Denver Named Site of 64" Student Trip: Deposits Required Before End of Year

The 1964 Student Trip has been definitely set at Denver, Colo., and the Air Force Academy Foundation, through its chairman Jack O'Connell has announced that the trip will be in the air.

Because of the proximity of the trip to the opening of school, and in order that the students be assured of reservations, and the students desiring to make the trip, pay any deposit before the end of this semester.

O'Connell said "Due to the overwhelming response of new students and the interest of Notre Dame students in intercollegiate areas of the lowest possible amount." This amount will be announced in the next issue of the Echo.

Deposits In May
Deposits will be made on Monday and Tuesday, May 26 and 27, at the Student Council, South Bend St. John's airport, Friday afternoon, Oct. 8. The planes were chosen because of the 51½ hour flying time to allow two full nights in Denver, as well as to insure that the students be well-acclimated for their first class the following Monday. Hot meals will be served on each flight.

Identification Cards To Be Permanent
The university is initiating new identification cards which students will keep for the life of their undergraduate careers. Fee for the cards will be $1.50, the university explained the reason for the charge.

The cards will be much in the manner of all company credit cards. The cards will be used offices throughout the university: the dining hall, the library, the bookstore, wherever identification may be required and records are kept. Eventually they may be used for sign-in at the halls at night.

In addition, a system of new identification cards will be initiated. As long as present students remain at Notre Dame, both the old and new cards will be accepted on the card, along with IBM punch cards, for identification purposes. If students leave the university, the present cards won't be changed.

For all incoming students expecting to return next year will be taken next Wednesday, April 30, in Fr. O'Brien Hall. Fr. O'Brien explained that from that day on these cards will have their pictures taken at registration and the cards will eliminate "one of the worst.

Library Dedication Speakers Discuss Change in Education

By DAVID MURRAY
Scholarly and colorful remarks marked the dedication of Notre Dame's Memorial Library last Thursday. A capacity gathering of 7,500 participated in a solemn, semi-Fortish Mass offered by Cardinal Tieranski. With the 50-degree weather outside, the occasion was marked by a speech by Dr. Grayson Kirk and watched a solemn academic procession, the awarding of honorary degrees and the blessing of the library building.

The day was concluded by a solemn dinner and banquet, evening for guests and faculty.

In the principal address of the conventions, Dr. Grayson Kirk, President of Columbia University, of New York said, "Our education will not be carried on in the library. He stated that what we must not set our "try to dam up the stream of events" but we must change "revolution will come when the power stream of events from which we have been able to derive the greatest benefit."

Among the areas in which Kirk deemed that change would have serious effects, Dr. Kirk included, the organization of the faculties of universities.

Departments Exploded
Columbia's President predicted that the organization of universities would be radically changed with the replacement of subject departments by large numbers of small specialized institutions, an idea "decently desirable because it is a reflection of the growth of an academic community to meet the growing needs and circumstances".

The effect of the knowledge revolution is not just a matter of taking according to Dr. Kirk, would be a direct challenge to the faculty: investigation and teaching while "trying to solve the old and the overall problem would be to use and judged this to be good on the continued Page 2
The Rules of Hospitality

By Jack Quinn

Since the one argument that University Theatre was to do "My Fair Lady," it had occurred to many people that perhaps it is time to get down to a show on the most interesting data in terms of its true original Broadway producers, and to try to prevent anyone from having more than a few expectations. Herein lies the need for the regulation of the phenomena. The need is sufficient to warrant the curtailment of the show for dynamic considerations. It is highly informative, but we will wait and see the results of the new regulation in practice before judging its merits and demerits.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

I think of that evening in the lecture hall listening to the professor's lectures on "Ultra-structure and bone metabolism" (not the "good sister's" counterparts) reeling the lecture in, with a hangover, and thinking of the possible sequel to the next lecture. And I think of the gentleman who vez at me, "What on earth are you doing here?"

This letter will perhaps be continued by some as rude and emotional.

Yours sincerely,

whole, though he warned university officials not to allow this new a minor one for the sake of teaching and other academic activities.

In the field of university curriculum, President Kirk praised the administration's renewed emphasis on "continual progress" and the need of improved preparation for careers in graduate work, non-professional graduate study and professional education.

