Top of the Week

World Astrology magazine still a heavy favorite on the campus rack ...

And in This Corner ...

It's been nothing but mayhem, murder and mauling—with a few delightful waltzes thrown in—over at the Fieldhouse the past Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. And although the fight crowd has made only a sparse showing for the preliminary nights, tomorrow night's semi-finals should begin to lessen the gate troubles of the Knights of Columbus promoters, who have been a little bit concerned over the pall of interest in the openers.

But the semi-final and final nights have always been the big draw nights in the past and there is no reason in sight that says this year's edition of the Bengal Battles will be much different.

Erin Go Bragh?

And especially with Monday eve being St. Patrick's Day, what better way to celebrate the wearing of the shillelagh, 'er whatever, than to watch six or seven good brawls—albeit supervised—and then everyone down to Sweeney's for clog dancing and furniture-breaking.

The Brockton Bust

Monday night will also see an overly-publicized young fellow, who travels professionally under the name of Rocky Marciano, crawl through the Fieldhouse ropes to serve as honorary referee and to receive a trophy of some description from the Bengal committee.

Rocky, who wears the somewhat questionable title of leading heavyweight contender, performs murder, mayhem and waiting for a living, and bides his extra-curricular time in appearing at similar smokers to guest-referee or to just stand up and flex for the crowd, for which he is renumerated accordingly. At this occasion, he will do both—and will pocket seven hundred clams for the privilege. Oh well, caveat emptor, as the fella says.

sent on campus this semester. I don't know why we should mention it other than the fact that we had a hand in it and we're desperate for space-filling comments this week (we're getting tired of needling St. Mary's).

But there will be a musical and it will be played on the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth of May (pre-Broadway run). And in answer to many questions and inquiries on the matter (two) tryouts for parts will be held in Washington Hall March 18th and 19th at seven-thirty (bring your own accompanist).

The title of the show is Stay Tuned For Addleman, which probably doesn't mean a thing to those who aren't familiar with the play, but that's all right, we'll get around to explaining that later. All we want to do right now is to exhort all you embryonic Ray Bolgers, and any Ethel Mermans that might be in the crowd, to try out for a part this coming Tuesday and Wednesday nights. No novelty juggling acts, please.

Pogo Next?

There have been a few disturbing occurrences on campus these past several weeks, and though we are at a loss to predict what they might portend, we thought we'd just better pass it along for your own personal judgment.

First of all, someone has been passing out comic books in the Commerce school—Mark Trail comic books at that! I don't know what the significance of this might be, unless they're offering a course in forestry over there.

The other thing that bothers me is the raise in price on boxes of matches in the caf. Time was when a pyromaniac could purchase a box of matches in there for a mere 14 cents—the new price is a ridiculous 45 cents. Why? I don't know. Might be another example of our bourgeois decadency, or something, huh?

PALACE (to March 21)—Invitation (Legion of Decency Rating A-2) is a picture that is sure to go over with all the women and sentimental young men who catch it. Van Johnson has been palling around with Ruth Roman when he suddenly up and weds Dorothy McGuire, who, by the way, has been ticketed for departure from this planet. It seems that Miss McGuire's pater has paid off Johnson to marry her in order that she may spend her last year happily. The year passes but she lives on, and of course Johnson comes to love her anyhow. Well acted, well directed. Co-feature is Shadow in the Sky (A-2) with James Whitmore and Nancy Davis.

ENGINEERING AUDITORIUM—Second session of the Marriage Institute starts at 7:30. Prof. Sheehan will speak on "Economic Matters Before and After Marriage" and Father Nealy on "Marriage Legislation and the Ritual of the Church."

MARCH 15

FIELDHOUSE—Bengal semi-finals starting at 8 a.m.

WASHINGTON HALL—Rhubarb, at 1:30, 3:45 and 7:30 p.m.

FIELDHOUSE—Bengal finals starting at 8 a.m.

MARCH 18

ENGINEERING AUDITORIUM—Third Session of the Marriage Institute. Prof. Kane will speak on "The Family as a Basis of Social Living" and Father Schlitzer on "Marriage as a Means of Strengthening and Increasing the Life of Grace."

MARCH 19

AVON (indefinite run)—Belle of New York (A-1) has superlative dancing by Fred Astaire and Vera-Ellen and hardly anything else. The plot is non-existent and the humor doesn't even match that displayed by the comics (?) that frequently infest Washington Hall.

MARCH 20

ENGINEERING AUDITORIUM—Fourth session of the Marriage Institute. Dr. Herbert Ratner of Loyola Medical School will talk on "The Medical Aspects of Marriage."

GRANADA (indefinite run)—Viva Zapata! (A-2) is a story of power taken from the tangled pages of modern Mexican history. Marlon Brando is leader of a group of peons who spend most of their time harassing whichever dictator happens to be in power. John Steinbeck wrote the story and Elia Kazan directed. Best picture in town this week. Co-feature, Clouded Yellow (A-2), is a long police chase after Jean Simmons, a suspected murderess. The plot stretches credibility at times and weakens the whole picture.

