900 Parents Expected To Attend
12th Annual Junior Weekend

The Twelfth Annual Junior Parents-son Weekend opens Friday, March 6, with a model of Notre Dame exhibit. Nick Ford expects attendance among about 900 parents, representing about one-third of the student body. The committee has chosen "Junior" as the theme of the weekend.

"In his initial letter to the parents, Mr. Ford of the "Heirloom" Committee, said that this weekend would be a great experience for both parents and students. He mentioned that the parents would be able to experience the actual life of a campus like. Football weekends and graduation days do not allow this.

The schedule for the weekend:

- Saturday: 9:00 a.m. — Conducted tours of the campus and the Main Gym, the entire day. 7:30 p.m. — College receptions with paintings from the Notre Dame Art Gallery and the Department of Fine Arts and Letters, in the Louvre, at Notre Dame.

- Sunday: 8:00 a.m. — Breakfast in the Dining Hall of the Student Center. 11:00 a.m. — Mass in Sacred Heart Church. 1:00 p.m. — Dinner at the Student Center. 2:30 p.m. — President's Reception at the Student Center. 7:15 p.m. — President's Dinner at the Student Center. Fr. Heschburg will be the main speaker. The Notre Dame Freshman Glee Club will entertain the guests.

Soc. Dept. to Study Student Shuttle Breakdown

The Department of Sociology, under the direction of Dr. Frank J. Fashey, has been charged with a study of the "Student Shuttle" breakdown. A $25,128 grant from the Award of the National Foundation for Research, Science, and Engineering in the general theme of Sociology has been awarded.

Interview 066
Worshiping with Dr. Fashey: "The Department of Sociology, Professor Herbert Blum of Finance and Business Administration, and other Notre Dame professors, have been interviewed in the study. The interviews will constitute the bulk of the study.

Workers' Resolution

The report of the three speeche objectives. First, it study the "interaction of the individual workers and their families to be attained by the workers with the purpose of "gaining knowledge about how the worker and his family perceive the imminent situation and its impact and its effects on them." The term "distribution" is one of the main tools used in the interview, and a "distribution" of the needs of the families will be the key to the study.

Primarily from South Bend, these men are responsible for the safety of the residence hall and the night and the continued protection of all university buildings. The campus is divided into two districts, with constant patrol in both.

''Besides patrol duty, the security police also aid in controlling traffic on football Saturdays, and as faculty assistants in the residence halls. The officer in charge for the campus is Capt. John Glenn, who is employed through the security office.

Also included in the activities of the police is a boy who has been described as a "bachelor socialist" and is often break-in. The police are constantly on the alert for possible theft, and they have been known to cause extreme harm to the students. These actions are reported and corrected by the security office.

Friendly Guest, co-sponsored by Notre Dame's and St. Mary's Sodality Commissions, has been post-poned until the first week after Easter vacation, Apr. 6 to 11. It has been rescheduled for the week of Mar. 8 to 15.

YCS Initiates Christianity Class

YCS has recently initiated a non-profit course designed to study the meaning of Christianity in the individual life of a student. The class, which is attended by graduate students at Notre Dame, has a registration of 56 pupils.

Two sections of classes are held Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 10:10 and at 7:00. Classes consist of two sections of the course. These sections are interspersed by discussion. Classes are held in the YCS office and in the YCS office. They should sign up in the YCS office below the YCS office.

The idea originated last year when YCS president gave a talk on the topic. The former president of YCS, Mr. Ford, became concerned with the fact that Notre Dame students tended to forget what it meant to be a Christian. An effort was made to keep them from trying to live a Christian life by giving them the idea of satisfying their own religious needs. The class aims to teach them that life is a living, a personal, and a spiritual. The class aims to teach them that life is a living, a personal, and a spiritual.

Student Senate Attempts Academic Calendar Change

The Student Government is attempting to bring about a new academic calendar for next year's proposed academic calendar. Representing the student body in the negotiations with the Administration are Tom O'Brien, Jay C. Gerken, and John Gearen.

