Several details about plans for Notre Dame's not-too-distant future were discussed in a meeting between student leaders and the University's planning committee. It was decided that the location of the new theology center will be vacated by Notre Dame and the faculty government. The proposed new quad will be used for construction on the floor prefects may be removed. It is hoped that the new hall will be completed within the next year. If all goes according to plan, the new hall will be occupied by the end of the academic year. Without the floor prefects, the new hall will be more open to student use. The student government has been working on plans for the new hall, which is scheduled to be completed within the next few months.

---

Junior Weekend Acquaints Parents With Campus Life

At last night's Student Senate meeting, the Committee preparing the Stays Hall Plan has begun work on its proposed system for uniting the student community. The hall plan, which was proposed by the committee, will be distributed to the students on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Feb. 11-13, at 8:30, 10:30, and 12:30. Performance opportunities are performance opportunities for all students on Thursday. The hall plan will be presented in the Senate meeting next Tuesday. Nick North, who heads the committee preparing the proposal, said that students noticed the lack of effective communication systems. The hall plan, which is divided into four sections, will be presented in the Senate meeting next Tuesday.
The new experiment is a step in the right direction to lessen these indoctrination losses.

Objections arise as to the practical problems of moving upperclassmen into a hall on the freshman quad. Yet in the experiment, volunteers, those interested in seeing stay-hall work, those who can see the challenge, will be the ones to make the initial integration. It's likely that only those freshmen need to relocate because of this trial, and then not necessarily to the new quad. More substantial objections come up in the thought that it would be dangerous for freshmen to mix with upperclassmen and see the way they spend some of their time, whether that be in ball-sessions or downtown. But these aren't so dangerous at all. Freshman? Actually, these programs make clear where the first year students responsibilities lie. Also, there are a tremendous number, we believe a majority of upperclassmen who are sincerely interested in making it clear to a fresh that education is first, study is vital, relaxation is controlled, and always geared to a careful allotment of time.

Freshmen are rumored to say that they want to stay where they are, to "learn how to adjust." However, the adjustment value of pan-handling with wrestling and pillow-fights hardly seems as worthwhile as the chance to profit from the mistakes, as well as to a position of upperclassmen. Not to anyone sincerely interested in why he should be here at least.

We need a new energy focal point, a center for the new mentality that admissions officers and the Challenge 11 program secures. The class can't fill the gap. The present system makes only the poorest of beginnings. New students may find the problem of adjusting, because of its self-defeatism, its hodge-podge of room switching, trapping of those with medium averages in "forced" rooms and arrangements to look like just another tradition-monsters like Sorin, Badin or Lyons. No decent alternatives to the new proposal exist, either we flounder where we are or we attempt to make a hopeful leap into the past. Both ways are losing ways, for ourselves and those to follow us.

We need to watch the new experiment. It demands our giving it a chance to succeed.

Junior is going to be wearing a suit this weekend. Members of the junior class that is. For the first time in the campus taking part in the 12th annual Junior Parents' Weekend. That suit, a bit out of line with the usual garb, is a mark of the pride and respect that is reflected by the parents, and rightfully so, as they tour the campus, getting on the "in" side of their son's activities. Perhaps this can be a fruitful weekend.

One of the most significant any parent interested in getting the feel of this University can spend with a son. To all those who can be here we wish a welcome, sincerely hoping that you can get a firmer grip on our way of living, a way that you've promoted. But at the same time we want to make a kind of apology, an apology for your missing a meeting with what makes this school what it's intended to be, a place of learning. In short we apologize for your not getting to meet with our professors - you know, the inspiring teachers we wrote home about in our first couple of years. Oh, we know that there are plenty of chances for you to meet with them. There are a long list of open houses. There are swells of punch bowls. But for every thirty professors that could, and indeed should, be taking their part around those punch bowls you perhaps will find five.