WASHINGTON HALL—Here Comes the Groom.
BUDGET TROUBLES

Due to budget difficulties we are forced to print a shorter issue this week, and in order to allow as much space as possible for coverage of campus news the editorial column has been left out of this issue. The measure is only temporary and the magazine will soon be back to its regular 36-page length.

Room Registration
To Start March 26

Pre-registration for room reservations for the fall semester, previously scheduled for last Wednesday, will be held instead from Wednesday, March 26, to Friday, April 4, at the Office of Students' Accounts. Pre-registration for courses in the undergraduate colleges will be made with the deans from Friday, April 18, to Friday, April 25.

All students (campus and off-campus), except those who will be in the Graduate School, must pre-register at the above times if they wish to continue studies next fall. Notice of the date and time of his pre-registration will be sent to each eligible student.

A $50 pre-registration deposit must be paid at the time of pre-registration. Room reservations will be made at the time of pre-registration, also. Students will be called in the order of class rating and scholastic average (as of June or Summer Session 1951), and will select rooms in sequence.

Fisher Memorial Residence Hall is scheduled for completion on August 1 and will be open for reservations during this pre-registration. Its 140 single rooms have been reserved for seniors.

Because of the necessity of providing sufficient dormitory space for a combined campus group of seniors and juniors totalling 1,520, combined senior-junior residence halls for the 1952-53 school year will be Dillon, Sorin, Alumni, Walsh, and Badin.

Music Department Features Violin-Piano Duo
Tonight in First of 4-Concert Classical Series

Tonight at 8 o'clock in Washington Hall Notre Dame students will have an opportunity to hear the first of a four-concert series presented by the Notre Dame Department of Music.

The Chamber Concert will feature Richard Casper, pianist, and Leo Michuda, violinist. Casper will play Waltz in A Flat and Scherzo in B Flat Minor, by Chopin, and The Hunting Song by Mendelssohn. Michuda will play Prelude in E Major, by Bach.

The program will be highlighted by the two musicians teaming up to play Concerto in G Minor by Bruch, Nocturne by Boulanger, and Paganini's La Campanella.

Biondo Directs Second Concert

Casper is a piano student of Dr. Carl Mathes, while Michuda is studying under Dr. Charles Biondo. Michuda is concert master of the orchestra and first violinist of the Notre Dame String Quartet.

The second concert will be held on April 3. This will feature the Notre Dame String Quartet with the addition of the flute and horn. The concert will be under the direction of Dr. Biondo.

Those participating in the sextet will include: Leo Michuda, first violin; Everett O'Bannon, second violin; Dr. Charles Biondo, viola; Brother Jacob Eppley, C.S.C., cello; Paul Krenke, flute; and Charles Weaver, horn.

Third Concert Scheduled for May

This group will present a flute quintet by Johann Christian Bach to show the influence of this composer on the works of Wolfgang Mozart.

The Symphonette Orchestra under the direction of Dr. Biondo will stage the third concert on May 14.

The orchestra will perform as a feature work the "Mendelssohn Piano Concerto in G Minor," with Richard Casper as soloist. The remainder of the program will be devoted to the works of Debussy, Gluck, and Cates.

The final concert will be on Friday evening during the Commencement weekend. The String Quartet will play a Morgan and Beeth quartet.

All of the Chamber Concerts will be held in Washington Hall.

Ireland Won't Have Atomic Worries Mar. 17, But She'll Still Be the Center of Attraction

By REV. EDMUND MURRAY, C.S.C.

Straight from Cork County, Ireland, comes this article by Father Ed Murray on how the Irish celebrate St. Patrick’s Day. Before he left for the National University in Dublin two years ago to study Irish history, Father Murray was assistant prefect of religion at Notre Dame. An army chaplain during World War II. Father Murray still holds a commission in the active reserve. In fact, he served a month’s duty in Germany last September and is now awaiting permanent orders. Meanwhile, he is continuing his studies at the Cork City division of the National University.

Greetings to the Fighting Irish—real and synthetic—for Monday. “La le Padraig i lar en Earrneigh”—St. Patrick’s Day in the Spring. It could be that Indiana’s icy blasts are tantalizingly challenging the old Irish legend that St. Patrick on this day changes the wind and puts the elements as well as all mankind in a kindlier sense of humor.

Here in Ireland, Spring is a month old on St. Patrick’s Day, and from then on the weather is supposed to get warmer and the days longer. So say I as I empty another gallon of kerosene into my heater!

The St. Patrick’s Day that will be celebrated on next Monday here in Ireland will see the rest of the world dragging along in its current bickering, war-jittery fashion as the people of Dublin and Cork and Killarney and elsewhere throughout this unashamed Catholic island go about their peaceful quiet, prayerful way.

Butter’s the Question

While the rest of the world is sweating out the luke-warm war, little old Ireland goes nonchalantly along—worrying not so much about atomic bombs, armaments and mutual aid pacts—the big problem over here (as Father O’Brien pointed out) is emigration and the rains and the questions as to whether or not they ought to import butter from New Zealand.

