, lacrosse and football. Concussions are routinely checked for concussions on the sidelines, he said.

"On the very first play of the game against Washington, we had a player who was blind-sided," he said. "When he got up and walked to the sideline, he was going to be going to the opposite sideline. He was really not thinking clearly ... so he watched the rest of the game on the TV." Jacobs said before an athlete is cleared to return to play, they have to go through a series of symptoms of a concussion, such as nausea, dizziness, memory loss, fatigue, vision problems and headaches. Jacobs added that this year they have had four players that is especially valuable when the budget is strained when the campus community needs to be going to play, all the symptoms have faded.

Jacobs said the real danger with concussions is if they go untreated. If a player is put on a field after recently sustaining a concussion, he could be affected by a second impact syndrome.

According to an Aug. 25 New York Times article, at least four high school athletes have died after suffering head injuries on the field in the first two months of a second impact syndrome.

Moriarty said interest in sectional memory-related disordents of dementia. A recent New York Times article found Alzheimer's disease or similar memory-related disorders are at risk because of what they are at risk for concussions.

According to the article, the percentage of NFL players that have sustained one concus-

Moriarty said those players who sustain one concussion sometimes are at a greater risk for future, more serious concus-

People that have multiple concussions oftentimes will have a lower threshold for trauma that causes their subsequent concussions, "he said. "The other problem you see in a person that has had multiple concussions is they don't clear up.

Moriarty said he knew of two studies that differed on whether those who sustain one concussion are at an elevated risk. "The fear has been that once you have a concussion, you're going to get more and more and more, and that is possible but it is by no means certain," he said.

"If you continue to play high risk sports, then your chance of having a second concussion is pretty high, but that doesn't mean it comes from less and less trauma." Moriarty said one famous case he knew quite well was Florida quarterback Tim Tebow, who was knocked out of a game two weeks ago after sustaining a severe concussion. Tebow was examined by a former Notre Dame sports medicine fellow.

Many fans saw Tebow vomiting on the sidelines before he was taken to the locker room, and some members of the media are at a loss as to where Tebow is now. "I do know there is contact with a form er Notre Dame athletes that their careers have been put on hold," he said. "We are very much interested in these concussions in football to see how they can be better understood, and if they are able to come back and see if they're having difficulties." Moriarty said despite the vigi-

"There was an immediate improvement and lessening of head injuries after the antiscrapping rule was instituted in the 1970s," he said.

Both Moriarty and Jacobs said there is still a lot to learn about the long-term effects of con-

"We just kind of scratching the surface trying to figure out all there is to know," Jacobs said.

Contact Joseph McMahon at jnmcshah@nd.edu

SMC

continued from page 1

students to second-year students."

College President Carol Ann Mooney named an enrollment increase as a goal in her 2007 strategic plan. In an effort to strengthen diversity and stabillize the campus community financially. According to the plan, the College's operating budget for 2008-09 will increase by 1.5 percent of the normal rate in football probably.

Those effects resulted in a lot of new data in, for example, how many kids had symptoms of concussions during games, which is not the same thing as how many kids have concussion during a game," he said. "We know what the denominator is in terms of how many people play football or soccer. What we don't know is the number that truly have concussions.

Moriarty said the real impact of the study will be on the new NFL collective bargaining agreement, but the rate of concuss"

The increased interest in concussions can be attributed to the difficult to prevent because concussions are so difficult to diag-

"It is very difficult to define a concussion with any consistency across sit-stations of symptoms," Moriarty said. "There's a lot of effort to improve concussion... in people exhibiting unusual symptoms. So, where there is going to be a lot of confusion.

Moriarty said the difficulty in diagnosing a concussion has made gathering reliable data hard.

"These efforts resulted in a lot of when you return someone to competition. They have to go through a series of steps and you have to meet each of the goals along the way."

"A "shotgun statisti-"

Moriarty said despite the vigi-

"Everybody's different, so somebody might be able to take a bit hit better than someone else," Jacobs said.

Moriarty said the real impact a concussion or series of concussions can be serious. "It only takes one serious con-

"If you continue to play high risk sports, then your chance of having a second concussion is pretty high, but that doesn't mean it comes from less and less trauma." Moriarty said one famous case he knew quite well was Florida quarterback Tim Tebow, who was knocked out of a game two weeks ago after sustaining a severe concussion. Tebow was examined by a former Notre Dame sports medicine fellow.

Many fans saw Tebow vomiting on the sidelines before he was taken to the locker room, and some members of the media are at a loss as to where Tebow is now. "I do know there is contact with a form er Notre Dame athletes that their careers have been put on hold," he said. "We are very much interested in these concussions in football to see how they can be better understood, and if they are able to come back and see if they're having difficulties." Moriarty said despite the vigi-

"There was an immediate improvement and lessening of head injuries after the antiscrapping rule was instituted in the 1970s," he said.

Both Moriarty and Jacobs said there is still a lot to learn about the long-term effects of con-

"We just kind of scratching the surface trying to figure out all there is to know," Jacobs said.

Contact Joseph McMahon at jnmcshah@nd.edu

Meet the On-Site Director of the Dublin Program
Kevin Whelan and
the Assistant Director, Lisa Caulfield

at a meeting for Returnees, SP’10 Participants and students interested in applying

Thursday, October 15, 2009
6:00 pm
Room 131 DeBartolo Hall

Contact Ashley Charnley at acharnley@nd.edu

The Observer • CAMPUS NEWS
Wednesday, October 14, 2009

Doctors

continued from page 1

good thing that we are more sensitive to head injuries now than we were 20 or 20 years ago," University physician Dr. Rich Jacobs said. "Certainly there is a recognition that certain sports put you at a higher risk for dramatic brain injuries, now and in the past." Jacobs said concussions are common in high school sports played by many Notre Dame athletes, including soccer, lacrosse and football. Concussions are routinely checked for concussions on the sidelines, he said.

"On the very first play of the game against Washington, we had a player who was blind-sided," he said. "When he got up and walked to the sideline, he was going to be going to the opposite sideline. He was really not thinking clearly ... so he watched the rest of the game on the TV." Jacobs said before an athlete is cleared to return to play, they have to go through a series of symptoms of a concussion, such as nausea, dizziness, memory loss, fatigue, vision problems and headaches. Jacobs added that this year they have had four players that

Moriarty said the real impact of the study will be on the new NFL collective bargaining agreement, but the rate of concussions among even high school football players has been high.

"There's about 1.5 million kids that play football in high school. They think that the incidence of concussion is much lower somewhere in between 10 and 20 percent, but we can do the math — there are a lot of concussions.

Moriarty said the real danger with concussions is if they go untreated. If a player is put on a field after recently sustaining a concussion, he could be affected by a second impact syndrome.

According to an Aug. 25 New York Times report, at least four high school athletes have died after suffering head injuries on the field in the first two months of a second impact syndrome.

Moriarty said interest in sectional memory-related disordents of dementia. A recent New York Times article found Alzheimer's disease or similar memory-related disordors are at risk because of what they are at risk for concussions.

According to the article, the percentage of NFL players that have sustained one concus-

Moriarty said those players who sustain one concussion sometimes are at a greater risk for future, more serious concus-

People that have multiple concussions oftentimes will have a lower threshold for trauma that causes their subsequent concussions, "he said. "The other problem you see in a person that has had multiple concussions is they don't clear up.

Moriarty said he knew of two studies that differed on whether those who sustain one concussion are at an elevated risk. "The fear has been that once you have a concussion, you're going to get more and more and more, and that is possible but it is by no means certain," he said.

"If you continue to play high risk sports, then your chance of having a second concussion is pretty high, but that doesn't mean it comes from less and less trauma." Moriarty said one famous case he knew quite well was Florida quarterback Tim Tebow, who was knocked out of a game two weeks ago after sustaining a severe concussion. Tebow was examined by a former Notre Dame sports medicine fellow.

Many fans saw Tebow vomit-
ing on the sidelines before he was taken to the locker room, and some members of the media are at a loss as to where Tebow is now. "I do know there is contact with a form er Notre Dame athletes that their careers have been put on hold," he said. "We are very much interested in these concussions in football to see how they can be better understood, and if they are able to come back and see if they're having difficulties." Moriarty said despite the vigi-

"There was an immediate improvement and lessening of head injuries after the antiscrapping rule was instituted in the 1970s," he said.

Both Moriarty and Jacobs said there is still a lot to learn about the long-term effects of con-

"We just kind of scratching the surface trying to figure out all there is to know," Jacobs said.

Contact Joseph McMahon at jnmcshah@nd.edu

Meet the On-Site Director of the Dublin Program
Kevin Whelan and
the Assistant Director, Lisa Caulfield

at a meeting for Returnees, SP’10 Participants and students interested in applying

Thursday, October 15, 2009
6:00 pm
Room 131 DeBartolo Hall

Contact Ashley Charnley at acharnley@nd.edu
MARKET Recap

Dow Jones

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Up</th>
<th>Same</th>
<th>Down</th>
<th>Composite Volume:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1,603</td>
<td>2,102</td>
<td>2,102</td>
<td>781,046,821</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

AMEX

1,821.65 +6.68

NASDAQ

2,139.89 +4.75

NYSE

7,031.87 +19.29

S&P 500

1,073.19 –3.00

NIKKEI (Tokyo)

97,076.55 +0.00

FTSE 100 (London)

5,154.15 +0.02

---

Treasuries

10-YEAR NOTE

–2.05 –0.070 3.31

13-WEEK BILL

0.00 0.00 0.06

30-YEAR BOND

–1.77 –0.075 4.15

5-YEAR NOTE

–3.71 –0.087 2.20

---

Commodities

Light crude (NY Merc)

–6.88 74.15

Gold (NY Merc)

–75.00 1,065.00

Pork belly (NY Merc)

–2.15 82.75

---

Exchange Rates

Yen

89.6590

Euro

1.4853

Canadian dollar

1.0336

British pound

1.5191

---

IN BRIEF

Ritter: Colorado is model for energy

DENVER — Colorado Gov. Bill Ritter says his state's efforts to build a new energy economy can provide a model for addressing climate change and other challenges facing the country and world.

Ritter spoke Tuesday on the last day of the Annual American Association of Public Oil and Gas conference in Denver. Subscribers to the "peak oil" theory say the world is at or near its maximum oil production and that demand will soon eclipse supply levels.

Ritter says Colorado's promotion of clean energy technology has paid off in creation of jobs and one of the best research and development corridors in the country. He says renewable energy sources as well as natural gas are part of the energy future.

Bank of America to charge annual fees

NEW YORK — Bank of America Corp. said Tuesday it will charge a limited number of its credit card customers annual fees ranging from $29 to $99 starting next year.

Bank of America, which carries nearly a decade. Investors are worried about "nearly a decade.

Intraday Stock Activity

The New York Stock Exchange

Tuesday, August 20, 2008

---

Traders work on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange Tuesday, August 20, 2008.

---

FEDERAL RESERVE

---

INVESTORS CAUTION JOHNSON & JOHNSON EARNINGS BELOW EXPECTATIONS

NEW YORK — Investors grew cautious Tuesday after quarterly sales at Johnson & Johnson fell short of expectations and an influential analyst urged worries that bank shares are overvalued.

Most stocks posted modest losses, a day after major indexes finished at or near their highest levels in a year. The Dow Jones industrial average slipped 15 points, though the Nasdaq composite index edged higher.

Stocks could get a bounce Wednesday from Intel Corp., which posted earnings and sales above the closing bell that topped expectations. The leading chip maker also said business is improving. The stock rose 4 percent in after-hours trading.

The market could also get a lift from comments by CSX Corp. Chief Michael J. Ward, who said the worst of the recession "is likely behind us" as the major rail operator reported quarterly results after the bell. Still looming ahead is the first earnings report from a major bank.

Wednesday, JP Morgan put in a strong report, as the company has to internalize demand from consumers and companies.

The modest scale of the week's slide suggested that investors are afraid of walking away from a market that has spent little time in reverse since bouncing off 12-year lows seven months ago.

Earnings reports are likely to continue to shape the market's sentiment for the rest of this week.

