Insatiate.

BY ELIOT RYDER.

Down in the golden Mexican mines we went;
On every hand there shone the glittering ore;
Men labor there with well-assumed content,
And yet their rich gains never fill their store.

Day after day the pick and shovel sound,
For few men weary of their quest for gold;
Though priceless be the treasures that are found,
They wish them greater by a hundred-fold.

Here, in my attic room, there is a mine
Richer by far than those of Mexico;
Along its walls the glittering gold-grains shine
From glorious books, whose rich-wrought pages glow
With treasures in a never-failing store,
Yet, with abundance blest, I yearn for more.

Commencement.

The weather was clear and pleasant during the three days of the Commencement Exercises, and, on account of the well-arranged programme none of the exercises could have been long or wearisome to the visitors. Everything went off happily, and the University Orchestra and Cor-et Band—both of which were in excellent training—interspersed the exercises with choice music.

We first assembled in the Rotunda of the University to witness the exercises of the Graduating Class and the closing exercises of the renowned Eaglesoian Association. These exercises proved to be highly entertaining; they were inaugurated with an overture—"A Night in Granada"— by the University Quartette, which was finely rendered.
This was followed by an essay from Geo. F. Sugg (Scicentific, '81. The matter was excellent, and the delivery all that could have been desired. "The Christian Gladiator" was ably personated by Cas. Tinley, who has long held one of the first places in the Class of Elocution and who on this occasion even surpassed himself.

Eugene C. Orrick's "Address to a Country Jury" was one of the best things of the evening. The audience, during its delivery, were kept in constant roars of laughter.
The same may be said of Mr. Solon's "Personification of Logic," which he so well delivered later in the evening.
"Self-Importance" was the subject of Mr. D. D. Danahey's lecture. Danahey showed himself to advantage in his "Self-importance," and by his many humorous and witty remarks convulsed the audience with laughter. Then came that which pleased us most of all, for it came just in time.
We had been listening to the dry (?) discourses of the Graduates for nearly two hours; our auricular nerves were rendered almost useless by the terrible strain they were required to bear. In taking in the stentorian sounds emitted by Prof. Lyons's Elocution Class, when "Barney" Clag-gett ('80) came to the rescue, and gave us one of those charming guitar solos for which he had become so famous when a student at the University last year, Mr. Claggett received an encore—he had won it by his excellent playing. After he had responded to this outburst of applause by playing another fine selection, we felt as if we could sit there for just one hour more, when the evening's programme would be terminated. Mr. Geo. E. Clarke (Law, '81,) then delivered one of the ablest addresses which we have heard fall from his lips this year—and that is saying much in his praise. "Patriotism," by J. P.
O'Neill, was unquestionably the best delivered declamation of the evening. He was simply perfect in his renderation of the piece. Well worthy was he of the Medal for Elocution which he received last Thursday morning. If Mr. O'Neill continues to improve in years to come as he has in the one just closed, he will one day have but few rivals in this particular arena.
The Commercial address, by Mr. T. Kavanagh, was a well-written and well-read one. In it he paid a just tribute of gratitude to his Alma Mater. He spoke at length of the advantages and the necessity of a good commercial education, showing conclusively that without a sound commercial training no man can truthfully be called a business man. He concluded his essay as follows: "Fellow-classmates, a place in the ranks awaits us. We have the benediction of a loving mother. The deep solicitude of our class, together with those of the Euglossian Association, took place in the Rotunda on Tuesday evening. Mr. Sugg read a scientific essay, Mr. Clarke delivered a discourse on the Judicious Address, Mr. Harrington on the Legislative, and Mr. Harrington on the Executive. The Graduates did credit to themselves and to the University."

Then follows the account of the Commencement Exercises at St. Mary's Academy, which were very beautiful and interesting. The exercises were held in a frame structure, and being located near the main buildings of the Academy, was torn down last year to cut off all danger from fire, which of late has been making sad havoc at many of the principal colleges throughout the country. Owing to the want of a hall large enough to accommodate all the pupils and visitors, several of the young ladies went home before Commencement day, and invitations were restricted to the relatives of the pupils and a few very special friends of the Institution. Still, a large concourse had assembled to witness the exercises. The account of these published in the Chicago and South Bend papers are so full and satisfactory that we save the trouble of writing, and copy from the South Bend papers.