March 17th here is a holyday first and then a holiday, and on that day it will be just as difficult as on many a weekday to get a seat in any of the 56 Dublin Catholic churches.

Elsewhere there will be Irishmen in America and Irishmen in England and Irishmen in Nigeria as well as in Poland and Italy and Yugoslavia and in every uttermost part of the earth celebrating the feast of Erin’s patron.

This is the miracle of St. Patrick’s Day—a miracle not so much as of Irishism as of Catholicism. The worldwide remembrance, yes and even usurpation, of St. Patrick’s Day is a universal sign of the strong spiritual unity of our Catholic Faith. No matter what be the national antecedents of March 17—Mother Machrees—Gaels, they all join the native Celt in honoring his patron saint on a religious rather than nationalist basis.

No More Irish Than the Irish

I believe it was G. K. Chesterton who first told the story, perhaps apocryphal, about the old bucko who was walking along the wild mountain-side in Donegal one rainy night when he encountered a beautiful peasant woman with a child in her arms. When she was asked who she was, she replied: “I am the Mother of God, and this is Himself, and He is the boy you will be wanting at the last.”

The men of Notre Dame as well as the men of Ireland are known throughout the universe for their unique and manly devotion to both Himself and Herself. That is why the traditions of Notre Dame, like those of Ireland, have always been Eucharistic and Marian.

That is why no one need fear lest Notre Dame on March 17 be more Irish than the Irish.

THE SCHOLASTIC
On this same day General Electric Company will sponsor a group meeting and movie, at 4 p.m., in the Engineering Auditorium, which all interviewees and interested juniors are urged to attend. Individual interviews of B.S. and M.S. physicists, and electrical, mechanical, and industrial engineers will be on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Representatives from three branches of the Curtiss-Wright Corp., Caldwell, N. J., will be here Tuesday. Propeller Division men will interview aeronautical, mechanical, and electrical engineers. Electronics Division personnel will interview electrical, aeronautical, and metallurgical engineers. The Wright Aeronautical Corp., Ridgefield, N. J., will interview mechanical, aeronautical, and metallurgical engineers.

Economics Majors

Two other companies will be here Tuesday: The Caterpillar Tractor Co., Peoria, Ill., and Arthur Young and Co., Certified Public Accountants. The Caterpillar Tractor Co. will interview seniors in all fields of Engineering and Commerce, and Economics seniors interested in the heavy machinery business, for their year-long College Graduate Training Course. Arthur Young and Company will interview accounting majors.

On Wednesday the General Tire and Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, will interview mechanical, chemical, and industrial engineers for a Management Training Program.

There will be a group meeting and movie on Thursday at 3:30 p.m. in the Audio-Visual Center of the Main building, sponsored by the Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp., San Diego, Calif., aeronautical, mechanical, and electrical engineers will be interviewed.

Heavy Thursday Session

On Thursday the Inland Steel Company, East Chicago, Ind., will interview accountants (B.S.), chemists (B.C., M.S., Ph.D.), metallurgists (B.S., M.S., Ph.D.), civil, chemical, electrical and mechanical engineers.

Also on Thursday the Ethyl Corp., Detroit, Mich. (Research), and Baton Rouge, La. (Development), will interview chemists (Ph.D., M.S., B.S.), for research and development.

The Link Aviation, Inc., Binghamton, N. Y., will be here Friday to interview electrical engineers for Manufacturing, Design Engineering, and Field Service. Field Service men are especially desired for company representation in Air Force Bases and Naval Air Stations.

Professor Sheehan, Father Nealy Lecture At Second Marriage Institute Session Tonight

By AL SUWALSKY

Prof. John H. Sheehan and Rev. Francis D. Nealy, O.P., will speak tonight at the second session of the 1952 Marriage Institute. The discussions are held in the Engineering Auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

Professor Sheehan, head of the Department of Economics, will speak on "Economic Matters Before and After Marriage." He obtained his A.B. degree here and his M.A. at the University of Wisconsin. Professor Sheehan is a contributor to America and The Review of Social Economy, and is national president of the Catholic Economic Association.

Father Nealy’s subject is “Marriage Legislation and the Ritual of the Church.” He is a native Canadian and a member of the Department of Religion here. Father Nealy received his bachelor’s degree at St. Mary’s Col-

John J. Kane and Rev. Albert Schlitzer, C.S.C., as speakers. The topic is “The Family as the Basis of Social Living.”

Dr. Kane is a member of the Department of Sociology and teaches courses on the family. He received his Ph.D. in Sociology at the University of Pennsylvania. A contributor to several publications, he is at the present time vice-president of the American Catholic Sociological Society.

Medical Aspects

Father Schlitzer is the author of the text on the Sacramental Life used by the junior religion classes. He received his doctorate in theology from the Gregorian University in Rome. His thesis was on marriage. Father Schlitzer has been giving pre-Cana conferences in South Bend parishes.

Dr. Herbert Ratner will speak on "The Medical Aspects of Marriage" at the fourth session of the Marriage Institute, March 20. He is a professor at Loyola Medical School in Chicago and Health Commissioner at Oak Park, III. Dr. Ratner has been marriage counseling for several years. He was on the board of the Institute three years ago.