We know that parents consider it of vital importance to meet our teachers, we consider it just as important to have you. Remember, however, that those teachers may not feel that way about you. For they are becoming professional men, not really a part of the students life, alienated researchers without a deep sense of responsibility to what has become their "place of business." The perhaps isn't the same kind of deeper-than-fund-raising feeling that brings Fr. Hesburgh back to campus, the prestige that comes from civil rights trials, or that last year brought him back from South America. They may be your sons' rightful heroes, but we are more interested in meeting them, to let them feel your interest. Perhaps it's like that old saying... "Independent as hogs on ice."
of these will be used to alleviate the crowding in the other halls, and the rest will be used to absorb off-campus students. There will still be no students forced off, though.

The polls to be circulated this weekend ask if students favor instituting this experimental system, retaining the present arrangement or going back to the one-class halls. Another question is whether the students favor the quota system for upper-class halls.

The proposal is being voted on in the senate, rather than in a student referendum, in an effort to focus attention on the senators and to force them to take a stand and defend it.

Sordi feels that the new system is needed to alleviate a present problem. The renewal and growth of the university has re­­­­minded him that the halls are at least statistically becoming better. But the climate seems to be changing. With the increasing size of the school and ability of the students, it's becoming harder to get along. There is no focal point for the creative release of energy.

Under the present system, he says, there is no way a new approach can develop. Certainly a student doesn't feel part of a class, he is a part of the univer­sity, but often an anonymous part. So Sordi, the hall is the logical unit for this attachment, this inter­­est.

He realizes the problems four­year stay will involve, some simply because of the lack of physical accommodations in the halls. The solution to these prob­blems after the experimental period, will require a great deal of ingenuity. For example, each hall would have to inform incoming freshmen about the system, and about any particular hall characters that might develop.

Sordi also explained why the halls were chosen as they were for the experiment. Farley was picked, especially because it is a hall on the freshman quad, with adequate rooms, so that a com­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­­�
Dr. Stewart Sees Notre Dame As Strong Choice for Med School

Dr. Thomas Stewart, who represented Notre Dame in legislation matters on the School's behalf, recently told a medical school conference that he felt the University was in a strong position to attract medical students.

Dr. Stewart, head of the mathematics department here and a member of the Board of Directors of the National Foundation on Medical Education, said that Notre Dame is in a strong position to attract medical students. He said that the University is in a strong position to attract medical students and that it is in a strong position to attract medical students.

The Notre Dame professor pointed to the fact that Indiana University's entering medical school class is already the largest in the country. "The idea of expanding Indiana is a very radical move in medical education," he said, "and I believe that the University would be well advised to support its sister institution, the University of Illinois, in its efforts to expand medical education.

In the course of the hearing, Dr. Thomas Moore, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and the University, made the point that it was possible to see this as something that is not necessarily in the best interests of the University. However, he hoped that "Indiana University would support its sister institution, the University of Illinois, in its efforts to expand medical education.

Meeting Buries Hitch-hiking

The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend.

The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend.

Dr. Stewart said that it was possible to see this as something that is not necessarily in the best interests of the University. However, he hoped that "Indiana University would support its sister institution, the University of Illinois, in its efforts to expand medical education.

The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend.

The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend.

The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend.

The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend.

The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend.

The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend.

The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend. The attempt to "legalize" hitch-hiking is almost dead, according to Paul Kupper, chairman of the committee for improving relations between Notre Dame and South Bend.
Ski Town...

In a concerted attempt to give some literal meaning to the semester "break" vacation many ND and SMC students point skis to the North - destination, Caberfae, Michigan. Perhaps it's a mere "bump" compared to what fussy Rocky Mountain men find in their Mar­lboro country, but it's close to home and the ac­tion there is representative. Representative of what? Well perhaps the quick cameras of the brothers Ford can fill in there.

Attraction of the Irish...

A Skier's "mind-body" problem...

Chasing a fast shadow...

You Really Know How to Hurt a Guy...

Same hero. New trick.
The Academic Council of the University of Notre Dame, in a meeting Monday, approved the proposal for a theology major sequence in theology submitted by Rev. Al­ bert L. Schlitzer, C.S.C., head of the department of theology. As proposed, the major sequence would include in the fall term of the junior year, courses in Redemption Incarnation, Biblical Theology, the Gospels and Church History, and World Religion. In the spring term, majors would take Theology 32—Christian Theology, Theology 62—St. Thomas, the Summa Theolog, and—Philosophy—Metaphysics. Seminar 32—Elective. Senior year fall courses would be Christian Life, Patristics and Theod, of the Word of God, with History of Theology and Contemporary Theology in the spring. Also required during these two years will be two semesters of seminar, one of theology and six electives.