The market only makes as the Senate Finance Committee approved a version of the health care overhaul bill.

There were some pockets of green on trading screens. Underwriters to the "peak oil" theory say the world is at or near its maximum oil production and that demand will soon eclipse supply levels.

---

Intraday Stock Activity

The New York Stock Exchange

Tuesday, August 20, 2008

---

FEDERAL RESERVE

---

INVESTORS CAUTION JOHNSON & JOHNSON EARNINGS BELOW EXPECTATIONS

NEW YORK — Investors grew cautious Tuesday after quarterly sales at Johnson & Johnson fell short of expectations and an influential analyst urged worries that bank shares are overvalued.

Most stocks posted modest losses, a day after major indexes finished at or near their highest levels in a year. The Dow Jones industrial average slipped 15 points, though the Nasdaq composite index edged higher.

Stocks could get a bounce Wednesday from Intel Corp., which posted earnings and sales above the closing bell that topped expectations. The leading chip maker also said business is improving. The stock rose 4 percent in after-hours trading.

The market could also get a lift from comments by CSX Corp. Chief Michael J. Ward, who said the worst of the recession "is likely behind us" as the major rail operator reported quarterly results after the bell. Still looming ahead is the first earnings report from a major bank.

Wednesday, JP Morgan put in a strong report, as the company has to internalize demand from consumers and companies.

The modest scale of the week's slide suggested that investors are afraid of walking away from a market that has spent little time in reverse since bouncing off 12-year lows seven months ago.

Earnings reports are likely to continue to shape the market's sentiment for the rest of this week.

The market only makes sense at these levels if earnings can grow at a decent pace," said Jerry Weinman, chief economist at Oppenheimer Funds Inc. "What we're hearing now is OK, but you don't get long-term earnings growth out of cost cutting.

The Dow fell 14.74, or 0.2 percent, to 9,871.06. On Monday, it came within 69 points of the psychological barrier of 10,000, a level not seen in a year.

The Standard & Poor's 500 index fell 3.00, or 0.3 percent, to 1,073.19, its first loss after six days of gains. The Nasdaq rose 0.75, or less than 0.1 percent, to 2,139.89.

Linda Duessel, equity market strategist at TIAA-CREF, said stocks could drift after the strong rally. "I don't know if we have to pull back so much as take a break," she said.

Investors have sent stocks higher in recent days on hopes that third-quarter earnings reports will signal that the economy is improving.

Goldman Sachs, Citigroup Inc. and Bank of America Corp. also report this week.

Howard Ward, portfolio manager for GAMCO Growth Fund in Rye, N.Y., said investors are likely to lock in some profits following a rally that propelled the S&P 500 index up 58 percent since March and that future gains will be more modest.

---

Intel's profits fall, but its stock jumps

SAN FRANCISCO — Intel Corp.'s third-quarter numbers show the company is getting better at doing more with less in the toughest stretch for the personal computer industry in nearly a decade.

The world's No. 1 microprocessor maker said Tuesday that profit and sales fell 8 percent in the July-September period, as the company was hurt by sluggish demand from businesses and lower prices for its chips. Intel has insisted things are improving, however, and offered better-than-expected guidance for the fourth quarter, sending its shares up 2.3 percent.

As the first major technology company to report third-quarter earnings, Intel's numbers will lend insight into the strength or weakness of PC makers' demand for new chips. What the figures don't necessarily show, though, is whether PC companies are stockpiling on chips to replenish low supplies, or whether they expect especially brisk sales of computers. That will begin to play out in the coming weeks, as the holiday season gets under way and a new edition of Windows comes out Oct. 22.

Intel's chief financial officer, Stacy Smith, said demand from consumers for PCs has been strong, but spending by corporations remained weak. He said Intel doesn't expect business spending on PCs to pick up again until next year.

Intel said after the market closed that its net income was $1 billion, or 33 cents per share. Analysts expected 28 cents per share, according to a poll by Thomson Reuters. Last year, Intel's profit was $2.0 billion, or 35 cents a share, in the year-ago period.

Sales were $19.4 billion, better than Wall Street's forecast of $19.0 billion. Intel had bumped up Wall Street's expectations twice. The first time was in August, when it raised its guidance, and the second was last month, when its CEO, Paul Otellini, predicted that PC sales could defy predictions by growing in 2009, which would avert the first sales decline from the prior year since 2001.

Still, the company's latest numbers show the recession continues to take a toll, even as Intel gains more skilled at wringing out more business of its own.
COR

continued from page 1

ni of the Hall saying we had 100 tickets to the game and to please join us," she said. "We were expecting over 100 alumni to attend.

A major component that went into planning the celebration was collecting history and reflections from members of the Walsh Hall community, Mirshak said. "Walsh Hall was the first women's dorm, in 1972, which was the first year of co-education at the University," she said.

Included in the weekends events and decorations were posters marking important events in Walsh Hall's history, a poster with pictures of notable alumni and a 20-minute documentary of past and current Walsh residents.

"We put together a documentary with reflections from both male and female alumni, Froseven, a high school current residents," Mirshak said. "They spoke of their experiences, funny stories, current traditions, the spirit of the hall and the community."}

Anti-mormon backlash like racism during 50s, 60s

Associated Press

The anti-Mormon backlash after California voters overturned gay marriage last fall is similar to the intimidation of Southern blacks during the civil rights movement, a high-ranking Mormon said Tuesday.

Elder Dallin H. Oaks, referred to gay marriage as an "alleged civil right" in an address at Brigham Young University-Idaho that church officials described as a significant commentary on current threats to religious freedom. Oaks suggested that atheists and others are seeking to intimidate people of faith and silence their voices in the public square, according to his prepared remarks.

"The extent and nature of religious devotion in this nation is changing," said Oaks, a member of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles, a church governing body. "The tide of public opinion in favor of religion is receding, and this probably portends public pressure for laws that will intimidate religious freedom.

Oaks' address comes as gay-rights activists mount a legal challenge to Proposition 8, the ballot measure that overturned gay marriage in California. His comments about civil rights and religion come as he considers who the struggle to enact same-sex marriage laws as a major civil rights cause.

"Black were lynched and beaten and denied the right to vote by their government," said Marc Solomon, marriage director for Equality California, which spearheaded the No on 8 campaign. "To compare that to criticism of the Mormon church is illogical. Those who consider the struggle to end same-sex marriage as a major civil rights cause.

"There are civil rights involved in this — the right to speak your mind, to participate in the election," said Oaks. "But you don't have a civil right to win an election or retaliate against those who prevail.

"There is a civil rights issue involved in this — the right to speak your mind, to participate in the election," said Oaks. "But we don't have a civil right to win an election or retaliate against those who prevail.

"We put together a documentary with reflections from both male and female alumni, Froseven, a high school current residents," Mirshak said. "They spoke of their experiences, funny stories, current traditions, the spirit of the hall and the community."
Board likely to tweak zero-tolerance rule
Boy, 6, will probably get reprieve after he brought camping utensil to school

Associated Press

NEWARK, Del. — A Delaware first-grader suspended for bringing his favorite camping utensil to school will likely get a reprieve, a school board member said Tuesday.

Zachary Christie, 6, was ordered to spend 45 days in his district's alternative school for troublemakers after he brought a combination folding fork, knife and saw to eat his lunch.

"I agree that they shouldn't bring dangerous weapons to school but I don't think the punishment should be this bad," Zachary said in an interview on CBS' "Early Show" that he understands weapons don't belong in school.

"I agree that they shouldn't bring dangerous weapons to school but I don’t think the punishment should be this bad," Zachary said. "It's not fair."

Zachary is being homeschooled for the school year.

"We're continuing to work towards making a code of conduct that does not allow us to have the flexibility that we need," Lapham said.

Debbie Christie, Zachary's mother, and Lee Irving, his principal, requested the school board meet to discuss the suspension.

That change was recommended by the district discipline director, Sharon Denney, who had been studying possible changes to the code of conduct before the incident, said Wendy Lapham, a spokesperson for the school district.

"Zachary is a combination of innocence and anger," Lapham said.

"We are continuing to work towards making a code of conduct that does not allow us to have the flexibility that we need," Lapham said.

Debbie Christie declined an interview request from The AP, writing in an e-mail that "the family is exhausted."

"I agree that they shouldn't bring dangerous weapons to school but I don’t think the punishment should be this bad," Zachary said. "It's not fair."

Debbie Christie told The Associated Press she was happy that her son's suspension reversed but they did not immediately speak with the utensil.

"I agree that they shouldn't bring dangerous weapons to school but I don’t think the punishment should be this bad," Zachary said in an interview. "It's not fair."

Debbie Christie declined an interview request from The AP, writing in an e-mail that "the family is exhausted."

The school board voted to reverse Zachary's suspension on Tuesday night at a meeting. The board did not immediately speak with the utensil.

Hundreds of people were expected to attend a school board meeting Tuesday night at which member John MacKenzie said the policy would likely be amended. Any change would be retroactive to the beginning of the school year.

"The policy, of course, needs some additional flexibility," MacKenzie told The Associated Press. "Politically, zero tolerance is what everybody clamors for, but we start to realize how harmful zero tolerance can be.

The school district announced Tuesday afternoon that the seven-member board would consider a narrow change that would affect only kindergartners and first-and-graders and allow for three- to five-day suspensions, rather than expelling hammerpunishments.

"I agree that they shouldn't bring dangerous weapons to school but I don’t think the punishment should be this bad," Zachary said. "It's not fair."

Zachary is being homeschooled for the school year.

"When that common sense is missing, it sends a message of inconsistency to students, which actually creates a less safe environment," said Kenneth S. Trump, president of National School Safety and Security Services, a consulting firm.

"People have to understand that assessing on a case-by-case basis doesn't automatically equate to being soft or unfair."

U.S. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton joined Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov, unseen, in a news conference Tuesday.

Associated Press

MOSCOW — Russia publicly pushed back Tuesday against U.S. efforts to threaten new sanctions if Iran fails to prove its nuclear program is peaceful, dealing an apparent setback to President Barack Obama's hopes for Moscow's backing for fresh penalties against Tehran.

Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov said Moscow believed such threats were "counterproductive" and that only negotiations should be pursued now. Just last month, Russian President Dmitry Medvedev had said that sanctions are rarely productive but "in some cases they are inevitable," a statement the U.S. hailed as a shift of opinion in Moscow.

Lavrov, at a joint news conference Tuesday with Secretary of State Hillary Rodham Clinton, said diplomacy "still has chances to succeed.

"At the current stage, all efforts should be thrown at supporting the negotiating process," Lavrov said. "Threats, sanctions and threats of pressure in the current situation, we are convinced, would be counterproductive."

Clinton, on her first visit to Moscow as secretary of state, had been hoping for an overt signal from Russia that it will consider new sanctions if Iran refuses to come clean about its nuclear intentions.

Instead, Lavrov's comment exposed a tactical rift between the United States and Russia in which Washington is pushing diplomatic engagement backed by the threat of U.N. sanctions, while Moscow wants to discuss only negotiations.

Russia has balked at sanctions, however, and had made clear indications that its opposition might be softeningsage after Tehran last month disclosed a previously secret uranium enrichment site near the holy city of Qom. U.S.-Russian relations also improved after Obama dropped Bush administration plans for a missile defense system based for eastern Europe that Russia had fiercely opposed.

Lavrov said Medvedev's statement about sanctions last month meant that penalties would be considered only when all political and diplomatic efforts are exhausted.

Three senior American officials said later that Medvedev had reaffirmed his earlier statement in a private meeting with Clinton at his home outside Moscow.

They denied there was any "daylight" between the U.S. and Russian positions but could not explain Lavrov's "counterproductive" remark. They allowed that the comment had taken them aback but said that Medvedev had not repeated it. The officials spoke on condition of anonymity to describe the private diplomatic discussions.

The U.S. believes it is critical to get tangible signs of support from Moscow for at least considering new sanctions because the more united they are, the more likely pressure on Iran is to work.

At the news conference, Clinton said she had not sought Moscow's support for actually imposing sanctions and did not believe it was time to do so.

But she also said it was critical to let Iran know what will happen should it continue to rebuff the nuclear demands.

