St. Anthony, that big bell in the tower is no longer the second biggest in North America. We have been informed that there are several bigger bells now. In the interests of truth and reliability of the Bulletin we gladly make this correction. We also thank our informant for this additional information: each one of the 23 smaller bells, making up the chimes, is also named in honor of some saint or feast of Christ or of our Lady. These latter bells brought from France were first used in 1857.

Thus corrected and amended you can rely on this: St. Anthony (requiring 12 strong students to toll) is still a big bell with a big job— to find and call back to God, all students, especially the lost sheep.

You probably know some lost or black sheep who will try to ignore St. Anthony though he can be heard many miles away in suitable weather. "Blacky," really miserable at heart, scared, discouraged or just lazy, needs help to get back to safe pastures.

Bo-Peep into darkened rooms, or friends' room across the campus, into town hang-outs, or around the lakes and round "Blacky" up. Help him to change colors— of his soul at least. He's all right at heart but needs help so that he can listen to St. Anthony high up in his tower, and not be afraid; so that he can look up into the glorious face of Our Lady on the Dome — and not be ashamed.

That $50 Increase.

Let's talk over this increase. You may have worried about it. Certainly the university officials have and not only about the present but about the future too.

The increase, as you know, is somewhere between 5-6% of your total bill but general living expenses have increased far more than that, food for example being 15-20% higher than last year. Thursday's Associated Press Commodity Index shows an even 20% rise.

You can, in various ways, aid yourself and the University by helping to nullify further food price increases that are bound to come.

Consider for example the waste of food in the dining hall. Waste is not only sinful but may be costly now to you and your table-mates. Avoid waste of all foods and in particular of those that have increased the most and are jumping daily: all meats, steaks particularly, and all dairy products, butter especially.

Don't misunderstand. DON'T CUT DOWN ON FOOD. Cut down only on the waste. Your mother loves to see you eat and eat plenty. So does Notre Dame.

You're worried about the $50 rise? So is the University, especially of what may come, but any worry over the increase is wasted unless there is worry over waste.

Pray For Each Other

The High Mass Sunday will be offered for the repose of the soul of Eugene Kelly, an N.D. student who died 13 years ago. His parents have had a Mass said annually for him these long years. Pray for him in union with the N.D. priests, brothers and nuns who always remember N.D.'s deceased of which all of us will be a member one day.

It's an ancient custom here at N.D. to pray for each other. Pray for those named at the foot of the Bulletin — and hand in to the Prefect of Religion offices names of sick or deceased relatives or friends.
