The Voice will open the editorial page of the May 1 edition to encourage readers to send letters on the question raised in the following editorial.

Last week's symposium on "Academic Freedom and the Catholic University" focused attention not only upon the freedom of a scholar, whether he be teacher, to pursue and to inspire in truth, but also upon the freedom of a student to move responsibly within his environment, not principally for the sake of Notre Dame, but in the question in many minds of whether or not the atmosphere here is still to any sort of real intellectualism. In his talk on "Student Freedom," Dan Callahan, of Commonwealth magazine, expressed the belief that Notre Dame often prides itself on the fact that it exists as a "community of scholars." Catholic administrators like to speak of the community as "a fellowship," "a family," "a confederation from a secular institution," then when will Catholic higher education be when this distinction becomes an anachronism within the next decade? Will the institute die with the distinction? And if not, what will remain to characterize a Catholic university?

NEW FEATURES
The Voice is introducing new features beginning with the Thursday, April 28 issue, "SPEAK OUT" will feature guest editorials about the most current questions before the student body. Dr. Robert L. Hensinger, Assistant Professor in English, will write an article on "Catholic Higher Education and the Student," beginning April 28. "Theater Review," a new feature, will be printed on the last page of the review column, "CINEMA WEEK," written by Junior Elliott Gage, whose work is published during Student-Faculty Film Society week.

Politics

- The equilibrium of power is one that naturally exists, hence the effective maintenance of the balance of power is a necessary condition for the maintenance of the balance of power itself.

- All Europeans realize this; but they envision different means to accomplish the goal. For some Europeans, the creation of a new state of affairs is preferable to the status quo. For other Europeans, the creation of a new state of affairs is preferable to the status quo. For yet other Europeans, the creation of a new state of affairs is preferable to the status quo.

- The chances for the anti-Guillot forces seem rather good from the viewpoint of the long-term perspective. Only ONE-THIRD of the French public, according to one survey, will vote for the Guillon himself, by itself. This result is consistent with the fact that the Guillon has never been a very popular candidate, and that he is now well behind the candidates for the presidency. Meanwhile, the Socialists have gained a substantial lead in the polls, and the Communists have made significant gains. In short, the anti-Guillot forces seem well positioned to win the election.

- Dear Barbara Byach, if you don't stop involving your students aloud and seriously consider a Notre Dame student body president and your school administrators permit it, you may be sure no one will notice you responsible Notre Dame. This will not enter your election campaign, but I do believe you will be the next president of Notre Dame. You are doing a marvelous job of keeping this school running smoothly. Your effort may go unrecognized among the many who say: "What a marvelous woman she is!"

- What would you like to say about a great shaving-mate to your roommate? Perhaps you have the wrong person. The person you are thinking of is a Missouri Senator who is known for his political acumen and his love of cigars.

- Dear Barbara Byach, please remember that candidates must be elected to office; you have not been elected to anything. Yet, you seem to be making demands on the student body which you are not entitled to make.

Wanted to be a leader and double your chances for success in life? You can, by earning both a degree and an Army officer's commission at the same time...even though you may have not taken ROTC training in your first two years!

Through a new program, you can be commissioned as a Second Lieutenant after taking ROTC training while you complete your studies for a college degree. You can qualify for this program by attending a special six-week training camp during your senior year and then completing the ROTC Advanced Course in your junior and senior years of college.

Here's what ROTC training and an officer's commission will do for you:

- It will qualify you to fulfill your military obligation as an officer.
- You will learn to organize, motivate, and lead others.
- You will develop leadership qualities that many college men miss—self-discipline, physical stamina, and the acceptance of individual and group qualities that contribute to success in either a civilian or military career.
- You will receive $40 per month during your junior and senior years, plus pay and mileage for summer training.
- The training and experience you will receive through Army ROTC will pay off for the rest of your life. A decision to take advantage of this new program could be one of the most important you will make.

You owe it to yourself to investigate this new important opportunity.

For complete information on the new Two-Year Army ROTC Program see the Professor of Military Science on campus.

Sweeps Four

Irish extended to three sets in four of the six singles matches and in all of the doubles matches. Only Murphy and Dingha were able to take their matches in straight sets.

Coach Fallon is very pleased with the team so far. They have done "exceptionally well. But with more work they are going to get better." Mr. Hines' team has been doing very exceptionally well. Another pleasant surprise has been captain Bob Brown, unbeaten in singles until Indiana's Mike Powers, the #1 ranking amateur in the United States, defeated him, 6-0, 6-2, 6-3.