Fr. Schlitzer stated that students majoring in theology will be strongly encouraged to take history and literature courses as their electives, to provide a rich, well-rounded education.

The theology and philosophy requirements of the College of Arts and Letters will be shared equally to accommodate this new program. Four semesters of each will still be required, but will be distributed evenly, one per semester, instead of the present two semesters of philosophy in the sophomore year and two semesters of theology in the junior year.

The purpose of this change is to better acquaint the student with theology by his sophomore year in order that he may have a sound basis to judge whether or not he should opt for a theology major. Fr. Schlitzer predicts that the theology dept. will have programs leading to both M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in theology by the fall of 1966.

Fr. Schlitzer feels that there will be no problem finding students interested in a theology major. There is a crying need for lay professors of theology, as well as positions newly opened to laymen within the Church itself. Money aside, a student possibility could choose a theology major as "his own special way of maturing as a man."

With the acquisition of a teacher competent in the field of patristics (the study of the Fathers of the Church), the department now is in a position to offer a truly complete major sequence in theology. Concerning the faculty, Fr. Schlitzer states that he will insist on having lay theology teachers on the staff as a necessary requirement for a strong lay theology, which he hopes will flourish in "a university environment, an economical atmosphere and an integrated lay-religious faculty."

Two Speakers Named For Union—Management Conference

Two prominent men in the field of labor-management relations have been named as speakers for the 13th annual Union—Management Conference to be held on campus Feb. 24.

Malcolm L. Denice, vice president for labor relations of the Ford Motor Company since 1959, will address the more than 600 industrial executives and union officials expected for the conference.

The second speaker will be George Burdon, president of the United Rubber Workers Union and a 30-year veteran in the labor movement. Under President Johnson, as well as the late President Kennedy, Burdon has been a member of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity. He also served on Labor Advisory Committee of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization.

The conference is sponsored by Notre Dame's economics department in cooperation with the Notre Dame Law School, union, and management. Rev. Mark J. Fitzgibbon, C.S.C., professor of economics, is director.

Your guide to highest quality and dependability in foreign language dictionaries

BARNES & NOBLE

LANGENSCHEIDT

MILLIPUT Dictionaries

Barnes & Noble offer you the best language dictionaries available. Illustrated, full-entries, double-column, durable flexible binding, 15,000 entries in 32 languages. English to 11 languages—Danish, Dutch, French, German, Modern Greek, Italian, Polish, Portuguese, Russian, Spanish, Swedish; 11 languages to English plus Webster's all-English. Only $4 each.

UNIVERSAL Dictionaries

Ideal for foreign travel, school, and office. Each dictionary contains two parts: English to Foreign-language and Foreign-language to English, with special sections. Over 20,000 entries, approximately 400 pages each. Light and handy to carry (5 x 4½). Reasonably legible, sturdy bound, flexible. Includes French, German, Italian, Portuguese, Russian, Spanish, Turkish, and Webster's all-English. Only $5 each.

POCKET Dictionaries

If you consult any of our dictionaries, you will find the pages well-listed and the entries clearly defined. Only $2.50 each.

The Notre Dame Bookshop

February 10, 1965

Theology Major Approved

The Voice, Notre Dame University

Two Speakers Named For Union—Management Conference

Two prominent men in the field of labor-management relations have been named as speakers for the 1964 annual Union—Management Conference to be held on campus Feb. 24.

Malcolm L. Denice, vice president for labor relations of the Ford Motor Company since 1959, will address the more than 600 industrial executives and union officials expected for the conference.

The second speaker will be George Burdon, president of the United Rubber Workers Union and a 30-year veteran in the labor movement. Under President Johnson, as well as the late President Kennedy, Burdon has been a member of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity. He also served on Labor Advisory Committee of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization.

