CONNECTICUT should be credited with the laziest fisherman. The individual in question is a "fifteenth amendment," who ties his fish-line to his dog, and when he gets a bite he kicks his dog.

A GENTLEMAN observed upon an indifferent pleader at the bar that he was the most affecting orator he ever heard, for he never attempted to speak but he excited general sympathy.
The Beautiful Valley of Memramcook.

To the Editor of the Scholastic: This valley is situated between the Bay of Fundy and the Gulf of St. Lawrence. When it first breaks upon the view from the Northern extremity, it presents the aspect of a river once scooped out by the hand of some one of the genii, but now deprived of its dashing torrents, save a small stream that winds its serpentine course towards the Bay of Fundy. On each side of this river spreads to the right and to the left a considerable plain of marshy land, here and there interrupted by a clump of bushes that the hand of industry has not yet rooted up.

As you advance, you perceive that it is entirely surrounded by a chain of hills which open only to let the small river, on its southerly course, pass on to the clearer waters. The summits of these hills are magnificently studded with trees, and form a pleasing contrast with the considerable plain of marshy land, here and there interrupted by the hand of enterprise is borne by a strong and courageous arm. About two miles from the northern extremity of this valley, and situated upon a small eminence on the right side of the river, is the College of St. Joseph, which was founded by the O. S. C, about nine years ago, and which continues to flourish under their judicious direction. A little beyond is the parish church, and presbytery, built of gray freestone, and exhibiting a majestic appearance when compared with the buildings which surround them. A little farther on, we meet the Academy of the Sacred Heart, erected about two years ago. Passing these buildings, nothing unusual presents itself until we arrive at the town of Dorchester, where the valley terminates. This town is situated on the left bank of the river, at the southern extremity, and is connected by railway with Halifax, Sledges, and St. John. The entire valley is overlooked from the college, and, on the whole, exhibits a more beautiful panorama than scenes which are far more renowned.

Circulating Library Society

Mr. Editor: Our long silence might indicate to you that we are languishing; but if so, change your notion instantly. This Society is in the height of prosperity, as every person who has attended our regular meetings can testify. Our plan of action is to peruse our books silently and diligently, and leave the loud talking to be done by our able brothers, whose pride it is to sound in eloquent notes the vocal organ.

At our last meeting, held on the 1st inst., an election of officers for the coming session took place, and resulted as follows:

Director—Rev. A. Lemonnier.
President—J. D. McCormick.
Treasurer—M. M. Foote.
Secretary—T. J. Dundon.

We have had a handsome addition to our Library, since our last, of sixty select volumes. The thanks of the Society are due to Rev. Father Lemonnier for his many elegant donations to our Library, including the works of Shakspeare.

We have at present upwards of four hundred volumes—a neat selection—and an attractive tier of letters for the lovers of literature.

T. J. Dundon, Secretary.

Rules for Life.—The following rules, from the papers of Dr. West, were, according to his memorandum, thrown together as general waymarks in the journey of life:

Never to ridicule sacred things, or what others may esteem such, however absurd they may appear to be.

Never to show levity when the people are professedly engaged in worship.

Never to resent a supposed injury, until I know the views and motives of it. Nor on any account to retaliate.

Never to judge of a person's character by personal appearance.

Always to take the part of an absent person who is censured in company, so far as truth and propriety will allow.

Never to think the worse of another on account of his differing in political or religious opinions.

A little girl was sent to the pasture to drive home the cows. While thus engaged she treated herself to climbing an unnecessary fence, from which she fell and was severely scratched and bruised. On returning home she was asked if she cried when she fell. "Why," no, was she replied: "what would have been the use? there was nobody to hear me!"

A stranger meeting a man in the streets of New York: some days since, roughly accosted him with, "Here? I want to go to the Tremont Hotel!" The deliberate reply was, "Well you may if you won't be gone long."

REV. FATHER LOUAGÉ, C.S.C., has been placed in charge of the St. Joseph Novitiates, and Rev. Father Letourneau has been appointed Director of the Manual Labor School.

The St. Cecilia Philanthem is decidedly the most energetic and liveliest Literary Society at Notre Dame. Their semi-weekly "Standard" is a paper full of excellent articles.

New students are arriving every day, and the College is as full as ever. It is consoling to see the health of the inmates of Notre Dame so good, even during the severe winter which we are having.

REV. FATHER DESCARHS, C.S.C., has been appointed to take charge of the congregation of St. Vincent, near Fort Wayne, and the Rev. Father Frère, C.S.C., who will return to Notre Dame to attend to new duties.

