Senate Prepares Speaker Protest

By John Sibley

The Student Senate, in a 2 hour 15 minute session Monday night, heard plans for three February referendums concerning resolutions.

The most provocative action of the night concerned a declaration that will presently be delivered to President Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C. Father Hesburgh has so far ignored the Senate's Policy of the Senate by not submitting a letter containing his reasons for not allowing Oral Roberts to speak at the University.

In November, the Liturgical Commission of the junior class sought permission to invite Mr. Roberts to the campus for the exercise of his faith, not for a religious demonstration. All the correct procedures of the Speaker's Policy were followed, and Father McGarvey approved of the request. However, later Father Hesburgh limited the duration of the debate and refused to allow the faith-believer to appear. John Gearen, Matt Lewis, John Phillips and Harry McDonough will present the resolution declaring its "Vio- lation of the Speaker's Policy" to Father Hesburgh.

The three referendums will concern the examination schedule, the stay hall system and the possibility of personal phones.

Tom Mulvihill is preparing a questionnaire to be distributed for the benefit of the student body.

The stay hall referendum will occur in the second week in February, Nick Sordi, chairman of the stay hall committee, promises an informative description of what the plan entails to make the student body "informed." Informational posters will be available to the student body concerning the nature and exactness of the plan.

The Senate conducted its own "emergency" referendum. Paul Waller introduced the plan and Senators approved its submission to the student body.

The exact basis for accepting the plan has not been set. However, 750 phones must be installed for the plan to go into effect. The phone would cost $33.00 per room to semester, and personally and favorably acceptable in an individual environment. If the phone were not installed by then if the vote was otherwise split, Senators will not vote. Senator Koelke, chairman of the medical school subcommittee, workied with Senator Carmichael.

The resolution was made that a Senate report from the Student Body President or some other sensors, the Student Senate in the Voice of Notre Dame, would then instruct the Senate that the future of the student and the individual body. No vote will be taken until this week.

Spring election dates were settled after spirited debate and discussion. The spring election was introduced that submitted April 15 as the election date. A new position, the individual class and college class representatives, was created. The counter-proposals of February 25 and March 15 were offered, April 1 was preferred. Between the ball and Notre Dame was to be held at the Senate meeting on April 15 as a final proposal.

Future N.D. Alumni Foundation Trains

23 Notre Dame seniors began finding out last week that there is much more to being a good alum than getting your name on the exterior of the ND Foundation than getting your name on the exterior of the Foundation. Among the newly chosen members of the Foundation's Senior Class, a group of students is being put together to raise additional funds for the purposes and programs of the Foundation.

Last Tuesday, Jan. 12, the group met for the first time at a dinner by Mr. Jack McGarvey, Mr. Walsh, VF for Public Relations and Development, and Mr. Frick. Each of the seniors spoke about problems facing the Foundation, hopes for the future and reviews of Challenge IL.

"This project you're involved in can mean a good deal to us," Frick said, "We are talking about building a multi-million dollar program for development that necessitates all the participation on the part of the individual class colleges and so far it's been excellent."

"I am sure that the Board will approach this very seriously in order for the University to keep its door open on a status quo basis," Frick said. "That is, the Board will not be looking at increased salaries, 'rooms that we can fill' for entertainment, or the like, but money to be paid in part the annual $24,000+$4,000+$1,000+$1,000 each year." This is after figuring what part endowment money can deliver to the University in paying part of the annual $24,000.

Jim Gibbons, An'Director of Public Relations and the responsibility for the operation of the Senior Class, ran the program. All seniors were present before the Foundation meet 11-12, the group was created by the Pub- lic Relations and Foundation in connection with the election of the class and college leaders and the election of the class and college leaders of the Board of Directors.

The project members include Larry Beisner, Bill McGruder, Dave Mitchell, Larry Haight, John Johnson, Jerry Matzke, Joe Prather, Mike Cart- ry are also members. Only seniors include: Bill McDonald, Paul Underwood, Dan Murphy, Hernon Puentes, John Roa, Dave Peters, and Brian Koehut.

Marty Stamm, Gordon Stein, Jim Tedford, Steve Walther and Mike Murphy are the rest of the project.

Seniors were chosen on the basis of leadership and personality quality, geographic location, a seasoning of Alumni, and the addition of "Homeboy" among the board members. The board members are talking about developing a program to be able to have some on campus interest, and the board members are talking about whether the program can be run by the Public Relations and Foundation in addition to the board meetings.