"We have always looked at the potential of sanctions in the event we are not successful and cannot assure ourselves and others that Iran has decided not to pursue nuclear weapons," Clinton said.

Lavrov has made pledges to take small steps that if fulfilled would serve as confidence-building measures. They include opening up a recently disclosed uranium enrichment plant to U.N. inspectors and sending existing stocks of low enriched uranium to Russia for reprocessing.

No Matter Where You Are...

We offer a variety of ways for you to access your accounts and your money, including FREE Internet Home Banking.
FREE Mobile Banking, and more than 32,000
Surcharge-Free ATMs nationwide.

Plus, coming soon:
FREE Text Message Banking.

www.ndfcu.org
574/631-8222

INDEPENDENT OF THE UNIVERSITY
Look in the mirror next chance you get. Then, look around the room and take note of everything you can. Think about how it got there. Have you ever stopped and wondered how your life got to this exact point?

The premise is that a butterfly flaps its wings in China can cause a tornado in America (or something similar to that). It has been studied by philosophers and mathematicians around the world. It was even the premise of a bad Ashton Kutcher movie. And regardless of its accuracy for lack thereof), it raises an interesting discussion. Life really is all about the little things.

Sure, we have all had our life changing moment, big, monotonous occasions packed with a lot of pressure and emotion and the knowledge that our lives will never be the same, regardless of the outcome. For a lot of us, they came in the form of big sporting events, concerts or tough decisions about the future. However, for these, we knew full well going into those decisions what their effect was going to be. Sometimes, though, life throws us a curveball when we aren’t looking for it. Things that would seem to be inconsequential actually have had a bigger impact on our lives then we could have ever imagined at the time.

So I looked in the mirror and thought long and hard this weekend (25 hours on a bus to and from New York will do that to you) about how it got there. Have you ever heard about the butterfly effect.

Then, look around the room and take note of everything you can. Think about how it got there. Have you ever stopped and wondered how your life got to this exact point?

Andy Ziccarelli

Moments of Inertia

What if?

Look in the mirror next chance you get. Then, look around the room and take note of everything you can. Think about how it got there. Have you ever stopped and wondered how your life got to this exact point?

The premise is that a butterfly flaps its wings in China can cause a tornado in America (or something similar to that). It has been studied by philosophers and mathematicians around the world. It was even the premise of a bad Ashton Kutcher movie. And regardless of its accuracy for lack thereof), it raises an interesting discussion. Life really is all about the little things.

Sure, we have all had our life changing moment, big, monotonous occasions packed with a lot of pressure and emotion and the knowledge that our lives will never be the same, regardless of the outcome. For a lot of us, they came in the form of big sporting events, concerts or tough decisions about the future. However, for these, we knew full well going into those decisions what their effect was going to be. Sometimes, though, life throws us a curveball when we aren’t looking for it. Things that would seem to be inconsequential actually have had a bigger impact on our lives then we could have ever imagined at the time.

So I looked in the mirror and thought long and hard this weekend (25 hours on a bus to and from New York will do that to you) about how it got there. Have you ever heard about the butterfly effect.

Then, look around the room and take note of everything you can. Think about how it got there. Have you ever stopped and wondered how your life got to this exact point?

Andy Ziccarelli

Moments of Inertia

What if?

Look in the mirror next chance you get. Then, look around the room and take note of everything you can. Think about how it got there. Have you ever stopped and wondered how your life got to this exact point?

The premise is that a butterfly flaps its wings in China can cause a tornado in America (or something similar to that). It has been studied by philosophers and mathematicians around the world. It was even the premise of a bad Ashton Kutcher movie. And regardless of its accuracy for lack thereof), it raises an interesting discussion. Life really is all about the little things.

Sure, we have all had our life changing moment, big, monotonous occasions packed with a lot of pressure and emotion and the knowledge that our lives will never be the same, regardless of the outcome. For a lot of us, they came in the form of big sporting events, concerts or tough decisions about the future. However, for these, we knew full well going into those decisions what their effect was going to be. Sometimes, though, life throws us a curveball when we aren’t looking for it. Things that would seem to be inconsequential actually have had a bigger impact on our lives then we could have ever imagined at the time.

So I looked in the mirror and thought long and hard this weekend (25 hours on a bus to and from New York will do that to you) about how it got there. Have you ever heard about the butterfly effect.

Then, look around the room and take note of everything you can. Think about how it got there. Have you ever stopped and wondered how your life got to this exact point?

Andy Ziccarelli

Moments of Inertia

What if?
NOT a good policy for military, why here?

If people can stand one more response to “Don’t ask, don’t tell” (Oct. 11) I would interject the following comment from life experience:

Mr. Mullen suggested that Notre Dame adopt the “don’t ask, don’t tell” policy from the military. He does not go on to explain if that policy is of a benefit to the military.

I would offer that there is not a good policy at all. After almost a decade in uniform, I consider the policy to be one of the most shameful ever enacted. Having served in ground, sea and aviation units, I can attest that the homosexuals I served with were the bravest, most patriotic and competent service members I ever met. Asking them to conceal their sexual orientation in a way that heterosexualsexuals do not have to is a knife in the back to the gay men and women who volunteer to protect America and who may ultimately die in that effort.

If Notre Dame is to look to the policies of other organizations as Mr. Mullen suggests that they should, I recommend not looking to a policy that denies dignity to so many of our fighting men and women and inhibits recruitment of so many other talented individuals.

The “don’t ask, don’t tell” policy denigrates every gay American service member that his given his or her life in battle.

I can attest that the homosexuals I served with were the bravest, most patriotic and competent service members I ever met. I can attest that the homosexuals I served with were the bravest, most patriotic and competent service members I ever met. The bravest, most patriotic and competent service members I ever met. The bravest, most patriotic and competent service members I ever met. The bravest, most patriotic and competent service members I ever met.

Clearly, the demonstration did provide some intellectual stimulation. If Mr. Mullen would not have had anything to write about.

Joseph McMahon has accused Notre Dame Right to Life of the Cemetery of the Innocents of having little value because it is not intellectual (“Crossed out,” Oct. 12). However, he fails to understand the purpose of the demonstration. Our main goal is not just “to convert pro-choicecker on campus … to encourage them to consider a different point of view.” Our goal is not just to provide intellectual stimulation. Our goal is to stand for the truth.

During the civil rights movement, sit-ins, marches and protests were not staged in the name of intellectual stimulation. They were staged in the name of justice.

We did not set up the cemetery because it is intellectually stimulating. We set it up in the name of justice. We are not Sophists. We are Catholics. It is who we are. We are a voice for the voiceless. We are a voice for the voiceless. We are a voice for the voiceless. We are a voice for the voiceless. We are a voice for the voiceless.
You would have to live under a rock to not know the importance of this Saturday’s football game against USC. Students and alumni are ready to build up the excitement and energy that the football team and this campus needs.

The most important thing everyone can do is participate in the “Green Out” at Saturday’s game. Students and alums are organizing efforts to inform all those attending to wear kelly green attire.

They are using NDNation.com message boards and various Facebook groups, such as “Sea of Green” and “GO IRISH! Kill Southern Cal!” At this point, there are more than 3,000 members of these groups. Notre Dame Stadium holds more than 80,000 people, so it is up to students to spread the word quickly.

It is quite obvious that a “Sea of Green” is much more impressive and representative of Notre Dame than the “Sea of Flesh” that is created by wearing The Shirt. The Shirt’s bland, beige color blends into the stands. We want to look united in our support of the team, both to opponents and on television. The easiest way to do this is for everyone to wear the same color. Green is the color of the Fighting Irish and stands out like beige never could.

The significance of this game should be acknowledged by the student body, alumni and fans attending. Deviation from the standard beige of The Shirt will represent the recognition that we truly know this game is different from the norm. If you are one of the few opposing the “Green Out,” consider this: we have lost to USC in seven straight games, so we might as well try something different.

While there is no sponsored program to give away green shirts, there are plenty of options available for finding something to wear. Like any typical day in October in South Bend, Saturday is predicted to be cold and cloudy. Fans can still wear a green shirt over their layers.

The largest event underway, but there are many other initiatives taking place this week. Some students are using their print quotas to print posters stating “Kill Southern Cal” and “Beat SC” that they will post in their dorms and around campus. Another group of students from the Classics Department is attempting to build a Trojan horse. This was last done in the historic 1977 defeat of USC, when Notre Dame wore the famous green jerseys for the first time in 14 years.

The Facebook groups previously mentioned are encouraging students to meet the USC players when they arrive Friday. The idea is to greet them with an intimidating silence, so they realize just how much they are not welcome here. One of the best talked about ideas is to have the entire stadium, or at least the student body, turn their backs in silence when USC runs out of the tunnel. The silence will speak much louder than boos, which oftentimes motivate the other team.

On Friday night, there will be a special “Call to Arms” drum circle at the Main Building with guest appearances. A special pep rally is being worked on, as many students have not been satisfied with the ones on Irish Green this year and feel that this game deserves a raucous pep rally.

All of these plans are great ideas for getting the campus pumped up for Saturday’s game. However, they can only be successful if everyone gets involved and is passionate about implementing them. Spread the word about the “Green Out,” and give USC a Fighting Irish student body they can fear.

Contact Brandy Cerne at hecerne@nd.edu.

The views expressed in this column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.
Emerald attire for gameday and everyday

By KATHERINE GREENSPON
Scene Writer

Everyone is going green some way or another so why not embrace it and express it through the newest clothing styles? Colors like black and white with hints of green have always been considered "safe" and timeless, but it is time for women to embrace the color of our earth.

With fall's arrival and winter around the corner, we can experiment with many clothes selections. Taking advantage of the vibrant and generous colors of green would be an excellent start. Cold weather is something we all have become extremely familiar with and having green, blue and gold as our school colors is a blessing in disguise. Our Own Fighting Irish leprechaun does an amazing job utilizing the colors in his wardrobe so you should have no problem with this.

The Hammes Notre Dame bookstore is the mecca of shopping for everything Irish green, but people heading to department stores are picking up new must-haves that are displayed in every store.

Walking through the many sections, you will find green accessories that are overwhelming shoppers and people heading to department stores are picking up new must-haves that are displayed in every store.

Multitude of designers including Betsey Johnson's jewelry collection, V i v i e n n e W e s t w o o d's anglomania collection and D a n i e l l e 's Force of Nature collection. Green is such a versatile color because you can mix in and match to suit your style. This fall season is perfect for wearing green and playing with what you already have. Dressy with a few Rice, and wearing your own Fighting Irish leprechaun spirit.

Our own Fighting Irish leprechaun does an amazing job utilizing the vibrant and generous color of green. Taking advantage of the many variations that "green" has adopted. Jade, mint and olive greens are a fall fashion feature that can be incorporated in a student's wardrobe easily. Jade has become a popular jewelry accessory amongst the young women on campus. For men especially, those who are red-headed look amazing in strong emeralds and forest greens that make the eyes pop and the women do a double-take. Green is a universal color that can be dressed up and dressed down. Many shades of green have been the inspiration for several fashion designers including Betsey Johnson's jewelry collection, Vivienne Westwood's anglomania collection and Danielle's Force of Nature collection. Green is such a versatile color because you can mix it up and match it with every style. It, Rachel Lauren and Tommy Hilfiger also have a predominating aspect of sea foam greens and light pastel colors in men's button ups and slacks that can be mixed in a casual or formal setting. Jade can make clothing look more elegant with a few easy additions like shoes and earrings. Having a versatile one color, one key. Fall is also the season of ND football, which gives people the opportunity to dress out in their favorite colors and creative displays of greens. Women who are on the search for new ways to wear green might want to look into fun new nail polish shades, scarves, unique earrings and cozy but still fashionable coats that at Forever 21 and TJ Maxx, where prices are affordable. For the men in the crowd, Old Navy and H&M are also excellent stores to find great jackets, sweaters and scarves that incorporate the color green in patterns and main clothing pieces.