A very extensive building is about to be erected on the northwest side of the College. It will be in the shape of a square, presenting a front of 680 feet when completed. It is intended as a residence for the Sisters and for all the various departments under their charge, — such as wash-rooms, clothes-rooms, kitchens, etc. The cellar, under the west wing, will be 240 feet long by 30 feet wide; the kitchen is to be 90 feet long by 60 feet wide, and fitted up in such a manner as to answer the wants of 1,000 persons. The wash-room will be perfect in its arrangements, and will likewise supply without difficulty the wants of a multitude.

The putting up of these buildings will necessarily interfere this year with the erection of the intended wing of the College.

Obituary.

Died, on the 28th ult., BROTHER BERNARD JOSEPH, so long and favorably known to our readers as an eminently successful teacher and fervent religious; his unexpected death has filled us all with deep regret. Very Rev. Father General, in a circular announcing the death of this excellent religious, says:

"You will all be painfully surprised to hear of the death of our dear Brother Bernard Joseph. Since he returned from Ireland, with his seventeen postulants, he had enjoyed excellent health. When he left here on Tuesday evening, the 21st inst, he seemed better than ever. But it appears he suffered from the cold in the cars, between here and Chicago; there he contracted the beginning of a pleurisy which, in spite of the best medical aid, proved fatal on the following Tuesday night. During his sickness, first with the excellent family of J. Scanlon, Esq., and then with the Sisters of Charity, in St. Joseph's Hospital, he received all the helps of our Holy Faith, and died a most edifying death, in the arms of his own dear Brother Joseph, who had been sent from here on Monday previous. His remains were buried here yesterday at two o'clock, P. M.

In the loss of Brother Bernard Joseph the Congregation loses one of its most faithful and devoted members. None will feel more keenly than myself the sad and unexpected intelligence I now convey, with a special request to immediately offer in his behalf every suffrage secured to him by the Rules.

He was born in Ireland A. D. 1824; received the habit here in 1838, and made his profession in 1855, on the 15th of August. Requiescat in pace.

PLAY-HALLS.—Nothing strange has happened in this quarter of late; the programme remains unchanged. However, we do not see the parallel bars in use as much as we expected; there will afford good exercise, even better than going the lake "to pull." The stove in the play-hall has the fame of being a good feeder, and judging from the amount of wood stacked up by the door, it will not have to go hungry for some time, nor be in want of a lunch at any hour of the day. The firemen are attentive, and we hear no one complaining. Lining the play-hall on the inside has made it much more comfortable than before.
Very much. These entertainments are the more pleasing as they are rare. Rare things are generally precious. We ured is a want of time. Still, time used in this way can be last year on these occasions. Why shouldn't they?

ATTOrOGPb books went the rounds as the session neared
a close. Thus do students become attached to one another, and take this means of preserving in their own minds the resemblance of their fellows at college and of college days themselves. These will in years to come afford them many a pleasant hour, as will the reading of the Scholastic. Everyone in after years loves to look back upon the days when he was a student, and remember the good times spent at college. And these books will serve to revive college life before the mind's eye, and the possessor often for the a moment will think himself back again within the hallowed walls of the old college.

HAVING felt somewhat inclined towards amusement the other morning, we wended our way to the Seniors' play-hall, and, on entering, the graceful movement of jovial dancers and the delightful strains of a mouth-organ attracted our attention. Being partial to the terpsichorean art, we soon mingled in with the merry throng, and after satiating our love for the sport, curiosity prompted us to see who it was that generously gave a part of his recreation to furnish music for our indulgence. It proved to be our genial friend, Edward Splitney. Many thanks to Eddy for his kindness and manifestation of good will. We feel certain that these "thanks" are reciprocated by all.