Limited Attendance

The talks are open to all seniors, married students, or students who plan to marry before the next annual institute is held in 1953. The limitation is necessitated by the lack of seating facilities for the large group of underclassmen.

The speakers will sit on the stage with microphones in the manner of radio discussions and will answer questions from the director, Rev. Robert Lochner, C.S.C., and the audience. The sessions are stag affairs with the exception of the last, which is open to the wives or women friends of students attending.

The Marriage Institute was begun after it was felt that the Marriage Course could reach only a limited number of students and after its teacher. Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, C.S.C., became executive vice-president of the University.

The series will be held every Tuesday and Thursday evening until April 3. A ticket good for all eight sessions may be purchased at the door.
In the quiet and safety of his room, Chas. (Tiger) Schubert looks at a boxing magazine and dreams of glory that comes with championship. Next stop Bengals.

Bengal trainer and director Dominic Napolitano seems a little appalled at the size of Schubert’s mighty arm. We were a little appalled ourselves.

Charles Schubert, a senior student in the College of Arts and Letters, is not, except for his complete lack of a profile view, much different from other men. Like thinkers from time immemorial, he has been excited by the heroic exploits of virile and muscular men of action. But, unlike most thinkers, the elfin Mr. Schubert decided that he too could be a killer in the ring.

The following story is the sad account of what happens to thinkers, especially thin ones, who put on the gloves.

It all began when the gentle Chazz saw, in a sports magazine, a picture of Rocky Marciano belting an opponent through the ropes. Schubert figured, and not unreasonably, it would seem, that if Marciano could do it, there was no apparent reason why he (Schubert) could not.

With this in mind he headed towards the boxing room of the fieldhouse to sign up with the Bengal Bouts impresario Dominic “Nappy” Napolitano. Somewhat dubious, Nappy nevertheless okayed him. He did this because either a) he believes that everybody should be given a chance to box, or b) he is a follower of Texas Guinan.

They laced the gloves on the splinter, and he entered the ring, courage in his heart, stark, naked fear in his eyes. Nappy was there to advise him, but refused to accompany him into the ring.

Joseph Bush, a broth of a lad who plays a bit of tackle for Frank Leahy, was Charles’ first opponent. If you will look closely at Bush’s countenance you will distinguish just the faintest traces of terror.

However, stage fright wears off and Bush advances towards the dauntless Mr. Schubert, little knowing that cocked and ready for action is the lethal right hand that has flattened countless small children on spring afternoons. Schubert stands ready!

Below right, Schubert leaves ring after mixing it with Bush. He insists, while telling this story to his friends, that it was merely a matter of the nearest and most convenient exit. Ring hangers-on say that there may have been other motives.

However, Schubert, a philosopher at heart, knows that the fame that the fighter finds is fleeting. He decides that his career lies outside the squared circle.
Schubert gets ready and the thoughts of ring prowess are still with him. In his corner, though, he sees his opponent face to face and the first little doubt is felt. Nevertheless, into the ring goes Chas. to meet his foe.

Undaunted by Schubert’s lethal right, his opponent comes in — Schubert goes out on his hands and knees. Maybe it was a lucky punch but Schubert’s dreams are shattered. Chin up, Lad, why don’t you try radio?
Cleveland to Be Site Of Student Trip

By BILL MOORE

The student trip next fall will be to Cleveland for the Navy game, the Student Council decided at its regular meeting this week. The Council's decision has been submitted to Rev. Charles Carey, C.S.C., Vice President in Charge of Student Affairs, for official approval, which is expected to be routine.

Following this, sophomore president Bob Poden presented a petition to the Council from some 800 students of the sophomore class requesting a change in the proposed plan for giving seniors preference in selecting rooms in next year's junior-senior halls.

The petition included a plan which would give preference according to scholastic average rather than class. Thus seniors with high scholastic averages would be given first preference, followed by juniors of similar standing. Seniors and juniors with lower scholastic averages would follow in that order. The petition will be presented to the administration shortly.

The Council also heard of a new program to be presented weekly over WND to publicize Council activities. The series of programs, which will be broadcast Tuesday evenings at 7:30, was begun last Tuesday with a talk by President Garvin and Station Manager Bill Ryan of WND.

Future Med Students Asked To Apply for Admission Test

All students seeking admission to medical colleges in the 1953-54 term should plan to take the Medical College Admission Test in May, 1952, advises Dean L. H. Baldinger of the College of Science.

The test will be administered by the Department of Guidance and Testing here on Saturday, May 10. Notre Dame is one of several hundred testing centers at which the examination will be given that day.

Application blanks are available on the campus at the office of Dr. Baldinger, Room 202, Chemistry Hall. At the time the student calls to get the application blank, he is given a booklet of information about the test. In this booklet he will find sample questions and other pertinent information.

The application blanks, along with the $10 examination fee, must be sent by the applicant to the Educational Testing Service, P.O. Box 502, Princeton, New Jersey. The blanks must be received by that office on or before April 26. Late applications will not be accepted.