Green is the color of nature and our closet so wearing it will evoke solitude and sensitivity everywhere you go. Today wearing green is not only a fashion statement but a way to help the earth. Numerous fashion houses have surfaced this year that offer recycled and organic clothing. Target offers this alternative, and numerous Web sites give people new ideas and options of clothing that can not only boost you the earth as well. One Web site in particular that does this is eco-chick.com, which promotes organic and eco-friendly makes things, jeans, jewelry, hair appliances and skin care.

Fall and winter are cold seasons but fashionable ones. Don't let the gloomy and dark skies effect the way you express yourself through your clothes. Whether you are a man or a woman think of the cold weather as an excuse to wear even more clothes! Layering and playing with what you already have in your closet is a great way to start. You can look exceptional in original and amazing footwear. This Saturday's game against USC is a perfect opportunity to flaunt your green. Green is a powerful color and with the big green-out coming up there should be no excuses. Let the color green be your guide this fashion season when picking out everything from boots to bouquets.

Contact Katherine Greenspon at kgreen01@nd.edu

Dining Hall Dish

By ELIZABETH CHATEN
Scene Writer

This week's Dining Hall Dish features two of favorite pasta standbys, as well as a crowd-pleasing dessert. Simple and easy-to-make, these dining hall classics can easily be concocted in a few minutes.

Chicken Parmesan
Four hundred years ago, chefs in Bologna topped sauteed chicken breast with red sauce, cheese and the dish quickly grew in popularity and spread to Pram, where they took away the ham and replaced it with veal parmigiana. The dish grew further in popularity and express it through the newest clothing styles? Colors like black and white with hints of green have always been considered "safe" and timeless, but it is time for women to embrace the color of our earth.

With fall's arrival and winter around the corner, we can experiment with many clothes selections. Taking advantage of the vibrant and generous colors of green would be an excellent start. Cold weather is something we all have become extremely familiar with and having green, blue and gold as our school colors is a blessing in disguise. Our Own Fighting Irish leprechaun does an amazing job utilizing the colors in his wardrobe so you should have no problem with this.

The Hammes Notre Dame bookstore is the mecca of shopping for everything Irish green, but people heading to department stores are picking up new must-haves that are displayed in every store.

Walking through the many sections, you will find green accessories that are overwhelming shoppers and people heading to department stores are picking up new must-haves that are displayed in every store.

Multitude of designers including Betsey Johnson's jewelry collection, Vivienne Westwood's anglomania collection and Danielle's Force of Nature collection. Green is such a versatile color because you can mix it up and match it with every style. It, Rachel Lauren and Tommy Hilfiger also have a predominating aspect of sea foam greens and light pastel colors in men's button ups and slacks that can be mixed in a casual or formal setting. Jade can make clothing look more elegant with a few easy additions like shoes and earrings. Having a versatile one color, one key. Fall is also the season of ND football, which gives people the opportunity to dress out in their favorite colors and creative displays of greens. Women who are on the search for new ways to wear green might want to look into fun new nail polish shades, scarves, unique earrings and cozy but still fashionable coats that at Forever 21 and TJ Maxx, where prices are affordable. For the men in the crowd, Old Navy and H&M are also excellent stores to find great jackets, sweaters and scarves that incorporate the color green in patterns and main clothing pieces.

Green is the color of nature and our closet so wearing it will evoke solitude and sensitivity everywhere you go. Today wearing green is not only a fashion statement but a way to help the earth. Numerous fashion houses have surfaced this year that offer recycled and organic clothing. Target offers this alternative, and numerous Web sites give people new ideas and options of clothing that can not only boost you the earth as well. One Web site in particular that does this is eco-chick.com, which promotes organic and eco-friendly makes things, jeans, jewelry, hair appliances and skin care.

Fall and winter are cold seasons but fashionable ones. Don't let the gloomy and dark skies effect the way you express yourself through your clothes. Whether you are a man or a woman think of the cold weather as an excuse to wear even more clothes! Layering and playing with what you already have in your closet is a great way to start. You can look exceptional in original and amazing footwear. This Saturday's game against USC is a perfect opportunity to flaunt your green. Green is a powerful color and with the big green-out coming up there should be no excuses. Let the color green be your guide this fashion season when picking out everything from boots to bouquets.

Contact Katherine Greenspon at kgreen01@nd.edu
Rasheed and Rondo lead Celtics to win over Nets

Associated Press

Glenn Davis scored 18 points for the Celtics (3-1).

The Nets scored the final 5 points of the game to win 119-115, leading the Boston Celtics to a 1-0-1 season start.

The game drew 17,079 to the Pru...
A NCAA Men's Soccer NSCAA Division I Rankings

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Previous</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1. Duke</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Northwestern</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. Charlotte</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. South Florida</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5. California</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6. Maryland</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7. Monmouth</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8. Louisville</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9. UCLA</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10. UC Santa Barbara</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11. Portland</td>
<td>17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12. Penn State</td>
<td>RV</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>13. Dartmouth</td>
<td>24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>14. Drake</td>
<td>22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15. Baylor</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>16. Stanford</td>
<td>14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>17. Penn State</td>
<td>RV</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>18. Florida State</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>19. Oregon State</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>20. Florida</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>21. Notre Dame</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>22. Boston College</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>23. Virginia Tech</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>24. LSU</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25. Texas A&amp;M</td>
<td>19</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

NCAA Women's Soccer NSCAA Division I Rankings

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Previous</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1. Stanford</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. North Carolina</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. UCLA</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. Portland</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5. South Carolina</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6. Wake Forest</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7. NOTRE DAME</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8. Boston College</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9. Florida State</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10. Rupears</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11. Florida</td>
<td>14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12. UCF</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>13. Maryland</td>
<td>19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>14. Texas A&amp;M</td>
<td>19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15. Southern California</td>
<td>17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>16. Virginia Tech</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>17. LSU</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>18. Ole Miss</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>19. Ohio State</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>20. Santa Clara</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>21. California</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>22. Iowa State</td>
<td>RV</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>23. Georgia</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>24. Arizona State</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25. BYU</td>
<td>RV</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

NCAA Women's Volleyball AVCA Division I Coaches Poll

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Points</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Penn St</td>
<td>1483</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Texas</td>
<td>1487</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LSU</td>
<td>1481</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>UCLA</td>
<td>1314</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stanford</td>
<td>1280</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Minnesota</td>
<td>1180</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nebraska</td>
<td>1059</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kentucky</td>
<td>995</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Florida</td>
<td>675</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Illinois</td>
<td>594</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

MLB

San Francisco Giants general manager Brian Sabean, left, and manager Bruce Bochy answer questions during a news conference last week. Both received two-year contract extensions with a club option after meeting with Giants brass.

Sabean, Bochy receive contract extensions

Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO — Giants general manager Brian Sabean and manager Bruce Bochy have been planning for the 2010 season for a while, even with their own contract situations unresolved.

Both knew their futures with the club would be handled in time. Now, they know they're staying in San Francisco.

Bochy and Sabean each received two-year contract extensions with a club option Tuesday after meeting with Giants brass.

Both knew their futures with San Francisco. Bochy's and Sabean had said he would wait until the end of the season to make a decision after sitting down to debrief on the year.

When the Giants missed the playoffs for a sixth straight season, they were in the NL wild-card chase well into September and at 88-74 won 16 more games than in 2008.

"The job of the Giants in the 2009 season was to return to the playoffs for a sixth straight season," Bochy said on a conference call. "The Giants had a winning season and then some. We are not complacent about that. We have more work to do because we want to get the San Francisco Giants to be a franchise that's a contender in year and year out."

Sabean is the longest-tenured GM in baseball after completing his 13th season with San Francisco. Bochy's three-year contract worth roughly $6 million expired after the season ended.

Bochy and Sabean believe this rebuilding franchise is headed in the right direction to become a regular contender again, but knew it would take time with a young roster. Neukom clearly saw the strides he'd hoped for with Bochy and Sabean leading the way.

"We've got a good place in a good time to use this season as a springboard," Sabean said.

Bochy has been committed to "changing the culture" around the Giants and said when the season ended, "We're in a win mode now." There were significant highlights this season, most notably Jonathan Sanchez's no-hitter against San Diego on July 10 and left-hander Randy Johnson becoming the 24th pitcher in major league history to win 300 games.

San Francisco guided the wild-card Giants to the 2002 World Series and NL West crown in 1997, 2000 and '03, their last year in the playoffs. Sabean acknowledges he's made his share of mistakes along the way, too.

He has been criticized for signing players to big contracts such as pitcher Barry Zito's $126 million, seven-year deal through 2013 with a club option for 2014, and a $60 million, five-year contract with center fielder Aaron Rowand done in December 2007.

In Brief

LB Seau signs with Patriots for 20th season

FORDBOROUGH, Mass. — Junior Seau is back with the New England Patriots, coming out of retirement for a third time to sign a contract Tuesday for a 20th season as an NFL linebacker.

The signing of the 12-time Pro Bowl player was announced by Versus, the television network on which Seau has a show. The Patriots have not announced the signing, which had been expected, although the team said he had a physical and a workout last week.

"I hope at some point he will be" with the Patriots, club owner Robert Kraft said at the NFL owners meeting in Boston. "He's a unique individual. I'd love to have him part of our team for as long as he wants to."

Seau, 40, should have a better chance of standing up to running backs than he did to a rodeo bull, which knocked him down on one of the episodes of "Sports Jobs with Junior Seau."

Steelers DE Aaron Smith out with partial cuff tear

PITTSBURGH — Pittsburgh Steelers defensive end Aaron Smith has a right shoulder injury that coach Mike Tomlin said "potentially could be significant."

Smith, injured Sunday in Detroit, was being evaluated Tuesday. The Steelers are not yet certain how long one of their most reliable and productive players will be out, although they apparently are anticipating an extended absence.

Smith's agent, Peter Schaffer, told The Associated Press in an e-mail that he was awaiting a doctor's report.

"Aaron is in great spirits and is looking forward to being healthy and playing this year," Schaffer said. However, he did not say if that meant Smith might not return until the postseason.

Smith has been with the Steelers (2-3) longer than any player except wide receiver Hines Ward and defensive back Deshea Townsend.

Warriors' SF Jackson gives up title of captain

OAKLAND, Calif. — "Captain Jack" is no more.

Disgruntled Golden State star Stephen Jackson asked to relinquish his captain title during a meeting Tuesday with Warriors coach Don Nelson and general manager Larry Riley.

"I don't try to dig into it, that's just how I feel," Jackson said. "I don't want to be a role model... Being captain was overrated to me, anyway. You don't do anything but go out before the game and talk to the refs. I don't want to do that anymore."

Nelson accepted Jackson's request and called it a "good thing" on the heels of the emotional swingman's two-game suspension for an outburst directed at the coach early in Friday's preseason game against the Lakers in Los Angeles.

"Well, the prodigal son has returned," Nelson said after Jackson rejoined the team for Tuesday's practice.
MLB

Yankees looking into a three-man rotation

Associated Press

NEW YORK — The Yankees may go with a three-man rotation against the Los Angeles Angels in the AL championship series.

CC Sabathia is scheduled to start Friday night’s opener, with A.J. Burnett and Andy Pettitte and New York’s other two primary starters. The shortened rotation would allow manager Joe Girardi to keep John Chamberlain and Chad Gaudin in the bullpen.

“In the 10-day forecast that I looked at, it looks like we have some rain in the forecast, so that can change things,” Girardi said Tuesday during a conference call. “But we are definitely considering possibly going to a three-man rotation in this round, but we’ll have to take a look at it and see how it goes.”

New York swept Minnesota in the opening round, and used Chamberlain as a setup man in all three games. He pitched 1-2-3 scoreless innings, allowing two hits, and combined with Phil Hughes and the rest of the bullpen to allow the team to take out starter A.J. Burnett instead of putting Chad in the bullpen.

“In the 10-day forecast that I looked at, it looks like we have some rain in the forecast, so that can change things,” Girardi said Tuesday during a conference call. “But we are definitely considering possibly going to a three-man rotation in this round, but we’ll have to take a look at it and see how it goes.”

New York limited him to 230 innings during the regular season — down from 253 the previous year. He will start the opener against the Angels on eight days’ rest, another factor the Yankees think will enable him to be effective in Game 4.

