"What America Needs."

H.L. Phillips, a Y. Jum columnist, some time ago wrote, in effect, a bulletin to quote a part of his column in which he said that besides arms, America needs:

"A spiritual awakening, and one deep enough to remove the notion that a man is doing obey spiritually when he manages to listen to a sermon over a radio once a month.

"Realization that expediency, craftiness, artful dodging, compromise, an eager eye for the main chance and the spirit of every-man-for-himself have played too great a part in American life.

"A little more respect for the ancient truths, the lessons of history and the word of God.

"A decision to give the hotfoot to sophistication, the rabbit punch to smart aleck-ism and the lamb's rush to the bell-tollers of idealism, religion and patriotism.

"Elimination of 'gimme-gimme' as the two most important words in English.

"A return to the faith of our fathers, to the teachings of Holy Writ and the impulse in all crises to turn to God in humility instead of to politicians in panic.

"The development of a red-hot antithesis to art-misers at both ends of the line and the destruction of the too commonly held idea that if a man can do a dishonest thing and get away with it, it reveals a soundness worthy of applause.

"The reconstruction of moral fiber and personal courage to a point where it doesn't smell like something the cat dragged in as compared to the acts and works of the pioneers.

"The capacity to sit through a good sermon in a church with as much eagerness as to sit around an idol Hollywood movie, a broadcast of current scandal or the trial of a notorious warmonger.

"The intent to restoration of the Ten Commandments as a code to living, and the return of the able to snap place on all lists for 'preferred reading'.

"A realization that our poor country is in danger, and part of your job is helping to meet it, the main question shouldn't be 'How much do I net--am I still the star to shoot?'

"An alliance over good laws.

"Our Father,

"The same case that the bond oaks are still in a position that is still a case of a nation's moral will -- where once it is called -- has been navigated to a point where, so an opinion will be required, before it is time to need, and the other side of prayer. I'll let the answer out of it for another week, at which time I'm afraid all will be taken; probably, I'll be able to return that to general life of the -- in on the sun to a moral noronic life. Ill try: "
