Thanks Be to God!

The only adequate thanksgiving to God for his benefits to us is the praise rendered Him by His Divine Son in the Blessed Sacrament. When you receive Holy Communion tomorrow ask our Blessed Lord to say to His Heavenly Father what you would like to say.

What to Be Thankful For:

1. The Faith and the grace to practice it;
2. Life and good health;
3. Good parents, interested in your education;
4. The mind and body God gave you;
5. The friends who make life worth living;
6. The happiest country in a stricken world;
7. The affliction with which God purifies your soul;
8. Thank God for Notre Dame.

Your Opportunity Thursday and Friday.

6:00-8:30 Confessions and Holy Communion -- basement chapel.
8:30-9:00 Mass in hall chapels and basement.
9:00-12:30 Confessions and Holy Communion -- Walsh Hall chapel.

Please don't be ungrateful to God, this is of all days.

The Touch of the Formal.

"Dear Father: If you will be serious for a moment I want you to consider a suggestion. I really believe that your printed cards are doing more harm than good. They frequently go to well-intentioned fellows who are not overly pious, and they produce strong resentment.-Senior.

1. Don't worry. The recipient who expresses resentment at the sender has you killed. The man who has secret strong emotions hates to have the world suspect it. That is his inferiority complex. The height of his raving measures the depth of his secret emotion.

2. If there is any resentment there, it is against his own conscience and not against the poor innocent Prefect of Religion. We really feel flattered, first, in knowing that someone has his interest so much at heart, and secondly, in feeling that he has been given credit for good nature.

This is not irony, merely good psychology.

Novena to the Immaculate Conception.

This begins Saturday, December 1.

Prayers.

A student asks prayers for three relatives who died last Saturday. Monsignor Tinkerstaff-Drey, "John Aycough" has had a stroke of paralysis.