“Not getting him to 250 innings during the regular season allows us to consider that,” Girardi said. “We’ve told him, though, to concentrate on Game 1. That’s the most important game, and we’ll go from there.”

Girardi hasn’t decided whether to again have Jose Molina catch Burnett instead of Posada. To do that, Girardi said he probably would have to again carry Francisco Cervelli as a third catcher, allowing the team to take out Posada for a pinch runner late in a game.

NCAA FOOTBALL

Bryant apologizes to NCAA

Associated Press

OKLAHOMA CITY — Oklahoma State receiver Dez Bryant claims he was worried he had done something wrong when he “panicked” and lied to the NCAA about a meeting with former NFL player Deion Sanders at a Texas athletics center.

In his written apology to the NCAA, obtained Tuesday by The Associated Press following an open records request, Bryant said that he is “very, very sorry” and “made a terrible mistake” when he lied to Marcus M. Wilson, the NCAA’s assistant director of agent, gambling and amateurism activities, in July.

“It was all me, there is no one else to blame,” Bryant writes in his two-page apology. “I just panicked because I was scared and afraid that I was in some kind of trouble.”

The All-American was declared ineligible by Oklahoma State last week and was expected to go through a follow-up interview with the NCAA on Tuesday in Indianapolis.

“I was scared because I was thinking, why would the NCAA talk to me unless they thought I had done something wrong, even though I did not think I had,” Bryant writes in his letter. “I worried about the interview and was really nervous during the interview. I kept thinking about how football has been my dream for years and how football was going to allow the chance to make a living and help my family. My mom, my son, brother and sister all felt that somehow I had let them down.”

Bryant’s apology accompanies Oklahoma State’s formal reinstatement request to the NCAA, in which associate athletic director for compliance Scott Williams asks the NCAA to consider “unique circumstances” and hand down a lighter punishment for Bryant.

Williams notes that “the threshold penalty for a violation of this nature is 50 percent withholding,” apparently referring to a standard punishment that Bryant would be forced to miss half of the No. 15 Cowboys’ games for his rules violation.

Bryant writes that he denied to Wilson that he had met with Sanders at a Frisco, Texas, facility named Fieldhouse USA when that “was not the truth.” He describes that he met with Sanders and the two “jogged up and down the field, but did not go through any drills, and he did not work me out.”

“When I was asked by Mr. Wilson about a work-out, I did not think that what I had done with Deion was a work-out,” Bryant writes. “I did not break a sweat when I jogged with Deion. When my coaches have worked me out, like (strength) coach (Rob) Glass at OSU, I do many sprints, stairs and a lot of other drills, which leave me sweaty and tired.”

“What I did with Deion was nothing like that.”

Williams suggests that the NCAA could classify the meeting as preferential treatment, a secondary violation. Bryant also confirmed that he and his girlfriend went to Sanders’ house for dinner but “I was not hungry, so I did not eat.”

Bryant says that the NCAA should be punished, I deserve the season with OSU. I know I have let my family, my teammates, my coaches, my OSU fans and the NCAA down,” Bryant writes. “I really love OSU and would like to have an opportunity to finish the season with OSU. I know I should be punished, I deserve it, but I hope that my punishment is not so bad that I do not get to play football again at OSU.”

LONDON PROGRAM

“MEET THE DIRECTOR”

INFORMATION MEETING

FOR FALL 2010 & SPRING 2011

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 14, 2009

127 HAYES HEALY

6:30PM

SOPHOMORES FROM ALL COLLEGES ARE WELCOME!
NFL

NFL keeping eye on Cable

Associated Press

BOSTON — Oakland Raiders coach Tom Cable will be subject to NFL discipline if he is implicated by police in their investigation of an alleged assault on an assistant coach.

Commissioner Roger Goodell said Tuesday that workplace violence is specifically identified in the league's personal conduct policy, and if Cable is charged with any crimes, he could be punished by the NFL.

Goodell expects to receive a report "in the next couple weeks" on the Napa, Calif., police investigation, which is in the hands of the district attorney.

He said the league is "allowing the criminal process to go forward for some period of time" before potentially getting involved.

"What are the facts?" Goodell asked at the fall owners meetings. "There's a legal and criminal process going on to determine what are the facts."

But criminal charges need not be brought against Cable for the NFL to discipline him if he broke the league's conduct rules.

Defensive assistant Randy Hanson has alleged that he was punched by Cable during training camp and his jaw was broken. Hanson also has claimed three weeks of leave time due to Cable threatening to kill him during the August attack.

Cable has denied the allegations and has been advised to stay silent.

Napa County DA Gary Lieberstein said his office continues to review the case and does not expect any announcement on whether charges will be filed this week.

The meetings began with Goodell delivering a report in which he emphasized the strong TV ratings the NFL has attracted through five weeks. Asked if the economic downturn actually has helped the NFL's popularity, Goodell said it was "one of the theories because we continue to be available on free television and fans are able to gather around the TV set."

But will they be able to do so in 2011? The owners opted out of the collective bargaining agreement with the players last year and if a new one is not reached, a labor stoppage is possible that year.

Goodell reiterated the owners' intent to go forward for some period of time before potentially getting involved.

"Are you kidding me?" NFLPA spokesman George Atallah responded to The Associated Press.

Goodell said the league is looking into claims by the San Francisco 49ers that the New York Jets tampered with the Niners' first-round draft pick, Michael Crabtree. The receiver signed with the 49ers earlier this month after a lengthy holdout.

But criminal charges need not be brought against Cable for the NFL to discipline him if he broke the league's conduct rules.

The NFL also is investigating whether Browns rookie running back James Davis was injured after a practice during which he was not wearing shoulder pads, but was hit by a player who was.

Please recycle

The Observer.
NFL

Manning battling sore knee

Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS — Peyton Manning’s left knee may be sore, but it doesn’t appear to be a serious problem for the undefeated Colts.

One day after Manning led Indianapolis to a 31-9 victory at Tennessee, Colts coach Jim Caldwell said he had not received a doctor’s report regarding the knee, something he said he expected had there been a concern.

“We have doctors that are there all the time. They certainly have been able to check it at it,” Caldwell said Monday.

Manning said he hurt the knee when Titans defensive end Kyle Vanden Bosch hit him late in the first half. Vanden Bosch was called for roughing the passer, a penalty that helped Indy (6-0) get out of its own 7-yard line as the Colts managed to score only 17 points with 17 seconds left in the half.

The Titans (0-5) were called twice for roughing the passer on that series and afterward, Manning walked off but had entered the officials to make those calls.

Manning denied it and said he actually had been hurt.

“The first thing I had that hit before to the knee,” Manning said. “I don’t know if it was validated or not but I’ve got to see the doctor after this and get a shot. It makes it more valid, I guess. Obviously, when you plant that left leg, it’s in a valgus position which means that brace for that reason alone, for protecting me there.”

It’s the same knee Manning needed two surgeries on last summer to remove infections. He has since acknowledged that missing all of training camp and the preseason led to a slower-than-usual start in 2008.

To get clearance to return to Glendale, he had to inhibit Manning’s performance.

NCAA BASKETBALL

Louisville players face charges after arrests

Associated Press

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind. — University of Louisville forward Terrence Jennings expressed remorse on Tuesday following his arrest at a southern Indiana restaurant early Sunday morning.

Jennings and senior guard Jerry Smith were taken into custody by Jeffersonville police following a confrontation with off-duty officers at an alumni homeowner party early Sunday morning. Police have asked prosecutors to charge Jennings and Smith with resisting law enforcement, battery and disorderly conduct.

“I want to first apologize to the police and to the organizers of the event,” Jennings said in a statement released by attorney Larry Wilder. “I was managing my own business and unfortunately, was provoked by another person that I was unfamiliar with. That’s where this all started.”

The police report said several off-duty officers — all of whom were wearing clearly marked t-shirts with “Police” on both the front and back — were working at the party when a fight broke out inside. Officer Tom Mitchell found Jennings, a 6-9 sophomore, more from Sacramento, Calif., pushing and shoving people, according to his report.

Jennings was eventually escorted outside and placed on the ground but “continued to fight with officers, trying to get back to his feet and refusing to place his hands behind his back.”

Jennings said he wasn’t aware at the time he was being confronted by off-duty police.

Officers needed to strike Jennings twice with the Taser to subdue him. Police said Jennings, 20, also had a low level of alcohol in his system at the time of his arrest but is currently not facing any alcohol-related charges.

Police said Smith, 22, a 6-2 senior from Watsonville, Calif., approached officers after Jennings was placed in handcuffs. Smith refused to comply with requests to back away and resisted when an officer attempted to restrain him, according to the report.

“My teammate Jerry Smith was trying to help me from being physically harmed and I know he did not mean any disrespect either,” Jennings said.

Louisville coach Rick Pitino said Sunday the matter would be handled internally. The Cardinals begin practice for the 2009-10 season on Friday. Smith averaged 7.8 points and 2.1 rebounds and Jennings averaged 4.2 points and 2.9 rebounds for the Cardinals last season, and both players are expected to be key major contributors for the defending Big East champions.

NFC

NFL owners oppose Limbaugh

Associated Press

But not Rush Limbaugh’s bid to buy the St. Louis Rams.

It rang around in opposition within the NFL yesterday, sources told Associated Press.

Owner Jim Israely voted to voice against him and commissioner Roger Goddell said the conservative commentator’s “divisive comments” would not be tolerated from any NFL insider.

“I, myself, couldn’t even consider voting for him,” Israely said at an owners meetings.

“What are the comments that have been made, inappropriate, incendiary and insensitive, our words do damage, and it’s something that we don’t need.”

Limbaugh has long been a hero of villains and those to the left, thriving on his place in the political spectrum while establishing himself as one of the most successful broadcast creators in history.

But the NFL tries to avoid controversy, as Limbaugh learned in 2003 when he was forced to resign from ESPN’s Sunday Night Football broadcasts after saying of Philadelphia’s Donovan McNabb: “I think what we’ve got here is a little social concern in the NFL. The media has been accused of being a black quarterback do well.”

Goddell repeatedly distanced the league from Limbaugh’s statements on Tuesday, calling them “Don’t let any polarizing comments that we don’t think reflect accurately on the NFL or our players.”

“I have said many times before that we are all held to a higher standard here,” the commissioner said. “I think divisive comments are not what the NFL is all about. I would not want to see those kind of comments from people who are in a responsible position within the NFL. Not absolutely not.”

According to transcripts of Limbaugh’s Web site, in 2007 Limbaugh said: “The NFL all too often looks like Dallas vs. the Bloods and the Crips without any weapons. There. I said it.”

That comment, and others, surfaced this month when he revealed he is teaming with St. Louis Blues owner Dave Checkettis to bid on the Rams.

In an e-mail to The Associated Press, Limbaugh said he was forced to respond because “the totally made-up and fabricat­ ed quotes attributed to me in recent media are reports are outrageous and slander­ ous.” He also claimed that he would be a minority owner in the prospective group, adding he is from Missouri and was saddened when the Cardinals left for Arizona.

“I am happy to be involved in an effort to keep the Rams in St. Louis. I love the National Football League. I eagerly dis­ cuss it and promote it and greatly admire the men who play in the league. They are the best at what they do,” he wrote. “It is regrettable that something I have dreamed of for years has taken this course. But the fight is not worth it to me. I love the National Football League.”

The Rams ultimately decided to pursue their potential sale on Tuesday but specific bidders were not dis­ closed, Goddell said.

“They’re not certain they would have a deal close, good good owner of the Rams, St. Louis Rams,” Goddell said.

Gann, is six.

Modeling has since acknowledged that missing all of training camp and the preseason led to a slower-than-usual start in 2008.

“I am happy to be involved in an effort to keep the Rams in St. Louis. I love the National Football League. I eagerly dis­ cuss it and promote it and greatly admire the men who play in the league. They are the best at what they do,” he wrote. “It is regrettable that something I have dreamed of for years has taken this course. But the fight is not worth it to me. I love the National Football League.”

The Rams ultimately decided to pursue their potential sale on Tuesday but specific bidders were not dis­ closed, Goddell said.

“They’re not certain they would have a deal close, good good owner of the Rams, St. Louis Rams,” Goddell said.