The Medical College Admission Test, which requires a morning and an afternoon session, consists of tests of general scholastic ability and of achievement tests in science and modern society. While no special preparation is recommended, the science section presupposes familiarity with beginning courses in biology, chemistry and physics.

MUSICAL TRYOUTS

Tryouts for roles in the student musical "Stay Tuned for Addleman" will be held next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at 7:30 in Washington Hall. Anyone interested is invited to audition. Rehearsals will begin soon in preparation for a four-night run in early May.

PRESS RELEASE

In the last two weeks two press releases on the part of students resulted in much embarrassment to both the student body and the university. The policy of the university on this matter is one that applies to both faculty and students, and requires that all news be cleared through the Department of Publicity.

'Choose Your Major' Program Continues

The "Choose Your Major" program conducted by the sophomore class resumes next Tuesday, and will continue to the following Monday. Many of the sessions, which are held in the Law Building, will be concerned with subjects of the Arts and Letters school and the Commerce School.

All of the speakers will be faculty members, including many who will be department heads.

In their talks, which will range from political science to philosophy, the speakers will outline the scope and subject material of the major sequence, appraise the subject for its practical value in getting a job, and will review the capacities and personality desired of students in that particular field.

The sessions will be an hour long—consisting of a half-hour talk, followed by a discussion period.

The schedule is as follows:

Tuesday, March 18—English, 8:15, 101 Law; Economics, 7:15, 103 Law.

Wednesday, March 19 — Political Science, 7:15, 103 Law; Education, 8:15, 101 Law.

Thursday, March 20—History, 7:15, 101 Law; Accounting, 8:15, 103 Law; Modern Languages and the Classics, 4:05, 103 Law.

Friday, March 21—Journalism, 4:05, 103 Law.

Monday, March 24 — Philosophy, 7:15, 103 Law.

Fencers Down Titans For Seventh Victory

The Irish fencing squad closed their home season in spectacular fashion by downing the Detroit Titans 19 to 8. In the annual clash with the Titans, the Irish hold the series seven to one. It brought Mr. Langford's crew's record to a creditable seven wins and two losses.

Irish Cindermen Cop CCC Track Crown; Newquist Paces Team With Hurdles Wins

By BILL NOONAN

Notre Dame's well-balanced track squad outdistanced Drake and Marquette last Saturday to cop its first Central Collegiate Conference indoor track crown since 1946. Harvey Newquist, crack hurdler, paced the home forces by winning both hurdle events.

Drake, the highest rated of the visitors taking part in the meet, showed individual brilliance but could not match the overall strength of Coach Alex Wilson's host team which scored in every event except the broad jump. The Des Moines, Iowa outfit did, however, take record setting honors by chalking up marks in two events. All in all, eleven schools took part in this Silver Anniversary running of the meet. The finals were held at night, following the qualifying prelims in the afternoon.

Newquist Stars

Newquist was the star of the meet, his ten points going a long way to aid the Irish cause in the eight-point triumph. The slender sophomore first copped the 60-yard high hurdles, topping the more publicized Al Renick of Western Michigan and Jim Philbee of Bradley. Ed Powell of the Irish took fourth. In the 65-yard lows, Newquist edged Philbee for top honors. The Irish star's time for the highs was :07.6 and :07.5 for the lows.

The Drake record events came in the one-mile run and the mile relay. In the latter, the Iowa school's four-card, was divided into two sections. Notre Dame's team, which led for awhile but lost valuable ground on the third lap, finished second. In the mile, Dewey Johnson successfully defended his title and at the same time tied Greg Rice's time of 4:16.2 for the fieldhouse track. Jack Alexander of Notre Dame took second, 40 yards behind the winner.

Wayne Takes High Jump

The high jump saw Wayne's John Kline take first place with a leap of 6 feet 5 inches. Tom Hassenger of Notre Dame grabbed fourth and Hughes Wilcox, taking part in one of his three activities, tied for fifth. In March 14, 1952
John Mohar was runnerup to Baarsley, Michigan Normal, Western Michigan fourth and fifth slots in the persons of Tiad 37 and Marquette 34 7/10. Bradpiled up 45 7/10 points. Drake

In the only Michigan shutout of the evening, Wayne, and Loyola trailed in the first half but it was ineffective against the taller Dillonites led by the rebounding and shooting of Ed Condon, Harry Osterman, and Floyd Blair. The West Virginians resorted to a pressing man to man defense in the last half but the smooth working Dillon squad had built up enough of a lead to coast home with the verdict.

Paul Stricker of the Mountaineers, although outmanned, put up a battle under the boards before fouling out in the last quarter. The floorwork of Larry Eaton of Dillon and Tom Gaebler of West Virginia was outstanding.

In the consolation game Badin Hall came from a 26-17 halftime deficit to upend Walsh Hall in an overtime game, 45-44. Mark Jennings pocketed a push shot for the deciding points in the last seconds to offset two previous overtime baskets by Dick Stubbing of Walsh.—Ken Murphy

Dillon Hall Five Wins Basketball Tourney

The Dillon Hall quintet annexed the campus basketball championship last Thursday night in the fieldhouse with a convincing 69-46 win over the West Virginia Club. Dillon held quarter leads of 15-8, 33-20, and 49-31.