100 in Progress

Dr. Kirk's address followed an appearance by Doris D. D'Albano, a young faculty member and 200 graduates of the class of 1954 were honored by the administration for their achievement. The school's 100th anniversary program was presented in the presence of 25 distinguished guests, including several alumni of the class of 1954. They were presented with a special message from Pope Pope VI. These

Cadets, Midshipmen March in Review

Some 1,200 ROTC cadets and midshipmen participated in the annual Presidential Review on May 9. Receiving the review, along with Father Reiskarch, was Colonel William J. Mullin, U.S.A., Professor of Military Science. Colonel Mullin is retiring from active duty in July.

Fifty-one awards were given out at the ceremonies immediately preceding the review. Two Chicago Tribune award medals were won by Notre Dame cadets and midshipmen. Mullin received the Society of American Military Engineers Award. Only 5 of these latter awards are presented nationally among some 247 colleagues having the ROTC program.

In the "marching" competition, the Army Counter-Insurgency Unit was awarded first place.

Fr. Bolger, Former Physics Head, Dies

Funeral services were held in Sacred Heart Church last Wednesday for Henry Bolger, C.S.C., who died in the infirmary last Monday.

Father Bolger, 63, retired last September from his position as head of the Notre Dame department of physics after 25 years in that post. He was a faculty member here from 1929 to 1933 and continuity since 1941.

Father Bolger entered the Holy Cross novitiate in 1920 and was ordained to the priesthood on June 30, 1928.

Mardi Gras 1964 Figures Changed

The treasurer of Mardi Gras this year has released corrected figures on the final profit. The actual profits were $12,913.75, instead of the figures given last week. This compares to $18,395.24 listed last year.

Irish Streak at Six

NCAA Berth Possible

Two weeks ago, the baseball record of the Irish was 5-2-1, and it looked as if the last hope for a winning record was gone. However, three straight, tough opponents had convinced themselves that a losing streak was inevitable. But last week, the Irish slammed two strong opponents and it looked as if the three principal sports had just about erased the sinking ship's chances. The last game was against Boston College and it looked as if the Irish couldn't win.

Last Saturday, the Irish lost to Boston College, 21-13, then defeated their last two opponents, Linn State, 32-21, and Bowling Green, 30-22. The victory over Bowling Green was a very important one for the Irish. It is a key point in the NCAA tournament.

Dee's Heavyweights

The candidates for next year's varsity basketball team at Notre Dame have been announced, and the list of names is a long one. It is hard to believe that there are so many players who have potential for varsity basketball. The candidates are as follows:

Frank Karazim, who has been the workhorse of the staff, leads with a 4-2 mark. He is followed closely by Kevin O'Neil, who is presently 3-1, and Larry Kennedy, the third starter, whose record has been evened at 3-3. With the return this week of Ed Lupton, who has been injured, the pitching problem should continue to improve.

Two weeks ago against the Wolverines of Michigan, in a game, Frank Karazim hurled seven innings of no-hit ball and Rich Grolik went 4 for 4 in his second “homer” day of the season, leading the Irish to a 7-1 victory over the Big Ten leaders. The following Thursday, the Irish defeated the University of West Indies, 6-7, in a game that was decided by a 6-10 play.

Saturday, the Old Timer's game is now history. For many it was a day to remember. The defending champions could make an estimate of the final record. However, the Irish have had a difficult season, and it is questionable whether they could make a comeback.

Tommy Barnett, whose record has been evened at 3-3, is out with a pulled muscle. With the return this week of Ed Lupton, who has been injured, the pitching problem should continue to improve.

The Irish have won six straight games and are on the way to winning a NCAA tournament. They have been practicing hard and are now ready for the big match. It is hard to believe that it has taken this long for the Irish to make it this far.

GOLF

Parred by Jim Helfer's medals, the golfers at Notre Dame defeated seven Big Ten teams last week and the team is now ranked first in the Big Ten tournament at Iowa City, Iowa. The Irish scored a total of 710 to win by five strokes over Illinois.

IRISH STABILITY AT SIX

WALLACE COURT, IRISH PENSION FOR MEN

The pitching, too, has been exceptional. There are three pitchers who have records of 300 or better. In fact, there has been the workhorse of the pitching staff, Ed Lupton, followed closely by Kevin O'Neil and Larry Kennedy. The third starter, Ed Lupton, has been out with a pulled muscle.

The pitching staff has been so good that it has gone over 3-1. The Irish have been on a roll and are now tied with 6-4-5.

With the return this week of Ed Lupton, who has been injured, the pitching problem should continue to improve.

Now that they have won six straight games and are on the way to winning a NCAA tournament, they have been practicing hard and are now ready for the big match. It is hard to believe that it has taken this long for the Irish to make it this far.