CHANGES.—Many changes for the better have been made within the past few weeks, and already eclipse Examination as a subject of conversation among the students. The Collegiate Study-Hall has been finished; its situation is opposite the class-rooms of Profs. Howard and Tong, the two rooms being converted into one, which has been well fitted up, even finer than any one anticipated. Here are to be accommodated the students who have entered the University Course,—namely those of the four last years of the Classical and Scientific Courses. It is a want which has been making itself more apparent as the institution has advanced in years and prosperity. Not only is it a source of great convenience to those who are already sufficiently advanced, but a source of encouragement to others who are in the Preparatory Course. It has also been found advisable to make more dormitory room, as owing to the great number of students attending the University the dormitories have been too crowded; and the rooms known as the Prefects' and Vocal Rooms have been thrown together for a dormitory for the students of the graduating year.
The students are all well pleased, and especially those of the Collegiate Department, with the kindness and solicitude which is thus manifested in their regard.
The Notes of Examination were announced in the respective study-halls at eight o'clock, A.M., on Sunday last. The notes were announced as being quite satisfactory, and indeed they were generally very good. The students of the Senior Department gave a hearty applause upon the announcement that Messrs. Charles Hodgson, Jas. L. Noonan, and H. N. Saylor were accepted in the Commercial Course, and were to receive their Diplomas at the Annual Commencement in June. Indeed they are worthy young gentlemen, and we take this occasion to extend to them our warm congratulations. The Rev. President of the University read the notes in the Seniors' Hall, and observed that those who had studied well during the past session had, as a necessary consequence of their labor, passed a good examination, while, on the other hand, it was not too late for the others to commence to work well also; five months yet remained, in which time a great deal may be accomplished if the student will but apply himself to earnest work. May all improve these golden hours. Shortly after the Rev. President had concluded his remarks, the Rev. Vice-President of the University came in and expressed his satisfaction, besides making known the promotions, etc. A general satisfaction is felt among the students regarding the Examination notes.

The Cold Snap.—Another cold snap has just passed, and indeed it was cold enough for us. We thought when the last one was over that a January thaw should be the next on the programme; but the clerk, it seems, does not always act as we expect him to. We think he has been rather severe this winter, and has given us more cold weather than we could naturally expect. The fact of the matter is, we have had the severest winter thus far that we have ever experienced at Notre Dame. February is flying, and still the winter seems to maintain its rigor. Anxious indeed are we to chronicle the return of the snows, "the beautiful snow," is all that greets our eyes as the frosty snow glistening in its light, the clearness of the sky and the serenity of the morning, all attract attention and tend to make us forget the keenness of the cold. The bright sun seems as if it will dissolve their hopes into which skating has fallen in this vicinity. The clock in the Seniors' study-hall has caught the epizootic from the large one in the church-tower, yet this did not prevent the students from sleeping until half-past six during Examination week. The new boxes that have been made for the wash-rooms should not be omitted to be mentioned; and the wish for milder weather is not the least among our desires. When the students of the Collegiate Course have removed from the Seniors' study-hall the Commercial students will be greatly accommodated in having more room—the want of which is not unfrequently felt by them.

SAINT MARY'S ACADEMY.

St. Mary's Academy, February 4, 1873.

The Semi-annual Examination closed on the 31st ult. Classes were reorganized and regular duties commenced on the 3d inst. The reports received from the different bureaus are very satisfactory; many pupils in each class were marked 100 in their studies; very few received less than 75. The notes of each pupil will be forwarded to her parents or guardian. The pupils had evinced great earnestness in preparing for the Examination, therefore all seem satisfied with the past and full of energy and hopeful ambition for the future.

On Friday evening the young ladies had a very pleasant dancing-party, which seemed to afford them a delightful relaxation after the exciting labors of the week.

On the Feast of the Purification the pupils witnessed the ceremony of the profession of four novices: Sister Mary of the Holy Infancy, Sister Mary of the Purification, Sister Mary of the Presentation, Sister Mary of St. Eustatha.

The Honorable Mentions of this week are taken from the Examination reports. Instrumental Music and English Classes will be mentioned next week.

Two things indicate an obscure understanding—to be silent when we ought to converse, and to speak when we should be silent.

"Sam, why don't you talk to masses, and tell him to lay up treasures in heaven?" "What's de use of him laying up treasures dere, where he never see 'em again?"

Eating a paper is very much like carrying an umbrella on a windy day: Everybody thinks he could manage better than the one who has hold of the handle.

"Were you ever at Cork, Mr. Foote?" said a gentleman to the comedian. "No, I never was at Cork," replied the wit, "but I have seen a great many drawings of it."

"Please, sir," said a little girl, who was sweeping a crossing for a living, "you have given me a bad penny." "Never mind, little girl; you may keep it for your honesty."

A great party-leader defied his opponents with the following extraordinary announcement:—"You cannot fight against the future; Tim is on our side!" An action is pending against the printer.

Renounce a wrong by forgiving it.

Poverty and shame await the slothful.

Truth is like a torch. The more it is shaken the more it shines.

Kindness is a language that even dumb brutes can understand.

A "smile" that foretells sorrow—the one that you take in a bar-room.

To preserve honor is one's duty, and to be silent, is the best answer to calumny.

Moderation is the silken string running through the pearl-chain of all virtues.

Be diligent and careful to improve the smallest shreds and broken ends of time.

He that knows the world will not be too hasty. He that knows himself will not be too forward.