West Virginia threw up a zone in the first half but it was ineffective against the taller Dillonites led by the rebounding and shooting of Ed Condon, Harry Osterman, and Floyd Blair. Paul Stricker of the Mountaineers, although outmanned, put up a battle under the boards before fouling out in the last quarter. The floorwork of Larry Eaton of Dillon and Tom Gaebler of West Virginia was outstanding.

In the consolation game Badin Hall came from a 26-17 halftime deficit to upend Walsh Hall in an overtime game, 45-44. Mark Jennings pocketed a push shot for the deciding points in the last seconds to offset two previous overtime baskets by Dick Stubbing of Walsh.—Ken Murphy

Air Force ROTC Cagers Retain Basketball Trophy

Last Sunday the Monogram Club of Notre Dame, sponsoring the third annual Indiana Air Force ROTC Basketball Tournament, won the championship by downing Ball State, DePauw and Purdue. Ball State beat Butler, 68-37, to earn their way to the finals against the Irish.

In their first game, a morning affair, the Irish were pitted against Purdue. Notre Dame won this one easily enough, leading Purdue the entire game by at least ten points, 58 to 45.

In their second game, against DePauw, the Irish had little trouble winning, 60 to 46. In this one, the Irish coach, Major Joseph Weidner, brought his “three-platoon system” into play. Having once decided that the game was more or less under control he alternated three completely different fives, beginning in the second quarter, thus keeping his starting five fresh for the championship contest that evening.

In the final game, Notre Dame against Ball State, the Irish really let loose with everything they had. In the first quarter, Jack Stephens and Dick Rosenthal threw in twenty points between them and the Irish led, 25 to 15. Before the final gun, Notre Dame had secured a 79-70 win and the championship.

Detroit Maintains Top In Kampus Keglers

By JACK SAND

Rolling into first place as a result of the Irish Club's three-point loss to New Jersey was the Kansas City Club, who managed to cop four important points from the Architects in a clean sweep of three games. The Kansans, paced by Phil Schoor's 550 series and 219 high game, are now two points out in front of the second place Irish, who in turn are tied with Buffalo for the runner up spot.

Playing the role of the giant-killer to perfection, the Jerseyites, led by Bob Stekovich's 485 three-game set, handed the Irishmen their first three-point loss in a number of weeks, much to the advantage of the Buffalo Club, who blasted New England in all three matches. Returning to form was Gerry Klee, whose 517 series was tops for the New Yorkers, followed closely by teammate Jim O'Brien with 512.

Pittsburgh Wins

Another important result in last Sunday's Blue League competition was Pittsburgh's three-point victory over the Civil Engineers. By virtue of the loss, the "Civies" are now six points behind the leaders and only one point ahead of fifth place Pitt. Chris Falkenstein and Justine Perticone led the winners with 472 and 470 respectively.

Over in the Gold loop it was Detroit maintaining its six-point spread over their nearest rivals, the California Club, as they whipped the lowly Commerce Forum in two matches out of three. Dick Ryal took the lead for the victors, with a 523 three-game string.

Keeping pace with the leaders was the second place California keglers, who applied the pressure to the Rochester Club in winning three points and increasing their season's total to 37. This time it was Wally Clarke sparking the West Coast lads with a 488 set.

Al Piasio Gains High Game

Taking the spotlight away from all other keglers last Sunday was the Italian Club's Al Piasio, whose final game of 237 became the highest single game score of the season, erasing Ray Bara's previously high score of 236. Piasio had an overall series of 533, to Bara's previously high score of 236.

Billiard Champion Will Visit Washington Hall March 20

Clarence E. Anderson, recently appointed by the Billiard Congress of America, to take over the entertainment and instructional side of the National College program, will visit Notre Dame for a billiard demonstration.

Thirty years ago Anderson turned to pocket billiards as a diversion, but became so adept at the sport that he decided to make it his living. Today, at the age of 47 he has become an expert teacher of the game, and with this teaching came the acquisition of a series of trick and fancy shots used merely to break the monotony of continuous instruction. His repertoire includes more than 250 trick shots, and he is presently known from Coast to Coast as the World's Champion trick shot pocket billiardist.

Mr. Anderson will attempt to demonstrate a variety of these shots when he makes his appearance at Washington Hall Recreation Room on Thursday, March 20, at 4 p.m.
Hearst Preliminaries
Open Here March 24

Two nationally important speech contests are pending for the top orators at Notre Dame. The annual Indiana State Contest of the Intercollegiate Peace Speech Association will be held on campus March 21, while the Hearst Tournament of Oratory is scheduled for March 24 at 3:30 p.m.

Tryouts for those who are to represent Notre Dame in the extemporaneous and oratorical divisions of the Indiana State Contest were held Monday and Wednesday.

Prizes of $50, $15, and $10 will be awarded for the first three place winners in the contest.

The subject of the Hearst Tourney is Henry Clay, with a six-minute time limit on the speech. Defense Bonds ranging from $50 to $250 will be awarded in the elimination round, and the grand national prize is a $1,000 bond.