McEniry, of Osborne, Ill.; D. Milner, of Portland, Oregon; and D. McCawley, of Chicago. The exercises of this class, together with those of the English Association, took place in the Rotunda on Tuesday evening. Mr. Sugg read a scientific essay, Mr. Clarke delivered a discourse on the Judicary, Mr. McEniry one on the Legislative, and Mr. Harrington on the Executive. THE REGATTA.

At the close of the Alumni Banquet, all about the Colleague—faculty, students and guests—repaired to the lake to witness the annual boat race between the Minnehaha and Hiawatha crews. The crowd was swelled by hundreds of our city, who came out to witness the race. The Regatta was held in the city. The afternoon was delightful, and there was a pleasant breeze around the beautiful lake were doled with people on every side. At about 4 o'clock the crews pulled out from the boathouse and were received with cheers from the interested spectators. The boats were manned by the following: Minnehaha—B. Smith, stroke; T. F. Kanavan, 2d and Captain; W. Arnold, 3d; C. Van Dussen, 4th; W. B. McGorrick, 5th; F. B. Dovery, bow; J. McIntyre, coxswain; color, white. Hiawatha—M. J. McEniry, stroke; M. J. McCue, 2d; D. A. Harrington, 3d; G. F. Sugg, 4th and Captain; H O'Donnell, 5th; J. McNamara, bow; P. W. Bloom, coxswain; color, blue. It was necessary, in order to make the required distance to cross the lake three times, to making two turns. Rev. Father O'Keefe gave the crews the starting signal, and they shot out with steady stroke and kept nearly even all the way to the first turn, and then carried back in about the same position to the second turn, the blues lost by running too close to the shore, and the whites started down the home stretch, fully a length and a half ahead of the Minnehahas, and the latter were unable to close up the gap although they buckled into the work with a will, and gained steadily on the Hiawahatas before the home buoy was reached. The crews were quite equally matched, everything being equal, and but for the blues' loss of time on their second turn, the race would have been very close. Loud cheers greeted the winning crew, and they came ashore to receive the hearty congratulations of their friends. Very Rev. President Corby acted as judge of the race.

THE CADETS' PARADE.

The next thing on the programme was the parade review of the University Cadets, under command of Capt. Cocke. The Cadets, to the number of about fifty, filed out of the armory at 5 o'clock, and, headed by the College Band, marched past the front porches of the University building, which was crowded with spectators, and then repaired to the Juniors' Campus, where they went through a series of military evolutions with a proficiency that evidenced careful and thorough training on the part of their Commander. The boys were afterwards brought up in a line before Col. Otis, of the U. S. Army, and put through the manual of arms, obeying all the commands promptly and handling their muskets with the care and unanimity of veterans. They received approving applause from the assembled spectators and were highly complimented by Col. Otis. Another parade in front of the College building concluded the review, and the Cadets retired to their armory. Capt. Cocke deserves great credit for the pains he has taken to instruct the boys in the military art, and his careful work is fully appreciated by the officers of the university.

THE PLAY.

The exercises in Washington Hall, last night, consisted of an opening march from Bocenccio by the University Cornet Band, an overture from William Tell, by the University Orchestra, and the presentation of the drams of William Tell. The prologue was recited in graceful style by W. J. McCarthy. The drama was presented under the direction of Prof. Lyons, with rich costumes and appropriate scenic effects, and the acting was frequently applauded. G. F. Sugg, as "Gesler," carried his part well; while G. E. Clarke, as "Tell," and O. Tinley as his son; W. H. Arnold as Tell's father, and A. Zahm as Emil's father, carried out their parts with the ease and expression of old actors. The crown in many parts, did all that was required of them, and came off admirably. At the close of the play, Mr. Clarke, with his brother graduates, appeared before the curtain, and he spoke feelingly of the past pleasant associations and of the parting that was at hand. Right Reverend Bishop Dwenger then addressed the students and audience, and the exercises of the day were over.
A RECORD OF HER TWENTY-SIXTH ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT.