Gann, is six.

Modeling has since acknowledged that missing all of training camp and the preseason led to a slower-than-usual start in 2008.

“I am happy to be involved in an effort to keep the Rams in St. Louis. I love the National Football League. I eagerly dis­ cuss it and promote it and greatly admire the men who play in the league. They are the best at what they do,” he wrote. “It is regrettable that something I have dreamed of for years has taken this course. But the fight is not worth it to me. I love the National Football League.”

Another line-up against the Rams before decid­ ing to give his injured left ham­ string a little more rest. Hayden has missed the last three games.

Indy has a bye this weekend, finished 36 of 44 for 309 yards with one interception and extended his streak of be­ ssc-300-yard games to five.

The NFL record, shared by Steve Young, Kurt Warner and Rich Gannon, is six.

The Rams are available to reporters until Wednesday, and he picked the right week if he needed back-up.

Indy has a bye this weekend, finished 36 of 44 for 309 yards with one interception and extended his streak of be­ ssc-300-yard games to five.

The NFL record, shared by Steve Young, Kurt Warner and Rich Gannon, is six.

The Rams are available to reporters until Wednesday, and he picked the right week if he needed back-up.

Indy has a bye this weekend, finished 36 of 44 for 309 yards with one interception and extended his streak of be­ ssc-300-yard games to five.

The NFL record, shared by Steve Young, Kurt Warner and Rich Gannon, is six.
NCAA FOOTBALL

'Bama claims NCAA wrongly vacated wins

Associated Press

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. — The University of Alabama contends the NCAA wrongly forced the football program to vacate 21 victories, describing it as an "unprecedented" penalty "in cases involving abuse of free textbooks."

The university, in a 14-page rebuttal released Tuesday, spelled out several reasons why the wins should be restored, including the NCAA committee on infractions' improper citing of Alabama's repeat offender status.

The university said no other textbook case led to wins being vacated and that the committee's brief failed to mention even one textbook case to use for comparison.

A call to an NCAA spokes­woman seeking comment was not immediately returned.

The case that led to Alabama's penalty involved 201 athletes in 16 sports obtaining textbooks they weren't entitled to under their scholarships. The violators included 22 "intentional wrongdoers" — among them seven football players who obtained more than $100 in supplies for other students. Alabama was placed on three-year probation in June, fined $43,400 and also forced to vacate one postseason tennis victory and several individual and team records in track and field.

Alabama's appeal said the penalty vacating football victories was "so excessive as to constitute an abuse of discretion."

The rebuttal, dated Sept. 17 but not made public until Tuesday, said the NCAA described Alabama as having an "ahistorical" array of infractions and that the university's poor record was "the driving force behind" the penalty vacating the football victories.

The university argued that the repeat violator status shouldn't have been a factor and that the committee cited it in a way that "ignores bylaws and precedent addressing repeat violator penalties."

According to Alabama, the NCAA said the university's "extensive recent history of infractions cases is unmatched by any other member institution in the NCAA."

Alabama said the NCAA database includes at least 217 Football Bowl Subdivision schools with as many or more infractions cases.

SOCCER

U.S.' Davies injured in crash

Associated Press

ARLINGTON, Va. — U.S. soccer forward Charlie Davies underwent surgery on Tuesday afternoon after being involved in a severe one-car accident on the George Washington Parkway in Virginia during the early hours of Tuesday morning.

There was a fatality in the accident, said U.S. Soccer spokesman Neil Buteh.

Davies, 23, who plays for the French club Sochaux, was reported in serious condition after a lengthy surgery at Washington Hospital Center, said hospital spokeswoman So Young Pak.

Buteh initially said that Davies' injuries were "possibly" career-threatening but later clarified the remark.

"At this point, we just don't know the extent of the injuries, so we can't comment on how this affects Charlie's future," Buteh said while Davies was in surgery.

Davies has four goals in 17 caps and started on Tuesday when the U.S. won 3-2 at Honduras in its CONCACAF Gold Cup third-place final.

The U.S. team is back in action on Friday against Costa Rica.

NCAA BASKETBALL

Kentucky settles firing case with former coach

Associated Press

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Former men's basketball coach Gillispie and the University of Kentucky have settled their cases of sexual misconduct, the school said Tuesday.

Gillispie was dismissed earlier this year and sued the school for more than $2.98 million. The university countersued.

He had not signed a contract during his two years coaching the Wildcats to a 40-27 record but was working under a memorandum of understanding. He charged that he should have been paid $1.5 million per year for four of the five years left on the deal.

In a statement, the university said the lawsuits were settled through mediation and that Gillispie received a settlement in excess of $2.98 million. Another $260,000 will be paid by the university for attorney fees, as well as $5,600 in settlement fees.

Gillispie's attorney Demetrios Anapagkos of London, did not immediately return a telephone message and e-mail from The Associated Press seeking comment.

According to the Associated Press, Gillispie was glad to have the case behind him.

"Although the decision to sue was a difficult one for him, the fact a settlement was reached is much higher dollar amount than Coach Gillispie was ever offered by the school since it indicates his decision," Anapagkos said.

The university's statement said it would have no further comment, but the agreement says the settlement is not an admission of liability but made only to avoid further expense, controversy and litigation.

The lawsuit, which Gillispie filed in federal court in Dallas, also contended the school's athletics association was in breach of contract and committed fraud because Kentucky never intended to honor the agreement.

Gillispie came to Kentucky from Texas A&M, where he was 70-26 in four seasons and made the NCAA tournament twice, including his first year.

His last season with the Wildcats posted a 22-14 mark, tying for the second most losses in the program's history.

After Gillispie's departure, Kentucky hired ex-Orlando Magic coach John Calipari, who signed an eight-year, $31.65 million deal.

Friday, October 16

12:15 - 12:45 p.m.

Jordan Auditorium

Mendoza College of Business

Write Sports. Email Matt at mgamber@nd.edu.
Tucker, Avs take down Leafs

Associated Press

TORONTO — Darcy Tucker had a goal and an assist against his former team to help the Colorado Avalanche beat the Toronto Maple Leafs 4-1 on Tuesday night. It was his first game in Toronto since having his contract bought out in the summer of 2008. He’s still battling micro-concussions one per year by the Maple Leafs.

Brett Clark, David Jones and John-Michael Liles had the other goals for Colorado (10-3-1). Craig Anderson made 30 stops to earn his fourth victory of the season.

Francois Beauchemin scored the lone goal for the Leafs (0-5-1).

Toronto coach Ron Wilson tried to shake up his team by benching forwards Matt Stajan and Niklas Hagman, who had accounted for five of the team’s 12 goals prior to the game against Colorado. He also started third string goalie Joe MacDonald. It didn’t work.

“It has to be significant changes,” Wilson explained before the game. “Sitting out guys who play on a fourth line and are already a really good effort makes no sense to me.”

None of the changes helped much against the Avalanche, one of the surprise teams so far in this young season.

Toronto gave Colorado two power plays in the opening 10 minutes of the game and Clark capitalized on the second one. His point shot beat MacDonald while the Leafs goalie was being screened by Ian White — his own defenceman.

Jones extended that lead to 2-0 just before the intermission. He made a prettier play on a solo rush to get around Tomáš Kaberle before sliding the puck by MacDonald with 50.9 seconds left in the opening period.

Falling into an early hole has been a big problem for the Leafs, who have been outscored 10-2 in the opening period this season.

Beauchemin briefly brought some life back to his team with his first goal in a Toronto uniform at 3:33 of the second period, but Tucker quickly nullified that by scoring his third goal of the season just over two minutes later.

Colorado got its fourth goal as Liles saw his floating shot go off the head of defenceman Mike Komisarek and into the net at 9:36.

NBA

Anderson leads Magic over Hornets

Associated Press

WICHITA, Kan. — Ryan Anderson scored 22 points to help the Orlando Magic rally from behind in the pre-season with a 121-86 victory over the Charlotte Hornets on Tuesday night.

Michael Pietrus had 19 points and 11 rebounds as the Magic won as the Hornets played at Wichita State’s Koch Arena.

David West led New Orleans (1-3) with 14 points while Carl Landry scored 10.

The Hornets cut into a 26-point halftime deficit as West scored six points in a 9-0 run that brought them within 59-52.

That’s when Anderson took over, hitting four 3-pointers and scoring 16 points in a 3 1/2 minute stretch that pushed the Magic’s lead to 77-57.

Anderson, who came to the Magic in the trade that brought Carter from the New Jersey Nets, finished 6 of 9 from 3-point range.

“That was fun,” Anderson said. “It’s always fun when you are doing it, but when the guys got me open and the crowd got into it, it was even more fun.

The Magic shot 60.9 percent from the field and 63.3 percent from the 3-point line. Orlando’s biggest lead was 86-64 on a 3 by Carter early in the fourth quarter.

“People keep calling (Anderson) the other guy in the Vader Carter trade,” Orlando coach Stan Van Gundy said, “and when I told you guys (in the media) he was a big part of the thing, you rolled your eyes. But he fits the way we play. Our team is built inside out, and you can’t leave him open.”

Led by Carter going 4 of 6 from the 3-point line, Orlando took control of the game with its long-range shooting in the first half. The Magic were 9 of 13 or 36% in the first half, while New Orleans was 3 of 10.

That helped Orlando (2-0) build its lead to 30 points in the first half.

“He’s getting more and more comfortable,” Van Gundy said.

Paul scored four points, all from the free throw line, in nearly 15 first-half minutes.

“We’ve got to get better defensively,” New Orleans coach Byron Scott said. “Communication is the key.”

ATP

Roddick injured at Shanghai event

Associated Press

SHANGHAI — Andy Roddick was forced to retire with left knee pain while leading Stanislas Wawrinka 4-3 Tuesday in the second round of the Shanghai Masters.

Roddick, who limped through the post-match news conference after the match, has been nursing a left knee injury for several weeks.

That’s when Anderson took over, hitting four 3-pointers and scoring 16 points in a 3 1/2 minute stretch that pushed the Magic’s lead to 77-57.

Anderson, who came to the Magic in the trade that brought Carter from the New Jersey Nets, finished 6 of 9 from 3-point range.

“That was fun,” Anderson said. “It’s always fun when you are doing it, but when the guys got me open and the crowd got into it, it was even more fun.

The Magic shot 60.9 percent from the field and 63.3 percent from the 3-point line. Orlando’s biggest lead was 86-64 on a 3 by Carter early in the fourth quarter.

“People keep calling (Anderson) the other guy in the Vader Carter trade,” Orlando coach Stan Van Gundy said, “and when I told you guys (in the media) he was a big part of the thing, you rolled your eyes. But he fits the way we play. Our team is built inside out, and you can’t leave him open.”

Led by Carter going 4 of 6 from the 3-point line, Orlando took control of the game with its long-range shooting in the first half. The Magic were 9 of 13 or 36% in the first half, while New Orleans was 3 of 10.

That helped Orlando (2-0) build its lead to 30 points in the first half.

“He’s getting more and more comfortable,” Van Gundy said.

Paul scored four points, all from the free throw line, in nearly 15 first-half minutes.

“We’ve got to get better defensively,” New Orleans coach Byron Scott said. “Communication is the key.”

This year was always going to be tough purely because I didn’t exactly know how the hip was going to bounce back,” Hewitt said.

“I’ve got better as the year has gone on. My hip’s got a lot stronger, a lot better, and that makes life a lot easier on the court.”

Mission-made star Nikolay Davydenko improved his record to 3-0 against Igor Kunitsyn of Russia to 5-0 after a 4-6, 6-2 win. Tenth-seeded Fernando Gonzalez of Chile beat Thomas Bellucci of Brazil 6-3, 6-4.

Second-seeded Tommy Haas beat Benjamin Becker of Germany 6-3, 6-4 in an all-German match.