The conference is sponsored by Notre Dame's economics department in cooperation with the Notre Dame Law School, union, and management. Rev. Mark J. Fitzgibbon, C.S.C., professor of economics, is director.

Your guide to highest quality and dependability in foreign language dictionaries

BARNES & NOBLE

LANGENSCHEIDT

MILLIPUT Dictionaries

Barnes & Noble offer you the best language dictionaries available. Illustrated, full-entries, double-column, durable flexible binding, 15,000 entries in 32 languages. English to 11 languages—Danish, Dutch, French, German, Modern Greek, Italian, Polish, Portuguese, Russian, Spanish, Swedish; 11 languages to English plus Webster's all-English. Only $4 each.

UNIVERSAL Dictionaries

Ideal for foreign travel, school, and office. Each dictionary contains two parts: English to Foreign-language and Foreign-language to English, with special sections. Over 20,000 entries, approximately 400 pages each. Light and handy to carry (5 x 4½). Reasonably legible, sturdy bound, flexible. Includes French, German, Italian, Portuguese, Russian, Spanish, Turkish, and Webster's all-English. Only $5 each.

POCKET Dictionaries

If you consult any of our dictionaries, you will find the pages well-listed and the entries clearly defined. Only $2.50 each.

The Notre Dame Bookshop

February 10, 1965

Theology Major Approved

The Voice, Notre Dame University

Two Speakers Named For Union—Management Conference

Two prominent men in the field of labor-management relations have been named as speakers for the 13th annual Union—Management Conference to be held on campus Feb. 24.

Malcolm L. Denice, vice president for labor relations of the Ford Motor Company since 1959, will address the more than 600 industrial executives and union officials expected for the conference.

The second speaker will be George Burdon, president of the United Rubber Workers Union and a 30-year veteran in the labor movement. Under President Johnson, as well as the late President Kennedy, Burdon has been a member of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity. He also served on Labor Advisory Committee of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization.

The conference is sponsored by Notre Dame's economics department in cooperation with the Notre Dame Law School, union, and management. Rev. Mark J. Fitzgibbon, C.S.C., professor of economics, is director.

Your guide to highest quality and dependability in foreign language dictionaries

BARNES & NOBLE

LANGENSCHEIDT

MILLIPUT Dictionaries

Barnes & Noble offer you the best language dictionaries available. Illustrated, full-entries, double-column, durable flexible binding, 15,000 entries in 32 languages. English to 11 languages—Danish, Dutch, French, German, Modern Greek, Italian, Polish, Portuguese, Russian, Spanish, Swedish; 11 languages to English plus Webster's all-English. Only $4 each.

UNIVERSAL Dictionaries

Ideal for foreign travel, school, and office. Each dictionary contains two parts: English to Foreign-language and Foreign-language to English, with special sections. Over 20,000 entries, approximately 400 pages each. Light and handy to carry (5 x 4½). Reasonably legible, sturdy bound, flexible. Includes French, German, Italian, Portuguese, Russian, Spanish, Turkish, and Webster's all-English. Only $5 each.

POCKET Dictionaries

If you consult any of our dictionaries, you will find the pages well-listed and the entries clearly defined. Only $2.50 each.

The Notre Dame Bookshop

February 10, 1965

1965 Mardi Gras Lottery Returns

Tickets on sale now at 12 to 5 in the Mardi Gras office.

"That Was The Week That Was" Here Monday

"That Was The Week That Was", the BBC television show noted for the audacity of its style and the acerbity of its satire, will be performed by the original British cast on Monday evening, February 15, at 7:45 p.m. in the Stepan Center. General admission is $1.50, students and faculty members being admitted for $1.00. Tickets may be purchased at any time in the Social Commission office and at the door.

1965 Mardi Gras Lottery Returns

12:55 p.m. Mardi Gras Office Tomorrow

Raffle Books may be turned in any day from 12 to 5 in the Mardi Gras office.

LIVE

HAYES PRODUCTIONS, INC.

presents

"THAT WAS THE WEEK THAT WAS"

"That Was The Week That Was" tickets on sale now in Social Commission Office Wednesday Thursday and Friday

HILARIOUS!