Prof. William J. Elsen, head of the Department of Speech at Notre Dame, is in charge of the Indiana State Contest of the Intercollegiate Peace Speech Association, and also is in a position to give further particulars on the Hearst Tourney.

Art Professor Sessler Wins $50 Minas Still Life Award

Prof. Stanley S. Sessler, head of the Department of Art at the University of Notre Dame, has been awarded the $50 E. C. Minas Co. prize for still-life painting in the current ninth annual exhibition of the Northern Indiana Art Association, held in the Minas department store of Hammond, Ind.

The prize winning painting is his arrangement called Kitchen Chores which has been exhibited lately in the Hoosier Salon in Indianapolis, and the recent Catholic Art Association Conference Show in Seattle, Washington.

Two of Professor Sessler’s latest works, an oil landscape Prelude to Winter and Self Portrait, are being shown at present in the Third Annual Michiana Regional Exhibition of Paintings at the South Bend Art Association Galleries, South Bend.

Represented also is Mr. Robert R. Hewitt, who joined the Art Department staff this year. His landscape received the Dr. Herbert A. Schiller Award of $50 for water color paintings. Another entry by him, an oil painting called Annunciation, is also displayed.

Both exhibitions are open to the public until March 29.

Fink Heads Staff as Work Starts on NFCCS Yearbook

In conjunction with the NFCCS Congress to be held here in late summer, Notre Dame will publish the annual NFCCS Yearbook for 1952. Jack Fink, a junior, has been named managing editor of the enterprise.

The yearbook will serve as a directory for the NFCCS, and will contain all the previous year’s proceedings of the organization’s various commissions. It will also be used to acquire funds for the partial support of future activities.

Patrons and sponsors are currently being solicited on a nationwide scale to help pay the costs of publication.

The Advertising Club, under the direction of Bill Kerwin, has taken charge of advertising duties, and will distribute the yearbook to colleges and libraries all over the country. Thus, it is hoped, many interested parties who have previously been unacquainted with the NFCCS and its functions will be contacted.

In addition to Fink and Kerwin, others working on the project are Bob Flynn, editor, and Frank Donovan, chairman of the Patrons and Sponsors Committee.

It is expected that the ’52 edition of the yearbook will exceed all others in size, profit, and editorial content.

Third of Aquinas Lectures Will Dramatize High Mass

A High Mass will be dramatized Sunday at 8:15 p.m. in the South Bend Progress Club, when the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin B. Hellriegel, of St. Louis, gives the third in the Aquinas Lenten Lecture series.

While a priest moves through the various parts of the ceremony at a temporary altar, Msgr. Hellriegel will explain the High Mass step by step.

Msgr. Hellriegel is founder of the Liturgical Movement in this country, and is now president of the Liturgical Conference of America. He has written pamphlets on the liturgy of the Catholic Church and is the author of two books, Vines and Branches and The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass.

Recordings of Msgr. Hellriegel’s liturgical boys’ choir will be played as part of the program.

On March 23, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Crowley will present the fourth lecture of the series.

Legal Service Bureau Has New Schedule

The Legal Referral Service of Notre Dame's College of Law has recently announced a change in its consultation hours. This service is now available in Room 2 Law Building between 12 and 1, and 3 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

This service was inaugurated last semester by the College of Law in cooperation with the St. Joseph County Bar Association. Its purpose is to assist students, faculty, employees, and any others associated with the University in ascertaining if they have a legal problem that can be remedied and at a minimum cost to each.

An individual who is in doubt as to whether he has a legal problem will consult with a student referral, who has been selected with special regard to the highest qualifications needed for consultation services. If a legal question is involved an appointment will be made with a member of a special panel of local attorneys prepared to receive these individuals.

Referral Service Is Free

This appointment with the lawyer will consist of one-half hour of consultation at the fixed charge of $5. Any subsequent arrangements lie with the discretion of attorney and client. The services of the student referral is without charge and his time is unlimited.

This organization is under the direction of Jim Termondt, Law senior, and Prof. Thomas Broden as faculty advisor. While there are many such referral services organized in local bar associations throughout the country, Notre Dame's College of Law has the first such service arranged between a law school and a local bar association.

Sociologists Discuss Parish

Sociology of the Parish is the subject for the next meeting of the Sociology Club to be held Wednesday in Room 101 Law Building. The meeting will consist of a panel discussion, plus questions from the audience on the subject. It will contain comment on the present condition of the Church in the United States.

Panel members will include Rev. Charles McCarragher, C.S.C., who presided at the parish sociology meeting of the American Catholic Sociological Society last December; and Rev. Joseph Lennon, O.P., Arthur Lassuy, and John Angus, graduate students in the Department of Sociology.

Discoverer of Streptomycin To Give Nieuwland Lecture

Dr. Selman A. Waksman, chairman of the Department of Microbiology at Rutgers University and the discoverer of Streptomycin and other antibiotics, will deliver the 1952 Julius A. Nieuwland memorial lectures in botany March 31, April 1 and 2 at Notre Dame.