In an all-French match, 11th-seeded Richard Gasquet defeated Paul-Henri Mathieu 6-2, 6-2.
Alma continued from page 24
the Belles still sit in the middle of the pack in the MIAA standings. Fortunately, they will get a chance to make up ground as the Scots hold a one-game lead on them.
With the focus fully on Alma, the Belles will try to duplicate their performance in their previous meeting when they defeated the Scots 3-0 on Sept. 12. While the final result points to a one-sided match, Saint Mary’s needed a number of clutch rallies in tight contests to pull out the win.
In the match, senior Lorna Supczynski led all players with 21 kills. Also, the Belles held the Scots’ current team leader in kills to just four.
Saint Mary’s will need a similar performance on both ends of the court to beat Alma on the road where they have struggled to a 1-2 record in conference this season.
Looking ahead on the schedule, the Belles will get a six-day break before they attempt to average a 3-2 loss earlier in the year against No. 7 Hope College on Oct. 20.
Contact Chris Michalski at jmicichalski2@nd.edu.

Elmhurst continued from page 24
when senior Micki Hedinger netted her third goal of the season, the ninth of her career.
Senior goalkeeper Patty Duffy did all she could in net, recording eight saves on the afternoon, but Alma’s 20 shots proved too much for the Saint Mary’s defensive unit.
Against Calvin last Tuesday, the Belles played one of their best defensive games of the season and again struggled off offense and failed to capitalize on their scoring chances. The Knights managed just one goal after stifling Belles defense, but were able to keep the Saint Mary’s offense off the board.
When they have been able to produce goals, the Belles have looked to senior Katy Burke, who has four on the season despite starting just two matches. Senior Colleen Ferguson has also been a big contributor, netting two goals on the season. Combined with Hedinger, the veteran trio account for half of the Belles’ goals this season.
The visiting Blues (7-5, 2-2 CCIW) will present a tough challenge as they enter today’s contest having won two of their last three games, only loss coming in a close match against Illinois Wesleyan. Illinois Wesleyan overwhelmed the Belles 5-0 on Sept. 16.
Looking ahead at the rest of conference play, the Belles have four MIAA matches remaining, three of which are on the road. Saint Mary’s will travel to Albion Saturday before playing their last home match of the season against Hope on Oct. 20.
Contact Alex Barker at abarker1@nd.edu.

Interhall continued from page 24 rolled to a 21-0 victory.
McGillin junior wide receiver Kathleen Stanley was satisfied with her team’s performance.
“We played a complete game tonight,” Stanley said. “Offensive, defense, both sides of the ball were clicking.”
The lopsided score does not indicate the intensity for the majority of the game. After a series of back and forth possessions between the Babes (0-3) and the Shamrocks (2-1) that resulted in punts and turnovers on downs, McGillin finally broke through with 45 seconds remaining in the first half with a 1-yard touchdown run as they climbed within 14-0 at the half.
Despite the loss, Babes’ senior captain Stephanie Wuerdeman thought her team performed well and improved over previous losses.
“We played really well on both offense and defense,” Wuerdeman said. “We were upset with a couple of pass interference penalties that were called in the red zone to give the Shamrocks first downs and a great chance to score, which they ended up doing on a 20-yard quarterback run. Even though the Shamrocks were able to connect on a few long plays offensively, the Breen-Phillips defense was able to hold them on a few possessions.”
“Our offense has to be more consistent,” Stanley said. “We did get a few long passers, but we need to do it more regularly.”
Both teams have seen drastic improvement in the last couple weeks.
“We get better every time we practice,” Wuerdeman said. “Our quarterback is getting a lot more used to the timing of everything and scrambling when she needs to.”
For McGillin, those improvements were a marked rise in defensive intensity and better communication.
“I was really impressed with our defense tonight,” Stanley said. “For the Babes, this loss is another in a long streak, but they will not let it get them down.”
“We just need to keep our spirits up,” Wuerdeman said. “As long as we keep improving we know we can go out there and play to win.”
The win puts the Shamrocks in good position in conference consideration, but they have to keep the winning ways going.
“We can give us a lot of confidence,” Stanley said. “But hopefully it won’t make us complacent.”
Howard 27, Pasquerella East 6
Howard kept its winning streak alive with a 27-6 win over Pasquerella East under the lights Tuesday night.
“We’re super pumped that we’ve been doing really well in the regular season,” senior captain Mary Jenkins said. “It really helps that we’re really deep so we can put someone at almost any position.”
Forhomore Jenny Gasner was essential to the Ducks’ defense, playing the unfamiliar position of wide receiver, yet scoring two touchdowns and several crucial first downs that brought her team within scoring position. Howard utilized its dominant passing game as junior Kaitlin Robinson tallied a touch-down in addition to several key plays on the other end of the ball.
The Howard defense was impregnable, effectively shutting down the Pyros passing game, swarming to receivers and pressuring the quarterback into fumbling two sacks by Robinson and an interception by junior captain Kayla Bishop.
“We have the mentality that offense wins games but defense wins championships,” Jenkins said. “When we’re having rougher days on offense, defense always shows up.”
The Pyros seemed poised to mount a comeback in the second-half as the agile Tara Pillai scrambled for numerous gains and completed a 25-yard pass that brought the team within a few yards of the goal in the second half. Junior Meehan Lenzen scored the Pyros’ only touchdown.
“It was a tough game,” senior captain Liz Ruiz said. “Our defense wasn’t really ready for it but we’ve got a lot of time between our next game, so hopefully we’ll get a spot in the playoffs.”
Indeed, the Pyros intend to rehearse their defensive capabilities to match their competitors in order to make the cut for playoffs.
We have a short defense yet we’re fast but we’re short so when you’re going against a tall defense like Howard we have some issues. We don’t let our fire die out,” Ruiz said.
The Ducks will take on Breen-Phillips after break in their pursuit of playoff glory. Pasquerella East will challenge McGlinn in hopes of adding one in their win column.
Contact Andrew Owens at aowens2@nd.edu, Matthew Robison at mrobison@nd.edu and Kevin Baldwin at khalw2@nd.edu.

Find out more about your favorite ND sports.

observersportsblog.wordpress.com

Now Open and Accepting Employment Applications

OUTPOST sports

1251 Eddy Street | (574) 855-1201

#24 Men’s Soccer

TONIGHT @ 7 PM

• EARLY ARRIVING FANS WILL RECEIVE A NOTRE DAME SOCCER SHIRT

FREE Admission for ALL ND, HCC & SMC Students with valid ID!
Hoosiers
continued from page 24
of the season, and marks the only time the Irish have been able to string together consecutive victories. Although Notre Dame entered the season with a great deal of promise, a brutal schedule and losses on their defensive unit have kept the Irish from mounting any rhythm in the early going.

However, since a 2-3-1 stretch in September, Notre Dame has rocked up four wins in its last five matches. The defensive struggles also seemed to be resolved after allowing just one goal during that two-game stretch.

After a 1-0 win at Michigan over the weekend, Indiana comes into tomight's matchup with an even 2-2 record on the road.

The Irish have enjoyed a strong home field advantage at the new Alumni Stadium, posting a 4-2 home record, including a 5-0 blowout over Michigan to inaugurate the pitch.

The Hoosiers have dominated the series history with a record of 23-5-1, but the Irish have had some success under Clark against Indiana. Clark said. "I  feel that we are continuing to do well against us in the last two meetings between the squad, are 4-5-0 against Indiana, and seedings. It may determine obviously a challenge for us. This weekend, Indiana comes into a game of equal importance to the Irish in the Big East. "

"I think part of it was the physical and emotional toll in getting the first win in a long time," Jim Kubinski
Irish coach

Senior midfielder Michael Thomas dribbles the ball down the field in a match against Seton Hall Oct. 2.

will be senior forward Bright Dike, who last week was named to the Big East Weekly Honor Roll and the College Soccer News National Team of the Week. Dike leads all Big East players in goals (eight) and points (18). It was the second time this season Dike was named to the Big East Honor Roll.

"Bright is doing very well but he is far from being a one man show," Clark said. "I feel that we are consistently dominating the second periods of every game and this is often due to the players who come on. [Senior] Tamha [Sumba], [junior] Steven Perry, [sophomore] Michael Rose, [sophomore]
Brendan King, and [sophomore] Adam Mina have all been superb in this capacity."

After taking on the Hoosiers,
Notre Dame will continue Big East in this capacity." Adam Mena have all been superb on. [Seniorl Tamba [Samba], or 2013 to.

Contact Michael Blasco at mblasco@nd.edu

Jim Kubinski
Irish coach

Team of the Week. Dike leads all periods of every game and this is continuous from page 24

Prestige
continued from page 24
tired swings, and he is usually fantastic at grinding and focusing. He just didn’t have it.

Fortner shot a 76 Tuesday to finish the tournament tied for 64th at 15-over par.

"I thought they both did a great job," Kubinski said. "Both of them finished at even par today. Chris had 16 pars, half, one birdie, and one bogey.
Honestly, if he had dropped a few more putts he really would have had a great round since he hit 14 greens in regula­tion.

Scodro made a mistake on his 13th hole Tuesday, resulting in a double bogey, which prevented him from dropping a possible two shots from his round.

"The guys lost a little bit of their mental edge." Kubinski said.
"You would think you would have a lot of confidence after a win, but I just didn’t see a lot of good things out there. I saw silly swings and tings, and those things hurt us.

Kubinski said he traces those mistakes to the quick turnaround after the emotional triumph last week.

"We were too far behind too early, and we were just a little hang over from that last tournament," he said. "I just think we were a worn down team, and if I had to do it over again, I would like to have a week between our tournament and then heading out to the west coast."

Notre Dame will finally have a week off before heading to Greensboro, N.C. for the UNCG
BridgeStone Collegiate Championship on Oct. 24.

"I think we will put this behind us," Kubinski said. "It is nice to have a week off to catch up on rest, and Josh is heading to his home course in Greensboro for our next tournament, so he, and the team, should bounce back."

Contact Douglas Farmer at dfarmer10@nd.edu

Best cabs in town.
SIGN YOUR IRISH ROW OR IRISH CROSSINGS LEASE NOW FOR 2010-2011.

Live just east of the ND athletic fields, near every convenience — friends, fun, food and campus.

Besides our great location, our furnished apartments and townhomes for rent include:
Private full bath in each bedroom
40" flat panel HD TV
Free internet & 200+ TV stations, including HBO
Laundry room with washer & dryer in each unit
Free use of Irish Row Fitness Center
Tanning
Secured access to each building

All this at one of the best rents in town.

We’re now leasing for the 2010-2011 school year.
Contact Karen Miller at kmiller@irishrowapartments.com or 574-277-6666 for details.

You can visit us at our leasing office at Vanessa and Burdette Streets or at www.irishrowapartments.com.

NOW LEASING FOR 2010-2011
CROSSWORD

WILL SHORTZ

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Across</th>
<th>Down</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>32</td>
<td>56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>31</td>
<td>55</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>30</td>
<td>54</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>29</td>
<td>53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>28</td>
<td>52</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SCHAD & FREUDE

THE PARTY MOBILE

EVERYONE SHOULD KNOW GREENS ON SATURDAY! KILL SCI!

YOU SHOULD RUSH PITCH-FIELD ON SATURDAY! KILL SCI!

YOU MAY NOT KNOW WHAT BUTT GASOLINE!

The Observer

Published Monday through Friday, The Observer is a vital source of information on people and events in the Notre Dame and Saint Mary's Community.

Join the more than 13,000 readers who have found The Observer an indispensable link to the two campuses. Please complete the accompanying form and mail it today to receive The Observer in your home.

THE OBSERVER

Name Address
City State
Zip

Take part and you will not be denied the position you want. You can't leave anything important up to someone else. You will be freed from some of the limitations and frustrations of the past. Changes with you want badly if your contribution doesn't reflect your unique style. Being responsible is

CANCER (June 21-July 22):

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21):

SLOW OR SALON

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22):

GIGGLE BIT

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20):

HUBBUB

MOON

ANIMALS

HUMOR

MOON

ANIMALS

HUMOR

©2009 Tribune Media Services, Inc.

Answer:

IT'S A QUIZ!