Commencement week at St. Mary's has been one of the happiest, and most fortunate of all the twenty-six which preceded it. Nature seemed to rejoice in the happiness of the fair students, and the fond satisfaction of parents and friends. With such weather—cloudless skies and balmy, refreshing the exercises and ceremonies, there was accompanying it the added gratification of a much larger attendance of visitors than in any former year. Really, though, this is but natural to an educational institution that has passed its first quarter of a century, and acquired a reliable reputation. The graduates of five or fifteen years ago came to-day to visit their own children, who are now Juniors or Minims, and, will, in a few years, call their mothers' Alumna Mater their own. The graduates of twenty and twenty-five years ago, come back to attend matrons, to see how some favorite grand-child thrives in the forest-embowered cherishing mother. Surely St. Mary's Academy is growing old, indeed, when these things are recognized of her. Yet, while growing old in years, she grows in beauty. None realize this more than her graduates of long ago. They find the original building replaced with huge piles of brick and mortar, beautiful in their architecture, roomy, perfect in their convenience and sanitary arrangements, and lacking nothing that will contribute to the health and comfort of students. They find the once small lawn spread out until it embraces acres, shaded not only by evergreens, maples and elms planted by human hands, but with forest trees that Nature set there centuries ago. Then there are serpentine walks among flower gardens, past fountains, by rustic seats and arbors. The flower gardens, past fountains, by rustic seats and arbors, and huge stone vases laden with the richest flowers and verdure, are but a memory of the days when the garden was a mere looking-glass of water and some stone vases laden with the richest flowers and verdure, are but a memory of the days when the garden was a mere looking-glass of water and some paper flowers. The Entertainment—for such it was, and of a high order—was a happy blending of music and literary exercises which banished even the shadow of monotony from the programme, and kept the audience on the qui vive for each succeeding number.

The programme opened with Chopin's Polonaise in A Flat (Opus 53) by Miss Sullivan, whose playing evidenced a natural talent and splendid training for the piano. Miss Smith read an essay on "The Spirit of Joy more Precious than Gold," which pleased the audience with its fine "French" tone and academic manner. Miss Cortright spoke from good works and pure motives. Miss Ward's subject was "Life's Vista Open Before Us," which was treated in a most artistic manner. Miss Smith then played "Valse de Juliette" with splendid effect, and Miss Roan followed with the French essay. She chose for her subject the French music and excellence of her Artistes de la comedie musicale." The Vocal Class then sang; the chorus "Indamantia" with solo by Miss Godbert, the eminent French teacher on the violin, Miss Fendrick, McGrath, Buck, Teu, Usselman, Farrell and Sullivan. From the Polyphora di Moise, the Vocal Class, Misses Kirchner and Gordon sustaining admirably the music. This followed an arias by elsayer, "Arizona Skies and their Cloud Draping." Miss Farroll's essay on "The Festive Year," though written in prose, was among the best, and the young lady read it at this point in the exercises. Miss Smith then played on the piano "Sonnambula" and received the hearty applause of the audience, and after an "Impromptu" (Opus 26) by Miss Nen, read the German essay; Miss Gordon then sang an arias from "Nigoletto," by Verdi, with a very fine voice.

At this point in the programme occurred an unexpected feature, because unannounced. A gentleman who visited the Academy about a fortnight ago arranged with Mother Superior to offer a prize for the best essay on the true dignity of woman, and two or three of the young ladies entered into competition for it. The essay of Miss Angela Ewing was pronounced the best, and the young lady read it at this point in the exercises. It was a very spiritful lesson, and that part of it which treated of the true dignity of woman, as it was treated in the essay, would be, to the motion of others, as the romanstic and artist of great talent, and has formed the nucleus of a sculpture department by engaging her for three years, and setting apart a room to be devoted to that art. Some of Miss of Da La Barre, a sister of Father General, has been awarded. The event was a satisfying testimony as to her abilities. In connection with the Art department at St. Mary's, it would be proper to mention the Toner Medal, offered by Dr. Toner, of Washington, D. C. Several specimens of Miss Cortright's work are on exhibition in this school, and as the collection includes the choicest curiosities, the privilege is a rare and valuable one.

From the "Evening Register" of June 26th.

Closing Scenes at St. Mary's Academy—The Graduates.

The second day of the Commencement Exercises at St. Mary's Academy was the most interesting of the two. The formal exercises were those of the Senior Department, and the conferring of Graduating Gold Medals. The programme was opened with the selection of "The Spirit of Joy more Precious than Gold," which pleased the audience with its fine "French" tone and academic manner. The Vocal Class then sang an arias from "Nigoletto," by Verdi, with a very fine voice.