A list of considerations and proposals will be presented to the Academic Council for a re-evaluation of the 1964-65 Academic Calendar. Drafted by Tom O'Brien, Tom O'Brien, and John Gearen, the document proposals were presented and received approval at the emergency Senate meeting on Feb. 25.
We Propose

As a result of the proposed change in the 1964-65 calendar, and the subsequent protest arising from the student body, an alternative plan for changes has been drawn up and tentatively submitted to the Academic Council by Student Government. This plan has been seen by Tom O'Brien, Vice President and JohnGear, President-elect, of Student Government and was presented last week. The VOICE is editorially behind this proposal and presents it here to inform you of its details and to keep you informed of its proceedings. The proposal is as follows:

Registration: The Wednesday in September falling between Sept. 7 and 13.

Classes Begin: The following Monday.

All Saint’s Day: November 1. (Holiday if not on a Sunday.)

Thanksgiving Vacation Begins: 12:30 p.m. of the Wednesday before Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving Ends: The first Monday following Thanksgiving.

December 8: Holiday (unless it falls on a Sunday.)

Christmas Vacation Begins: December 16 after the last class (unless the 16th is a Sunday, in which case vacation begins on Saturday, the 15th).

Easter Vacation Begins: The first class of the semester.

Easter Vacation Ends: The first class on January 4 (except when the 4th is a Sunday, in which case, it becomes the first class on January 5).

Last Class Day: The Wednesday between January 18 and 24.

Reading Period: The following Thursday through the following Sunday.

Final Examinations: The following Monday through Thursday.

Semester Break: Thursday to the following Wednesday.

Registration: The Wednesday in February falling between February 1 and 7.

Classes Begin: The following Thursday.

Easter Vacation Begins: The last class on Wednesday before Easter.

Easter Vacation Ends: The first class of the semester.

Last Class Day: The Wednesday in May preceding the May 25 and 26.

Reading Period: The following Thursday through Sunday.

Final Examinations: The following Monday through Thursday.

Graduation: The following Sunday.

The major differences included here with this proposal are outlined below:

In respect to the registration

The week of February 1 and 7 is left out of the Administration schedule; the year beginning and ending earlier in order to facilitate examinations and doubts about the final examination and reading period proposals. He has, however, expressed agreement to the suggestions concerning the earlier beginning of the semester and the Christmas vacation schedule.

There have been, however, extensive arguments drawn up to support all the proposals of the Student Government suggestion, and it is hoped that with enough student support and persuasive argumentation the Academic Council will reconsider its proposed changes when they meet in the third week of March. We urge that you consider the heightened arguments of responsible students.

Welcome Parents

One of the greatest joys of the football season is the opportunity to meet the large number of visitors who are invited to Notre Dame—our campus. That same joy, magnified many times, is experienced by our Junior Parents whose parents will participate in the Junior Parent Weekend, which will begin this Friday. For some parents, this will be their initial visit to Notre Dame; for nearly all it will be the first chance to see what makes up the college life of their sons, including the Dining Hall cuisine. In spite of all our protests, and all our hard days, Notre Dame students are keenly proud of their university, and there is no better occasion for pride—as gratitude, than a visit from home.

Your Responsibility

The crucial value of an honor system lies in its idealism—the deep mutual trust that accrues from the students’ adherence to the common standard of academic integrity. Under the honor system, the students are supposed to shoulder their responsibility without having it imposed on them from the outside by a corps of proctors. The individual student is supposed to see for himself that cheating is wrong, and that cheating results in escape from learning and a denial of academic values, harmful to himself and to his entire community.

There is no doubt that every student, under the honor system, is made responsible and able to refrain from cheating. But there is some doubt about the responsibility of a student to help enforce this standard of honor or on his fellow students, by reporting of offenses to the Honor Council. The main point of this system is that it holds this responsibility to the community here and now, with the promise of growing with us.

The cheater does not only defeat his own purpose as a student, but the common purpose of his fellow students. Why should cheating be eliminated any way? Is it just because it is “against the rules,” as if that could make a frame under the proctor system, where cheating can quickly be picked up as just another means to get ahead? Certainly, it is not, for it is not a matter of concern to students above all that they are the ones who will be “involved” or someone is dishonest. This is the reason why the honor system encourages students to report offenses to the Honor Council.

But the particular honor system that is being proposed at Notre Dame has an additional feature that cannot be examined. It would be very hard for students to realize that the responsibility for the community here and now. This type of proposal never in full. The honor system is designed to have its own students think for themselves, and to think about the community here and now.