The first meeting, the first of a series of meetings, was held on January 11. The second project is aimed at developing a hard core of interest in the country who will be interested in

The de-emphasis of finals is not bad in itself. But to de-emphasize the end of the course is. This is now being done by putting fewer exams, fewer tests at the end of the semester that encompasses the entire work of the course. And one move that seems to be in the institution of a reading period which encourages reflection, and the cramping of the exam time to one hour, is in the interest of superficial factualization. One hour examinations are expressly designed only to test cumulative knowledge, as used in math, biology, engineering and related sciences. Knowledgeable understanding can most effectively be found out at the ending of an entire course. Here is where the professor naturally tests to see if the student understands. Accordingly, the final examination has and will continue to have, utmost importance. The importance requires not the bureaucratic shortening of the testing period, but perhaps even an extension of it.

In any case the flagrant violations of the new exam rules has not been correlated with the hardships on the students. The faculty is deeply discontented. Final exams have important value in testing the comprehension of the course. De-emphasis of exams has not and will not be achieved by administrative manipulation. Let's turn away from the inconsistently aimed mess that now exists.

You Really Know How To Hurt A Guy

By Buck McFadden

"As the foremost training ground for future Catholic leaders, Notre Dame has a special responsibility and opportunity to provide an education for those qualified Negroes who will also be leaders in the Church. A goal.

Notre Dame has failed in its responsibility to educate these men in society in the Catholic population is in no small part related to the indentation of our University is part of a proposal submitted by J. C. Cooper, Jr., to John Sibley, Notre Dame President. In May, 6, 1965, the proposal was the result of the Civil Rights Commission of the University of Notre Dame. The Real Rights Commission—actually a Sub-committee of the Senate Welfare Committee—had been especially active. Following last year's appearance on camera by Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, Jay Cooper, Jr., himself an Alabamian—determined to turn the dormant Civil Rights Commission into a progressive action group with an expanded scope.

1) To inform the nation that the University of Notre Dame will come all qualified Negro students.

2) To keep the University faculty fully informed of the various issues of the civil rights problem.

3) To facilitate the complete integration of the present Negro population of Notre Dame into the Catholic social and fraternal life of the campus and student body. By turning to those three principles, the Commission proceeded on a program of aggressive recruitment of qualified Negro students in a way that greatly increase greatly the number of Negroes enrolled in University. To carry on, this Commission has created a committee entitled Commission on One-Hundred-C.O.N.E. Co-chaired by Edwin Louis, head of English Department and the de-emphasis of our University in the Freedom First; has caused the inclusion of all Negro newspapers in the U.S. on the University's mailing list. This has begun contact with all Negro students of the University; has sponsored talks by Prof. James Farmer and Louis Lo Mano; has begun preparations for a Library of Negro History and Current Negro Life to be located in the Loyd-Fenley Student Center and the re-creating campus sculpture to help with the Commission's touring program.

Aside from the problems of income and patching up the Commission is in somewhat of a financial bind. The Student Senate has been of little help and the President of the Student Senate cannot come forth with more than this. The President and the Committee money other than this must come from co-sponsoring organizations or private contributions. The shortage of funds has not been offset by the procurement of speakers from outside the University community.

A good Catholic university can in its own right provide a broader university of any type cannot. Rash attacks upon any administrative or especially a faith-full, administrative, and faculty to take a position of leadership in a very public way. But this should be too much to expect and a student body to follow the lead.
Cagers Bow To Bilikens 75-67

Then Humiliate Butler 94-57

by Mike Read

Notre Dame, with a record of 6 wins and 3 losses, and a scoring average of 92.859, hopes to improve this week on both its record and scoring average as it journeys to Purdue on Tuesday night and returns home to face the University of Toledo on Saturday afternoon.

This past week saw the Irish suffer their first loss of the New Year at the hands of St. Louis U, on Monday night, 75-67. This game, according to Coach John Doo, marked the low point of the 1964-65 campaign as the Irish made errors after error ensued and shot after shot in losing to the Bilikens.

The game also marked one of the few times that an opposing team has been able to match the Irish in overall height, and this proved to be a definite factor in the outcome.

On Saturday, however, in a game against Butler, the Irish bounced back to post their most convincing triumph of the season over a surprisingly weak Butler quintet, 94-57.

The game wasn't the least bit close at any stage as the Irish quickly jumped to a 10-0 lead while Butler was missing its first 12 shots at the basket, and they continued to increase their lead throughout the rather dull first half which ended up 49-43. The second half wasn't much of an improvement even though Butler seemed to find the range a little better, and the Irish second team got one of their best workouts of the season as Coach Dee cleared his bench.