The programme was introduced at eleven o'clock by the "Kaiser March" on eight pianos by Misses Gordon, Hayride, McGrath, Buck, Nen, Sullivan, followed by the "Mosica," from "Trovaute," by the Vocal Class, Misses Kirchner and Gordon sustaining admirably the solo parts. Then came the distribution of premiums to the Junior Department, coinciding with the presentation of the medals of sculpture. St. Mary's has for many years been noted for the excellence of its Art and Music departments, and this addition to the Academy was a happy completion to those departments. The Toner Medal, offered by Dr. Toner, of Washington, D. C. Several specimens of Miss Cortright's work are on exhibition in this school, and as the collection includes the choicest curiosities, the privilege is a rare and valuable one.

Among the improvements contemplated by Mother Superior are the construction of a large Conservatory at the southern termination of the building, a tennis lawn in the meadow at the foot of the hill, and a miniature Alpine hill rising to the present river bank observatory. For this purpose she has ordered plants and shrubs indigenous to the Alps. The conception is beautiful, and every way worthy of Mother Superior's origin.

—Masters W. J. Scholt and C. A. Beurett, of Fort Wayne, Ind., came on to see the College and surrounding scenery the past week. The little fellows were much pleased with their visit.

—Prof. T. F. O'Mahony, a graduate of '73, attended the Alumni meeting. The Professor is now interested in a mine in Colorado, and also manages a farm in Lake Forest, III.

—John G. Ewing, Law, '73, attended the Alumni meeting over the weekend. Ewing is a prominent lawyer in Lancaster, Ohio, and was recently elected, to a responsible position by his fellow-citizens, by a large majority.

—F. B. Ryan, '73, is in Chicago. His father is one of the most prominent lawyers of Elgin, Illinois, and is doing a first-rate business. He, with his wife and children, was here for the Commencement, and intends to extend a warm welcome to their Alma Mater, and give old Winimac many worthy representatives. Mr. Ryan is serving his second term as County Auditor. Although kept busy by the duties of his office, he found time to run down to the Commencement Exercises.

—Daniel J. Maloney, Law, '74, is now one of the most prominent lawyers of Elgin, Illinois, and is doing a first-rate business. He, with his wife and children, was here for the Commencement, and intends to give old Winimac many worthy representatives. Mr. Maloney's brother Harry, a graduate of the Sacred Heart College, Waiwetown, Wis., and now a seminarian at St. Francis's, Wis., accompanied him here; also Mr. L. Hallon, a graduate of the same institution, now also a seminarian.

—Frank J. Weisenberger, '75, who is now one of the prominent merchants of Defiance, Ohio, writes to one of his old prefects, Bro. Paul, that business forced him away from his Alma Mater before the grand picnic, and the Commencement Exercises. He says he was really "home-sick for Notre Dame" and his friends here, and intended to return for Commencement, but a runaway and smash-up, which killed one of his favorite horses, prevented. We are glad that Frank sustained no personal injury.

—The following is a list of some of the visitors on Commencement Day. Many others were present, but we failed to get their names: Miss Julia Lyster, Miss Annie Wells, and several worthy friends, all of whom it was a pleasure to meet.

—Mrs. S. J. Quinn, '73, was glad to see Prank B. Baker, '73, who attended the Commencement. Mr. Baker, in company with Mr. Withers, one of the oldest and ablest lawyers in Fort Wayne. Will be here on Commencement Day. His firm does a fine law business. Will be present.

—Mr. and Mrs. Baker, prominent residents of Fort Wayne, attended Commencement. Mrs. Baker is a near relative of an old-time graduate, Mr. John Cody, who could not come this year, attending in Mr. Baker's business in Indianapolis. Mr. and Mrs. Baker, and his two sons, are all graduates of St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore. Frank Baker, of '82, and Mr. John Baker, a graduate of '79.

—Mrs. Hug, of Indianapolis, mother of Hugo and George Hug, both graduates of former years, attended the Commencement, in company with several of the Indianapolis ladies and gentlemen, among whom we noticed another warm friend of the institution, Mrs. Geo. Rhddius, of the Circle House, and Mr. Kelz, her business manager.

—Rev. P. W. Riordan, D. D., '36, and Rev. D. S. Tighe, '71, both of Chicago, were among the visitors during Commencement week. Father Riordan delivered an eloquent and impressive address at the Alumni banquet. Among the other Chicago clergy to whom we were delighted to extend a warm welcome were Rev. —At the 35th regular meeting of the St. Cecilia Philomathic Association, the gold badge of the Association was presented to Prof. James F. Edwards, with a diploma of life membership.

—The weather for the past few weeks has been delightful, and walks around Notre Dame are very enjoyable. The well wooded lakeside is always a favorite retreat in warm weather.

