There are Masses at 5:30 each morning except Sunday in the Main Building and Sorin Hall chapels. Attendance at these Masses used to be a favorite Lenten penance.

No More Chains.

Brother Valerian, who has been making medal chains for years, has been laid up in the Community Infirmary for the past two weeks, and the supply is now exhausted. He has been quite sick, and the crisis he passed through last week has left him very weak. He is certainly deserving of our prayers.

No More Surveys.

The printing office has held up the Survey for a few days while rushing the Summer School Announcements through the bindery. A thousand copies were distributed on the campus during the week. It seems that a copy reached Chicago and burned the ears of some of the co-eds.

And not only Chicago, as witness the following letter, unsigned, and postmarked South Bend, Indiana:

"I being a Catholic girl myself never thought that a Catholic institution would permit such a brazen insult to be given to Catholic girls whether we be modern or otherwise. It certainly shows a lack of good judgment on the part of someone.

"A college boy seeking an education should have more to fill his time and mind than the subject of girls. This, however, will probably have no effect upon the benumbed brain of a few persons in your school, but it is a relief to be able to let you know my attitude towards the whole affair.

"This attitude is shared by many other girls and fellows whom I know, both Catholic and non-Catholic.

"Just a Catholic Girl."

Why Do Sophomores Go to School?

Since it isn't for an education, and it can't be for religion, and surely it isn't to get married why is it? Why do sophomores go to school? A bar of Ivory soap will be awarded the contributor of the best answer to this problem. Answers will be accepted from any students except the Four Horsemen of Brownson.

Drastic Attention.

"Dear Father: If you are looking for something to razz around here, why don't you get after the evil of cheating and wasting other people's time by jumping in ahead of the line in the cafeteria. That's getting to be an awful evil, and needs drastic attention.

"Badly Battered."

This opens another field for thought. The Four Horsemen are admitted to this contest.

Say Your Prayers.

Has it occurred to anyone to stop knocking during Lent? Think of all the time that could be spent on your prayers if you stopped panning the girls, the school, the profs, the meals, the shows, the Religious Bulletin! Say your prayers.