THAT SCRAMBLED WORD GAME

BY MIKE ARGIRIO

JEFF KNUREK MIKE ARGIRIO

THE OBSERVER

P.O. Box 779
Notre Dame, IN 46556

Enclosed is $120 for one academic year

Enclosed is $65 for one semester

Happy Birthday: You can use numerous this year if you put your hand on it. Ancient philosophy will hit home and work their way onto your personal and professional life. You'll find many of the limitations and frustrations of the past will be

CROSSWORD

WILL SHORTZ

CELEBRITY BIRTHS ON THIS DAY:

Ashanti, 29
Jerry Rice, 47
Marie Osmond, 50
"Friends"

Happy Birthday: You can use numerous this year if you put your hand on it. Ancient philosophy will hit home and work their way onto your personal and professional life. You'll find many of the limitations and frustrations of the past will be

CROSSWORD

WILL SHORTZ

CELEBRITY BIRTHS ON THIS DAY:

Ashanti, 29
Jerry Rice, 47
Marie Osmond, 50
"Friends"

Happy Birthday: You can use numerous this year if you put your hand on it. Ancient philosophy will hit home and work their way onto your personal and professional life. You'll find many of the limitations and frustrations of the past will be

CROSSWORD

WILL SHORTZ

CELEBRITY BIRTHS ON THIS DAY:

Ashanti, 29
Jerry Rice, 47
Marie Osmond, 50
"Friends"

Happy Birthday: You can use numerous this year if you put your hand on it. Ancient philosophy will hit home and work their way onto your personal and professional life. You'll find many of the limitations and frustrations of the past will be

CROSSWORD

WILL SHORTZ

CELEBRITY BIRTHS ON THIS DAY:

Ashanti, 29
Jerry Rice, 47
Marie Osmond, 50
"Friends"

Happy Birthday: You can use numerous this year if you put your hand on it. Ancient philosophy will hit home and work their way onto your personal and professional life. You'll find many of the limitations and frustrations of the past will be

CROSSWORD

WILL SHORTZ

CELEBRITY BIRTHS ON THIS DAY:

Ashanti, 29
Jerry Rice, 47
Marie Osmond, 50
"Friends"

Happy Birthday: You can use numerous this year if you put your hand on it. Ancient philosophy will hit home and work their way onto your personal and professional life. You'll find many of the limitations and frustrations of the past will be

CROSSWORD

WILL SHORTZ

CELEBRITY BIRTHS ON THIS DAY:

Ashanti, 29
Jerry Rice, 47
Marie Osmond, 50
"Friends"

Happy Birthday: You can use numerous this year if you put your hand on it. Ancient philosophy will hit home and work their way onto your personal and professional life. You'll find many of the limitations and frustrations of the past will be

CROSSWORD

WILL SHORTZ

CELEBRITY BIRTHS ON THIS DAY:

Ashanti, 29
Jerry Rice, 47
Marie Osmond, 50
"Friends"

Happy Birthday: You can use numerous this year if you put your hand on it. Ancient philosophy will hit home and work their way onto your personal and professional life. You'll find many of the limitations and frustrations of the past will be

CROSSWORD

WILL SHORTZ

CELEBRITY BIRTHS ON THIS DAY:

Ashanti, 29
Jerry Rice, 47
Marie Osmond, 50
"Friends"

Happy Birthday: You can use numerous this year if you put your hand on it. Ancient philosophy will hit home and work their way onto your personal and professional life. You'll find many of the limitations and frustrations of the past will be

CROSSWORD

WILL SHORTZ

CELEBRITY BIRTHS ON THIS DAY:

Ashanti, 29
Jerry Rice, 47
Marie Osmond, 50
"Friends"

Happy Birthday: You can use numerous this year if you put your hand on it. Ancient philosophy will hit home and work their way onto your personal and professional life. You'll find many of the limitations and frustrations of the past will be

CROSSWORD

WILL SHORTZ

CELEBRITY BIRTHS ON THIS DAY:

Ashanti, 29
Jerry Rice, 47
Marie Osmond, 50
"Friends"

Happy Birthday: You can use numerous this year if you put your hand on it. Ancient philosophy will hit home and work their way onto your personal and professional life. You'll find many of the limitations and frustrations of the past will be

CROSSWORD

WILL SHORTZ

CELEBRITY BIRTHS ON THIS DAY:

Ashanti, 29
Jerry Rice, 47
Marie Osmond, 50
"Friends"

Happy Birthday: You can use numerous this year if you put your hand on it. Ancient philosophy will hit home and work their way onto your personal and professional life. You'll find many of the limitations and frustrations of the past will be

CROSSWORD

WILL SHORTZ

CELEBRITY BIRTHS ON THIS DAY:

Ashanti, 29
Jerry Rice, 47
Marie Osmond, 50
"Friends"

Happy Birthday: You can use numerous this year if you put your hand on it. Ancient philosophy will hit home and work their way onto your personal and professional life. You'll find many of the limitations and frustrations of the past will be

CROSSWORD

WILL SHORTZ

CELEBRITY BIRTHS ON THIS DAY:

Ashanti, 29
Jerry Rice, 47
Marie Osmond, 50
"Friends"

Happy Birthday: You can use numerous this year if you put your hand on it. Ancient philosophy will hit home and work their way onto your personal and professional life. You'll find many of the limitations and frustrations of the past will be

CROSSWORD

WILL SHORTZ

CELEBRITY BIRTHS ON THIS DAY:

Ashanti, 29
Jerry Rice, 47
Marie Osmond, 50
"Friends"

Happy Birthday: You can use numerous this year if you put your hand on it. Ancient philosophy will hit home and work their way onto your personal and professional life. You'll find many of the limitations and frustrations of the past will be

CROSSWORD

WILL SHORTZ

CELEBRITY BIRTHS ON THIS DAY:

Ashanti, 29
Jerry Rice, 47
Marie Osmond, 50
"Friends"

Happy Birthday: You can use numerous this year if you put your hand on it. Ancient philosophy will hit home and work their way onto your personal and professional life. You'll find many of the limitations and frustrations of the past will be

CROSSWORD

WILL SHORTZ

CELEBRITY BIRTHS ON THIS DAY:

Ashanti, 29
Jerry Rice, 47
Marie Osmond, 50
"Friends"

Happy Birthday: You can use numerous this year if you put your hand on it. Ancient philosophy will hit home and work their way onto your personal and professional life. You'll find many of the limitations and frustrations of the past will be

CROSSWORD

WILL SHORTZ

CELEBRITY BIRTHS ON THIS DAY:

Ashanti, 29
Jerry Rice, 47
Marie Osmond, 50
"Friends"

Happy Birthday: You can use numerous this year if you put your hand on it. Ancient philosophy will hit home and work their way onto your personal and professional life. You'll find many of the limitations and frustrations of the past will be

CROSSWORD

WILL SHORTZ

CELEBRITY BIRTHS ON THIS DAY:

Ashanti, 29
Jerry Rice, 47
Marie Osmond, 50
"Friends"

Happy Birthday: You can use numerous this year if you put your hand on it. Ancient philosophy will hit home and work their way onto your personal and professional life. You'll find many of the limitations and frustrations of the past will be

CROSSWORD

WILL SHORTZ

CELEBRITY BIRTHS ON THIS DAY:

Ashanti, 29
Jerry Rice, 47
Marie Osmond, 50
"Friends"

Happy Birthday: You can use numerous this year if you put your hand on it. Ancient philosophy will hit home and work their way onto your personal and professional life. You'll find many of the limitations and frustrations of the past will be

CROSSWORD

WILL SHORTZ

CELEBRITY BIRTHS ON THIS DAY:

Ashanti, 29
Jerry Rice, 47
Marie Osmond, 50
"Friends"

Happy Birthday: You can use numerous this year if you put your hand on it. Ancient philosophy will hit home and work their way onto your personal and professional life. You'll find many of the limitations and frustrations of the past will be
WOMEN’S INTERHALL

Whirlwinds blank Chicks, Shamrocks shut out Babes

By ANDREW OWENS, MATTHEW ROBISON and KEVIN BALDWIN

Sports Writers

Sparked by the inspired play of freshman quarterback Victoria Moreno, Welsh Family defeated Lewis 26-0 to win its second game of the season.

Moreno threw for three touchdowns and added another on the ground as the Whirlwinds offense clicked on all cylinders.

“We’re feeling good on offense,” Moreno said. “Almost all our receivers caught a ball. It’s a team effort. The offensive line gave great protection.”

It was the final game of the season for the Whirlwinds, who finished with a 2-3 record. The finale was their best game of the year.

“It’s the first time we have had a really good offense and a solid defense at the same time,” Moreno said. “We’ve been practicing a lot and we are connecting more.”

The Chicks, meanwhile, drop to 1-4 and will conclude their season with a game against McGlinn after break. They faced the Whirlwinds without their starting quarterback, who went down last week because of a broken finger.

Freshman Connaught Blood, normally a receiver for the Chicks, started at quarterback. The offense was able to move the ball at times but was not able to punch it in for a touchdown.

“We played alright on offense,” Blood said. “We couldn’t have played better. Sometimes we are clicking and sometimes we aren’t. We have a good offense but tonight was just an off-night.”

The defense, despite allowing more points, had some bright spots to build on for their final game. Sophomore defensive lineman Lizzy Snow led the way with three sacks.

“I know I can rely on my linemen and we were able to get around the offensive line quickly and go around the outside.”

After allowing 20 first-half points, the defense made some adjustments and held the Whirlwinds for most of the second half.

“We started off slow,” Snow said. “The coaches talked to us at halftime and really raised our spirits. We started playing like we should have handled the game in the second half.”

McGlinn 21, Breen-Phillips 0

Despite Breen-Phillips’ desperate need for a win, McGlinn’s aerial attack was too much for the Babes to handle and the Shamrocks.

see INTERHALL/page 21

MEN’S SOCCER

Hoosier showdown

Irish host Indiana for latest match in rivalry

By MICHAEL BLASCO

Sports Writer

For a team that seems to have finally found its feet, the Irish will have no time to cool their heels.

Just returned from two victories on the road, No. 22 Notre Dame (7-4-1, 5-2-0 Big East) will host No. 19 Indiana (6-4-1) tonight at 7:15 p.m. at Alumni Stadium. The match will be the 30th meeting in the long-standing rivalry.

“It’s a big game. It’s a huge game,” ninth-year Irish coach Bobby Clark said. “Any meeting between the Irish and the Hoosiers is always one of the biggest games of the season in any sport, certainly in soccer. Indiana has a pedigree as long as your arm — a fantastic program.”

Notre Dame’s current three-game winning streak is its longest since 2009.

Senior Bright Dike prepares to take a shot in a match against Cincinnati on Sept. 27. The Irish fell to the Bearcats 1-0.

see HOOSIERS/page 22

MEN’S GOLF

Fortner, Sandman falter at Prestige

By DOUGLAS FARMER

Sports Writer

Notre Dame went as its two stalwart seniors went at the Prestige at PGA West, and Doug Fortner and Josh Sandman did not do very well in the three-day tournament, resulting in the Irish finishing 11th out of 13 teams with a total team score of 895, including a final round score of 294.

After winning the Fighting Irish Gridiron Golf Classic on Oct. 6, Sandman carded a final round nine-over-par 81 to finish the Prestige tied for 57th place with a 14-over-par, 230 overall.

“I know Josh [Sandman] was really tired,” Irish coach Jim Kubinski said. “He made some adjustments and held the Whirlwinds for most of the second half.”

see PRESTIGE/page 22

SMC VOLLEYBALL

Belles visit Alma for MIAA match

By CHRIS MICHALSKI

Sports Writer

The Belles take their two-game winning streak on the road to face off against MIAA opponent Alma today in Alma, Mich.

The Belles (9-9, 5-5 MIAA) picked up two conference wins this weekend against Trine and Adrian to bring their record to 5-20 for the first time all season.

With the playoffs fast approaching, it seems as though the Belles are beginning to come together as a team.

“We have some things that we still need to work on,” coach Toni Kuschel said. “But overall what is most important is that we play well together out on the court.”

Nonetheless, the Belles have made great strides this season and have already beaten two teams that they failed to beat in the previous meeting.

“We have found a rotation that is working really well for us,” Kuschel said. “Our team is giving 100 percent every day at practice to get us where we want to be in the conference.”

There is still work to be done to get a high seed in the post-season tournament; however, as