Terrific!"
Peace Corps Week Starts This Monday

The week of February 14-20 has been designated as Peace Corps Week on campus this year. Within the Notre Dame community, debate has continued over the role of Notre Dame volunteers who have returned from their overseas assignments, as well as those who have decided to return. Theקרities in the International room (formerly the South Dining Room) outlined a Peace Corps volunteer placement plan that is expected to be invoked. Throughout the week, students and faculty members will be informed about the Peace Corps and its objectives. Action, a project similar to but more comprehensive than the Peace Corps, will receive a publicity drive on campus in the near future. Terry Holcomb, who is establishing a regional office in Chicago, came here last week to arrange the drive through the Student Senate, International Commission, and the Academic Council. Holcomb will return around April 1 to give a talk and will remain here for the Latin American Weekend, arranged by Internatonal Commission, beginning April 3.

Action, financed entirely by American money invested in Vietnam, involves 40 Americans and 60 Vietnamese in community projects, strictly in Vietnam. The group started with strongly American workers, but gradually hopes to build up an entirely native force; they will move on to zones other than the country.

Le Petite Mardi Gras

The Social Committee is sponsoring Le Petite Mardi Gras Friday, Feb. 26 in LaFountaine Student Center, a semi-formal dance for those who didn't get into Mardi Gras Ball. Tickets, for $3.98, are on sale tonight in the dining halls and in the Social Committee office from noon to 5:00 p.m. daily, except Sunday.

Four Fresh Hurt In Accident

Four Cavanagh Hall freshmen on their way to pick up doughnuts at the SMC from room were run down by a car. One of the Sr. Mary's drive was involved in a minor accident on the road.

Committee Seeks Calendar Improvement

The Student Senate Committee has already contacted many of the dean's departments and faculty members to find out whether they would like to present any recommendations to the administration about the present schedule. Committee Chairman Mulvihill knows of 25 individuals in the College of Arts and Letters alone who have registered their discontent through letters, as well as letters by entire departments.

Tom Mulvihill and his special student senate committee have recommended a number of changes in Notre Dame's academic calendar. Mulvihill, a Lyne Hall junior, hopes to incorporate any changes into next year's schedule but believes it would take a long time to get all the changes in.

The committee believes they have fulfilled the responsibility of the student body and faculty. A group of professors in the College of Business Administration have approached the committee asking for more information about the calendar plans. The committee has assured them that they will continue to accept comments and suggestions from the student body and faculty.

Four Fruhl Hurt In Accident

The referendum on telephones in campus rooms will be held tomorrow in the halls.

Phone Reference Board Tomorrow

The referendum on telephones in campus rooms will be held tomorrow in the halls.

Paul Walker, chairman of the Student Welfare Committee, said that at least 750 phones must be installed to avoid complaints by the student body.

Folk Festival Accepts Entries

Applications are now being accepted from folk singers and groups for the 1965 Collegiate Folk Festival. Joe Lemieux, general chairman, has announced that the folk festival will be held in Stump Center on March 6, as a field trip. The festival will be handled by the Blue Circle.

For campus knights...and days

Le Petit Mardi Gras

Free Refreshments Plus Favors

Semi-formal Dance at LaFountaine Fri. Feb. 26, 1965 9:00-1:00

We can help celebrate the coming of Shrove Tuesday in Indiana's French Ghetto, Notre Dame Dulac, just like thousands will do in Louisiana's French Quarter.

Tickets: - Starting Tues., Feb. 9 at the Social Committee Office from noon 'til 5.

Just think only $3.98 for all the Fun and Excitement of the Real French Holiday

Le Petit Mardi Gras

Wear Dated Post-Grad slacks by this...

You're probably too tall to fit into a suit of armor but just right for the long and lean look of these pants. Post-Grads trim you up and taper you down. They're noble and mobile, trimmed in you-know-what-elit. Neat belt loops. Narrow but-not-too-narrow cuffs. Shaped on-seam pockets. You can look better than Galahad for a pintage since they cost but $6.98 a pair in 55% Acrylic, 45% Rayon. Buy 'em and walk in them.