—And now for trout the youth goes out, and whips the stream all day; and he'll declare, and even swear, "The biggest got away!"

—Idioms differ in different places. In New York you are called to "breakfast"; in Philadelphia, to "breakfish"; in Chicago, to "breakfish"; while in ugly and esthetic Boston you are told that "the maternal repast awaits your consumption."

—Fourteen Minims have remained to spend the vacation at Notre Dame. They have class for two hours and a half in the forenoon; the rest of the day is spent in fishing and such other games and amusements as the small boys delight in.

—The Minims' teachers wish all their pupils a happy vacation. Their diligence and exceptionally good conduct during the scholastic year, have endeared them to those with whom they have been so intimately connected for the past ten months.

—A number of the old students were at the Lake Shore Depot in Chicago, last Thursday evening, waiting for the arrival of the train bearing their old college chums. Among the number, we recognized Jack Le Fevre, '74; Aron Mengenthien, '79, and J. J. Quinn, '78.

—There was an old lady of Worcester, Who put in an old Shanghaicerester; When asked what indocerester To fondle the roaster, She blushed, for the question confecrister.

—On the Feast of St. Aloysius, the students of the Minim department assisted at Mass and twenty-three of the number received Holy Communion. They were granted recreation during the entire day. At four o'clock they repaired to the refectory, where a splendid lunch was prepared for them.

—At the 36th and closing meeting of the St. Cecilia Philomathie Association, medals, badges, and diplomas were distributed. The President, in a brief address, congratulated the members upon their good conduct during the year, and upon the proficiency and ability which they had displayed.

—Solemn High Mass was celebrated on Wednesday morning by Very Rev. President Corby; Rev. D. A. Tighe, deacon, Rev. D. A. Clarke, Editor of the Catholic Columbian, subdeacon; Master C. C. Echlin was leader; Messrs. Cleary and Brown, servers, and Masters Robbie Cosello and Henry Metz, light-bearers.

—The St. Cecilia Philomathian Society returns thanks for favors received during the past year, to Very Rev. President Corby, Rev. Rev. Vice-President Walsh, Rev. Father O'Keeffe, Rev. T. McNamara, C. S. C., Editor of the Scholastic; Prof. James F. Edwards; Brothers Leander, Simon, and Edward; Mr. Elliot Ryder, and other kind friends.

—Judge Cleary, of Covington, Ky., General Morgan, and Col. Otis, of the United States Army, honored the Alumni banquet with their presence. In the absence of Mayor Hall, of Chicago, who was to address the graduates, but who at the last moment found it impossible to come, Judge Cleary delivered an extemporaneous address replete with humor and good advice.

—Each of the fifty Minims has promised Very Rev. Father General to bring a new student to the department when they return next September; and as the Minims will do their utmost to prove to Very Rev. Father General what excellent canvassers they are, we have no doubt but many of them will succeed in making this promise good, and a large Minim Department next year will be the result.

—On Tuesday afternoon, at 5 o'clock, Rev. T. E. Walsh, read the result of the examinations. It showed that the students of St. 91 were not only ready for any preceding year, but, by great odds, their superiors. Rev. J. O'Keeffe, Prefect of Discipline, read the exercises for Wednesday, and Thursday, and was followed by President Corby who spoke at length to the students on the success of the past year.

—The faculty and students of the University of Notre Dame return thanks to the various railroads for courtesies extended—notably to Messrs. C. Paine, W. P. Johnson, H. P. O'Donnell, F. Dev.; Mrs. Browne, C. Godin, T. P. Clarke, J. McNamara, J. O'Reilly, R. O'Connor, G. Tracey. Bro. Paul says we have given him too much honor in the affair, as the general success was mainly due to the exertions of Bro. Emmanuel, the Assistant Rector.

—Right Rev. Bishop Dwenger, D. D., of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Very Rev. Father Sorin, Superior-General of the Congregation of the Holy Cross, distributed the Honors and Premiums on Commencement Day. After all was over at Notre Dame, they made a like distribution at St. Mary's, at the conclusion of which the Fort Wayne "Minim"—who only entered the Minim department at Notre Dame a month ago—arose, and made a sound and highly appro­ priate speech, which all declare reflects honor on the Right Rev. Fort Wayne "Minim."

