Enemies of the Church fear she leans toward. Fascism. Real to today's A V E M A R I A , Mr. Seldes... After Supper Tomorrow Night....

about a thousand of you will be crowding the paths to the Grotto, there to sing the praises of the Mother of God, your Mother...."Macula non est in To!"

Why only "about a thousand?" Why not more? That was the figure last year night after night. '38 can outdo '38 if you want it to.

As usual Father Hooyber will stand halfway up the gray stone steps and wave his arms. He keeps you together; in unison all the loyal sons of Notre Dame. Sing!

Then, After That.....

at 7:30 and 7:30 the formal Devotions for the Month of May will open in Sacred Heart Church.....Solemn benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, the Moreau Choir, and a ten minute sermon by the editor of the A V E M A R I A , the magazine of Our Lady and of Notre Dame since 1865.  (There will be ample opportunity for confessions.)

And, as you look north toward the apse, the Bernini Adoration Chapel, fix firm in mind the half-hour periods you signed up for last night or the night before. Best way to honor Mary is to show her you love her Son. (May-Adoration Monday at 7:30 A.M.)

What Happened Over There At St. Mary's.

"Dear Father:

"To be perfectly honest, up till last weekend my religion consisted in merely what I had learned at my Mother's knee and what had been pounded into my memory in religion classes back home and here, although I'll admit that since September I have realized more clearly what a very important part religion (especially its philosophy) must play in my daily life.

"Last weekend I attended the Confraternity Congress at St. Mary's College. There I was both amazed and grateful to see and talk with delegates from other colleges and universities and to observe their wide-wakeness to the importance of religion in life.

"They had come from all over the midwest. For me, just to learn how to carry on discussion groups in the parishes; to learn from fellows and girls, my own age and younger, what they are fighting for and against, was a lesson so profound that words can't express its meaning.

"The outstanding sentence I heard these three days was uttered with feeling by a seventeen year old girl from St. Mary's-of-the-Woods. She said: 'The time is ripe for Catholic believers to regard their religion as a purely personal thing, something not discussed in polite conversation; we must argue, discuss and even spread it at any and every opportunity or else suffer our religion to be slowly, dishonestly ignored by the so-called crusaders for Socialism and Fascism and Communism.' To me, that sentence struck the keynote of the convention— one and all, by Catholic Action, fighting for the faith and philosophy we subscribe to, for our inherent rights and liberties.

"I felt that everyone present at the convention was there to learn how to carry on the fight, either, just as soldiers fight in order to acquire the perfection to die for their cause. And so Mr. J. learned how to organize an effective attack upon revolution.

"Sincerely yours,

"John J. McKenna"