*Registered Trademark...meaning that these slacks are authentic. Guaranteed for the half-year's wear they cost.
Hockey Team Nets 1st Win

On Jan. 30 the Notre Dame hockey team netted a victory over Lewis College 9 to 4 to record their first victory of the season. Seven players not in action to date all returned to the fold, including three freshmen. The Irish fared well, keeping the score in the game and then put themselves out of reach in the second period when they scored six goals.

Last Saturday, hoping to even the record at 1-1, the Notre Dame team met Lake Forest College. Despite a continuous, turning outdoor rink in Lake Forest, the Irish scored four times. Wilson's shots hit the steel back from the net. The Irish pulled away to a 1-0 lead and then went on to win 9 to 0. The Irish outscored Lake Forest 25 to 6, with the students in the Fieldhouse to second only to the speed of Pete McNamee.

Long Distance Runners

This year's track team may break records and win meets, but it is the university's most difficult task to lose a lack of depth in team competition. With accomplished veterans in the middle and long distances in return, the season success will hinge on the ability of the inexperienced freshmen to fill the vacatencies in the hurdles, hurdle and field events.

Bill Boyle, this year's captain, returns after a junior season which saw him in the top 10 in the country in the mile. As a result the aggressive Biggers have gained a fresh team that season to walk out of the Notre Dame Fieldhouse with a victory.

Clarks Faces Irish

The campus got its first taste of track this past weekend as the cross country alumni reunion went off at Purcell and Indiana. Some 1500 fans jammed the Notre Dame Fieldhouse to watch the fast Fleming spectactular.

Clark's performance in the two-mile race was the most brilliant of the afternoon. Although Clark didn't win the two-mile event on the course this year, he rounded the fieldhouse in 9:07.3 seconds. Clark's time is still the more remarkable of the two, as he was unseeded. Encouraged by the showing of the partisan crowd, Notre Dame fans initiated the new number two, four, behind Clark. The distance star plans to compete in the final session. The score remains tied until the last contest of the meet, when the Foresters managed to lose the contest 4 to 3.

Basketball About Next Year

Notre Dame, issuer of its last three starts and four out of its last five games, was in the picture Saturday night in the Field House on Northern Michigan. The Irish scored early in the game and then put themselves out of reach in the second period when they scored six goals.

Full 7-4 8-1
Epee 5-4 4-5
Sabre 3-4
Total 7-20 17-10 20-7

Wrestlers

The second half of Notre Dame's wrestling season went off to a good start after a drubbing of the Indians, as they defeated Washo College 22 to 5. The Irish were no match for the Indians, who were freshest. The Indians were freestylers Ron Klassen, who turned in an excellent 200 yard freestyle, Barring­ton, the high jump winner in the high made it easy for Not­re Dame fans to forget the grace­ful Wendy Hodges. The students were then treated to a weekend of fencing.

Swimmers Gain Split

The Notre Dame swimming team split a weekend of home meets, winning Kent State 54 to 44 on Saturday and then losing to Western Mich­igan 65 to 39 on Saturday. Notre Dame was without the services of Captains Mike Coffey and Mike Chape, but the final score of 35 to 20 was better than expected.

AF Jilt Fencers

Notre Dame's varsity fencing team ran their season's record to 3-5 last weekend with victories over Iowa (7-0) and Indiana (7-2) and an excellent Air Force team (7-2). Full again led all weapons in total victories for the weekend, but nake was close behind in the running for individual weapon performance. Sabreman Mike Dwyer and fencer Bill Perrow were the height spots of an other­wise disappointing weekend in which Notre Dame lost to the team it most wanted to beat. Although the Irish overpowered Indiana and Iowa, this did not seem to make up for a mediocre performance against Air Force.

Fashion Leaders for High School and College men

The loss to Western Michigan at least proved that one of the good shows in the Midwest is the Notre Dame team. There is no better way to see the talent and personality of the Notre Dame students than at the Notre Dame Fieldhouse in the Blue and Gold 2 to 3.