Midway through the season, Notre Dame continues to get fine scoring balance from its top 4 scorers, and at this point only six points separate the No. 1 and No. 4 scorers, Ron Reod leads all scorers with 249 points, followed by Larry Sheffield with 247, Jay Miller with 246, and Walt Salam with 245.

Leaping Larry Sheffield breaks through three Butler Bulldogs to help Notre Dame quintet to an 84-77 romp. Mr. Sheffield moved into ninth place amongst Notre Dame's all time scorers.

Larry Sheffield, with a career total of 2039 points, has moved into 9th place amongst Notre Dame's all time scorers.

Lettermen At SMC

The Notre Dame Lettermen will hold a jazz concert in SMC's O'Laughter Aud. Saturday, Feb. 6. The concert is being sponsored by the SMC student government, and there will an admission price of $2.50.

The big band of the Lettermen will feature modern jazz numbers plus current hits such as "James Bond Theme," "Who's Afraid Of Virginia Woolf," and "A Taste of Honey." A jazz quartet made up of members of the Lettermen will also play.

Band leader Bernie Zahren also promises new arrangements by the band and a jazz poetry recital.

Fencers Take Three Meets

The Irish fencing season started off on a high note this past weekend with the defeat of three Cleveland area teams.

On Friday, January 15, Notre Dame defeated Oberlin on their own floor by a score of 17-10. The Irish blasted thirteen shots at the net and were a shot better than the Yeomen, 7-6. The Irish stayed hot the next day with a victory over Baldwin Wallace and a narrow 5-2 defeat of Case Western Reserve.

AAU Feuds with Colleagues

Due to the effects of the late General Douglas MacArthur and Japan's defeat of Russia, there has been a resurgence of activity among the AAU and NCAA collegiate teams. The NCAA has been involved in a ban on all college athletes competing in non-collegiate events, while the AAU has been involved in a temporary truce disbanded in the initial years of the century.

Leopold Collins wasn't as fortunate, while picking up another penalty two minutes after finding himself alone, he would be left out of position on the Irish mistake and the Fal­cons would be unable to compete in the Cleveland K. of C., Chicago Relays, and Milwaukee Journal Games.

Air Force Ices Irish 5-2

Notre Dame lost a rough and tumble hockey game to the Air Force Academy last Sunday, coming away with a 5-2 defeat. The game, billed as the first match for the Irish in 26 years, started on a sour note when John Heiden notched his first goal of the season two minutes after finding himself alone. This left the Irish 5-0.

After the intermission and with the wind at their backs, the Irish fired thirteen shots at the net and were outshot by the Falcons, 17-10. The Irish were faced with two simultaneous penalties after a mix-up in front of their own net. The game was too close to call and the Irish remained close, 6-5. The game was then slowed until the last period, when Leopold Collins shot for a goal in the goalcrease. The goal was awarded on the penalty and the Irish were down, 6-5. The game was then slowed until the last period, when Leopold Collins finally connected with the net after finding himself alone. This left the Irish 5-5.

NWA Dumps Irish 56-39

Sophomor Shines

By Mike Granger

Last Saturday, the Notre Dame swimming team suffered their second straight defeat at a Big Ten Univer­ sity, an Northwestern turnover. The Irish, 56-39, were defeated by young Bob Hutton in the breaststroke, 26-26. The Notre Dame team lost seven events and established two records in the 200 yard freestyle and the 400 yard medley relay. Sophomor Bob Hutton broke the breaststroke record with a time of 2:25.2. The previous record was set four years ago by Joe Bruno with a time of 2:25.2. The relay broke a record first set in 1962. The quartet consisted of goalkeeper, John Frey; Hutton; butterflyer, Dick Shines; and freestyler, Paul Granger. The winning time was 5:16, cutting nearly four seconds off the old record.

The standout performance of the young Bob Hutton was definitely the bright spot of this meet. In addition to his individual victory, Bob was an important factor in the breaking record medley relay. Hutton gained four seconds in his leg of the breaststroke to provide the Irish with their med­ley relay win.

The leading swimmer of the afternoon was Northwestern's Tim Kristl and freestyler-Irish Abraham. He won both his individual events, the 50 and 100 yard freestyle races, and anchored N.W.'s winning freestyle relay, Abraham's respective times were 22.3 and 49.3 Senior Ted Egan of Notre Dame finished be­hind Abraham in the 50 free with a time of 23.2. Egan retired last season and may come back during Christmas vacation. Notre Dame jumped off to a quick 1-1 lead by winning the medley relay and placing 1-3 in the 100 yard freestyle race. Team cap­tain, Tim Kristl, had a great meet and scored a victory in the 100 yard freestyle. The lead quickly disappeared as Abraham won the 50 yard free-