Tom Watt, with the GRANDA, for one last, vital week! You know, the purpose of this story isn’t just to do a review—it’s just a guideline for what’s playing where. But, for just this once, trust the real critics: the people who talk. Tom Jones is a great film, I don’t think there’s any doubt about it. There’s a lot about life in this movie—so much that you can’t enjoy all of it at one sitting. Mark my word, at 1:30, 5:00, 9:00.

SEVEN DAYS IN May is held over at the COLFAX this coming week. General Burt Lancaster, Marvin Clark, Douglas Fairbanks, Ava Gardner, and President Fredrick March are mixed together in a potpourri of a political production about a group of military extremists who plot to overthrow our government in 7 days. Acting is pretty good. 1:00, 3:00, 5:00, 9:00.

TAKE HER—SHE’LL MINE

Held this weekend at the State. This comedy, based on the stage play of the same title, features the plights of a group of aspiring American community leaders who are concerned about the well-being of their young people. The film also covers the lives of the leaders’ families and has been directed to the Globe report that made her famous. A must see for all generations. 7:00, 9:00.

From the sounds of these names: the Avon will probably have a full house this weekend. NUDE IN CHARCOAL: Seals has arrived with “FOR LOVERS” and “FOR ALL THE WORLD, SIR,” what are the others? all I can say is, they’re oldies but goodies. a manager would prefer that you choose the Trib for this type of entertainment. 1:30, 3:00, 5:00, 9:00.

Darwin Lecture

As part of the academic Lecture Series, Dr. John C. Greenwell will speak on "Darwinism" in Tuesday and Thursday... Dr. Greenwell will be held in the Little Theater at 3:30 pm. The lecture will be at no charge.

Dr. Richard B. Varis, of Case Institute of Technology, will be the fourth speaker in the Computing Science Lecture Series. His topic is "The Machine and the Concept," and the lecture will be Friday at 3:40 p.m. in Room 268, Computing Center.

AFROTIC Starts Physical Program

The Air Force ROTC unit has initiated a physical training program. The AFROTIC cadets have found push-ups and sit-ups—conducted on mats and in cadence—with cadet and cadet officer alike participating—quite a change from the usual "right saltine and "column left" drills.

To accommodate this program, the officers of Education and Housing have been established within the Notre Dame detachment. The planning and directing of this program have been assigned to Cadet First Lieutenant Robert F. Reams.

The new program closely parallels the BKF Plan devised by the Royal Canadian Air Force, and though designed for all cadets, is of special value to juniors who want summer camp.

The University Art Gallery is presently displaying a Lenten exhibition of 60 master drawings on the "Life of Christ."
This Tuesday the Notre Dame Ski Team will depart for Hanover, New Hampshire, to compete in the NCAA National Ski Meet, which is to be sponsored by Dartmouth College. The team will consist of senior John Turner, captain; sophomores Steve Walther and Jack Brady; sophomore Larry Reynolds; and freshman Dennis O'Neill.

The team qualified to partici­ pate in the NCAA meet on the basis of the Midwest Championships last weekend in Duluth, Minnesota, against ten Midwest teams. Any team that places in the top five or better in the regional championships qualifies for the National. There are six regions in the United States.

The team is being financed partly by the administration, and partly by the ski club. They will arrive in Hanover a day early to look over the race courses and to get settled up for the races. The race begins on Thursday with the slalom event, Friday with the Giant Slalom, and Saturday with the slalom, downhill, and cross-country (which is 14 miles). Jim Beach will be the main jumper for Notre Dame, while John Turner, Steve Walther, and Larry Reynolds will compete in the other three events. Jack Brady and Dennis O'Neill will also compete in the slalom and giant slalom.

Some of the top ski teams in the country will be present at the meet. These will include Denver University, Western Colorado College, and Middlebury College. Dartmouth will also be present in full strength with three of their skiers who competed in the 1962 F.I.S. championships (International Federation of Skiing). Colorado will also be represented by three of their skiers who were in the 1964 Olympics (Dennis).

There are many opportunities available for business-minded people on the Voice Business and Advertising Staff. Any freshman or Sophomore interested in gaining valuable experience plus commission, apply to The VOICE, Box 11, Notre Dame, Ind.