—On Sunday, the 19th, Very Rev. Father General sent the Minims a box of candy; they thank him for it and the many other treats they have received from him since last September. They would wish, each of them, to say good-bye to him before leaving Notre Dame; but as this was impossible, he being so much engaged with old friends and visitors, the Minims have requested to have their affectionate good-wishes conveyed to him through the Scholastic. Even in the midst of their happy homes, during vacation, there will be many an affectionate remembrance of their venerated and loved patron; and when they return next September, no face will be more eagerly sought for than Very Rev. Father General's.

—The exercises of the Vocal Music Classes took place before a large assemblage of students, visitors, and members of the Faculty, in the Rundela, last Tuesday evening. Several good selections were given by the Junior and Senior Classes. The duets by Messrs. Tracey and O'Donnell, Schaefer and Johnson, and the solos by Schaefer and Brehmer, were excellent. It was impossible for us to obtain the names of all the visitors present, but among them we recognized Rev. Father Kilroy, D. D., Stratford, Ont.; Mrs. G. Rhodius, Indianapolis, Ind.; Judge Cleary and lady, Covington, Ky.; James McNamara, Jr., and Miss Josephine McNamara, Dexter, Mich.; Mrs. P. O'Keeffe, O'Connell, O'; Mrs. M. O'Keefe, Ill.; C. Garrick, Chicago, Ill.; J. R. Lambin, Chicago, III.; Mrs. G. Woodson, Ft. Laramie, Wyoming, Ter.; Miss Higdon, Bardstown, Ky.; Chas Cavanagh, Philadelphia, Penn.; J. Gibbons, Brokly, Iowa.

—The 31st regular meeting of the Sorin Literary and Dramatic Association was held June 21st. Declaimations were delivered by Masters C. C. Echlin, P. Farrelly and G. E. Tourillotte. The President then made a few remarks, complimenting the Minims on their gentlemanly deportment during the year. He stated that during the past four years of his connection with the them there was no year in which he had had more pleasure and more satisfaction in the combination of the Sorin Literary and Dramatic Association than during the present year. Each member was presented with a momento of his kindest regards. Master C. C. Echlin then arose, and, in the name of the Sorin Association, thanked the President for the great interest which he had taken in the Association during the year. An hour or more was spent in social, enjoyable intercourse, after which the meeting adjourned until September 18—.

Our friend Gilbert L. Elliott, the efficient and gentlemanly agent of the Michigan Central Railroad in South Bend, has cause to rejoice at the deserved promotion of his eldest son Robert. We clip the following from the South Bend Register of a recent date:

"When Rob Elliott was transferred from the Michigan Central to this office in the city, where he was assigned to the service of his father, Mr. G. L. Elliott, in the conduct of the business for several years, to the charge of the company's affairs at Pokagon, the higher promotion has now come in the shape of an appointment as relief agent on the road, in which position he will travel from point to point along the road, filling temporary vacancies and assisting delinquent agencies. The notification of promotion came from Mr. C. C. Reed, superintendent of telegraph, and in his letter he pays a handsom compliment to Rob's services, saying among other things that his prospects are much more than ordinary for his age. Rob's friends here are much pleased over his advancement."

Prof. Edwards, President of the Lemonnier Students' Library Association, returns the thanks of the Association to Messrs. Rowell and Hickox, Vineland, New Jersey, for a set of numbers of their American Shorthand Writer for the Donations of books. Donations of old and rare books will be thankfully received.

PROSPECTUS OF Brownie's Photographic Monthly
AND REPORTER'S JOURNAL.
NEW YORK, FOR THE YEAR 1881.
ORGAN OF THE REPORTING PROFESSION.

This publication is now in its sixteenth volume. A course of lessons is being given by the editor, which will embrace all the latest improvements of the art as adopted by reporters during the past twenty years reporting. As all instruction books are years behind the practice of the art, and do not contain any of the new principles introduced, these lessons will be found invaluable to all students.

A SIMPLIFIED REPORTING SYSTEM of leading stenographers will show word-forms and phrases not to be found elsewhere, that will be useful as showing how little attention practical reporters pay to the expedients, devices, and contrivances put down in the old instruction books and recommended by authors.

PORTRAITS AND SKETCHES will be given which will be useful as showing what have been the struggles, trials and success of men prominent in the profession. In this way an acquaintance will be made with these gentlemen that will be of lasting interest to old stenographers and to any young man about to take up the art.

It is also the only shorthand publication in America published promptly on the 15th of each month. It contains news, notices of new books, personal notices of stenographers, and communications from reporters throughout the world.