Dr. Waksman has been a pioneer in the development of the field of soil microbiology. Some of his recent honors include the Albert and Mary Lasker Award, the Armory Award of the National Academy of Science in 1948, and the John Scott Award in 1949 for outstanding work. He has chosen "Actinomycetes and Their Antibiotics" as a general topic for his lectures here.

The Nieuwland memorial lectures, presented annually by prominent men in the fields of chemistry and botany, were established by the University to honor the memory of Father Nieuwland.

Father Nieuwland, who died in 1936, was not only an outstanding pioneer in chemical reactions leading to the development of synthetic rubber, but he was also well-known in the field of botany. He founded The American Midland Naturalist, internationally-known biological journal published at Notre Dame since 1909.

Fifth World Trade Meeting Returns to Campus May 15

Representatives from every phase of overseas marketing will participate in the fifth annual World Trade Conference May 15 in the Notre Dame College of Commerce.

Finance, traffic, advertising, and management problems will be stressed specifically in a series of talks during the morning session by experts in those fields. In the afternoon, a panel discussion will be held on the same topics.

Nationally-prominent authorities on international trade will speak at a luncheon meeting and at a dinner that evening. More than 100 businessmen are expected to attend the all-day session.

The primary aim of the conference, according to Professor Wesley C. Bender, head of the Department of Marketing at Notre Dame and chairman of the 1952 meeting, is to bring about an exchange of ideas among businessmen and educators while stimulating interest in world trade. The conference is open to all those who already are engaged in foreign trade or who are interested in the possibilities of new markets abroad.

All Services Establish Training Units at ND During Presidency of Father John Cavanaugh

Military preparedness at the University of Notre Dame has kept pace with the United States program of national defense during the six-year administration of the Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, C.S.C., who will retire in June as President of Notre Dame.

The training of future military officers originally began at Notre Dame back in 1940, only one year before Pearl Harbor, when the United States Navy established a Naval ROTC unit at the University. Father Cavanaugh was Vice-President of Notre Dame at the time the naval unit was inaugurated.

Following the outbreak of World War II, the Notre Dame naval training program was tremendously expanded. Notre Dame residence, classroom and dining facilities were placed almost completely at the disposal of the Navy.

More than 25,000 naval students were trained at Notre Dame during World War II in the Naval ROTC, the V-12 program and the Midshipmen’s School at the University. Nearly 12,000 were commissioned ensigns in the Naval Reserve—a number greater than the total officer strength of the Regular Navy at the time of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

One year after Father Cavanaugh assumed the presidency, with the passage of the National Defense Act of 1947, the United States Air Force embarked upon an ROTC program to train their future officers in the qualified colleges and universities throughout the nation. Notre Dame was one of the first universities to be chosen for an Air Force ROTC unit, in which successful students are commissioned second lieutenants in the Air Force upon graduation.

In this, Father Cavanaugh’s final year in office, every branch of the armed forces is represented by military programs at Notre Dame. The latest ROTC unit to be activated at Notre Dame was an Army Engineers unit which was established in 1951. Successful trainees in this program are commissioned second lieutenants in the U. S. Army upon receiving their Notre Dame degrees.

A new Marine Platoon Leaders Class, within the Naval ROTC unit, also was inaugurated at Notre Dame during Father Cavanaugh’s administration.

The class, open to seniors at the University, leads to second lieutenant commissions in the Marine Corps.

As Father Cavanaugh’s administration draws to a close, therefore, Notre Dame stands as one of the few colleges and universities in the United States which is training future officers for all branches of the armed forces—Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines.

Students in the various military units at Notre Dame consistently have won national honors in competition with units at other colleges and universities. A Notre Dame Naval ROTC student, for instance, has won the national individual championship in the William Randolph Hearst Naval ROTC Rifle Competition for the past four years. In the same competition for Air Force ROTC units, a Notre Dame student won the 1952 national title.

Students in the Notre Dame Navy unit consistently rank high in nationwide tests given by the Department of the Navy. A report announced in 1950 by the Navy revealed that freshmen students of the Notre Dame unit were the best in the nation, based on examinations of the collegiate trainee’s study of naval sciences. The sophomore class in the Notre Dame unit placed fifteenth among 51 units, while the Notre Dame Naval ROTC junior class finished eighth among 50 units.

A Notre Dame freshman student last year finished first in the United States in a test among students from Naval ROTC units in colleges and universities throughout the nation to determine those who will receive appointments to the United States Naval Academy.

Results of another nationwide test just announced by the Department of the Navy show that thirty-three students in the Notre Dame Naval ROTC unit ranked in the top twenty-one percent among approximately 38,000 students throughout the United States who submitted to college aptitude tests preliminary to selection for regular status in the Naval ROTC program.

Father Cavanaugh’s administration at Notre Dame, faced with the critical problems of a postwar era, simultaneously has been concerned with the training of young men to face the serious international crisis which currently looms on the horizon. During his administration Notre Dame and the armed forces have become even closer allies toward the end of training moral, responsible leaders to take their places, not only in Society, but if need be on the battlefield as well.
